Fruit Thefts Confessed By Pair To Police

Capture Is Expected To Put Stop To Most Fruit Losses In This Section

Men Walked Into Police-Set Trap

Buyers And Bank Co-Operated In Making Arrest Of Men

Caught by the Sanford police by means of a trap they set for the pair, two men were arrested yesterday afternoon for the theft of citrus fruits in Seminole County, according to Chief Roy Williams, confessed to the crime. They were arrested for stealing fruit from a grove in Orange county, and were thereupon turned over to officers of that county and they were taken to the jail in Orlando last night.

The two men, both white, gave the names of Arthur Olsen and Lloyd Hest. The last fruit they stole, according to their confession, was from the Sanford police department, was from the grove of the State estate near Ocoee.

In the capture of the two men Chief Williams is hopeful of a complete cessation of fruit thefts in this section, as it is believed that the two men captured yesterday may have been responsible for nearly all apprehensions of the fruit thieves.

Deaths have been reported off on for a couple of years, the last such case being that of a man who died of the disease in the town of Sanford, Fla., when suffering from the disease.

The police then engaged with their partners in the fruit theft, for any fruit caught from Olsen and Hest, and arranged with the bank to loan them the money to pay the fine.

Citrus Ad Taxes To Be Enforced By Commission

LAKELAND, Jan. 10.—(AP)—The Florida Citrus Commission indicated its purpose to clamp down on violators of the citrus advertising tax when Chairman L. P. Rickland was authorized to name an investigating committee to determine individuals and firms violating the law and to recommend a course of action.

Inspector Division, reported to the commission on 50 operators. A. D. Tomassello, of the State Inspection Division, reported to the commission on 50 operators alleged not to have complied with the law and license fee.

He said Commissioner of Agriculture Mays had requested from the attorney general a ruling on the question of cash buyers, contending that the man who buys for cash at the time of sale, is not defined by the commission's ruling, should be considered the cash buyer, and growers were obliged to report dealers who failed to meet this requirement.

Blending Named As U. S. Head Of National Guard

Major General Albert H. Blending of Barrow was named yesterday by President Roosevelt as head of the war department's National Guard Bureau, a four-year appointment which gives him the rank and pay of a major general of the regular army.

In his new post he will be chief of National Guard affairs of the United States, with headquarters at Washington. The general now is in command of the thirty-first division of the guard, which embraces the states of Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

General Blending married Major General George E. Leach, whose four-year term recently expired. He is the first officer from the South to be named chief of the War Department.

Major General Blending's military career was marked by his service in the World War, and his appointment as chief of the National Guard Bureau is a recognition of his long and distinguished service to the country.

General Blending was born in Barrow, Alaska, and served in the military during the World War. He has held various positions of responsibility in the War Department, and his appointment as chief of the National Guard Bureau is a testament to his leadership and administrative skills.

Women Can Fruits Negroes Hold For To Be Displayed City Police Man In 3 Expositions

Seminole County citrus fruits to be displayed at three exhibitions are being canned at daily meetings now being held through-out the County. Displays will be made at the Seminole County Fair in Sanford, Jan. 21 to 25; the Orange Festival in Winter Haven, Jan. 25 to Feb. 1; and the Central Florida Fair at Orlando, Feb. 18 to 23.

An all-day session of the home demonstration group in the Altamonte Springs section is being held today, following similar all-day meetings in Paola yesterday, in Sanford on Wednesday and in Geneva last Tuesday. Next week these all-day meetings of home demonstration groups to can citrus fruit for the three fairs will be conducted in Longwood on Monday, in Lake Monroe on Tuesday, in Chuluota on Wednesday, in Lake Mary on Thursday and in Oviedo on Friday.

Miss Josephine Boydston, home demonstration agent for Seminole County, said, that not only are the women canning whole and sliced fruits, but they are also putting up marmalades, jams and jellies. Beautiful displays will be made, she said, with the expectation, that prizes will be won at all of the expositions.

Miss Boydston is going to Kissimmee to attend a citrus utilization school on Jan. 15, 16 and 17 and upon her return, final arrangements will be made for the fair displays of Seminole County canned fruits. Miss Isabel Thurston, state specialist in conservation, is to be in charge of the citrus school.

Cubans Vote For President With Troops On Guard

HAVANA, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Two thousand soldiers, scattered throughout Cuba, were called out to preserve order in the election today of the Republic's first constitutional president in 2 1/2 years.

Since former President Gerardo Machado fled from the island in August, 1933, Cuba has had only provisional presidents.

The possibility that the election might be postponed was eliminated when the Supreme Court refused yesterday to interfere, as was requested by a petition from "25 or more citizens."

The petition questioned the constitutionality of the electoral law and of the formula for political power drawn up by Dr. Harold W. Dodds, president of Princeton University.

The court decided it would consider the constitutionality of the two laws at some date after the elections.

Owners Order Improving Of Both Theaters

Milane And Princess To Be Remodelled; Work To Begin At Once, Cost $15,000

Immediate remodeling of both the Milane and Princess Theaters was announced today by Manager J. L. Marentette. Five thousand dollars will be expended in improvements on the Milane, and $10,000 will go into rebuilding the old Princess Theater. Work is to be undertaken at once, Mr. Marentette said.

The Milane Theater improvements will include the "Neonizing" of the entire front of the popular playhouse, the laying of new carpets and the installation of new seats on the balcony. The Neon lights on the face of the playhouse will be the first complete set of such lighting in Sanford.

Milane Theater improvements will be carried on without closing the playhouse.

The old Princess Theater, on First Street west of Park Avenue, will be renovated through-out—practically rebuilt. It has been closed for several years. Most of the block on the south side of First Street between Park and Oak Avenues, it was also stated, will ultimately be rebuilt in conformity with the Princess.

The renovating of the theater will complete the first unit in the block.

Contract for the improvement of the Princess Theater has been let to Huddleston & Phillips of Sanford.

Gold Reserve Act Extended Year By Executive Order

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today signed a proclamation extending the section of the Gold Reserve Act establishing a $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund for one year. It would have expired Jan. 30.

The proclamation asserted an "emergency which existed" a year ago "has not been terminated by international monetary agreement, or otherwise; but, on the contrary, continues and has been intensified in divers respects by unsettled conditions in international commerce and commerce and in foreign exchange."

Gas, Pipe Lines May Be Put Under U. S. State Board

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(AP)—The Federal Trade Commission today recommended to Congress a broad joint state and federal program to regulate the $2,500,000,000 natural gas and pipe line industry. The report said that "vast acreage is being wasted and natural gas is being subjected to profligate and wanton waste."

The commission set forth a plan to conserve gas, control monopolistic activities and separate natural gas from the electric utility industry.

'Who Says We Wanted War?'

Tense and wily ready answers, Frank A. Vanderlip (left), president of the National City Bank of New York in 1914, and J. P. Morgan, head of the powerful financial House of Morgan, are shown at the witness table as they were questioned by the Senate munitions committee regarding forces that led America into the World War. Both denied international finance played a part. (Associated Press Photo)

Storm In Britain Takes Toll Of 3, Does Big Damage

LONDON, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Three persons were killed, many injured and wide-spread damage was caused last night by the second violent storm of the week in the British Isles.

The gale reached a force of 100 miles an hour, Pembroke Light-house reported. Ships were sent scurrying to shelter from huge waves. Damage ashore was heavy.

Southwest England and the Irish Free State were the hardest hit. A fierce storm swept the Dublin district, causing much damage. Mountainous seas in the English Channel and Irish Sea dislocated shipping.

The SS. Manhattan, of the United States Lines, which carried members of the American Winter Olympic teams, was unable to call at Cobh, for the first time in years, and continued on to Portsmouth.

A girl was killed in Manchester when a wall collapsed, and five persons were taken to hospitals in Leeds when hurt by a falling chimney.

Three lifeboats were called out at South Devon, when a small vessel, believed to be French, flashed distress signals by a lamp, off the jagged rocks of Bolthead.

The storm followed by only a few days gale in which nearly 30 persons were killed in and around the British Isles.

MIAMI, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Newton Yeager, 57, retired Atlanta, Ga., florist, died yesterday, second victim of fumes generated Dec. 1 in a charcoal stove.

His daughter-in-law, Mrs. Theo Yeager, was hospitalized at that time, but Mrs. Newton Yeager and Theo Yeager recovered.

Physician Tests Man's Blood Pressure During Trial Of Case In County Court

J. P. Williams, charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, claimed in County Court yesterday afternoon that he was not drunk but that it was high blood pressure that made him "act that way." He avowed he had often been afflicted by attacks of high blood pressure and that such attacks incapacitated him to some degree at the time.

The situation called for expert testimony, so Dr. W. T. Langley was called and he proceeded to make a test in the court room of the defendant's blood pressure, with the result that it was found to be normal. The physician also expressed the opinion that it

Ethiopia Claims Italian Rout On Southern Front

Egypt Joins Sweden In Filing Protests Against Bombings

Measure Is Sent To Senate Which May Amend Provisions For Full Payment

Payment Opposed By Mr. Roosevelt

Robinson Hopeful Of Passing Bill That Will Not Be Vetoes

(By The Associated Press) The killing of several hundred Italian Somali soldiers and one Italian officer on the Southern front was claimed today by the Ethiopian government. An official communique said the battle, the first important clash on the Web River, occurred last week and that the Italians were routed with the loss of six tanks.

The announcement followed reports by informed Ethiopians that the southern Ethiopian armies had thrust back 43,000 Italian soldiers trying to advance in the Rift valley in the south.

Egypt decided today to join Sweden and Ethiopia in protests against Italian bombings of cities and ambulance units on the East African battlefronts. Egyptians claim an Egyptian Red Crescent ambulance unit was bombed near Daggah Bur on the south front. The Red Crescent is similar to the Red Cross organization.

Egyptian Ambulance Bombed CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 10.—(AP)—An Italian bombing and machine-gun attack on an Egyptian ambulance unit Tuesday at Bolally on the southern Ethiopian front was reported by Prince Ismail Saoud, head of the Egyptian Red Cross organization in Ethiopia.

"Providentially, there were no casualties," said a radio message from the Prince, who is a brother-in-law of King Fuad of Egypt. Eleven persons were reported to be in the unit.

Eight Italian planes, the message said, participated in the attack, "not being satisfied with what they did to an Egyptian ambulance at Daggah Bur." (The Daggah Bur bombardment was reported Jan. 4.)

Measure Is Sent To Senate Which May Amend Provisions For Full Payment

Payment Opposed By Mr. Roosevelt

Robinson Hopeful Of Passing Bill That Will Not Be Vetoes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Representative Patman estimated today that under the House cash payment bonus bill $9,585 veterans living in Florida would receive $21,922,000.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(AP)—A crushing House majority today passed and sent to the Senate a bill authorizing immediate cash payment of the bonus to nearly 3,500,000 World War veterans. Immediate cost was estimated variously from one to two billion dollars.

Speaker Byrns announced the vote was 355 to 58 more than the two-thirds majority required to pass the legislation over a presidential veto. The final ballot was taken before galleries packed with spectators. The bill was backed by the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Disabled American Veterans.

Prompt consideration of the measure is promised in the Senate finance committee by Senator Harrison, chairman. Unless House pressure is too great, the Senate committee is considered likely to amend the bill to vote out a less liberal one of its own, realizing that President Roosevelt is opposed to full payment at this time.

Democratic Leader Robinson is hopeful a bill can be passed to meet presidential approval.

Japan Opposed To Neutrality Pact For Philippines

TOKYO, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Strong indication that the Japanese government is averse to any pact among Pacific powers guaranteeing independence and neutrality to the Philippines was given today by a high official source.

A foreign office spokesman said "Japanese government recognizes the idea of the great powers concluding agreements guaranteeing the freedom, integrity or neutrality of another nation" because "such agreements are humiliating to the nation they are supposed to benefit."

High Prices
"Through its Agricultural Adjustment Act," says Arthur Brisbane, "the Administration said to farmers: 'You raise too much, competing so disastrously you cannot get living prices. Produce less, plough cotton under, plant less grain, fewer potatoes. Making food scarce you will make it expensive, and get higher prices. Government will pay you cash for raising less.'"
"Farmers agreed; they had no choice. The next problem was to provide seven hundred millions a year for the farmers' bonus and then came the 'processing tax.'"
"It taxed manufacturers that changed wheat into flour, raw cotton to cotton cloth, etc."
"Little people that bought cotton and flour paid the process tax and the government passed the money to the farmers as a reward for producing less. Some thought the millennium had arrived, others said this country could no longer compete with the outside world and would suffer eventually."
"The Supreme Court settled the argument by saying, 'You can't do that. It's not constitutional.'"
"The excuse for the Agricultural Adjustment Act was the 'welfare clause' in the Constitution permitting Congress 'to provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States.'"
"The Supreme Court's adverse decision hangs on that word 'general.'"
"The court holds that taxing all of the consumers to create better prices and a bonus for farmers, is not promoting the 'general welfare,' but only promoting the welfare of the farmer class, at the expense of the larger class of consumers."
"A few farmers raise wheat, everybody eats bread made of flour. The Agricultural Adjustment Act, taxing flour to raise the price of wheat, does not promote the 'general' welfare."
And that is the whole story, in a nutshell.

Another Knockout?
"Did the Supreme Court, in eliminating the AAA, also knock out the Townsend Plan?" asks the Tampa Tribune.
"The wording of the decision would so indicate. Quoting the language of the Court:
A tax, in the general understanding of the term, and as used in the Constitution, signifies an exaction for the support of the government. The word has never been thought to connote the expropriation of money from one group for the benefit of another."
"The Townsend program plainly proposes levying a transaction or sales tax upon everybody to pay benefits to a certain class. Isn't that clearly 'the expropriation of money from one group for the benefit of another?' The one group, under the Townsend Plan, would include all the people who buy things, the other group those to receive the pensions. If it's unconstitutional to levy processing taxes to help farmers, wouldn't it be unconstitutional to levy transaction taxes to help old people?"
And by the same token, what about the Social Security Act, with its payroll taxes?

Weak Mind, Strong Neck
When a municipality elects a mayor for four consecutive terms there must be general satisfaction among taxpayers and people. At any rate Mayor T. L. Dumas again heads Sanford's city commission for a fourth term. Consequently he must have the mixture of executive genius and social affability which soothes a community. In a clever speech Mayor Dumas said: "I am not unmindful of the fact that no one else wants it, . . . the office requires a man with a weak mind and a strong neck; and I presume I still retain those qualifications." Mayor Dumas may try to "kid" his people and take lightly his job but the fact remains that he has been a good and popular executive.—Orlando Sentinel

THE ESKIMO HOSPITALITY is truly astonishing. Every family tries to do something to add to the comfort of a visitor. One produces seal meat in an article which at home, it must be admitted, is rarely seen outside the bedroom. Another brings a basin to wash in after the messy performance of eating with fingers in one's eyes, while a third will offer a scrap of rag for a towel. As you are a guest you are not allowed to sleep alone, so you take up your allotted position on the shelf wondering who will be sent over to you. You may get someone of any age or either sex. As soon as you have undressed, your clothes are unfastened by various ladies, brushed, turned inside out and hung up to dry.—Martin Lindsay in Cornhill Magazine

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO
The B. Y. P. U. spirit was greatly aroused by Mr. Arthur Fluke, who conducted a B. Y. P. U. study course the past week at the Baptist Temple. Many of the young people took the course and enjoyed it very much. The following officers were elected at the Sunday night meeting: F. E. Gatchel, president; M. L. Wright, vice president; Miss Maud Jinhins, secretary; Miss Lucille Rines, reporter; Miss Edith Stewart, captain Red Group; Mrs. P. E. Gatchel, captain, White Group; Miss Clara Miller, captain, Blue Group; and Mrs. E. L. Rowe, captain Orange Group.
The new home of the Sanford Lodge of Elks is started at last and yesterday a large force of men under the supervision of Commodore Venable were busy clearing the foundation. The location on Park Avenue is an ideal one and a beautiful view of the lake will be obtained from the new building when it is completed. Commodore Venable is conducting the work in a most efficient manner.

Texas Pioneer Speaks
CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Jan. 15.—Men get most of the breaks at the hand of historians. It is true the Queen of Sheba, Cleopatra and Joan of Arc stand out, and a religious 1884 in Pennsylvania maintains the Diety is female. Another exception is John Long, Governor of Texas. "Wharton's History of Texas" is "The Mother of Texas."
In the summer of 1881 her husband, a young doctor (Wharton a general), left her and her little daughter, Ann, at a Fort at Bear's Point with 25 soldiers, while he had to return into Mexico. By winter no news had come from him, the 25 soldiers had deserted, and Mrs. Long, little Ann and a 13-year-old negro girl were left alone.
The last of the soldiers departed in December, taking all the flour with them. They died with her but left them like her in New Orleans. Having promised her husband to await his return, she decided to remain, though without food for any kind. For weeks she kept the three alive on the birds she shot and the fish she caught—until Mrs. Long became scarce and a large fish made off with her only hook. Then for weeks they lived on oysters.
"In December a great blizzard blew and Galveston Bay was frozen over, so that a bear crossed on the ice. Snow fell so heavily that it broke the tent, and while the north wind howled she bore a baby girl. The night the baby was born, the snow covered the bed where they lay.
"The negro girl was desperately ill, and the next morning Mrs. Long had to go in search of food. As she went down the beach she found frozen fish, which they ate for days, and some days later she found the end of her lost fishing line fastened to some driftwood, and pulling it in, drew the red fish that had run away with it weeks before.
"They had not tasted food for three days when this kindly accident furnished her fish enough to last them a week. During the remainder of the winter she lived on such fish as they could catch with the single hook."
Hostile Indians camped from time to time on near by beaches. She could see their fires at night. They did not know she was alone. "In order to keep them away, Mrs. Long would fire a little cannon left at the fort, each morning, and without a flag, she took a red flannel petticoat and hoisted it on a pole, and on clear days the Indians might see the red flag over Fort Bolivar." Rescued in due time by a passing pilotboat, this beautiful young pioneer "Mother of Texas" lived to be 83 years old, and see her descendants become "worthy citizens."
At Houston I met the historian himself—one of the distinguished citizens and leading attorneys of the state—C. E. Wharton. He writes history from three score years of first hand knowledge. What happened before that was learned from his grandfather, a Texas pioneer, who lived dramatically Texas history when Texas was part of Spain, and later fighting to become independent of Mexico.
I found the historian quite disturbed over the existing state of affairs, and rather expecting a revolution, in this country within the next five years. He talked of his "10,000 year plan." "It is all a matter of integrity," he said.

2,500 Offices in Florida Will Be Filled This Year

Estimated That Over 300,000 Electors Will Go To Polls
TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Three hundred thousand Florida voters this year will make their choice for 2,500 public offices to serve terms of two and four years.
There will be few holdovers in the list of state and county offices. Topping the ranks of the holdovers will be two United States senators, four justices of the supreme court, and two members of the state railroad commission.
The list of offices to be filled starts with the governorship and ranges down to district school trustees. Secretary of State Robert A. Gray figured there would be 2,500 offices to be filled, and he predicted 300,000 voters would participate in the Democratic primaries and the following general election.
Among the major state offices to be filled are:
Governor, comptroller, treasurer, secretary of state, superintendent of public instruction, commissioner of agriculture, attorney general, five representatives to the national congress, two justices of the supreme court, one member of the state railroad commission, delegates to the national political conventions.
In the counties, the offices to be filled include:
Sheriff, clerk of circuit court, tax assessor, tax collector, county judge, county commissioner, and that is sadly lacking in these days. It will take 10,000 years to develop enough of it in human beings to enable them to live in peace and without confusion."

His children took a more optimistic view. They were informed about the problems of the day by experimentation—phoning. It is the pioneer spirit which has made this United States. The country was subdued by the Whartons, the Longs and their kind. Their children and grandchildren made it a mighty machine, capable of producing prosperity for all.
We shan't have to wait 10,000 years. I believe the on-coming generation, the great-grandchildren of those hardy adventurers, may learn how to run this great power plant with as much intelligence as has been displayed in creating it.
"I am a Conservative," the historian said.
"And I am a Liberal," I rejoined.
"What is a Liberal?" he demanded.
"One who believes that changes in political institutions should keep pace with changes in economic conditions."
After reading his history, I have decided a better answer would have been: "A Liberal is a Pioneer."

Broadway Star Sings In "Ship Cafe" At Milane Theater Today

Eddie Davis, famous Broadway figure and entertainer, is known as "the star who entertains stars" in his own Manhattan night club, "Leon and Eddie's."

The noted night life character makes his screen debut in Paramount's comedy drama, "Ship Cafe," featuring Carl Brisson and Arline Judge, playing tonight at the Milane theater. Davis introduces the song hit, "Fatal Fascination" written by Harlan Thompson and Lew Gensler.

"Ship Cafe" describes the amusing experiences of a ship stoker who becomes the buccaner in a night club waterfront dive, becomes the cafe's singing sensation until his talent is discovered by a rich countess who takes him under her wing and makes him her gigolo. How he finally realizes his position and his reaction to his lavish surroundings makes for an hilarious finale.

The cast includes William Frawley, Mady Christians, with music and lyrics by Lew Gensler, Harlan Thompson and Ray Noble. Robert Florey directed.
