One killed in Longwood crash on Friday

Friday, Jan. 14, at approximately 9:30 a.m., units from the City of Longwood Department of Public Safety Police and Fire Divisions responded to a three vehicle traffic crash on SR-434 at the intersection of Tarrytown Trail. A Chevrolet 4-door vehicle, westbound on SR-434 attempted to turn left onto Tarrytown Trail, and drove into the path of a Chevrolet Suburban, striking it in the right front passenger door. The right front passenger in the vehicle was killed instantly, and the driver is in critical condition at Orlando Regional Medical Center. There was no immediate information regarding the third vehicle involved. Longwood police said the passenger killed was listed as Pauline Maddox, 66, of Longwood.

Metts apologizes for comments

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Jean Metts, executive director of Seminole Volunteer Enterprises, issued an apology today for recent statements in which she accused the Sanford City Commission of fostering racial prejudice among residents in the city's historic district. "I apologize to the Mayor, the City Commission, and to anyone who was offended by my remarks," Metts said.

"It is not my style to offend people." On Jan. 10, Metts ripped the City Commission in a harsh prepared statement concerning a proposed city-wide zoning ordinance which would require incoming social services to seek commission approval. "What you are doing shows race still matters in Sanford (and) makes all the difference where you live and what city government will and will not do," Metts said on Jan. 10. Metts said the written statement was prepared for her, although she did not say who prepared the statement. She will issue a formal apology to the City Commission on Jan. 19. She said she decided to issue the apology over the weekend. "It is something that has weighed heavily on my heart," Metts said. Seminole Volunteer Enterprises, a non-profit agency located at 407 W. 4th Street, is planning to start serving meals for the needy within Sanford's historic district on Feb. 14. Historic district residents have argued that the meal site will decrease their property values by attracting vagrancy and crime to the area. Metts on Jan. 10 accused seven historic district residents who have filed a complaint with the city regarding the approval of a parking waiver for Seminole Volunteer Enterprises of being influenced by racial concerns. "The statements were made out of sheer frustration with all of the things that have gone on," Metts said.

Watching the parade

Lila Jaber is one of three finalists Gov. Bush will interview

By Russ White
Staff Writer

Lila A. Jaber is going to sit down with Gov. Jeb Bush on Jan. 31. If she impresses Bush, she may be rewarded with a prestigious spot on the Florida Public Service Commission. The job pays $117,020 a year. Jaber, who grew up in Sanford and graduated from Stetson University, is one of three candidates for a vacancy on the commission. Luis Enrique Rojas, a legislator from Hialeah and longtime state senator John Vogt are the others. Fifty-one had applied. "An effective policy maker needs a solid understanding of the issues," Jaber, an attorney, said, he strengths "lie in regulatory issues, law, management, diplomacy and problem solving." At present, she is pinch-hitting on the commission for Julia L. Johnson, whose vacancy is being filled. The commission position requires expertise in the regulation of natural gas and electricity, telecommunications, water and waste water management. "There's a great deal of responsibility," said Jaber, a court-certified mediator. Jaber said that the Public Service Commission is a five-member appointed body that regulates the state's $16.8 billion investor-owned utility industry. Customers must receive adequate service at fair and reasonable rates while companies have an opportunity to earn a fair return on their utility-related investment. A graduate of Seminole High School, Jaber managed the Sanford Music Center (owned by her parents, Abdel and See Native, Page 5A

King celebrations draw large crowds

Approximately 3,000 people attend Fort Mellon event

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Martin Luther King Jr. rose to national prominence in 1955 and 1956 while leading an economic boycott as President of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference that compelled Montgomery, Ala. officials to desegregate the city buses. In 1963, more than 200,000 blacks and whites participated in an orderly and peaceful "March on Washington" to demand new civil rights legislation. They heard King cry out "I have a dream" of equality, of brotherhood, and of freedom and justice. On Monday, the Rev. Martin Luther King's legacy lived on in Sanford with the 11th Annual Martin Luther King Day that began 10 a.m. at Crooms Academy and proceeded to Fort Mellon Park. The festivities at the park attended by an estimated 3,000 people lasted throughout the day. The parade featured guest speakers, songs and dance performances, and food sold by vendors. "The purpose of this parade is to commemorate the struggle, and to highlight the activities of the black churches and the black community," said the Reverend Harry Rucker of First Shiloh M.B. Church in Sanford, the organizer of the parade. "It was out of the church that the civil rights movement started." The third Monday in January has been celebrated as a national holiday since 1983. King and George Washington, first President of the United States, are the only Americans to be so honored. In 1964, the same year that a comprehensive Civil Rights Act was passed, King won the Nobel Peace Prize. The 24th Amendment, prohibiting the use of a poll tax as a requirement for voting in a federal election, was also passed in 1964. The Voting Rights Act was approved a year later in 1965. Longwood strikes conduct clause

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — The Longwood City Commission on Monday struck down controversial language contained within the code of conduct for city board members. The action regarding a clause which prohibited certain types of discussions of city business off of city property came as no surprise. The commission unanimously passed the motion without discussion. On Jan. 4, the City Commission rejected passing a resolution governing its own code of conduct because of a similar clause the commissioners said was too restrictive. The clause applies the ordinance to conversations that occur on or off of city property. The language stricken from the code of conduct states that it applies "not only during meetings but also prior to and subsequent to meetings, while on City property and during any communication related to City business..." In addition, the clause stricken stated that the code applies to "written or oral communications whether they take place on or off city property." Commissioners and volunteer city board members objected to applying the ordinance to communication that occurs off of city property. The City Commission passed a resolution on Dec. 6 governing the code of conduct for city volunteer board members. Proponents of the ordinance say it promotes civility, while opponents claim that it inhibits free speech. Because of the amendment passed Monday, the code now is only in effect while board members are on city property. The code of conduct for city board members states that the members shall not be confrontational with other members, the staff, or persons in attendance. The code prohibits "abusive or disrespectful conduct toward See Longwood, Page 5A

Talk about looking for trouble

None other than Gloria Steinem is aghast at the merciless humiliation of Linda Tripp. Ms. Steinem says that Ms. Tripp should be judged for her acts, and not for her looks.

Gloria, Gloria, how observant.

What charivariists we are. After 30 rousing years of feminism, men continue to berate female people, for looks alone.

There's a song in "Funny Girl" that begins "If a girl isn't pretty like a Miss Atlantic City" her chances for success are slim.

Ms. Steinem tells us that an attractive woman's success is attributed to her looks, even to sleeping her way to the top. The less-than-conventionally-attractive are ridiculed.

This type of ridicule prompted Ms. Tripp to undergo what Ms. Steinem said was "unnecessary plastic surgery."

"It looks like she's had a head transplant," Tripp's friend/conspirator Lucianne Goldberg told The National Enquirer.

Worst yet, Steinem bemoans, is that actor John Goodman vows he will continue to drag Ms. Tripp into skits for "Saturday Night Live."

No one, of course, is really safe from ridicule about their looks although Steinem said that funny-looking white guys have been given a comparatively free ride. Not so. We've been called geeks or told we can't jump. My second grade teacher told me I was "awkward and ugly." Lyle Lovett gets trashed all the time.

As for ludicrous impersonations, nothing I've ever seen can match the portrayals Lily Tomlin did of Marvin Gaye and Wayne Newton. Goodman's Linda Tripp act is hardly a crime. He's not taping a friend's telephone conversations, is he?

Years ago Steinem did an impersonation of her own. She managed to get hired as a Playboy bunny. She wore the ears and tail, four-inch heels. She wrote down how humiliating it was for a woman to be a sex object. Then, she wrote about it.

If there's one thing Steinem has proven over the years it is that jeers at women in the news do cut more than skin-deep. It didn't begin with Linda Tripp, obviously. Eleanor Roosevelt's looks were being ridiculed before Gloria Steinem was born.

What I'd like to see is less emphasis on the pretty people. No more "People" magazine issues on the 50 most attractive people in the world. How in the world did Tom Skerrit make the "People" Top Fifty? Linda Tripp is more attractive than he is. Well, maybe not.

Russ White's column appears Tuesday through Sunday in the Seminole Herald.

Unknown assailants carjack woman

A Casselberry woman was carjacked and kidnapped from the Market Square area at State Road 436 and Howell Branch Road Monday, Jan. 17 at noon.

Tracy Bryant, 36, of Casselberry told officers she had gone to Market Square around noon on Jan. 17, to run an errand. As she exited her car a black male approached her and remarked that her car was "nice" and then grabbed her and forced her into the car. Two additional black males entered the car and Bryant struggled with them and was blindfolded.

She told police she was held against her will forcibly and was struck in the rear of her head with a bottle. The subjects reportedly drove around to unknown locations with Bryant all day and evening. There were stops at unknown locations with Bryant left in the car with at least one assailant. An assailant fondled Bryant's breast on one occasion.

Bryant was let out of the car, and the subjects fled in the car after abandoning the victim. Bryant walked along County Road 427 until she flagged down a Seminole County Sheriff's Deputy at approximately 0018 hours on Jan. 18. The car remains missing.

Bryant was treated on scene for a minor cut to her hand of unknown origin. There were no detectable other physical injuries noted. Bryant's father had earlier filed a missing persons report with the Casselberry Police when she failed to return home in a timely fashion.

A BOLO was issued for the vehicle. The stolen car is a white 1987 Chevrolet Caprice Four door bearing Florida tag SWQ-352. The vehicle has a blue-grey interior and is missing trim on a fender well. The car's reported value is $10,000.

Data on the suspects is very sketchy due to the victim being surprised and then blindfolded. One suspect was called "Tim" by his partners. Any person having knowledge of this incident is asked to contact Investigator Jim Post at 407-262-7616 Ext. 1006.

lead a protest march for striking sanitation workers, most of whom were black, in Memphis, Tenn., he was assassinated by James Earl Ray. Despite his death, the Southern Christian Leadership Council reaffirmed its belief in King's philosophy of nonviolence.

Now 32 years after King's death, leaders of Sanford's black and religious community speaking at the Martin Luther King Day Parade said that there has been progress, but work still needs to be done.

"I don't think we're doing as well as we could be doing when it comes to good jobs and schools," said Turner Clayton, President of the Seminole County branch of the NAACP. "We need to have more black participation in city government, and especially in county government where there is no black commissioner."

The Rev. Ben Adams of Rejected Stone M.B. Church in Sanford urged those at the parade to take the struggle for civil rights "to a new plateau" now that the 21st Century has arrived.

"Since we're here to remember such a great man as Dr. King, we must remember that he had a dream," Adams said. "We still see some of the same divisions."

The weekend was filled with celebrations honoring King.

A youth gathering was held Friday at the Sanford/Seminole County Chamber of Commerce building. On Saturday, a banquet to honor King was held at the Sanford Civic Center.

Perhaps the largest observance in Central Florida was held in Eatonville, which is recognized as the oldest black incorporated municipality in America. An estimated 25,000 people turned out for three days of events from Friday through Monday.

The city of Sanford's Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Steering Committee thanks the community and its city leaders for the success of the three-day celebration of Dr. King's birthday observance.

On Friday evening, the annual celebration began with students from various county schools competing for scholarships at the Oratorical Contest and Poster Display. Winners of the oratorical contest were:

- First - Erin King, a senior at Lake Mary High School
- Second - Quintona R. Eason, a senior at Seminole High School
- Third - Erin M. Wright, a senior at Lake Mary High School

Poster Contest winners were all from Word of Life Center Academy.

The celebration continued on Saturday evening with the Commemorative Banquet held at the Sanford Civic Center. The highlight of the evening was the announcement of the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Brotherhood Award winner.

This award is given yearly in every city where there are governmental, civic and corporate leaders who contribute substantially to the character and life of their city.

This year's recipient is Eunice Idella Wilson, who is a respected citizen, mortician, and outstanding leader not only in this community but throughout Florida and the nation.

Wilson's career began in Sanford more than 50 years ago. She shows her love, dedication and devotion to all. A thoughtful, caring, considerate business woman, she is owner and operator of Wilson-Fichellberger Mortuary Inc.

Musical renditions were performed by Sanford's own songbirds, Cynthia C. Brown, Florese G. Dilligara and Jassmine George.

The message of the evening came from Sanford native son Alexander C. Wynn III who challenged the dinner guests with the questions, "Do you remember? Where do we go from here?"

Wynn reminded the audience to not be a spectator, but to be a participant, be committed, never remain satisfied, and to continue to build our own image.

The Inter-Faith Worship Service Commemorating the life and legacy of Dr. King was held on Sunday at 2:30 p.m. It was a time for all faiths of this community to gather to give praise to the Almighty and to pray for peace on earth.

This year's service awards were given with gratitude to two outstanding citizens for their exemplary service to God and fellow board members, staff, officers of the City and members of the public at all times."

It also prohibits board members from giving direction to city staff members without the consent of the City Administrator.

Board members found to be in violation of the code are subject to suspension or removal from the city board.

Meanwhile, the City Commission also unanimously approved an ordinance that removes restrictions placed on the number of individuals serving on a board from any one district.

"It is not easy to find the most suitable people who would have the time to serve," said City Commissioner John Maingot.

Commissioners were already able to appoint board members from outside their district, but the ordinance removes a restriction that limits the commission from appointing more than two members on a board from any one district.

"I have found it very difficult in trying to fill the board vacancies," said City Commissioner Dan Anderson. "It's a challenge that we have to find people. Unfortunately, we can't always spread them out as we'd like. But, our goal is to do that."

Opponents of the ordinance said that it could lead to one district having too much authority on city boards.

"Each district, if you look, has qualified people," said Longwood resident Nadine Tolos. "You have to get out there and find qualified people, and the best way to do that is by starting in your own district. This is a way of starting to get more people interested in your town and mine."

Longwood has eight active boards with five to seven volunteers serving on each board.

Oleander shrub's popularity growing in Florida

The oleander is a shrub native to the Mediterranean regions of southern Europe and southwest Asia. It has been cultivated in Florida since 1565 and has gained popularity in recent years. It is often planted near roadsides, edges of woods, lawns, and gardens.

Oleander is related to the Confederate Jasmine, Madagascar Periwinkle, Allamanda, Mandevilla, and Natal Plum. Oleander is also known as the Rose of France.

Botanical Notes

Oleander is an ornamental shrub or small tree, 3 to 30 feet tall, with many branches with a vertically upright growth. Leaves grow on short petioles at each node numbering two or three. The foliage is evergreen, leathery, and narrow — 4 to 12 inches long with a prominent midrib.

Flowers develop in clusters at the tip of the branches, about 2 inches across, with red, salmon, yellow or white flowers. Fruits are rare, but when present, it is a long narrow pod with many tufted seeds.

Al Ferrer

Landscape Use

Oleander is one of the most versatile landscape plants for sunny locations. They tolerate poor soil conditions and have a fast growth. Oleanders are available for use as small trees, shrubs, ground covers, large fencing or screen shrubs, and as potted patio plants. Dwarf forms are available and can be used to fit your landscape needs.

Culture

Full sun is best for flowering and for rapid development. It will grow lanky and produce few flowers in the shade. It can tolerate most soil types and conditions, and grows well in sandy dry areas. Its pH range is between 5.0 and 8.3.

Oleanders transplant easily, plant container-grown plants during early summer when in active growth. Mulch to a depth of 3 inches. Newly planted oleanders should be watered regularly for the first few months until established. Oleander is very drought tolerant once established.

Fertilize lightly three times a year with a complete fertilizer. Organic source and slow-release fertilizers should provide for longer periods of time. Use a rate of 1 pound nitrogen per 1,000 square foot of plant bed.

Propagation

Oleander plants can be easily propagated by means of tip cuttings. Cuttings root easily when taken in early summer. The use of rooting hormones increases root production of the cuttings. Air layers can also be used to propagate this plant. Seeds are less frequently used for propagation.

Pruning

A little pruning generally increases flowering in oleander.

Avoid heavy pruning that may lead to excessive vegetative growth, basal sprouting, and fewer flower clusters.

Toxicity

All parts of the oleander plant are poisonous. Plants should be located in the garden in a restricted location, away from direct contact with people.

The plant contains two toxic glycosides known as, oleandroside and nerioside. Action of the poisons in oleander is similar to the action of the heart drugs known as digitalis.

The symptoms can be severe gastroenteritis, diarrhea, abdominal pain, sweating and weakness. Cardiac irregularities are common, usually as increased heart rate.

Pests

The oleander caterpillar is the most important insect pest of oleanders. The adult female moth lays between 25 to 75 eggs on the underside of the terminal leaves.

The orange-colored and black haired caterpillars will eat the entire blade of the leaves in a very short time. The insect pupates when it is about 2 inches long.

The adult insect is a bluish moth with white dots on the wings and a red tip at the end of the abdomen.

The moth is known as the Polka Dot Moth or Oleander Moth. The life cycle is about 60 days and can produce two to three generations per year.

The oleander scale, the oleander aphid, and the long-tailed mealy bug, are other insect pests that affect oleander plants.

List of warning signs gives 15 reasons to leave your lover

DEAR ABBY: Last month you printed a letter from "Hawkeye Gal in San

Dear Abby

Please, Abby, run it again.

My college-age daughter is unable to recognize the signs of abuse in her relationship with a boyfriend she's been dating. For two years I have watched her give up her interests and her fun-loving, outgoing personality and accept being controlled by manipulation and jealousy. Help!

AT MY WIT'S END
IN WISCONSIN

DEAR WIT'S END: I'm pleased to help. Yours is only one of a stack of more than 100 similar requests on my desk. This was adapted from "Signs to Look for in a Battering Personality," with permission from the Project for Victims of Family Violence, Fayetteville, Ark.

15 REASONS TO LEAVE YOUR LOVER, WARNING SIGNS OF AN ABUSIVE PERSONALITY
Something's just not right in your relationship, and you can't put your finger on it. So here's some help. If your mate is displaying a combination of these behaviors, then you may have a potential batterer on your hands.

- 1. A PUSH FOR QUICK INVOLVEMENT: Comes on very strong, claiming, "I've never felt loved like this by anyone." An abuser pressures the woman for an exclusive commitment almost immediately.
- 2. JEALOUSY: excessively possessive; calls constantly or visits unexpectedly; prevents you from going to work because "you might meet someone"; checks the mileage on your car.

3. CONTROLLING: Interrogates you intensely (especially if you're late) about whom you talked to, and where you were; keeps all the money; insists you ask permission to go anywhere or do anything.

4. UNREALISTIC EXPECTATIONS: Expects you to be the perfect woman and meet his every need.

5. ISOLATION: Tries to cut you off from family and friends; accuses people who are your supporters of "causing trouble." The abuser may deprive you of a phone or car or try to prevent you from holding a job.

6. BLAMES OTHERS FOR PROBLEMS AND MISTAKES: The boss, you — it's always someone else's fault if anything goes wrong.

7. MAKES EVERYONE ELSE RESPONSIBLE FOR HIS FEELINGS: The abuser says, "You make me angry" instead of, "I am angry" or, "You're hurting me by not doing what I tell you." Less obvious is the claim: "You make me happy."

8. HYPERSENSITIVITY: Is easily insulted, claiming that his feelings are hurt when he is really mad. He'll rant about the injustice of things that are just part of life.

9. CRUELTY TO ANIMALS AND TO CHILDREN: Kills or punishes animals brutally. Also may expect children to do things that are far beyond their ability (wipes a 3-year-old for wetting a diaper) or may tease them until they cry. Sixty-five percent of abusers who beat their partner will also abuse children.

10. "PLAYFUL" USE OF FORCE DURING SEX: Enjoys throwing you down or holding you down against your will during sex; says he finds the idea of rape exciting.

11. VERBAL ABUSE: Constantly criticizes you, or says blatantly cruel, hurtful things; degrades, curses, calls you ugly names. This may also involve sleep deprivation, waking you up with relentless verbal abuse.

12. RIGID SEX ROLES: Expects you to serve, obey and remain at home.

13. SUDDEN MOOD SWINGS: Switches from sweetly loving to explosively violent in a matter of minutes.

14. PAST BATTERING: Admits hitting women in the past, but says they made him do it or the situation brought it on.

15. THREATS OF VIOLENCE: Makes statements like, "I'll break your neck," or "I'll kill you," and then dismisses them with, "Everybody talks that way," or "I didn't really mean it." If he has come this far it is time to get help, or get out!

Fire, police departments to offer public safety academy

Residents in Altamonte Springs and surrounding areas can learn what it is like to be a firefighter or a police officer.

The Altamonte Springs Fire and Police Departments are creating a Public Safety Academy for persons interested in the fire and police industry, or members of the community that would like to know more on how to protect their families against crime and injuries.

The first class is scheduled on March 1, with others to follow on yet to be announced dates.

Participants will learn about hazardous materials, terrorism in America, fire safety, K9 and drug operations, as well as other topics.

This will be the third course offered by the two departments. Participants of previous courses have continued their education of the fire and police departments and injury prevention by riding along with emergency units on calls.

The course is open to all members of the public. To register for the course, call the Altamonte Springs C.O.P.S. Division at 407-834-2677.

Man-made fish homes

SANFORD - If there was only one man-made place to fish, a boathouse with at least two feet of water beneath it at low tide would be the ultimate.

Snook, seatrout, redfish, mangrove snapper, flounder and sheepshead all gather in saltwater around such a sanctuary. In freshwater, bass and panfish are attracted to such cover.

The best strategy is to cast around the entrance first, then gradually work further back. Live bait is by far the best way to catch these fish. Live shrimp fished under a small float is absolutely deadly for saltwater species. Worms, grass shrimp, minnows and even shiners are tops for freshwater.

Moored boats also make good cover. Many waterfront owners tie their boats along the seawall and all but forget them. Pay particular attention to the transom of the boat. The prop wash from pulling in and out of the docking area creates a crater just to the rear of the boat's normal position. This depression is very attractive to all species of freshwater and saltwater fish.

SHUPE'S SCOOP

When it comes to fishing, "nothing beats the real thing." Live bait is usually hard to beat. Even live bait, however, must be presented naturally so the bait moves freely and naturally in order to attract farring strikes.

FISHING FORECAST

Bass action is getting better by the day. Dropping water levels in the river are making fish easier to locate.

Creek mouths and other areas where water is dropping are the hot spots. Bass and other gamefish hold in these spots waiting to ambush bait-fish that are forced out into the open water by dropping water levels. Large shiners fished near mats of floating hydracinths are deadly this time of year.

Sebastian Inlet has large winter flounder that are hitting finger mullet bounced slowly across the bottom. Also expect redfish, trout and snook (season closed.)

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports that offshore fishing has been fair with the calmer seas. Cobia and a few king mackerel have been on Pelican Flats. Inside the buoy line, look for sheepshead and flounder. Trout and redfish are slow in the Banana and Indian rivers due to passing cold fronts.

Big winter sheepshead are the news at Ponce Inlet. Fish to over eight pounds are taking live shrimp and fiddler crabs. Also expect plenty of drum, redfish, bluefish, and jack crevalle. Trout and redfish are rated as fair in Mosquito Lagoon.

Get racks scored for Florida Buck Registry

OCALA - Now's the time for Central Florida deer hunters to see how their bucks stack up against other big racks taken in the state during the 1999-2000 hunting season by having them scored for the Florida Buck Registry.

To qualify for the Registry, a deer must have been legally taken in Florida during this or past hunting seasons, and have a minimum score of 100 Boone and Crockett inches for typical antlers, and 125 inches for nontypical antlers. Scoring is based on the Boone and Crockett system, since this is a scoring system many hunters are familiar with.

Anyone who wants to get their deer scored should contact the FWC's Ocala Regional Office at 352-732-1225. After your rack is measured, the score will be sent to the FWC's

SCC women right ship with romp over visitors from Illinois

By Dean Smith

SANFORD - It didn't take long for the Seminole Community College women's basketball team to get rid of whatever was the problem in a loss to Daytona Beach on Wednesday as the Raiders easily won their 20th game of the season, 107-56, over Waubesa College from Illinois at the SCC Health and Physical Education Center Saturday evening.

SCC shot 29-percent from the floor and 50-percent from the free throw line in a 72-53 loss to DBCC.

"I don't know what happened," said Raiders head coach Ken Patrick. "It almost looked like the girls didn't want to win that game."

But that all changed on Saturday as SCC hit 47-of-52 from the floor (90.4-percent), 3-of-9 from the free throw line, and 10-of-15 from the free throw line to improve to 20-3 on the season.

With a decided height advantage, the Lady Chiefs only had one player over 5-foot-9, the Raiders went inside and scored at will.

Shemel Donovan, a 6-foot-1 sophomore from Orlando, got the start at center and got SCC off to a fast start, scoring eight of her 12 points early in the first 10 minutes of the game.

The freshman duo of 6-foot-9 Susy Gyarfas and 6-foot-2 Kristi Jones came off the bench to have big first halves also, Jones netting 11 of her game-high 21 and Gyarfas six of her 13 points as the Raiders took a 55-23 lead at intermission.

SCC kept pounding the ball inside in the second half, but the local team also got its defense and running game going, as all 10 players scored with seven tallying double figures and an eighth scoring nine points.

With it being a non-conference game, Patrick also made sure all of the players got plenty of playing time, substituting and entire new five into the game every five minutes.

Jones, from Franklin, West Virginia, made 8-of-12 from the floor and all five of her foul shots and also had a game-high nine rebounds.

Also contributing were Gyarfas (13 points, five rebounds), Donovan (12 points, three rebounds, two steals), freshman Shaketa "Kiki" Kindred (12 points, two rebounds, five assists, two steals), sophomore Kecia Smith (12 points, six assists, nine steals), sophomore Satu Raimesalo (11 points, three assists, two steals), sophomore Kaisa Tuure (10 points, seven rebounds), sophomore Mevett Woolley (nine points, six assists, five steals), sophomore

Donovan, from Evans High School, got the start at center and scored eight of her 12 points early to get the Raiders going, while Jones came off the bench to hit 8-of-12 shots and all five free throw tries for a game-high 21 points and Gyarfas also came up big off the bench, scoring 13 points as seven SCC players finished in double figures scoring and an eighth netted nine points.

Donovan, Jones and Gyarfas also combined for 17 rebounds, three assists, three steals and two blocked shots as the Raiders bounced back from a conference opening loss to Daytona Beach Community College and improved to 20-3 on the season heading into Wednesday night's Mid-Florida Conference home opener against Florida Community College at Jacksonville.

The women will take on the Stars at 6 p.m. with the SCC men taking on the FCC-J men at 8 p.m. Admission is free.

Kerschner reaches coaching milestone

By Dean Smith
SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - With Monday being a holiday, the Seminole Athletic Conference winter sports teams got in a little extra work over the weekend.

It was also a record-setting weekend as Oviedo boys basketball coach Ed Kerschner got the 550th victory of his career, and oddly enough it came against his former team, as his Lions defeated Westwood High School from Ft. Pierce, 66-56.

Oviedo trailed by one point entering the fourth period, then outscored the Panthers 20-9 to improve to 14-3 on the season.

"It's crazy how that (getting the record against your old team) works out. I don't know if the wins belie my longevity or stupidity," said Kerschner by phone Tuesday morning. "But I still love working with the kids and still love what I'm doing and my health has been good. It's not very often you get to reach one of these records and when you do it kind of makes you stop and think about all of the players, fans and parents that help you get there. It was nice feeling."

On Friday night, the Lyman boys basketball team overcame a 16-4 third quarter scoring deficit to outscore homestanding Winter Springs 16-6 in the fourth quarter to pick up a very big win, 51-48.

In other boys games from Friday, Lake Howell got a big district win, handling Deltona on the road, 66-50, and Oviedo thrumped Seminole, 78-47, on the strength of a 31-15 first quarter advantage.

In girls games, Seminole claimed a big district road victory over Mainland, 74-43; Lyman stayed hot, whipping Apopka, 48-31; Lake Mary only scored 15 points in the second half, but the Rams held host Winter Park to 14 points to defeat the Wildcats, 40-35; and Lake Howell continued its impressive run of late, edging Trinity Prep, 36-32.

In boys soccer action, Oviedo remained undefeated in regular season play (11-0), thrashing Winter Springs, 8-1; Lake Mary avenged a loss last week to Lake Howell, topping the Silver Hawks, 3-1; and Lake Brantley upset Lyman, 3-0.

In girls soccer, Oviedo kept Seminole winless, 8-0; Lake Howell blanked University, 2-0; Winter Springs edged Lyman, 2-1; and Lake Mary trimmed Lake Brantley, 2-1.

In a wrestling match, Oviedo blitzed DeLand, 69-9.

On Saturday, Spruce Creek held Lyman scoreless in the third quarter and crushed the Greyhounds, 48-29.

In a girls game, Oviedo outscored host Colonial 28-18 in the second half, but it was not enough to overcome a terrible first half as the Lions fell, 45-41.

In boys soccer, five different players scored as Oviedo whitewashed Winter Park, 6-0; Lake Brantley nipped University, 1-0; and Lyman could not slow down undefeated Bunnell/Flagler-Palm Coast, 4-1.

In girls soccer, Lake Brantley picked an impressive 2-0 victory over a tough Apopka squad.

Magic activate Strong

Special to the Herald

ORLANDO - The Orlando Magic have activated forward Derek Strong, General Manager John Gabriel announced Monday.

Strong was in uniform for Monday's game with Golden State.

Strong has not seen any action this season, suffering from bi-lateral Achilles tendinitis. He was placed on the Injured List back on November 1.

Strong (6-foot-9, 240-averaged 5.1 points per game and 3.7 rebounds per game in 15.8 minutes per game last season for the Magic. He has seen action in 408 career NBA regular season games over his eight-year career. Strong has spent the past three seasons in Orlando, averaging 9.0 points per game and 5.1 rebounds per game in 184 games in a Magic uniform.

The Magic waived Kiwane Garris following Saturday's game (Jan. 15) vs. Indiana. Garris (6-foot-2, 183-pounds) appeared in three games this season for Orlando, averaging 1.3 points per game in 7.7 minutes per game.

Garris was originally signed as a free agent on December 21, then waived on January 4. He then signed a 10-day contract with the Magic on January 7.

Prior to joining the Magic, Garris played in 14 games with the Grand Rapids Hoops of the CBA. He led the Hoops in scoring, averaging 13.1 points per game.

The Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) awards the title of All-Around World Champion Cowboy to the rodeo stars who win the greatest amount of prize money in a single year in two or more PRCA rodeo events, having earned a minimum of $2,000 in each event. Ty Murray, the 1999 champion, has won the title six times.

Kristen Smithers (six points, three rebounds, three steals, two assists) and Sanford sophomore Shemeka Stokes (one point, three rebounds, two steals).

Waubesaee (8-9), from about 40-miles west of Chicago, only had four players score, but they all hit for double figures.

Amanda Wolf led the way with 17 points, while Maegan Wilson added 15, Stacy Lettow 13 and Megna Hook 11.

The Raiders will play their first home Mid-Florida Conference game of the season on Wednesday, hosting Florida Community College from Jacksonville (16-4, 1-1 in the conference, losing by eight to Daytona on Saturday) as part of a women's/men's doubleheader starting at 6 p.m.

The SCC men, who were 14-7 heading into a Saturday night conference game at St. Johns River Community College, will host a powerful Stars squad at 6 p.m.

Admission to all home SCC basketball games is free.

 Generally speaking, you could be rather fortunate in the year ahead in endeavors that involve social arrangements or partnerships. Use your congeniality to feather your nest.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It's important that you think like a winner today. If you have to make an important decision and you base it on its positives, Lady Luck will come to your aid. Capricorn, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send the required refund form and for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 and self-addressed stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to state your Zodiac sign.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Provided your targets aren't obscure or fuzzy, you're likely to get whatever you go after today. Thus, it's imperative your goals are first clearly defined.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It's in you to be firm if you'll try. In situations that call for persuasion, be resolute and self-assured. You'll discover that you do possess the self-confidence called for today.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Albeit from other than your usual sources, greater yields are possible today which could stimulate your bank account. Search for resources in uncommon places.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Someone with whom you work or associate could have some different slants on a project in which you're interested in furthering. This person's input can be a big help.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Father experience will be a big help in fulfilling your expectations today, especially in endeavors that involve material benefits. Draw upon this wisdom wherever it comes from.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) A delicate development that threatens to derail a project in which you're involved can be handled nautely today once you choose to do so. You'll manage it like a champion.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) There's a lesson for you to learn, and that is not to worry unnecessarily. A situation that has been causing you concern will work out much better than you had anticipated today.

VIROO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Should someone who is pertinent to your present plans not be able to come to you today, don't let this deter you. Make arrangements to go to him or her.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Focus your efforts on meaningful objectives today, because you are in a great achievement cycle both career-wise and financially. Cash in on the good times.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Align yourself with someone who has a proven track record when going into any negotiations or head-on debates today. His or her past experience will serve you well.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 31) It might not be obvious to you at first today, but there are ample opportunities around you. Look about, because it'll be up to you to search them out.

Win at Bridge

Number two is also chilly

By Philip Alder
 This week, we are featuring bridge players who live in the top five countries for Internet use per 1,000 of population. In the top spot is Iceland, with 320 surfers per 1,000. Which country is second?
 Well, here is a deal featuring a leading women's pair from this nation. To test yourself, look only at the North and East hands. Defending against two spades, your partner (West) leads the heart 10. After declarer calls for dummy's two, how would you plan the defense?
 The deal occurred during the 1975 Nordic Women's Team Championship, which was played in Noreund, Norway. The bidding was debatable. Presumably, South's opening bid promised only a four-card suit. If it showed five, either North would have raised to two spades, or South would not have rebid two spades. Still, that two-spade rebid, rather than a pass, seems strange to me.

 At first glance, South will lose only five tricks: two hearts and three clubs. Yet the defenders found the way to increase that number by one.
 East, Siv Linden, won the first trick with the heart queen. Then she found the best play, switching to the club four. West, Jemina Katera, won with the king and returned the club jack, which was covered by the queen and ace. A club to West's 10 was followed by a heart to East's ace. Now Linden led the 13th club, which promoted a trump trick for the defense. West's spade 10 had to score.
 Finland has 305 Internet users per 1,000 of population. Is it relevant that the two top countries, Iceland and Finland, have long, cold winters?

Doctor Gott

Dry between your toes!

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have a running argument with my wife and daughter about proper foot care. They don't believe that it is necessary to dry between the toes after bathing. I was always taught that meticulous drying helped prevent athlete's foot. Am I just a fuddy duddy?
 DEAR READER: Not on your life. Yeasts (that cause athlete's foot) and bacteria thrive in environments that are warm, dark and moist. Therefore, it makes perfect sense to dry thoroughly between the toes after bathing. This practice is the key to good preventive therapy. Having taken your side of this issue, I now suggest that you and your family make an effort to disagree about more important matters, such as the Republicans' caving in on the recent budget negotiations in Congress.
 DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 46 and suffer from metastatic melanoma. I still want to get pregnant but my doctor believes it is too dangerous. I menstruate every three months. What are your thoughts?

 DEAR READER: Because I am not familiar with your medical history, I cannot give you a definitive solution to your predicament. Melanoma is a highly malignant skin cancer. Yours has apparently metastasized (spread internally beyond the original lesion). This situation is treatable and may even be curable with modern techniques. However, the treatment — such as chemotherapy — may affect your fertility. Also, the drugs can be dangerous for an unborn child, should you become pregnant. In addition, although women in their 40s can certainly conceive and bear normal children, the older the mother the greater the risk of fetal abnormalities. Therefore, I agree with your doctor that becoming pregnant is probably unwise. You may wish to check with a gynecologist about this.

Nonetheless, you do have options. Adoption, for example, might be your best choice. Or, using up-to-date infertility techniques, the doctors may be able to salvage several of your eggs, inseminate one artificially and implant it in a surrogate mother who would carry your child to term.
 Given the seriousness of your condition and the difficult future you face, I think that you have to deal with priorities, the first of which is to get the melanoma under control. The pregnancy issue, while important, is secondary to your very survival. Perhaps by working in harmony with one another, your doctors could advise you about adoption/artificial insemination and how to coordinate this aspect of your life with your cancer therapy. Surely, this is a tremendous challenge but, again, you need to focus on your own health and future first.
