Song Hits Feature Shirley Temple's Grandest Musical

Shirley Temple always turns in a fine performance—as millions of fans will attest—but this time she gives you the time of your life!

She's a Shirley of surprises simply surrounded by singing, dancing, romancing, fun-making show people. And if you're thrill-able, "Little Miss Broadway," which opens tomorrow at the Ritz Theatre is the musical thing to thrill to.

The grand group of troupers which aids and abets Miss Temple is headed by that scintillating stunner, George Murphy, the irrepressible Jimmy Durante, gorgeous blonde Phyllis Brooks and Edna Mae Oliver, the popular, prim and praiseworthy grande dame of filmdom.

To make this the go-happy musical thrill hit of the year, six new Bullock and Spina melodies radiated from the romance and the big selections can choose from "Be Optimistic," "We Should Be Together," "If All the World Were Paper," "Swing Me an Old-Fashioned Song," "How Can I Thank You" and "Little Miss Broadway," the title song.

It's all about little miss who lives in a vaudeville hotel with her foster family, Edward Ellis and Phyllis Brooks. When Jimmy Durante's jazz band gets too loud in its rehearsals, the wealthy neighbor, Edna Mae Oliver complains and threatens to close the hotel. George Murphy, her nephew intercedes—and while he wins nothing but smelly from his prim aunt, at least he wins the favor of fair Phyllis.

Led by the as-anything, amazing and brilliant Shirley, everything ends as it should—especially after Shirley convinces an austere judge that he should permit the actors to stage their show in the courtroom. George Barber, Edward Ellis, Jane Darwell, El Brendel, Donald Meek, Patricia (Honey) Child, Wilder and Claude Gillingwater, Sr. have an active part. "Little Miss Broadway," under the personal supervision of Darryl F. Zanuck, was directed by Irving Cummings.

Joe E. Brown Cuts Outlandish Capers In Football Picture, "The Gladiator"

Besides being the funniest proper portions of pathos and show in town, Joe E. Brown's "The Gladiator" coming to the Ritz Theatre boasts the most unusual comedy idea that ever survived a Hollywood story conference. It deserves to be called nothing less than terrific. But what is more important, the picture's premise has been so adroitly paced and timed in its development by Director Edward Sedgwick and so superbly delineated by Brown & Co. that "The Gladiator" may unblushingly be called the most entertaining film of the season.

What will confront us on the Ritz Theatre screen Tuesday and Wednesday is Joe E. Brown's "The Gladiator," a picture which is charged by a mysterious serum into a Superman. Joe's at odds with the transformation takes place. He becomes a gridiron sensation, a flash on the track and a weight and discus thrower who would make the gods of Olympia scratch their marble heads in wonderment. The entire gamut of comedy, from slapstick to whimper, with

Scarlet Pimpernel Returns To Screen With New Exploits

That reckless adventurer. The Scarlet Pimpernel, will receive a hearty welcome when he returns to the Ritz Theatre Tuesday of Wednesday night to take up his exciting exploits where he had left off three years ago.

London Film's thrilling sequel to the famous Baronesa Orcy romance is called "The Return of the Scarlet Pimpernel" and presents Barry Barnes, a handsome and exciting newcomer, in the title role played by Leslie Howard in the earlier film. The role of the Pimpernel's beautiful wife, Marguerite, is taken by lovely Sophie Stewart, and both stars give a brilliant account of themselves.

Almost everyone is familiar with the character of Sir Percy Blakeney, the English dandy who, as the Scarlet Pimpernel, devoted himself to the suicidal mission of rescuing innocent victims from the guillotine during the French Revolution.

The present picture takes up the story at the point where the identity of the Scarlet Pimpernel has become known to the tyrant, Robespierre and his chief of police, Chauvelin.

In an effort to trap the Pimpernel, Chauvelin kidnaps the lovely Marguerite and has her imprisoned in Paris. The Pimpernel follows her and effects a daring rescue, only to be snared by the wily Chauvelin.

With his wife recaptured and facing execution within a few days, the Pimpernel engineers a coup which results in the downfall of the regime of tyranny, the capture of Chauvelin and, most important, the rescue of his adored Marguerite.

SHE'S GOT "SEA LEGS" Gam-glamorous Martha Raye doesn't even have to set foot aboard ship to get the greatest pair of sea legs the navy's ever seen in her new comedy, "Give Me a Sailor," which comes Thursday and Friday to the Ritz Theatre, she will be seen as the favorite of the fleet in general and of two officers, Bob Hope and Jack Whiting, in particular. Betty Grable is also cast.

Letter, Tossed Into Sea, Is Delivered

EAST ORANGE, N. J. Aug. 25.—A letter, "posted" by being tossed overboard in a bottle from a ship off the Florida coast last Sunday, has been delivered as safely as if it had been dropped in the street corner letterbox.

Mrs. R. John Carlson of this city, the addressee, disclosed today. The letter, which arrived at the Carlson home yesterday was sent by a Boston friend who sailed from New York last Saturday for Honduras. The friend explained in it that she had forgotten to send a note to Mrs. Carlson from New York that she would be in East Orange next Thursday.

The bottle was found on Monday at Miami Beach and taken to the postoffice there. The note was allowed to dry for a day and then sent to Postmaster Philip L. Fullinger of East Orange with an apology for the day's delay.

President Roosevelt warns that 300-week pensions are too much, and would require a tax which would fall particularly heavy on the poor. It should be added, however, that the Social Security tax already falls particularly heavy on the poor and is already sufficient to pay 300-week pensions if it were actually paid to the old folks and were not held in a so-called reserve fund of governmental L. The Nation's Economic Problem No. 1, for the benefit of which its brothers in the North tried to enact an anti-lynching law, views with horror tales from Philadelphia's county prison, where four men were hanged and three were turned on the gallows, until the courts, always and long known to be one-half their own, ultimately such methods prevail in the more civilized Southern States.

New Highways Needed

What has become of the State Road Department's project to complete State Road No. 44 to Mims just north of Titusville? This project was once the most popular on the list and the road bed has been laid for several years, but as yet no effort has been made to complete the hard-surfacing and the motorist can get through only by plowing the sand ruts.

The completion of State Road No. 44 is of great importance to Sanford and Central Florida because it is the shortest route to the East Coast and will bring the Atlantic Ocean at least 15 minutes closer to our front doors. But it is equally important to us because it will open a new and closer route into Central Florida for the people of Titusville and Brevard county.

Another road project which Seminole County citizens should be considering is the construction of a direct short-cut highway to Ovedo by fill or causeway across Lake Jessup. Such a road would not only bring the people of Ovedo and that part of the county ten miles closer to Sanford, but would also materially shorten the distance to the lower East Coast.

Furthermore, there is now a new highway under construction from Miami which connects with the Kissimmee-Molbourne road at Holopay. This new highway has been sponsored primarily by Miami attorneys, legislators, and others having frequent business in the State capital, and it cuts some fifty miles off the distance to Tallahassee.

The importance of this new highway to Sanford lies in the possible construction of a road from Holopay to the Cheney Highway at Bithlo. Such a road, especially if the proposed Sanford-Ovedo highway across Lake Jessup is built, would provide a new short route from here to Miami running through Sanford.

This is of particular interest to Sanford inasmuch as most of the new highways constructed during the past few years have led the heavy tourist traffic away from Sanford. If the link from Holopay to Bithlo were built, the shortest, and best route from Jacksonville to Miami would run through Sanford, and it is a safe bet that most of the tourist travel would come this way.

This Week's Primaries

The Administration's attempt to purge the Democratic party of elements within it less than 100 percent in accord with New Deal policies met with another setback in Texas Saturday when Ed Gossett defeated the Presidential favorite, Representative McFarlane, in a runoff primary. McFarlane had previously received the presidential blessing while Gossett had said he would not "ride into office on any man's co-tails."

In the first Texas primary, the New Deal had suffered an earlier blow in the defeat of Maury Maverick, leader of the so-called Ilium block in the House, who afterwards announced his intention of running as an independent in the general election but who was denied the privilege by the Secretary of State who refused to allow his name on the ballot.

The political horizon was considerably brightened for the New Deal over the week-end by the announcement in South Carolina that State Senator Edgar Brown had withdrawn from the senatorial race. Brown was a 100 percent New Dealer running against Gov. Johnston, another 100 percent, and the incumbent Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith who on more than one occasion had demonstrated his independence. It was the fact that both Brown and Johnston were close personal friends of the President which prevented him from intervening even more forcefully in the South Carolina primary than merely designating his disapproval of Smith. Now that Brown has withdrawn the President can speak freely, and the New Deal vote in the state will not be split.

While the South Carolina primary occupies the center of the stage for this week, another important election will take place on Tuesday. That is in California where Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, secretary of the treasury during Woodrow Wilson's Administration, one time candidate for Democratic presidential nomination, and a very good friend of President Roosevelt, is having the fight of his life to regain the senatorial nomination.

McAdoo is opposed by John W. Preston, who insists he is "no rubber stamp" and who charges McAdoo with having illegally accepted campaign contributions from federal jobholders, by Sheridan Downey, Townsendite, who incurred President Roosevelt's outspoken criticism by proposing old age pensions of $30 a week, by James W. Melton, an out-and-out conservative. President Roosevelt has three times spoken in favor of McAdoo.

Motion Picture Industry Unites In Drive To Reach New Heights In Moviedom

Ninety-four productions, covering the feature picture business in the main countries, for August, September and October, are listed in the first all-industry Fall announcement sent from Hollywood. The announcement is made today in connection with the Motion Picture's Greatest Year campaign sponsored by all branches of the industry, to stimulate business.

The industry feels that, inasmuch as motion pictures are a barometer to prosperity, the success of its drive is bound to be beneficial to the nation at large. It is hoping in business, bringing more jobs and putting more money into general circulation.

Comprehensive preparation has been made, according to the announcement, to insure the quality of production being up to advanced motion picture industry campaign plans. The quality and success of the picture business as a whole is being emphasized. The industry is preparing to take a full page advertisement in the "Movie Digest" magazine, "The Motion Picture's Greatest Year."

Attention is also called to certain noticeable trends in the picture industry which are felt to be a healthy indication of the public demand for varied and intelligent entertainment. Major Projects Next Year To Be Park, Boat Basin Tangled Internal Diplomacy Has Prevented War

Continued From Page One... Major projects for next year include a new park and boat basin. Internal diplomacy has prevented war.

The German mobilization produced a slump in the Berlin stock market which was also attributed by the German state secretary, Fritz Reinhardt, to "excess spending" of recent months. Private Citizen Ruceman of Great Britain, the moderator of the agreement over the rights of German peoples in Czechoslovakia, has expressed his hope that a treaty will be signed in the near future.

The Spanish and Sino-Japanese wars would be nuisances to a war between Hitler. The one leaves Spanish support in doubt and the other leaves Japanese hands so far as Russia is concerned. In the United States, France and the other nations are increasing the diplomatic game of the hour in order to make threats against Germany, France and Great Britain have pledged their friendship and are having off allies where they can. President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull keep harping on "unfriendly nations" thus placing in doubt the neutrality of the United States in case of trouble.

Hitler will have to make up his mind whether that is all bluff, or actually a threat. The French cabinet has stepped down a British scheme to roll back the frontiers of the Spanish trenches. Into the new pact with the British scheme goes temporarily the Anglo-Italian treaty for peace in the Mediterranean— treaty predicted on the withdrawal of foreigners from the Spanish war.

A mine explosion in the Yangtze River took but did not damage the Chinese steamer gunboat 'Mong-tse' anchored at Kiangkiang Saturday, causing a serious dispute over her rights in Japanese-controlled waters.

The Monocacy's commander, Lieut. C. V. Conlan, was said to have told the Japanese he would hold them responsible for any damage resulting from their operations or from mine explosions.

The Japanese in effect contended that foreign warships were in battle areas at their own risk.

On the Yangtze River front the Chinese asserted they had noticed the Japanese offensive and had recaptured three important north bank towns.

Gondoliers Rally In Eighth To Win From Lookouts 5-3

Local Nine Holds 3 To 2 Lead For Eight Innings

Cox, Jeter, Pinder Give Up 8 Safeties While Mates Blast Out 10 Hits Off Travis' Offerings

The Leesburg Gondoliers took without an error, Davis on first, a 3 to 3 decision from the San Jose Lookouts in an excellent double play Sunday afternoon in an exceptional performance on the part of the Gondoliers.

Trailing the Lookouts until the fourth inning, the Gondoliers rallied to push across three runs to secure the winning margin.

Pitching shut out ball every time in the fifth when two singles and an error gave Sanford an earned run, Travis, leading righthander held the Lookouts out in hand.

The Gondoliers made their first run in the third when they via beat out an infield hit, advanced to second on Arnold's infield out and talked on McGowan's double to center.

They added another marker in the sixth when Davis got on first through a fielder's choice and as Pitman error on a bouncer, the bases were loaded and Davis scored on Grant's infield out.

In the eighth, Rick and Lind walked to start the big rally. Clemens' Texas League fielded the bases and Solly Grant smashed a single through second to bring Rick and Gabel home, changing going to third to score a moment later on Owe's perfect square bunt.

Manager Bill "Raw Meat" Rodgers sent in three batters in an effort to hold the locals early lead over the Lake County visitors but their rally in the eighth proved more than the locals could overcome. The Lookout men gave the Gondoliers only eight safeties while their mates were gleaming 10 from the offerings of Travis.

Cox, who was on the mound for 8 1/2 innings gave the visitors six hits which were good for two runs while walking two and ending two down via the strikeout route. Pinder, who hurled for 3 1/2 innings did not give up a single hit but fanned two G-men batters and permitted the Gons to score one run. Jeter, who was credited with the loss, gave up one free pass to first and two hits which were good for two runs in a single inning on the mound.

Davis and Pitman lead the locals hitting attack with two blows each in four trips to the plate. Handling seven putouts

Local Nine Goes To St. Augustine For Tonight's Contest

Tonight the Sanford Lookouts travel to St. Augustine to meet the Saints in what should be one of the most interesting games of the week.

The rapidly closing season is providing plenty of fireworks in the state league with several first, third and fourth place games. Gainesville and Leesburg are again in the top four and the ultimate winner will probably be the team that wins tonight providing the other loses.

Tomorrow night the Saints come to Sanford for a return engagement at the Municipal Ball Park.

Azaleas Win Twin Bill From Islets In League Games

G-Men Win Over Reds 7-4 As Brewer Hurts Saints To Victory

In state league games yesterday St. Augustine walloped Orlando 8 to 1. Parker took two victories from Daytona Beach and Gainesville won 7 to 4 over Deland.

The team for safely 12 times behind Lefty Brewer's sandy hurling as they continued their drive to clinch into the first division. It was Brewer's 21st victory of the season. He gave out nine hits but kept them well scattered. Teddy Roberts hit out on three singles to make the 25th consecutive game in which he has hit safely. He is just one game short of the league record held by R. G. O'Brien, his Spring team mate.

The Azaleas, taking both ends of a twin bill from the Islets, helped Orlando fight for third place in the standings. Jack Gaddy pitched the Azaleas to a 3 to 2 win in the opener and Ed Miller gave up five safeties to take an 8 to 1 first loss in the rematch. While the Saints were winning, the double loss of the Islets sent their lead over the third-place Saints to one game.

Deland got most early heat from his off the delivery of big Ken Willy as the 1. Men reached Karl Wachberger for 11 base blows including two doubles by Six and one by Willy. McMillen, Livingston and Six each got two hits for the G-Men with Rutledge leading the Deland club with three singles.

Chapter One

Chris Hunter, ace cameraman for Newsreels, who would take more chances than a five-lined cat in order to procure a five-second screen thrill, pulled back into a little Oriental cabaret and read the telegram a second time.

It was from Gaby MacArthur, his explosive employer, and it said: "Listen, clown, in the future stay in back of your camera. Send some of those bombing or sex resignation."

A slow smile crept over Hunter's bronzed countenance, as he pushed a half-filled glass away. He had expected this. The last footage he had sent back to the States, featuring an Asiatic version of the Big Apple, and taken in a Shanghai cafe, must have made Gaby turn purple.

Well, since the boss wanted action, he would give it to him. He believed in art for art's sake, but he wasn't above helping nature along. If you couldn't pick up what a waving camera lens what a waving public wanted, there were occasional infrequent but crucial moments when a little resourcefulness helped.

Flasher than Bill Dennis, his chief rival, who was top camera newsreel man for Atlas Newsreels.

The next morning, outside a broken-down farmer's shack, a little Chinese girl posed herself in front of Hunter's camera. Looking through the reflector, it appeared that a shadow, as from a sticking place, was poised over the child's head. It was caused by a

"I'm sorry, I told her to keep away from you," said the child's uncle.

"No give me nickel!"

"Look, you told me to take a glimpse of the juvenile entry-dodger."

"Come here, little yellow fever," he muttered, reaching toward her and seizing her arm. Chris, at the same time, took the picture away from the press.

"You don't mind if I keep this for my memory book, do you?"

The child's uncle, evidently catching up with her after a protracted absence, now appeared panting on the scene.

"I'm sorry, boss," he said dejectedly to Hunter. "I told her to keep away from you."

By this time a great beam of light had burst on Dennis. Respecting Hunter, realizing now that he had taken away, he held it up triumphantly.

"Look, boss!" he cried, turning to the little girl. "It's the same kid!"

"Sure, it's the same kid," admitted Hunter, realizing now that he was caught. "I adopted her. Do you want me to leave her down there by the river?"

Dennis turned quickly to the child.

"Listen," he demanded, "did you play with Hunter man? You fly airplane—may in picture?"

"Yes," nodded the girl. "He say I go play in movie like Shirley Temple."

"We've got him cold!" exploded Dennis, facing the others. "The same kid—was a prop airplane—the same father!"

"He's not her father," said Chris quietly. "He's her uncle."

"If you think we're going to stand by and let her be snatched by a man, we're going to join a group of cameramen and civilians who were standing in line for cholera injections, displayed a piece of mail he had just received. It was a telephoto reproduction of Chris Hunter's day stage scene of the little girl clutching the puppy, and attached was the message: "This is the real mother of the little girl. You can't keep up with Hunter, come home and cover fashion shows and cover."

"Well, he is, you guys," said Dennis grimly. "Here's what the home office was yelling about. Remember, you like that kidnapping?"

"It's a terrific subject, Chris," said one of the men, turning to Chris. "You mean where did he take that kid back Dennis."

"Why, William!" remonstrated Chris, frowning again.

"You're wrong there," added Dennis with a corroborative show of emotion. "The places they cover the best. The books they burst like firecrackers!"

"Exactly," said Chris quickly. "I'll be around some day and I'll tell you the whole story."
