President's Doctors Keep Constant Vigil At White House

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower entered the presidency today under the eyes of doctors keeping a day-and-night vigil at the White House.

Eisenhower's physicians believe the President has an excellent chance to recover from a mild stroke that has had a slight but temporary effect on his speech.

However, the doctors kept a close watch because in some cases a mild stroke is followed by a more severe one. The general feeling among medical authorities was that the next two or three days should determine the pattern of Eisenhower's latest illness.

The President's sudden attack that struck Monday afternoon after he had greeted King Mohammed V of Morocco at National Airport in chilly weather was described officially as "an occlusion of a small branch of a cerebral brain vessel. This is medical terminology for a 'mild stroke'."

Speech, handwriting, reported. The President was reported having hesitancy in pronouncing some official words but improvement in his speech was noted Tuesday night when he went to bed.

The doctors said the illness should pass with several weeks' rest.

The Chief Executive was able to go up and about the White House although confined to his second floor quarters.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, who rushed back from Paris when he was told of the President's illness, advised newsmen shortly before midnight the President was sleeping soundly after eating a light supper with Mrs. Eisenhower in the living room of their suite. They watched television for about two hours, Hagerty said.

Hagerty did not give any new medical bulletin but said he would make a further announcement "as soon as possible" after his return to the White House.

Nixon in Charge

With the President ill, the reins of the government were held firmly by Sherman Adams, presidential assistant, with Vice President Richard M. Nixon active in White House huddles and plans for future steps.

Nixon, who would become president in event of Eisenhower's death or "inability" to perform his duties, rejected suggestions that the President resign or that Nixon assume some of his powers.

He said any major problem on which the President alone can act "can be put to him." He stressed "no decision that needs to be made that would be in any way injurious to his health."

Despite the calm front assumed by the President's official family, Tuesday's news of his brain artery injury had worldwide repercussions. Some of his top developments were:

—The stock market wiped out five billions dollars in stock values in the 20 minutes between the time of the White House announcement and the market's closing.

—NATO Trip Cancelled

—Eisenhower's planned trip to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO "summit" conference in Paris next month was cancelled.

—All the President's appointments for the foreseeable future were cancelled including talks with the visiting King of Morocco and the planned visit next month of the President of Chile, which was called off.

The President's official family seemed determined not to let any of these problems bog down in action. Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell, pinch-hitting in the President's "chain-up" cabinet, drew from the notes of Eisenhower's cancelled conference speech Tuesday night to call on Americans to drop partisanship and throw full support behind expanded military and economic aid for the Free World.

While virtually every competent medical authority contacted said the official description of the illness was that of a light or mild "stroke," the President's doctors refused to call it that.

Injury Tamed Mild

The President's own doctors, in the first medical report divulging his brain artery injury at about 3 p. m. (est) Tuesday, said his condition was "mild" and "expected to be transitory in nature."

But they said it would "require a period of rest and substantially decreased activity estimated at several weeks."

Later their diagnosis was confirmed almost word for word by four neurologists called in from here and New York for consultation. The neurologists, in a 6 p. m. bulletin, termed the illness "mild and transitory."

They said there was "no evidence of a cerebral hemorrhage" or any serious break of brain blood vessels.

The specialists said the President's speech difficulty which became evident Monday afternoon had improved over the 24-hour post-stroke area, seen post only by a hesitancy in saying certain

Atlas Goes Off Saturday If Today's Tests Successful

CAPE CANAVERAL, (UP)—Informed sources said today that the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile would be fired Saturday if scheduled ground tests today are successful.

The Air Force refused to confirm or deny the reports. The big projectile has fixated in its only two previous tests, leaving the United States still without a missile to match Russia's coast-to-coast ICBM.

In today's expected "static test" the huge, 90-foot rocket would be bolted to its launching pad and its powerful engines revived up.

A House Appropriations Subcommittee investigating the missile program termed Tuesday night's unsuccessful launching of the Army Jupiter rocket "spectacular, but disappointing." The committee left this morning after a two-day inspection of the big site here.

To observers watching from nearby beaches, the 3,000-mile range Jupiter appeared to take off without a hitch.

But the Defense Department issued a statement shortly after the missile was triggered saying the Jupiter "failed to complete its programmed flight because of technical difficulties."

The announcement did not elaborate on the difficulties, or say whether the missile had been detonated from the ground by remote control.

Ten-Room Frame Dwelling Totally Destroyed By Fire

A ten-room frame dwelling adjacent to the Evergreen Cemetery on 23rd Street was totally destroyed by fire of undetermined origin late yesterday afternoon.

Two Navy fire trucks answered the alarm but the big frame home was "completely involved when we arrived" said one of the firefighters.

'57 Christmas Parade Route Revealed Today

The route of the 1957 Jaycee-Merchandise Association Christmas Parade was announced today by Herbert Stenstrom, Parade Marshal.

Stenstrom said that the parade would start promptly at 4 o'clock on Dec. 4 from the corner of First Street and Sanford Ave.

The route of the parade will be as follows, Stenstrom said: beginning at First St. and Sanford Ave., the parade will move west on First St. to Oak Ave. From there, he said, the line of march will be south on Oak Ave. to 4th St., east on 4th St. to Sanford Ave., and then north on Sanford Ave. to Second St.

From Second St., said Stenstrom all participants will march east on Second St. to allow the units following to disperse without causing a bottle-neck.

Parade Chairman John Alexander said "The parade committee hopes this route would give all of the huge crowd expected to be in Sanford for the event a good view of each entry."

Alexander said this morning that the judges stand will be located on First St. at the intersection of Magnolia Ave.

Yesterday, Parade Chairman Alexander said that the number of floats entered by businesses, civic clubs, schools and churches in this year's Christmas parade is terrific. "It looks as though we will have the largest parade ever staged in Sanford," he said.

Prizes of permanent plaques will be awarded to float winners with the judges choosing from various categories on the basis of floats best depicting the theme.

Final count of the floats entered in this year's parade will be announced in the near future, said Alexander.

Crowds are expected to pack the sidewalks of First St., Oak Ave., Second St., and Sanford Ave. to see this year's gigantic event in which children will get a glimpse of Santa Claus as he pays a brief visit to Florida especially for this year's Sanford parade.

Nearly every member of the Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce is taking an active interest and part in making the Christmas Parade one of the biggest events ever staged here.

General Sanford's Records On Display At New Library

Sanford citizens, new and old, are interested in the distinguished diplomat who was the founder of the City and a developer of parts of Seminole County. "General" was a courtesy title bestowed upon him by admirers in the Minnesota Militia. He was primarily a lawyer, a diplomat, and investigator and a developer. As a lawyer he carried through a celebrated case against Venezuela regarding an island in the Caribbean-Bird Island. As a diplomat he had an illustrious career as ambassador to Belgium. He was a Connecticut Yankee at King Leopold's Court. In national affairs he sought to be a peacemaker between South and North. In international affairs he gave relief to war sufferers and to the famishing. Here in Seminole County in the 1880s he bought 20 square miles of land bordering Lake Monroe on the north. He called Lake Monroe "the mouth of New York harbor," believing that Florida products would be gathered here in that day of water transportation and carried to New York harbor. "The Sanford House" visitors could look on Lake Monroe and follow the course of river steamers from Jacksonville as they crossed the lake to Enterprise and turned for the return trip to the St. Johns River. His "Florida Land and Colonization Company" was a two-story office building on the corner adjoining the present Seminole County Court House. His "South Florida Railroad" was the first railway heading south. H. L. DeForest, the father of Norman L. DeForest, "Mallard," was his general agent in establishing the city of Sanford. On Crystal Lake he established the famous DeLair Grove with 95 acres of orange trees, 50 acres of lemons and 10 acres in nursery stock. Along side this was a great Botanical Garden with many imported trees, vines, shrubs and plants from Asia, Europe, Central and South America. In this unsettled county the Negro laborers were resented so he imported a colony of Swedish people who have made a great contribution to Seminole County in the New Upsala area.

The records of General Sanford, which have an important bearing on the City of Sanford today, will be available to the public at the opening of the Memorial Library on Friday, December 6, at 4:30 p. m. at 519 East First St.

Two Homes To Be Open Sunday At $ Multi-Million Development

A multi-million dollar housing development will begin springing into action beginning with Sunday when two model homes will be opened for inspection for North Chuluota.

The Chuluota Town Development Corp., headed by two brothers from Miami, Patrick J. Lyons vice president and Thomas M. Lyons, will "start off with about 10 homes."

Thomas Lyons said this morning "We expect our new town will develop into a community of about three to four thousand homes."

Describing the location of the new development, Lyons said "these homes will overlook ten beautiful lakes dotted around North Chuluota."

The old Chuluota Inn, famous in the early twenties and even during the 1930s, as a gathering place for the elite of Central Florida and many tourists from the east "is being remodeled and will be used as a hotel," said Lyons.

Homes being built now, the Chuluota Town Development Corp.

executive said this morning, will be two bedroom dwellings to sell for $6,500 and three bedroom homes to sell for $7,400. He said that each home would have a carport and screened in porch.

"A shopping center site has been set aside," said Lyons, "and will be started within a year. At the present time," he explained, "we are remodeling the post office and store building."

Some roads have already been developed and built, said the secretary of the corporation, and others will be added to the already huge system of roads throughout the six to seven thousand acre development.

"We have our own water system," said Lyons "which is one of the finest water sources in the state."

Lyons explained that there are eight different models of homes to be constructed in North Chuluota, all of them of block construction with fired and plastered walls.

"We are so delighted with our new development," said Lyons, "that both of us hope to build our homes right here on one of the beautiful lakes in North Chuluota."

Governor, Others Pray For Ike's Quick Recovery

TALLAHASSEE (UP)—Gov. LeRoy Collins and other top citizens led Floridians today in praying for the quick recovery of President Eisenhower.

"I hope and pray that he will be all right," said the Democratic governor. "He has overcome physical problems in the past and I just feel confident he will do it again."

U. S. Sen. George Smathers said in Miami that it is "a tragic and awful thing that this should happen at a time when strong leadership is so badly needed . . . Floridians join with the rest of the nation in wishing the President a speedy and complete recovery."

Paul L. E. Hellwell, chairman of the Florida-Fore-Eisenhower campaign in 1956, called the attack "a great tragedy."

"But," he said "thank God we have a highly trained vice president who can pick up and carry some of the load for the President."

CHERAB BANNED

DAMASCUS, Syria (UP) Lebanese Director of Security Farid Cherab has been banned from Syria on government orders, informed sources said today. The sources said the government alleges that Cherab "ensures hostile anti-Syrian elements in Lebanon."

Georgia Firm Low Bidder On Project

A Vidalia, Ga. construction company was low bidder yesterday afternoon on a proposed 30-unit low rent housing project for Negroes in Oviedo.

Bids were opened at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the Seminole County Housing Authority on the proposed project to be located south of the new Colored School in Oviedo.

A. B. Newton and Co. of Vidalia, Ga. was the low bidder at $26,000. Housing Authority told seven bidders that the low bid was over the amount allotted for the project and awarding of the contract would have to wait for further developments.

Earlier yesterday, A. B. Newton and Co. was the low bidder on a 30-unit low rent housing project for white people, proposed to be located just west of Edward Higgins Terrace. The bid was for $32,500. However, in this project too, the bid was over the amount allotted by the Federal Housing Authority.

Eight firms bid on the 30-unit project, Cowan-Moughton Terrace, for Sanford and seven firms bid on the Butler Boston Court project for Oviedo.

John Burton IV is architect for the two projects.

Other bidders on the Oviedo project were: Arra Construction Co., Orlando, $371,450; C. A. Fieldland, Inc., Tampa, $408,000; H. J. High Construction Co., Orlando, $404,798; Morton Schiff Co., Orlando, $383,400; E. A. Scott and Sons, American, Ga., $379,000; and United Builders, Orlando, $368,000.

The two projects, if approved, will bring construction to Seminole County of nearly $700,000.

Big Milk Price Cut Due At Duval Stores

JACKSONVILLE (UP)—A big slash in milk prices was due at stores of a large Duval County grocery chain Wednesday, more than two weeks before the legal supports on milk at the retail level are to be removed.

But Julian Jackson, head of Jax Meats, which operates throughout the county, said he was not worried about any action from State Milk Commission Chairman Bralley Odham. The commission made its lifting of retail supports effective Dec. 15.

Jackson said his stores would put milk on sale at 20 and 21 cents a quart for pasteurized and homogenized, respectively.

"We'll be selling below cost, but it looks like everyone will be cutting prices," he said. "We just thought we'd go to the bottom to start with and see what happens."

J. E. Davis, vice president of Winn-Dixie stores, said that chain along with Seiber's stores had already cut prices from 28-29 cents to 26-27 cents. The A&P stores planned to meet this cut.

But all of the chains refused to be drawn into a "price war" by trying to compete with Jackson.

Davis charged the Jackson cut "is only to precipitate a war, and we're not interested in getting into that kind of a scrap."

Jackson said he was not worried about action from the commission because of a statement attributed to Odham which said that if retailers "jump the gun" on reducing prices below support levels before the removal of supports, he would take no action.

CofC Is Anxious To Wind Up Drive

"We are extremely anxious to wind up the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Membership Drive," Bralley Odham, chairman of the membership drive committee, said in a letter to merchants, business and professional men who have not yet joined for the new year.

According to lists of members for the coming year, there are 57 new members and 55 who increased their memberships.

Team captains contacting business and professional people in the membership drive have found that "there have been a good many who promised to send in their memberships but have not yet done so."

A lot of last year members have not yet come in, according to Odham.

The letter to merchants and businessmen was mailed yesterday.

Odham said "All of us know that talking about money is not a pleasant subject."

However, he pointed out "I sincerely believe that your Chamber

Dog Leads Youth To Dying Brother

OAK FOREST, Ill. (UP)—A dog led a teen-aged boy to his brother twice—once when he was cold and frightened, once when he was dying.

Ronald Coyle, 16, got into trouble Monday night. His father went to police and told them Ronald had forced his way into a cabinet at home. Three pistols, a watch, and a small amount of money were missing.

While Coyle and police conducted an all-night search for Ronald, his brother Robert, 14, took their German shepherd dog for a walk. The dog became excited, barked, strained at his leash. Robert slipped the dog loose, then followed him to a tree in the family yard. Ronald was standing there alone.

The older brother asked Robert to return to the house and fetch an overcoat and blanket. Robert did so, then went back to the house, pledged to secrecy. Ronald was left in the darkness.

The next morning the younger brother again took the dog outside and was led to a spot beneath the tree. Ronald was lying in a pool of blood. Next to him lay one of the guns.

He died two hours later in a hospital.

Vanguard Rocket, Atlas Missile Readied for Firing

CAPE CANAVERAL (UP) — The Vanguard satellite rocket and the Intercontinental Atlas missile apparently were being readied today for test firing from this top secret missile center.

Unofficial sources indicated it would be next week, however, before any major rockets are launched.

Newsmen and photo graphers gathered on the beaches near here Wednesday when the Navy set up the slender, black-nosed Vanguard on the launching pad and pulled away the crane surrounding it. But the crane was restored Thursday and the red ball signal that warns of an imminent test was lowered.

The Vanguard is the rocket which the Navy hopes will be able to boost a six-inch test satellite into an orbit around the earth soon. A larger and fully-equipped satellite is not scheduled for launching until early next year.

Despite these preparations, there were unconfirmed indications that the Atlas would be test-fired before the Vanguard, probably some time next week. The Air Force missile has failed to fly successfully in three previous tests at this base.

A Colostomy Doesn't Make You Abnormal

By HERMAN H. BUNDESEN, M.D.

A COLOSTOMY need not, and should not, be a handicap to a normal life. Thousands of persons all over the nation are working, playing and living a perfectly natural existence following this operation.

You would never suspect that these actors, doctors, attorneys, businessmen and housewives have an artificial opening of the bowel on the surface of the abdomen.

Normal Routine
They swim, dance, play golf, do their housework and gardening and perform all sorts of chores just like everyone else.

I point this out for those of you who recently have had colostomies or those of you who are about to have them.

A colostomy is a substitute for the rectum. Through it the bowel discharges its contents. While it may be an inconvenience at first, when you really stop to think about it, it is a very small price to pay for good health.

Drastic Alteration
As with any other drastic alteration in our daily habits, you have to learn to accept the change and then to live with it.

Naturally you will have to make certain adjustments. For one thing, you will have to master a simple method of bowel control. Once this is achieved, you're on your way to resuming your normal way of life.

It's not fair for me to advise you to forget your colostomy.

You can't do that, of course. And at the beginning, you're apt to feel discouraged and frustrated. Very possibly you will feel that you are "different" from everyone else.

Mastered Difficulties
Well, remember all those thousands of others I just told you about. They were in the same boat, so to speak, and mastered their difficulties.

They faced the very same strange, new situation confronting you. They conquered it, and so can you. It takes quite a bit of effort, but it is well worth it.

Won't Hurt You
And don't make the mistake of thinking a colostomy will harm your general health. If you make the adjustments I have mentioned, it won't hurt you a bit.

The real trouble, you must remember, has been removed. The portion of the intestine that remains is well able to take care of the body's functions.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
J. E.: What is St. Vitus' Dance?
Answer: The symptoms are irregular twitching and purposeless movements of various parts of the body. One of the first things noticed in this condition is a change in the handwriting, and inability to hold utensils at the table.

Treatment consists in complete and absolute rest and quiet, and the use of phenobarbital under direction of a doctor.

No-Man's Land Visited Nightly By Packs Of Dogs

JERUSALEM (UP) — The strip of no-man's-land circling Israel's New City of Jerusalem on three sides comes alive every night.

No human being dares push past the barbwire entanglements and other defense devices to set foot in the area littered with rubbish, but hundreds of dogs and cats, which recognize no international barriers but understand hunger, go there for food.

As dusk falls over the Judean Hills, ravenous dogs begin slinking into Israel. They pass through the gates of the Old City, past indifferent Jordanian policemen, or leave their homes in a half dozen little Arab villages scattered along no-man's-land.

The dogs are mongrels of about 30 to 40 pounds and are generally a dirty yellowish brown. Once in Israel, they make unerringly for covered garbage cans. They find these in the semi-slums which border no-man's-land. Only the poorest persons live in the neighborhoods directly under the barrels of Jordan's Arab Legionnaire machineguns. Rents in these Jewish districts are very low.

The Death Penalty
At the garbage cans the dogs take up protective positions, growling their "possession" at any invader, as they proceed to eat themselves. Shortly before dawn, the dogs return to Jordan.

While cats do enter the area at night, they also are apt to stroll in during daylight, and often they seem to come just to visit, not for food. Little official effort is made to control cats.

There is a reason why the dogs cross only at night. If a dog is caught in Israel, and this is generally possible only during daylight, it means death unless it has been inoculated against rabies as the law demands. One mad dog can, and has, terrorized an entire neighborhood before being caught and destroyed. Frequently such dogs have bitten humans before being captured.

Israel veterinary officials try to poison the dogs before they enter Israel by throwing poisoned bait to them at the perimeter of no-man's-land. They rarely succeed, for under Israel regulations, the bait must be recovered by veterinary officials if not eaten immediately by a dog. Otherwise it might be eaten later by an Israeli pet that has been properly inoculated in New Jerusalem.

Rooster Returned
The dog invaders, incidentally, do not have the status of pets or watchdogs in Jordan, although

Seeing Aid Development Is Underway

EAST ORANGE, N.J. (UP) — An osteopath told today of successful experiments in which a blind woman saw light by artificial means.

He said the electronic process may be developed into a sort of seeing aid, comparable to electronic hearing aid.

Dr. John C. Button Jr. of East Orange, who conceived the experiment, said it was conducted on Betty Corstorphine, 35, of Newark, N.J., last October in Los Angeles. During the experiment, tiny holes were drilled in her skull and steel wires implanted in her brain.

Attached to the wires was a photocell which she held in her hand. When the light in the darkened room was turned on Miss Corstorphine exclaimed: "I can see the light."

He said she could tell when the light was turned on and from which direction it came.

"It is wonderful to think they may be able to make people see," Miss Corstorphine said. "It is exciting to know I had a very small part in the experiments. It will be more exciting for the final person who can really see."

Miss Corstorphine, a native of Scotland, said she had become blind after a neck operation a few weeks before she was to graduate from Kearny, N.J., high school in 1940. She said she normally has no perception of light or day.

He said a team of physicians from Rochester State Hospital in Rochester, Minn., also took part in the experiment. The doctors are mapping the brain to determine which areas are associated with particular senses, such as sight.

It was this mapping that enabled the experiments to determine where in Miss Corstorphine's brain the wires should be placed, he said.

Measurement Of Accomplishment Must Be Made Today For Growth

The two Sputniks continue to spin around the world, apparently in outer space, and accomplishing nothing more than a record speed run for an indefinite period of time.

All the while, news columns are cluttered with the importance of such bold scientific achievement by Russians and America fairly cringes with fear about its place in the missile fields.

There seems to be clouds and clouds of nervous vibrations from seemingly unknown quantities out beyond the area where molecules of oxygen are reported to be five miles apart.

While preparations and plans slowly get underway to catch up with Russia in a project that benefits no one, apparently, except the curious or possibly the research specialists, important projects necessary for the development of our own communities are cast aside with interest rising and falling with news reports from "the thin air."

Billions upon billions of dollars will undoubtedly go into the projects that concern the missiles and satellites—additional new sums will be invested in research looking for something new that no one else has yet conceived.

And here in Sanford, plans for the docks and terminals project, proposed development that could change a quiet waterfront into a bustling terminal and shipping point for all of Central Florida, glides slowly around

Waste Of Talent Protested

The major watching the private hammering on a barracks roof. "Ever do any carpentering in civilian life?" he asked.

"No, sir."

"What were you in civilian life?"

"Expert accountant, sir."

"Isn't there a carpenter in the company?"

"Yes, sir, but he's working on the payroll."

This Army chesnut is recalled by a recent instance of the armed services' miscasting talent. A young man described as a mathematical genius was found working as a clerk-typist. Protests forced his transfer to work where his talent could be used.

True, everybody blunders occasionally. Yet this type of blunder is a considered Army policy, according to Adjutant Gen. Herbert M. Jones. Replying to a protest against waste of scientific manpower at the Aberdeen, Md., Proving Grounds, he said that every Army post has kitchen police and other routine jobs. The Army has

Cystic Fibrosis Is Still A Threat To Children

PROBABLY very few of you have ever heard of cystic fibrosis. Yet this disease, a rare one for children, is more common than multiple sclerosis and muscular dystrophy. And I'm sure most of you have heard of them.

Cystic fibrosis is a congenital hereditary disease of children whose respiratory tracts are blocked by abnormal secretions of mucus. This leads to obstruction, infection and, too often, death.

Areas Involved

The lungs, the pancreas, the salivary glands and the sweat glands are involved. About one youngster in every 400 is affected. Unfortunately, half of the victims did not survive past the age of five.

However, with our recent medical advances, it is now possible for persons who fall victim to cystic fibrosis in infancy to reach their twenties.

Daily Threat

Despite continued doses of antibiotics to control pulmonary infection, cystic fibrosis remains a daily threat to all who have it. In fact, one expert on the disease makes the grim statement that for 80 per cent of all young victims of the disease, "the prognosis is grave."

Currently, the treatment being used for C.F. children (as we call young victims) is continued use of antibiotics both by mouth and by inhalation therapy. This helps to

Agriculture News

By CECIL A. TUCKER II

"Agri-business is the leading industry in the state of Florida today," said Dr. Noel Cake, in a talk before the Sanford Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Casselberry Lions Club. Dr. Cake, an agricultural economist with the Florida Agricultural Extension Service, University of Florida, spoke to these groups in conjunction with Farm-City Week, Nov. 22-28.

The purpose of Farm-City Week is "to bring about better understanding between rural and urban peoples; to increase the knowledge and appreciation of each for the America way of life; and to recognize that Thanksgiving Day (the last day of Farm-City Week) symbolizes America's awareness of, and gratefulness for, the bounty of nature and the strength of her man-made institutions."

The theme of Dr. Cake's discussion was that business and agriculture are interdependent upon each other. He explained this using the latest complete census figures (1954) which ranked the major industries, and according to their values as follows: tourism — $1,000,000,000; manufacturing — $700,000,000; agriculture — $673,000,000; and services — $656,000,000.

He then explained that while agriculture is ranked third according to his census figures that it does so only because it includes only the value attached to the product which a farmer receives plus the harvesting cost of the product. This led into an explanation of how much more value was added to the product by Florida business men before it left the state. For instance, a box of oranges sells for $9.00 in New York City. The farmer receives $1.77 and the packing and hauling costs $4.44 or a total of $2.08. These two together would be considered the farm value as reported in the census. This box of oranges leaves the state, another 97c is added for packing and about 35c for transportation within the state, giving this box of oranges a value of $3.39 when it leaves the state as compared to $2.08 reported in the census. Of course beyond the state line there are other expenses also which add up to the $8.00, such as another 94c for transportation, 51c for selling, and $3.14 for the wholesaler and retailer in New York City. Thus, the combined efforts of agriculture and business which he calls agri-business form a tremendous industry. The farmer gets about 30c of the consumer's dollar spent on vegetables and other agricultural products.

From this point Dr. Cake explained a number of ways how he arrived at the value of the combined business of agriculture and business which he calls agri-business in the state of Florida. The $673,000,000 which the census shows as the value the farmer receives plus harvesting costs as an additional $227,000,000 added by business men in the state of Florida through such things as packing transportation, etc. to give a total value of over a billion and a half dollars. This is some $500,000,000 more than the value rated for first place—tourism. Thus, we see that the economy of our state is like a stool in that it needs more than the two legs of tourism and manufacturing to stand up, but must also have agriculture and other services and business in order to stand.

If we use Dr. Cake's method of figuring the value of agri-business

FIC Mails Ballots To State Employees

TALLAHASSEE (UP) — The Florida Industrial Commission today mailed 20,000 ballots to state employees who will vote whether they want to receive federal social security in addition to state retirement benefits.

Herbert Miller, of the state plan, said he hopes to get some of the completed ballots back Tuesday from Tallahassee employees, but said the vast number would come back "a week from today."

He said a running count would be kept of the votes.

Miller said he was hoping for a 90 per cent return on the ballots, but he pointed out only 10,382 "yes" votes were needed to accept the federal service.

The new coverage would cost the employee an additional payment amounting to one-quarter of one per cent. If approved, any employee taking the social security would contribute four per cent to the state retirement fund and 2 per cent to the social security fund. At present employees contribute six per cent to the state fund.

No present employee would be forced to take additional coverage if the vote carries. He would have until mid-December to decide whether he wants to come under it.

Contributions would begin Jan. 1, but coverage would be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1956.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES H. BROWN

United Press Staff Correspondent

The East German Communists are getting alarmed over the steady flow of refugees to West Berlin and West Germany.

There are increasing indications that the Communist puppet regime may soon try to stop the flight by isolating West Berlin and tightening control of the border between East and West Germany.

If that happens, it may mean a big increase in the number of refugees who are now being fed by the Communist part of the country. Most of them have crossed from East Berlin to West Berlin. The flight has reduced East Germany's population by more than 10 per cent.

The flow of refugees continues at the rate of about 100,000 a year. Until recently the East Germans had tried to stop the movement. One reason was that East German economy is in a bad state, especially since the Polish revolt, which sharply reduced the amount of raw materials available for factories. Another was that those who fled obviously were enemies of the Communist regime and potential trouble makers.

May Weakens Industry

But now the flight from Red rule seems to have reached the point where its continuance will weaken East German industry.

The refugees arriving in West Berlin and West Germany now include a big proportion of intellectuals and skilled workers. More than half of those who flee are under 25 years of age. Communist officials and members of the militarized Red police are scattered among the older ones.

Any determined Communist move to stop the flight would tend to increase the isolation of West Berlin.

Western officials fear that, for one thing, the Reds as part of an isolation campaign would impede railroad and highway communications between West and West Germany.

Communications interference. They also would be expected to

Washington SEE SAW

WHAT'S THE LATEST? — The news about missiles changes so fast that anything written today is old tomorrow—or even tonight. One thing is sure—Washington has a bad case of "missile jitters." Everybody has been blaming the other fellow because we don't have a satellite in the air. The fight between the Army, Navy and Air Force would be downright funny if it weren't so serious.

The air was cleared somewhat last week when the Military Subcommittee of the Appropriations Committee called the top military brass on the carpet about the whole program. They started at the top with McElroy, new Defense chief, and worked down to the men who actually will do the work of getting our missiles off the ground.

Here for the high level hearings was Bob Sikes, chairman of the Army Subcommittee for appropriations. He said he was disgusted with the Pentagon's "business as usual" attitude and told McElroy he thought it was time he "turned the Army loose" on the program.

"I think we did some good," Sikes said. "After the first day's hearings were over, the lights in the Pentagon burned all night long. When the meeting was called to order the next morning, we were shown copies of Defense Department directives that were written after midnight. These directives gave authority for the Army to take up where they left off when the Navy took over the satellite program. This means the Redstone Arsenal can again work on the satellite program."

Sikes said he was upset with the Defense Department for not taking this action without having to be kicked in the "shin" by his committee. After the hearings were completed, Sikes and other members of the Committee traveled to the Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, Ala. There they took a look at the six satellites that had been put on ice by the budget bureau and discussed time schedules for putting at least one of them into the air. "Target date" is now set for January.

The following day the Committee flew to Patrick Air Force Base in Florida where they spent three days. While there they saw the firing of a Thor. In spite of this kind of progress, the prediction is that Washington's "missile migraine" still won't ease up until we get something "bigger and better" into outer space.

OR STAY ALL NIGHT — Congressman Syd Herlong has just finished a 3,000 mile tour of the 5th District with his office trailer. He visited more than 150 towns with his mobile reception room. Signs painted on its sides proclaimed it to be the traveling office of "your Congressman, A. S. (Syd) Herlong Jr." He would park it in front of the post office or other prominent place and talk to all visitors who wanted to see him. Some just wanted to say hello. Others brought him problems to work on. One eager youngster came running to the trailer thinking it was a bookmobile—he wanted a copy of Huckleberry Finn. In another small town a little old lady entered the trailer to get her

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (UP)—The commander of the paratroops at Little Rock, Ark., has been reassigned to a post in Iran. Col. William A. Kuhn, first airborne battle group commander, was honored with a review before leaving the post. He also was commended in a telegram from Maj. Gen. Edgwin A. Player.

TO EDUCATE SCIENTISTS

Senator George Smathers says he will introduce a bill in the next Congress to permit parents sending their children to college to deduct expenses incurred from their Federal income tax. He said, "Tax relief along this line is both necessary and desirable and directly related to an overall program which must be undertaken in the field of education, basic research and a speed-up on a top priority basis of our missile and satellite programs. The battle for educational superiority has begun."

Beautiful Reception Held Here For Dr., Mrs. Wade Rucker Jr.

Candlelight, cressonemums and soft music set the stage at the Saturday Women's Club Saturday night, when Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Rucker Jr. gave a reception for their son and his bride, Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Rucker Jr., of Leesburg.

Yellow cressonemums in tall baskets, repeated in arrangements on the tables, were enhanced by the flicker of tall tapers in the Women's Club on Oak Ave.

The center table holding the cake was covered with a cutwork cloth. On either side, round tables with organza cloths held the punch bowls. A variety of yellow cressonemums; pom-poms, button and daisies, were arranged on the tables.

Miss Kay Ivey presented a selection of soft music throughout the evening.

Greeting the guests at the door were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith. Showing them to the receiving line were Mayor and Mrs. David Gatchel and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mebane.

In the line were the bride's mother, Mrs. H. K. Morrison, of Leesburg, the maid of honor, Miss Marion Alsbrook, the usher, H. K. Morrison Jr., and Robert Adams of Leesburg, and of course, the Ruckers.

The recent bride was gowned in her bridal dress of Dior blue silk taffeta. It was fashioned with a basque waist, square neckline and cap sleeves. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

The festive atmosphere of the Women's Club was enhanced by the short evening gown worn by the ladies assisting. Carnation corsages and boutonnieres were worn by those in the receiving line.

Assisting during the evening were Mrs. John Ivey, Mrs. Harry Woodruff, Mrs. Harry Montelth, Mrs. E. C. Harper Sr., Mrs. Floyd Palmer, Mrs. Robert Jones of Orlando, Mrs. F. K. Beck, Mrs. C. D. Redding, Mrs. Clarence Jones, Mrs. Kenneth Barry and Mrs. George Bohman of Orlando, Mrs. George Speer, Mrs. Robert Crumley, Mrs. Joe Baker, Mrs. Tyler Deadman, Miss Anna Corley, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Steele, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hofmann, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Quinn.

Friendship League Reseeds Church Lawn For Xmas

The Friendship League of the Congregational Christian Church met at the home of Mrs. William West of DeBary on Monday afternoon with an unusually large attendance. Mrs. West led the devotional service, which was followed by the usual order of business. Reports from various communities were most gratifying, particularly the one pertaining to the reseeding of the lawn surrounding the church. It is anticipated that by Christmas the appearance of the church will be greatly enhanced by a lovely lawn.

During the business meeting plans were made for sending Christmas boxes to the Seminole County Home.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, after which a silent auction of articles donated brought in a substantial sum to add to the treasury.

The next meeting will be held on December 9th at Fellowship Hall, with Mrs. R. H. Ivers of Lake Mary, hostess.

Union Services In Lake Mary Thanksgiving Day

Stork Shower Given For Mrs. Steiner

LAKE MARY—Mrs. Morris Steiner was honored guest at a surprise stork shower Friday evening at the Lake Mary home of Mrs. W. C. Hopkins. The gifts were presented to the honoree in a beautiful basket. Over the basket was a blue and pink sprinkling can with blue and pink streamers showing over the gifts. The refreshment table was covered with a baby green cloth, centered with a punch bowl flanked by pink tapers in silver holders. Refreshments of tiny cakes topped with candy babies, punch, coffee and mixed nuts were served by the hostess, Mrs. Hopkins. Mrs. P. D. Anderson, Mrs. Donald Kirkner and Mrs. R. W. Keogh.

Enjoying the evening with Mrs. Steiner were Mrs. W. G. Thompson, Mrs. John Leach, Mrs. E. Speidell, Mrs. Julie Scott, Mrs. F. E. ## Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CORN, Society Editor

Latest news from over the waves is from Madelyn Trubock Scott, who has been spending the last two years in Naples with her husband Dale, and children, Lee and Delynn.

Madelyn has just returned to her Naples home after a twelve day Mediterranean cruise. While on this wonderful trip she visited Tripoli, Lybia, Athens, Istanbul, Turkey, and Ismar, Turkey. She saw such famous and interesting spots as the volcanic island of Stromboli, the Straits of Messina, Sicily, Mount Etna, the Turkish Dardanelles, and the Bosphorous, the passage between the Black Sea and the Sea of Marmara.

Madelyn and Dale are in an excellent spot to run into several others Sanfordites, who although not quite as "native" to Sanford as Madelyn, still have their best interests here. Of course, I am speaking of Mike Stone, Dot Mann and Kay Dwyer, to name just three. If they should all get together, you may be sure that First Street, Lake Monroe, and perhaps even the Sanford Herald may be eulogized.

Cy and Jean Fitton are expecting Cy's father today from Columbus, Ohio. Mr. Fitton will stay over the weekend, and I understand every minute is scheduled while he is here.

Treta and Mike Michel left last weekend for Frederick, Md. Treta will stay over Christmas with her family. Mike will return to work awhile—too bad! It is necessary, but that is the way it goes.

Ran into the Country Club this morning, and hoped to have enough time tonight to be on the scene again. Helen Andrew announced that she was having a group of men for dinner—and you should have seen the place. As Raymond Lundquist says, it is the only two story house in Sanford with no way to get to the second floor. This was not the problem however. The painters and plasterers were still there, the furniture was in an uproar—but knowing Helen, the deed will be done—would like to know how. The walls are now turquoise and pink it is that new speckled paint, and even the piano has a coat of it.

Gamma Omegas To Enter Float In Yule Parade

Final plans were made for a Thanksgiving basket to be given a needy family, by the Gamma Omega Chapter of the ESA at its meeting Monday evening.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Jack Schirard on Sanford Ave. The group also discussed plans for a float to be entered in the Christmas Parade Dec. 4. They will meet at the home of Mrs. Eugene Estridge Thursday evening and at the home of Mrs. W. R. Jennings Saturday morning to work on the float.

It was announced that the chapter will act as hostess at the High Fever Follies Talent Night Jan. 27, at the Mayfair Inn.

Following the business meeting, the group enjoyed delicious refreshments and played bridge.

Present were Mrs. Eugene Estridge, Mrs. Jack Schirard, Mrs. W. R. Jennings, Miss Barbara Flynn and Miss Patty Walker.

The next meeting will be held on Dec. 9 at the home of Miss Patty Walker, 1105 Oak Ave. at 7:30 p. m.

Fiberglass Fabrics Need Little Care

Fiberglass fabrics require a minimum of care but there are a few important instructions, says Myrtle Wilson, Home Demonstration Agent.

If used as draw or traverse draperies, Fiberglass should hang just off the floor and slightly away from protruding sills and other objects in order to avoid excessive rubbing or sagging. This is particularly important when weights are used in the hems.

Wash Fiberglass fabrics by hand in warm water using "unbulit" soaps that do not contain strong alkalis. Fiberglass should not be washed by machine, due to relatively low resistance to abrasion. A two or three minute gentle hand washing in warm, sudsy water followed by a rinse in clear water will do the job. The drapery may then either rolled in a towel or hung over a shower rod or clothes line to remove the excess water. It then should be rehung damp at the windows.

Dry cleaning is not recommended because although dry cleaning solvents do not have an ill effect on Fiberglass or colors, the tumbling action during the cleaning operation is harmful.

Sewing Fiberglass. Use a good metrized cotton thread or Orlon thread. Use a longer stitch—eight to ten per inch. Use a looser tension. Lighten pressure of the pressure foot and use a sharp needle. The tension and length of stitch will sometimes vary, depending upon the particular machine used as well as the weight and weave of the fabric involved. On some Fiberglass fabrics hems will tend to round out, not lay flat as other materials. If a flat hem is desired, it can be achieved by double stitching. On some closely woven Fiberglass fabrics, there may be a tendency toward puckering at the seams in joining widths. Loosening the tensions will help. In other cases you'll get a perfect job by stitching with a paper backing under the fabric which can easily be removed after the seam is done.

Bibles To Be Given To New Babies By Golden Circle

The Golden Circle Class of the Elder Springs Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Vance Duke, for the regular monthly meeting. Mrs. David McNab was co-hostess.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. C. W. Ergle. The Thirty-Seventh Psalm was read by Mrs. Duke.

The class decided to make a scrap book of the activities of the Golden Circle. Mrs. Claude Lane will be in charge.

White Bibles are being presented to new babies born to members. Rhonda Kay Britton, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Britton will receive the first Bible.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses to Mrs. David Carpenter, Mrs. C. C. Hannar, Mrs. Claude Lane, Mrs. R. E. Soderblom and Mrs. C. W. Ergle.

Northern Visitor Does Snow Carving

Spending the winter in Sanford at the Bigelow apartments are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Christopher of Minneapolis, Minn. Mr. Christopher is the father of Mrs. John Thomas, wife of the rector of Holy Cross Episcopal Church.

Back home in Minneapolis, Mr. Christopher is a landscape gardener and snow carver supreme. For years he has carved tremendous figures out of snow and slush. His art was passed on to his children and grandchildren, and many of them have won prizes in this art, which seems particularly popular in Minnesota.

Horse, oxen, churches, men, all these things were subjects for Mr. Christopher's art. In the summer-time he turned to cement, with which he made gnomes, gaily painted, to place in the garden.

Mr. Christopher is looking forward to visiting Florida gardens and learning the fundamental differences in growing plants in the north and south. He and Mrs. Christopher plan various trips around Florida, but particularly staying right here in Sanford visiting his daughter and her family.

Lake Mary

By KETIE JANE KEOGH

LAKE MARY—The shower for Rose Steiner Friday night at the Hopkins Ranch home was truly a surprise for Rose. At least she seemed to be surprised. We all had a wonderful time talking and meeting new people.

Mrs. Nelson called Tuesday to tell me of the wedding of Jean Ann and Joe Russi last Friday in Woodbine, Ga. Jean Ann and Joe have been going steady all through high school and we wish them all the happiness in the world. They are living in a trailer on the west side of town.

The executive board of the P.T.A. will meet Monday at the school at 2 p. m. I don't know what business will come up at that time but I suppose final plans for the Christmas float will be made.

The executive board of the P.W.O. will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the Community Presbyterian Church. All officers of the P.W.O. and circle chairmen are asked to come.

The Chamber of Commerce will meet Wednesday at 8 p. m. at the Chamber of Commerce Building. I haven't heard what the program will be but will try to have it in the first of the week.

Mrs. Hood told me Friday that she had received 48 birthday cards last week. She was so pleased with each card and for all the kind friends who sent them. Mrs. Hood is one of our favorite people.

Some of you have called and asked about my great grandfather Birch who was in a Canton, N. Y. hospital. We received word this week that he is home from the hospital and feeling fine. I still say you never can tell what the combination of modern medicine and the will of an old gentleman can do.

Dot Lee Price and her new son came home from the hospital over the weekend. She will stay with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lee for a few weeks before she joins Bobby in South Carolina.

Please remember to call me this weekend to tell me about all your Thanksgiving company. My phone number is FA 2-3808.

November 22 Rites Announced Of Miss J. A. Nelson, Joe Russi

LAKE MARY—Mr. and Mrs. Verner Nelson of Lake Mary are announcing the Nov. 22 marriage of their daughter, Jean Ann to Joseph Francis Russi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Russi of Sanford.

The couple were married in Woodbine, Ga. For her wedding the bride chose a light blue suit with which she wore a white orchid corsage.

Following a short honeymoon the couple are making their home on Wilson Ave., in Lake Mary.

Mrs. Russi graduated from Seminole High School in 1937 where she was active in the dramatic club. Mr. Russi is also a Seminole High graduate of 1937. He was active in school affairs and a member of the Seminole football team.

Truthseekers Will Have Xmas Party

The Truth Seekers Class of the First Methodist Church met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. H. Stephens of DeBary. 35 members were present.

Mrs. R. W. Turner gave the devotional. Reports were given from committees. Plans were made for the annual Christmas party. There will be a covered dish luncheon, followed by a program. Mrs. R. W. Turner and Mrs. R. F. Crenshaw were appointed program chairmen.

Happy Birthdays were sung to Mrs. R. M. Mason, Mrs. R. W. Turner, and Mrs. Peter Monje.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. J. F. McClelland, Mrs. R. L. Griffin, Mrs. Octavia Rumbley, Mrs. M. E. Moye, Mrs. Beale Greek, Mrs. R. M. Mason, Mrs. R. W. Turner, Mrs. J. B. Cutter Always Has Been a Man
The boys seem to be taking this one for granted, complained the man whose 26-yard field goal beat Army in 1944 and who went undefeated in 23 fights as a college heavyweight.

But despite that beginning, square-jawed Slade became one of the finest athletes at Annapolis and one of the Navy's most decorated submarine officers in World War II in which his submarine accounted for 13 enemy ships.

Taking It For Granted
"The boys seem to be taking this one for granted," complained the man whose 26-yard field goal beat Army in 1944 and who went undefeated in 23 fights as a college heavyweight.

"It's the brigade, not the team or the coaching staff," he added. "But at Annapolis the team is surrounded by the student body throughout most of the day and it's a tremendous influence. If they remember this feeling to the team, we're sunk."

As an example of the necessity to have that fervent desire for victory he recalls the 1942 game in which Army was the heavy favorite.

"We had no business on the same field with them, but we won it, 14 to 6," he illustrated. "We just wanted it worse than they did."

But there's one — pointing up the need for that winning desire which stands foremost in his mind. That game was in 1930 when Cutter was stationed in California and again Navy was the underdog against Army.

Shaken By Chosen Side
"We were supposed to have some folks in to listen to the game on the radio," he said. "But then I heard the news that the fifth regiment of the First Marine Division had been surrounded at the Chosen Reservoir in Korea. "My kid sister's husband was in that outfit," Cutter remembered sadly.

Cutter was shaken by the news. He couldn't go home and face his guests. So he simply sat in his car and then, despite his mental depression, finally tuned in the Army-Navy game alone.

"Navy wasn't supposed to win that one, either," he recalls. "But those kids fought their hearts out and they won it, 14 to 2."

It gave the worried Cutter what he calls tersely "a helluva mental lift."

"I figure that if those kids could fight their way out of that one," he grinned, "maybe the Marines could too. And, what do you think? Damned if they didn't!"

Which explains why Capt. Slade Cutter wants a fighting Navy team down there on the bright green turf at Municipal Stadium on Saturday. And why, as Navy's athletic director, he's trying to see that's what they'll have.

3 More Colleges Drop From Untied, Undefeated Ranks

NEW YORK — Three more colleges—Westminster Utah, Lincoln Mo. and Hampden-Sydney, Va.—dropped from football's undefeated and untied ranks during the weekend, leaving only 16 teams in the nation still with perfect records.

Auburn and Arizona Tempe State are the only major colleges in the perfect record ranks but neither has completed its season. Auburn winds up its season Saturday against Alabama while Arizona Tempe concludes its campaign against Arizona.

Westminster fell from the blue ribbon ranks Saturday by playing a scoreless tie with Colorado Mines; Lincoln lost to Tennessee State, 25-6, and Hampden-Sydney was defeated by Sewanee, 25-6.

Ohio State Takes Top Spot In Poll

By NORMAN HELLER
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK — Ohio State, which lost its season opener and then swept to the Big Ten championship and a berth in the Rose Bowl, took over the No. 1 spot in the United Press college football ratings today by a narrow margin over Michigan State and Auburn.

Only 18 points separated the top three teams, making this season's race for the national championship the closest in many years. The title will be determined next week in the final 1947 ballot of the United Press board of coaches.

Michigan State, in first place last week, attracted the highest number of first-place votes this week from the 35 leading coaches who make up the United Press rating board. The Spartans were the No. 1 choice of 13 coaches, compared to 11 votes for Ohio State and 10 for Auburn.

Buckeyes Gain Support
However, Ohio State received much greater support for succeeding places. No coach picked the Buckeyes lower than fifth place this week. Michigan State had one vote each for sixth and eighth place, while Auburn received one each for sixth through ninth places.

In points, Ohio State had 304, compared to 297 for Michigan State and 296 for Auburn. Points are awarded on the basis of 10 for a first place vote, nine for a second and so on down to one point for a 10th place vote.

Iowa moved up four notches to the No. 4 rating, placing three Big Ten powers in the first four places. Iowa was followed in order by Texas A.M., Oklahoma, Navy, Mississippi, Army and Rice.

Rice was the week's newcomer among the top 10 teams, replacing Notre Dame which dropped from ninth to 11th place after its defeat by Iowa.

Schedules For Top Seven
Seven of this week's top 10 teams have games remaining on their schedule, only the three Big Ten schools having completed their regular season. Ohio State

SHS Faces Bulldogs In DeLand Tonight

By JERRY COVINGTON
The flashy Sanford Seminoles will travel to DeLand tonight in an effort to polish off the Bulldogs and add another convincing victory to the very fine record that has already been compiled. With only two practices under their belts, coaches Figott and Laude feel that the boys should be in top form to go against this rival team. Several new plays have been worked in to add spark to the offensive attack in an effort to shake up the tough DeLand line.

The Bulldogs spent one of the largest lines in Central Florida totaling over 200 pounds out from center on both sides. This is the same line that held Winter Park to six points while the Bulldogs came out on top by a score of 7 to 6. With the fine record, great defense, and proven offense, the Seminoles will probably have their hands full because coach Spec Martin and his crew build for this one every year.

In practice sessions Monday and Tuesday, Eddie Barbour, Bob Johnson, and Johnny Yesckle continued to show drive and aggressiveness. Quarterback, Cecil Dandridge has been clicking on his short passes and continues to call the action with "cat-like" alertness. Al Collins, who has maintained a phenomenal yardage per carry average this season, will be in top form to share the wing back duties with Barbour and Yesckle. Harold Stone will also see limited action at offensive fullback but will do most of his duties as line-backer.

Defensive back, Ronnie Russi, received a leg-injury Monday afternoon and at the time of this writing it was unknown how ready he would be to resume action in tonight's contest.

With a good first line defense led by co-captain Billy Tyre, Tom Brown and Bubba Hittell, it is guessed that they will all but stop the DeLand running attack. With Allan Swain and Gerald Jones carrying out their end duties it's a cinch the Bulldogs won't be given a much wider in the center of the action the locals have Jack Stotsky back in top form along with guards Dave Stanley and Teddy Walker. These three boys are invaluable when it comes to opening holes for Barbour, Johnson, and Yesckle to rip through. With adequate reserve strength in Don Carter, Duke Schirrad, Walter Middleton, and Mike Tammy things seem to be in top shape. Mike will alternate with Stotsky on defense to rest the ailing knee of the big center.

With the season on its final stages we find the Seminoles strong favorites to go against Bishop Moore in the Brahman Bowl with only the Melbourne defeat to blot the wonderful record. Even with the odds in their favor, the team, as well as the coaches, know that the Bulldogs are no pushover. If the Seminoles have a few good breaks and play head-up ball all 48 minutes they should have a slight edge.

GOOD LUCK SEMINOLES!

Gator Bowl Committee Considering 8 Squads

JACKSONVILLE — The Gator Bowl Committee, faced with the task of selecting two good teams from the "cockeyed" 1957 football results, still had eight squads under consideration for the Dec. 23 post season game.

Joe Livingston, a member of the bowl's selection committee, said that he had not had a chance to talk with Chairman Sam Wilson but that he believed the only change in the Gator Bowl picture since last week would be the elimination of Penn State because of its 14-13 loss this past weekend to Pitt.

Livingston said the teams still being considered are Mississippi, Mississippi State, Tennessee, Rice, Texas, Texas A & M, Boston College and West Virginia.

"The 1957 football season has been so cockeyed that it looks like we can't help but come up with a combination that will insure the Gator Bowl its 13th consecutive post season success," he said.

"With football teams and conferences so well balanced today, no one expects to find an undefeated bowl team," Livingston added. "It's a matter of matching two good teams whose style of play will generate the promise of a good game in the same manner one would match two fighters of contrasting style."

SOKC Has New Timing System

LAKESWOOD—A new timing system which should meet with the unanimous approval of racing fans will be installed this season at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club. It will be ready when the meet opens December 14.

Speed of the fast-stopping greyhounds will be timed to the nearest hundredth of a second for the first time here. For the past two seasons, dogs have been clocked to the nearest tenth of a second and before that, timing was limited to fifths of a second.

But now, thanks to intricate eye in the sky photo-timing, Central Florida racing fans will know how their favorites perform down to the exact hundredth of a second.

A conversion table, to be printed in the Sanford-Orlando track program, will enable handicappers to accurately match time to distance.

Seven hundredths of a second, for example, equals one length in distance. Even the time consumed by the space covered by the nose of a greyhound can be determined. This is one hundredth of a second.

Evaluating the ability of a greyhound is made easier by another timing feature of the Sanford-Orlando track inaugurated two seasons ago. The actual running time of each greyhound is shown although this will also be in hundredths now instead of tenths. Few tracks anywhere offer the complete and accurate timing system which will become standard procedure at Jerry Collins' oval during the coming season.

Mrs. Whitten Dies After Long Illness

Mrs. E. C. Whitten, 59, died at Seminole Memorial Hospital at 12:15 p. m. yesterday following an illness of about eight months.

Mrs. Whitten was born in Sanford Sept. 3, 1897, and had lived here all of her life. Her residence was at 616 East Second St.

Survivors include her husband, E. C. Whitten, Sanford; one son, C. M. Whitten, Sanford; one daughter, Mrs. Camilla A. Muse, Sanford; five grandchildren; five brothers, C. A. Rotundo, Jacksonville; L. F. Rotundo, M. E. Rotundo, J. F. Rotundo and A. C. Rotundo, all of Sanford.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Friday morning at Brison Funeral Home with Rev. W. F. Brooks Jr. officiating. Burial will be in Lake View Cemetery.

Blind Newsdealer's Stand Is Designed

By BOB QUINN
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Dick O'Connor, a blind newsdealer who has peddled papers and magazines on the same corner for 21 years, says he may not be the richest newsy in the world but he's the only one whose shack was planned and designed by an architect.

This wasn't any old architect. The firm that blueprinted O'Connor's three-by-six-foot newsstand happens also to be the one that designed the United Nations buildings and helped with the Rockefeller Center complex.

In addition, he works on a sidewalk which in cold weather is radiantly heated, an underfoot condition to be appreciated by a man who works outdoors nine hours a day.

Gala Opening Day
The day Dick opened his new stand was like opening day in a new office building. Two lady customers sent baskets of flowers, and they made a fine show among the stacks of papers.

The architecturally acceptable stand is on the corner of 36th st. and Madison Ave. In front of the new building of the CIT Financial Corporation, a decorous, smooth-faced structure of polished black granite, stainless steel, and green glass.

For two years, during demolition and construction work on the site, O'Connor had to move his old wooden stand, painted green in the New York tradition, across the street. But when the shiny new building was completed, he demanded his corner back.

"He told us his entire business career had been on this corner, that it was home to him," a CIT man recalled. "We decided to have a newsstand designed for him to conform with the new building."

The CIT building architects were Harrison & Abramowitz, whose Wallace K. Harrison was director of planning for the U.N. buildings. Architect T. De Falco who worked on the U.N. project, designed a newsstand of special sliding glass-and-aluminum windows and a built-in, fluorescent-lighted magazine stand on one end.

Were Trouble Than U.N.
"Just between you and me," O'Connor said today, "I don't think they had as much trouble designing the U. N. as they did this stand. They never had designed a newsstand before. They had to go to the city to find out the building ordinance on newsstands and then ask me and others for ideas."

The finished work has such features as an aluminum pull-out extension roof to protect papers from rain, short leveling device legs, and a built-in folding seat.

"That inside seat is only for use if I want it," O'Connor said. "But I don't, except for coldest weather. I'm strictly an outdoor boy."

"Some of Dick's steady customers even got the idea that this million-dollar fancy heated sidewalk was put in just for him," said Davy, the cop on the corner. "Dick's been here so long, he's even acquainted with the wind on this corner."

NEW STATUE, BURNED
YALAHAMMER (UP)—A statue that has been intended to stand in a new and different Christmas tree for Florida—a palm tree, naturally, The Federated Garden Club and Commerce drew the support of Gov. LeRoy Collins in their move to have the evergreen replaced by the palm tree as a Christmas symbol.

Christian Church Hoping To Raise Money For House

Sunday at 11 a. m. the First Christian Church hopes to raise $2500 to apply on the 7-room house at 1613 Sanford Ave. recently acquired for additional classroom space. Pastor Perry L. Stone said today.

In June, following a sermon on "the Parable of the Pounds," 60 families were given $10 each as working capital to use in earning money for the building fund. A wide variety of methods have been employed to increase the capital. Sunday is the deadline set for the return along with its earnings. It is expected that sacrificial offerings will be added. If the $2500 goal is reached the church will be able to pay off a mortgage which was placed on the parsonage in October when the new property was purchased. The money borrowed, plus the amount on hand in the building fund, were used to buy the seller's equity in the house and two lots at the corner of Sanford and Rosalia Avenue.

The acquisition of the new property made it possible to enlarge the main 75' x 125' parking lot south of the sanctuary, so that a greater number of cars may be accommodated. This week a second entrance on Sanford Ave. was opened and an exit on Rosalia Dr. was made. The improvement was made by men of the congregation under the direction of Chandler Vall, chairman of the church property committee.

Homecoming To Be Observed Tomorrow At Childrens Home

The 29th Annual Homecoming of the Florida Methodist Children's Home will be celebrated tomorrow with church services beginning at 11 o'clock at the Barnett Memorial Church.

The Rev. E. Kircher, a former pastor and now of Oakland Park, will be the guest speaker. "Homecoming will continue throughout the day. A feature of the celebration will be dinner served at the Methodist Children's Home followed by what has been described as "a period of reminiscing and chatter".

The Alumni meeting will be held immediately following the talk and conversation.

A spokesman for the Children's Home said that all alumni of the home are invited to attend the annual event.

Follow the "useful" theme even in your cards. There are many that unfold for a lovely Christmas mantle-piece. Some are designed as bookmarks, or for year-round miniature pictures to hang in bedroom or in kitchen.
