DEATH SENTENCE IMPOSED ON HEAD CATHOLIC CHURCH IN RUSSIA COMMUTED TODAY

RECEIVED 10 YEARS OF IMPRISONMENT UNDER STRICT ISOLATION

APPEAL OF VICAR

Butchkevitch for Clemency Was Denied But Soviet Afraid to Kill Him

(By The Associated Press) MOSCOW, March 30.—The death sentence recently imposed on Archbishop Zeniak, head of the Roman Catholic church in Russia, was commuted today to ten years imprisonment under strict isolation. The appeal of Vicar General Butchkevitch for clemency was denied. The central executive committee which met to consider the requests for mitigation of sentences said in their decision that both prelates deserved the penalty imposed by the Moscow court, but that commutation was ordered in the case of the Archbishop because a certain element of the Catholic citizens in Russia might exploit the sentence as being directed against the priests and their religion.

PERCY BAYLESS PAID PENALTY OF DEATH TODAY

AFTER SEVERAL ATTEMPTS TO SAVE HIS LIFE NEGRO WAS HUNG THIS MORNING

Percy Bayless paid the penalty for his crime of killing Deputy Sheriff Cleveland Jacobs, today. Several weeks ago the date was set for the hanging, but at the requests of several attorneys from another county who had been engaged on the case, Governor Hardee gave the negro a reprieve of two weeks to give the pardoning board a chance to review the case with the attorneys which was done, the board refusing to grant the reprieve and stay the execution. The night before the day set at that time Sheriff Hand took the negro to Tampa for safe keeping and he has been in the Tampa jail until last Sunday night when he was brought here and has been in the county jail up to the time of the hanging this morning.

There were only a few invited by Sheriff Hand to witness the hanging; this morning, but all the adjoining fences and houses had their quota of people anxious to witness the hanging. In the jail yard the city police force, all the sheriff's force and other officers were present. Among those from out of the city were Sheriff Karell, of Orlando accompanied by Deputies Peel and Carruthers, Sheriff Cassidy of Lake County, Sheriff Merritt of St. Lucie county and chief of police Overstreet of Winter Park.

Promptly at ten minutes after ten Bayless was led out of the jail accompanied by deputy sheriff Vickers and Williams and was taken to the scaffold by the deputies and sheriff Hand and the visiting sheriffs. He was tied and the noose was adjusted, and the black cap placed over his face by Sheriff Hand and Sheriff Karell and Deputies Pell and Williams, and as he stood on the trap with a negro minister Sheriff Hand with his hand on the trigger of the trap door asked Bayless if he had anything to say and he answered in the negative. The trigger was then pressed and the body shot below where the enclosure was screened from view by a canvass. Only the twelve people with Drs. Depton, Stevens and Marshall were allowed in the enclosure after the body was shot below, but the crowd that had gathered on the outside were allowed to view the remains afterward.

The execution occurred at ten minutes after ten and the body was allowed to hang for twenty minutes after which he was pronounced dead by County Physician Denton and by Drs. Marshall and Stevens. The body was then delivered to the undertaker and taken from the enclosure for burial. The crime for which Bayless paid the penalty occurred on the 26th of last September. Bayless had come here from Columbus, Miss., to Sanford and engaged in a game of craps with some other negroes, winning their money and as he stated a pair of pants. The next day the other negroes attempted to make him give up the pants and he started to run to avoid them and being chased several blocks ran into a negro house on Park avenue owned by a negro woman. About this time Deputy Sheriff Jacobs arrived on the scene and starting into the house to arrest the negro received the full contents of a shot gun at close range in his stomach. He lived only a few minutes afterward and the negro was captured later by a crowd of people composed of negroes as well as whites. Bayless stated at the trial that he did not know it was an officer coming in the door but supposed it was one of the negroes who had been chasing him and he grabbed the gun and fired without taking time to see who it was. He was taken to jail and in order to avoid what seemed to be an imminent lynching, Sheriff Hand and some of the city and county officers took him to Orlando and afterward to Tampa. He was tried at the fall term of the circuit court and the jury brought in a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree and Judge Perkins sentenced him to be hung the date to be fixed by the governor.

Several attempts were made to save his life by people who did not think he was guilty of premeditated murder but the law was finally allowed to take its course and the execution this morning will close the case.

CHAIRMAN REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE OF THE STATE OF INDIANA HAS RENOUNCED THE KU KLUX KLAN

After Joining the Klan Said it Was "Un-American" and He Quit

(By The Associated Press) INDIANAPOLIS, March 30.—Lawrence Lyons, chairman of the Indiana State Committee, admitted today that he had resigned from the Ku Klux after having joined the organization about six weeks ago. Lyons said he had given the statement to the American Unity League at Chicago in which he characterized the Klan as "un-American". Lyons was in Brook, Ind., today. His admission of Klan membership was made during an interview by telephone. Lyons explained that after joining the Klan he had discovered it was not an organization in which he cared to be identified and he submitted his resignation a week ago.

PLAYGROUND FOR CHILDREN ONE OF JOHNNY J. JONES' FEATURES

Johnny J. Jones has justified his existence this year if he never did so before, in the children's playground he has created on his "Joy Plaza," Ed. R. Satter, the Jones' hired boy says. A man and his wife brought two little kiddies up to the ticket box the first afternoon and said, "Here is $2; let the kids ride till that is used up, and if there is any more to pay, I will give it to you when I come back." Then went off in peace to see the rest of the festivals. It was worth money to see the expression on those children's faces as they went on the little merry-go-round and the tiny swing, and they never did get on the ferris wheel for when they tried the roulette wheel they simply would not get off.

Those four rides have been built by Mr. Jones especially for the children and he is usually around watching them himself. He wants the little ones, who are too small to go on the big devices or who would be afraid to go, if their parents would let them, to have a time of their own. One small girl about two years old, in a little red coat, was going around the merry-go-round all by herself and her expression was beatific. The grown-ups could not get on if they wished, the seats are not nearly large enough. The ferris wheel is only about seven feet high, with tiny seats and all complete. The roulette wheel is a regular little game. They fall off on to heavy padded sides and scramble on again, but the game is that they can't stay on, the wheel always throws them off as it revolves.

FIREMAN KILLED AT FIRE; FIFTEEN OTHERS INJURED IN BIG NEW YORK BLAZE

THAT DESTROYED TWO FACTORIES IN EAST TWENTY-SIXTH STREET WRECK TENEMENT

And Business House Adjoining and Explosion Blew Walls Down on Firemen

NICOLAI LENIN

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, March 30.—One fireman was killed and fifteen others injured, several seriously, today, while fighting a blaze that destroyed two factories in East 26th street and also wrecked two floors of an adjoining tenement and business house. An explosion of escaping gas blew a tottering brick wall into the street and buried a score of firemen. Julius Spaniar was killed and six others badly burned and hurt by falling bricks. Other firemen were burned while rescuing occupants of the building. The blaze started in a four story brick factory occupied by a laundry, and several paper box concerns and spread to a five story building. Twelve families in adjoining tenements fled to the streets in their night clothes.

CHAUTAQUA STARTS PROGRAM TOMORROW AFT.

GOOD SALE OF TICKETS IS REPORTED, BUT NOT ENOUGH TO PUT IT OVER

The Redpath Chautauqua under the auspices of the Sanford Chautauqua association, will open on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the big tent on the city lots west of the court house. A grand concert by the Di Giorgio Concert Orchestra will feature the afternoon program, also the evening entertainment at eight o'clock. This musical treat will be followed by Granville Jones in his noteworthy address "The Philosophy of a Hill Billy." Granville Jones is a thorough student of present day affairs, and his lecture is forceful, logical, and patriotic and carries with it a flow of unlimited humor.

A check up meeting Thursday showed that the season tickets are rapidly being placed and association members are confident that if the public Chautauqua supporters for high class entertainment will get busy and the week promises to surpass preceding years. The only way to enjoy this entertainment, the only way for Sanford to be nationally known through Redpath channels, the only way to put Sanford on the Chautauqua map is for you to attend these programs by buying a season ticket through which you will be doubly repaid. NOW, if you have not bought your season ticket you will find them on sale at Fowler's Drug Store, Yowell's, Thrashers, Herald Office, Welaka Apartments, and other business houses in the downtown district.

PUT SANFORD OVER THE TOP—BUY YOUR TICKET NOW. The many friends of C. J. Ryan were glad to see him here again today. He is now city manager of Fort Pierce and came up to get Mrs. Ryan and the family to take them back to Fort Pierce. Mr. Ryan was city manager here for several years and his friends here, while regretting to see him leave, are glad to know that he has a fine position in Ft. Pierce and they hope the family will like their new home as well as they liked Sanford.

Hon. Forrest Lake and Mrs. Lake will remain to Tallahassee where they will remain during the sixty days of the legislature. Mr. Lake is a leading candidate for the position of speaker of the house and is one of the most prominent figures in the Florida legislature.

TRANSPORTATION

Commenting upon several special articles of general interest in the Yale Review the Hartford Courant mentions that President Emeritus Hadley, of Yale, has an article on the railroad situation, and declares that "it is a subject of the leading authorities." The Courant goes on to say: "His statement that government management was a failure must be shared by all disinterested persons. He does not believe that the Esch-Cummings law, which was of use in pulling us out of the hole in which the railroads found themselves when the government turned them back to their owners, is something that will afford permanent relief. He is even less in sympathy with the Plumb plan. His suggestion that we treat railroad business as nearly as possible in the same way that we treat other kinds of business is the same view that is coming more and more to be held by the public which has grown weary of the results of a policy that seems bent on destroying our great transportation system."

Except in times of great emergency there is no excuse for treating the railroad business different from other kinds of business and even in war it seems doubtful if government operated transportation lines served any ends better than they would have been served under private control. As all known government management was a failure in almost every phase of the situation and if there is ever a "next time" it would suit the public to try some other plan.

Emergencies past the railroad deserves the same consideration as is shown the manufacturer and the merchant, the producer and handler of necessities. Transportation is essential to the carrying on of a nation's affairs as any other feature for it cannot be arranged to have the wheat needed for bread in New York raised within the city limits.

It has been pointed out by those who have studied the situation that politicians for a long time have used the railroads as a buffer to keep the voters looking that way while they—the politicians—played their own selfish games unobserved. It has been popular to blame the transportation companies, for every unavoidable contingency and it has been fashionable for demagogues to declare that they were "regulating" these terrible concerns that were gobbling up the farmer's profits and doing everything else that was reprehensible.

The public is not always to be fooled, however, and has in a large measure come to the conclusion that railroads are owned by men and women who are interested not only in dividends, but in the development of a great industry and in the general prosperity of the country. Stockholders in transportation systems are human beings with brains and feelings just the same as doctors and lawyers and farmers and those holding political jobs.

In short the transportation business is not different from any other business except that it is more important than some of the things which the people concern themselves about. To have an adequate and satisfactory transportation system in the United States it is necessary to treat the owners of this class of securities as well as those people holding other securities. They must be satisfied that the industry they have chosen to foster is encouraged rather than discouraged; given a chance to expand and improve and serve the people well in order to earn something beyond the actual cost of operation. The nation cannot exist without transportation; penalizing transportation handicaps every other proposition in the country.—Times-Union.

Atmospheric Phenomenon.
An unusually perfect and beautiful example of the atmospheric spokes which may occasionally be seen radiating from the setting sun was witnessed in England in July last year. Five distinct bands of a light salmon pink color, separated by five corresponding bands of pale blue, were visible, stretching up into the heavens from the sinking sun. The phenomenon lasted about an hour, and later on the same evening a violent thunderstorm broke over the place where the spectacle had been witnessed. There are a number of other instances on record in which similar phenomena have been followed by thunderstorms.

Terrible Weapons of War.
The next war may have its invisible airplanes, flying noiselessly above cities and dropping bombs and disease germs on unsuspecting inhabitants, according to a report of the executive committee of the British parliamentary air committee.
Recent discoveries are said to have made an airplane invisible at 20,000 feet and mufflers have been devised to make the motors silent.
