

BUSINESS PROSPECTS GOOD FOR SANFORD ALL SUMMER PROGRESS BEING SLOGAN

PREPAREDNESS TALK DOES NOT MEAN A CESSATION OF BUSINESS, BUT MORE BUSINESS ALONG CONSERVATIVE LINES.

In view of the fact that America must win or help to win the present war by food as well as by ammunition and men it is well to take stock and see that the larder is full and kept full for the next few years but there is no need for hysteria over the present business outlook.

When the alarm was given about a food shortage there was a mad scramble for supplies and business was temporarily cut down not only in Sanford but all over the country. But any one with sound business judgment who will take a look over the Sanford section will feel relieved to know that business need suffer no set back of any kind this summer.

Sanford having never been a resort city can weather the storm and the first hysteria better than many other cities and all that is required at present is to maintain an equilibrium in the old ship of state and ride safely through the storm. At the present time there is more building activity and greater promise of building activity for the summer months than this city has experienced in many years.

With new business blocks going up and contracted for and many new residences, with the prospects bright for that tourist hotel to be built this summer, with the government building on the way and many other great improvements contemplated, real business is good and can be made much better by all the people of this city feeling optimistic instead of pessimistic.

There is no greater farming or trucking district in the world and the farms will be working over time this summer with the many staple crops. Cotton is here to stay and the feeding of cattle opens up another good market and may lead to the erection of a meat packing plant in this city.

Right now Sanford should get busy on the canning factory and the mill to grind up the great corn crop and manufacture corn meal and grits and stock feeds.

There are many things that Sanford people can do this summer to make the city great and it is strictly up to the Sanford people to do all that they can in a long pull, a strong pull and a pull altogether. We need cooperation of all the business interests of the entire county more than ever before and the call of the government is not only for the young men to take up arms but the call means for the older ones and those who cannot go to the front to stay right here and produce something and producing means not only taking it out of the ground but keeping business above the normal and keeping the country safe by having absolute confidence in your city, your county, your state and your country.

Board of Trade

A gentleman in a South Carolina town wants to buy 1200 potato barrels and writes the Board of Trade to put him in touch with some one who can supply them. Phone 123 address the secretary, if you can get the order.

The Board of Trade governors meets Monday evening 8 o'clock, May 7th at the Currier Hotel. All are urgently requested to be present. Representatives from several organizations of other cities have been invited to attend the meeting as the governors have some very important business they will handle on that occasion.

The monthly meeting of the Sanford Board of Trade is Tuesday, May 8th, 8 p. m., at the court house. All members are requested to come out as many things of vital interest to the growers and shippers of Seminole county will be gone into. This is strictly a business meeting of interest to you direct and you should be present.

The charter, constitution and by-laws of the Sanford Board of Trade has been gotten up in booklet form, vest pocket size, the work of the Sanford Herald and a copy is free to every member desiring one. They will be on hand for distribution at the Board of Trade office or can be had at the meeting next Tuesday night.

Considering the numerous applications for Seminole county literature, the ten thousand booklets issued by the Board of Trade, lacks a lot of over-stocking us and without doubt this advertising has done more good for Sanford and Seminole county than all previous efforts combined. The man that contends that it does not pay to advertise is about as far behind the times and knows as little about current events as Christopher Columbus knew about what made Milwaukee famous.

Is it because men and women chase each other that they call it the Human Race? Editor Holly is very anxious to have this question solved. Several tourists still in Sanford. Say they are too well suited to leave. A few will remain until June 1st.

A new postoffice building, a new hotel and new building additions all over the city certainly puts Sanford in the lead in the progressive class. Fellow citizens, ladies and gentlemen, Democrats and Republicans, it doesn't take a thing but pulling together and we'll see Sanford double in population in a short time. Pulling against each other brings nothing but havoc. It's little and narrow and all we get in return is the satisfaction that we've knocked the horn out of the other fellow and while we've been performing the elevating task, some one else has swatted us and down we go. Couple the words Sanford and Seminole together, take the remedy before and between meals, and within a few days you'll be boosted into the progressive class and realize handsomely on your effort. It's your duty and you are a sinner to shirk it. Be loyal to your church, your school and your community and we'll guarantee you some sort of a fine reward even if you don't live to see it.

The Sanford Orlando Board of Trade got together meeting will be arranged some time in June. It's going to be a fish fry or a barbecue and a whole day of good time. Both sides are too big to stay apart. They are itching to mix up in good fellowship and its going to develop. The secretaries of the two organizations are going to ask their executives to arrange details and there's going to be a meeting if no one is present but Hon. Allen and Hon. Marlowe and if necessary we make speeches and wave flags for each other from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. and have a square dance after supper. But there's going to be big attendance, we are assured of that by parties, giving their names as Reese, Glenn and Holly and about four hundred folks who live in Orange and Seminole counties. Watch for the program.

If you are a progressive citizen, if you want to see your community forge ahead, if you want to be one of the builders, you are invited to join the Board of Trade. The men of today are in it; they believe in it and their action and attitude is the medium through which the city and county will grow.

Vail Lovell Appointed

Capt. W. M. Lovell of this city has received a letter from his son Vail Lovell, who has been with the Westinghouse Company at Pittsburgh that he has been appointed a second lieutenant in the U. S. Army and will be stationed in the east. Vail is a Sanford boy who received his early training at the high school and afterward at the Georgia Technical College and his many friends are glad to learn of his recognition by the government. He has a thorough knowledge of electrical engineering and will be assigned to the engineering corps of the army or navy.

FLORIDA DRY COUNTIES BONE DRY

CATT'S CLAWS CLIPPED—COMMISSIONERS CAN CUT CAPERS

Tallahassee, May 2.—The house this morning passed a bill prohibiting banks and trust companies from lending more than 10 per cent of their capital to any officer or director of such bank or trust company. The Governor has placed his signature to the "Quart-a-Month" law and according to an opinion of Attorney General West that law is now in full force and effect. The management of the Southern Express Company has issued orders to its agents to decline to receive for shipment any and all liquors contrary to this act.

The senate this morning passed the bill to place the shell fish commissioner under the commissioner of agriculture. The bill provides that the shell fish commissioner shall be appointed by the state board of institutions upon the recommendation of the commissioner of agriculture. This was intended as a slap at the Governor and was resented as such by a number of senators. Under the present law this office is filled by appointment by the Governor. Senators Farris, Calkins and MacWilliams made strong speeches opposing the measure, declaring it unconstitutional on the ground that the constitution says all officers not elected by the people shall be appointed by the Governor.

Senator A. M. Wilson's bill creating county depositories and abolishing the office of bond trustee was passed by the senate this morning. Senator Carlton secured the passage of his bill this morning providing for the establishing and maintaining tuberculosis sanitariums in any county of the state. Upon the presentation of a petition signed by 25 per cent of the voters of a county the board of county commissioners shall call an election to vote a special tax to support such institution. The bill further provides for the appointment by the board of county commissioners of a board to direct the management of such institution.

The bill for the creation of Ochochee county was before the house this afternoon on its third reading, having already passed the senate. Representative W. C. Langford offered an amendment, changing the boundaries of the proposed new county so as not to include any territory west of the Kissimmee river, or in DeSoto county. Langford played a valiant part. The amendment prevailed by a vote of 43 to 22. The bill was then placed upon its final passage and the roll call showed a unanimous vote in favor of it. The bill was immediately referred back to the senate where it was called up by Senator A. M. Wilson and passed unanimously. For the time being at least the county division question is settled.

The bill to abolish the present system of naval stores inspection was killed in the house by a large majority and is likely to meet the same fate in the senate. This is one of the several measures before the legislature to strip the administration of its appointive power. The capital was crowded with naval stores people interested in this legislation. The information sent out by your correspondent relative to this bill seems to have had a desirable effect.

It is understood that the Governor will veto all bills designed as a thrust at his administration in attempting to take from him the appointive power given under this constitution. It is also understood that the Governor intends to appoint all the Democratic nominees who recognized him as the Democratic nominee. Those who did not, he considers bolters to whom he is under no political or party obligation.

Work of installing machinery for the Plant City canning plant has been under way for some days and it was expected that the plant would be open up for business during the present week.

MUST FACE SITUATION IN WAR

SECRETARY LANE SAYS WAR WILL LAST SEVERAL YEARS

Washington, D. C., May 3.—Secretary Lane told the governors conferring here today with the council of national defense on the part state governments will take in the war, that the federal government had heard 400,000 tons of shipping had been sunk in the last week by German submarines.

The destruction, Secretary Lane said, was not only threatening the existence of England and France but was alarming the United States. A study of inventions to combat the submarine menace is being diligently pursued in the interior department he said.

The United States must build ships as rapidly as possible, he told the delegates.

"If we don't fight the war on the other side," he said, "we shall have to fight it on this side of the Atlantic."

Secretary Lane declared he believed the war would last several years and that every resource of the country must be brought to bear to bring it to a successful conclusion.

"Many persons," said Secretary Lane, "thought all we had to do was to issue bonds and that Germany would bow her head in submission. Nothing could be further from the truth. We do not know when this war will end. It may not be a long war. Personally I believe it will last for several years. Herbert C. Hoover, has informed this government that Germany has food enough to last two years longer. Germany has put up the best fight of history and now she is fighting a defensive war. Don't go back home and inspire your people with the idea that this year's crop will save the country. It may take this year's crop, next year's crop and the next after that. We cannot tell how long it will be necessary to win this war."

The French have to break down the morale of the German army. Our concern is to see to it that our own morale rises.

Later at the state department Secretary Lansing in response to inquiries said:

It may as well be recognized that the submarine situation is very serious.

Inside Secretary Lane the state representatives heard Secretaries Baker and Daniels, Adjutant General McCain and Judge Advocate General Crowder of the army. Later they were received by President Wilson. The three secretaries declare a need of America and the allies now is ships.

Representatives of all states including many governors, met with the council of national defense to promote unification of the nation's energies and resources for the war by close cooperation between federal and state agencies. The delegates, many of whom are ex-hitmen or members of state councils of defense were to be received today by President Wilson and to hear addresses by Secretaries Baker and Wilson and Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Raymond A. Pearson.

Among the questions for discussion during the war to conserve food materials ordinarily used for liquor, encouragement of larger crop production and better marketing methods; labor supply, particularly for farm work, industrial conditions affecting output of munitions and other war supplies.

In 1916 $115,000,000 worth of grain and other food materials were consumed in liquor manufacture in the United States. Fermented liquors $41,000,000. The largest items were $75,000,000 worth of malt, $23,000,000 of corn and $18,000,000 of molasses. Agents of the department of agriculture explained to the state representatives plans for organizing the United Boys' Working Reserve for summer farm work. City boys, particularly in the east and middle west, would be employed in canning factories and arrangements already have been made

CONTROL FOOD PRICES

Government Should Stop Rubbers of The People

Washington, May 2.—The food situation precipitated another lively discussion in the senate today, during which Senator Thomas reiterated his opinion that high prices could be cured by a liberal hanging of food speculators on handy lamp posts and Senator Williams suggested that the "German corruption fund" might have figured in creating a food scarcity that resulted in soaring prices.

Senators from farming states denied that there is any real shortage of staple foods in the United States. Senator John Sharp Williams declared there had been a hysteria throughout the country and that the cause of high prices was largely psychological. He said he believed the German corruption fund recently unearthed in a federal court in New York may have been responsible for the hysteria.

Word should go straight out from the senate, Senator Williams said, that there is no shortage of food.

Senators Nelson and McCumber agreed that there is no reason to fear a shortage.

The attack on the speculators was led by Senators Thomas and Borah. The Colorado senator declared they were the real enemies of the nation, expressed the hope congress would not adjourn without legislation that would remedy the evil, and said the latter part is the thing to cure such speculation. Before the debate turned to other things Senator Thomas introduced an amendment President by proclamation to suspend during the war the operation of boards of trade and chambers of commerce which deal in futures. He had it sent to the table for later consideration.

Senator Borah predicted a world famine if the war lasts two years and if extraordinary and sustained efforts are not made here to meet the food problem. He attacked the packers, declaring they made enormous profits and said he favored the conservation of food and government possession of the packing companies. Food speculation he said, would not be ended until the speculators "are put in stripes behind the bars."

Senator McCumber said the nation should have a wheat surplus this year of more than 200,000,000 bushels after feeding itself and providing for seedling.

More Fine Potatoes

James Hickson, who farms successfully on Cedar avenue brought this week that were of the finest. Not only were they good to eat but they ran fine big potatoes to the hill and Jim brought all nine to us just to prove it. Now if any one here can heat it let us see it. And by the way, the Sanford Irish potatoes this year are certainly making good and the returns are great for the growers. No signs of starving to death as yet. The seed for these were purchased from the Allen Seed Co., of this city and Mr. Hickson does not know the name for them. Up to date they are Holly's Favorites.

Made Raid on Dallas

C. A. Dallas, who operates the cement works on the Sanford Orlando road near Altamonte suffered a loss by burglar Thursday morning and suspects a man named J. C. Miller who worked for him some time ago. The man Miller is gone and with him went the house, a pair of blue serge pants, Iver and Johnson revolver, ring with sapphire set held by two monkeys, ruby ring with diamond chips setting, locket set with rubies and chip diamonds. Miller is described as being about 5 feet 6 inches tall, dark complexion, red moustache, scruffy beard, dark, scar on neck. Any information leading to his arrest will be rewarded by C. A. Dallas of Altamonte.

OTHER NATIONS COME IN WHILE WATER IS FINE AND THINGS LOOK BLACK FOR QUIET LITTLE GERMANY.

New breaches are being made in the already badly battered German lines by the Arras battlefield by heavy British assaults launched this morning.

First official reports announce a number of strong German positions already captured.

Unofficial accounts specify that the British have made progress towards Fresnoy which seems likely to force Germans to speedily evacuate the town of Oppy. Also that the British advanced towards Cherisy, and in the Bullecoart region which is south of the river Senese.

The French are not pressing ahead on any wide front, but are not giving the Germans any rest. They are employing artillery vigorously, and captured a strong position in Champagne last night.

Copenhagen, via London, May 3.

Such German newspapers as are permitted to reach here indicate that the campaign against Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg is again in full swing. The conservatives although insisting that the other parties observe a political truce in the interests of the fatherland, have adopted a set of resolutions sharply attacking the chancellor and censuring the government for weakness and vacillation on the peace question and in dealing with the strike agitation.

The resolutions express grief and concern at the steadily growing influence of the Socialists whose peace-making efforts are declared to be leading Germany to the brink of ruin. Apparently this attack was timed to coincide with the opening of the Reichstag and it is significant that the resolutions are endorsed by the free conservative wing under Baron von Seidlitz. Baron von Seidlitz has hitherto been far less an extremist than Count Westarp and Herr von Heydebrand leaders of the regular or jinker conservatives.

Brazil has advanced one step nearer toward war with Germany and today the countries are hovering on the brink of the maelstrom which has convulsed two thirds of the world. Norway and China are the two other countries that may soon be added to Germany's foes.

Norway's entrance is said to be likely because of the shipping she has lost through the German ruthless submarine campaign. Her shipping is actually threatened with extinction. Bitterness is growing rapidly and voices are saying that she could not be worse off in war, and might find compensation if peace found her in the lists of the entente.

All reports from China agree that advocates for war are in a majority at Peking, but apparently the president is still reluctant. It was reported Japan was unwilling that China should enter the struggle, but the Japanese foreign office has officially denied this.

Announcement of Red Cross

At the regular meeting held Thursday afternoon at the Woman's Club rooms it was decided to hold a special meeting of the committee or committee Tuesday evening, May 8th at the club rooms to appoint other committees.

All those wishing to enroll themselves in the First Aid Class to be formed next week, please apply by postal to the Secretary. Fifty cents each is requested paid in full once at next meeting, for the manual required for instruction.

Miss Rich, secretary of the North Florida Red Cross chapter was in Sanford and addressed the officers and chairman of committees of the Seminole Auxiliary on Red Cross work Tuesday afternoon. It was regretted that she could not address the entire membership at the Thursday meeting but it was impossible owing to her other previously arranged engagements.

A CHIEF IS AMONG YE TAKING NOTES AND FAITH, "HE'LL PRENT 'EM"---SO SAYS SAUNTERER.

He's A Spy
If you hear a man speak German,
He's a spy.
If his game you can't determine,
He's a spy.
His hair is blonde--his eyes are blue,
His race is savage through and through
Look out! He may be after you?
He's a spy.

If he reads a German paper,
He's a spy.
If he does a funny caper,
He's a spy.
With bombs that fill his pockets,
Your eyes bulge from their sockets,
Have him entered in the docket.
He's a spy.

If his moustache's twisted upwards,
He's a spy.
If he hums a strain from Mozart,
He's a spy.
He keeps in touch with submarines,
With wireless tricks that can't be seen,
Your duty is to intervene,
He's a spy.

If he hopes that England be a spy,
He's a spy.
If peace, perchance he chooses,
He's a spy.
He's devoted to the Kaiser,
If he happens to be wiser

Than most of you poor guys are,
He's a spy.
If he looks a little crooked,
If you think he may be wicked,
He's a spy.
Be careful--take no chances,
Keep shy of all free lances,
There's danger in their glances,
He's a spy.

If you hear some funny noises,
It's a spy.
Or some modulated voices,
It's a spy.
They have Zeppelins about them,
Keep your ears open to rout them,
You're never safe with them,
It's a spy.

If you see a big Bologna,
It's a spy.
Or frankfurter or sauerkraut,
It's a spy.
Every Deutch delicatessen
Is a rampart made at Essen,
Be sure and learn your lesson,
It's a spy.

If a German has a habbing,
It's a spy.
If he runs a mail machine shop,
He's a spy.
And each cement foundation
Is a military station
For guns to shake the nation,
He's a spy.

--From Bull.

It's refreshing to read articles like that written by Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, a German-born, published in a New York newspaper. Dr. Hoffman is chief statistician of the Prudential Life Insurance Co. His article is an expression of the highest patriotism. Here is an excerpt:

It is for Americans of German birth and ancestry to do even more than their required share in behalf of the national cause, so that the world's vanishing faith in German honor may be redeemed by those who hold themselves to be accountable only to the Supreme Being and the government and people of their adopted country. The world is not at war with the German people, but with the German government and its ruthless and ill considered military policy, without a parallel in modern history.

In all the world there is no flag more inspiring than the Stars and Stripes; the fairest symbol of unattained honor; after more than a century of national life and international relations. Life and service that flag is a priceless privilege and a guarantee of good faith in peace and war. Loyalty to that flag is the patriotic duty of all of the American people, but to the cause of the government by the consent of the governed, and liberty and democracy throughout the world. Under this flag Americans of German ancestry and birth, with the countless millions of other origins, have found a new freedom, which to conserve and maintain is enough to have shed for, and if it should be ever again called and to the glory of our country and achievements of military power lies the higher duty to the cause of truth and the "righteousness that exalseth a nation."

It would be well for all German-Americans to emulate the example of Dr. Hoffman and assist in inspiring their people to the greatest devotion to the flag of their adoption.

Anyway the people who write for a living have the latter spread out through a great number of years. They who take the pen do not as a rule perish shot of ripe old age. The business of writing should be a "preferred risk" with the insurance companies.

March 1 was the 80th birthday anniversary of William Dean Howells. He is " hale and hearty," as the New Englander would put it. Still, Howells is not yet at the age reached by some of our most famous American men and women of letters. Bancroft lived to be 91. Whittier and Oliver Wendell Holmes were 85 at their death and Mrs. Stowe also reached that age. Emerson died at 70, Longfellow at 70, and Lowell at 72.

The average writer is an individual who looks much at his inner self and much at the life about him. He quietly but constantly studied humanity, and is thus always in intimate touch with the people of the world. He is more prone than the average person to study also the people of the past, to speculate concerning those who are to come. Thus the writer lives in a wondrously enlarged sphere at all times--one as boundless of limits as creation itself.

It must contribute to the welfare of the physical man to thus expand the conscious mind; to send the thoughts hither and yon in quest of interests of humanity, which may be as widely separated as the points of the compass. Exercise is an aid to the muscles and develops all tissues. Elasticity of inner thinking--but always in harmony with clear cut purpose--may not only be capable of broadening and deepening and strengthening the intellect, but also the body. Thus are the years of the student to humanity made longer through his work.

Then, too, these aged authors have come to great maturity quite strong in mind. Their world wide interest kept their brains virile and well poised. It is not always possible to retain intellectual strength by sheer determination not to grow old in mentality, but one's purpose to be always concerned with large themes can do much toward fending off senility, which busies itself but little with aught that is not personal and inconsequential. Small things decay more quickly than do the mighty creations. Our concern over them will endure contemporaneous-

ly. If we are happily interested in eternal principles and those conditions which they bring about, we shall not soon succumb to the discouragement and inertia which must come to the man whose life is wrapped up merely in matters of transitory duration.--St. Joseph (Mo.) Gazette.

UPSALA AND GRAPEVILLE

We are all thankful for the rain that has fallen.

Prayer meeting has been changed from Thursday to 7:30 Wednesday evening.

Margaret Ericson attended the picnic at Woodland Park last Saturday with her class.

Roy Hodgkins having recently purchased a bicycle makes the sixth thus going into town to their work each morning.

Mr. Gillen was out to his place for a short visit Sunday.

T. O. Tyner and family have removed to the Aron Lundquist home.

All are thankful for the clay road being put down from the Roseland dairy into town. Wish we could also have the short strip filled in between that and our original one.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lundquist and baby, Theodore and Elmer Bergquist, F. O. Tyner, Leroy Hodgkins were among those who attended the flag raising at the shops.

We understand Carl Pierson and Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Lundquist and two children motored to Orlando Sunday.

There was a pleasant party given in honor of T. O. Tyner on the evening of the 19th at their home, on his birthday. On account of the measles not as many as otherwise could be out, but nevertheless an enjoyable time was had by those present. About three tables sat down to a treat--cakes and strawberry ice cream, coffee and rolls. All wished the host many more such enjoyable occasions.

Henry Lundquist has had a sick household this last two weeks, all the family but the wife being down with the measles. Glad to see all seem to be recovering now. It was the first time John and Elmer have been out of school for a week since they started five years ago.

Little Woodard Bertelson and Gilbert Ericson have fever--the measles we think.

Mrs. Magnuson carried in her sister, Mrs. Ericson Thursday to have some dental work done.

Plant a Pig To the Mayor, City of Sanford.

Dear Sir: I enclose herewith a news item clipped from the Florida Metropolitan: A report of a meeting in Tallahassee, for the purpose of discussing ways and means to supply the people with food through the fear, when the country is facing food shortage such as none of us have ever known.

Tallahassee, April 24.--At a meeting last night in Tallahassee for the purpose of discussing the food situation it was decided that a campaign to urge the residents of the city to plant home gardens be started and addresses were made along these lines by many prominent citizens of the state.

Governor Catts stated that he had started a garden at the Mansion and also that he intended to raise pigs, and with this idea in view, he prevailed upon the mayor to suspend the operation of a city ordinance covering the keeping of pigs within the city limits, and immediately purchased two hogs for feeding purposes.

Commissioner of Agriculture McRae stated that Florida purchased $84 worth of food products, per person annually, while it produces every one in the state to raise all the foodstuffs they possibly could.

You will note that our governor is setting us an example. He is cultivating a home garden with his own hands, and raising two pigs. For this purpose he persuaded his city to suspend its city ordinance against the keeping of pigs within the limits of the city.

Our own city of Sanford has such an ordinance, and our people in the outskirts, the sparsely settled but incorporated farms, have not been able to raise their own pork. That the food situation is critical must be evidenced to the most casual observer, and any means that will increase our home production of food stuffs should be encouraged by the officials of our city.

I would suggest that you, as mayor recommend to the city council that Sanford follow the example of our capital city and allow us to keep a pig or two, under the supervision of the sanitary officer, until food is more plentiful and cheap. I trust that this will meet with your approval, and that within a few weeks pigs will be fattening for our Sanford people.
