

PRESIDENT IS HELPLESS IN DANGER

FILIBUSTERS PREVENT ARMED NEUTRALITY BILL FROM PASSAGE

Washington, March 6.— Twelve senators, led by Senator LaFollette and encouraged by Senator Stone, Democratic chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, in a filibuster denounced by President Wilson's spokesman as the most reprehensible in the history of any civilized nation, defied the will of an overwhelming majority in congress up to the last minute and denied to the President a law authorizing him to arm American ships to meet the German submarine menace.

Unyielding throughout twenty-six hours of continuous session to appeals that their defiance of the President would be humiliating to the nation, uncompromising in a crisis which to them as the most serious to the nation since the Civil War, LaFollette and his small group of supporters refused a majority of their colleagues an opportunity to vote on the armed neutrality bill, and it died with the Sixty-fourth Congress.

To fix responsibility before the country, seventy six senators, thirty Republicans and forty six Democrats signed a manifesto proclaiming to the world that they favored passage of the measure.

The text of the manifesto follows: "The majority of the United States senator favored the passage of the senate bill authorizing the President of the United States to arm American merchant vessels a similar bill already having passed the house by a vote of 147 to 13. Under the rules of the senate allowing unlimited debate it appears to be impossible to obtain a vote previous to noon, March 1, 1917, when this session of congress expires. We desire the statement entered on the record to establish the fact that the senate favored the legislation and would pass it if a vote could be obtained."

BIG EASTER EDITION

Sanford Herald Will Celebrate Gladsome Easter on April 3rd

In order that more attention can be attracted to Easter in Sanford the Sanford Herald will issue a big Easter edition on Tuesday, April 3rd and the edition will be different from anything of this kind that has ever been given the readers. The front page will be given over to the churches and all the pastors will be asked to contribute a word or two commemorative of Easter and the significance of the day. The special Easter services of the various churches will be given also in another part of the edition and the paper will be filled with Easter stories for old and young and the entire edition will be devoted to Sanford and Seminole county in a manner that will make it worth while to send out to your friends in other parts of the country.

There will be ample space reserved for the merchants of the county to advertise their various stocks of goods for the spring season and the Easter edition will be something worth while not only to the advertiser but to each individual.

The Herald has never before issued an Easter edition but believes city and county should have one each year and we ask for the cooperation of the ministers, the organizations, the Board of Trade and the business men of the county to help us make it something worth while. It will not be a large paper in number of pages but it will be a paper that every one will want and it will also be a paper that you will delight in sending to your friends. Remember the date, Tuesday, April Third.

BIG FLOODS OVER SOUTH THIS WEEK

HIGH WATER DAMAGES MUCH PROPERTY IN FIVE STATES

Five southern states—Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina and Virginia are threatened with disastrous floods.

Rivers already are over their banks in eastern Tennessee, southern Georgia and eastern Alabama with considerable property damage and hundreds homeless in Tennessee. So far no loss of life has been reported.

Chattanooga and Knoxville, in Tennessee and Montgomery and Tuscaloosa, in Alabama, are the cities most directly threatened. The lowlands around the two Tennessee towns already have been flooded in Chattanooga, many residents have been driven from their homes. Suburbs at Knoxville are cut off by flood waters.

Besides the Tennessee river, the Cumberland, in that state, is expected to reach the flood stage tomorrow, while farther east Little Pigeon river has overflowed its banks.

Rivers at flood stage in Alabama are the Alabama, Black Warrior, Tombigbee and Chattahoochee. In Georgia, the Ocmulgee, Oconaltee and Chattahoochee are to be at flood stage Monday. In North Carolina, the Roanoke and Neuse rivers are rising rapidly and may overflow Monday, while the upper James in Virginia is threatening to go out of its banks.

The floods are the results of heavy rains for the past several days, throughout the south. Flood stages in the ten rivers are predicted on the lower rainfall. Generally rain or snow is the forecast for tomorrow in the five states affected, but fair weather is promised for Tuesday.

The threatened floods cover a wider area than any floods recorded in the south in recent years and all indications are that in some places, particularly in eastern Tennessee they will be the most disastrous in many years.

Washington, March 5.—Continued heavy rains in the south "have brought about in all the rivers flood conditions that big fair to become disastrous," the Weather Bureau announced tonight. Flood warnings were issued tonight calling for very high stages.

The state affected are Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, North Carolina and Virginia.

The Weather Bureau announced that ten rivers would be affected, but that the only large cities in danger are Chattanooga and Montgomery, with Tuscaloosa also threatened. A flood stage of forty six feet at Chattanooga tomorrow morning and forty-six feet at Montgomery was forecast.

One feature, however, reflected directly the gravity of the international situation. Down Pennsylvania avenue the parade passed between lines of National Guardsmen chosen from the New York regiments forming a military barrier on either side of the line of march. Not since Lincoln's second inauguration during the Civil War have troops been stationed to keep spectators back from an inaugural parade.

The cold, misty rain storm which began yesterday kept up throughout today its insistent attack on the already bedraggled flags and bunting in which the capitol city has dressed itself.

The rain, however, could not keep visitors indoors and in the worst of the downpour the streets were crowded.

Hundreds turned out to see the suffrage demonstrations at the White House, looking curiously on as the women did their two hours of sentinel duty in the worst of the storm. Many others trooped in to the capitol to be in at the death of congress.

But a very few had a peep at a much rarer scene. Passing the President's room at the capitol just at noon, a handful of sightseers found the door open and saw the President take his official oath.

SUMMARY OF PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

ida a month or two. If we had him over here we would get him to help us to pray for ability to pick the winners; to be able to select the premio gordo; to squelch Jose Miguel; to lower the price of print paper; to protect us from being run over by flivvers and to stop all this political agitation. "The Fortunes of Fif" The Time—Friday. The Place—Star Theatre. The Girl—Marguerite Clark.

If you were told to make a character both frightfully conceited and irresistibly charming on the screen, do you think you could do it? Probably not. In fact, that is a task which could only be successfully undertaken by so clever and delightful a little star as Marguerite Clark. Miss Clark plays just such a character in the Famous Players-Paramount Picture "The Fortunes of Fif," which is the attraction at the Star Friday.

Fif is a little French actress whose self esteem is in inverse ratio to her diminutive stature. Despite the fact that the first company which she joins is a dismal failure she still believes in her heart that she is a great actress and she determines to come to Paris to set the world on fire by her marvelous ability. Molly Elliot Seawell, the author of the story never reached the point in the tale where Fif realizes this particular ambition, but there are other things which become very dear to the little girl before she has been in Paris, very long and we find her happily in possession of these before the end of the story.

Washington, March 5. Declaring that in the last four years there had been significant changes in "the spirit and purpose of our political action" and that Americans are "no longer provincial" but had been made "citizens of the world" by recent tragic events, President Wilson in his second inaugural address outlined what the United States should stand for "whether in peace or war." His principles were announced as follows:

That all nations are equally interested in the peace of the world; the stability of free people and the equality of all nations; that peace can not rest upon an armed balance of power; that the government derives all of its just powers from the consent of the governed, and that this could be supported by the family of nations; that the seas should be equally safe and free for the use of all peoples under rules set up by common agreement and consent; that national armament should be limited to the necessities of national order and domestic safety; that community interests impose upon each nation the duty of seeing that activities of its citizens to foster revolutions in other states be suppressed.

Woodrow Wilson is the 28th President of the United States, reckoning Cleveland's two terms as separate ones because he was the only President serving twice who was not re-elected.

Virginia leads in the nativity of Presidents. Eight of her sons—Washington, Jefferson, Madison, William Henry Harrison, Tyler, Taylor and Wilson—have held the highest office in the gift of the nation. Ohio has given six native sons to the presidency. They were Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Benjamin Harrison, McKinley and Taft.

Of all the vocations in life the law has furnished most Presidents. Nineteen chief executives of the United States were lawyers at the time they were elected. Three are classified as statesmen; two as soldiers; two as farmers; one as a public official.

Seventeen Presidents have been college men; one was graduated from West Point, nine had no collegiate education.

English paternal ancestry has predominated all the Presidents. Fifteen were of English extraction. Six were Scotch-Irish, three were Scotch, two were Dutch and one was Welsh.

The youngest President, at the time of inauguration was Roosevelt, who was 46. The oldest was William Henry Harrison who was 68.

Washington, March 6.—President Wilson took the oath of office for his second term at noon Sunday, in his room at the capitol, and was formally inaugurated yesterday with public ceremonies reflecting a great national expression of Americanism.

Before a desk piled with legislative business laid before him in the closing hours of congress and surrounded by members of his official family, the President reaffirmed with uplifted hand and grave features his promise to uphold the constitution in whatever crisis may confront the nation in the momentous four years before it.

After he had repeated solemnly the oath first taken by Washington a century and a quarter ago, he kissed the Bible at the passage reading: "The Lord is our refuge; a very present help in time of trouble." Chief Justice White administered the oath and was the first to extend his congratulations. Wringing the President's hand, the Chief Justice looked fervently into his face for a moment and then said brokenly: "Mr. President, I am very, very happy."

Members of the cabinet then crowded up with expressions of regard. Mr. Wilson received them with a smile and then turned back to his desk to complete his interrupted task.

Yesterday the President took the oath again on the inaugural stand before the capitol, the Vice President who did not take the oath was sworn in for his second term at the special session of the new senate.

Among The Theatres

Vampire Does Her First Act of Charity

Dorothy Green has been playing vampire roles during most of her career. Naturally she was selected for the Vampire part in "Patria," International series of romance and patriotism, released by Pathe, in which Mrs. Vernon Castle is the star. In "Patria," the 4th episode of which will be seen at the Lyric Theatre Tuesday for the first time in her film career, she does a really good deed when she saves Patria from a watery grave. But even in doing this kindly act she has an ulterior motive.

"I have been playing vampires so long," says Miss Green, "that moving picture patrons naturally associate me with such parts. Often I wonder what they think of me in private life; I hope they understand that off the stage, I am just an ordinary young woman who spends all her spare moments at home.

"Broadway and the bright lights do not appeal to me. A girl cannot dance all night and retain the roses in her cheeks. And in order to be a successful vampire, one must look young and attractive, just the same as those who play the sweet, loving young women in the picture plays."

"Blackie" is Dead

Mrs. Vernon Castle is mourning the loss of "Blackie," her favorite riding horse and an equine actor of no mean ability. "Blackie" appears in several of the episodes of the International's romantic serial, "Patria" showing at the Lyric Theatre Tuesday, and has been ridden by Mrs. Castle exclusively for many months. "Blackie" was taken ill last week with a peculiar form of paralysis and all efforts to save him were unavailing.

Mrs. Castle had "Blackie" entered in several of the racing events of the Ithaca fair which was held last week, and intended to ride him herself in the races. Lyric Tuesday.

Right Thing to Contemplate.

Life is so full of miseries, minor and major; they press so close upon us at every step of the way, that it is hardly worth while to call one another's attention to their presence. People who do this are merely dwelling on the obvious, and the obvious is the one thing not worth consideration. What we want to contemplate is the beauty and the smoothness of that well ordered plan which it is so difficult for us to discern. —Agnes Repplier.

My Friend.

My friend is constant, like that high star, and though distance and days come between us, as do clouds between it and me, I know my friend is still there, shining with the same clear, steady light, and when the distance and days are melted away, I shall find it so. —Leigh Mitchell Hodges.

60 YEARS CHASING SOLONS

Veteran Ohio Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms Always Knows Where to Find Legislature.

Columbus, O.—Keeping obstreperous legislators somewhat near reasonable limits has been the job of Col. Fred Blanton, sixty, a Civil war veteran, for 60 years.

During the six decades as third assistant sergeant-at-arms of the Ohio house of representatives, the colonel has become famous for chasing elusive legislators to their lairs and dragging them forth to complete a quorum or at a call of the house.

Blanton entered the house in 1856. During the Civil war he was at the front and was given leaves of absence over legislative sessions. The new legislature probably will honor Colonel Blanton by electing him third assistant sergeant-at-arms for life.

HAS GREATEST RECORD OF ANY LEADER IN WAR

General Joffre Will Rank in History With the Ablest of Soldiers.

YOUNGER MAN IN HIS PLACE

Hero of the Battle of the Marne Is Succeeded by General Nivelle, but His Great Talents Will Still Be at Service of Allies as War Council Head.

Paris.—General Joffre has been superseded. The active command of the French armies in the field has been placed in the hands of a younger man, General Nivelle, the hero of Verdun. General Joffre has been made head of the allied war council. Unprejudiced observers agree he has today the greatest military record of any of the leaders in the present war. He will rank in history with Napoleon I, Hannibal, Caesar and George Washington.

He won the battle of the Marne, where defeat would have meant complete German success in the conflict. He won it twice—first, by directing French preparations in the critical years, 1911 to 1914, and, second, by leading the armies of the Republic in that fateful month of September, 1914, on the field of battle.

Joffre has commanded the armies of a warring nation longer than any other man in this war. Hindenburg's victories in the two battles of East Prussia involved smaller numbers of men and smaller responsibilities by far than those which the idol of the French people has borne through more than two years of heart-wracking strife.

The Old Man of the Lakes follows von Falkenhayn and von Moltke as supreme military leader—under the Kaiser—of Germany. Who knows how long he will last? In the British land forces Sir Douglas Haig has superseded French; in Russia, the Grand Duke Nicholas has given place to the czar and General Alexieff sharing highest command; in Austria-Hungary the leadership has shifted and finally been given almost entirely into alien hands; while Italy's troops, although always under General Count Cadorna, have not been fighting so long as those of the other great powers.

Age His Only Fault.

The slowing-up of the battle of the Somme without a distinguished allied success, has been a great disappointment to France. But few Frenchmen blame Joffre for this. Criticism of him has to find comfort in the fact that he is old, that he fought in the Franco-Prussian war, and that his driving force theoretically should be exceeded by that of a younger man.

He is one of a group of great French leaders who got their earlier training in the 1870-71 struggle with Germany. The others of the group include the one-armed hero, General Pau, and General Foch, who has been in direct command of the Somme operations.

The present war has brought to the fore certain younger officers. Men who were only colonels or less when the struggle commenced are now commanding army groups. Paris politicians of the intriguing sort have been demanding for some time that the older leaders step aside and let the youngsters show what they can do.

But nothing that may happen can dim the great glory of Joffre. It is safe to say that a vote by either the soldiers or the civilians of France would continue him in the post he has held since 1911.

In that year the archaic French military organization started toward reform. The army was to have its first real commander in chief in many years. Cabinet, army leaders and the people alike united in the demand that this position go to General Pau.

But Pau, the patriot, standing in a great council, declined the honor. Pointing to Joffre, he said: "There stands the only possible man."

So Joffre was selected, because Pau wanted him as his superior. The choice was a disappointment to the public, to whom Joffre was little known.

In many ways Joffre is more German than Parisian. Sober, simple in habits, industrious, rising at five and going to bed at ten, and making no great public appearances, he was not the figure to strike the French imagination at first view.

Strong for Efficiency.

His career had already been marked by several acts of gallantry, but it was as an efficiency man, an engineer, a systemizer and organizer, who was not too proud to learn from the Kaiser's great general staff, that he had impressed Pau and Castelnau and others, who now became his immediate instruments in regenerating the French army.

Joffre is not the Frenchman of Paris, but the hard-working peasant type which made France great. He was born in River-sur-Isere, in the East Pyrenees, and loves today to talk the Catalan dialect with his old friends there. He was the third of eleven children—no race suicide, one may doubt. The family were traditionally cooperers, and none of them had had military careers. There is some Spanish blood in Joffre's veins.

As a boy he was modest, gentle and sweet-tempered. He was even looked down upon by certain masculine spirits in school—this boy who was to become the man of iron and direct fifteen million soldiers.

At fifteen he astounded his parents and friends by announcing he intended to compete for the Polytechnic school in Paris, the great training place for artillery officers. He passed fourteenth in his entrance examinations among 132, and would have stood much higher had his German not been rather weak on points of grammar, a failing of his in which the French people now take a certain delight.

Before he could finish his course the Franco-Prussian war began and Joffre became a sub-lieutenant in a Paris fort. Here he got little chance to distinguish himself, but the horrors of the siege left a great impression on his mind and heightened his patriotism.

Directly after the conclusion of peace he was employed in reconstructing the Paris fortifications. His work so pleased Marshal McMahon when he came to inspect it that he made the lieutenant a captain on the spot.

First Came Into Fame. In 1885 he went to Indo-China, where he built the defenses of Haut-Tonkin. He constructed a railroad in Senegal and the defenses of Diego-Suarez in Madagascar.

In 1887 he became a professor of fortifications in the army school at Fontainebleau, and afterward he was director of engineering for the ministry. As an army corps commander at Lille and Amiens he gained intimate knowledge of the country where fighting is now going on.

Almost his only blast of fame came in 1893. He was commander of a native column in Africa, Colonel Bonnier, who commanded the main line, had encountered disaster. Thirteen of his officers and Bonnier himself had been killed. Joffre had been ordered to ascend the left bank of the Niger from Segou to Timbuctoo and take possession of the land which still remained independent of France.

... went about the expedition in his usual methodical fashion, studying the country and its method of warfare, and after Bonnier's death he made a march of 500 miles under great difficulties and planted the tricolor over Timbuctoo for the first time.

When in 1914 the great call came Joffre was a member of the higher council of war, a body of 11 men, from whom the commander in chief in time of war would be selected. He was known as "Joffre the Monk," partly because of the fecundity of his private life and partly because of his abstemious daily regime. He could do only one thing better than work, it is said, and that was sleep. The night following the disheartening reverse at Chatterler he slumbered for a few hours as peacefully as a baby. He has no nerves.

Joffre, Millerand, minister of war, and Poincare, premier and later president, were the triumvirate which created the France that stopped Germany at the Marne.

The first thing Joffre did as commander in chief was to stop civilian spying on army officers to discover whether they attended mass. The second was to dismiss five of the showiest generals in the French army—because they betrayed incompetence in maneuvers.

Made Many Reforms. His reforms were almost countless. He specialized in the new departments—telephones, telegraphs, automobiles and airplanes—and brought his army to a technical efficiency second to none.

He had a large part in bringing about the three-year army service law, by which France raised her standing army from 485,000 to 600,000 men, and so had enough to meet the onslaught of Germany's 820,000.

Then came the great war, the story of which is fresh in every mind. Joffre had seen it coming, and with the English field marshal, Roberts, had warned against it. His brain and personality stood the test of actual struggle as well as it had met the problems of preparedness. He found time from his work in the field to meet and vanquish the infamous peace cabal of Cautleux.

Following the battle of the Marne his power increased, rather than diminished. In January, 1916, it was announced that the government had decided to interfere with military operations in no way from that time forth. The commander in chief was supreme.

A further honor and responsibility came to him after the great council of all the allies, when supreme military direction was resolved upon and placed in Joffre's hands. Since then he has directed the masses of the czar as well as the new armies of Great Britain. Only on the sea, where the British hold sway, was the direction of the war out of his hands.

At the age of sixty-four—he was born January 12, 1852—he may well look back on his life work with as much satisfaction as Kitchener and face whatever changes fate may have in store for him with equanimity.

Sentenced to Take a Bath. Hutchinson, Kan.—Because of the age of the defendant Judge R. P. Wilson changed the $100 fine of G. T. Empay, eighty-one years old, to a "bath in water." Eighteen quarts of whiskey were found in the aged man's house by raiders.

A "Fowl" Robbery. New York.—A fowl robbery was committed when thieves entered Valentine Leuch's bird store and stole 650 pigeons and 180 canaries, valued at $1,500.

As an Encore. My little nephew, Howard, two and a half years old, had just been taught the evening prayer. "Now I lay me down to sleep, etc." On coming to the end of it he said, "Now, mamma, let's have another little piece, Little Fishes in the Brook." —Cleveland Leader.

Douglas is the defendant, I shall sell for sale and sell to the highest bidder for cash, before the door of the court house in Sanford, Seminole county, Florida, on Monday, the 16th day of March, 1917, the same being a legal sale day and during the legal hours, the following personal property described in the final decree aforesaid, to-wit: one red mare, named Mary, Dated at Sanford, Seminole county, Florida, this 1st day of February, A. D. 1917.
A. K. POWERS,
Special Master.

In Circuit Court, Seventh Judicial Circuit, In and for Seminole County, Florida, in Chancery, Paul S. Malloy, Complainant, vs. Richard C. Malloy, Defendant. Notice To appear and answer. It appearing from the affidavit of Paul S. Malloy, complainant, that Richard C. Malloy is a resident of the state of Florida; that he is over the age of twenty-one; that there is no person in the state of Florida who is a next-of-kin, guardian, administrator, executor or trustee of the defendant, and that the residence of said defendant is 1411 Washington Street, Newark, N. J.

It is therefore ordered that you do appear to the complainant on the 16th day of March, A. D. 1917, at the court house in Sanford, Florida, at 10 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of answering the complaint herein filed in the Sanford Herald, a newspaper published in Sanford, Seminole county, Florida, once a week for four consecutive weeks.
Witness E. A. Douglass, the clerk of our Circuit Court and the seal of the said court at the court house in Sanford this 1st day of February, A. D. 1917.
E. A. DOUGLASS,
Clerk.
Davis & Giles,
Solicitors for Complainant.

In Circuit Court, Seventh Judicial Circuit, In and for Seminole County, Florida, in Chancery, Oliver P. Swope, Complainant, vs. Lula Koontz and S. Koontz, her husband, Defendant. Notice To Lula Koontz and S. Koontz, her husband: It appearing from the affidavit of Oliver P. Swope, complainant, herein filed, that he believes that Lula Koontz and S. Koontz, her husband are residents of a state other than the state of Florida; that their residence and postoffice address is Columbus, Kansas; and that there is no person in the state of Florida, the service of a subpoena on whom would bind said defendants; and that said defendants are over the age of twenty-one years.

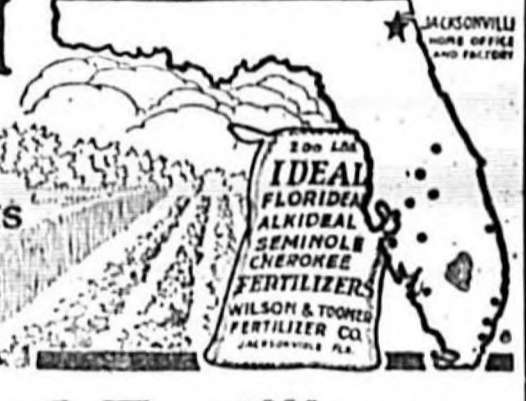

It is therefore ordered that you do appear to the complainant's bill herein filed on or before the 6th day of March, A. D. 1917, the same being a rule day of said court. It is further ordered that this notice be published in the Sanford Herald, a newspaper published in Sanford, Seminole county, Florida, once a week for four consecutive weeks.
Witness E. A. Douglass, the clerk of our Circuit Court and the seal of the said court at the court house in Sanford this 1st day of February, A. D. 1917.
E. A. DOUGLASS,
Clerk.

From different comments of the state press upon the clubs of Jacksonville that city appears to have a good clubbing offer to make.

Well, what do you say about the White Way? Are you satisfied with the present street lights or would you like to have Sanford look like a real city?

Fish are biting now and every day the tourists and the home people are coming in with great strings of trout and bream and speckled perch.

We are real sorry that the Rivers and Harbors bill will be killed. It carried an appropriation for $50,000 for the St. Johns river at Jacksonville and nothing for the upper St. Johns river where it is badly needed.

If we could catch Bob Holly of the Sanford Herald, looking the other way we would like to make some comments on the salubrious climate and Switzer like snow we have hereabouts. Howdy, folks.

Howdy folks, I hope you are not touched by the news that the cold wave coming over Florida set fire to a garage and when Leach's auto was burnt for those holding back the road for a 1000 dollars.

Sears, Roebuck made a small fortune last year. How do you suppose they did it? They are the best advertisers in the country and have been for years.

VEGETABLES AS LUXURIES

Sauerkraut is no longer to be regarded as a plebian dish and an onion laden breath indicates that the offender is a person of means.

Cabbage and onions are mounting in price on account of the partial failure of the northern crops and the potato crop was shorter, comparatively, than perhaps was ever known before in America.

Compare the wholesale prices prevailing as late as Tuesday in the Jacksonville market for these products with those of the corresponding date last year: Cabbage, per crate, 1917, $4.50, last year $1.75 to $2; onions, per sack, 1917, $12 to $13, last year, $4; potatoes, per sack, 1917, $10, last year, $1 to $1.50; cucumbers, eggplants and most other vegetables are from 100 to 150 per cent higher.

With the late, springlike weather that has prevailed since the freeze of February 1 to 6 the outlook is greatly improved. Not only are plants that are no longer planted in covering but replanting has been vigorously pushed, promising that by April all or most all of the damage to truck and vegetable crops that has been done in the south generally is concerned.

The increasing scarcity has a tendency to push prices still higher but they may be expected to slump somewhat when the southern crops begin to reach the market in quantity.

GAMBLING WITH FOOD

Gambling in the stock market should be a thing of the past. It is a gamble that has cost the living. For instance, potatoes, flour, onions, sugar and many other food products have gone up in the past few days that people cannot buy them unless they are rich.

They propose to extend the work of the National Nonpartisan League, the new farmers' movement, until every agricultural state in the Union is furnishing thousands of influential men for the campaign against the food gamblers.

to defeat any legislation designed to curtail their activities. Thus it will all rest with the strength of that National Nonpartisan League and its ability to work harmoniously for a definite end.

A nonpartisan member of the state legislature of Minnesota has introduced a bill to make it a crime to buy or sell imaginary wheat, or any grain where the buyer and seller trade on paper only.

"The grain gamblers get rich," the president of the league explains, "by taking toll from both producer and consumer. Every loaf of bread now costs more than it would if the gambler's profit had not been added to the wheat at the time the flour mills bought it."

It is doubtful if the law proposed for Minnesota will pass. In fact such a law would probably only drive the gamblers into other states. It is federal legislation that will have to be secured and every state in the Union should have a division of the league to secure action from its representatives in Washington.

Will the south be as foolish in this matter as it has on a few other occasions and refuse to follow the lead of the northwest?

Since Tuesday a total of 106 have called at the Board of Trade. Most of these are tourists who have come to Sanford for the first time but are so well pleased that they are anxious for a month or two in Seminole county the coming season.

It requires too much space to list all our guests, so we are only listing the following who have come to the Board of Trade office expressly to say something good of Sanford and Seminole county. They are: Miss Margaret Jones, Elberton, Ga.; W. O. Jones and wife, Elberton; Leon L. LeRoy, Berwyn, Ill.; Arthur D. Clark, Orange, Conn.; G. L. Hinchley, Chicago, Ill.; Griffin, Boston; K. U. Nelm, Philadelphia; Mrs. O. L. Ramsey, Trenton, Geo. W. Stone, Des Moines.

WABBLE OF SHOOTER'S KNEES

Close Scrutiny Will Indicate Whether Man Is Seasoned Sport or Just Beginning.
The popular detective of fiction, Sherlock Holmes, once admitted that a man's knees were the seat of great enlightenment, and from this source he drew many of his deductions.

It is interesting, therefore, to scrutinize a traphooter's knees while he is in action. Do they wobble? He is a seasoned shooter in good physical condition. Do they wobble? He is anxious, perhaps a little new at the game, but so happy and willing to get that next target he cares little whether the sun, moon or stars illuminate him.

Physicians and nurses recommend the sport as a health tonic, and if the patients follow the advice given there will not be much need for the physician and the nurse.

W. L. Miller Dies in Et. Myers

W. L. Miller, a well known fruit and vegetable dealer, having been afflicted with a long illness, died at his home in Sanford, Fla., on Saturday, March 1st, at the age of 65 years.

W. L. Miller was well known in Sanford and in the surrounding sections for many years, coming here from Florida to the white and black population.

W. L. Miller had a large circle of friends wherever he was known and his many friends here extend sympathy to his wife and son.

Presbyterian Church The following are the services for next Sabbath at the Presbyterian church:

9:45 a. m. Sunday school, with classes for men, women and children of all ages.

11 a. m. Preaching service. Preaching by the pastor, Rev. E. D. Brownlee. Subject: "Have You Tried This Way?"

7 p. m. Preaching service. Subject: "The Operation of a Great Law."

There will be a session meeting after each service Sunday for the reception of members.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the church will meet Friday night at 7:30. It will be a consecration meeting. The subject, "Service." Co. A will lead with Mrs. E. D. Brownlee in charge. Any visiting Endeavorers in town are invited to this meeting.

GOING UP—Sugar Follows Irish Potatoes and Sweet Famine Stalks in the Land

Those charitably inclined people who have been so anxious to send money, clothes and provisions to the poor people of other countries can soon find plenty of starving here at home if the present prices keep up. Irish potatoes and all other commodities are going sky high and now comes sugar that is going beyond all rhyme or reason. Sugar is expected to advance beyond the ten cent period in a few days and the grocery men cannot tell just where the price will be in a few weeks. Other cities are having their troubles also, as the following from the Miami Metropolis would indicate:

"A serious sugar famine faces Miami. There is scarcely any sugar to be had at the grocery stores today and the situation is sure to become worse within the next week or two, according to local grocery dealers, who are limiting their customers to a certain quantity.

The trouble began a week ago when a strike went into effect in all the sugar refineries of the country and at the same time an insurrection broke out in Cuba which threatens to shut off shipments of sugar from that island entirely.

This double combination of circumstances reduces the visible supply to a minimum.

"It is practically impossible for the grocery dealers of Miami to buy and more sugar," said a clerk at Brady's in the Metropolis today. "And I look for conditions to grow much worse within the next week."

Sugar currently sells at 8 cents a pound. It is now selling at 10 and 12 cents a pound and one dealer said today that it would go to 18 and 20 cents a pound before the situation was relieved.

It will be impossible for your coffee soon."

Methodist Church The services of the Methodist church next Sunday are expected to be largely attended.

Sunday school, the most largely attended in Sanford meets at 9:30 o'clock. Up-to-date officers and teachers.

Praying service, 11 o'clock by pastor, subject, "A Remorseful Floated by the Temptation."

Final Notice The Daughters of Wesley will serve you a good supper tomorrow, Saturday, March 3rd. Call on them at the Rest Room, Welborne Block.

W. L. Miller Dies in Et. Myers

W. L. Miller, a well known fruit and vegetable dealer, having been afflicted with a long illness, died at his home in Sanford, Fla., on Saturday, March 1st, at the age of 65 years.

W. L. Miller was well known in Sanford and in the surrounding sections for many years, coming here from Florida to the white and black population.

W. L. Miller had a large circle of friends wherever he was known and his many friends here extend sympathy to his wife and son.

There will be a session meeting after each service Sunday for the reception of members.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the church will meet Friday night at 7:30. It will be a consecration meeting. The subject, "Service." Co. A will lead with Mrs. E. D. Brownlee in charge. Any visiting Endeavorers in town are invited to this meeting.

GOING UP—Sugar Follows Irish Potatoes and Sweet Famine Stalks in the Land

Those charitably inclined people who have been so anxious to send money, clothes and provisions to the poor people of other countries can soon find plenty of starving here at home if the present prices keep up. Irish potatoes and all other commodities are going sky high and now comes sugar that is going beyond all rhyme or reason. Sugar is expected to advance beyond the ten cent period in a few days and the grocery men cannot tell just where the price will be in a few weeks. Other cities are having their troubles also, as the following from the Miami Metropolis would indicate:

"A serious sugar famine faces Miami. There is scarcely any sugar to be had at the grocery stores today and the situation is sure to become worse within the next week or two, according to local grocery dealers, who are limiting their customers to a certain quantity.

The trouble began a week ago when a strike went into effect in all the sugar refineries of the country and at the same time an insurrection broke out in Cuba which threatens to shut off shipments of sugar from that island entirely.

This double combination of circumstances reduces the visible supply to a minimum.

"It is practically impossible for the grocery dealers of Miami to buy and more sugar," said a clerk at Brady's in the Metropolis today. "And I look for conditions to grow much worse within the next week."

Sugar currently sells at 8 cents a pound. It is now selling at 10 and 12 cents a pound and one dealer said today that it would go to 18 and 20 cents a pound before the situation was relieved.

It will be impossible for your coffee soon."

Methodist Church The services of the Methodist church next Sunday are expected to be largely attended.

Sunday school, the most largely attended in Sanford meets at 9:30 o'clock. Up-to-date officers and teachers.

Praying service, 11 o'clock by pastor, subject, "A Remorseful Floated by the Temptation."

COUNTY HAPPENINGS

A BUNCH OF INTERESTING ITEMS FROM CORRESPONDENTS—EVENTS OF SEMINOLE COUNTY—EFFICIENT REPORTERS FOR THE HERALD

EBENEZER ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lord, Mrs. I. V. Stenstrom and Miss Minnie Wynn were among those that took in the fair last week.

Mrs. C. C. Humphrey is driving a new Ford these days.

Mrs. J. M. Wynn's baby had the misfortune to drink some kerosene oil last Friday making the little fellow quite sick. They had Dr. Denton in attendance.

Miss Berta Lynch and brother, Thomas also took in the fair in Orlando last week.

M. E. Smith's new house will soon be ready for occupancy, of which they are very proud.

Mrs. W. C. Riley returned home Thursday after several days pleasantly spent with her daughter, Mrs. M. F. Cassidy of Sanford.

Mrs. E. C. Bowman and little daughter, Marguerite were the dinner guests of Mrs. M. E. Smith last Thursday.

C. R. Lord is spending the week end with home folks.

W. T. Humphrey recently delivered two fine hogs and one large beef for market, the hogs weighing 327 lbs and 420 lbs, and the beef 517 lbs. Pretty good for range beef.

R. H. Wynn and wife are visiting home folks.

We are glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Vernon of Sanford as neighbors. They have moved in with Mrs. Vernon's father, M. S. Nelson.

Mrs. J. H. Wynn is expecting her mother, Mrs. J. F. Niblack of Ft. White the last of the week.

EAST SANFORD

The Ladies Aid Society is meeting with Mrs. J. C. Ellsworth of Beardall avenue this Thursday. The ladies are making aprons to order. Get your order in early.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hickson Feb. 20th.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Snow and daughter of Syracuse, N. Y., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Tyler at Lake Onora. They were of the "Carter Reau Campbell Tours" party that visited Sanford last week.

Mrs. N. M. Swanson of Celery avenue and cousin, Mrs. Ella McDougal of New York city returned Tuesday from a visit to Palm Beach, Miami and other points on the East Coast.

J. C. Ellsworth left Tuesday for a trip to Manatee, Bradentown and other points on the lower West Coast.

Mrs. Thomas Dunlap of Park avenue was out from town Tuesday, the guest of Mrs. D. Long of Cameron City.

We were not at all surprised to hear of the narrow escape from death George McDougal, Jr., met with recently. Celery and Beardall avenues are both auto speedways. Some drivers have no regard for the rules for all drivers. Some are "road hogs and some are just plain drunk. We meet all kinds and have to keep our eyes peeled to escape alive.

C. C. Morris was fortunate enough to kill two diamond back rattlers Wednesday at his place. One was adorned with 9 rattles and a button and the other with 7 rattles and a button.

The first rain for some time was much appreciated Wednesday evening. It was accompanied by first thunder of the season.

Mrs. L. M. Paige and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Woodworth and daughter, Miss Laura who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Dresser for some time are leaving on Friday's boat for their home in Watertown, N. Y. The Woodworths spent last winter in California. They like Florida best, of course.

LONGWOOD PICK UPS

Mr. and Mrs. Roebuck of New York city are the guests of the Longwood Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. DaBall and Mr. and Mrs. Kratzel of Rochester, N. Y., were the guests of the Hotel last week.

J. L. Lanier of Pennsylvania was guest of W. Caldwell last week.

W. S. Entzinger of Arcadia was a visitor at the home of his brother, C. W. Entzinger.

Mrs. J. A. Bryan, Miss Lillian R. and Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Bell are in town on Saturday morning for Tampa.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Daniel, Miss Olive Daniel and J. A. Bryan, are motoring down to Orlando Friday to attend the far also The Birth of a Nation.

The masquerade at the Longwood Hotel was well attended and everyone had an enjoyable time.

J. S. Daniel was transacting business in Sanford Wednesday.

FUDER SPRINGS NEWS

Those going down to Orlando Thursday from here were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lord, Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Wheeler, Miss Booker, Mr. Piper, Mrs. Blakemore and Miss Minnie Wynn.

Supt. Wynn moved the County road camp to Altamonte Saturday.

Mr. W. T. Humphreys and Mrs. I. V. Stenstrom attended the Five County Fair Friday, also Misses May Belle and Eunice Lynch.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wynn of Lake Wales are visiting Mr. Wynn's parents.

GOVERNMENT HELPLESS

Can Do Nothing To Reduce High Living Cost

Washington, Feb. 28.—Attorney General Gregory has advised Senate Borah that no evidence has been found up to the present time, except in two or three cases, to warrant the Federal government in seeking indictments in its investigation of the rising cost of living.

The sale of foodstuffs by retailers to consumers in various cities and communities, the Attorney General stated, generally falls outside the jurisdiction of the Federal government, and increases brought about by the common selfish impulse of traders to take advantage of the extraordinary condition of the times are not punishable under any existing Federal law, no matter how completely lacking in economic justification, no matter how extortionate. A possible remedy, the Attorney General said might be making by legislation "the charging of extortionate prices in interstate commerce an offense per se, although not the result of either conspiracy or monopoly."

Mr. Gregory presented his views in a long letter to the Idaho Senator who is the author of a pending bill to appropriate $5,000,000 for relief of sufferers from the high cost of living.

Whether or not the exchange and stockyards of the country had been placed under more closer governmental scrutiny and regulation.

"Without stopping now to inquire," the letter said, "how far the Federal government could directly regulate such exchanges, it could doubtless accomplish the same objects by prescribing the conditions under which they could be permitted to use the mails, the telegraph and other instrumentalities of interstate commerce."

Associations existing in almost every branch of trade, the Attorney General continued, while performing some very useful functions, "also in many instances make their influence felt in maintaining prices in such a subtle and intangible way, however, that it is impossible to convict them of violating the law."

The leniency of Federal judges in imposing sentence upon those convicted of violating the anti-trust law in some instances were cited, Mr. Gregory declaring that "a number of Federal judges always have been and still are apparently reluctant to enforce the Sherman act."

Largely because of the short time yet remaining of the present session of congress, it was said no legislation embodying the Department's views had been prepared or was contemplated at present.

Baptist Services Sunday

9:30 Sunday school.

Doti and His Royal Venetian Orchestra

Everybody loves a fine orchestra. When composed of artists of the truest type, it becomes the rarest of musical treats.

In presenting Paul R. Doti, the famous young band master and musical director, with his celebrated Royal Venetian Orchestra, we are confident that we are presenting to the public the very finest of musical talent.

The musicians of this organization are all picked artists from the several hands and orchestras over which Mr. Doti has wielded the baton in this country and abroad.

The orchestra is finely balanced and the instrumentation is perfect. Under the skilful leadership of this young director the orchestra has won distinction in American musical circles.

Youth has frequently proven its mastery, and so it is with Doti. He is a born leader of musicians, with the artistic temperament fully developed. His remarkable control over his musicians is noticeable to the extreme. He is a wonderful player of the Saxophone and other reed instruments. One of the features of his program is a solo by himself.

Doti appreciates the taste of the American music lover. While he plays the heaviest of music, as given by the great composers, he does not confine himself solely to this class.

The program is of wide range, covering all grades of legitimate music.

The Royal Venetian Orchestra is an exceptional attraction, under the leadership of a master director. The costuming is unique and the music far removed from the usual organizations which the average audience is privileged to hear.

Saturday night, March 3rd, 8 o'clock, at the Baptist Temple.

MAKE "RUBBER" FROM PITCH

Germans Reported to Have Succeeded in Producing a Satisfactory Substitute.

Stockholm.—According to reports reaching here, German experimenters have succeeded in making a synthetic rubber, or at least an acceptable substitute, from pitch, of which they import great quantities from Sweden. Similar experiments have been conducted by various Swedish scientists, but thus far without success. Many of them are still of the opinion, however, that the idea is feasible, and are not disposed to doubt that the Germans have succeeded; although they incline to believe that the discovery cannot yet be of great practical significance.

TO WATCH FOR AUTO THIEVES

Members of Automobile Organizations in Philadelphia Sworn in as Members of Auxiliary Police.

Philadelphia, Pa.—The latest idea to catch violators of the automobile law and check the heavy thefts of cars, has been adopted by Director of Public Safety Wilson of this city.

Several hundred members of automobile organizations, whose names are kept secret, have been sworn in as members of the Citizens' Auxiliary police and will exercise the right to arrest "speeders," assist the police in reducing automobile fatalities and keep a close watch for motor car thieves, all of which has severely taxed the police force for six months past.

BATH TOWEL IS COUNTERFEIT

One Seized in Chicago Is a Perfect Replica of a Five-Dollar Bill.

Chicago.—A Turkish towel, a replica of a five dollar bill, which had been on exhibition in a local saloon, last week was seized by a group of secret service ice operatives. The towel, 3 feet 9 inches long and 1 foot 10 inches wide, contains all of the coloring, figures and serial numbers of a piece of currency, all woven into it.

One of the bartenders, it was asserted, purchased it in South America.

Stumping the Agent.

"I tell you," said the agent, "development on earth than this. Just look at the wonderful scenery. The scenery is all right," replied the man who was looking for a home. "Too only trouble is there's too much of it between here and the city."
