CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 2. —(A)—James W. Scott, formerly a well know lawyer who in recent years lived the life of a recluse, was found murdered in his shack last night. The body was discovered by Floyd Doyle and Jim Denson of Fairmont, who reported the killing to authorities.

Scott was found to have received three shotgun wounds about the head and body.

The theory advanced by police is that Scott was in the act of undressing Saturday night and was called to the door of his house where he was met by shots from Floyd Doyle, 28, of Ellijay, Ga., a farm hand, who had been staying with the murdered man up to Monday of last week and who was preparing to return to his home, was held for investigation. Authorities believe either robbery of a personal grudge is responsible for the murder.

Tuesday and Wednesday are Dollar Days

When the stores open tomorrow morning, eager and thrifty shoppers from miles around will be found waiting to take advantage of the bargains that are offered by Sanford merchants during the two dollar days of this week.

With practically every business house of any standing participating and with all of these slashing prices to extremely low levels in order to give the greatest values possible for a dollar, it is thought that Sanford's communitywide dollar days will prove to be the greatest merchandising event ever staged in this part of the state.

These dollar days are only the beginning of a series of sales events which the merchants of the city plan to carry out during the summer in an effort to make Sanford a greater | quantities, at a price as low as his retail trading center. The Herald carries dollar day advertisements of the various stores in today's issue. Far-sighted shoppers will study those ads and prepare tonight a list of the things they wish to purchase. Systematic buying will save effort, energy and time. Read carefully the messages of Sanford's merchants as they send them to you through The Herald today, and then do your buying early, in this way avoiding the rush which is sure to take place, for in addition to thousands of our home-folks from Seminole county HE ROOK OF AGES-"He Is will be crowds of out of town people here from DeLand, Orlando and other nearby towns.

Tomorrow should see such trading in Sanford as has never been witnessed here before. Those who fail to take advantage of chances like this miss opportunities to make really worth-while savings.

Thrift does not consist entirely in hanging onto money. It means making every penny count for the most. And so, eyes, well blackened at the edges, if you would be thrifty, you should investigate the values low forehead, and a generally that are being offered you by Sanford merchants in the heavy build, draped in loose cloth-Dollar Days of Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Dawn of Tomorrow

losely upon the heels of the pioneer follows the merchant, as undeniably linked with the footsteps of progress through history as the explorer himself.

The pioneering of business is now history itself. Today, the merchant is an integral part of every community in the civilized world. He is a leader in every forward movement. He continually advocates that which is destined to better you and to better his fellow man. Actual hardship of times makes his path a difficult one. In service to his public, the merchant finds his reward only through the patronage of a satisfied public.

The merchant of Sanford is of you, is with you, and he is for you, in every sense of the word. Tomorrow, his store will be a better store—his offerings will be far more inviting. His service will have been doubled. He, like you and like your city, is growing.

The Sanford of tomorrow holds brilliant promise. To every citizen there is to be reward for service—for honesty, for progressiveness. In his dealings with the public, the merchant only asks that he be accorded the consideration he deserves. The horn of plenty has been good to Sanford today. It promises more to-morrow.
