Little NRA Is Invalidated By Supreme Court

Price-Fixing Barber Control Law Held As Unconstitutional By 4-2 Decision

Similar Control Acts Unaffected

Court Rule Is That Barber Has Right To Make Contract

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 16. (AP)—Florida's price fixing barber control law, passed by the 1935 Legislature, was declared invalid by the Supreme Court today. It was a four to two decision, with Justices Buford and Terrell dissenting. Other price fixing statutes, such as milk control and dyers and cleaners control acts were not involved.

The barber law, which opponents called the "NRA act," attempted to extend powers already held by state board examiners to include those of fixing prices for barber work in each of the state's 67 counties. Such authority, a majority of the court held, would withdraw the barber's constitutional right to make contract for his services.

Elevator Strike Ends In New York With Compromise

Points Won And Concessions Made By Owners, Operators

NEW YORK, Mar. 16. (AP)—Thousands of union elevator operators and other building services employes have tossed away their picket signs and begun returning to work after a spectacular two weeks' strike that disrupted the operation of 2400 apartments and business structures.

A compromise settlement providing for immediate re-employment of the strikers along with arbitration of wages and hours was announced yesterday after a 15-hour conference.

James J. Bambrick, head of the New York local of the International Building Service Employers' Union, hailed the settlement as a "great victory."

He said 33,000 workers, including porters, janitors, boiler stokers, and chambermaids in addition to elevator operators, would be back on their jobs by today.

Arbitration of wages will begin within the next few days under the supervision of Ferdinand A. Silcox, chief of the United States Forestry Division. At the end of the first and second years of the three year agreement both wages and hours are to be arbitrated.

In signing a three-year contract with the Realty Advisory Board, representing the employers, the union leaders abandoned their demand for a closed or preferential shop.

The building operators, in their turn, agreed to reinstate all of the strikers instead of insisting on the retention of 15 percent of the replacement workers hired during the strike.

Insists On Equality Of His Delegate To London Conference On Locarno Breach

Britain Said To Oppose Condition

England May Be Compelled To Drop Its Conciliatory Stand

By The Associated Press
The European crisis born of Nazi Germany's remilitarization of the Rhineland heightened today while Great Britain tried to mollify indignant France and pacify the militant Reich.

Some quarters believed the life of the League of Nations rested in its council called into session in London to consider Germany's breach of the Versailles treaty and the Locarno pact. France threatened to bolt the League in preference to complying with terms by which Hitler agreed to participate in the London discussions. Informal League quarters believed Britain also would reject the conditions and would be forced to drop its conciliatory role in favor of League condemnation of Germany.

Hitler insisted on his representative having full equality at the London conference and prompt consideration of his terms he proposed to insure peace in western Europe. Britain backed the French stance. Germany today celebrated its first anniversary of the declaration of the new army and the German leader declared "never be conquered."

General tension was eased somewhat by an announcement that the League Council, in secret session, had agreed to give Germany's representative equal standing at the conference, but refused to consider Hitler's proposals.

The five-paragraph German reply, signed by Konstantin von Neurath, foreign minister, was made public by the League last night.

Flandin said he had not read Hitler's reply, addressed to Dr. Joseph A. C. Avenol, secretary-general of the League, but understood Hitler demanded that his substitute peace proposals must be discussed at the same time with Germany's "League guilt." Hitler also was understood to insist that Germany must be treated on a footing of absolute equality.

Germany has sent a stern warning to Premier Benito Mussolini that she will cut off all exports to Italy if the fascist state adopts an unfriendly attitude toward Germany regarding the Rhineland crisis. The Daily Telegraph said it learned an official authority yesterday.

Italy, it was believed, would suffer greatly by such a move as her imports from Germany have helped considerably in fighting League of Nations economic penalties imposed for the Ethiopian campaign.

The Lid Is On!

As the tourist season in Miami neared its close, it was interesting to note the annual clamping down of the "lid" on all gambling activities. For better than three months every conceivable form of gambling had been operated more or less openly in night clubs, gaming parlors, gambling joints, and dives of one kind and another. Slot machines, punch boards, roulette tables, dice and pari mutuels flourished throughout the season, while more legitimate business languished.

Merchants complained that all the wealthy tourists spent all their time gambling, had no time to shop; spend all their money at tracks and night clubs, had some left for shopping. In response to these complaints, officers of the law, seeing an election in the offing, finally sent out orders that the lid was on, just as the season reached its close. That was smart politics. The tourists had had their fun; the night clubs and gambling joints, their profits; and the merchants, somewhat belatedly perhaps, had made their complaints heard.

What gambling in Miami means to the merchants is shown by Jack Bell, a newspaper correspondent, who made the rounds of the gambling clubs one night, and told of five men just in from the East with $4,500 among them for their vacation, but who lost it all the first night in a game of chance, and had to return home the next morning. "Nowhere in this nation," says Bell, "is there another such city as Miami Beach this winter. Cheap, vulgar, lawdry theatrical performances; unkempt people by the thousands; swarming to and from the beaches and into the 'lucky' games; gambling everywhere you turn; bars, and bars, and bars, some of them unusually attractive—others, just cheap bars."

He tells about the slot machines which line the walls of practically every establishment, and which, now that they are legal, form the proper avenue of approach for the more vicious and expensive forms of gambling. He tells of a little old lady with white hair neatly tucked under a black hat, who, with a bag full of dimes, pushed her way through the crowd around one of the "slots." "She seemed such a nice old lady, too," Bell writes. "Then she began to play, a bit slowly and nervously at first, but with speed and almost viciously as she got the swing of the thing. At last her dimes were all gone. And then to Bell's utter astonishment, her dear, sweet, old lips parted and she cried, 'I might have known the damn thing was not on the up and up.'"

From the perfectly legal slot machines down town and the pari mutuels at the horse and dog tracks, boys and girls, old and young, graduate to the more nefarious and outside-the-law games of chance. Literally, hundreds of places to gamble: dice, cards, roulette, and the numbers game! Costly, exclusive places where only the rich can get in. Other places, not quite so expensive, where the rich can go after they have been cleaned. Cheap and dirty places for the riff raff. All kinds of places and all kinds of prices. All kinds of people, all taking a chance.

"I've talked with old-timers," Bell writes, "men who saw the gambling halls of the Klondike, of Goldfield, Reno, Tonopah, and Casper. Nothing like this place ever was seen in the West of the good old days. You may see anything, play anything in this place. At night they stand many deep around the dice games. In one corner they've the big money play. They tell me a man hit the game for 28 grand the other night. Around the card tables you may see little family quarrels, as father, mother, and the Simmons girls from Keokuk sit in for a few hands of black jack. Down the line are tables for women only. Women and men—men and women; poorly dressed, carelessly dressed, richly clothed in beautiful furs and finest suitings. They all come. They all play."

But the winter season is over now. An election approaches. So for the time being, the lid is on.

Your Nose Grows

When one friend meets another after a lapse of years, says the Literary Digest, he is apt to say, "You've changed somehow, but I can't say just where." The vague unfamiliarity about his friend's features he finds difficult to explain.

"But down in the rambling building of the National Museum, at Washington, D. C., there is a man who can explain it," the Digest continues. "He is stocky Dr. Alex Hrdlicka, Smithsonian Institution anthropologist, who has probably measured more heads and faces, of more races, than any other living man."

"Last week Doctor Hrdlicka announced that these measurements had disclosed a curious fact. Some features of the head, he declared, never cease to grow. The ears get larger, the nose gets longer and broader and the mouth stretches wider throughout life."

"Generally speaking," says Doctor Hrdlicka's report, "the breadth of the nose increases . . . from cold to hot climate."

"Thus, among the southwestern and Mexican Indians, tribes living in the hottest regions have the broadest noses, while those living in the mountains have the narrowest. The effect of climate on nose dimensions is connected . . . with different demands of the function of respiration."

"It is in all probability the main factor which originally produced the various racial types of noses."

An address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Hord. Vocal selections were given by the Lyman School singers under the direction of Mrs. Lyman, Mr. and Mrs. C. Whittemore and Mrs. E. R. Gray. Mrs. Emma P. Buchanan, league president for 1936, addressed the League, said, "I am proud to welcome you to this silver birthday party, which may well be called a silver wedding, because 25 years ago there was union of feminine zeal and public interest that have lived faithfully through the years and even claim in its family many worthy accomplishments. In 1911 thirteen women organized. Among the most active then were Mrs. F. J. Niemeyer, Mrs. Juli Ann, Miss Noble Dunbar, Addie Niemeyer, now Mrs. J. A. Bledsoe, treasurer for 25 years, Mrs. C. W. Estenberger and Mrs. W. A. Haraway, the first president."

"The league met first in the hotel. Soon a chapel was bought and moved to its present location. It is now known as the library, and has been enlarged and improved until it has a valuable property entirely free of debt, due to the untiring efforts of a small band of faithful members."

"The league bought a lot for $40, and we gave another by Mr. Robinson of Sanford. Additional cost the League $1,250. Another large sum was spent for cook stoves, oil heaters, dishes, craphophone, a piano and books for the library. Books were given to Lyman School."

"Public works done by the League were installing street lights, a cleanup campaign, sewing for local needs as well as for the Children's Home at Jacksonville."

Library Hall is the center of all social activities of Longwood. Reception suppers, conventions, and home music are held here and the hall is rented for a nominal fee to the Tourist Club, Fire-Brand Club and large Bible Banding Club and large Bible Banding Club. Gifts have been received from the late John Dunbar (whose daughter is still an active member), from G. B. Manning, a promoter in town, a new chimney from the Tourist Club and the Fire-Brand Club. Also a new stove from the Fire-Brand Club and others have made donations."

Passion Play To Be Presented In Sanford Mar. 22

One of the most fascinating stories in history will be presented in the First Baptist Church next Sunday evening, Mar. 22, when the Oberammergau Passion Play will be portrayed in motion pictures, according to announcement made yesterday by the pastor of the church, the Rev. W. F. Brooks, Jr.

The history of the Passion Play is brief, a thrilling drama, Mr. Brooks said. "In the year 1634, the village of Oberammergau, in Bavaria, was visited by a terrible plague, Mr. Brooks said. "The rest of the plague was terrific, and people lived in constant dread and fear for their lives. On the occasion of the plague, the remaining inhabitants came together and made a solemn pledge to Almighty God to live more Godly lives, and to help others do the same. They vowed they would live to perform the Passion Play of our Saviour every tenth year out of gratitude for their deliverance; a vow which has been faithfully observed. The population of this village now live for this one thing. The importance of Christ considers his part an act of worship, as well as an act for His. He and the entire cast who participate in the enactment are selected for their holy living, and make it their life-long profession."

"This particular story of the Passion Play is presented in motion pictures was made in Egypt and the Holy Land, and will be particularly interesting from an educational, instructional and spiritual standpoint. The story of our Lord continues to thrill the world today in the way of entertainment, so pleasing, soul-stirring, heart-reaching and uplifting as this wonderful creation in motion picture form."

"It is Oberammergau over again, and almost unconsciously one is carried to the place made sacrosanct by the piety and devotion of those who portray the characters that circumcised the Life, Passion and Death of our Lord. It is a world of dramatics, in words or propaganda, and all of every age will be uplifted by it. There is no charge for this picture, but a free-will offering will be taken to defray the necessary expenses in presenting this great spectacle to the people of this city and community."

for women during the first semester which ended recently, a grades report from the college personnel office shows. Sorority girls make up about one third of the student body of approximately 1,750 students.

Don'ts For Flower Shows

By Margaret Wight Kirtley
Just now at Flower Show time, a few words about prolonging the freshness of cut flowers may prove useful. One often hears, "I go to Mr. Blank's garden and he cuts my flowers while I am there," and thus preserve their freshness—but they will no doubt be glad to know that the best quality flowers will be much longer if their stems were cut the night before and plunged up to their necks in deep water—or very early in the morning—and allowed to remain for at least 10 hours before arriving. This method, of course, is followed so that their stems may become filled with water.

All cut flowers will absorb the water more readily if a few drops of camphor have been added.
These are a few suggestions gathered from my own experience and from trade magazines which have been proven beneficial.

Hard wood flowers, such as camellias, azaleas, and vines, will keep much longer if, before placing them in water, an inch or more of the outer bark is removed, or the end of the stem cut with a sharp knife.

Soft stemmed flowers, such as nasturtiums and pansies, will keep much longer if a bit of charcoal is kept in the water. Many cut flowers are benefited by sprinkling daily with water but not so sweet peas and other thin petalled flowers.

A few drops of formaldehyde in each quart of water retards fermentation. Use one teaspoon of concentrated borax acid solution to two quarts of water to increase keeping qualities of carnations and dianthus. One teaspoon of cane sugar to each quart of water will double the life of asters.

home for the occasion.

At the conclusion of the bridge games high score prize, a novelty vase, was awarded to Mrs. E. J.
Routh. Refreshments were then served by the hostess to the following: Mrs. James Avery and Mrs. Mary Avery, honor guests,
Mrs. T. C. Pitchford, Mrs. S. C.
Dickerson, Mrs. H. E. Voorman,
L. V. Berdette, Mrs. Roy Tillis,

WHEN REBEL SOLDIERS HELD SWAY IN TOKYO

This picture, one of several the Associated Press rushed to the United States by fast steamer from Japan to Honolulu and thence by Pan-American Airways' China Clipper, shows rebellious soldiers marching from the metropolitan police headquarters in Tokyo to the parliament building, seen dimly at upper left. Curious civilians line the route of the march. Shortly afterwards loyal troops followed on the heels of the rebels and subdued them. (Associated Press Photo)

'LIKE DOLL HOUSES DUNKED IN A BATHTUB'

These flooded eastern Pennsylvania homes looked "like doll houses dunked in a bathtub" to Joseph Canava, Associated Press photographer who recently returned from the Ethiopian war front, as he flew over the flood area. Shown in this general air view of the greatest flood in years at Wilkes Barre, Pa., are 247 houses isolated by high water. Most of the city was under several feet of water, and scores of families were forced to leave their homes. (Associated Press Photo)

Italians Measure Tidal Undulations In Earth's Crust

TRIESTE, Mar. 12.—Deep in the grooves of Eastward, Italian scientists are measuring the tidal undulations of the earth's crust.

Caused by the same force that pulls up tides of sea, these land waves are infinitesimal and can be recorded only by extremely delicate instruments. To "see" the earth's undulations, some workers working under Luigi Carrara's direction in caves dug out by the Romans in the mountains of the Apennines, have fixed layers of solid rock. One set of mirrors is fixed to the rock of the cavern and another set of mirrors is fixed to the earth's surface rises and falls. Reflected light thus traces the movement on rolls of sensitive paper.

Immense Crowd Thrilled Sunday By 'Hell Drivers'

The narrow road leading from the highway to the track was jammed with hundreds of cars which drove bumper to bumper over the four miles. However, no accidents were reported.

Explanation Of Light Blight Is Given By Dawson

County Agent C. E. Dawson writes as follows about "light blight" and how it can be controlled:

"Light blight is generally considered a cool weather disease. It is so named because of the time of its appearance in the North to distinguish it from early blight, the one usually sprayed for in the Sanford-Okecho area.

"Late blight is usually bad this year due to long stretches of cool weather, and is causing considerable anxiety, especially in Okecho, where the younger plants are suffering most. There has been heavy damage both in the seed bed and recently set fields.

"There are two strains of late blight fungus, one producing a large spot which is hard to distinguish from the usual early blight lesion, and the other a small spot which is easily identified as being late blight.

"The control for late blight is to secure disease free seed. Using seed which are two or three years old is a safeguard, but such seed are not always obtainable. Treatment of seed in hot water or corrosive solution.

"After the disease is found in the field, the only recommendation is careful and thorough spraying with 4-4-50 Bordeaux mixture.

"Late blight is much more difficult to hold in check by spraying than the early blight and the spraying must be thorough if any results are to be expected."

Sanford May Lead Legion Parade At State Convention

Local Post In Front In State-Wide Membership Contest

Campbell-Losing Post of the American Legion in Sanford is out in front in the state-wide membership contest, and if it can hold its present lead for two more weeks Sanford will lead the parade at the state convention of the Legion in Sarasota next month.

Three more veterans joined the Legion at last night's meeting, bringing the total membership to 180 and the Post's standing in the membership gain contest to 408 percent. That percentage gain is greater than that of any other Post in the state—and the Post that makes the greatest gain during the preceding year leads the convention parade. Its delegates will also have the front seats in the convention hall.

The convention is to be on Apr. 15, 16, 17 and 18, but the contest closes on Mar. 31.

Much of the time of the Post meeting last evening was taken up in discussing the organization in Sanford of a squadron of the Sons of the Legion, and every veteran present who is the father of a boy wanted to enroll him then and there. A committee composed of Perry Mero, Bob Cobb and Guy Stafford was appointed by Commander L. F. Boyle to further arrange for a father's and son's banquet at an early date when steps will be taken to form the squadron.

Any boy whose father is a member of the Legion or whose father was a member though now dead is eligible to join the Sons of the Legion. Commander Boyle said there is no age limit.

Commander Boyle exhibited two checks, one for $25 from the Rita theater as the proceeds of last Saturday's motion picture show given as a benefit for the Legion's hospital in St. Petersburg for crippled children, and the other for $25 as the local Post's share of the proceeds of the "Jare devil" show at the Driving Park last Sunday.

4 More Troops Of Boy Scouts May Be Formed

Groups Are Ready To Start When Scout Executive Returns From Camp Trip

Formation in Sanford of four more troops of Boy Scouts of America is in prospect upon the return within the next few weeks of Scout Executive Henry Brown, who is now attending a training camp in Tennessee. The four new troops will be sponsored by local churches, several of which were represented by committees at a session of the Court of Honor in the Junior High Sch. of last evening.

The Rev. Martin Bram, rector of Holy Cross Episcopal Church, presided over the court in his official capacity as district commissioner, and it was reported that the Episcopal, Congregational and Christian Churches would jointly sponsor one troop.

The other troops would be sponsored by the Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist Churches. Paul Johnson, E. C. Smith and H. B. McCall, Jr., attended the court as committeemen from the Methodist Church; J. W. Tenhet and the Rev. E. D. Brownlee were there from the Presbyterian Church, and Wm. F. Kador attended the meeting as chairman of the Baptist Church committee.

Merit badges were awarded by the Court of Honor to three Scouts, and one Scout was advanced to second class. The merit badges were won by Dick Mason and LeRoy Cooper for public health, and by Byrl Higgs for farm home planning. Kent Rosseter, Jr., was promoted to second class. All are members of Troop 5, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

Another troop is sponsored by the Catholic Church.

Forty-two Scouts were present with five other members of the Court of Honor—Arthur Branan, S. E. Andrews, S. D. Hochlyman, H. E. Morris and W. B. Zachry. Rotarians Told Italians Are Not Dangerous People

Sanford Rotarians were entertained at their regular weekly luncheon at the Mayfair Hotel by a number of vocal selections by a number of vocal selections by Mrs. J. L. Ingley and by an informal talk delivered by Father J. J. Kellaghan who told of many interesting events in his boyhood life in Ireland as well as during a four year period spent in Rome, Italy.

Father Kellaghan said that the popular impression that Italians are desperate people who would stick a knife in your back at the least provocation is pretty much overdrawn. "There are some bad Italians," he said, "of course, but by and in large they are a fine people who compare favorably with those of any other country."

Mussolini, too, Father Kellaghan said, has done a fine job in governing Italy. Rome, once a very dirty city, has been cleaned up until now it is among the cleanest in the world. Roads have been built, transportation facilities improved, and the Italian people generally are much happier and much better off than they were before the Fascist march on Rome.

Visitors at the luncheon included E. C. Laing, of Belfast, Me.; William F. Yust, of Orlando, Fla.; G. E. Dudley, of Madison, Wis.; Adolph Meisch, of Secaucus, N. J.; George Frazier, of Jacksonville; and Lewis Billis, of Sanford.

Hitler Ready To Discuss His Acts At London Confab

Accpts Invitation To Conference To Be Held Thursday

By The Associated Press. Adolf Hitler, dictator of Nazi Germany, advised the League of Nations council in London today he is ready to discuss at the conference table what France regards as his sudden violation of two treaties which threw Europe into turmoil. Formerly, he accepted the Council's invitation to sit down and ponder the international crisis precipitated when he denounced the Locarno pact; and for the second time within a year flew in the face of the Versailles treaty by sending troops into the demilitarized Rhineland. The initial parley will be held Thursday.

Hurla New Defiance. FRANKFURT - ON - MAIN, Mar. 17.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler shouted new defiance at his foes last night in a fiery speech to thousands of followers celebrating Germany's day of armed forces.

Cheered frantically as a liberator, Dr. Fuehrer, faced with drastic action against the Reich by the League of Nations council in London, stood firm on his refusal to back down from re-occupation of the Rhineland.

"The world must know that there are not two or three opinions in Germany but only one opinion and one will," Hitler cried in an election campaign speech which observed also the first anniversary of restoration of compulsory military service in the Reich.

"Only a man supported by the entire nation could have solved the enormous problems facing him in January, 1933. Some people say that criticism is necessary. However, unity is necessary. By abolishing trade unions, employers' organizations and other bodies I have already had—unity."

"We shall never recede from our demand for equal rights. We seek reconciliation. My aim is not to rule over Germany—I seek vindication by the people. The people must be won for this great, new doctrine of unity."

"On one hand we have the letter of a treaty and on the other hand eternal moral rights. Foreign statesmen have studied history sufficiently to know that no treaty based on discrimination can last forever. If there are people who love peace they are the German nation."

"Our only aim is to express our abilities in peaceful work. We cannot tolerate it if foreigners meddle in our internal affairs. Freedom and rights are natural to every man. They stand above the paragraphs of treaties."

Only 465 Voters In Entire County Have Paid 1936 Poll Tax

Only 465 electors in all Seminole County had paid their 1936 poll taxes up to last evening, and this indicated to City Clerk F. H. To be able to vote in that election an elector under the age of 25 years must have a receipt for his 1936 poll tax, and it must be paid before Apr. 4.

Petitions placing candidates for office in nomination must be signed by not less than 25 qualified electors, and to be qualified such signers must be registered and have their poll taxes paid.

Poll taxes are payable to County Tax Collector Jas. D. Jenkins. The City registration books are open in Mr. Lamson's office in City Hall.

Vandenberg Appealed To By Chamber Of Commerce For Aid

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17.—(AP) —The Senate today rejected an amendment to the Army supply bill which would have provided $20,000,000 for continuing work on the Florida Ship Canal and three other projects started with WPA funds. The Canal amendment, proposed by Senator Fletcher of Florida, was lost by a vote of 39 to 34 with party lines split. The amendment would have provided $12,000,000 for the canal, $3,500,000 for the Conchos Dam in New Mexico, $2,000,000 for the Sardes reservoir in Mississippi, and $2,000,000 for the Bluestone reservoir in West Virginia.

Fighting for appropriations to continue the 200-mile Florida Ship Canal, Senator Fletcher contended in the Senate today that the project was authorized in the work relief act. He denied assertions by Senator Vandenberg, Michigan, that the project, started with WPA funds, had not been authorized and was economically unsound.

Canal proponents, led by Senator Fletcher won an initial victory late yesterday when a point of order against the $20,000,000 amendment, raised by Senator Vandenberg, failed.

Jafie's Willing To Discuss Hauptmann Case With Hoffman

NEW YORK, Mar. 17.—(AP) —John F. Condon, returning to New York from Panama, was quoted by Inez Passaniti on the liner Santa Inez today as being "very" willing to discuss the Lindbergh case with Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey, in Dr. Condon's own home. "Jafie" himself declined to make any comment whatever on last minute efforts of Hauptmann to escape execution for the kidnap-murder of the Lindbergh baby.

The Rev. Henry Betts, director of Presbyterian missions in South America, quoted Condon as saying he would be glad to see the good reason at his home, but saw no reason why he should go to New Jersey.
