Homeowners can air gripes

SANFORD — Local homeowners will take their gripes about rising property assessments and more taxes to city and county officials tonight and Thursday.

Tonight at 7 p.m., a group of downtown Sanford residents will meet with Seminole County Property Appraiser Bill Suber and county commissioner Jennifer Kelley to protest the costly increases. The meeting, which will be held in the City Hall commission chambers, was called by Sanford Commissioner Lon Howell who has argued large assessment increases on his properties were unjust.

Thursday, a group of west Sanford homeowners will meet with Kelley and Suber separately. The group, who lives outside city limits will protest Kelley's proposal to pursue a 4 percent tax on unincorporated residents' utility bills. They will also meet with Suber to protest the property assessment increases.

The meeting with Kelley is scheduled for 11 a.m. in the third floor conference room at the northwest corner of the Seminole County Services Building on First Street. The meeting with Suber is scheduled for 1 p.m. in his first floor office in the services building.

Deputy manager seat filled

SANFORD — Seminole County Manager Ron Rabun filled the last deputy county manager vacancy Tuesday.

County commissioners affirmed his appointment of Charlotte County assistant administrator John Kevin Grace. Grace, 31, will be paid $70,000 annually. He will begin his duties in Sanford Nov. 4.

"He presided over the single largest utility acquisition in the state of Florida," Rabun said. "He's had experience in streamlining the building permit process and has worked in the private sector so he knows the balancing act of profit and loss. He's a mover. He's a comer."

Grace will oversee public service departments, such as development review and construction permitting.

SANFORD — Seminole County and the City of Sanford will work together in solving some of the major problems in the area. Government leaders say residents will benefit.

Members of the Seminole County Commission and Sanford City Commission met Tuesday to finalize plans for a formal interlocal agreement on joint planning. Following brief discussions on several minor details, the two groups agreed that it was beneficial to both sides and all area residents.

Preliminary proposals agreed upon Tuesday included annexation, land development codes, and future land uses.

County Commission Chairman Fred Streetman explained, "The next step is to have our respective staffs move forward to prepare materials for each presentation, then have them approved at regular meetings."

Previous meetings had already established some of the objectives of the overall plan. As a result, the two governments have entered into agreements on problems such as water, sewer, transportation impact fees and mutual aid/first response.

A number of changes will come about when all matters receive final approval. Annexation proposals would be based on contiguity, that is, County land which touches some part of City land. The County will not oppose annexations that occur east of I-4 and east of the I-4 Industrial Park, northwest of the city.

Sanford City Manager Bill Simmons said, "This will be uniquely beneficial to property owners, especially those wishing to annex in order to get city water and sewer services." He added, "It will eliminate many problems."

For land use, cooperative codes are to be established, especially in areas designated for future development. In all cases, transportation impacts will be considered, and joint reviews will

Seminole's first woman principal assesses job

By VICKI DeSORMIER

SANFORD — Gretchen Schapker, the new principal at Seminole High School, doesn't have any plans for big change at the school.

"I want to get to know the faculty, the students and the community before I make any plans," Schapker said yesterday prior to being approved by the school board.

Schapker said she is impressed with the sense of community in the Sanford school.

"It is Sanford's school," said Schapker, who had been an assistant principal at Lyman High School in Longwood before getting the top job at Seminole. "At Lyman there are students from Longwood, Altamonte Springs, Casselberry. There isn't the same sense of community that there is at Seminole."

Schapker, the first woman to be principal of a high school in Seminole County, said she hopes to work closely with parent groups on improving the school's poor public image.

"There are a lot of positive things about Seminole that no one ever focuses on," Schapker said.

She has met with outgoing Seminole principal Wayne Epps and said that he has promised to assist her in any way she needs during the transition period.

Schapker said she is a disciplinarian and she is not afraid to

Lake Mary Boulevard wins money in 3-2 split of board

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County commissioners on Tuesday formally pledged $230,500 for the landscaping and beautification of Lake Mary Boulevard.

Commissioners voted 3-2 to approve an agreement with Lake Mary agreeing to spend $103,757 for landscaping, $80,000 for fancy signal posts and $46,750 for intersection improvements between Markham Woods and Country Club roads.

Lake Mary commissioners will consider the proposal in a special meeting Thursday night at 7 p.m. in City Hall.

County commissioners Pat Warren and Larry Furlong opposed the spending plan.

Furlong said it represented a landscaping standard the county couldn't afford to meet on other roads.

"I think it is a wonderful idea to provide landscaping along roadways," Furlong said. "But we are setting a standard that we won't be able to live up to on other roads we will build."

Warren said she opposed the spending because she believed it was a city project. Commissioners Bob Sturm, Jennifer Kelley and Fred Streetman supported the proposal.

Under the agreement, Lake Mary will contribute $307,500 towards irrigation and other beautification measures. The city is also considering using about $1.3 million from a proposed $5 million bond sale to pay Florida Power Corp for the expenses of burying powerlines along the roadway.

The city and the county failed to force FPC to pay for the burying expense in a battle that reached the Florida Supreme Court.

Sanlando Utilities buy wins county clearance

By J. MARK BARFIELD

SANFORD — Seminole County has opened the path for Longwood-area customers of Sanlando Utilities Inc. to purchase the company and eventually turn it over to Seminole County.

Under the terms of the deal approved by commissioners Tuesday, they would authorize the sale of up to $32 million in utility bonds to be repaid from customer rates. The new owners, Wekiva Utilities Inc., would be operated by a board of directors to include homeowner's representatives and the county's chief utility official.

When the bonds are repaid in 20 or 30 years, the county would own the water and sewer treatment facilities and the supply lines. Until then, the county would review annual operations budgets of the company.

The sale of Sanlando Utilities has been an on-again, off-again affair for several years. The company provides water and sewer service to 9,800 customers, including about 500 in the city of Longwood. Most Sanlando customers live west of Interstate 4 in Sweetwater and other communities.

The county, Altamonte Springs and Longwood have all considered, then refused, offers by Sanlando owners Greater Construction Corp. because the price was too high.

A recent consideration by Longwood to acquire the company was opposed by

"We don't want a city in which we can't vote to acquire us therefore disfranchising us," said Dick Harris, president of Wekiva Utilities.

Showdown over school grading postponed

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The expected clash between the parents of third graders and the Seminole County School District administration did not occur Tuesday evening, apparently because of a clerical snafu.

The matter was postponed until Sept. 24. While several parents still approached the podium and spoke, no action was taken on the pupil progression plan because notice of the public hearing was not appropriately advertised.

"I'm not sure what happened," Dr. Hortense Evans, administrative assistance to the superintendent, said. Evans' office is responsible for ensuring that all public hearings are advertised according to Florida law.

The pupil progression plan includes a proposal that would change the grading system for third graders to "S" and "N" (Satisfactory and Not Satisfactory) rather than standard letter or number grades.

Parents argue that the two-letter system encourages mediocrity by failing to give students an accurate assessment of the quality of their work.

Several parents cited declining test scores at the second grade level where the "S" and "N" system was initiated last year.

FLORIDA BRIEFS

Chiles addresses council on elderly

FORT LAUDERDALE — Plans for the state's new Department of Elderly Affairs are going smoothly, Gov. Lawton Chiles said at the annual conference of the Florida Council on Aging.

The governor told his audience of about 800 Tuesday that he would use the new agency, which he fought to get approved by lawmakers this spring, as a model for bringing the rest of state government closer to the people.

Chiles' comments were "pretty positive," said Gerald Buchert, president of the advocacy group.

But the governor also acknowledged the state had "a long way to go" in funding, according to Buchert, head of the St. Petersburg city office on aging.

The Florida Council on Aging, an organization of people who work with the elderly, didn't take a position on the department when it was being fiercely debated in the Legislature. Some people who work in the field were opposed to removing services for the elderly from the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services.

Prosecutors accused of lying under oath

MIAMI — A federal magistrate has accused three prosecutors of lying under oath about their investigation of a man known by law enforcement authorities as the "Great Corrupter of Miami."

U.S. Magistrate Lurana Snow on Monday set bail for Alberto San Pedro, who is awaiting trial on drug trafficking and perjury charges, at $1 million. The government is appealing that decision.

Yet any chances of San Pedro's quick release had been dashed late Sunday when a warrant was issued for his arrest for allegedly killing an associate in a drug-running scheme.

In her order Monday, Snow said the three federal prosecutors gave misleading statements about their investigations of San Pedro in late 1980 and early 1981.

Judge's gun accidently discharges

MIAMI — A Metro-Dade judge who was preparing to take a gun safety course said the accidental discharge of her revolver in her chambers points out the importance of such courses.

"I always said I would never carry a gun, never use it until I took a course and I learned how to use, which I've never done obviously," Judge Nancy Pollock said Tuesday about the incident two weeks ago.

"Now I know that people should not be carrying guns unless they do know how to use it."

Pollock said she had brought the .38-caliber revolver to her office to have it cleaned by one of the bailiffs. She was among court personnel planning to get concealed weapons permits.

Alleged marijuana kingpin sentenced

FORT LAUDERDALE — The man dubbed the "kingfish" of Palm Beach County's largest family-run marijuana ring has been sentenced to the maximum of 30 years in federal prison.

Claude Avon Pinder, 51, blew his nose and wiped away a tear before reading a statement to a hushed courtroom of more than a dozen relatives Monday.

Pinder, who was arrested in 1988, denied leading a Bahamas-Florida smuggling ring. He scoffed at the "kingfish" label agents gave him more than four years ago when a task force was created to investigate what was dubbed the "Pinder Cartel."

Nine men who pleaded guilty to importing 15,000 pounds of marijuana in 1988 testified that Pinder helped head the ring.

A federal jury convicted Pinder June 13 of distributing and conspiring to import the 15,000-pound load. He was acquitted of the actual importation.

Cemetery vandalized

ORANGE PARK — Vandals have struck in Magnolia Cemetery here, destroying or damaging 33 headstones, many of them more than 100 years old.

"It just leaves you with a sick feeling that they had no respect for the dead or the feelings of their families," Gloria Neely, Orange Park's director of general services, said as she surveyed the damage Monday.

The vandalism was reported to police over the weekend.

"It looks like just plain old meanness," said Orange Park Police Lt. James Bolvin, who added there was no evidence or any satanic or cult-related activity, survivors of the dead whose headstones were vandalized.

"Many of these are over 100 years old. Their families may be dead now, too, or may have moved away," said Ernest Jones, park superintendent.

The seven-acre cemetery, deeded to the town in 1866, holds the remains of some Civil War soldiers, including the grave of Gen. Joseph Tarr Copeland, a Yankee officer who moved to Orange Park in 1885 and died in 1893. His grave was not disturbed.

Museum expanding

The Henry Shelton Sanford Memorial Library and Museum, 530 E. First Street, is expected to look like this (left) in a few years. A model of the building, with all future expansions included, was shown to the Sanford City Commission Monday afternoon. Present construction work will add a front section which will include a larger gallery and office space. Existing areas of the building will be redesigned for better use. When the entire project is completed, the total museum will be doubled in size, with a great deal of additional space to be added, including a temporary exhibit area.

PSC swears in new commissioner

By BILL BRIDGEMAN
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Florida's newest Public Service Commission member says 11 years as an attorney for the utility regulating panel will stand her in good stead.

"I know what decisions we've made previously, and what decisions have worked out," Susan Clark said after being sworn in Tuesday.

The meeting that followed made it clear her experience as a PSC attorney, including three years as its general counsel, won't insulate her from debate, however.

Commissioner Betty Easley concluded an exchange over cellular telephone regulation by telling Clark: "Respectfully, I disagree with you. Welcome aboard."

Clark, 42, replaces Gerald Gunter, who died of a heart attack in June. About 300 commission personnel crowded the hearing room to watch one of their own take a place on the five-member panel.

The commission discussed telephone and other issues in a daylong meeting, including rules intended to rein in children running up huge phone bills for sex-line calls.

Safety report upsets prosecutors

Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE — A report prepared by an advisory citizens' group set up by Gov. Lawton Chiles has Florida prosecutors worried that they're going to lose money to children's programs.

"They don't know what they are doing," said Lawson Lamar, Orlando state attorney and a longtime Chiles' supporter. "If 'right-sizing' Florida means we have to sacrifice the safety of this current generation, I don't think the public will agree."

Right-sizing is the term used by Chiles to describe his plan of redesigning government to bring it closer to the people and make it more efficient. Chiles set up a group called the By the People Commission to make suggestions on how to do that.

A spokeswoman for the governor said the report was just a draft version. Julie Anbender said her boss and the committee both are committed to keeping hardened criminals in prison as well as making children's needs but merely a draft.

He also said his committee never intended to suggest that money be diverted from current law enforcement programs but that the state needs to "enhance tax revenues" to deal with the overall problem.

"I understand their concerns," Moyle said. "It is something that is new and until they understand it, their reaction is understandable."

Moyle told the St. Petersburg Times in a story published Tuesday that he is correcting some of the errors that prosecutors pointed out in the report. But he said some of their criticisms stem from "misinformation or lack of information."

Prosecutors say the report does include some good suggestions but contain a number of fundamental errors, including a clause that indicates the state has been "pending more and more money to solve the problem of crime by putting more offenders into prison for longer periods of time."

The committee has scheduled town meetings through Sept. 26 but produced its "final report" on Aug. 16 after two of 10 meetings.

Moyle said he didn't intend for the report to be "sacrosanct."

They don't know what they are doing.

—Lawson Lamar, Orlando state attorney

Last week, most of the 20 state attorneys and other law enforcement officials met with Jon Moyle, a West Palm Beach attorney who heads the commission's Public Safety Committee.

"It wasn't designed as a meeting to roast Moyle," Lamar said. "But their product is really terrible. They brought in a final report while they claim they are still trying to get public input. I think the hearings may have been window dressing. I hope that isn't true."

The committee has scheduled town meetings through Sept. 26 but produced its "final report" on Aug. 16 after two of 10 meetings.

Moyle said he didn't intend for the report to be "sacrosanct."

Rolling's defense: Mistaken identity

By JAMES MARTINEZ
Associated Press Writer

TAMPA — Was a masked gunman who robbed a grocery store at gunpoint and then sped off in a hail of gunfire last fall actually Gainesville slayings suspect Danny Harold Rolling?

That's the question a jury was asked to think about as testimony got under way in a case the defense argues is one of mistaken identity.

But prosecutors have already presented the only eyewitness who claimed he could identify Rolling and a fingerprint expert who linked Rolling to the getaway car.

Today, the state was to put on other experts who contend hair found on the gunman's abandoned ski mask is similar to that of Rolling.

Rolling, 37, is charged with robbery, attempted robbery and aggravated assault on law enforcement officers in the holdup of the north Tampa Save and Pack store a few days after the last bodies were found in Gainesville.

The charges, which carry a possible life sentence, aren't directly related to the student murders, but authorities say the car Rolling was driving in Tampa was stolen from a Gainesville student housing complex two days after the last bodies were found.

Grocery store employees testified Tuesday how the masked gunman ran through the front door at twilight last Sept. 2, threw paper bags at the cashiers and demanded they fill them with cash. The man then fled with the money to a tan Buick parked in a nearby alley.

A Hillsborough County Sheriff's deputy testified she confronted Rolling in a tense, guns-drawn standoff.

"Lady, I don't want to shoot you," Cpl. Teresa Johnson quoted the gunman as saying. "Lady, don't make me shoot you."

Two other deputies testified they were forced to open fire when the gunman sped towards them in his getaway car. The car was found a short time later riddled with 17 bullet holes.

Babysitters charged in tot's death

Associated Press

AUBURNDALE — An autopsy on a toddler who died of head injuries suffered while under the care of a baby-sitting couple indicates the child was abused and tortured before her death, authorities said.

Jack Gray and Mary Carville, both of Auburndale, were charged Tuesday with third-degree murder and child abuse in the death of 18-month-old Amy Boney, said Polk County Sheriff's spokeswoman Lynne Breidenbach.

Carville's 13-year-old son, Danny Montalvo, faces first-degree murder and aggravated child abuse charges in Amy's death.

Montalvo allegedly told investigators that he rammed Amy's head into a dresser when she would not stop bouncing up and down on a bed, sheriff's Maj. Grady Judd said.

Amy died three days later at St. Joseph's Hospital, where she had been hospitalized since an ambulance was called Aug. 21 to the couple's home by Carville's 11-year-old daughter, Breidenbach said.

Gray, 48, and Carville, 43, who are farm laborers, were each jailed in lieu of $2,500 surety bond or $750 cash, while Montalvo was in the custody of juvenile authorities.

"This is a very bizarre case," Sheriff Lawrence W. Crow Jr. said. "I will, if I live to 100, never understand this."

• Thomas Raymond Church, 42, 28-B Sail Pointe Apts., Sanford, was arrested Monday by Sanford police on a May warrant for failing to appear at a hearing to answer to driving with a suspended license charge.

• Sherrell Monca Williams, 28, 21 Higgins Terrace, Sanford, was arrested Monday on a warrant for failing to appear at a hearing for battery charges.

• Matthew Marie, 24, 600 Longdale Ave., Longwood, was arrested Monday on two 1989 warrants for obtaining property with a worthless check charges.

Chalk talks set for schools

LAKE MARY — Sandy Robinson, a member of the Seminole County school board, has taken a step to break down the communications barriers that many perceive to be between the public and elected officials.

Robinson has scheduled four informal sessions with the public over the next seven months.

Calling the sessions "Chalk Talk," Robinson said the meetings will allow parents to voice their opinions on issues.

"To have the best school system in Florida requires everyone's involvement," Robinson said.

The first meeting will be on Monday, Sept. 9 at 7 p.m. at the old city hall building in Lake Mary.

"Everyone is welcome," she said. "Parents, teachers, administrators, students and concerned citizens. Bring your questions and concerns. Be involved."

The meetings will be held in Lake Mary, Longwood and Winter Springs, the areas included in Robinson's residential district, but she is encouraging people from across the district to attend.

Fellow board member Barbara Kuhn commended Robinson for creating the "Chalk Talk" series. "It opens up those vital lines of communication between us and the community," Kuhn said.

The other "Chalk Talk" meetings will be on Monday, Nov. 11 at 7 p.m. in the Community Building in Longwood; on Monday, Feb. 10, 1992 at 7 p.m. at Winter Springs Elementary School and on Monday, April 6 at 7 p.m. in the old city hall building in Lake Mary.

SAT scores buck trend

SANFORD — While the national trend in scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) have shown declines in the last few years, Seminole County scores have risen steadily.

The 1991 scores, received by the district yesterday afternoon, show that the average student in the district did slightly better again this year.

The 432 points averaged on the verbal portion of the test was two points higher than last year.

The average score on the math test remained unchanged at 487.

New wing for classrooms opened by Page schools

By VICKI DeSOMMER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Page Private Schools, 118 Alport Blvd. in Sanford opened their new classroom wing to students on Monday, but their will be an official ribbon cutting tomorrow morning.

Together with the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, the students, ranging in age from two years old to sixth grade will mark the beginning of a new era at the school.

The facility, which opened in 1986, has an enrollment of 175 youngsters.

"We're a small, non-sectarian school," said Dr. Charlene Luna, principal at the school.

Luna said the school emphasizes individualized attention for their students and offers classes in dance and Spanish for all students beginning with the two year olds.

Luna said that her school is geared toward the family with working parents.

"We have extended hours for those who must drop their children off early and pick them up late," she said.

The new facility will contain 10 classrooms Luna said.

"We have small classes, but large classrooms," said Luna of the square-foot addition.

The Page School has additional schools in Orlando and in California, Luna said, though each is run independently.

Bigger better?

In agreeing to a merger that will create, at least for the moment, the nation's second largest bank, BankAmerica Corp. and Security Pacific Corp. have joined the wave of banks warring on consolidation as an answer to the industry's challenges. The wisdom of that strategy will now be tested in the marketplace.

The current recession has helped underline what has gradually become apparent over the last decade: There are simply too many banks chasing too little business.

The nation's 12,500 commercial banks have found themselves scrambling for profits and growth as other companies — securities firms, savings and loans, even industrial companies like General Electric and Ford — have taken away depositors and loan customers. Over the last three decades, the banks' share of the assets held by financial institutions has steadily shrunk and in the last several years bank failures have risen sharply.

Consolidations are theoretically a logical way to deal with that overcapacity. The recent string of major bank mergers including marriages between Manufacturers Hanover and Chemical Bank and between C&S Sovran Corp. and NCNB Corp., is intended to permit the new banks to eliminate duplicative operations, close overlapping branches and cut costs.

Unhappily for bank employees, most of that cost-cutting means getting rid of jobs; bank analysts say that the BankAmerica-Security Pacific merger could result in the layoff of 20,000 people. But in a shrinking industry, job loss is inevitable. It is far better that it come through mergers that have the promise of creating better-capitalized and sounder banks than through the collapse of ailing institutions.

As a matter of public policy, leaner and more diversified banks are to be welcomed. When they are run well, geographically diversified banks like the merged BankAmerica Corp., which will operate in 10 states, are less vulnerable to local economic downturns such as those that sank many banks in Texas and New England. When banks spread risks and cut costs, the bank deposit insurance fund and thus the taxpayers are also better protected against loss.

But in banking, as in anything else, bigness is no guarantee of success. Some banks that have grown by merger have prospered, particularly when they have been able to keep their focus on customers' needs; others have floundered through mismanagement, poor strategic decisions and an inability to achieve the cost savings that merging promised.

The logic of the moment may tell bankers that bigger is better, but the ultimate judgment will be made, as always, by millions of customers making day-to-day choices about convenience, price and the quality of service.

Cold War lessons in a hot place

TEL AVIV — Consider three "peace processes."

One, in Western Europe, has been incredibly successful. No one worries about Germany attacking France, or Italy invading Greece. That peace process involved two world wars within 40 years.

A second peace process is underway; between the nuclear superpowers. Although it was endangered in the Soviet Union last week, and may yet be again, it looks good right now. With the democratic revolution moving forward, real peace may be at hand. That peace happened after a 48-year Cold War.

The third peace process — perhaps — is just beginning in the Middle East. We hope no idea how long it will last, or how it will turn out.

It's said that myopic generals tend to "fight the last war." Wise political leaders, on the other hand, are said to "learn the lessons of history." Curiously, the thought is roughly the same.

General Ariel Sharon, both a general and political leader, sees relevance to Israel in the way the Cold War ended. Sharon may well be — simultaneously — the most admired and most detested man in Israel. His view is worth understanding because he represents one important Israeli outlook that will have to be at least partially accommodated as, and if, the peace process moves forward.

Sharon asks: How did the Cold War end in peace? How did America come to prevail? And the answers: America did it the right way, staying strong and resolute until democracy surfaced in the land of its adversary.

That's not what's happening in his part of the world. "Nothing has changed in the Middle East," he told me. "The Arabs still hate the Israelis. The same dictatorships are still in place." Most important, he says, "There is no democracy among Israel's enemies."

Sharon believes that the lack of democracy is not just a political fact, but a military concern. Democracies, with built-in checks and balances, cannot launch a surprise attack based on the decision of a single ruler.

Sharon also notes that America pursued arms control while dealing with the Soviets. But in the America did it the right way.

Middle East, he says, there is an arms race, not arms control. Sophisticated weapons are now being made available to Arab states.

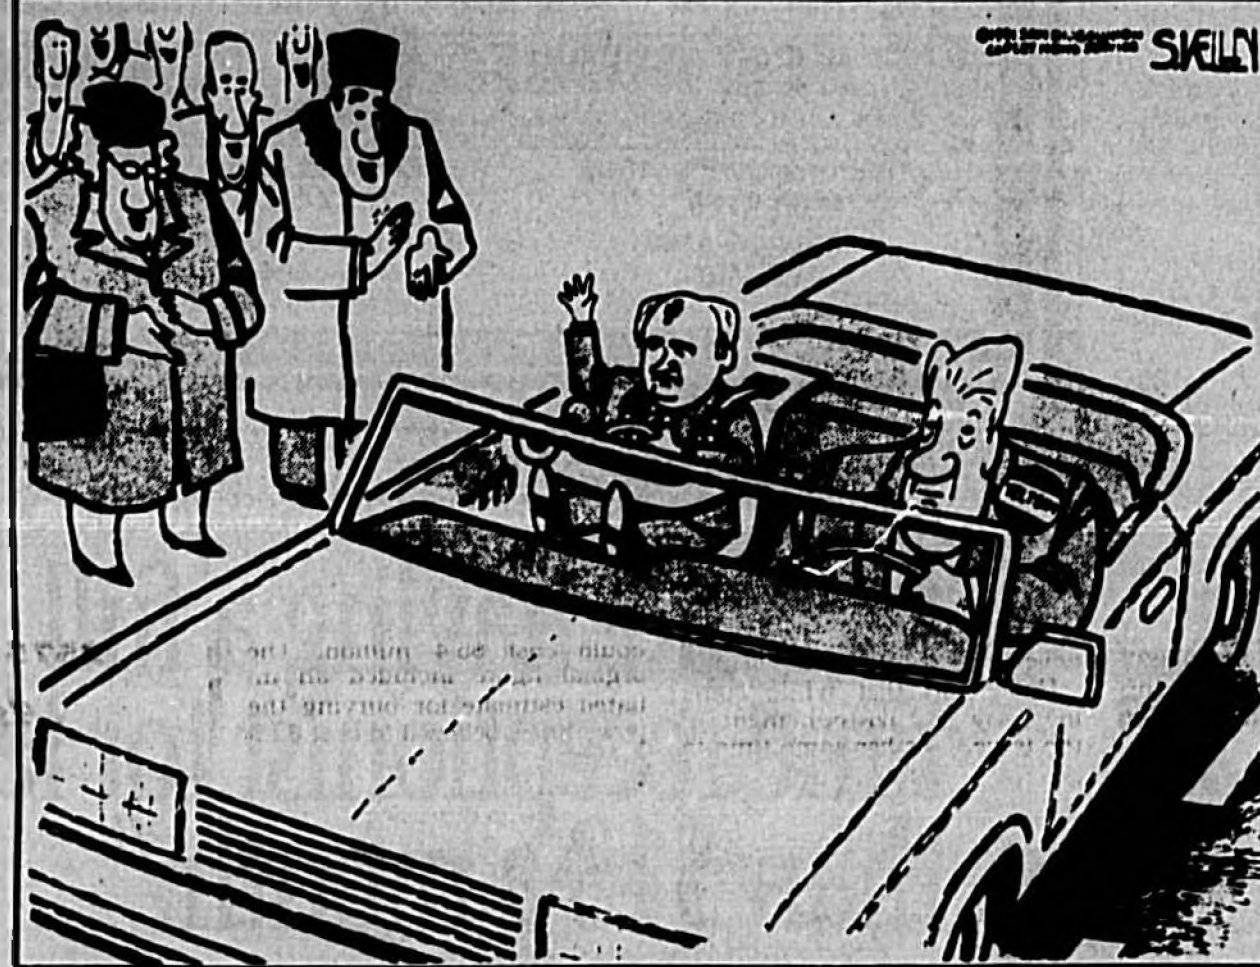

Syria has two different Scud models, a growing arsenal of chemical and biological weapons, and a huge tank force. Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Egypt are variously getting Abrams tanks, Apache helicopters and F-16s, each with modern systems.

Sharon claims Israel is going the other way: spending less on defense in part to finance the settlement of Soviet Jews now arriving in Israel. (Sharon is the Israeli housing minister. His supporters boast that the predicted housing shortage never did come about, despite 350,000 new Soviet immigrants. The serious problem now — and the topic of a subsequent column — is how immigrants will get productive jobs in the sluggish Israeli economy that is alternatively described as "socialist" or "Peronist.")

So Sharon asks: If waiting for democracy and pursuing arms control was the way America came to peace with its enemies, isn't that the wise road for Israel too?

Now, some of this is debatable. For example, given recent experiences, the Saudis have a clear reason to want defensive armaments.

But Sharon's is an Israeli perspective. He stresses that what may be "defensive" or "tactical" weapons elsewhere, can be "strategic" against Israel, where the distance from the Jordan River to Jerusalem is only 20 miles.

A tale of 2 worlds — and life

CASCO BAY, Maine — Dawn came with an ominously heavy rain and we turned on the radio for word of Hurricane Bob coming up the Maine coast. What we heard, however, hadn't been predicted by even the most knowledgeable expert. There was news from the East. Winds of change. The Soviet Union was suddenly as unstable and dangerous as any tropical storm.

In the cove, fishermen secured the last flats and dorries, working together in their deceptively unhurried way. On shore, we followed their lead, stashing the chairs and hammock in the barn, taping windows, pausing regularly to listen to the updates from Moscow as well as Portland.

The speculation about damage, the snippets of information mixed with opinion, the memories of past upheavals, came interchangeably from meteorologists and Sovietologists. There was more speculation from the Kissingers than the National Weather Service.

As we went about our business, moving the wood on our neighbor's porch, checking windows, bolting the door, we were mindful of the uncertainty of the world. Our double vision focused on Gorbachev and on Bob, on revolution and on the search for the hurricane lamp. In this, we mused, what the environmentalists mean when they say, "Think globally, act locally"? We dug out flashlights and candles.

By lunch the lights were gone, by 3 p.m. the phone was out. Our contact with the world off-island was down to one battery-operated single headset radio. Every half hour it delivered the news that Gorbachev was "sick," that a "committee" had declared itself in command, that Bob would hit with the high tide. And that all we could do now at this shore was wait and see.

As the winds bent the maple trees as if they were bamboo, and the rain came in great sheets across the bay I thought about that other sea change. I had been in Moscow just weeks after Gorbachev had taken power. The most remarkable images were brought into my hotel room and into Soviet homes by the evening news.

A new face, a man not yet familiar to the world, was strolling through the city square talking to ordinary citizens one night. The next night, he was in a factory, arguing animatedly and also — this was extraordinary — listening.

The Soviets I met those weeks, weathered and cynical, were not quick to believe in change or, certainly, in its permanence. Yet under this early surface there was something akin to hope. Even my interpreter, the woman I came to call Anna the Flake because she made a farce of KGB efficiency, admitted that this man was different. After a string of old men propped into the president's chair, something new was happening.

Evidence of the Third World economy abounded. The hotel I was in served soft-boiled eggs at 7 a.m. and hard-boiled at 7:30 a.m. Buying a loaf of bread — the one thing in abundance — required standing in three lines before three surly workers. And those were "the good old days."

The most useful way for a beleaguered journalist to confront Soviet red tape was with one Russian phrase that means, "this is crazy." Uttered in desperation to clerks, to bureaucrats, even to sociologists in Leningrad, it brought a knowing smile and help. Everyone knew the system was crazy.

So much happened in those years. So much more seemed possible. The world breathed more easily. Eastern Europe more freely. But in Russia, the system remained crazy. What happens now? There is no forecast to rely on.

Playing Scrabble at the kitchen table by kerosene lamp, we pass the news back and forth. The early work coming through the battery-powered headset is that "hard-liners" have taken over and that the seas are 20 to 30 feet.

We live in these two worlds, one natural, the other manmade — one as local as a single cove, the other as global as the satellite beaming its news from one continent to another. But our lives depend on both.

By 10 o'clock at night, the hurricane moved on, more gently now, to other coasts.

But manmade storms are not so selective nor so short-lived. So we stand at the eastern edge of the country, at the end of one storm and the beginning of another. From here, the ocean seems deceptively peaceful.

We live in these two worlds, one natural, the other manmade.

Did the 'octopus' kill journalists?

WASHINGTON — Joseph Daniel Casolaro, the free-lance journalist who thought he was on to the biggest story of his life — a story he called "the octopus" — is not the only investigative reporter to die while chasing the tentacles of that octopus.

Casolaro's body was found Aug. 10 in a hotel room in Martinsburg, W.Va., his wrists slashed with a broken bottle. On March 31, 1990, the body of British journalist Jonathan Moyle was found hanging from a closet rail in his hotel room in Santiago, Chile.

Although Casolaro and Moyle were probing different leads, their investigations involved some of the same people. Both of their families are adamant that each of them was the victim of foul play, not a suicide, as authorities first thought in each case.

Casolaro's death attracted a flurry of media attention to the story he had not yet finished. His octopus theory was that several of the biggest news stories of the last decade were linked in a huge master plot, but the files he left behind provided no smoking guns.

A key part of Casolaro's theory focused on the eight-year legal battle between the Justice Department and Inslaw, a Washington computer software company. Inslaw claims that Reagan administration officials pirated its software and sold it to law enforcement and intelligence agencies around the world.

According to sources who worked with Casolaro, he believed that some people involved in the alleged software theft were also involved in the Iran-contra affair, the arming of Saddam Hussein before the Persian Gulf War and the delayed release of American hostages as Jimmy Carter would lose the 1980 presidential election (the "October surprise"). Casolaro also apparently was trying to prove that outlaw Bank of Credit and Commerce International, or BCCI, was a conduit for money in some of these operations.

Casolaro believed that the conspirators he was investigating arranged for Inslaw software to be sold to Iraqi intelligence through an arms broker in Chile. Moyle, the editor of "Defense Helicopter World" in London, was in Chile last year to attend an international air show. As we reported last August, while he was there he was looking into weapons sales to Iraq by the same Chilean arms broker.

Moyle was more interested in allegations that the broker was buying used American-made civilian helicopters to outfit them as attack helicopters for Iraq. Moyle's notes also referred to "helios," an advanced missile guidance system, which led many to suspect that Moyle was investigating other goodies Iraq was shopping for in addition to helicopters.

Over the past year, Casolaro contacted us several times to talk about sales to Iraq, but he appeared to be no further along in the story than any other journalist. Similarly, the details Moyle was chasing about the helicopters were well-known in defense circles. On the surface, neither man had evidence worth killing for.

But members of Casolaro's family say he was upbeat and excited about his story, and had received threatening phone calls in the weeks prior to his death. Moyle's father also said his son was excited about his work and his upcoming marriage. Drugs were found in Moyle's body, causing authorities in Chile to reopen the case and rethink their conclusion that it was suicide. That case is still open.

On the surface, neither man had evidence worth killing for.

Bonds may build schools

By VICKI BOGGS
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Seminole County school board has decided that they will let the Business Advisory Board and the financial and facilities staff research the use of lease revenue bonds as a means of financing the construction of new schools.

And the business advisors have recommended moving as quickly as possible.

The Business Advisory Board recommended that the district move quickly on deciding if they want to use the bonds because interest rates are low.

"The time is right," John Howell, chairman of the business board, said. "Interest rates are as good as they're going to get."

Lease revenue bonds are becoming popular in school districts across the state. Both Orange and Volusia counties have recently used lease revenue bonds to finance building projects.

The bonds use money available from the two mills already collected in property taxes for facilities construction.

Jack Koegel, the banker on the business advisory board, said that the bonds would allow the district to build at least a few of the schools that are needed to ease overcrowding in the district.

"It certainly won't allow us to build all that we need," Mary Chambers, assistant superintendent for business and finance, said. "But we have to do something. We don't have any choice."

Koegel said that the board needed to hire a financial planner to offer the district expert advice on how to pursue the project.

"We are knowledgeable, but we are not experts," he said.

The business board said they have "significant contacts" and could contribute much to the evaluation and implementation of the bond issue if that is the path they chose to pursue.

"I've certainly never let that stand in my way," she said. "I've been in education for 20 years. I've taught in all kinds of different schools. I've been a dean where I've been in charge of the school's discipline. That's nothing new to me."

Schalker will spend her first full day at Seminole High School today.

"I'm really looking forward to the challenge," she said. "No two schools are exactly alike and there's always a challenge in working with new students."

Schalker hopes to become a part of the Seminole community.

"I want to be able to work with those people who are concerned with helping the school," she said.

Schalker, 47, earned her bachelors degrees in English and Journalism from Florida Atlantic University in Boca Raton. She

Despite the fact that 85 staff members at Seminole signed a petition in support of another candidate for the position, Schalker said she doesn't feel she will have any trouble with the staff.

"I can't see that there'll be any problems," she said.

Ginny Porteous, at the podium, came from England to learn about American schools. She and her husband John have been living with Louise Blackwelder, (far right) Sanford, a teacher at Geneva Elementary who lived with them while in England to study their school system. The British teachers were honored by the school board at last night's meeting.

Local teachers observe English schoolroom in exchange program

SANFORD — Louise Blackwelder, a second grade teacher at Geneva Elementary School spent three weeks in England this summer sitting in classrooms and occasionally teaching a class.

For the last few weeks, the couple with whom she lived in England has been staying in her Sanford home and observing how American schools operate.

"The one thing we all realized," she said was that children are the same everywhere. "They have the same problems, the same joys, everything."

Blackwelder said she would love to travel to other countries to see how schools operate.

"I haven't had much opportunity to travel," she said, "so an opportunity like this is special."

The teacher exchange is part of a program established several years ago by Charlotte Guyer, reading coordinator for the district.

Guyer went to Great Britain to begin the exchange program in 1988. Teachers, generally from schools in the eastern part of the district, have been travelling to England and accepting British teachers in their homes since then.

"It is a fantastic opportunity to learn and travel and see how other people live," Blackwelder said.

Blackwelder said that financial assistance was available to one teacher in the district who was participating in the program to defray the cost of the airfare.

"I didn't get it," she said with a smile.

Glenda Loth, another Geneva Elementary School teacher and Susan Kelley, an Oviedo High School teacher also went to England in June.

"I loved staying in their home," Blackwelder said of the Porteous household where she stayed earlier in the summer. "It was wonderful to talk to them, to see that their reasons for getting into the profession were the same as mine."

Blackwelder said she would

Bad news for the economy

By DAVE SKIDMORE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The U.S. economy shrank at a slight 0.1 percent annual rate in the April-June quarter, the government said today, casting doubt on whether the nation has emerged from the recession.

The Commerce Department said the gross national product, the most widely watched measure of economic health, posted a third consecutive negative quarter.

Economic activity slumped a sharp 2.8 percent in the first quarter of this year and declined 1.6 percent in the last three months of 1990.

The second-quarter drop marked a sharp revision from the government's original estimate of a 0.4 percent advance, which was greeted last month as evidence the economy was climbing out of its first recession in eight years.

The report was seen as strengthening the argument of some economists who believe the economy is in danger of lapsing into a so-called double-dip recession, in which a brief period of revival is followed by a fresh downturn. In advance, most analysts expected little revision in the earlier estimate. The department attributed the revision to weaker-than-expected production of goods for inventories and a more modest gain in consumer spending than first thought.

The first change, on inventories, could turn out to be a favorable development for the economy. Lean inventories mean any pickup in sales will quickly translate into increased production at factories and eventually into more jobs.

However, the 2.8 percent growth in consumer spending, instead of the 3.6 percent growth estimated earlier, was viewed more seriously, even though the department attributed some of it to a shift of car and automobile purchases from the consumer sector to the business sector.

Consumer spending represents two-thirds of all economic activity and its revival is considered the key to any lasting economic recovery.

On the positive side, the deterioration in the trade deficit as measured by the GNP was not as sharp as originally estimated.

In another sign of the recession's impact, the department said that after-tax profits of U.S. corporations fell 1.6 percent to $163.7 billion in the April-

June period, the lowest level since the third quarter of 1989. However, the drop was less severe than the 6.3 percent decline in the first quarter.

If the recovery has begun — despite the negative second quarter — many economists are predicting it will be the most sluggish since the 1930s.

"This recovery is going to be the weakest one we've seen in more than 50 years. It's going to be pretty lame," said economist Bruce Steinberg of Merrill Lynch.

In addition to consumer spending, other areas of increase in the second quarter were housing, up 3 percent, and government spending, up 2 percent. Commercial construction, however, plunged 13.7 percent.

Today's GNP report said that inflation, as measured by an index tied to the GNP, showed improvement, rising 3 percent in the second quarter — the same as the advance estimate — following a 5.2 percent rate in the first quarter.

5 killed, 171 hurt in New York subway

NEW YORK — A subway train jumped the tracks and slammed into a pillar today, killing at least five people and injuring 171, officials said. The motorman was reported missing for hours, and sources said a crack vial was found in the cab.

The 12:15 a.m. accident occurred as a 10-car downtown train was approaching Manhattan's busy 14th Street-Union Square station. The crash sheared the lead car in half, and passengers were trapped in the twisted steel for hours.

The train's motorman, who left the accident scene and was missing for several hours, was later located by police and was being questioned, said Lt. Robert Nardoza. Authorities withheld the motorman's name.

Thomas' rating pleases White House

WASHINGTON — The White House says it is happy with the mid-level rating of "qualified" that the American Bar Association bestowed on Supreme Court nominee Clarence Thomas.

But Thomas' critics say the appraisal by the nation's largest lawyers' group undermines President Bush's assertion that Thomas is the best man for the job.

When Bush picked Thomas, who is black, in July to succeed retiring Justice Thurgood Marshall, the high court's only black member, the president denied he was filling a racial quota on the court. He described Thomas as the "best qualified" candidate for the vacancy.

Gorbachev gains bit of support

By ALAN COOPERMAN
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW — The Soviet legislature, backing Mikhail S. Gorbachev's bid to stem the collapse of central authority, voted today to send a delegation to the Ukraine to discourage the breadbasket republic's secessionist drive.

Gorbachev put his political future on the line Tuesday, threatening to resign if the Soviet Union cannot somehow be preserved and indicating he would settle for a loose alliance of sovereign states.

Seven of the 15 Soviet republics have declared outright independence, including the Ukraine, the second most populous and wealthiest republic after Boris N. Yeltsin's vast Russian Federation.

Yeltsin has vastly expanded his authority since last week's failed coup. He has recognized the independence of the three Baltic republics but is generally backing Gorbachev's efforts to maintain a union of willing republics.

Fallout from the botched coup continued as Anatoly Lukyanov, the ousted speaker of the national Supreme Soviet legislature, denied charges that he inspired and helped the eight-man committee that tried to seize power last week.

"I am not going to repeat that I am not guilty," Lukyanov said in his first speech in the legislature since he resigned under pressure on Monday.

Lukyanov denied charges by Yeltsin and others that he was a driving force behind the conspiracy.

Before Lukyanov spoke, the legislature voted 397-6, with 18 abstentions, to send a four-person delegation to Kiev to persuade Ukrainian officials to at least remain in an economic union with the other major Soviet republics.

The Ukraine's legislature declared independence over the weekend, but the move is subject to a Dec. 1 republic-wide referendum.

Gorbachev had appealed Tuesday for concerted action to retain at least a military and economic alliance.

But even as he spoke to the national legislature, Moldova became the seventh Soviet republic to declare outright independence.

"The main thing is to preserve the union. I put it so categorically because I am convinced our country and the entire world ought to know it," Gorbachev told reporters after an all-day session of the national legislature.

He suggested he might be willing to settle for a two-tier union: an economic and preferably a military alliance of all 15 republics, and a political union of some of them.

Russia has long provided cheap oil and other raw materials for resource-poor but industrialized republics whose production has been geared to Soviet needs.

All the republics have said they want to continue economic ties since their industries are tightly linked and would suffer from a break in trade.

Also Tuesday, the European community formally recognized the independence of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia.

IN BRIEF

SOUTHERN LEAGUE

Greenville blanks SunRays

ORLANDO — Popeye Cole went 3-4 with two RBIs and scored a run to lead Greenville to a 4-0 victory over Orlando Tuesday.

It was a pitchers' duel into the sixth inning, when Greenville scored two. The Braves added two more runs in the eighth on Edwin Allicea's pop fly double.

Ben Rivera (11-7) earned the win while Judd Johnson notched his sixth save. Pat Bangtson (11-11) was the losing pitcher.

The game left Orlando's magic number at six with 10 games to go in the Eastern division. The SunRays lead the Braves by four games going into a four-game stand in Greenville.

FOOTBALL

Bucs add Manley, two others

TAMPA — The Tampa Bay Buccaneers continued reshaping their opening-day roster Tuesday, acquiring defensive lineman Dexter Manley and two other players through waivers and trading Ervin Randle to Kansas City.

Coach Richard Williamson said the team received a conditional fifth-round draft choice in 1992 for Randle, a former starter who was unhappy with his role as a backup.

To make room for Manley, the Bucs waived veteran defensive end Jim Skow. Rookie free agents Maurice Crum and Dale Joseph were also released to create openings for defensive tackle Gerald Nichols and cornerback Alonzo Hampton, who were claimed on waivers.

To fill Randle's spot, the Bucs re-claimed linebacker Maurice Oliver.

In other news, three players were signed to the developmental squad. Wide receiver Terry Anthony, quarterback Pat O'Hara and defensive lineman Al Chamblee were with the team during training camp but were let go Monday.

Dolphins put Smith on IR

MIAMI — If Sammie Smith is to reach his goal of 1,000 yards rushing, he'll have to do it in 12 games instead of 18.

The Miami Dolphins placed Smith on the injured reserve list Tuesday because of a knee injury he suffered 2½ weeks ago in a preseason game at Tampa Bay. The roster move means Smith can't be activated until after the Dolphins' fourth game Sept. 22.

Smith was one of the best running backs in the NFL at the end of last season, rushing for 289 yards in Miami's final three games.

Smith's role will be filled by Mark Higgs, Marc Logan and rookie Aaron Craver in Sunday's important opener at Buffalo.

Smith said he suffered a torn medial collateral ligament in his left knee. The original diagnosis determined surgery was unnecessary, and he was expected to miss four to six weeks of action. That estimate was reaffirmed in an examination by doctors Saturday. Coach Don Shula said.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

Memories of upset still fresh

CORAL GABLES — Memories of a year ago remain fresh for the Miami Hurricanes as they prepare to open the season Saturday at Arkansas.

In last season's opener, Brigham Young upset then-No. 1 Miami, 28-21. The loss likely cost the Hurricanes their fourth national title since 1983.

"They know that for us to have a successful season, they've got to win that first game," coach Dennis Erickson said Tuesday. "They all know what happened last year, and they all remember what that plane ride back was like."

Miami blasted Texas 46-3 in the Cotton Bowl to finish 10-2 and ranked No. 3 last season. Miami is No. 3 in this year's preseason poll.

A victory by Arkansas would be a bigger upset than BYU's win last year. The Razorbacks are coming off a 3-8 season and are picked by many to finish last in the Southwest Conference.

BASEBALL

Henderson to attend Miami

MIAMI — Pitcher Kenny Henderson, the fifth overall selection in Major League Baseball's draft of amateur players, said Tuesday that he expects to play for the Miami Hurricanes, not the Milwaukee Brewers.

Henderson, a 6-7 right-hander, is set to begin classes Thursday at the University of Miami. The Brewers must sign him by then or lose his draft rights.

Henderson said Milwaukee's latest offer was $500,000 too low but would not reveal what he is seeking. He is believed to want $1.2 million for three years, the Miami Herald reported for its Wednesday editions.

Henderson was 11-1 with a 0.52 earned-run average at Ringold, Ga., High School last year. He struck out 154 in 69 innings.

Raiders get into town

Ten new faces on SCC hoop squad

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD — There are two times a year that junior college coaches are the most nervous. And neither of them have to do with a big game.

One of the anxious times is in mid-December, when the first term's grades come out. The other is the first day of school when the coaches see if all of their hard work during the off-season pays off and all of their new recruits show up.

Seminole Community College men's basketball coach Bill Payne was happy to greet the 14 young men who showed up for Sunday night's first team meeting. But there was concern on his face when none of them had to duck to get into the meeting room. In fact, the 6-foot, 4-inch Payne only had to raise his head to look a couple of players in the eye.

Still, as the Raiders have proven the past few years, height is not everything in the game of basketball, proving that athletic ability and hard work can be more important.

"We may not be the most talented or tallest team when we play, but we work harder than anyone else," Payne promised his team. "Every coach we play against comes up to me and comments on how hard we play and I take pride in that."

Last year SCC looked as if it was going to have one of its best seasons ever. But a rash of serious injuries late in the year decimated the starting five and left the Raiders with just eight healthy players at season's end. The result was a 17-15 record and SCC's first finish out of the top four in the Mid-Florida Conference standings in Payne's nine years at the school.

See Raiders, Page 3B

Ground assault

One thing that Seminole High School football teams never seem to lack is speed. This year's Fighting Seminoles should be no different with the likes of

Bowden: Time for Seminoles to see just how good they are

By BRENT KALLESTAD
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Florida State coach Bobby Bowden says it's time to find out if his Seminoles are indeed the nation's best team.

"We've talked about how good they are," Bowden said Tuesday before the team left for Thursday's season-opener against Brigham Young and Heisman Trophy winner Ty Detmer in the Pigskin Classic. "Now we're about to find out."

For the second time in four seasons, Florida State moves into a season as the nation's top-ranked team. Bowden hopes to avoid the fate that greeted his 1988 team when Miami destroyed the Seminoles 31-0 in the season opener.

"In 1988, they picked us to be No. 1. I'd never been there, my players had never been there ... we didn't know how to act," Bowden said. "I hope now we know how to act."

"You have to learn to be No. 1," added Bowden, who said this year's club should benefit from the 1988 experience.

"There is no reason this team isn't ready to play," he said, adding that, "If my kids don't know they're in for a struggle, dadgummit, I'll probably be retiring a lot sooner than I thought I was."

Detmer goes into his senior season needing 426 yards passing to become the NCAA career passing leader. He already holds 44 NCAA records.

Florida State, which practiced at home Tuesday before boarding a flight for the game at Anaheim, Calif., goes into its game against the 19th-ranked Cougars nearly at full strength. Offensive lineman Mike Morris, out with a foot injury, is the lone starter not ready to go. Linebacker Kirk Carruthers had the flu Monday but is expected to be ready.

Bowden is concerned about the number of new players in the BYU lineup. The Cougars lost 14 starters off last season's 10-3 team.

"I know as little about their team as any team we've opened with in years," he said.

"But they've got enough good players back to scare you to death," he added. "We're having to do a lot of guessing about how they're going to line up (and) what they're going to do."

Florida State returns 17 regulars from last year's team which won its final six games to finish 10-2.

Burners going back to Atlanta

From Staff Reports

CASSELBERRY — Last year, the F.C. United Burners had such a good time at the Ford/Pele Labor Day Tournament in Atlanta that they thought they'd go back again this year.

After looking over the Burners' application, the organizers of the tournament granted the team's wish and invited them back.

The Burners, an Under-14 select boys soccer team based in Casselberry, now have the opportunity to go back and take care of some unfinished business. Last year, the Burners swept through the tournament before getting beat 3-2 by the Atlanta Steamers 78 in the championship game.

While the Burners fell short of winning the Ford/Pele title a year ago, the success they enjoyed there was a taste of what lay ahead. By the end of the 1990-91 season, the Burners had won the prestigious Clearwater Kicker tournament; finished first in the Thanksgiving Plantation tournament; took the title in the Seminole Memorial Day tournament; and finished third in the Florida State Cup.

Coach John Burns has a nucleus of seven players returning from that squad, including Jason Tisdell and Paul Riggins of Longwood. Winter

Anderson sweeps way to third Budweiser Twin 100 series victory

Special To The Herald

NEW SMYRNA BEACH — Dick Anderson successfully defended his Budweiser Twin 100 FASCAR Late Model championship Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway.

Anderson, who won the series in 1988 and 1990, barely held off strong runner Pete Orr to win the second leg of the fourth annual event, which is sponsored by Wayne Demach Distributing. He also won the first half of the two-race series on Friday at Orlando SpeedWorld.

Outside front row starter Stan Eads led the early going with Bruce Lawrence challenging. Starting halfway down the 24-car field after the drivers drew for positions, Anderson was in third by lap seven and quickly moved in on the lead.

On lap 15, a caution for a backstretch spin and wall banger turned into a big break for Orr, who had been boxed in behind slower cars. When the race was restarted on lap 21, Anderson grabbed the second spot and took the point three laps later via an inside pass.

On lap 29, Orr came out on top of a fierce duel with Lawrence to move into the runner-up spot. From that point, he applied continuous pressure on Anderson as the two duelled to the end.

The caution flag flew on lap 71 when a blown engine oiled turn three enough to cause a massive pile-up in which third-place runner Lawrence saw his car and his hopes destroyed.

Only nine of the original 24 starters answered the restart flag, Anderson going on to win over Orr and Eads. In fourth and fifth were Ricky Marshall (one lap down) and Jeff Burkett (who completed 96 laps).

Division winners were Mike Kubanek (Limited Late Models), Joey Stutz (Sportsman), Mike Fitch (Florida Modifieds), Bobby Sears (Mini Stocks) and Darren Gould (Bombers).

driver Dick Anderson to be in top form. He was just that Friday night at Orlando SpeedWorld as he won the first leg of the Budweiser Twin 100 in convincing fashion.

After a persistent rain shower delayed the start of the evening's festivities and washed out the time trials, the luck of the draw put Anderson near the back of the field while division point leader Bob Ackerbloom drew the pole.

Jim Crowe blew his engine on lap 32 to bring out the first caution period. On the restart, both Pete Orr and Anderson blew by Ackerbloom and began a lengthy crowd-pleasing duel for the lead. Anderson trying everything in his bag of tricks to get around Orr's "Hornet" Around Farms car.

The lead pair ran that way until a lap 72 caution flag flew when Ackerbloom, still running third, was punted into the infield by a lapped car

Raiders

While the Raiders did lose starting point guard Dexter Vansant to Rollins College and center Leslie Cephus to the University of Mississippi, a lot of experience is back.

SCC will return Sanford's Robert Moore, Billy Freeman, Darnell Robinson and Brian Nason, all of whom were starters most of last season and contributed a great deal to the team's success.

Nason, a 6-foot, 4-inch guard from Memphis, Tennessee, led the team in scoring last year at just over 20 points per game and is also a good rebounder despite his slim build.

Moore (6 feet, 3 inches) led the Raiders in rebounding last year despite missing the last month with a broken hand. He is a tremendous athlete who can run and jump with the best.

Robinson (6 feet, 3 inches) from Anderson, Indiana, was fourth on the team in scoring last year. He was the second best scorer — behind Nason — for the Raiders during the last two weeks of the season despite playing with a bad thumb on his shooting hand.

Freeman (6 feet, 6 inches, 250 pounds) from Albany, Georgia, did not get eligible until Christmas last year but did a very good job once he became a starter late in the year. He will be a very important player for the Raiders this year.

Payne has recruited some very talented players to go with the returnees and also has several good local high school players walking on that could help this season.

Among the recruits is Lake Mary graduate Mike Merthle, who was last year's Seminole Athletic Conference Player of the Year. Merthle, a 6-foot, 3-inch, 185-pound guard is a good all around player who will do what his team needs to win, whether it be scoring, rebounding or running the offense.

On of Payne's most prized recruits is 5-foot, 9-inch Phillip Williams from Norfolk, Virginia. The point guard is extremely quick and will remind locals of Darris Gallagher with his play making skills.

Also adding to the back court strength of the Raiders will be Tony Knight from Tallahassee-Lincoln High School. A 6-foot, 3-inch guard, Knight can play either point or shooting guard, handles the ball well and is a good long-range jump shooter.

SCC also landed 6-foot, 5-inch Craig Stallings from Long Beach, Mississippi. Stallings averaged 21.7 points, 6.3 rebounds and 3.5 assists while earning second team All-State honors. He was also the District VIII, Class 4A Player of the Year and played in the Mississippi-Alabama All-Star game.

The other two SCC freshman signees are both from the Cleveland, Ohio area.

Deon Gavin is a 6-foot, 4-inch guard/forward who averaged 24 points, 12 rebounds and six assists his senior year. He was a two-time Most Valuable Player in the Cleveland City Championship game and earned All-State honors.

Troy Brucening is a 6-foot, 2-inch guard who is a pure jump shooter who averaged 21 points, seven rebounds and four assists a game as a senior.

Among the walk-ons are 6-foot, 6-inch Patrick Strong from Miami, 6-foot, 5-inch Robert Walker from Dade City and 5-foot, 10-inch Jason Hamelin from Lake Mary.

Hamelin teamed with Merthle the last two years to give the Rams an almost unstoppable backcourt and the duo hopes they can do the same for the Raiders.

Soccer

New players on this year's team are Kria Leenin of Lake Mary, Longwood's Rion Weideman, Garrett Kizer and Leo Mejia of Winter Springs, Casselberry's Ben McKeey, John Biggs of Winter Park and Orlando's Dusty Reineke.

Last year's Ford/Pele's tournament attracted over 300 teams — including 50 from outside the state of Georgia and two foreign entries — in several different divisions.

The Burners, who were led by tournament MVP Sean McSorley of Oviedo, finished second in a division of 18 teams last year with a 4-1 tournament mark, outscoring their opponents 19-9.

Of the seven returners on this year's team, scoring goals in last year's tournament were Soistman, Tiedell and Whitmore.

Mom shared kitchen secrets

By JOAN KIMS
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — Colleen Finch-Chamberlin has been a Sanford resident since 1968 when she moved here from Jacksonville. She has one daughter, Stormy, 17, a senior at Deltona High School.

Chamberlin said, "My mother is a country-style cook who taught me. The first thing I learned to make was popcorn. Don't laugh. It should be done right so it doesn't burn or have a lot of kernels. Most people put the skillet on the fire and heat the oil until it's hot; then they put in the corn. The best way is to have a hot pan, cold oil, and it will never stick or burn."

Our cook remembers when she was 14 and made her first pan of biscuits. She was so proud of her accomplishment that she wanted her father to try them immediately. However, her father was playing cards with her uncle just two houses away. She carried the biscuits over to the men just as proud as she could be. When they picked up the hefty morsels they played tiddly winks with them. At 14, it was devastating to fail and she was hurt.

"It taught me something. I was bound and determined to never fail again," she said laughing.

She shared her mother's secret for getting her dad to take her out to eat.

"My entire family is still laughing at those first biscuits. Every time mom wanted to eat out she told dad that I was cooking and he took her out to eat. It worked every time. Daddy is a typical dad in the kitchen, a complete failure but no one can beat him on the barbecue grill."

Chamberlin spoke of her mother's love of proper table settings and the family's exposure to fine dining.

"Mom made sure we had a proper setting several times a year with tablecloth, plates, glasses, silver, etc. I get my love of service from my mother. She taught me to please the patron and never serve any person in a way that would not be pleasant to me. I always try to please my customers, whether it's at Tex Mex (where Chamberlin is employed) or wherever I may be working. The customers here are always so pleasant that it makes my job easier."

Chamberlin is a joy to behold as she works with finesse serving drinks conversing with customers, answering questions and writing out recipes. She is totally unflappable. As her shift ends at the Mexican restaurant, she continued to be pleasant and helpful.

A patron had car trouble and she offered to help. Chamberlin quickly called upon her former husband Roger who arrived shortly and fixed the car of the damsel in distress.

It's time to fill the requests for kids' after-school treats

School has started once again and with it, requests from hungry kids for after-school snacks and lunchbox treats. Following are recipes for bar type cookies, muffins and sandwiches to fill some of these back-to-school needs.

Encourage your children to join in the fun of fixing these recipes.

For mothers working outside the home, banana-oatmeal muffins and pizza burgers can be prepared ahead and refrigerated or frozen. When the kids arrive home from school, they can pop one of these in the microwave and have a hot snack without any danger of burned fingers or an oven left on.

Keep a supply of these sandwiches in your freezer. Everyone enjoys this snack.

PIZZA BURGERS

1 1/2 lbs. ground beef
1 small onion, chopped
1 can (15 oz.) pizza or spaghetti sauce
3 cups shredded Mozzarella cheese
1 Tbsp. parsley flakes
1 tsp. ground oregano
12-14 hamburger buns, split

Crumble ground beef and onion into a 2-qt. casserole. Microwave on 100% power, uncovered, 5-6 minutes or until no longer pink, stirring once to break meat into small pieces. Drain and set aside to cool. Stir in pizza sauce, 2 cups Mozzarella cheese, parsley, and oregano until well blended.

Arrange buns cut-side up. Spoon about 2 tablespoons mixture on each bun half; spread evenly. Sprinkle with remaining cheese, about 1 teaspoon per sandwich. Place 8 sandwiches on a glass plate. Microwave on 100% power, uncovered, 2-2 1/2 minutes or until heated and cheese melts. Refrigerate or freeze remaining sandwiches for later use.

About 28 sandwiches.

These tuna sandwiches are similar to the pizza burgers. Ready in minutes.

TUNA-CHEESE SANDWICHES

1 can (8 1/2 oz.) water-packed tuna, drained
3 Tbsp. mayonnaise
Dash of pepper
4 English muffin halves, toasted
1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

Combine tuna, mayonnaise, and pepper and mix well. Divide mixture among English muffin halves, spread evenly. Arrange on microsafe serving plate. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Microwave (100%) uncovered, 1-1 1/2 minutes or until cheese begins to melt.

Keep cool while microwaving these bar type cookies. They are moist and pack well for lunches or a snack on the run.

CHOCOLATE-DATE BARS

2 eggs
3/4 cup packed brown sugar
1 cup chopped dates
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1 cup all-purpose flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate chips
Powdered sugar.

Beat eggs; blend in brown sugar, dates and vanilla. Add flour, baking powder and chocolate pieces; mix just until combined. Pour into ungreased 7-inch square microwave brownie pan. Microwave on 70% power (med-high) 6-7 minutes or until surface is dry. Cool slightly. Sprinkle with powdered sugar. Cut into bars.

These bars are sure to disappear quickly. They remind me of an expensive bar cookie found in the freezer of the grocery store.

FUDGE BETWEEN BARS

3/4 cup butter or margarine
3/4 cup packed brown sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
1 1/2 cups quick-cooking rolled oats
1 1/2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1/4 tsp. salt

Filling:
3/2 cup sweetened condensed milk
1 cup semi-sweet chocolate chips

1 Tbsp. butter or margarine
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1/2 cup chopped nuts
Microwave (100%) butter 1/2-1/4 minute or until softened. Blend in brown sugar until creamy. Beat in vanilla. Add oats, flour, soda and salt; mix until crumbly.

Press 3/2 of mixture evenly into bottom of ungreased 8-inch square glass baking dish. M/W on 100% power, uncovered, 2 1/2-3 1/2 minutes or until bubbly and puffed throughout. Set aside.

Combine condensed milk, chocolate pieces and butter in 2-cup glass measure. Microwave (100%) uncovered, 1 1/2-2 minutes or until slightly thickened, stirring once. Stir in vanilla and nuts. Spread over base in pan. M/W on (100%) remaining crumb mixture, uncovered, 1-1 1/4 minutes or until puffed. Stir until texture is crumbly. Spoon by small spoonfuls onto chocolate layer. Microwave (100%) uncovered, 3 1/2-4 minutes or until bubbly throughout. Cool completely. Cut into squares. About 20 bars.

This batter keeps well in the refrigerator for breakfasts on-the-run or after school snacks.

BANANA-OATMEAL MUFFINS

1 cup milk
1 Tbsp. vinegar
2 cups quick-cooking rolled oats

1/2 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 cup cooking oil
2 eggs
3/4 cup mashed ripe banana
1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. soda
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. cinnamon

Combine milk and vinegar in mixing bowl. Let stand 5 minutes. Add rolled oats, brown sugar and oil; mix well. Beat in eggs. Blend in banana. Add flour, baking powder, soda, salt and cinnamon. Stir just until smooth.

Spoon into paper-lined microwave muffin cups, filling 3/4 full. Microwave on 100% power 6 minutes at a time, uncovered, 1 1/2-2 1/4 minutes or until no longer doughy, rotating pan once or twice. Serve warm or cooled.

About 24 muffins.
Batter can be refrigerated for up to 5 days and cooked as needed. Increase time to 2 1/2-3 minutes for chilled batter. Muffins freeze well too.

Lack of pigment in skin is inherited

DEAR DR. GOTT: What causes a lack of pigmentation in a person's skin, and how can this be prevented?

DEAR READER: Lack of skin pigment (albinism) is a rare inherited disorder marked by partial or complete absence of melanin, the naturally produced compound that gives skin its color. The albino's hair is white, the skin is pale and the eyes are usually pink. Thus, these individuals are extremely susceptible to sunburn.

Spotty loss of skin pigment, on the other hand, has several causes, the most common of which is vitiligo. The cause is unknown, but the affliction appears to be related to self-allergy or autoimmunity; hence, vitiligo may be seen in conjunction with diabetes, Addison's disease, pernicious anemia and thyroid disorders. By itself, vitiligo is not harmful to health, but patients must protect against sunburning the irregular, blotchy areas of depigmentation.

Loss of skin pigment can occur during the healing of burns and skin infections. For example, when eczema — a common skin inflammation — heals, the new skin may remain lighter in color than the surrounding tissue.

Finally, scars are often depigmented.

There is no way to prevent the skin manifestations of albinism or vitiligo. Post-traumatic depigmentation is best treated by plastic surgery or the avoidance of injury.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Eczema & Psoriasis."

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm plagued with large wrinkles and bags under my eyes. I've been told people in show business use Preparation H for this, yet I've been afraid to try the remedy. What do you think?

DEAR READER: People in show biz do the darndest things but the use of Preparation H, a remedy for hemorrhoids, for wrinkles would be wasteful, even in the entertainment industry. Don't misuse the product in such a flagrant way. Botox-A (or other similar prescription drugs)

By Phillip Alder
It's no good if a defender has winners in his hand unless he also has an entry to that hand so that he can cash those winners.

Cover the West and South cards. Against three no-trump, your partner leads the heart jack. Declarer tries dummy's king, but you, East, win with the ace. At this point, South's spirits noticeably sag; he is expecting the whole suit to be run. But after cashing the heart queen, despite hunting assiduously for another heart to play, you can't find one. How do you continue the defense?

North might have reversed with two spades on the second round, but there isn't much point to that bid. It is correct just to shoot out three no-trump. You know that your partner, East, must be holding at least four heart winners, because South would have bid one heart over one diamond with a four-card suit. But how can West get on lead to cash those winners? It seems unlikely he has an entry card.

There is one chance: West might have the club queen. Her majesty will be an entry if, at trick three, you switch to the club king.

Probably declarer will win with dummy's club ace, cross to hand with a spade and take the diamond finesse. You will win with the king, lead a club to your partner's queen, and sit back while he cashes his four remaining heart winners to defeat the contract by four tricks.

This play, sacrificing an honor to establish an entry for partner, is called the Deschappelles Coup, after Guillaume Deschappelles, a famous whist player.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
Aug. 28, 1981

Your chances for success in the year ahead look extremely promising. Your ambition and drive will be supplemented by Lady Luck at various critical stages.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you neglect your responsibilities and duties until the last minute today, you could create problems for yourself. Unfortunately, your agenda has its limitations. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) If you're going to take any gambles on anyone today, take them on yourself — and your abilities. Don't give yourself too little credit and others too much.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

Your mate won't be totally without blame today but could be falsely accused of something you caused. Try not to use loved ones as scapegoats for your mistakes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Try to attend to your most important matters early on today. Toward sundown, your thoughts might not be as crisp as they were in the morning.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You must be very careful today when it comes down to the final stages of consummating a business deal. If you're going to blow it, it will happen then.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Usually, you're a rather cooperative person. But today you might be so focused on doing things your way that you'll be oblivious to the concerns of others.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Since we are not perfect ourselves, it is pure folly to expect perfection in others. If you want to be accepted as you are, accept others as they are.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Conditions in general are reasonably favorable for you today, with the exception of your financial involvements. Make an effort not to spend more than you should.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It's important that today you return the favor to individuals who have gone out of their way to help you. Without acknowledgment, they may not be eager to help a second time.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Guard against the inclination to negatively prejudice situations today. If you anticipate defeat or trouble, you may behave in such a way that brings them into being.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't use your participation in a social involvement as a forum for discussing business today. Reserve that for another time and place.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Even though concerned friends may offer you constructive suggestions today, it is highly probable you'll ignore what they have to say and do something you know is wrong.
