Annexation Law Confusion Mounts

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The new state annexation law, to become effective Tuesday, will virtually stop Seminole County cities from increasing their territorial boundaries.

The law places to a large extent city growth policies under the domination of the county commission.

Rezoning of annexed lands to provide higher densities (more people) is banned under the law until two years after annexation unless approval is given by the county commission.

Approvals by the county board in Seminole can be expected to be few and far between. County Commissioners have insisted over the years that developers annex their properties to cities to gain higher density zoning than permitted by the county government.

Generally Seminole County is a net developer. In a net developer, more stringent than city regulations. More than half of Seminole's cities — Sanford, Lake Mary, Altamonte Springs and Longwood — plan to complete several annexations and rezonings in October under old procedures on the advice of their respective city attorneys.

Sanford City Atty. Vernon Mize said today a substantial reduction in the number of annexation petitions can be expected in Sanford.

He added that most owners petitioning for inclusion within city bounds involve zoning changes to increase density. "I don't think the county will agree to most of these that want to come in," he said.

Preliminary steps have begun on three or four annexations involving rezoning — rezoning of the city's adopted rezoning to the desire to annex. Mize said he has advised the city it can follow the law applicable before Oct. 1 in these cases.

State Rep. Eugene Mooney (R-Casselberry), noting he is not an attorney, disagreed with Mize's and the other city attorneys' interpretation of the new law.

Saying the law provides that all laws, whether special acts or city charters, which conflict with the state law are repealed as far as the conflict is concerned.

He said if annexations and rezonings have not been completed, in his judgment they would fall under the new law.

"It may take a court case to determine which is correct," he said.

Mooney said the new law also specifically prohibits a city from running down a road or power easement — a corridor annexation — to take in property, and requires the cities to have services, equal to those furnished other citizens, immediately available to the newly annexed property owners.

General purpose of the new law is to promote sound, urban development, Mooney said. He added that the new law specifically defines contiguity (that new land touch city property) to make sure the cities will not create pockets of land surrounded by city property.

Asked the intent of the legislature, McIntosh said, "I couldn't tell you."

Joe Davis, city attorney for Altamonte Springs, Longwood and Oviedo, was not available for comment. His office, however, has advised both Longwood and Altamonte Springs that they can complete annexations and rezonings already begun.

The special legislative act, authorized by Mooney, now repealed, required cities to notify adjacent property owners and advertise impending annexations and rezoning. Changes in zoning were permitted only after a 90 day waiting period.

Cities, however, began counting the 90 day period when annexation petitions were filed. Proceeding at normal speed the annexations and rezoning usually takes at least 90 days.

Although the Mooney bill required public hearings at which adjacent property owners to the annexed areas in both county and city territory could object, city officials very seldom changed their plans to annex and rezoned as a result of the public hearings.

BEES BURN IN BLAZE

The only victims in this house fire on Country Club Road near Airport Boulevard, Sanford, were swarms of angry hornets and bees. When Altamonte Springs land clearer Dave Gibbs moved in to clear an old 1882 house from land to be used to commercial development, his workers were harassed by the stinging critters, he had to burn the house instead of dismantling it.

Widow Says Reds Seek Ransom For POW Son

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — A widow says two Communist agents have demanded between $25,000 and $500,000 for proof her son is alive and to start negotiations for his release as a prisoner of war in Laos.

Jean Macdonald returned over the weekend from a meeting in Mexico City with two men who showed her a picture of a man she identified as her son. They would not let her keep the photo but told her she would be contacted later, she said.

She met the agents through the Rev. Paul Lindstrom, a fervent anti-Communist who has been active in work involving men listed as prisoners of war or missing in action.

The Rev. Mr. Lindstrom said in an interview that he arranged the Mexico meeting after two previous meetings with persons whom he believes are "tied to a diplomatic mission in Southeast Asia."

He said he talked to different representatives at each of the three meetings, but wasn't sure whether they are "working for a government or on their own behalf for monetary gains."

The U.S. government has discredited previous reports that prisoners of war are still being held in Southeast Asia.

The minister vowed in 1971 he would form a force of 100 commandos to free Southeast Asian war prisoners, but later abandoned the plans.

He also attempted in 1970 to form a fleet of boats to encourage defections by Soviet seamen. That plan never developed.

However, he accurately revealed in 1972 before it was officially announced that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger made secret visits to the Soviet Union prior to the Nixon summit.

The Rev. Mr. Lindstrom said he and other representatives of the Christian Defense League, an umbrella for POW-MIA groups, have established contacts in Vientiane, Laos, and in Thailand.

Mrs. Macdonald said she wants to meet with President Ford and Kissinger.

McNamara Aims Aid Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — World Bank President Robert S. McNamara called on the oil-producing countries and the highly industrialized nations today to provide $36 billion over the next five years to assist people in poorer nations.

Addressing the opening session of the annual meeting of governors of the World Bank, he said the increasingly turbulent world economic scene has created a desperate situation for the poorest of the developing countries whose people have per capita incomes of less than $200 per year.

McNamara said the World Bank must increase its lending.

The program approved by the bank's executive board for the 1975 fiscal year would provide $5.5 billion, up $1 billion from the fiscal year which ended June 30.

McNamara maintained that the world has not suddenly lost its wealth, even though there is severe inflation, unacceptable unemployment and uncertain growth prospects.

He contended the oil-producing countries have gained huge amounts while the traditionally wealthy nations may be less wealthy than they hoped to be at this time.

It is the poorest nations, he said, that are faced with inflation that penalizes the poor more than the rich.

"Almost every element in the current economic situation has worked to their disadvantage, and has been compounded even further for many of them by the natural disasters of flood, drought and crop failures. These countries need $3 billion to $4 billion more per year in the 1970s," he said.

Cuba Willing To Talk

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro met with two American senators who said afterward they got the "impression that Cuba is interested in working toward a normalization" of relations with the United States.

The two senators were to end their three-day visit today.

"The ice has been broken," Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., told reporters after he and Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., spent three hours with Castro late Sunday night.

Pell said the meeting with Castro was "frank, warm and friendly," but neither senator would say why he believed an improved climate between the two countries may be in the offing.

Javits said among the issues raised during the meeting were Cuban attempts to export revolution, the status of nine American political prisoners on the island and American property taken over by the Castro government.

Twenty-hours earlier, Castro attacked President Ford in a speech for his defense of CIA operations against the Allende regime in Chile. He also charged that the United States rather than the oil-exporting countries is responsible for the world economic crisis.

Asked how a normalization of relations could be in prospect in view of these statements, Pell replied: "There is a difference between words and actions."

The senators likened Cuba's attitude to that of the Soviet Union and China, both of which have improved relations with the United States while maintaining a tough anti-American posture in official declarations.

Gertie Stalling In South Atlantic

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricane Gertie stalled in the Atlantic today and began to weaken about 200 miles southeast of Barbados, the National Hurricane Center reported.

Gertie, with early morning winds up to the minimal hurricane status of 75 miles an hour, could be downgraded to a tropical storm later today.

At 9 a.m. EDT, the hurricane was centered near latitude 11.8 north, longitude 56.6 west.

A hurricane watch remained in effect for the Windward Islands from Tobago and Grenada northward to Barbados and Martinique.

"We're running about normal for the number of hurricanes for this time of year," said Clark. "The average number of hurricanes per year is five, and Gertie is number four."

The season's most destructive hurricane was Fil, which killed thousands in Honduras less than two weeks ago.

Earlier in the season, Hurricane Becky swirled harmlessly into the open Atlantic and Hurricane Carmen slammed into the Louisiana Gulf Coast before dying over Texas.

County Studies Rail Speed

Seminole County Commissioners today instructed County Atty. Howard Murree to investigate its authority to regulate train speeds in cooperation with municipal officials.

The board indicated it will call a public hearing on the issue.

The workshop session among county and city officials was called today in the wake of a train-car collision at the Milwaukie School railroad crossing that resulted in the death of a Casselberry man last week.

Altamonte Springs Mayor Norman Floyd indicated his city may not wait for county action. Floyd said he will recommend to his city council Tuesday night to adopt an ordinance regulating train speed within the city to a maximum of 35 miles per hour. He said he will also urge that a resolution be adopted, directed to the county commission and State Department of Transportation, requiring regulatory authority be enacted to enforce safe train speeds.

He submitted detailed results of a police survey showing trains have been going through the city at speeds as high as 70 miles an hour.

Longwood Council Chairman Don Schreiner said six or seven serious accidents have occurred within the last year at Longwood railroad intersections.

Sanford City Manager W. E. (Pete) Knowles said his city is not interested in lowering train speed limits. "Our problem is with trains going too slow at crossings, and holding up traffic," he said.

NATION IN BRIEF

Mineral Crisis Predicted

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — John Kyl, assistant secretary of the Interior, predicts the United States is heading for shortages of minerals and materials that will be much worse than the fuel crisis.

In an interview with the Associated Press, Kyl said the crisis will hit within five years.

Kyl noted that a number of regularly used minerals and natural resource products are wholly imported to the United States.

He warned that Americans must stop treating minerals and timber as disposable items, adding that recycling and reclamation are the answers.

Kyl pointed out that U.S. technology has only found ways to get "about one-half the coal out of the average mine, and only about one-third of the oil from the average well, and some waste piles at copper mines yield more copper than some new mines."

Chicago Fire Kills 7

CHICAGO (AP) — Fire swept through apartments above a tavern on Chicago's South Side, killing seven persons and injuring at least two others, officials said.

One woman and six men, most of them elderly, were killed in the blaze that fire officials said broke out in a rooming house on the second floor of a two-story building Sunday night. Firemen at the scene said they suspected arson and were conducting an investigation. The apartments, located above a tavern called Harold's Club, were in a working class neighborhood.

Prison Back To Normal

ARCADIA, Fla. (AP) — Prison officials say calm has returned to DeSoto Correctional Institution where 200 inmates threatened violence for 12 hours.

Officials said there was no injury and no damage from the incident Friday and extra guards brought into the facility to restore order were sent home Sunday.

"We had about 50 to 70 families visiting here, and everything else seemed about normal, too," Rankin Brown, superintendent of the 600-man minimum security facility, said Sunday.

Finances Haunt McGovern

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversial issue of campaign financing has followed Sen. George McGovern back to South Dakota where it has found its way into his re-election campaign. Larry Eliaison, press secretary for McGovern's Republican challenger, Leo Thornness, says McGovern's spending has far outdistanced the Republican's. McGovern spokesmen say Thornness' representatives are using inflated figures. But no one has disputed that both candidates are receiving heavy financing from beyond the state's borders.

WORLD IN BRIEF

DeSpinoza Quits Presidency

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Gen. Antonio de Spinoza resigned today as president of Portugal today after the leftists forced him to cancel a conservative rally in his honor.

The 64-year-old front man for the young military officers who overthrew the heirs of the Salazar dictatorship in April announced his resignation in a television broadcast. His departure removes the last prominent conservative from the ruling military group.

His voice breaking with emotion, Spinoza said he was quitting because the country was evolving into "chaos and anarchy" and he was powerless to prevent it.

He said the principles of the April revolution were being betrayed and Portugal was speeding toward "false democracy."

Premier Ecevit Resigns

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Premier Bulent Ecevit resigned today for the second time in two weeks after failing to form a new coalition government.

President Fahri Koruturk accepted the resignation and was to make a statement later in the day on the government crisis.

Ecevit resigned two weeks ago because of "irreconcilable differences" between his own Republican Peoples party and their partners—the government, the Modern National Salvation party.

The two parties had been at odds over Cyprus policy and cultural, educational and economic matters.

Allende Backer Assassinated

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — A Chilean supporter of the late President Salvador Allende, Gen. Carlos Prats, and his wife were killed by an explosion beneath their automobile police said.

The deaths early today raised the number of persons killed by right-and left-wing terrorists to at least 27 persons in two weeks.

There was no immediate indication of who was responsible for the assassination of the couple, who fled across the Andes to Argentina when conservative military leaders in Chile overthrew Allende a year ago.

Press 'Roughed Up'

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu made his first public appearance in Saigon in two months today amid mounting political dissent and accusations of personal corruption.

Elsewhere in Saigon today, plainclothes policemen roughed up Associated Press photographer Neal Ulevich and Hanoi Herald of the Columbia Broadcasting System as they tried to photograph a small anti-government demonstration outside the National Assembly.

Terrorist Negotiations Stalled

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Negotiations to free an American diplomat and five other persons held by terrorists in the Venezuelan embassy appeared stalled today.

Neither authorities nor the guerrillas appeared ready to resort to force to break the deadlock.

Archbishop Hugo Polanco, the only person to enter the consulate Sunday, said the six leftist guerrillas requested that a negotiating commission be set up, "but the Dominican government has not agreed to do that."

Security forces in riot gear patrolled around the two-story stucco building where the terrorists had been holding their six captives since Friday.

The terrorists demanded $1 million and safe conduct to Cuba or Mexico for themselves and 37 Dominican prisoners in exchange for the hostages, who include Barbara A. Hutchison, head of the United States Information Service in Santo Domingo, and Venezuelan Consul General Jesus de Gregorio.

President Joaquin Balaguer's government rejected all the demands except transportation out of the country for the terrorists. Meanwhile, U.S. Ambassador Robert A. Hurwich spent most of Sunday in consultation with government officials.

The six hostages and their captors got their first food and drink in 24 hours Sunday when Archbishop Polanco took sandwiches and soft drinks into the consulate with him. Police sources said the Dominican government had agreed to the delivery of food and other necessities twice a day.

The government also cut off the consulate's electricity and telephone service early Saturday.

The archbishop said Mender Vargas, the leader of the terrorists, told him there was "an injured or sick person" in the consulate, and that they needed medicine and water. But he insisted there was not enough to destroy the building.

The hostages include another consulate official, two Dominican secretaries and a Spanish priest who was applying for a visa when the terrorists invaded the building. Another hostage, a Venezuelan man, escaped by jumping out of a second-story window Saturday.

Arab Guerrillas Will Support Peace Talks

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Most of the Palestine guerrilla groups are expected to go along with Yasser Arafat's new peace strategy despite the opposition of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine.

The Popular Front, a Marxist organization led by George Habbash, last Thursday withdrew from the executive council of the Palestine Liberation Organization and repudiated the agreement made by Arafat, the head of the PLO and of the Al Fatah guerrillas, to work with the Egyptian and Syrian governments for a political settlement with Israel.

The Popular Front vowed to continue the "armed struggle" against Israel.

Two small guerrilla groups, the Iraq-backed Arab Liberation Front and the Popular Front — General Command, approved the PFLP's move and were thought likely to support it at a meeting of the PLO's executive council in Damascus today. But they indicated they would not quit the council and instead would "work from inside."

The other 11 guerrilla organizations in the PLO are all expected to stick with Arafat.

The central council is expected to endorse Arafat's moderate line.

Arafat's position was strengthened by the agreement of the U.N. General Assembly to debate the Palestine question as something more than a refugee question for the first time, and by the recognition of the PLO by Egypt and Syria as the sole legitimate representative of the Palestinian people.

The PLO maintains that this recognition is "a major political victory" that is worth fighting up to at the United Nations and later at the Middle East peace talks in Geneva. However, the PFLP said the PLO had joined "the two Arab camps" on the road toward defeatist solutions.

Kissinger Seeks Role In Cyprus Settlement

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is moving toward a bigger role in the efforts to work out a settlement of the Cyprus crisis.

Kissinger's first task on arriving in New York Sunday was to meet with Greek Foreign Minister George Avramis. The next item on his schedule was a breakfast meeting today with the Turkish foreign minister, Turgut Gunes.

Kissinger has been moving gradually into a more direct role in the Cyprus situation in recent weeks as other efforts to arrange a settlement have failed to bring the Greeks and Turks back into negotiations.

He hopes that the two sides will let him be a go-between similar to the role he has taken in the Arab-Israeli crisis.

Kissinger and Avramis gave no indications of progress after their meeting and talked in generalities to newsmen.

The Middle East may occupy Kissinger as much this week as Cyprus.

He is giving a dinner tonight for representatives of the nations of the Arab League and Arab leaders during the week. And on Wednesday he will have a session with Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon.

Before leaving Washington, Kissinger met for 90 minutes with Syrian Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam.

'Gate Trial Jury Selection Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barring a last minute hitch, selection of a jury to begin Tuesday for the Watergate cover-up trial, the major legal action growing out of the nation's biggest political scandal.

At the eleventh hour, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica still had not ruled whether the trial would proceed with five defendants or six.

And he also faced a decision on whether to allow typed transcripts to be used along with some 33 presidential tapes the prosecution wants as evidence.

The status of Gordon C. Strachan as a defendant was in doubt. Strachan's lawyer contends the government's evidence against the former presidential aide is tainted.

The prosecutor says it isn't but he wants the legal question cleared up before putting Strachan on trial.

The others scheduled to be tried are: Sen. John N. Mitchell; former chief of staff H.R. Haldeman; former Nixon domestic counselor John D. Ehrlichman; and two men who worked for Nixon's re-election committee, former assistant Attorney Gen. Robert C. Mardian, and committee lawyer Kenneth W. Parkinson.

All are charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice by attempting to keep investigators from learning who was responsible for the June 1972 Watergate break-in and who knew about it.

The grand jury that indicted the men last March 1 also voted to name then-President Nixon as a co-conspirator.

Nixon has been subpoenaed as both a prosecution and defense witness.

Managers Seek Happiness First

NEW YORK (AP) — Managers of corporations are rebelling these days against the geographical moves that became associated with upward mobility, or success, during the 1960s.

The reaction, says Eugene Jennings, management professor at Michigan State University, is creating pandemonium in some large corporations, which had come to think of their management group as totally predictable.

"Now they have uncertain markets and uncertain supplies, and on top of those they have managers whose behavior in regard to geographical changes also is uncertain," Jennings said. In the 1960s, he said, the need to move was unquestioned.

Jennings, who pioneered in the study of corporate routes to success, has identified four common types among the immobile:

1. The middle manager, age 35 to 40, who is making $50,000 a year in salary. He has moved 8 to 10 times already, with probably five of those moves producing no noticeable climb up the ladder.
2. The "entire" manager, just one step above the beginner. He is less than five years into his career. He believes that husband and wife can make as much money staying put as they could if they were mobile and had only one salary.
3. The broken home type. He is a man who probably lost his marriage and home because of too many moves in the 1960s. Now he is happily married again, and he is willing to forgo success for happiness.
4. The wife who is approaching middle-age and whose children are grown up and living away from her home. She has a need for established relationships with other women or organizations. She refuses to move.

Sanjay Gandhi Richard Nixon

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Sanjay Gandhi, the 28-year-old son of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, and a campus beauty queen had a wedding that was quiet by Indian standards.

Gandhi, an automobile designer, and Menka Anand, the 18-year-old daughter of an army officer, signed marriage documents before a local magistrate and close relatives and friends.

Officials said both families wanted a low-key ceremony because of the Indian economic crisis. Weddings in India often are huge festive events that demonstrate a family's affluence.

The offer was "not a formal legal offer to turn back the pardon because I don't think there's any legal way to do that," the source said Sunday night.

Instead, he said, Nixon's statement was "a sort of casual, off-handed, figurative statement mentioned out of politeness."

Ford May Propose New Gasoline Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special tax on gasoline, once rejected by President Ford, is being proposed in the administration and may be a major proposal in the program Ford sends to Congress to fight inflation.

A White House source said Ford is considering raising the federal tax on gasoline by anywhere from 10 to 20 cents a gallon.

"We know the public won't be happy about this and we can't be sure Congress will go along," the source said. "But we think it's something that would help."

Ford closed his economic summit conference Saturday with a pledge to send anti-inflation recommendations to Congress within 10 days. A higher gasoline tax is being promoted within the administration on grounds it would discourage gasoline consumption while raising new tax revenue to finance federal programs, such as public service employment.

The higher gasoline tax was first advocated by Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, but met with resistance from Ford.

However, a White House spokesman confirmed Sunday the idea has been resurrected as "one of many ideas under study."

Health Bill Expected To Pass Senate Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Finance Committee members have virtually reached agreement on a health insurance bill they would like to see passed in the closing months of the 93rd Congress.

But chances for such legislation still are highly uncertain even though it has been given top priority by House and Senate Democratic leaders.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., the Finance chairman and chief sponsor of the bill is panel is expected to approve, says one of the key factors is how much effort President Ford is willing to put behind the legislation.

Ford has asked this Congress to act on a broad health care bill.

But Long comments that, if the President "really wants a health bill," he is going to have to rally some Republican support for it.

Slogan Appeal Brings Heavy Mail

WASHINGTON — Our appeal for a Bicentennial slogan — "the right words," we urged, "to reaffirm our faith in America" — has brought an outpouring of sentiment from the hearts of the people.

We have received thousands of suggested slogans from all corners of the country. As we had hoped, most of the offerings are sincere and thoughtful. They reflect our highest ideals, not just patriotic emotion.

There is a power in slogans, for good or ill. They help to mold opinion and their influence can linger for generations, providing impetus for a wise policy or a foolish one.

The tragic conflict of the past decade between successive presidents and the nation at large can be seen, in a way, as a conflict between the slogan of "peace with honor" and the slogan of "peace at any price."

One was Stephen Decatur's "Our Country Right or Wrong." The other came from Carl Schurz, the friend of Abraham Lincoln: "Our Country, When Right to be Kept Right, When Wrong to be Put Right."

Both have a certain appeal. But when you think about it, the first could serve as a jingoistic motto for any country with a dubious cause to promote. The second has a ring to it particularly suited to a country founded on a good in itself, but to protect the rights and advance the ideals of the populace.

In recent years two Presidents, one a Democrat, one a Republican, both with high purposes and memorable achievements to their credit, have been forced to step aside because they did not make the above distinction, while the nation as a whole did.

The selling of the Vietnam War to the American people, and its expansion and prolongation long after its original purpose was clearly beyond attainment, were accomplished by misrepresentations and manipulations out of Lyndon Johnson's White House.

These acts were participated in by often-honorable men because of the general idea that once the nation's pride and prestige are committed to any venture, right or wrong, it is in effect, a dispensation on honor and reason is in fact, and we must bludge through to the end no matter what the costs.

This rationale of loyalty divorced from principle had its sequel in Watergate. In the minds of those who conceived and covered up the various acts of Watergate, by their own admission, the Nixon presidency had usurped the place of country. It was not "Our President Right or Wrong" whose power, prerogatives and prestige had to be protected at all costs, even by means of crime.

But the nation at large, when at length it tasted the sour fruits and generalized the deception, determined that error must be discarded even though the flag itself be wrapped around it, and wrong must be put right even though the nation be tormented by governmental paralysis and stymied by the public disgrace of its most revered office.

It was in this spirit that most of our contributors composed their slogans. Their motivation is clear not only in the mottoes themselves but in the moving letters that came with them.

"I feel this is hardly an opportune time for arrogant nationalism or self praise," wrote Alva K. Fancher from Lakeside, Calif. "We have many things to be proud of, and some things that should be cause for shame." He suggested: "We Are Trying."

Margaret Stern of New York City contended: "The lessons of Watergate should never be forgotten and should arouse to a new moral stance. We remember 'The Alamo' and we remember 'The Minute Man' and we remember 'Pearl Harbor' — each representing a low point in our history. And we rise above each, as we can now — remembering — rise above Watergate." She proposed: "Remember Watergate."

Also stressing the lessons of the past, Norma Thomas Colvin of Tacoma, Wash., suggested: "We've Got a Good Thing Going, America. We Know Where We've Been."

Other suggested slogans are eloquent in their simplicity, such as "I Love America," which was first proposed by Miami's wise Hank Meyer.

Most suggestions put the main emphasis on the nation's 200th birthday. "From Minutemen to Spacemen" was proposed by Katherine Gilmarin of Union, N.J. Stephen A. Levine of Villanova, Pa., suggested: "200 Years and Counting — On You!"

From Newport News, Va., Howard L. Goshorn came up with a ringing slogan: "The United States: Born in Turmoil, Matured in Freedom, Enduring in Equality." Ralph M. Jones of Philadelphia offered this: "Our Freedom — Toughened on the Anvil of Justice Refined in the Flame of Liberty."

"Jack Gilliam of Albuquerque suggested: 'The Greatest of Our Past has Built the Road for our Future.' And Irene Frommer, who wrote from Fair Oaks, Calif., of the setbacks she has suffered over a long life, told of her faith in America and urged the slogan: "America for Liberty, Unity and Progress."

We have been deluged not only with slogans but with offers of prizes for the best slogans. We will sort through these offers and announce them in a future column. Meanwhile, please keep your plain letters to the former education commissioner to the state capital contacts.

Overcrowded Jails Can't Be Ignored

It suddenly appears that everyone's been asking the wrong questions of Florida political candidates.

Instead of focusing almost entirely on energy, tourism, senior citizens and land use, we should have been talking about prison reform, court procedures and Florida's attitude towards rehabilitation.

We seem to have suddenly come face to face with a crisis that doesn't lend itself to any obvious or short term solution. Stripped to its essentials the state of Florida is going to have to review its attitude towards crime and the criminal or embark on a massive construction program to house those people judged unfit or unable to function in society.

There's simply no more room at the Inn on either the state or local level.

A letter to Gov. Reubin Askew over the signature of Louie L. Wainwright, director of the Division of Corrections, would indicate that a great deal of the problem can be traced directly to the court rooms. We have, the letter suggests, more than our share of 'hanging judges.'

Wainwright notes that "Imprisonment is used much more extensively in Florida than in most other states. For some years it has been first or second among all states in: (a) Number of persons in state prisons per 100,000 state residents and (b) Number of persons sentenced each year to state prisons per 100,000 state residents."

So even the numbers don't lie. Liberalized parole policies in recent years has failed to make much of a dent in the overcrowding, that, in fact, the system is still overcrowded by a factor of 21 per cent of capacity. And, the letter goes on, "Persons over the age of 18 arrested for most categories of felony crimes in Florida are 1-3 more likely to receive a state prison sentence than is true for the average of all states."

The department, which is responsible for the housing and control of individuals sentenced to state prisons, sees the failure of the system to keep abreast of its growing population a problem for which society itself must share some responsibility.

"This situation (11,000 felons in facilities designed to house 9,000) combined with historical concern on the part of many persons in the society, leads to most of our prison problems — the incredibly overcrowded housing and other living conditions; inadequate staff-inmate ratios; insufficient rehabilitative educational, vocational and psychological programs; poor inmate attitudes and occasional inmate violence."

Even though the majority of the residents of Xenia are under 18, the town was hit by a particularly heavy rain, which caused a major flood. The physical damage left in the wake of this storm monster will eventually be erased. The ravages it left in the minds of the survivors may never be.

According to Ann S. Kliman, a psychologist and disaster expert who was called to Xenia after the storm to consult with local mental health authorities, direct victims usually respond to a disaster by an increase in anxiety reactions, such as fear of another disaster, feelings of being overwhelmed, feelings of depression and rage and inability to cope, or frenetic coping activity.

Indirect victims often respond by feeling conscious guilt — guilt that they escaped when others didn't — and by an increase in guilt-related and stress-induced physical symptoms, accidents and explosive arguments at home, in school or on the job.

It may be years before the full extent of post-storm reactions unfold in Xenia, says Schanche. A similar story is told about another sudden disaster — the collapse of a coal mine dam and the flooding of communities along 20 miles of Buffalo Creek in West Virginia in February, 1972.

A major psychiatric study conducted by 60 psychiatrists, psychologists and social case workers from the University of Cincinnati found "serious psychological impairment" in nearly every survivor.

The study helped bring about a recent landmark financial settlement to survivors by the Buffalo Mining Company, at $13.5 million the largest ever granted by a court for psychological damages.

Our findings," says UPC psychiatrist Dr. James L. Dickner, "were that the disaster had acute effects, causing much anxiety and fear, with sleep disturbances and physiological disorder, shock and grief reactions, disorganization of thinking and behavior."

Well, I thought that I had properly responded to your letter in earlier columns. However, to give you an even better example, I've had to go back to your issue in earlier columns. Our lead editorial complimented four of the Sanford city commissioners on the action which they had taken regarding a special referendum on the city's storm drainage plans. They were in favor of same which would cost the citizens — if approved — anywhere from $6 to $13-plus million dollars.

My position was the same as the lone dissenter A. McClaughan — there's no question that it's needed (even for a long, long time); however, there are far too many people who are going to be disastrously affected with paying for this program who are having enough trouble

All Suffer In Natural Disasters

On April 3, 1974, what may have been the largest storm of its kind ever observed on earth struck Xenia, Ohio.

In two minutes, almost half the seven-square-mile town was destroyed by winds clocked at 318 miles an hour. Twenty-five people were killed quickly; seven others died later in hospitals.

The physical damage left in the wake of this storm monster will eventually be erased. The ravages it left in the minds of the survivors may never be.

WILLIAM RUSHER

Ford Told To Shape Up Or Out

The great organs of liberal opinion in America—in the press, on television, and elsewhere—are making a terrible fiasco over the leaked revelation that the CIA secretly spent several million dollars in Chile during the period 1970-73 in support of parties, newspapers and unions opposed to the Marxist regime of the late Salvador Allende.

My fellow-columnist Joe Kraft, taking issue with President Ford's defense of the CIA involvement, came through with a particularly spectacular display of journalistic muscle-flexing. Declaring—in a column he didn't say—that the country is "deeply divided" over such activities, Kraft warned bluntly:

"President Ford is going to have to take account of those divisions. He will have to try to understand the other side. Otherwise he will end up, as his two predecessors did, limping out of the White House."

How's that for cracking the whip? No nonsense, indeed! About Presidential misdeeds—just the crisp orders of a moral journalist to a President getting out of line: Shape up, or ship out!

Still, let us try to consider the issue of Chile and the CIA in its merits.

To dispose of a collateral point first, it simply won't do to argue that Congress was deceived about the matter. The CIA's activities are necessarily confidential in large part, and its operations shall be monitored by a special "Watchdog Committee" composed of supposedly close-mouthed senior members of the House and Senate.

But what about the substantive issue? Was the CIA (or rather the U.S. Government, for which it works) simply wrong to meddle in Chilean politics at all?

Note that President Ford, in his recent press conference, forcefully denied that this country played any role whatever in the military coup that ultimately overthrew Allende. According to Mr. Ford our intervention was confined to the period before the coup, and consisted solely of helping opposition elements to organize.

The seemingly uncontrollable wave of violence has, at times, pushed political killings to the level of three or four a day. Government announced measures against terrorism have met with little success.

The mode of operation of the Argentine terrorists appears to have become a model for revolutionaries elsewhere. In Argentina, terrorist kidnapping has reached dimensions of raging epidemic.

The United Nations estimates something like $30 million was paid out in ransoms to political kidnappers in 1973 alone, so there is little doubt of its profitability. The figure may be larger this year.

It would appear the terrorists have determined that as a weapon kidnapping is easier and less dangerous than say, robbing banks or hijacking airplanes, which have produced some conspicuous failures in recent times.

Aw, come on...you all know me better than that. "What did they do to you...put a muzzle on your mouth and take your vitriolic typewriter away from you?" I've been asked on more than one occasion.

Around

Aw, come on...you all know me better than that. "What did they do to you...put a muzzle on your mouth and take your vitriolic typewriter away from you?" I've been asked on more than one occasion.

The Clock

My position was the same as the lone dissenter A. McClaughan — there's no question that it's needed (even for a long, long time); however, there are far too many people who are going to be disastrously affected with paying for this program who are having enough trouble

FLORIDA Dem Senate Decision Due

IN BRIEF

Ex-UF Player Arrested

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A former University of Florida football player was being held without bond today after police charged him with first degree murder in the slaying of a nurse.

Officers said Joseph Francis Abbott, 23, was being held in the Alachua County jail following his arrest Saturday. He was charged in the death of Calbra Lynn Leland, 22, whose body and badly-decomposed body was found earlier in the week.

Abbott was a defensive lineman at Pensacola Catholic High and a player at Florida. He was recently dismissed from the Gator team for disciplinary reasons. UF Assistant Athletic Director Norm Carlson gave no details of his release.

Melody Perjury Trial Begins

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The trial of Clearwater architect Walter Melody begins today in the Leon County grand jury that indicted former Education Commissioner Floyd Christian.

Christian and two presidents of corporations that received state education contracts under Christian were subpoenaed as witnesses.

The indictment says Melody lied about receiving $4,500 in 1969 to design migrant classrooms for American Education Management Co. and about whether Robert N. Bussey commissioned him to draft the plans.

Bussey is a former Christian associate who allegedly paid bribes to the former education commissioner to obtain state contracts.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — On Tuesday, Florida's Democratic party voters will enter to either Richard Stone or Rep. Bill Gunter responsibility for reappointing the first statewide office lost to Republicans since reconstruction.

Stone or Gunter will emerge as the party's nominee for the U.S. Senate, an office wrested away from Democrats in 1968 by Sen. Edward Gurney, R-Fla.

Gurney has fallen on hard times since his moment of glory. He has been indicted by a federal grand jury in Jacksonville on bribery, perjury and conspiracy charges.

Stone or Gunter will emerge as the party's nominee for the U.S. Senate, an office wrested away from Democrats in 1968 by Sen. Edward Gurney, R-Fla.

GOP voters will have little to do Tuesday night, however, as most of the action in a light field of runoff races is on the Democratic side.

In addition to the Gunter-Stone race, a runoff election will offer two Democratic attractions: Comptroller Fred Dickson fighting for political survival against Gerald Lewis and Beverly Dozier contesting young Bruce Smathers for the secretary of state nomination. Five congressional nominations will be decided, but only one involves an incumbent, Rep. William Lehman, D-Fla.

His opponent in the Miami-area 13th District runoff is Joyce Goldberger, a Metro Dade County commissioner.

Six state Senate runoffs, one involving Republicans, and 22 state House contests, three pitting GOP candidates, are also on the ballot.

Democrats and Republicans alike can participate in 12 non-partisan contests to elect judges, school board members and county commissioners.

Secretary of State Dorothy Gilson said she expects a 28 per cent turnout, meaning about 94,000 of Florida's 3.5 million registered voters will participate in the runoff.

Gunter captured a commanding 77,000 vote lead over Stone in the first primary, pacing a field of 11 Democratic candidates. But Stone has carried the attack to his rival in the runoff.

Clergymen Work To Save Families

played them and some Canadian pastors use them in lots of 500 to 1,000 on their regular radio audiences.

Here are some of the essential topics that need to be thoroughly explained in such discussion clinics:

(1) The fact that when a divorce couple are active together in the same church, they have about 50 times greater chance of avoiding divorce. Explain why!

(2) Husbands not only have about 70 per cent more gastric appetite than wives, but an even greater disparity in their hunger for what I euphemistically term bodour cosmetics!

(3) Employ my "Sex Problems in Marriage" booklet and then chart the anatomical disparity between husband and wife.

(4) Explain the "jilting" that husbands routinely receive when the first baby arrives, for the wife is not the joyful 75 per cent of her attention to the new offspring.

(5) Warn wives of the many symptoms of the erotically frightened older husband who is afraid his wife will discover his waning ability to be joyful.

Urgive visits to fast focussing on dining room roset beef and pay more attention toבודour cheesecake, which is what outside partners use to steal good husbands away from their family!

First, we'll schedule an all-female clinic, followed by all-male sessions. "Lastly, we'll bring the men and women together in a third and final session.

"So what critical topics should we cover?" "When I have often handled such Marriage Clinics, I employ many of the non-profit medical-psychological booklets and Rating Scales offered by the "Worry Clinic" column.

They include the "Rating Scales for Husband and Wife," the "Tests for Good Parents," the "Budget Chart" and various of the sex booklets offered by this daily column.

'Laugh-In' Star Fights TV Image

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Henry Gibson plays an egomaniacal bigot in a new movie about country and Western music, and that, he hopes, will put an end to his image as the flower-bearing poet from "Laugh-In." The sock-it-to-me television series went off the air at the end of the 1972-73 season. The wispy, sweet-faced Gibson had left it a year and a half before, but the impact of "Laugh-In" on the viewing public was so strong that Gibson seemed locked into character of the poet. This was despite the fact that he hasn't spotted his rhymes for a couple of years, "frankly, because there has been no demand for them." Gibson was one of that mad troupe of second bananas who supported the insanity of Dan Rowan and Dick Martin. A Philadelphian with a degree in drama from Catholic University, he made a hit in 1962 with his poems on the Johnny Carson Show and was invited back 25 times. He repeated the character on "Laugh-In," also playing a stuffy parson on the show. "Those early years during the show were terrific times," the comedian recalled. "We worked 12-14 hours a day, but nobody minded. I couldn't wait to get to work." After three years during which "Laugh-In" captured the nation with its outrageous comedy, the thrill was gone. The show entered an acrimonious period when its stars and producers argued in public over who had actually created the format. "We learned to be good listeners," Gibson remarked. He left "Laugh-In" after three and a half years "because I didn't think I was growing." But the role of the effete poet clung to Gibson, hindering his efforts for versatility. He did

Can Joe Thomas Lead Colts?

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

It used to be that a visit to New England was a breather for a National Football League club. But the Baltimore Colts, though, it couldn't come at a worse time.

But Howard Schnellenberger can breathe easier. He won't be making next Sunday's trip.

The Baltimore coach was Ulrich, right after his first Sunday, after the young and purchase team had suffered its third straight loss, bowing 30-10 to Philadelphia.

Robert Ryan, president of the Colts, named Joe Thomas, the club's vice president and general manager, as the new sideline pilot.

So it's Thomas who's getting to be the gaffer who's going to be what's happening up in New England. His first job is to try and knock off the National Football League's astonishing Patriots.

It won't be easy. They've been knocking off everybody in sight so far.

They started at the top, slugging the defending Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins 34-24. A fluke, everyone says.

They started at the top, slugging the defending Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins 34-24. A fluke, everyone says.

They started at the top, slugging the defending Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins 34-24. A fluke, everyone says.

Then they whipped the New York Giants 28-0. An upset, everyone said, but not much of one.

Sunday they beat the Los Angeles Rams 20 to 14.

In Sunday's other games, St. Louis clubbed Cleveland 29-7, Oakland shut out Pittsburgh 10-0, Miami had to struggle to pull out a 22-10 victory over San Diego, Buffalo beat the New York Jets 16-12, New Orleans nipped Atlanta 14-13, the Giants moved in to stay on a 39-7 yard field goal by Smith early in the second half.

Smith made it 13-7 with a 23-yard field goal late in the third quarter and, at the start of the fourth period, Plunkett hit Randy Yalton on a 21-yard scoring play. John Hadl's 36-yard pass to Lance Rentzel with about four minutes to play gave the Rams their final score.

Cards 23, Browns 7. Terry Metcalf exploded 94 yards with the second-half kickoff to put St. Louis on top 14-0 and, after Cleveland bounced back with its only touchdown, Mel Gray hauled in a 68-yard touchdown pass from Jim Hart.

"The big play was that bomb," a discouraged Browns Coach Nick Skorich said. "We had just started to come back and that took the starch out of us."

"They beat our backs, it's that simple," Joe Gilliam said of the Raiders following Pittsburgh's first scoreless game since 1964.

Ken Stabler passed 19 yards to Cliff Branch for one Raider yard or immediately thereafter, a default will be entered against you for the relief demanded in the petition.

Bill Arnsperger earned his first victory as head coach of the Giants, who beat Dallas on two touchdowns within 64 seconds in the second quarter.

Bill Madlock hit his ninth homer to lead off the fourth inning and Johnny Bench cracked a three-run homer in the sixth, closing the gap before the Cardinals broke it open in the sixth.

Pete Rose's leadoff double plus an error by second baseman Tito Puentes keyed a three-run Cincinnati third inning and Johnny Bench cracked a three-run homer in the sixth in the Reds' victory over the Pirates.

The Giants had taken a 2-0 lead off Clay Kirby, 12-9, before Rose's 45th double of the year, tops in the National League, ignited the Cincinnati comeback.

Ken Singleton's first major league slam home run, scored a 3-2 lead over Mike Tyson singled with a home run in the sixth.

Griese completed 14 of 27 passes for 248 yards, and it was his accuracy in the waning minutes that kept the Dolphins hopes alive.

Billie 16, Jets 12. Jim Braxton's 21-yard touchdown run, eight plays from Greg Gantt's 25-yard punt into the teeth of a 30-mile-an-hour wind, carried Buffalo past the Jets.

Saints 14, Falcons 13. New Orleans' Jess Phillips punched over from eight yards out just after Alex Price recovered a fumble by the Falcons' Haskel Stanback on the eight with about five minutes to play.

Bill Arnsperger earned his first victory as head coach of the Giants, who beat Dallas on two touchdowns within 64 seconds in the second quarter.

Bill Madlock hit his ninth homer to lead off the fourth inning and Johnny Bench cracked a three-run homer in the sixth, closing the gap before the Cardinals broke it open in the sixth.

Pete Rose's leadoff double plus an error by second baseman Tito Puentes keyed a three-run Cincinnati third inning and Johnny Bench cracked a three-run homer in the sixth in the Reds' victory over the Pirates.

The Giants had taken a 2-0 lead off Clay Kirby, 12-9, before Rose's 45th double of the year, tops in the National League, ignited the Cincinnati comeback.

Ken Singleton's first major league slam home run, scored a 3-2 lead over Mike Tyson singled with a home run in the sixth.
