The Christmas Tree Of Good Saint Florentin

Deep in the forest of Haslach in Alsace stood tiny house built of earth and logs. In this hermitage lived a saintly man named Florentin. All the creatures of the forest knew that in the little house was one who would help them when they were hurt or in trouble. When a deer was wounded by a hunter's arrow, is was Saint Florentin who dressed the wound. When a squirrel leaping from tree to tree fell and broke its paw, it was Saint Florentin who placed the broken paw in splints. All day long the animals came to the good saint with their troubles, even the bears, the wolves, and the foxes were is friends.

Not only the animals but the children of the forest loved Saint Florentin. Lisel and Yerri, children of a woodcutter, often came to visit him. When they came Saint Florentin always had a gift for them; it might be an animal he had carved from wood, some apples or nuts, or cakes that he made with honey and flour.

Life was very pleasant in the forest of Haslach. The seasons came and went, Winter drew near. Christmas was coming and Saint Florentin was worried and disturbed. He wished to make this celebration of the birthday of Jesus a beautiful one for his little friends Lisel and Yerri, yet he could think of nothing that he might do. There were no toyshops in the neighboring towns even if there had been the snow was so deep that ne could not have reached them. Besides Saint Florentin had no money. Stronger and stronger grew his wish to celebrate Christmas; the thought of it was always with him. One beautiful morning when the sun shone on the snow and made the frost sparkle, the good saint came out of his hermitage. He had not gone far when he saw a wonderful thing; a straight slender little fir tree all covered with snow and hung with icicles. A sunbeam shone through the branches of the tree making the snow glitter and the icicles seem like diamonds. As Saint Florentin stood marvelling at the little tree sparkling in the winter sun, a happy thought came to him.

He cut down the fir tree, took it home and nailed it to a wooden stand that he made himself. On the tree he hung wooden toys that he had carved, and apples and nuts. Then he made long garlands of hawthorn berries and hung them from branch to branch. The scarlet berries stood out with fine effect against the green needles, With honey and flour Saint Florentin made tiny cakes in the shape of a cross within a circle. So it was that the cakes which are always, seen on Christmas trees in Alsace came to be.

We've got our hands full this Christmas, too!

There'll be Holiday traffic jams on long distance again this Season in spite of lots of new circuits and equipment added during the year. The volume of long distance calls has continued to grow month after month.

If your out-of-town calls on December 24 and 25 are delayed, we want you to know that everything possible is being done to complete calls promptly and in their proper turn.

It will help a lot if you can make some of your Greeting calls before or after Christmas

P. S. There'll be another rush on December 31 and January 1.
