There is nothing like getting back from a vacation trip to enjoy a rest.

It is said to be a long lane which has no turning, and it is also a dull one.

Many persons now at the top began by getting at the bottom of things.

Wisdom includes the ability to keep quiet and let the fools do the talking.

Of all the problems facing the young bride one of the most perplexing is how to make food taste like food.

Economic developments have ruined some of the old proverbs. These days nothing that goes up comes down.

Dealing With Skunks

Some people maintain that the skunk is an unjustly maligned creature and deserving of a good deal more sympathy than it gets. In behalf of skunks these people state that the noisome little animals are friends to man. They eat rodents, have pellets which are considered valuable by furriners and, some aver, can be eaten as food.

This is not an attempt to persecute skunks. Far from it. But far from it is exactly the way we like to be with a skunk. We should like to point out that there is some danger in getting too sentimental about these black and white woodland creatures. Some people have made pets out of deodorized skunks. Deodorized or not, the neighbors might much prefer to put up with a puppy, kitten or even a young goat, though the latter is not exactly a fragrant creature.

As for skunks eating rodents, this is not to be construed as altruism on the part of the skunks. If they eat rodents it is because they are hungry and not because they want to demonstrate friendliness toward man. The suggestion that the skunk may itself be edible seems hardly worth a second thought. Edible he may be, but we'll take chicken. The fur of the skunk makes a nice coat, but one doesn't have to feel friendship for skunks to wear and admire it.

Skunks may be trying to ingratiate themselves with man. If this is the case let them demonstrate their good faith by disarming. Until then, two skunks in the bush are better than one at hand.

Democracy In Baseball

The administration of affairs by the people has taken a step into the field of baseball. The paying customers of the St. Louis Browns have had a chance to run one of their team's games, instead of being restricted to comments on the decisions of the regular manager.

Decisions of strategy customarily made by the manager were voted on, as the occasion arose, in town meeting style. The fans had cards saying "Yes" on one side and "No" on the other, which they held up in response to questions put over the public address system, such as "Should the batter sacrifice?" Decisions indicated by a rough count of the cards were passed on to the players by the coaches. The crowd's strategy appears to have been good, for the Browns won the game. This is not surprising, as all fans sound like experts.

Now that the spectators have had a taste of the manager's duties, those of the umpire doubtless will be next. The customers make no secret of their ability to judge whether a pitch was a ball or a strike, and whether a man was safe or second. It's only the umpires to whom these things are hidden.

Value Of Pennies

In these days of inflation, pennies are often considered unimportant, but without them ordinary business transactions would become difficult. The banks in Atlanta, Georgia, became aware of this during a penny shortage this summer. They had to dispatch buyers to go and find pennies.

The copper coin allows merchants to price their wares more accurately. It encourages housewives to shop in stores where merchandise is sold at a few cents less. In the process of paying amusement, sales and luxury taxes it remains an important part of our currency system. The single penny may not be able to buy very much, but it is useful. It is one of the things in our living which we can easily overlook but which would be sorely missed if it did not exist.

And it is still true that care given to pennies is passed on to dollars.

Iran Ultimatum

Mossadeq charged that the British are trying to bring an economic crisis to Iran by maintaining in Abadan and refusing to ship oil from the refinery storage tanks.

"The Iranian government cannot tolerate the present situation any longer," the Nationalist premier stated.

He added that as long as the present stalemate continued—with the British hanging on to the Abadan refinery—it would be impossible to hire foreign experts to ship oil to new customers.

In seeking a vote of confidence in such a mass appeal issue, he kicked out the British, the canny old Nationalist premier again demonstrated his political skill. There has been increasing press criticism in the press and parliament because Mossadeq has failed for the past four months to get any of his promised riches from nationalized oil.

But on such an ultimatum none would dare vote against him for fear of being labelled pro-British.

The British now are faced with the choice of reopening talks on a proposal they already considered unacceptable, of withdrawing the last Britons from the refinery, or of keeping them there by force with the knowledge that the Russians probably will move into north Iran if British troops land in the south.

It is known Mossadeq in a showdown, expects the United States to bring pressure on Britain to avoid use of troops.

Malaria have been reported in Florida. Thirty years ago, he added, several hundred cases were reported annually.

Dr. Anwar said that he plans to leave for Orlando today and that he intends to continue research in this country until Sept. 20, when he will go to London, England to remain for a week. From there he will travel to Rome, Italy to study mosquito and malarial control methods there. At the end of October he will leave for India to join his wife and two children.

He declared that he expects to be placed in charge of malarial control in the central provinces of India. He will spend part of his time in this work and part in teaching new health measures. While the large cities of India have health centers, these are lacking in rural areas. In these he said, he will try to establish health units.

"I am much impressed with the educational system, civilization and culture of America," he declared. "It is a great nation."

Old Superstitions Die Hard In U. S. Scientist Finds

By ALTON L. BLAKELEE
 Associated Press Reporter
 CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—(AP)—A lot of old superstitions and mis-beliefs are dying out, a psychologist says. But new ones keep cropping up, and the A-bomb probably will spawn a lot more.

Many superstitions or misconceptions current in 1925 apparently are becoming extinct, Dr. Eugene Levitt of Columbia University today told the American Psychological Association.

Such as:

Children are born with instinctive knowledge of good or evil. Certain lines in a person's hand foretell his future.

Stare at a person's back, and you can make him turn around.

Women are inferior to men in intelligence. But they're poorer and better by nature.

A square jaw is a sign of willpower, and a high forehead means you're bright.

You can get any mental or physical disease just by thinking of it.

The person who doesn't look you in the eye is probably dishonest.

Dr. Levitt gave a list of these and other superstitions and mis-beliefs to 110 college students. He compared their answers with the same questionnaire given to 210 college students in 1925.

Far smaller percentages still thought the statements were true, he said. The students in 1925 believed more than 10 pieces of a long list of false beliefs, while today's students believed in less than two pieces.

But, he said, Prof. Richard Youtz of Barnard College, tried a somewhat different list on other students. This showed that many false beliefs still are pretty current today.

Like all criminals are fool-hardy; the American Indian sees better than the white man; the complexity of life is causing more insanity; the color red excites a bull (it's waving anything of any color, he explained); men judge by reason and women by feelings and intuition.

Dr. Levitt said he didn't believe that people "are any less superstitious today than 25 years ago."

In fact, he said, world tension and the A-Bomb probably are causing a brand new crop of mis-beliefs.

"People know the A-Bomb is important to them, but their knowledge of it is limited, and they are apt to grasp hold of only straw facts. People become anxious and want to have something definite to believe in. They don't have the actual information, but they have a need to know something. People who grasp at such beliefs are also the kind who believe and spread rumors."

The median age of male and female officers in the U. S. Army is between 35 and 36, according to Army records.

World movie theaters, according to the National Geographic Society, provide one seat for every 44 persons on earth.

Marilyn Messler, Wade Garner, Jr. Wed In Lovely Summer Setting

In one of the loveliest weddings of the season, Miss Marilyn Joan Messler became the bride of Wade Hampton Garner, Jr. last evening at 8:30 o'clock. Dr. W. B. Brooks, Jr. performed the double ring ceremony at the First Baptist Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Messler of Sanford and Mr. Garner's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Wade Hampton Garner also of this city.

Furnishing a background for the wedding were banks of greenery and palms. The white draped chancel loft was decorated with garlands of dark green magnolia foliage studded with striking white bride's hibiscus. The white blossoms and magnolia foliage were also used in tall floor lanterns. The bride's tapers burned in branched candelabra.

Mrs. Evans McCoy, organist, played pre-nuptial selections which included "The Rose Tree," "Green Cathedral" and "Ave Maria." She softly rendered "Clair de Lune" during the ceremony. Prior to the service Evans McCoy sang "When I Grow Too Old to Dream" and "In Swain" and Stanley Humbley rendered "The Lord's Prayer" at the conclusion of the service.

The attractive bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a sheer gown of imported Swiss embroidered organza. The fitted bodice was of embroidered cutwork, panels of which extended the full length of the dress giving a redingote effect. She wore a cap of illusion and lilies of the valley with a fingertip veil of French illusion. Accessories included short white kid gloves, pale pink slippers, and her cascade bouquet was of fleur de lis mounted with sweetheart roses.

Her matron of honor was Mrs. David Deal of West Palm Beach and bridesmaids were the Misses Gail Hitting, Rosemary Garner and Denise Stevens. They were groomed alike in dresses of mauve organza over grey tulle, fashioning with V-neck lines, cap sleeves and extremely full ballet length skirts. A distinctive touch were the aprons of plaid organza. Mrs. Deal's in shades of coral and the bridesmaids' in shades of green. They wore short white gloves and ballet slippers which corresponded to the shades of their aurore. Small nose veils were attached to their hair with clusters of flowers, and garter chapes and tapers formed their bouquets.

Serving as best man for Mr. Garner was Robert Pullin and those who were Harold Johnson, Tommy Stronger, Ronald Garner and Clarke Messler.

Mrs. Messler, the mother of the bride, wore an ankle length gown of pink embroidered organza with a matching matching tulle. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Garner, wore a dress of mist green satin and net. Both wore corsages of white mums. The bride's two grandmothers were present for the ceremony. Mrs. Joseph M. Messler wearing a grey printed gown of sheer lamberg over silk, and Mrs. William Lamb in flowered ivory muslin over white tulle.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the Memorial Educational Building of the church. Pink and white blossoms and greenery decorated the room. The bride's table was overlaid with an ecru lace cloth and the traditional wedding cake was topped with a cluster of lavender Cattleya orchids. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

The guests were met at the door by Mrs. C. L. Powell. Presiding at the punch bowl were Mrs. Mildred

Mrs. Bumgarner New Fidelity President

Mrs. M. D. Bumgarner was elected president of the Fidelity Class of the First Baptist Church at the meeting of the group held at the home of Mrs. Forrest Gatchel last night.

Assisting Mrs. Gatchel as hostesses were Mrs. J. L. Thornley, Mrs. O. P. Wade and Mrs. H. K. Harrison. Mrs. H. M. Pearce presided.

Other officers elected include Mrs. H. C. McNah, fellowship vice president; Mrs. Thornley, stewardship and devotionist; Mrs. Pearce, personal ministries; Mrs. John Fox, secretary; Mrs. R. L. Beard, assistant secretary; Group captains include Mrs. John Rogers, Group No. 1; Mrs. W. M. Dixon, No. 2; Mrs. A. E. Johnson, No. 3; Mrs. Joe Wright, No. 4; and Mrs. J. P. Wilson, No. 5.

Mrs. McNah presented the devotionist on "Larger Stewardship," stressing the need for tithing both time and money. A report was made on the box of scraps which was sent to the home in Avacada Mrs. Gatchel reminded members of the lessons being taught for the next three Sundays by E. H. Carter on "Baptist Beliefs" and urged all to attend. She also expressed appreciation to Mrs. Pearce and other retiring officers for their cooperation and work accomplished during the past year.

A gift was presented by Mrs. Bumgarner in behalf of the class to Mrs. Pearce, retiring president after which an amusing contest was enjoyed with the prize being won by Mrs. V. C. Messer.

Those attending were: Mrs. Pearce, Mrs. Thornley, Mrs. F. E. Cooper, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. L. P. Garner, Mrs. Wade, Mrs. M. F. Smith, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. McNah, Mrs. Messenger.

Mrs. O. D. Stenstrom Honors Brides-Elect

Mrs. O. D. Stenstrom entertained a party at her home on Wednesday afternoon between the hours of 3:00 and 5:00 o'clock, honoring Miss Kathleen Babcock, bride-elect, and Mrs. Wade Garner, Jr. whose marriage to Mr. Garner took place last evening.

Summer flowers were used to attractively decorate the rooms of the Stenstrom home. The dining table was overlaid with a Madeira cloth with interest being centered on the graceful arrangement of summer flowers flanked with white paper in crystal holders. During the afternoon the hostess presented each of the honorees with a crystal vase in the Rose-Pond pattern.

Those invited to be with Miss Babcock and Mrs. Garner were the Misses Jane Chapman, Nancy Jean Appleby, Donna Lou Harper, Anna Oakley, Betty Rene Ball, Barbara Saunders, Joann Williams, Rosemary Chapman, Shirley McLeod, Penelope Hutchinson, Denise Stevens, Mary Ann Galloway, Gert Hitting and Cheryl Singletary.

Also the Misses Lila Leffler, Irene Krosner, Donna Witt, Ellen Douglas, Neva Kirchhoff, Jean Wilson and Sue Cullum. Also Mrs. Stanley Beckey, Mrs. Spencer Harlow, Mr. William Stempert, Mrs. David Deal of West Palm Beach, Mrs. Be. F. Currie of Deland, Mrs. Nancy Clippenzell, Mrs. Wade Garner, Mrs. Mildred Babcock, Mrs. Joseph Messler and Mrs. George Wells.

FORDOMATIC OUTGOES THEM ALL!
THE FORDOMATIC FORD GIVES YOU AN ENTIRELY NEW KIND OF DRIVING!
TORQUE CONVERTER PLUS AUTOMATIC Gears
Combines best features of previous drives! Fordomatic gives you two automatic drives in one -- a torque converter for smoothness -- and automatic gears for get-up-and-GO and gas savings. You get just the power you need, when you need it!

Practically drives itself. Fordomatic thinks for you. It automatically provides a countless number of ratios through which engine power is fed to the rear wheels -- automatically adjusts the ratio as needed to give you a new kind of performance, new smoothness.
You're boss every second! Fordomatic obeys your every wish. Step down on the accelerator and you get an extra spurt of power for hill climbing and passing. Going downhill you can shift to low at any speed for extra engine braking.
Easier rocking! It's even easier to "rock" out of sand, snow, or mud with Fordomatic than with Conventional drive. All you do is flick the drive selector between Low (L) and Reverse (R). Fordomatic's safer, too, because like conventional drives, forward and reverse positions are separated by neutral.
It's a gas-saving powerhouse! Fordomatic's lower rear axle ratio gives the fewest engine revolutions per mile of any car in its field with an automatic transmission. Fordomatic's automatic intermediate gear provides smooth, fast economical "getaway" without wasteful engine racing.

Cat Racket Used By Juvenile Gang To Extort Money

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 5—(AP)—A gang of juveniles used an aged woman's love of cats to extort between $2,000 and $3,000 in less than a year's time.

Police yesterday revealed they had broken the unique extortion racket of 11 children, aged 9 to 16.

Crime prevention detectives E. E. Kirkland and Leo Hurton said the amazing story started last Halloween night when Mrs. Annula Edmonds, 76, saw three boys throwing rocks at a cat.

The detectives said Mrs. Edmonds rebuked the boys for being cruel. Then to persuade the lads not to torture the animal any more, she gave them each a $1.

Next day the boys again managed to throw stones at a cat near Mrs. Edmonds' house. Again they were given a cash reward to leave the animal alone.

The word spread to other boys. Soon they were bringing cats to Mrs. Edmonds and threatening to torture them unless she bought the animals at $3 each. Mrs. Edmonds bought the cats.

Almost every day she bought cats and the detectives said a 13-year-old boy soon became the "brains" for the group.

The boys told the detectives they had gotten from $2,000 to $3,000 from Mrs. Edmonds in 12 months.

The gang leader thought of "refinements" to get money. He called and told Mrs. Edmonds he had found a cat with a broken back but needed money to take it to a veterinarian. She gave him $10.

A surprisingly number of "injured" cats were found near the home of Mrs. Edmonds.

Police started an investigation last Friday after receiving a call from Mrs. Edmonds' maid.

The 11 boys were arrested over the week-end. Eight were released to their parents. The leader and two brothers, 9 and 13, were turned over to the probation department.

Mrs. Edmonds said she had been giving the boys money for nearly a year but she didn't think it was as much as they claimed. She said she lives on a monthly allowance left to her by a brother.

Police said the boys used the money for picture shows, soda pop and other items of desire.

duction of about 1,100,000 cars in the October-December period but auto industry sources disagree.

Auto manufacturers say they already are unable to get the steel they need to meet permitted production rates, and they expect copper to be increasingly a bottleneck. Fewer than 800,000 cars may be produced, some industry men predict.

Fleischmann said the copper strike and a slump in imports created a "terribly acute" supply situation. All users have been notified to give preference to military and atomic energy commission orders if supplies are further reduced.

Despite the sharp cut in steel copper and aluminum allocations for consumer goods, Fleischmann said supplies of finished products should be "adequate to meet normal demand," considering the stocks in the hands of producers and dealers.

He commented: "American ingenuity has not been rationed, and I know that substitution experts find substitutes for scarce materials and make the most effective use of their allotments."

Commissioner's Job

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5—(AP)—Governor Frank J. Lausche may break his silence about the baseball commissioner's job later this week.

The Governor strongly indicated at a press conference today he will have something to say about speculation over his prospects for selection to the baseball post.

The Governor has answered all recent queries about the baseball situation with a "no comment."

Although the Governor refused to say anything about a report he had written a letter to the baseball committee taking himself out of consideration, friends expressed doubt he had taken any such action.

Police Crackdown

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 5—(AP)—Mayor Hayden Burns today dealt the police department's top officers a clean-up order.

The mayor commissioner spent half an hour in conference with all officers of the rank of lieutenant or above.

"I told them no one in the city is immune to arrest if they are in violation of the law," Burns said afterwards. "I expect them to clamp down on moonshine, racket, numbers, bookmaking, prostitution and any other vice activity."

roughly 20 miles north of the parallel and 20 miles from the coast.

Korean Reds attacked three points on a ridge line dominating the valley. The attacks began before midnight and continued four hours. The Communists finally pulled back. They still hold some parts of the ridge line.

Elsewhere along the battle front only brief patrol clashes were reported. At one point a small group of Reds infiltrated through U. N. lines.

U. N. troops killed, wounded or captured the equivalent of three Red divisions last month, the U. N. ground commander reported today, mostly on the eastern front.

General James A. Van Fleet's conservative estimate of at least 15,000 Red casualties covered a period in which action was limited while both sides held truce talks—now broken off.

Van Fleet said that, even after truce talks were carefully evaluated and cut down, the figure showed 15,000 Reds killed, 15,000 wounded and more than 1,000 captured.

The pace of Red casualties undoubtedly increased the past few days. Waves of Communists were committed in repeated counterattacks aimed at stalling an Allied push in mountainous eastern Korea.

The fighting subsided Tuesday but only after a limited offensive by three U. N. divisions, three South Korean divisions and an Australian brigade had ground out miles up to five miles and seized the important punchbowl area 20 miles north of Parallel 38.

The Allies dug in Tuesday and consolidated their gains. The drive had pushed the United Nations line within artillery range of Kumson, a Red stronghold 20 miles north of 38 in east central Korea.

There was no lull in sea and air activity.

British Commonwealth warships hemmed the eastern end of the Communist battlefront while the U. N. planes Los Angeles and other bombers bombed Communist positions.

Senator Invited To Send Witness To Press Trial

Grand Juror Claims Hill Spoke Without Knowing Facts

By KRITH FULLER
LAKE CHARLES, La., Sept. 5—(AP)—A grand juror, one of those who indicted five Lake Charles newspapermen on defamation charges, invited U. S. Senator Hill (D-La.) to "have your investigators present" when the cases are tried in open court.

In a statement Monday Hill criticized the grand jury's action and said the indictments were "so flagrantly unjust they will alert the people to the need for a grass roots uprising against crime and corruption."

The senator said Congress should appropriate money to re-open Crime Committee hearings, which officially ended Friday.

The newspapermen's indictments followed an anti-gambling crusade by the Lake Charles American Press. The indictment included the paper's publisher, co-publisher, managing editor, city editor and a reporter.

Those allegedly defamed included Sheriff Henry Reid, district attorney Griffin Hawkins and the 13 members of the Parish (county) police jury, the county governing body.

The grand juror, Beth D. May, a Lake Charles businessman, answered Hill's statement in a 600-word telegram to the senator last night.

"I cannot understand how a U. S. senator can pass judgment on men or conditions unless he has the facts in front of him," May's telegram said.

"You state that the indictments are unjust. How do you know they are unjust? You in fact certainly do not know what happened during the secret session of the grand jury, and I regret that due to the laws of this state I am unable to give them to you."

"In my opinion every man on the jury believes in freedom of the press."

Earlier yesterday a trio of Parish ministers released a letter sent to District Attorney Hawkins in which the ministers assumed equal guilt with the press on one of the alleged defamation charges.

The ministers, William O. Byrd, Methodist, and T. V. Owen, and toil of the benefits in character and leadership to be derived from playing in the band, which at present has 52 members.

An expression of sympathy to Sheriff P. A. Mero, who was scheduled to address the Kiwanis luncheon today, was approved, due to the death of his son, Lieut. "Bobo" Mero in action in Korea. The message read: "Please accept our sincere sympathy in your great loss, the Kiwanis Club of Sanford, Joel Metts, president." Edward F. Lane read the message.

Mr. Cawley indicated that the High School Band will have "something special" in store for the game at Orlando. He pointed out that until recently playing in the band had not been listed in the curriculum, but is now included. Music trains not only the mind, but the emotions and the body as well, he pointed out.

Walter Routh, tackle and president of the student body, told the Kiwanis that the team had good prospects of winning this year as the line is big and experienced, and declared that the team has two great coaches. He also stated that the backfield was fast. He predicted that the Sanford team will "stamp Orlando."

Junior Metts, back, told of the speed and experience of the backfield and quipped that "not much line" would be needed to win. He pointed out that there will be plenty of backfield reserves as two men are available for each position.

Ganas said that he and Mr. Fleming are perfectly happy with their positions as coaches, and declared that he will direct the line work and Mr. Fleming the backfield. He stated that the line would be an unbalanced line, and a single wing back formation will be used. He predicted the team will give Orlando a battle.

Mr. Fleming said that the backfield will be strong and fast, with three boys left from last year. In addition to the A and B high school squads, a team will be developed at the Junior High School.

17th birthday he joined the Navy. Following his release from active duty he entered Stetson University where he studied law for two years. In spare time he served here as a deputy sheriff under his father.

Called back into the Navy in December, 1940, he took up flying after a period of training at Jacksonville and Corpus Christi, Tex.; received his wings at Pensacola. He was sent to Korea in May, 1951.

He was reported to have seen initial action in Korea about June 1.

Shortly afterward a Far East naval headquarters summary of the action in the form of a clipping from a newspaper, dated Tokyo, June 2, was received here by Mrs. P. A. Mero.

It stated: "Destroyers, Corsairs and Panthers, launched in dawn to dusk attacks from fast carriers USS Boxer and USS Bon Homme Richard, swarmed over Red frontline positions in the eastern sector. North of Inje, the Navy flyers were credited with high enemy casualties during strafing runs which controllers said covered 90 percent of the area."

Lieut. Mero is survived by the widow, the former Miss Francis Coppock of Jacksonville; a daughter, Patricia; the parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Mero; two brothers, Thomas Wight Mero and P. A. Mero, Jr., and the grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Mero.

he stated.

Earl Faust, druggist, was inducted as a Kiwanian by J. Martin Stinecoper. Mr. Faust came here recently from Pennsylvania to take over the Laney Drug Co. Guests were Pat Glinjeff, Frank Wheeler, Ovidio, A. H. Gaede, Colonel Robinson, Morris Park, W. T. Douglas, Roy A. Travillion and W. C. Good of Winter Park, Al Bugee and Malcolm MacNeil.
