

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING OF GROWERS, SHIPPERS AND MERCHANTS LAST NIGHT

Central Florida Water Traffic League Had Big Crowd Out

FINE TALKS GIVEN

ON SUBJECT OF WATERWAYS, BETTER FREIGHT RATES, ETC.

One of the most enthusiastic meetings of the Central Florida Water Traffic League was held at the court house last night at which some hundred or more business men, growers and shippers were present from Seminole, Orange and adjoining counties. Sanford was well represented by the merchants who are anxious to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the ship by water movement that means cheaper freight rates, better transportation and improvements on the St. Johns river that will give ocean going vessels deeper water from the sea to Sanford.

S. J. Sligh, the energetic president of the League, of Orlando; M. F. Tarpely, the secretary of Orlando; Vice-President G. W. Knight, of Sanford, and many of the directors, were present at the meeting and most interesting talks were made by Messrs. Sligh, Knight, W. T. Donnelly of Brooklyn, Ex-Congressman C. D. Haines, of New York and Altamonte, and A. P. Connelly, of Sanford.

President Sligh and Vice-President Knight gave brief outlines of the great work accomplished and the greater work ahead of the league in keeping down the freight rates and bringing the benefits of water transportation to the doors of inland Florida via the truck systems that have been established.

TALLAHASSEE, March 4.—(Special.)—A mass meeting of citizens was called for last evening in the capital city for the purpose of deciding upon an appropriate and permanent monument or memorial to the soldiers of Leon County, who participated in the world war.

For some time this monument has been on foot, and citizens have subscribed over one thousand dollars toward the amount necessary for the erection of a suitable memorial. Mr. R. O. Collins is the trustee of the fund and he is anxious to have a permanent organization effected to have charge of the plans of the memorial, which will commemorate the services of the Leon county men, both white and colored.

KEEP SARATOGA, LEXINGTON AND WEST VIRGINIA

TO SCRAP WASHINGTON UNDER PRESENT NAVAL CUT PLANS

WASHINGTON, March 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—The battleship West Virginia and the battle cruisers Lexington and Saratoga probably will be the three capital ships now building which with the battleship, Colorado, will be retained under the naval limitation treaty for completion or conversion.

A special naval board headed by Rear Admiral McElroy has examined the facts as to the state of completion of the West Virginia and her sister ship, Washington, visiting the yards where the ships are under construction. Its report has not been submitted as yet to Secretary Denby, but there are indications that board members found the West Virginia to be much farther advanced than the Washington, confirming the previous impression of officers at the department.

The board has not directed to make recommendation but merely to advise the secretary as to the facts. In view of a probable saving of almost a million dollars in selecting the West Virginia for completion instead of the Washington indicated by information in the hands of the board, it was said at the department that the former probably would be ultimately added to the fleet and the Washington be scrapped.

The West Virginia is building at the yards of the Newport News Shipbuilding Company, and the Washington by the New York Shipbuilding Company at Camden, N. J. Since the battleship Saratoga also is under construction at the Camden yards is the selection for conversion into an airplane carrier as well as the completion of the Colorado, also at Camden, and the scrapping of the Washington would keep that yard busy, it was believed little opposition to selecting the West Virginia for completion would be expressed.

Warrant May Issue Against Child's Father for Refusing Medicine

(By The Associated Press) ST. PETERSBURG, March 4.—Whether a warrant will be issued for the arrest of A. Bell, Christian Science practitioner whose 8-year-old son died yesterday of what the city physician pronounced diphtheria, will be determined after the funeral, officials said today. The coroner's jury last night returned a verdict that the child died due to culpable neglect by the parents. The parents refused to permit the administration of antitoxin or other medical attention. OUR WEEKLY BUSINESS REVIEW

By Henry Clews & Co.

New York, March 2, 1922.

Continued dispute about the soldier's bonus and agitation for the adoption of either a sales tax or some substitute taxes has naturally aroused fresh anxiety in the financial community during the past week. Special note has been taken of the proposal urged by thick and thin advocates without making any definite provision for it, allowing the bonus payments to operate simply as a "general charge against the treasury." President Harding's attitude gives good guarantee that nothing of the kind will be done, yet there is always danger of some legislative maneuver which may unexpectedly enforce action.

Banking and Business

Two noteworthy reports relating to our banking situation have been issued during the past week—the one the regular statement of the Comptroller of the Currency showing conditions at the close of 1921, the other the annual report of the Federal Reserve Board for that year. In both the great contraction of credit and the reduction of bill holdings and investments to a low point furnish the outstanding feature, but in the statement of the Comptroller of the Currency there is found evidence of an "upturn in business" as shown by the increase in the assets of national banks. This increase in assets is, however, in no small measure due to an enlargement of specie, while the report of the Federal Reserve Board also shows the same great advance in cash holdings. The board is undoubtedly right in asserting that the low point in business has been reached or passed, the Comptroller of the Currency placing this low point somewhere during the last three or four months of the year 1921.

Indications of Better Trade

The indications of better business are, however, not confined to banking statistics or reports of financial prospects. Various corporation and railroad reports during the week have been encouraging, while the further adjustment of our foreign relations on business matters has also pointed to decided improvement. The settlement of the Mexican tax question has helped the oil industry materially. In support, the gradual sale of the surplus stocks and the gradual liquidation of the large liabilities incurred during the spring and summer of 1921 for the purpose of carrying the product over the low priced period has been very helpful. In addition the renewed improvement in orders for steel once more indicates the revival of demand in that line of business, the export prospect continuing to be the least satisfactory phase of the metal situation, though better in the Far East.

Farmer's Condition Improves

One of the most notable facts of recent weeks has been the improvement in the condition of the farmer due to the advance of agricultural prices. While this increase has, of course, not been so pronounced in cotton, which scored its advance last autumn, it has been very marked in cereals and in other agricultural products, the benefit to the farmer being anywhere from 15 to 20 per cent at points of shipment. One effect of this improved state of things has been the liquidation of loans in no considerable degree among banks which had previously had a good many of their assets "frozen." Although the upward movement in farm prices appears to have started at the time of the large purchases of foodstuffs made for Russian relief, it has continued largely independent of that operation, and now apparently represents a better adjustment of farm conditions to the general world situation.

Foreign Exchange Advance

Not the least significant of the hopeful symptoms in the financial situation at the present time is the fact that foreign exchange quotations have in many branches reached a record high level on the present movement. With sterling near $4.40, and francs working well up toward 10c on their own merits, the situation is the best that has been developed for many months. This is partly due to improved financial conditions abroad, money being distinctly easy in the London market and in a decidedly more favorable position than heretofore in France. The readjustment of our balance of trade also tends to give the foreign currencies a better rating as compared with the dollar, while the increasing prospects of some definite agreement among the nations with regard to the safeguarding of international investments and possibly the stabilization of exchange should also be helpful. Altogether, the foreign outlook is from the financial standpoint more encouraging than of late, a fact which is naturally tending to stimulate the proposals to undertake some outside financing in this market.

Market Review and Outlook

An advance in prices is always more or less productive of profit-taking, and there is no exception to this at the present time. The passing of the Republic Iron & Steel preferred dividend is calculated to put industrial stocks somewhat in disfavor, but the fact that the market acts so well under such provocation shows that its underpinning is good and that news from day to day will have to be had indeed to scare owners of stocks into parting with them. The truth is, of course, nearly every one is convinced that trade developments from now on will be favorable, therefore there is little disposition to pay more than passing attention to the "has-beens." For the moment the shares of the railroad companies are more in favor than those of the industrials for the reason that they are not called upon to charge off inventory losses, and they demonstrated pretty fully last year, under very trying conditions, that fixed charges were not only safe but that dividends could be maintained, especially now that the working conditions of employees are in process of being changed to a common sense basis which will permit of useless charges being eliminated, which in the past have been such a handicap to the roads in their operations.

DEFICIENCY BILL GETS BY IN HOUSE, TO SENATE NOW

MEASURE TO APPROPRIATE $108,500,000 OF WHICH $91,000,000 IS FOR VETERANS' BUREAU

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Without a record vote the House yesterday passed and sent to the senate a bill appropriating approximately $108,500,000 to meet deficiencies of various government departments. The largest item carried in the measure is $94,000,000 for the veterans' bureau.

A provision which would limit to $6,300,000 the amount the navy department would spend for fuel during the next four months remained in the bill without provoking discussion.

One of the few amendments adopted increased the total for the enforcement of the maternity act during the remainder of the current fiscal year from $370,000 to $490,000. The bill also carries $5,000,000 for the initial payment to the republic of Colombia under the treaty recently ratified as a settlement of the Panama canal controversy.

With less than 100 members on the floor an amendment which would have made $150,000 available for development of helium with a view to using it to fill dirigibles was rejected by a 2 to 1 vote. The amendment was offered by Representative Lanham, Democrat, Texas, who pleaded with the house to be more liberal in providing funds for experiments in the use of gas, which is non-inflammable, and for conservation and development of the supply. The recent Roma disaster never would have occurred, Mr. Lanham declared, if the airship had been filled with helium instead of hydrogen gas.

The helium plant at Fort Worth, Texas, said to be the only one in the world capable of producing the gas in large quantities, has been closed since last November 30, Mr. Lanham said, because funds have not been available to continue operations.

He now is building a propagating home where he intends to engage in the culture of the species on a large scale. The building is to be 14 feet square and 28 feet high.

Culture of bats in Texas has been recognized in Texas for sometime as an effective means of combatting insect pests. As far as known here, however, Dr. McQueen is the first person in this state to take so seriously to their propagation.

New York Central Flyer Plowed Thru Bus Load of Passengers

SEVEN ARE WOMEN

ONE OF THE WORST CATASTROPHES OF THE YEAR IN THE AUTO BUSS DISASTER

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, O., March 4.—With the death of one of the injured today brought the toll from the collision of the New York Central express train and automobile bus at Painesville late last night to fourteen. Five are seriously injured, three of whom are expected to die. A coroner's inquest will be held at Painesville this afternoon. City officials of Painesville and officials of the railroad started an investigation this morning. Seven of the dead are women. Most of those killed are residents of Fairport. Many had left the dance hall in Painesville less than half an hour before the crash while several others had attended lodge meeting. The bus was making the last trip of the night from Painesville to Fairport. The crossing watchman declared he flagged the driver, who stopped near the truck to pick up passengers. One injured man said he saw the train before the bus reached the tracks, that people near him screamed as the train came on. He saw the driver reach down and pull something, he didn't know whether it speeded up the bus or slowed it down, then the train hit. Engineer Fernandez said he blew his whistle as the train reached the town limits. An instant later he saw the automobile. The train was running sixty miles an hour and the time before the crash was so brief he couldn't say whether the bus was moving or stopped.

H. W. CHURCH PAYS DEATH PENALTY

MURDERER HAD BEEN UNCONSCIOUS FOR TWO WEEKS FOLLOWING HUNGER STRIKE.

CHICAGO, March 4.—Strapped to a chair and carried to the gallows in the same comatose state in which he has lain for weeks, Harvey W. Church, slayer of two automobile salesmen, paid the penalty for his crime yesterday afternoon. He retained his apparently unconscious mind to the end. Last minute attempts by his attorneys to save him failed when Judges Scanlon and David refused to intercede for the condemned man.

The trap fell at 3:54 o'clock, just four minutes after the court action in his behalf had been completed. Church's head dropped on his chest as he was carried to the gallows and a deputy sheriff had to raise his head to adjust the noose. Sheriff Peters asked the usual question—whether the condemned man had any statement to make—but received no response and the chair carrying the slayer, crashed through the spring trap.

Church, last summer, killed Bernard Daugherty and Carl Aasmus, automobile salesmen. He lured them one at a time to the basement of his home and beat them to death with a club, according to his confession. Daugherty's body he threw into a river while that of Aasmus he buried in his garage. Even before the bodies were disposed of Church took his mother and a neighbor for a ride in the car.

After the date for the execution had been set, attorneys filed a petition asserting Church had become insane since conviction and there was a postponement. He was found to be sane. Then followed futile appeals to the state board of pardons, to the governor and finally to the federal courts. His father and mother, although broken by the disgrace, expressed their willingness that he pay the penalty for the crime.

DRAMA
Probably there were some people at the theatre last night that did not know what it was all about since they had never met Col. Haines or one of his kind who are entertaining 200 people with a first class show for the real pleasure derived from the giving.

Charles D. Haines has been a winter resident of Altamonte for many years, owning and operating one of the largest ferneries in the United States, has seventy acres or more in orange groves and an estate that is on the order of the old Southern plantations since he looks after all his help, gives them homes on the place, his his own commissary to feed them and none of his immense wealth was made at the expense of the people who are employed by him at Altamonte or elsewhere.

Aside from his immense holdings at Altamonte Col. Haines owns 380,000 acres of mahogany timber lands in Santo Domingo, three large manufacturing plants in Massachusetts, three daily newspapers and eight weekly papers in New York state. He started life as a train dispatcher, followed up railroading by holding supervising positions, built the Medina Valley road in Texas and was president of the road at the age of nineteen. With his brother he has owned thirty-six different railways and transit companies and knows something about the transportation problems of this period as well as former years.

He served eight years as congressman from the Nineteenth Congressional district of New York being at the time the youngest man who ever held a seat in that body.

During the world war being beyond the age limit he served his country most zealously as president of the National Council of American Patriots of which organization General Pershing was the vice-president. His activities in business and political life would fill a large book and we all take pleasure in knowing that we have such a man in our midst and that his motto has always been service above self.

His right hand man in entertaining the guests is Capt. James A. Cotting, who supervises the theatre and other enterprises and who acted as master of ceremonies last night. Capt. Cotting was captain of the intelligence department in the world war and served in Italy and Austria, being decorated for service and bravery and his highest citations ever given by Italy to an American.

It was an evening of unalloyed pleasure with a real man—one of the big men of the country—yet without one that is one of us. One who started life with nothing but his hands and his brain and made good and one who has never forgotten that the greatest asset of wealth is the good that it can do.

Massachusetts wife came home late from the theatre and her husband shot her. We shudder to think what would happen if this was resorted to in families that we know.

A lot of England's bully beef went A. W. O. L. in the United States during the war and King George is now suing President Harding for the beef or the money. If it was left to us we would take the money.

The new eleven story hotel building at Orlando has the steel framework up. It is fireproof construction, of course, and yet the temporary flooring on the eleventh floor caught fire the other day. It gave the humorists something to sharpen their saws on.

The pictures of the three candidates for state's attorney published in a local paper the other day were just three dark spots on the page. We have been wondering ever since if that was a joke on dark horses or not. From the looks of the pictures we would not vote for any of them.

"The wives of the farmers will be heard from in the coming elections," says headline in daily papers. Hope so. It is high time the wives of the farmers had something to say in elections. If they had possessed a voice in elections several years ago many present office holders would not be well, what they are today.

Lakeland is still building a house a day says dispatches in the daily papers. This is the kind of record that Sanford should obtain. We could build two houses a day and then have many applications left for houses to buy or rent. Some day a man will step in here and build the houses needed. Where there is such an insistent demand you can always find a man to supply it.

Sometimes misfortune in one thing brings on greater things in others. I am thinking now of the (practically) lettuce failure in Sanford this vegetable season and the freeze in California. The splendid vegetable section of Sanford is now metaphorically "cleaning up" on celery, and this is due to a shortage from California and a fine growing season since the celery was planted. The lettuce for some reason or other ran to seed and developed other very peculiar eccentricities, probably owing to an unprecedented dry season. At all events, those few growers of California who partially or altogether escaped any disastrous effects of the freeze are getting better prices, and the Sanford growers are profiting thereby, also, and the good lettuce loss will be more than made up by good prices for celery.—Florida Grower.

The confidence men and grafters are getting a run for their money in Florida this season. Wire tappers have been arrested in a number of cities and they are finding it no easy matter to get out of jail by putting up a small bail bond—as many of them have heretofore been able to do. The governor has taken a hand in the game and is instructing court officers all over the state to make the going hard for these pests who infest the state every winter season. But with all of the precautions taken by the officers of the law there seems to be a certain number of victims who fall into the hands of the swindlers, even though they have been warned time and again to let the other fellow's game alone. The press of Florida has done its part in keeping the strangers within our gates warned against the crooks who follow them here, and many a would-be victim has been saved from financial loss by virtue of this publicity.—Melbourne Times.

HOPE FOR THE FUTURE

While the frivolous and audacious youth of today motor and jazz along their blithe pathway, the older folks who look on continue to wage a terrific battle of words over the outlook. There are those who see only the gloomiest possible future for the race because of the heedlessness of boys and girls and young collegio men and women. They are supposed to be blind to everything but foolish pleasure and luxury, careless of their talents, contemptuous of the past and thoughtless of the future.

College professors, feature writers, ministers and a lot of other worthy persons shake their heads sadly or angrily denounce these children.

But there is hope. A few observers who ought to know a little about the subject take the opposite stand quietly, but with convincing firmness. They admit that these young folks play hard, take big chances, crowd their experience and declare their independence early. But they believe in the fundamental soundness of youth and even see that some good has come with all this apparent folly. Dean Randall, of Brown University, says that his thirty years of experience with undergraduates leads him to feel that the average college student is more amenable to discipline, has a larger capacity for work, has a keener interest in education and a higher sense of integrity than his predecessors. He adds:

"They are broadminded, reasonable and most responsive to instruction and advice when once you have succeeded in winning their confidence and respect."

Everyone is free to take sides as he sees fit, but the wiser ones will choose the later view, seeking to win this confidence and respect and so to know and enjoy and help as much as any outsiders can, this so-called "terrible" generation to its useful maturity.—Pensacola News.

SANFORD IS HONORED

Bob Holly is even more cheery over a recent honor that has come his way than he ever has been over the wonderful achievements of the "Celery City" in the way the production of health-giving celery and crisp lettuce. Some months ago the Review of Reviews, directed a series of test questions to the school children of America, to determine their knowledge of current events. A total of 19,446 answers were received to the questions but only one of the whole number was correct in all particulars. That was sent in by a Sanford school girl 16 years of age, Miss Patye Lyles. That was a great honor coming to Sanford and its schools, and we suspect that Miss Patye acquired a measure of her proficiency and knowledge of current events through a careful and systematic reading of the Sanford Herald, one of the best little dailies in the state, over whose destinies Bob Holly "himself" presides with grace and dignity. No wonder he feels a bit cheery. He has reason to.

Of the 19,446 papers received from all over the country only 115 contained more than 90 per cent of correct answers while 15,288 answered less than 60 per cent correctly. The general average was only 44 per cent. The questions are sent broadcast twice yearly to schools of all grades in order to stimulate interest in the teaching of current events.

Boys made better grades that girls throughout. Normal school students did little better than high school boys and girls. One normal school with 535 students averaged 25 per cent of correct answers.—Tampa Times.

SHOULD BE EASY FOR FLORIDA.

Harvey S. Firestone, the auto tire manufacturer, has offered through the Highway and Highway Transport education committee, a $4,000 scholarship good at any American university, for the high school boy or girl who writes the best essay on "How good roads are developing my community." The general extension division of the University of Florida is co-operating with the movement, and will offer several valuable state prizes in addition to the grand national prize to be won. Principals of Florida high schools are urged to enter the contest, both for the general enlightening effect it will have on pupils and communities, and that the prizes offered may be worthily bestowed. These essays will be forwarded to the General Extension Division and entered in the state contest. In the state contest the essays will be considered individually in competition with every other essay entered for first, second and third place. Students winning these places in the state contest will be awarded medals given by the General Extension Division. The essay winning first place in the state contest will be entered in the national contest in competition with essays from other states for the national scholarship prize.

It should be easy for some Florida boy or girl to win the grand national prize, a $4,000 University scholarship; for there is no state in the Union where more plainly and interestingly, more completely and convincingly, can be seen the developing effects of good roads on every community through which they have gone. There is hardly a section of Florida which is not a monument to the good roads idea. There is not a section where good roads have gone which has not developed financially, morally, mentally and physically, from fifty, to many thousand per cent over its original condition. There are counties in Florida in which a stubborn fight was made years ago against bonding for good roads; today those counties, heriborned with the finest of highways, are openly boasting that the increase alone in taxable value in the five years of good roads is a hundred per cent greater than the entire taxable value of the county before the first mile of good roads was built.

Every boy and girl of high school age in Florida is a living witness of the development of some community through good roads building. It will not be hearsay, not imagination, not will it be a dream of the future, which will inspire the winner of that prize. It will be the actual visioning of the rise and towering development of some community through watching road building, which will give the inspiration necessary to make the contestant a winner.

Florida should have that grand prize; for no state but Florida can furnish such full and convincing truths as to the developing influence of good roads.—Tampa Tribune.

CAPITAL REMOVAL.

Sentiment in Peninsula Florida is beginning to express itself strongly for the removal of the state capital to some more central location. The capital was established at Tallahassee during territorial days when, for the most part, the peninsula portion of the state was an unexplored and unsettled region.

During the past fifty years the southern portion of the state has grown much more rapidly than the northwestern part and the bulk of the population is south and west of the Suwanee river. The present location of the capital is inaccessible and inconvenient to probably two-thirds of the population.

But notwithstanding the need of change of location a fight between several cities for the capital will probably result in its remaining at Tallahassee, as the case was about twenty years ago when Jacksonville, Ocala and two or three other cities made a contest for removal.

Editor Dobson, of the Titusville Advocate, made a suggestion several months ago that appears to us the best solution yet offered. He suggests that the state buy some centrally located plot of land, build a state capital there and sell lots to finance the project. No doubt wherever the capital may be located a city of more or less prominence will be built, and by thus going into the real estate business the state could build one of the finest capitals in the country without a cent of cost to the people at large.

There was no city at Washington when the national capital was located there, and there is no reason why a state capital cannot be built up in the same way, provided the location is convenient and easily accessible to all parts of the state.—Daytona Journal.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING OF GROWERS, SHIPPERS AND MERCHANTS LAST NIGHT

(Continued from Page One) of the electric propelled boats in our harbor knows more about water transportation and inland waterways than any man in Florida or any other state and his plea for a bigger organization and to stick together until the St. Johns river and other "water highways" in Florida receive the improvements needed was most timely and to the point. Mr. Donnelly has been an active member of the Atlantic Deepwater Waterways Association for many years and is greatly interested in building up the waterways of Florida for the transportation of fruits and vegetables and the incoming freight and also as he stated last night in order that much of the swamp and overflowed lands of the state can be drained and used for farming lands—the richest and best lands in the world. Col. Haines when called upon said he knew very little about waterways as he had been a builder of railroads in his early life but he did know what the people of Sanford and Orlando and other cities could do in the matter of getting congress to act upon a broad and comprehensive plan of deepening the St. Johns river and other waterways of Florida. That it was not a plan for local aggrandizement but a movement that should be state-wide and nation-wide and if the matter was brought before the attention of members of congress they could not turn it down. He told very graphically of many of his early struggles in putting over things in congress and in his building of railroads and said railroads were the upbuilders of the nation and the waste places of the world but that they are usually trying to get all the traffic will bear and then some and that his idea was cheaper rates for freight and passengers and more business instead of raising the rates to where the public could not and would not do business with them except in extreme cases. He closed his most interesting talk by saying that the way to proceed upon any matter was to proceed, to organize and to function and to get all people everywhere to join the organization. His conception of bringing the question to the people was to get all the people together in a big meeting and barbecue, invite all the state officials, the congressmen and senators and the members of the rivers and harbors committee and show them what we have here in Florida and what we need and it will be forthcoming and he would do all he could financially and otherwise to help any and all projects for the public welfare. Such an address has not been heard in Sanford in some time and it went home to the hearts and minds of all those present and brought them upstanding at the close.

A. P. Connelly, chairman of the waterway committee of the Chamber of Commerce closed the meeting with a brief resume of the aims and ideas of the Traffic League and the necessity of organization, more members and a closer co-operation of all concerned.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Orlando on Friday night March 25th, at which time a big crowd is promised and details will be worked out for the big meeting and barbecue spoken of by Col. Haines and others and which will be fruitful of big results. The Central Florida Water Traffic League is now like a snowball rolling down hill—it is gathering more snow and more momentum, more assistance, more notice, more results at each meeting, gaining in popularity, gaining members, gaining recognition each day and it is bound to succeed in its aims and endeavors which are simply to get the growers and shippers of Florida better freight rates and a chance to compete with growers and shippers from other parts of the country twice as far from the markets as Florida. It means the very existence of the fruit and vegetable industry of Florida.

"The Tide of Business Has Turned"

So says W. P. G. Harding, Governor of Federal Reserve. And he adds:

"Optimism has its uses and so has pessimism; the trouble is they are mostly employed at the wrong times. A few pessimists would have been useful during the closing months of 1919, now they are in the nature of a nuisance. We need, instead, constructive optimists for the tide of business has turned." And the prosperity that is coming makes all the more necessary the need for a permanent connection with a strong, friendly bank.

PROMISES TO BE GREAT AFFAIR IN ANNALS OF THE STATE.

"The state convention of the American Legion to be held in West Palm Beach March 15, 16 and 17 in conjunction with the annual Seminole Sun Dance, to my mind, will be the magnet of countless thousands of visitors here," declared, State Commander S. L. Lowery, Jr., of Tampa, whose advance visit to West Palm Beach is to supervise arrangements for the entertainment of thousands of ex-service men—their wives, families and friends during the "One Big Week" of festivity. The Royal Poinciana has been selected as convention headquarters for the American Legion and the hundreds of rooms in this big building will be filled to overflowing by the "buddies" and their friends.

State Adjutant J. Y. Cheney of Orlando, another advance visitor to West Palm Beach to assist in the preparation for the mammoth gathering only two weeks hence, was equally optimistic over the prospects of a tremendous influx of visitors. "This combined attraction assuredly should possess double power in drawing people to this internationally famous resort," said he, in referring to the plans of the general committee, now holding daily sessions, "and we will do well to accommodate the thousands who are coming. I have heard a natural curiosity to see the braves and squaws of Osceola's proud people, reassembled for their dance of peace and rejoicing.

Chief Tony Tommie of the Ft. Lauderdale Tribe of Indians will be a conspicuous figure in the "Indian Village" to be provided this year on the grounds of the Sun Dance festival near the lake front. For the first time in history a genuine Seminole Indian village will be constructed, especially for the housing of these dusky tribesmen, their squaws and children. Princess Annie Tommie, younger sister of the Chief, who was elected by his tribe during the green corn dance of September 15th, 1901, will be another interesting inmate of the Indian settlement.

HAND TAKES BARBER OUT AND LASHES HIM
 BUT HE WINS GIRL
 Orlando, March 3. (Special)—About eleven o'clock Wednesday night as he was proceeding to his room on West Church street, T. O. Purcelle, known as "Red" a local barber, was seized by five masked men and forced to enter a waiting automobile parked in the darkness. Purcelle is a husky fellow and gave battle to his kidnapers, resulting in a passerby coming to his assistance under the impression that he was the victim of holdup men. Two of the band flourished pistols in the face of the would-be rescuer and warned him to proceed, then joining the other three in the machine and driving rapidly in the darkness towards the west, bearing Purcelle with them.

Purcelle returned to a local hotel after midnight, evidently suffering some pain from bruises, but decidedly uncommunicative as to his experiences, beyond admitting that he had walked back to town.

It was learned that Purcelle was taken to a lonely spot on the Winter Garden road, in the vicinity of a large iron bridge, where a "kangaroo court" was held over him. It is presumed the party who kidnaped Purcelle were actuated by the charge that he was forcing attentions upon a local young woman against her family's wishes, the barber having attained a not enviable reputation locally as a dilettante. It is reported that during the inquisition a heavy leather strap was used, ten dollars given to Purcelle by the band with impressive instructions to leave Orlando by noon today, and he was warned that if nightfall found him within the city limits, more severe punishment would be inflicted upon him.

This morning Sheriff Karel and his force started an investigation of the occurrence, but this afternoon had not located any of the participants, and it was reported that Purcelle had left the city, although the young lady in question accompanied him, having secured her suitcase and its belongings from her home under a subterfuge.—Tampa Tribune.

CHURCHES

CALL TO WORSHIP

The deep toned hofry bells are loudly calling; From brazen throats their vibrant voices pour, In streams of melody, so welcome, falling On hearts that wait and worship in that hour.

Within those mellow tones of liquid sweetness Is heard the whisp'rings of a voice Divine, That calls away from all of earthly greatness; Saying, "Child of pain and sorrow, thou art mine."

To every soul that hears, this message bringing Sweet rest from every sorrow, sin and care, Comes peace within, and oft times angels singing; For thus the God of Heaven answers prayer. —Paul C. Burhans.

SANFORD'S TEMPERATURE

Well, we called the turn on the weather this time, anyhow. Said it would rain and be colder and it did and it is. Great weather for the celery crop but bad weather to work in the fields. Looks now like more rain, more rest will be the slogan of the Republican party and the Farmer's Alliance. And tomorrow is Sunday and you can go to church with the feeling that your prayers for rain and cold weather have been answered. 5:40 A. M.
