Switch Restores Seniors' Eligibility For Surplus Food

As many as 1,500 to 2,000 Seminole County senior citizens may be added to the rolls of those eligible to receive surplus food commodities under new state guidelines.

But, the distribution of free butter and cheese to the newly eligible seniors under the U.S. Department of Agriculture surplus food commodities program is held up temporarily at Seminole Community Action until new state paperwork is received.

Meanwhile in Brevard County up to 2,500 poverty-stricken residents may no longer receive free food because volunteers have decided to leave the program rather than accept new state paperwork requirements.

State Rep. Carl Selph, R-Casselberry, was notified by Randy Dattel of the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services that state eligibility requirements on seniors who want to receive the commodities have been changed to permit those who fit into the income guidelines, but do not receive food stamps, to again get free butter and cheese.

Seniors dumped from the program only a few months ago, need now only sign a self declaration of need and present proof that their incomes fall within the guidelines to participate.

The household income must be at or below 130 percent of the federal low income requirement. This computes to $8,508 for a family of two or $12,876 for a family of four.

Ruby Combs, SCA program field coordinator, working as a volunteer since state funding to the agency was cut off more than a month ago, said the food will be available to the formerly ineligible seniors as soon as the official notification and the new paperwork arrives in Sanford from Tallahassee.

Mrs. Combs said that the numbers of persons receiving the food commodities dropped by about 2,000 monthly after the state decreed that seniors who do not receive food stamps, Aid to Dependent Children, social security supplement or were not registered at the unemployment office for work had to be dropped from the eligibility list.

For the past couple months, some 450 poor and needy who fit the state guidelines have been picking up their commodities from the SCA office at 1101 Pine Ave., Sanford, monthly. Each month SCA begins the distribution after the 5th and continues on a daily basis, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m., Mrs. Combs said.

Greco, 16, Receives 45-Year Jail Term

By Charles Cobb
Herald Staff Writer

A 16-year-old Longwood boy who beat his sister to death with a hammer has been sentenced to 45 years in prison.

Seminole Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Leffler, who imposed the sentence on Richard David Greco Monday, recommended that the youth be placed in a facility where he will receive intensive psychiatric treatment.

Reports from several psychiatrists and psychologists stated that Greco, who will turn 17 on Monday, suffers from mental disorders and needs therapy.

Leffler will retain jurisdiction in the case for the first 15 years of the sentence and will have final say on whether or not Greco can be released on parole during that period.

Greco will be eligible for parole in six months, but defense attorney Jack T. Bridges said "there is no way that will happen."

"There is no question he will be sent to a psychiatric institution for a period of up to 15 years," Bridges said.

Bridges said Leffler's sentence was exactly what both he and the prosecutor had recommended in the case.

Bridges said the Department of Corrections now has the responsibility for deciding when and if Greco will be placed in a mental facility and he has "no doubt this will happen as soon as space is available in an institution."

Bridges said Greco's father and mother both concurred with the sentence "in that they realized his need for psychiatric treatment."

Greco pleaded guilty July 7 to a charge of second-degree murder in the Sept. 7 beating death of his 14-year-old sister, Katherine.

Detectives found Katherine's bleeding body lying on the kitchen floor of her home after Richard notified their father, Richard J. Greco, an executive at Sanford's Cardinal Industries, at work that Katherine had been beaten.

Deputies found Greco, described as an excellent student who maintained a 3.5 grade average in high school, on the front porch of his home, able to say only, "My sister! My sister!"

The girl was taken to Orlando Regional Medical Center. The parents, who are Jehovah's Witnesses, refused, based on their beliefs, to allow a blood transfusion. Surgery was performed without a transfusion and the girl died two days later.

The girl had been struck repeatedly on the head with a blunt instrument. A medical examiner's report showed that she died as a result of multiple blows to her head from a metal claw hammer. She never regained consciousness after the attack.

An Orlando psychiatrist, Dr. Lloyd Wilder, said in a report to Leffler that Greco "claims not to be able to remember the details" of the crime, "but is convinced that he did it."

Greco said his sister, a Lake Mary High School cheerleader, was washing the dishes in the kitchen when she was attacked.

"He remembers numbly standing over her with the hammer in his hand and getting frightened," Wilder wrote. "It seemed so bizarre. He felt fixed, that he could not move, and as if he were in a nightmare."

Greco allegedly confessed to his parents that he committed the crime and they took him to Shands Teaching Hospital in Gainesville for treatment. He was arrested at the hospital Nov. 8 and brought to the Seminole County jail.

Agent Orange New Look At EPA Reports Prompts Veterans' Demands

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

With a 100-page Environmental Protection Agency report on dioxin in hand, Vietnam Veterans of Central Florida are rallying around the cry "Agent Orange Action Now!"

The report calls dioxin, a by-product of Agent Orange, 100 times more carcinogenic than the most potent cancer causing agent now known, according to Mike Galyean, president of the veterans group.

But a spokesman for the EPA office in Cincinnati said today she did not know if the report actually described dioxin in exactly that way. But she confirmed that a panel of 27 scientists meeting in that city had recently reviewed three EPA documents concerning dioxin contamination of solid waste, air, and water. She said, the consensus of the panel was only that "dioxin is probably carcinogenic to humans."

Alarmed by the report, members of the organization are seeking immediate passage of proposed legislation to aid Agent Orange victims, both Vietnam veterans and civilian employees who may have been exposed to the toxic herbicide while serving in Southeast Asia during the war.

The study was brought to the group's attention by Tom Radon of Orlando, an infantryman who spent a year fighting in the jungles of Vietnam. Radon knows firsthand the results of exposure. He came out of the war unscathed, or so he thought, when he left Vietnam.

But he was unaware of the time bomb hidden inside his body. One that would go off at age 32 in the form of soft tissue sarcoma. After chemotherapy to combat the cancer one of his legs was amputated.

While in a Veterans Administration Hospital in Tampa read in the newspaper of the EPA study and was able to obtain a copy of the report, completed about three weeks ago, from a staffer at the Washington Bureau of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Radon is a party to a class action suit against Dow Chemical, Monsanto, and other chemical companies which manufactured Agent Orange. Among the others participating in the suit are surviving families of Vietnam veterans who have died from what they claim to be problems related to exposure to Agent Orange.

Radon said that although the companies were aware of the dangers to humans, they were ignored because of greed.

"Dow Chemical sold the government 12.7 billion gallons of the herbicide at $7 a gallon during the war," he said.

'They dumped it on us. We didn't know what Agent Orange was. They never told us what it did.'

"They dumped it on us. We didn't know what Agent Orange was. They never told us what it did," he said.

He said he is concerned now not just for the Vietnam veteran, but for contamination by dioxin in this country as well.

"They have sprayed the national forests with it for weeds and the rivers for aquatic growth," he said, "and it is leaking from drums into the soil and water at dumps all over the country. I hope they do something about cleaning it up for the sake of my daughter and all the other kids growing up."

The 200-member Central Florida veterans group is seeking immediate passage of HR1961 (the Agent Orange Compensation Act) and is recommending four amendments that would include more of the known victims of herbicide poisoning. U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum (R-Altamonte Springs) has agreed to support the legislation, Radon said. He said the congressman had opposed the bill on the basis of information from the government, but changed his mind after talking to a some of the local Vietnam veterans.

VVCF was also pushing for immediate passage of Senate bill S860 which would give all veterans the right to appeal Veterans Administration decisions on claims for benefits through the Federal courts. It would also give the veteran the right to be represented by an attorney in the appellate process.

Since the statement was issued, according to Galyean, the senate passed the bill and it has now gone to the House of Representatives.

Galyean, a teacher at Sabal Point Elementary School, said the bill if passed would mean "a veteran who is getting the shaft from the Veterans Administration could hire himself a lawyer and get his evidence together then let the court decide. Now, for instance, if a veteran is dying of cancer as the result of exposure in Vietnam to Agent Orange and his claim is turned down by the VA there is no place else for him to go."

"The dioxin concentration in Vietnam was 200 times that found at Times Beach, Mo., which the government bought out at the cost of $33 million," Galyean pointed out. "It would only take $2 million to $4 million to treat the some 3,000 known victims as defined in the United States today."

"I personally am in contact with half a dozen local veterans who have life threatening problems as the result of exposure. One had to have his leg removed for soft tissue sarcoma, which is caused by dioxin, and another has a degenerative nerve problem."

"Anyone who served in South Vietnam, particularly in the infantry, was exposed to dioxin," said Galyean.

"We slept in the rice paddies and drank the water. I was in areas where the vegetation had been cleared away by Agent Orange and have had skin cancer in four different areas, but I have no definite proof that it was caused by dioxin."

An International Symposium on "Herbicides and Defoliants in War—The Long Term Effects on Man and Nature," was held in January in Ho Chi Minh City (formerly Saigon) in the Republic of Vietnam. It was attended by 126 physicians and scientists from all over the world, including

Marina Gets Second Look

A Sanford businessman will try again to win approval for a 196-slip marina at the Port of Sanford.

Port Authority Executive Director Dennis Dolgner said Bill McVay, owner of Strictly Sail in Sanford, will appear before the port's board of directors at their 4 p.m. Wednesday meeting at the port complex west of Sanford.

McVay presented his proposal to authority members last month but the plan was rejected because board members said they had many questions about the project.

They wanted to know who would own the new company, the intent of the port as specified in its bylaws, and how a lease agreement with the marina would work.

McVay said his corporation, Hidden Harbor Marina, wants to build the marina in two phases at the port. The first phase would have 96 slips, the second phase would consist of 100 slips, a small store, clubhouse and pool.

The proposal generated opposition from operators of two marinas on the St. Johns River. Chuck Vogt of Monroe Harbour Marina in Sanford, and Archie Smith of Sanford Boat Works at the Douglas Stenstrom Bridge on State Route 415 said the project could jeopardize expansion plans at the two facilities.

Vogt said Monroe Harbour Marina has applied to the federal government for permission to expand that facility and Smith said a 20-year expansion plan to double the size of Sanford Boat Works is scheduled to begin this fall.

McVay said he doesn't believe the proposed marina would compete directly with the existing marinas. He wants to attract sailboats and Orlando area residents who currently keep their boats parked on trailers at their homes.

New board member Joe Justice, vice president of Freedom Savings and Loan, will hear the discussion at his first meeting. Justice was appointed last week by county commissioners to replace Clyde Rice.

The Stromberg-Carlson Corp., a Plessey Telecommunications company, today announced plans to build a 60,000 square-foot marketing and administration building adjacent to its manufacturing facility in Lake Mary.

The $4 million structure will enable the corporation to consolidate all of its Central Florida operations in the Lake Mary complex off Rinehart Road.

The consolidation at the Lake Mary site will mean neither a gain in jobs nor a loss, company officials said. Once construction starts it is expected to be completed in about seven months. Plans for the ultra modern structure, sent to the city's consulting engineer, David Cleardo of Conklin, Porter & Holmes of Sanford, for review show the building is "high tech looking" featuring aluminum metal framed glass on the exterior of the single story facility and pre-stressed concrete panels.

Sail-In Sales?

A convenience store for boaters is scheduled to open in about two weeks at the Harbour Marina on Lake Monroe in Sanford, according to Fred Salgado of the Holiday Inn. The store is owned by the owners of the Holiday Inn, Salgado said and was scheduled to open in July but persistent rains delayed construction. The store will sell groceries, snacks, prepared foods, beer and other alcoholic beverages. Hours of operation have not yet been finalized.

Judge Halts Paraquat Spraying In Georgia

ATLANTA (UPI) — Residents seeking $15 million in damages for the government's use of the herbicide paraquat on north Georgia marijuana fields reacted with "cautious happiness" to a judge's order temporarily banning the spraying.

U.S. District Judge Charles A. Moyer issued the order Monday at the request of a group of citizens near the Chattahoochee National Forest, where about 200 acres were doused with the controversial herbicide last Friday with little warning to area residents.

A hearing will be held later to determine if the government will be enjoined from any future spraying of the weed killer in Georgia.

The federal Drug Enforcement Administration sprayed the toxic chemical on marijuana plants growing in the forest. A spokesman for the White House Drug Abuse Policy office said Monday the government also is considering using paraquat to kill marijuana plants on federal lands in all but 10 states.

Car Sales Up Sharply

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. can credit rebates for some of its 51 percent sales gain, but Ford Motor Co. officials say their 46.9 percent increase in early August sales came without a major incentive program.

The six U.S. automakers Monday reported an overall 41.2 percent improvement in sales for the Aug. 1-10 period. It was their best performance in four years.

The firms had nine days in the period to sell cars this year and eight last year, which accounts for the disparity in some sales figures.

The firms sold 178,686 cars in early August, up 41.2 percent on a daily rate basis from 112,484 last year. The daily selling rate of 19,854 was the best for early August since 1979's figure of 21,289.

NATIONAL REPORT: Temperatures hit 111 and broke 49-year-old records in the Plains and a freak thunderstorm plunged a Minnesota town into darkness. Two women died in a sweltering Dallas retirement home — the latest victims of the heat wave blamed for more than 200 deaths since July. The remains of Pacific storm Ismael sent rains streaming into Southern California and in the north, a man working on irrigation sprinklers in Modoc County was struck by lightning and killed. The storms pushed through the western states with high winds — up to 80 mph at Flasher, N.D. — and caused flash floods and mudslides along roads in Colorado and Utah, where weekend storms sent rocks and mud careening down mountainsides and more rain only made the problems worse. Tropical storm Alicia — the first of the season — drifted across the north central Gulf of Mexico late Monday toward the Texas coast, its top winds of 45 mph expected to strengthen. The summer heat wave continued to bake the southern Plains and forecasters said temperatures would peak in the 90s and 100s at least through Wednesday. Beloit, Kan. had a high of 111 Monday and the 107 at Dodge City, Kan. broke a record of 104 set in 1934 and tied in 1936. The mercury hit 103 at Wichita Falls, Texas and 101 at Dallas. Two women died at the un-air-conditioned Cornerstone Retirement Village in Dallas. The facility's air-conditioning broke down Friday.

Organizer, Administrator Disagree

Will Seminole Employees Opt For Union?

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

About 15 percent of Seminole County's 523 employees have shown an interest in joining a union.

That, strangely enough, is pleasing news to both union organizer Sam Ingham and County Administrator T. Duncan Rose.

Ingham, national representative of the National Association of Government Employees, said the response to the union's first mailing "is a good indication the need is there."

He said the union has not made a concerted effort to unionize county workers, pushing for recognition in Seminole only through mail solicitation. "We're quite pleased with the results."

Ingham was optimistic that another mailing would bring enough support for the union to hold meetings which could eventually bring union representation to a vote.

"It's going to take another six weeks," he predicted today.

Ingham said county employees are obviously dissatisfied with county commission actions regarding personnel, particularly a decision to eliminate their 1.5 percent cost-of-living salary increase for the coming year.

Rose interpreted the employees' response differently, saying he doubts whether the union will have enough support to call for a union vote.

County officials have begun meetings with department heads to find better ways to deal with employee problems and complaints. Additionally, commissioners are discussing reinstating the cost-of-living raises, which would mean a 1.5 percent pay hike for employees.

One group of county employees, the county's survey crews, are opposed to the unionizing effort. Ten employees signed a letter of opposition to the union, which was made public by county officials last week.

Federal law states that if a union gets positive response from at least 30 percent of a group of employees, it can begin a series of meetings which lead to a vote on union representation. When a vote is taken, the union must receive 50 percent plus one vote of those voting to gain representation.

Ingham said NAGE won't attempt to unionize the county until it gets positive responses from at least half of the workers.

The union currently represents city employees in Casselberry.

FBI Wants To Give Polygraph Tests To Top Reagan Officials

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI, probing the Reagan campaign's use of Carter briefing papers, wants permission to give lie detector tests to CIA chief William Casey and the White House chief of staff, it was reported today.

The Washington Post reported that unidentified sources said the FBI wants a Justice Department go-ahead for a polygraph test for both Casey and White House chief of staff James Baker because of conflicting statements they have made in the investigation of how Ronald Reagan's 1980 presidential campaign obtained documents from the Carter White House.

The newspaper cited an FBI spokesman responding, "We can neither confirm nor deny (the report)." A Justice Department spokesman had no comment.

Baker has said he received Carter briefing papers from Casey. Casey, who directed Reagan's 1980 campaign, has said he does not recall seeing the papers or handing them to anyone.

Casey and Baker already have been interviewed formally by the FBI. Officials said both men reaffirmed their conflicting accounts in their initial interviews.

FBI policy in lie detector tests leaves it up to the individual whether he will take the test.

The sources also said a memo from a former Casey aide was discovered that conveyed "a strong, unavoidable inference" that there was an informer within the Carter camp, the Post said.

Justice Department investigators discovered the memo in the Reagan campaign files from one-time Casey aide Max Hugel that suggested there was an "agent — someone working for Carter but supplying information to the Reagan campaign," the source told the newspaper.

Casey named Hugel as administrator of the CIA's covert operations but Hugel resigned in 1981 after questions were raised about his stock and business dealings. It was not known if Hugel was on the list the FBI wants to test.

The sources said the FBI would also like to administer lie detector tests to nearly a dozen other people involved in the investigation. Officials told the Post the FBI, which has already interviewed President Reagan, does not intend to seek a polygraph test from him.

Burglars Chased Off By Intended Victims...Again

Two residents on the south side of Sanford chased burglars out of their homes early today, adding to the number of such incidents reported in Seminole County lately.

And because the two incidents occurred less than two hours and only a short distance apart, Sanford police detective Ray Bronson said there is "a possibility" that the same man was involved in each.

Patrick Hillen, 31, of 2615 Mohawk Drive, said he woke up on a couch in his living room at about 3 a.m. to find a man wearing white cutoff shorts and a T-shirt standing in the room.

Hillen yelled at the man who then ran out a sliding screen door. Hillen chased the intruder down the street but could not catch him. Hillen told Sanford police that apparently nothing had been taken from his home. Chris Kirkgard, 17, of 211 Hayes Drive, heard the family dog barking and woke up at 4:47 a.m. He spotted a man in a T-shirt running through a hallway toward the front of the house.

Kirkgard woke his father, John Kirkgard, 44, and they searched the house, but the intruder had already fled. Nothing appeared to be missing.

BIKE STOLEN
A silver Mongoose bicycle, valued at $208, was taken from the garage of a Sanford man's home between 6 p.m. Wednesday and 10:30 a.m. Thursday. Cliff Charpening, 19, of 2535 Palmetto Ave., was the victim.

...EPA Report Prompts Veterans' Demands

15 from the United States.

The international study on the long term effects of Agent Orange on the combatants and their families included research on 40,000 Vietnamese families, said Galvcan.

The study contradicts American studies in that support is given to the claims that Agent Orange has caused a significant number of birth defects in children. The occurrence of miscarriages, stillbirths and abnormalities in the offspring of men serving in South Vietnam was significantly higher than for those couples where the husband remained in North Vietnam, according to the report.

The researchers were particularly impressed by the large numbers of "unfavorable pregnancies" resulting in five categories of congenital anomalies: Anencephaly and other neural defects, deformities of sensory organs, deformities of the limbs, conjoined twins, and orofacial cleft defects.

The report stated that continuing studies with more complete data is needed to show definite relationships to Agent Orange.

Galvcan pointed out that similar birth defects are showing up in children of Vietnam veterans in this country, including Seminole County and other parts of Central Florida.

"I have two close friends who lost children in the first three days of their life," he said, "and several with various types of birth defects.

"It's a shame what is happening to these veterans and their families, but what is even more of a shame is that they are not getting any help. None are getting any help. Even with the veterans who are 100 percent disabled, it is not considered by the VA to be combat related and or caused by dioxin. If they die, their wives and children are not eligible for veterans' survivors' benefits."

The group's statement also seeks more involvement by the newly formed Florida Commission on Veterans Affairs with the plight of those who served in Vietnam and were exposed to dioxin contaminated herbicides.

The need for more education among the veterans, U.S. civilians who served in Vietnam, the general public and members of the media, as to the immediate danger to health of those exposed to the highly toxic substance in Vietnam was stressed. Members of the group are also engaging in a campaign to educate and inform legislative representatives, the media and the general public of certain birth defects that have occurred and continue to occur in the children of these persons as a result of exposure of the veterans to the phenoxy herbicides.

Some of the phenoxy herbicide caused conditions for which the veterans are seeking compensation include soft tissue sarcoma, liver disorders, active and residual skin disorders, such as chloracne and chloracneiform lesions, peripheral neuritis, a loss of sensory function or numbness and a presumption for lymphoid tumors.

IN BRIEF

New Unrest Possible On Strike Anniversary

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — The third anniversary of nationwide strikes that formed Solidarity is shaping up as another contest between Polish workers and the government, with a new round of labor unrest possibly at stake.

The Communist regime has refused demands for talks between government officials and members of the banned Solidarity union, including Solidarity founder Lech Walesa.

Solidarity activists have begun a leaflet campaign threatening a work slowdown around the country unless the regime opens talks by next Monday. They claim there will be no peace between the government and the majority of Poland's 36 million people until such talks begin.

Hundreds of riot police were on the streets of Gdansk, ready to disperse any move to publicize the dispute through demonstrations, but the underground's call for action urged participants to keep their protests peaceful.

U.S. Rancher Kidnapped

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) — National police awaited contact or a ransom demand today from leftist guerrillas who kidnapped an American rancher, and investigators conceded they had few leads to begin a search.

The rancher, identified as Martin Stumber, was seized late Monday by a band of armed men as he descended from his private plane at the small Cano Jabon airport at San Jose del Guaviare, 140 miles southeast of Bogota.

Police said the communist Colombian Revolutionary Armed Forces was responsible for the abduction. Stumber was the third American kidnapped in Colombia this year.

A National Police spokesman confirmed the kidnapping and also indicated Stumber's small aircraft had been burned by the abductors. Another plane owned by the rancher had been damaged, he said.

Stumber, whose age and American hometown are unknown, owns a large cattle ranch in the region.

French Troops Face Libyan-Backed Rebels

NDJAMENA, Chad (UPI) — With a military and diplomatic stalemate developing in Chad, French troops facing Libyan-backed rebels across 120 miles of desert today prepared for what might be a long stay.

Maj. Yves Villonneau, a French military spokesman, said Monday that "between 700 and 800" heavily armed troops were sent to the former French colony, up from the 180 announced by the French Defense Ministry last week.

The French are described as "instructors" but have orders to fire back if fired upon, giving their deployment in forward positions a deterrent character to defend Chadian President Hissene Habre.

"Their mission is of indeterminate length," said one French commander. "They may be there one month or six months."

He spoke hours after 200 French paratroopers flew from Ndjamena to the desert outpost of Salal, 250 miles northeast of the capital.

The French also appeared to be using their air force to discourage any advance by Libyan rebels fighting to overthrow Habre and replace him with former President Goukouni Weddeye, ousted by Habre in a coup 13 months ago.

French radio reports and the respected Paris newspaper Le Monde quoted sources in Ndjamena as saying eight Jaguar attack aircraft were positioned at Bangui in the neighboring Central African Republic and at Niamey in Niger.

With the rebels holding off any advance that could pit them against French troops, a military stalemate appeared to be developing.

Information Minister Soumaila Mahamat said there had been no fighting since Saturday and described the military situation as "stationary."

The diplomatic situation also appeared frozen, with the government refusing to talk to the rebels until they and their Libyan backers leave Chad.

A force described by the government as consisting of 3,000 Chadian rebels and 2,000 Libyan troops backed by tanks and bombers overran the northern oasis town of Faya-Largeau Wednesday, driving out a 2,000-man government garrison.

The rebels then moved south and captured Koro Toro, only 120 miles north of Salal.

The arrival of the paratroopers in Salal completed formation of a defense line designed to thwart any rebel or Libyan attempt to overrun Ndjamena.

On Saturday, heavily armed French troops were dispatched to the eastern town of Abeche, 250 miles east of Salal.

Salal and Abeche guard the only two roads leading to Ndjamena, and French military experts say trying to run troops or tanks between the two localities would be futile because of the inhospitable terrain, broiling heat and lack of water.

Western diplomats said the Salal-Abeche line formed the boundary beyond which the rebels would be forced into direct confrontation with the French.

Another Load Of Supplies Airlifted To El Salvador

ORLANDO (UPI) — Twenty-five tons of medical supplies were flown to El Salvador to aid thousands of people left homeless in the troubled Central American country, officials said.

Monday's airlift was the second in two weeks. Volunteers flew 5,000 pounds of supplies to the country Aug. 4.

As in the first mission, the medical supplies were donated by pharmaceutical manufacturers and retail stores, said a spokeswoman for Rep. Bill McCollum, R-Altamonte Springs.

The Knights of Malta, a Catholic fraternal organization, will distribute the supplies, said the spokeswoman. The supplies were to be distributed to residents of "displaced persons camps."

McCollum, who visited El Salvador last month, flew aboard the Aug. 4 mission and helped organize Monday's airlift.

A rented DC-8 flew the 2-hour-40-minute trip from Orlando International Airport to Ilopango and returned Monday.

Boy, 11, Drags 300-Pound Man From Heavy Surf

MADEIRA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Judith Alpert let her 11-year-old boy Danny go surf fishing after dark only because his mentor in the sport, a 300-pound vacationer from Canada, would be there to make sure he was safe.

But when the man suffered a stroke and fell in 4-foot-high breakers, it was the 80-pound boy who, with heroic determination, pulled him to safety.

Danny Alpert said Monday night from his home in Seminole, Fla. he can't get over the ordeal.

"Everybody keeps asking me how I did it and I'm still wondering myself," Danny said about pulling Jerry Rogan, 61, through the Gulf of Mexico surf. Rogan was in critical condition today at Lake Seminole Hospital.

"I'm still scared and my throat still gets hoarse and stuff like I'm crying inside," Danny said.

Rogan collapsed while the two were surf fishing at Madeira Beach Saturday night.

"He slipped and hit the breaker and said 'Ouch.' Then he slipped again and fell down in the water," said the seventh-grader. "I jumped in. I put his arm around my shoulder and started dragging him in. When we hit the part when it got shallower, I grabbed him with both arms and kept pulling."

"I called for help and there were two girls on the beach. It was very windy and when the waves hit the beach it made so much noise it was hard for them to hear," he said.

"They finally came and dragged him further up to shore. I ran to call the paramedics."

The 4-foot-7 youngster almost didn't get to go out that night with Rogan, a vacationing high school teacher from Thunder Bay, Ontario. His mother said Danny had been fishing with Rogan for almost a month. But she never allowed him to go at night until Saturday, two days before Rogan was to leave for Canada.

Rogan, she said, "was just wonderful with Danny for the last 3½ weeks. I told him 'I guess I'll let him go because you'll be leaving so soon.'"

"It's just a miracle. There's some reason this child was down there that night," she said.

Danny said doctors told him Rogan had a "very severe stroke with a heart attack, which was minor" that left Rogan's left leg and arm paralyzed. Doctors told Danny's mother that one of the few sentences Rogan had spoken was to ask about her son.

Glenn: No Plan To Military Buildup

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Democratic presidential contender John Glenn told a key veterans group the Reagan administration lacked a foreign policy plan to guide its military buildup.

Related story, page 10A

Speaking immediately after Reagan addressed the Veterans of Foreign Wars convention, the Ohio legislator said Monday the United States needed a coherent foreign policy and a rational defense in order to maintain its role as world leader.

"If we do it right, peace can be more than a pause between wars ... but (under the Reagan administration) we've put the military cart before the foreign policy horse."

"If we do not have the wisdom to guide and shape change," the senator said, "We will abandon the Third World to extremists of either the right or left."

Glenn's speech was interrupted four times by applause from the crowd, which less than an hour earlier had repeatedly cheered and whistled for Reagan.

Glenn said he supported both economic and military assistance to Latin America, but emphasized any U.S. intervention should be determined on a case-by-case basis.

"Force should only be used as a last resort," he said.

Glenn said "never again should we send American troops to fight wars we do not intend to win."

FP&L Fined $10,000 For Nuke Plant Violation

MIAMI (UPI) — The Nuclear Regulatory Commission has fined Florida Power & Light Co. $100,000 for a safety violation at the utility's Turkey Point nuclear generator south of Miami last April.

FP&L spokesman Dave Wolverton said the giant utility would pay the fine imposed Monday without protest. He said FP&L has taken measures to make sure the violation doesn't happen again. NRC officials said they were satisfied with the "corrective actions."

James P. O'Reilly, administrator of the NRC's Atlanta regional office, said the fine was being levied because one of the plant's two nuclear reactors was operated while valves to the auxiliary feedwater system for its steam generators were closed.

The auxiliary feedwater system is designed to provide a backup source of water to the steam generators if the main feedwater system fails. Auxiliary feedwater valves are required to be locked open with a visible tag attached while a unit is operating, the NRC said.

Liquor Tax Challenged

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Hearings have been scheduled for this week on a pair of lawsuits challenging part of the higher tax on alcoholic beverages recently approved by the Legislature. Meanwhile, the state Department of Business Regulation is gearing up to collect the new tax, which goes into effect Sept. 1.

Howard Rasmussen, director of the Division of Alcoholic Beverages and Tobacco, said Monday new tax forms are being mailed to the state's 32,000 liquor license holders this week.

Separate suits challenging part of the tax have been filed in Tampa and Tallahassee by groups representing restaurants, hotels and motels. Hearings in both cases are scheduled for Friday.

Lawmakers voted to increase the tax at Gov. Bob Graham's urging during a special session in July to raise money for education.

Half Measures Just Won't Do

The Reagan administration is pursuing a "two-track" policy in Central America: keeping the door open for diplomacy while strengthening U.S. allies militarily. The policy is sound enough, but its chances for success are being hamstrung by half measures and inadequate military aid.

Consider the levels of military aid to El Salvador, a country fighting an estimated 7,000 guerrillas armed by Cuba and Nicaragua. El Salvador has received only $56.3 million in military aid so far this year, 40 percent less than last year's total and only one-third of the amount requested of Congress by the Reagan administration.

The Salvadorans have scant hope of defeating the communist guerrillas unless they can expand their 22,000-man army, obtain enough helicopters to provide essential mobility, and develop a force of coastal patrol boats that can intercept arms shipped from Nicaragua across the Bay of Fonseca.

This would require U.S. aid at levels proposed by the president but rejected by Congress. To date, the levels of U.S. military aid to El Salvador totaled $35 million in 1981, $81 million in 1982, and $56.3 million so far this year — are barely adequate to keep the present Salvadoran forces in the field against the guerrillas. Salvadoran troops still suffer from grievous equipment deficiencies, critical shortages of ammunition, and, far worse, inadequate tactical training.

Which brings us to the restrictions on both the size and the activity of the 55-member U.S. military training group in El Salvador. It is safe to say that no American official in El Salvador believes that 55 trainers are enough to transform what was until recently a parade ground, garrison army into an effective fighting force.

And denying even these few trainers the opportunity to accompany Salvadoran troops on operations is doubly crippling. How else can their performance be evaluated and tactical mistakes corrected?

The Cuban army has at least 2,000 military advisers in Nicaragua. Increasing the number of U.S. trainers in El Salvador to one-tenth that number, and permitting them to venture into the field to observe, is the least the Reagan administration should propose if the Salvadorans are to have any chance at all of winning.

Even a negotiated settlement in El Salvador — hardly likely in any case — will almost certainly remain out of reach so long as the war remains stalemated. Why should the guerrillas agree to compete at the ballot box, as El Salvador's elected government has proposed, when they might still hope to seize power without risking electoral defeat?

The one alternative to sharply increased aid for El Salvador would be to shut off the flow of arms from Cuba through Nicaragua to the Salvadoran guerrillas. Cut off from their logistical storehouses in Cuba and Nicaragua, the guerrillas could be contained and eventually reduced to a mere nuisance.

A naval and air blockade of Cuba or Nicaragua could sever the arms pipeline. It would also be an act of war entailing risks the administration, to say nothing of Congress, seems disinclined to accept. A sea and air quarantine of Nicaragua could be almost as effective in intercepting arms shipments. It would also be less risky because, for one, it is not technically an act of war.

Even a quarantine might not be necessary, however, if Nicaragua's Marxist leaders could be pressured into abandoning their subversion of El Salvador and other neighboring states. Sustaining that pressure would require more, not less, U.S. funds for anti-communist Nicaraguan guerrillas. Which is why the recent House vote to end aid to the Nicaraguan contras is so potentially damaging.

No one — not Congress, not the Reagan administration, and not the American people — want to send U.S. forces into combat in Central America. The best way to avoid that last-ditch option is to provide adequate aid to U.S. allies, starting with El Salvador. Anything less only prolongs the bloodshed, precludes any chance of military success, and diminishes prospects for a negotiated settlement.

As the result of an inquiry in the Around the Clock column last week we have learned that the Susan Hausch sought by her childhood friend Judith Lester Kuenzli of Deer Park, Texas, is now Susan Gregory and is living in Gainesville.

Thanks to those who remembered the former Sanford resident and called in with clues as to her whereabouts.

Parents and pre-schoolers learn together at the Seminole Community College Parent-Child Co-Op. SCC, in cooperation with the Parent Resource Center, is offering a course entitled the Development of the Preschool Child (a parent-child co-op program) for moms, dads and pre-schoolers. The parenting education program begins August 31 and meets Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the First Pentecostal Church in Longwood.

Parents also attend a parenting class on Monday evenings. Cost of the course is $35 for seven weeks, plus a small materials fee. The program is designed to instruct the parents in areas such as discipline, sibling rivalry, creative activities and readiness skills. The parent actually participates in his or her child's laboratory school by working with the children on a scheduled basis in the nursery school lab located at the church.

Living Through Merit Pay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Reports from across the land indicate that education may be replacing the economy as this country's biggest political issue.

There seems to be a consensus of sorts that the federal government has done a pretty fair job of bringing down inflation rates. But the question of how to raise student test scores remains very much unsettled.

It apparently is as hard to answer as the question of how to bring down interest rates and the federal deficit.

All manners of novel suggestions have been advanced, some of which actually are realistic enough to serve as platform planks.

Merit pay for teachers is one proposal getting weighty consideration. The main bone of contention here is what formula to use to determine which teachers are meritorious.

I just hope the schools don't start looking to Congress for guidance in this matter. Although our lawmakers might get high marks in expressing opinions on such subjects as reducing interest rates and deficits, they almost surely would flunk pay scale fixing.

Allowing schoolteachers to fix their own salaries, the way members of Congress do, might contribute to the uplifting of educational standards. A better plan, however, would be for Congress to emulate the schools and adopt the merit pay system. Already there has been some talk along that line.

But as surely as there is disagreement over the method of determining which teachers deserve bonus pay raises, singling out deserving congressman isn't all that easy either.

At a recent Senate subcommittee hearing, a sort of remedial course in pay scale fixing, Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, set forth the idea of basing congressional salaries on moves to balance the federal budget.

"Some people have suggested it would be cheap for the taxpayers of America to give each member of Congress a million dollars a year if they'd balance the budget and pay off the deficit," he said.

There are, however, many other facets of the merit pay controversy that also come into play.

It might, for example, be argued that congressmen who go a whole year without being indicted should be entitled to merit pay.

Another possible criterion would link merit pay eligibility to whether a congressman gets through 12 months, or half a term, without being accused of sexually molesting congressional pages.

A third test could be whether a congressman's name is mentioned in connection with FBI investigations of drug abuse on Capitol Hill.

Some taxpayers probably would be reluctant to equate rectitude with balancing the budget; still, there's no gainsaying that walking the straight and narrow is no mean accomplishment.

The beauty is that Congress, unlike the nation's schools, already has in place the mechanism for rewarding meritorious performances.

WILLIAM RUSHER

Time To Look Ahead

NEW YORK (NEA) — Last week's announcement by the Bureau of Labor Statistics that civilian unemployment is down sharply to 9.5 percent is bad news for the Democrats, as they prepare to try to unhorse President Reagan next year, but don't count them out yet.

Nobody is accusing the Democrats of actually wanting high unemployment, to use as a campaign issue in 1984. But on the other hand, there is no law against a party out of power using whatever issues just happen to be lying around, and the Democrats have been clinging to the unemployment issue recently like castaways on a raft in the Bermuda Triangle. Now the raft is beginning to sink.

Issues like Debatagate (and whatever happened to that, by the way?) are all very well, but the state of the economy is what most Americans are most deeply interested in, and during 1982 the Democrats were in hog heaven. A severe recession had set in during 1981, and while that was a bit too early to blame it plausibly on President Reagan, he could be — and was — swiftly pilloried for failing to end it right away, preferably by reversing all his economic policies. Beginning late in 1981, and continuing through 1982, Democratic politicians and their Sancho Panzas in the media watched with grim satisfaction as one economic indicator after another dipped steadily lower. Any suggestion that the recession might be bottoming out was greeted with grumpy skepticism. The Democrats' off-year election gains in November 1982 unquestionably reflected public dissatisfaction with the economy, and their 1984 prospects looked fairly bright.

Then, early this year, the economic indicators turned unmistakably upward, and it became clear that the recession was over and a brisk recovery was under way. But unemployment, a statistic notoriously slow to rise at the beginning of a recession and equally sluggish about declining at its end, remained in the "double digits" — i.e. above 10 percent — and the Democrats refused to be consoled unless it, too, joined the trend.

Well, now it has gone so. The civilian unemployment rate today is just 2.4 percent higher than it was in the last year of the Carter-Mondale administration, and seems certain to fall significantly below its present level before Mr. Reagan faces the voters in November 1984. Add to that a drop of 50 percent in interest rates and the near-total elimination of inflation as a national economic problem, and you will begin to appreciate the Democrats' dilemma.

But they have been studying economists recently — a lot harder, one suspects, than they ever bothered to study it in the long years of their heyday — and they have noticed a point that has to be called, from their standpoint, encouraging.

The huge deficits forced on Mr. Reagan by almost untouchable domestic "entitlement" programs, by the requirements of defense, and by the refusal of Congress to cut domestic spending further, must be covered (if tax increases are ruled out — and they are, at least until after the election) either by heavy government borrowing or by inflating the currency. If the former, interest rates must rise to some degree as private industry competes desperately for the remaining credit — the oxygen of business. If the latter, price inflation must inevitably return to some uncertain extent.

But when will one or the other of these disagreeable consequences befall us? If, in 1984, the Reagan Recovery may be slowed, or even halted, in time to help Democrats very considerably in November. If not until 1985, Ronald Reagan will be back in the White House for another four years, and all set to reduce those deficits by taking an ax to entitlements and other domestic spending with even more enthusiasm than he showed during his first term.

Rally Against New Taxes

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Last year was a windfall for Washington lobbyists: It seemed as if every week, Congress was debating some legislation that pitted highly paid lobbyists against each other.

This year was going to be the lobbyists' year of rest, relatively speaking — but things aren't working out that way.

One of last year's most-lobbed issues was a "tax" on new home video recorders and recording tapes. It's still in committee, so the army of lobbyists representing video-recorder manufacturers is still squared off against the army of lobbyists representing the movie industry.

Other heavily lobbied issues — such as whether U.S. flagships must carry Alaskan oil, a topic that pits the energy industry against the maritime industry — are also stalled in committee.

In addition, Congress has introduced an issue that may become the most lobbied of all: new taxes — a lot of new taxes.

The first budget resolution, which cleared both houses in June, requires Congress to pass legislation this year that will raise an additional $73 billion in taxes in the fiscal years 1984-86, including at least $12 billion within the next fiscal year.

However, the budget resolution doesn't tell Congress where to find this new $73 billion, so every corporation and special-interest group has delivered a message to its lobbyists: Make sure that as little as possible of this new tax comes out of our pockets.

Congress isn't willing to extract any new taxes directly from individual taxpayers, nor does it seem disposed to raise all or most of the new revenue from just a few sources. Therefore, a "cats and dogs" revenue measure is required — which means getting a little here and a little there. However, when billions of dollars are involved, a little bit is a lot of money to the business or industry that has to pay it.

And so the newest lobbying war pits industry against industry, business lobby against business lobby and special interest against special interest. It's the kind of fight that the most hardened lobbyist greets with real glee, since it's the kind in which the really big money is spent.

Some battle lines are already forming, and one is likely to pit small and medium-sized corporations against the large, major corporations.

One way to collect new revenues is through a surtax on corporations — a tax on top of the tax they pay now. It's estimated that a 10 percent corporate surtax could raise $21 billion over the next three years. However, this would hit smaller corporations harder, since they lack the big firms' myriad write-offs and must therefore pay taxes at a higher rate.

If there must be new corporate taxes, the major corporate lobbyists would prefer a surtax, which would affect them less; however, small-business lobbyists will fight any surtax.

JACK ANDERSON

A Bad Law Is Kept Off The Books

WASHINGTON — Reporters aren't lobbyists, nor should they be. But sometimes the press does influence legislation. This is the story of an inquiry from my office that kept a bad law off the books.

It began with a lawsuit by a group of elderly and handicapped tenants of federally subsidized housing in affluent Westchester County, N.Y. They had been forced by their landlord to pay for meals whether they ate them or not.

The trouble was that some of the tenants had digestive problems and literally couldn't stomach the institutional meals they were required to buy. Others simply preferred their own cooking — but couldn't afford to pay for both sets of meals on their limited incomes.

So the tenants sued to get out of the mandatory meal program.

One tenant, 85-year-old Mary Arndell was forced to pay $90 a month for meals, so she decided she'd at least try them. "I immediately found I had trouble eating the... food," she stated in an affidavit. "It disagreed with my stomach and I frequently gagged. Nevertheless, I usually tried to eat some of the evening meal, because I could not afford both to pay for the 'Meal Service' and to buy and cook my own suppers."

The tenants had legal precedent on their side. Courts in Colorado and California have ruled against mandatory meals in subsidized housing. The Colorado tenants argued successfully that the meal payment was in effect an extra rent charge and therefore in violation of the law that limits subsidized tenants' rent to 30 percent of their income.

Faced with the virtual certainty of an unfavorable court decision in the Westchester suit, landlord interests successfully lobbied Congress for an innocent-looking amendment to the Omnibus Housing Bill of 1983. The amendment, buried in the 150-page bill, stated:

"Nothing in this section authorizes the Secretary (of Housing and Urban Development) to prohibit a required meals program, nor shall any provision of the U.S. Housing Act of 1937 be deemed to prohibit such a program or to require that payments under such a program be considered part of the rental charge for the unit."

In short, HUD would be powerless to stop landlords from requiring their subsidized tenants to pay for meals whether they wanted them or not. The Westchester tenants' lawsuit could be thrown out of court.

Alerted to this legislative sneak attack, my associate John Dillon called the office of Rep. Ferdinand St. Germain, D-R.I., chairman of the subcommittee where the amendment originated.

St. Germain's aides were flabbergasted. They said they had assumed the amendment was a "defensive action" designed to keep landlords from canceling meal programs — in other words, a legal protection for the subsidized housing tenants. "It was never the intent of this amendment to impose meals on people," a staff member said.

Working quickly and quietly, St. Germain pulled the amendment out of the housing bill before it reached the floor for a vote. The landlords will now be unable to force their hard-up tenants to buy meals they don't like and can't afford.

Haynes has been in Rotary since 1969, was president of his club in 1980-81 when he formed the new Leesburg Sunrise Breakfast Club and a Rotaract Club at Lake Sumter Community College.

He and his wife, Phyllis, make their home in Tavares. Rotarians in District 698 are reminded that the district conference will be held at Sheraton World Inn, Sea World, Orlando Sept. 29 and 30 and Oct. 1. Western Night is scheduled Oct. 8.

Reg. Howe, left, president of the Rotary Club of Sanford Inc., welcomes District Governor Chester H. Haynes.

Grindle Named To Symphony Board

William A. Nassal, regional vice president of the Mellon-Stuart Company and president of the Florida Symphony Society, has announced new members of the Symphony's Board of Directors: James Weinberg, president and owner of The Wall St. Company, Realtors; William Jordan, principal of Gresham, Smith and Partners; Gary Gilpin, president of Gilpin, Peyton and Pierce, Advertising; Florida State Rep. Art Grindle; city councilman Ernest Page, Arthur Giannone, president of Excuteone of Florida, Inc.; and Mrs. Vincent Arch of Arch and Associates.

To this end and since the Symphony's 1983-84 Thursday Subscription Series is nearly sold out, the orchestra has added a three concert classical mini-series on Saturday nights. This "Saturday Night at the Symphony" series begins Oct. 29 with Maestro Sidney Rothstein conducting and concludes with the final performance Dec. 3. Brochures and ticket order forms will be available at the Symphony office (894-2011) after Aug. 22.

Ticket prices for the series are $37.50 and $25.00. "We feel that these popularly priced series tickets and the new night will allow us to sell to a new group of music lovers," said Ruth Anne Arch, vice president of the Symphony League and Saturday Night ticket chairman. The Florida Symphony League begins a ticket sales campaign later this month.

Grieving Mom's Words To Youth: Cocaine Kills

DEAR ABBY: Last Feb. 12, my dear friend, Beverly, called to tell me that Kurt, her 25-year-old son, had died of an overdose of cocaine. I was shocked!

At Kurt's funeral, the minister read a letter that Beverly had written and asked him to read at the service.

I have Beverly's permission to send it to you, Abby, because in her words, "If it saves just one life, it will be worthwhile."

KURT'S GODMOTHER

DEAR READERS: Here's Beverly's letter (in part):

"All of us share a terrible grief, and now I want to share my feelings with you:

"Kurt died of an overdose of cocaine. At first I couldn't even say those words, but now I want to say them over and over again so you, his friends, will not forget them. Since Kurt's death, almost all of you have said to me, 'If there is anything I can do for you, please let me know.'

"All right, I am letting you know what you can do, not only for me, but for yourselves. Please take care of your precious bodies and make a solemn promise that what happened to Kurt will never happen to you.

"Since this happened to Kurt, many of you have told me that you have used cocaine, but you won't use it anymore. I am not only asking you — I am begging you — to stop! It's too late for Kurt, but it's not too late for you.

"Don't hurt yourself. Don't hurt your family. Don't hurt your friends. We all loved Kurt so much we don't want to believe this nightmare. But it is true. It happened!

"Cocaine kills. "If Kurt's death can save just one of you, he will not have died in vain."

DEAR ABBY: I am getting married soon and have made arrangements to have our wedding ceremony videotaped.

I don't want to risk having our expensive video ruined by crying babies and unpredictable toddlers, so I have tried to make sure there will be no small children at the ceremony. That doesn't mean I don't like kids. I love them. But not at my wedding.

Dear Abby

This is my wedding, my expense and my choice, so I wrote "No children, please," on all the invitations addressed to those with small children. Now I'm getting response cards back from these people with the names of their children written in!

Abby, what gives them the right to bring their children when I have asked them not to? Our church has no nursery. I checked.

What can be done to keep the kids out?

UPSET IN UPLAND, CALIF.

DEAR UPSET: Short of posting guards at the door to prevent anyone from smuggling a child in, nothing can be done.

To ignore your request is inexcusably rude. Discuss this with your clergyman.

DEAR ABBY: To the 49-year-old divorced man who raised his kids, and now finds he is not willing to raise someone else's: Did it ever occur to him to look for someone his own age, someone whose kids are also grown and "out of the nest?"

He might even find a better bed partner in that age group because she doesn't have to worry about getting pregnant!

SIXTY AND STILL SEXY IN BEND, ORE.

DEAR ABBY: My purse was stolen today, and I am heartsick. I had many personal items in it that can never be replaced — pictures of my kids from the time they were babies, and some letters I treasured. I had some personal papers, my checkbook, credit cards, my address book, unlisted telephone numbers, keys.

'Dream Team' Opens Series With Madison

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

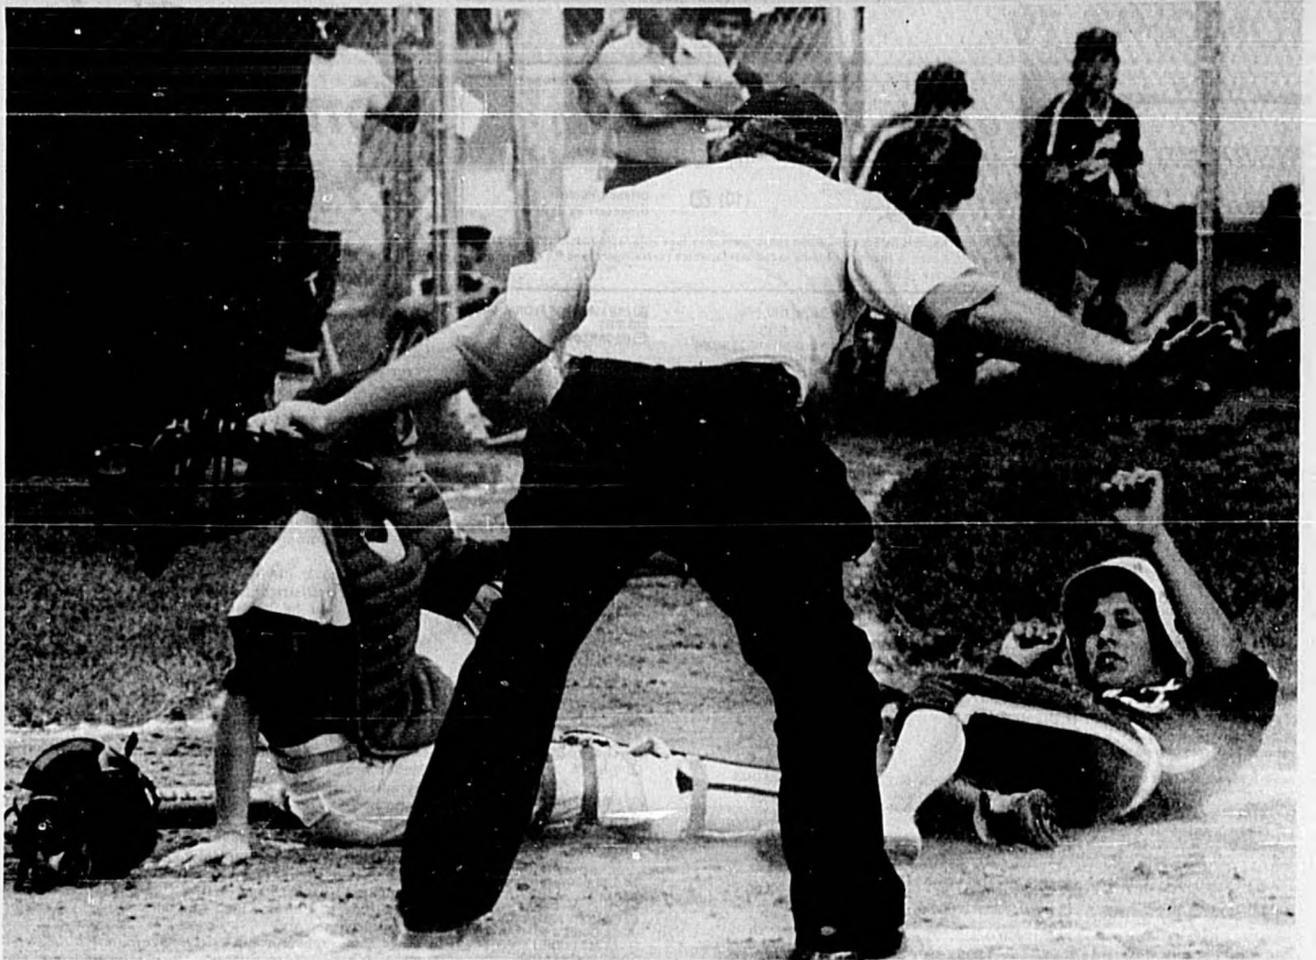

Scoring runs has not been a problem for the Altamonte's 'Dream Team', the Junior League All-Stars. Preventing runs has been almost as easy, too. Altamonte carries a 13-2 tournament record which includes an average of 10.1 runs per game into the third annual Little League Junior World Series tonight against Madison, Wisconsin at 5 p.m. in Taylor (near Detroit), Michigan. The winner of tonight's game goes on to play Seaford, Delaware Wednesday night at 5 while the loser plays a loser's bracket game Wednesday at 2 p.m.

World Series

Even though they are scoring at will, Altamonte would need only about half that 10.1 average with the way the pitchers are performing. The pitching staff is allowing just two runs per game and has seven shutouts to its credit. The lefthanded trio of Greg Ebbert, Jeff Hagen and Cory Prom have been awesome for Altamonte. Ebbert has compiled a 5-1 record which includes four shutouts and a no-hitter which he tossed against Jacksonville Highlands in the Sectional Tournament. Hagen has a perfect 5-0 record and he picked up the Southern Regional clinching victory this past Saturday in Eustis. Prom has been the ace out of the bullpen. He has a 2-0 record and turned in the relief performance of the tournament when he saved the game against Lake Charles, Louisiana in Altamonte's opening game in the Southern Regional.

In the hitting department, the first five hitters in the lineup are batting over .350 and the team carries a .344 average. Leadoff man Matt Lange has a .360 average that includes 18 runs and he has also stolen 19 bases. Second hitter Eric Martinez has a .447 average (22 for 44) and he also leads in RBI with 17, stolen bases with 20 and is tied for the lead in runs scored with 22. Third hitter Chris Brock has a .448 average that includes 16 RBI and 22 runs scored. Cleanup man Ernest Martinez is hitting at a .370 clip with 11 RBI and 20 runs while fifth hitter Randy Green is hitting .350 with eight RBI and 13 runs.

The Big League World Series in Fort Lauderdale was marred by rain Monday as District 14's (Central Florida area players) game against Puerto Rico was suspended in the fifth inning with District 14 batting and the score tied, 3-3. The game was scheduled to restart from where it was left off today at noon.

Altamonte's Anthony Laszalc slides home safely, as stunned Texas catcher Kevin Jernigan looks on, with one of 12 runs the Altamonte 13-year olds put on the board Saturday in clinching the Little League Junior All-Stars Southern Regional title over West University, Texas. Altamonte outscored the Texas champions, 31-1, in the two games they played. Saturday, Laszalc started his first game since breaking his wrist after Altamonte's second tournament game. With the Region crown, Altamonte advanced to the third annual Junior League World Series which gets underway today in Taylor (near Detroit), Michigan. The Altamonte team has compiled some pretty impressive statistics en route to a 13-2 tournament record.

Rogers Sails To Victory

NEW SMYRNA BEACH — In front of the largest attendance since the World Series, David Rogers drove the Budweiser Firebird to victory in the 25-lap late model feature on Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway, and the Bud man himself was there to greet him in the victory lane.

Auto Racing

Warming up for this Saturday night's 50-lap thunder car Championship, Barry Ownby defeated a full 27-car field to win the feature, besting Joe Coupas, Jerry Fitch, Ricky Wood and 21-year old Mike Goldberg of Ormond Beach. Goldberg, a rookie stock-car racer, is an 11-year veteran Grand Prix kart racer who still competes in the expert class.

In street stock action, the Fords were running strong, with veteran Wild Bill Kinley's Cougar taking the win over young Casey Hawthorne's Mustang. Third was division's high point man Rick Clouser, followed by the 1970 Nova 350 of Ben Booth, a much improved pilot who should drive down Victory Lane in the near future.

Driving the W.G. Watts Pinto, young Stan Eads survived a tough, contact-filled event to win the four-cylinder finale. Second to fifth were Bob Clark, Bob Piekarz, Ike Roland and Bill Martin.

Former street racer Joe Berry of Holly Hill won the Great American Sack Race, while totally blind driver "Big Danny" McCune was eliminated in a wild heat race crash involving four cars. Norm Selvidge took the Giant Demolition Derby, with Jeff Rinehart ending up in second place.

Spectator races victors were Rick Clouser and Kurt Yoachum.

Heim Hurls Corsairs To Metro Title

Softball

Barb Heim picked up four pitching victories and allowed just seven runs in the process to lead the Orlando Prosthetics Corsairs to the Metro Orlando A.S.A. Women's C Softball Championship at Orlando's Varner Stadium. The next stop for Corsairs is Dothan, Alabama for the Southern Regionals set for September 9-11.

En route to the title, Corsairs, the Altamonte Women's Softball champions, ousted Pizza Station, 12-3, McLeod Construction, 3-2, Lappin Sheetmetal, 11-2, and Jimmy Bryan Toyota, 2-0, in the finals.

Heim, the Seminole County High School Player of the Year, had an Earned Run Average of just 1.30 in the four games and she allowed just two hits in the final game victory.

The defense behind Heim was superb, committing only four errors in the tourney. The infield is composed of the Lake Howell double play combination of Mary Johnson at shortstop and Sandy Gillies at second base. Faye Denniston at third base, Denise Morrow at first base and Pam Tucker behind the plate. The outfielders include Jenny Whitmer, Eileen Thiebauth, Stephanie Kinser, Stacy Carpenter and Mary Meier.

Morrow led the hit parade with a .642 average including nine hits, five RBI and two home runs. Thiebauth, an All-District performer at Lake Howell High, hit at a .615 clip for Corsairs with a double, triple and seven RBI. Gillies hit .571, Tucker .545, Whitmer .533, Denniston .466, Kinser .461, Johnson .446 and Meier .400.

"It was a great team effort," Corsairs coach Allan King said. "We couldn't name one MVP, they all played so well."

After winning the Metro title, Corsairs played a two-game series against the Bandits who tied them in Altamonte regular season play and finished fifth in the Metro tourney. The result was 1-0 and 11-4 victories for Corsairs.

The first game was all pitching and great defense as Heim and Ellen Rich locked horns in a classic pitching duel. The game remained a scoreless tie until Corsairs broke it up in the bottom of the seventh. Whitmer led off with a single, but was forced at second on a Gillies grounder. Morrow then belted a shot over the center fielder's head for a triple and Gillies slid home safely with the winning run.

Corsairs is currently trying to raise funds for lodging, food and transportation for the Southern Regionals.

"Any donations from civic organizations, merchants or individuals would be greatly appreciated," King said. "Corsairs has a well-balanced team and has a good chance to bring home the title."

For more information on donations contact Allan King at 831-8082 or Bob Gillies at 671-4896.

The Seminole Indians returned from the National 12-14-year olds tournament in Pine Bluff, Arkansas with a 1-2 record, winning its first game and dropping its next two. Kimberly Steinke and Tonya Colvin had outstanding tournaments for the Indians. See Wednesday's Evening Herald for a complete run down of the Indians' performance at the National tourney.

BOB HORNER JOHN LOWENSTEIN

Braves Lose Game, Horner; Lowenstein Lifts Baltimore

By United Press International
Next year, the Atlanta Braves will probably leave Chief Noc-A-Homa alone, with no reservations.

Last season, when the Atlanta Braves removed the chief's teepee to make room for more seats, the club proceeded to lose 19 of 21 games and nearly blow the division.

Tempting the Noc-A-Homa Jim Cox again this year, the Braves evicted their cheerleader and promptly suffered more consequences. They dropped two of three to the Los Angeles Dodgers and, in Monday night's 4-0 loss to the San Diego Padres, lost third baseman Bob Horner for the rest of the regular season with a broken wrist.

Horner broke a navicular bone in his right wrist while sliding into second base during the fourth inning. The wrist was placed in a cast. Horner was hitting .303 with 20 home runs and 68 RBI in 104 games this year.

It was a bitter development for the Braves, who were also manhandled by Dave Dravecky and Tony Gwynn. Dravecky hurled a five-hitter for his first major-league shutout and Gwynn drove in two runs with a pair of infield hits to lead the Padres.

Pirates 4, Mets 2
At Pittsburgh, Bill Madlock smashed a two-run homer, rookie Doug Frobel added a solo shot and rookie Jose DeLeon, 3-2, pitched a four-hitter over 8 1/3 innings to help the Pirates extend their winning streak to four games. Kent Tekulve notched his 15th save. Mike Torrez, 6-14, took the loss.

Baseball

Phillies 5, Cubs 0

At Chicago, Mike Schmidt's seventh career grand slam capped a five-run eighth that gave Steve Carlton, 12-11, his 297th career victory. Schmidt's 27th homer came off Lee Smith and made a loser of Steve Trout, 9-10. Carlton struck out 11 to up his all-time mark to 3,637 — 18 ahead of Houston's Nolan Ryan.

Astros 9, Reds 1

At Cincinnati, Jose Cruz drove in five runs with two homers, and Bob Knepper, 5-11, notched his first victory since July 19 to power the Astros. Cincinnati starter and loser Bruce Berenyi, 6-12, gave up four runs in two innings. Knepper lost his shutout in the ninth on an RBI groundout by Nick Esasky.

Expos 9, Cardinals 1

At St. Louis, Tim Lincecum sacrificed in the eighth inning broke a 1-1 tie and Gary Carter hit 14th home run of the season to hand the Cardinals their 12th loss in 14 games and their seventh straight home loss. The decision broke a three-game Expos' losing streak. Charlie Lea, 9-9, was the winner.

Giants 7, Dodgers 3

At Los Angeles, Darrell Evans hit a two-run homer in the first inning Fred Breining snapped a personal five-game losing streak, pacing the Giants. In recording his first victory since June 15, Breining, 7-9, pitched a six-hitter. San Francisco handed Burt Hooton, 8-7, his fifth straight loss.

ARLINGTON, Texas (UPI) — Darkness had already fallen on Arlington Stadium Monday night, but John Lowenstein made things positively gloomy for the Texas Rangers.

"I see the ball exceptionally well after the first inning here, because that's when the sun goes down," said Lowenstein, whose three-run homer in the sixth inning broke a scoreless tie and ignited a five-run rally that gave the Baltimore Orioles a 6-4 victory over the Rangers.

Brewers 2, Red Sox 0

At Milwaukee, Ben Oglivie blooped a two-run single in the first inning and Moose Haas won his seventh straight to lead the Brewers.

White Sox 1, Yankees 0

At New York, Britt Burns tossed a three-hitter in his first start since July 31 and Tom Paclorek drove in the game's only run with a first-inning sacrifice fly.

Blue Jays 3, Indians 2

At Cleveland, reliever Jamie Easterly walked Willie Upshaw with the bases loaded in the ninth inning to force in Dave Collins and lift the Blue Jays.

Royals 6, Tigers 4

At Kansas City, Mo., Frank White's two-run triple keyed a three-run sixth inning that carried the Royals and Gura, 10-14, to victory.

Twins 7, Mariners 4

Gary Gaetti and Tom Brunansky each homered to lead a 15-hit attack that powered the Twins and Frank Viola, 6-10.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Four Sign With Wesleyan; School Registration Set

Three Seminole County baseball players and one from Volusia County have signed grants-in-aid to play the 1983-84 season for manager Denny Pott at Kentucky Wesleyan University in Owensboro, Kentucky. All four players sharpened their skills over the summer in the Buddy Lake Summer League at Sanford Memorial Stadium.

Kenny Brown a standout third baseman and master baserunner from Lyman High signed along with Oviedo's Dwayne Johnson who caught and pitched for coach Howard Mable's Lions in 1983. Former Seminole High standout Greg Register also signed along with John Brenner out of DeLand High and St. John's Community College.

In other baseball news, Florida Baseball Schools will hold registration for Fall classes starting Saturday, September 10 at 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. Registration will continue for 10 Saturdays and the fee is $95. For more information contact Wes Rinker at 323-1046.

Tribe Swim Practice Set

Seminole High swimming coach Donalyn Knight will hold practice for anyone interested in joining the swim team beginning Monday, August 22 at 6 a.m. at the Sanford Bath & Tennis Club. Practice will be held every day of that week from 6 until 7:30 a.m. Knight is the coach of both the boys team and girls team and practice is for both teams from freshman through seniors.

Puerto Rico Stuns U.S.

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — As upsets go, this one had to rank right up there with Chamblaine over Virginia in college basketball.

The powerful United States' women's softball team had never given up a run to Puerto Rico in three previous meetings, yet when the final out was made Monday it was Puerto Rico that emerged with a 6-5 victory on the opening day of competition in the Pan American Games.

Led by American-born relief pitcher Donna Terry, Puerto Rico stunned the U.S. with three runs in each of the first two innings against ace pitcher Barbara Reinolda and held on to score what Terry termed "the greatest victory in the history of Puerto Rican women's softball."

"I want everyone to know that we came here to win the gold medal in softball and that is why we went all out to get our first victory in this match," said an ecstatic Terry.

"I feel very happy because we beat one of the giants of this tournament. It is a great satisfaction to win. We hope that this will be the start of a chain of victories that will bring us the gold medal in the Pan American Games."

As it turned out, Puerto Rico squeaked by the Netherlands Antilles, 3-2, and the day went down in history as one of the finest in the history of Puerto Rican women's athletics.

'Mr. Intensity'

Seminole High assistant football coach Dave Mosure works out with the Tribe Monday on the opening day of prep football practice. Seminole is holding two-a-day workouts in preparation for the upcoming season in which the 'Noles are looking to get back in the thick of things after last year's 0-10 record.

Let Sanford Pain Clinic Get To Source Of Headache

Of all the so-called triumphs of the pharmaceutical industry, said Dr. Thomas F. Yandell, Sanford chiropractor, "the 'headache remedy' is the most dangerous to life and health."

"This is not to say that headache remedies are virulent poisons, in themselves dangerous to life — although our government at times had to prohibit distribution of certain types for that precise reason," he added.

"The real trouble is that the less toxic and the more apparently 'effective' a headache remedy is, the more dangerous it becomes," he said. "A headache remedy overthrows or suppresses a mere symptom, while the trouble causing the symptom, remains to progress in gravity, often until a serious condition develops."

Pain of any sort is the alarm bell which nature employs, to signal trouble. Remember this when a headache occurs, you flirt with tragedy when you treat a headache rather than its cause.

Dr. Thomas F. Yandell, of Sanford Pain Control Clinic.

Some headaches have a simple explanation, such as those of the "morning after" an evening of overindulgence in drink or food. Any other headache, particularly if chronic or recurring, is a warning signal which will send any careful person to his doctor or chiropractor.

Intermediate causes of headache are many. They may include digestive, eliminative, kidney and heart troubles, eye troubles (chiefly eyestrain), infected tonsils, nerve pressure from spinal conditions and sometimes, though very rarely, brain trouble itself. In women, disorders of the reproductive system often are the cause of headaches.

Dr. Yandell provides a primary service to prevent, diagnose and treat health problems for the whole family through chiropractic at his Sanford Pain Control Clinic at 2017 S. French Ave., Sanford.

Determining the basic cause of an illness and effecting its correction without the use of dangerous drugs are the special skills of Dr. Yandell. So when a headache troubles you call for an appointment at 323-5763.

"Do not delude yourself that your trouble is a simple one which can be easily corrected with an 89-cent package of 'Pain Killers.'"

Headaches can, of course, result from many conditions. But research has revealed that a common cause of headaches can be traced to the area of the cervical vertebrae (spinal bones of the neck.) Because the neck is extremely mobile, there is constant danger of displacement of one or more of these vertebrae, which may compress and irritate the cervical nerves.

Migraine headache is particularly distressing. It has been determined that it is usually caused by irritation of the upper cervical nerves which affects the cranial nerve fibers and results in the throbbing pain associated with migraine, and which later becomes a steady, dull pain in the "temple" area.

Through reflex action, this condition also may result in stomach or liver pains, nausea, vomiting, fast heart beat and other upsets of internal organs.

Certain activities and vocations may cause unusual stress in the neck. Athletes, mechanics, homemakers, office workers, farmers and others who must twist or maintain unnatural positions for any length of time at their work are especially susceptible to cervical nerve irritation.

The first problem a headache presents is determination of the condition developing under its cover. Correction of the cause must follow. When you seek chiropractic care for headaches, you will be utilizing the most advanced methods available.

Remember, heeding the headache warning can avert serious complications. For safe, quick, and effective headache treatment come to Sanford Pain Control Clinic first.

Dr. Yandell specializes in acupuncture, weight control, pain control and nutritional counseling.

Beat-Up Bodies Made Beautiful

It's name is TLC Custom Body Shop and Garage and "TLC" is what owner Richard Hollands and his staff give to vehicles that come into the shop.

Richard loves cars. He's worked for 19 years in painting, body work and mechanical repairs and he's not afraid to take on tough jobs.

"We specialize in rust work and fabricating our own parts," he said.

The shop, located at 3416 1/2 S. Orlando Ave., Sanford, is busy with work progressing on several cars at the same time.

And what cars they are — vintage Mustangs, GTOs, '65 Falcon convertibles and a 1979 Eldorado. Some of them have been towed in as empty hulks, but they will leave as beautifully restored cars.

Richard's pride and joy is a van, which was purchased from Continental Foods Service by Charlie Jackson — owner of Tip Top Grocery, Sanford. Although the van looked like a disaster when it came into the shop, it has been restored completely. Richard explained how the bed of the van had been virtually eaten away and rust holes were everywhere — inside and out.

During the 500 to 600 hours of working on the van, many steps took place. In some cases the rust was so bad that portions of the van had to be cut away and new metal was braised into place, then metal conditioned. Structural metal frame work was made and placed the whole length of the van. Then plywood was used to cover the interior and the whole van was undercoated to prevent rust. The finished product, said Richard, is a fully customized van that is soundproof, rustproof, fully insulated, custom carpeted, and trimmed with chrome and birch paneling.

Both the interior and exterior colors were carefully made to blend together from three main colors of red and two tinted reds. Hollands said one feature he offers is a two-step painting process that is actually a five-year no-wax finish.

"You can't get this on a new car," he said. "You have to repaint it."

He said the paint will resist bugs, tar, chipping and solvents.

Richard also has a unique call back system. He wants customers to bring their vehicles in every six months for a check-up. If problems arise or materials don't hold up as they should, he'll make things right.

That's all a part of the high quality service Hollands delivers. No job is too big or too small, he said.

TLC is equipped to handle mechanical repairs as well.

Richard would be glad to discuss any automobile problems you may have by appointment only. Free written estimates are made on all work to be performed at TLC.

So come in and see what TLC can do for your car or call Richard at 321-0149.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY
 AUGUST 17, 1983
 Social momentum will accelerate considerably as the year rolls on. It is also very likely you'll play a prominent role in a new group involvement.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Unwarranted extravagances are no-nos but, by the same token, don't count pennies today and stop yourself from having a good time. Leo predictions for the year ahead are now ready. Romance, career, luck, earnings, travel and much more are discussed. Send $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign. Send an additional $2 for the NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet. Reveals romantic compatibilities for all signs.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Allow yourself ample time before making obligatory commitments today. Study situations thoroughly and you'll do what's best for everyone.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Do not put limitations on your thinking today. In fact, the higher you raise your hopes the greater your chances are for success.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Try not to be overly influenced by the negative comments of associates today. You can be successful in situations where they may fall flat.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll accomplish what you set out to do today, but not necessarily on your first try. Instead of quitting, exert a stronger second effort.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) In any commercial dealings today, don't jump at the first price. If you bargain a bit, you may get a hefty discount.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Partnership involvements could be rather tricky today. However, if you are tactful and diplomatic, all will work out well.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In handling large issues today you'll conduct yourself so as to win the respect of others, but in trivial situations you might not behave as well.

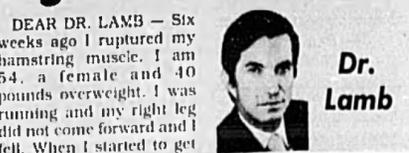

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your social plans might be disrupted today, but don't let this upset you. Something much more exciting and fun could replace them.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Family issues can be resolved today within the confines of your own household. Don't allow outsiders to stir up the waters.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Friends will be delighted to see you today, provided you don't drop in unexpectedly. Call first to be sure your visit doesn't disrupt their plans.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your possibilities for personal gain look promising today, but you must be businesslike—even if you're dealing with pals.

Stretch Before A Vigorous Workout

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB—Six weeks ago I ruptured my hamstring muscle. I am 54, a female and 40 pounds overweight. I was running and my right leg did not come forward and I fell. When I started to get up, it felt like I had a cramp. When I tried to walk I realized something was wrong. My leg would not come forward except very slowly.

I had to drive home and had to lift my foot to the brake and press with my hand on my knee. The back of my thigh was very uncomfortable on the seat edge.

Four hours later I was in agony. The doctor prescribed medication for inflammation. The leg was beginning to swell and was two inches larger than the other side. I had torn some blood vessels and the effects were becoming visible. Within five days I was black and blue from my lower buttocks to below my knee. I could not sit or get up or down easily. Six weeks later I still cannot sit or drive a car comfortably. Is there anything I can do to help take away the soreness?

DEAR READER—You might benefit from physical therapy. When you rupture a muscle it is helpful to have stretching exercises early after the initial healing. That helps prevent shortening of the involved muscle from scars.

And such injuries can often be prevented with a good stretching program which involves stretching before vigorous exercise. You probably tore your hamstring muscles at the back of your thigh when you were running because the quadriceps over the front of your thigh failed to relax when the hamstrings contracted to bend your knee.

A simple stretching exercise for the quadriceps that can be used daily and before running is to simply stand on one leg. Then bend the other knee to bring your heel upward to your buttocks. Grasp your toe and pull the heel against the buttocks. You will feel the pull on the muscles over the front of the thigh. Don't overstretch but hold it for 30 or 60 seconds.

I have outlined some general stretching exercises in the Health Letter 19-10, Stretching and Flexibility, which I am sending you.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Recently, during an examination for glasses, a routine check for glaucoma was done. When I picked up my new glasses a week later the check was done again, twice for accuracy. All three times the pressure was 26.

The person doing the check said 26 was high. No one has suggested I see an ophthalmologist and I am worrying about it. Is 26 high and do you suggest I see an ophthalmologist?

DEAR READER—The pressure inside the eye can go to 20. It is generally believed the eye can withstand pressures of up to 20 indefinitely.

The fact that your pressure is 26 certainly means it is higher than normal. You may be able to tolerate it, but I do think it is quite important that you see an ophthalmologist. He may wish to do additional tests to evaluate the significance of your pressure reading.

Increased pressure in the eyes can sneak up on you without causing any symptoms. It is important to find it before it does cause any.

WIN AT BRIDGE

when no-trump is available.

South should have raised to the no-trump game instead of insisting on his five-card trump suit.

West opened and continued spades. East chucked the 10 of clubs on the second spade and completed the echo with the deuce on the third one, which South ruffed.

Now South started to pull trumps. East showed out on the second, and South saw that West was holding the same number of trumps that he held. It looked as if he was going to go down since the club finesse appeared to be a sure loser.

Then South found a way out of his troubles. He took his last two trumps to make the hand a no-trumper. On the last trump he chucked dummy's ace of clubs.

Then he took dummy's top diamonds and led the club jack. East could take his king or duck, but South's jack of diamonds had become the contract trick.

In whist and in auction bridge the honor bonuses were big enough to make it good policy to try hard to take advantage of them. In contract a 100- or 150-point bonus is not to be sneezed at, but at the same time it is not a large enough bonus to warrant insisting on playing a suit
