Special Prosecutor For Organized Crime

Area State Attorneys Balk At Graham Proposal

By Britt Smith

Herald Staff Writer Gov. Bob Graham and Florida's 20 state attorneys may be at loggerheads over a plan to appoint a statewide special prosecutor to combat organized crime. Not that either side is soft on organized crime, it's just that they can't agree on the best way to fight it.

A commission Graham appointed last summer to study the issue is scheduled to meet later this month to review the prosecutor proposal and have a final recommendation to the governor by the end of the month.

Whatever is ultimately approved would probably require a constitutional amendment because the state Constitution specifically gives the power of prosecuting criminal cases to the state atterneys. It would also have to be passed by the Legislature and submitted to the voters, probably not until the 1986 general election.

But if the sentiment of Central Florida state attorneys is any indication, the idea of an organized crime prosecutor is in for some tough sled-

Two of the three said a special prosecutor is not needed, indicating that they can adequately handle any case that comes into their offices. The third, newly-elected Seminole-Brevard State Attorney Norm Wolfinger, said he isn't familiar enough with the proposal to comment. The problem, according to Barbara Linthicum, Graham's assistant general counsel, is not with the state attorneys.

it's the way the prosecutorial system is

"The state attorneys are not reluctant to prosecute organized crime," Ms. Linthicum said. "It's just that the structure we have makes it a little

City Starts Trash, Litter Crackdown

By Donna Estes Herald Btaff Writer

Sanford has begun a crackdown on property owners leaving trash and garbage on land near McCracken Road and the city commission will take up the stalled arbor ordinance at today's 7 p.m. meeting.

The ordinance got bogged down in the adoption process

On Commissioner Bob Thomas' specific complaint about trash and garbage on a tract 50 feet south of McCracken Road lying between the convenience store and the railroad, the city has begun the legal process of notifying Kenneth McIntosh, trustee of the tract, about the complaint.

A notice has also been sent, on Thomas' complaint, to the Seminole County School Board demanding it clean up its pro-perty 50 feet south of McCracken

Under city regulations, the time to clean up their property or the city will do it for them and bill them. Failure to pay the city bill can result in a lien being filed against the property.

Cleanup has already begun by city crews on the McCracken Road right-of-way, also after Thomas' complaint.

Knowles said the area was cleaned a few months ago, but it is again heavily littered. "A cleanup by city personnel in underway on the public right of way and notice have been sent to private owners," he said.

The proposed arbor ordinance, designed to protect city trees from destruction, originated last year with the Garden Club.

But, it was tabled after a second public hearing last July, at the request of the city's Garden Club, after its members found it too restrictive.

The proposal included a section forbidding all property owners from cutting down or destroying certain trees without a permit from the city. City Attorney Bill Colbert said at the time the proposed law as written would apply to the owners of single family homes.

City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles told commissioners at the time that a minimum of $22,000 would have to be included in the 1984-85 city budget to fund an arbor inspector, a vehicle and a radio if the ordinance were adopted.

The commissioners did not include the funding in the

Thomas, particularly, has complained about trash and garbage on property within the community especially adjacent to McCracken Road, near Airport Boulevard. He said the properties are havens for rats and other vermin. And, he said, it is unlikely city residents are dumping debris on those lands because Sanford residents have

Cancer Patients Slap Banning Of Laetrile Hacker To Hero

MIAMI (UPI) — Cancer patients criticized officials who decided to ban the sale of the drug Lactrile in Florida in a ruling that orders pharmacles to get rid of the substance derived from apricot pits within 30 days.

The ruling by the state Board of Osteopathic Medical Examiners came Saturday on a 4-3 vote that drew fire from more than two dozen cancer patients who attended the board meeting.

"Let us make our own decision," one cancer patient shouted during the proceedings.

The decision to ban the manufacture, sale or use of Lactrile in Florida came four years after the state Board of Medical Examiners pronounced Lactrile unsafe.

A law enacted in 1977 outlawed Lactrile in Florida only if both boards agreed. The osteopathic board had twice rejected proposals to prohibit fuse of the drug, but reversed that position Saturday.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has said there is no evidence Lactrile is of any use in combatting cancer and a Mayo Clinic study agreed. The Lactrile issue caused a storm of controversy across the nation in the 1970s.

Some patients and doctors called it a miracle cure for cancer, while most experts argued Lactrile was dangerous for two reasons - it contains cyanide and it encourages patients to avoid standard cancer treatment.

"It's unfair to the individual (cancer patient) to let them think Lactrile is effective," said Louis Larmoyeux, a member of the osteopathic board. "We all know chemotherapy is bad, surgery is bad, radiation is bad, but they're more effective at controlling the disease."

Al Schaeffer, president of a cancer patients' organization in Palm Beach, said his members would ignore the ruling.

"People are going to continue to take Lactrile." Schaeffer said. "We're going to be lawbreakers." While Lactrile has been legal in Florida, few doctors prescribed it and it was generally difficult to obtain. Many patients who used it obtained their supplies from Mexico or California.

Now that both medical boards have agreed to ban the drug. Lactrile must come off the shelves of any pharmacies that do stock it within 30 days.

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) - It took a high school sophomore just 45 minutes to untangle a complicated computer code that had stumped police for nearly a month in gathering evidence against a computer programmer in a child sex abuse case.

"Well, I've been doing it all my life so I think I'm used to it," he said. "But it does have a certain sense of power."

The acx investigation began late last year when the suspect, Lyle Patton, was charged with paying a 13-year-old boy for sex. Police searched his apartment and seized compter discs they believed held details of sexual encounters with other children.

But investigators could not prove it because the computer files were protected by a secret code. Sgt. Jim Martin, the department's resident computer expert, could not find a way around the unknown password, so they called in Leppik.

Since the suspect is also a computer expert. the task was more complicated than Leppik expected. But after a few attempts he bypassed the password and retrieved the data. The discs contained page after page of graphic narrative about sexual involvement with juvenile boys, just as police expected. The files include first names and general locations around the Minneapolis-St. Paul area.

Martin said it is not yet known whether the accounts are fact or fantasy. "I need to be able to identify these kids now and get statements from them and that kind of thing to make more criminal cases."

Stockman: President Will Fall Short Of Deficit-Cutting Goal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, who has already given up hope of balancing the budget and instead is seeking to reduce the federal deficit by half before 1988. may fall short of that goal as well, budget director David Stockman acknowledged Sunday that his own pessimistic deficit projections, which have risen in the last few weeks, indicate Reagan will not be able to cut the deficit to $100 billion or less by Sept. 30, 1988.

Stockman said Reagan should be at or near his targets for 1986, but complained the numbers for the last two years of the budget plan "get increasingly soft."

Stockman, whose estimates show the president $40 billion from his target of a $100 billion deficit in 1988, said the balanced budget Reagan promised as a candidate cannot be considered anything but a long-term objective.

Girl Rescued After Wild Chase

ALVARADO, Texas (UPI) - Five suspects accused of kidnapping the 13-year-old daughter of a banker were arrested and two of them were wounded during a wild dash across three north Texas countles.

The girl, Amy McNiel, was rescued unhurt after the chase, which wound through Titus, Franklin and Hopkins counties at speeds of 100 mph, and ended only after the suspects' car ran out of gas.

The alleged kidnappers came out of their car firing at Texas Rangers and FBI agents, who had chased them by ground and air through northeast Texas. Officers returned fire, wounding two suspects. They were in fair condition late Sunday at Parkland Memorial Hospital in Dallas, where they were transported after being arraigned on aggravated kidnapping charges at a Franklin County hospital earlier in the day.

The cost of cardiovascular trouble can be counted in more than lost lives. The disease will drain close to $72.1 billion from the U.S. economy this year, with most of the total spent on doctor

GOP Leaders Call For Flat Tax

WASHINGTON (UPI) - House Republican leaders today recommended simplifying the federal tax code, and called for broad-based spending reductions to bring spending under control but underscored the need for a strong military at the same time.

The recommendations, among 252 listed in a book "Ideas for Tomorrow, Choices for Today," were made by the House Republican Research Committee.

The ideas were scheduled to be discussed later today by House GOP leader Robert Michel of Illinois, Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., chairman of the GOP conference, and Rep. Jerry Lewis, R-Calif., head of the research panel.

All quarters are talking compromise," Lewis said in releasing the report. "Policy should drive the budget. Our challenge is not just to cut spending but to craft innovative ways to do the people's bust-

"House Republicans believe in a government that fosters individual initiative, helps those who cannot help themselves and maintains a strong national defense." Lewis

President Reagan has used much the same arguments in trying to exclude the military from a budget freeze. Some Senate Republican leaders, however, insist defense spending must bear its share of the burden if the $225 billion federal deficit is to be cut.

The report called for continued deployment of Pershing 2 and cruise missiles in Western Europe, continued aid to Nicaraguan rebels and continued production and deployment of the controversial MX missile. It also called for more efficiency in defense spending, and a two-year budget for the Pentagon.

On arms control, the group called for strengthening the compliance oversight and avoiding "hard-to-verify provisions."

"Only through strength can we bring the Soviets to just and lasting agreements," the report said. "President Reagan has done much to advance peace and freedom across the globe. He has rebuilt our defenses. raised our prestige and restored realism Now we are polsed to bargain from a position of strength across the range of arms tax" plan like that developed by Kemp and Sen. Robert Kasten, R-Wis., that puts all taxpayers into three brackets and eliminates many deductions. The Democrats have a similar version and Treasury Secretary Donald Regan promises to send the administration's to Congress later this year.

The report also recommends: A constitutional amendment requiring a balanced federal budget.

-Business tax incentives like extension of the research and development tax credit, incentives to finance worker retraining, and tax breaks for businesses who invest in designated "enterprise zones" in depressed

-Passage of an immigration reform bill. -Requiring a minimum length for school days and years as a prerequisite to federal

-Requiring unmarried parents to live with their parents in order to qualify for

A Sanford man was found guilty of kidnapping, robbery. sexual battery and aggravated assault in connection with the abduction of a couple in a drug buy gone bad.

Lester Clyde Bagley, 26, of Senford, was found guilty by a six-member jury that returned its verdict Saturday at the Seminole County Courthouse.

Bagley was one of three men who met with a couple who were interested in buying marijuana. The incident occurred about 9 p.m. Sept. 1 on west 13th Street

Two men jumped into the car and ordered the man to drive down the street. The driver, 19, told police that as he drove along he saw a third suspect running beside the car. The man was ordered to stop at 17th Street and Mangoustine Ave., where the third suspect waited to join the group.

When the driver tried to speed away, both suspects in the back seat displayed firearms and hit him on the head with the handles of the guns, according to a police report.

When the car stopped near Goldsboro Elementary School, the third suspect brandished a knife with a 4-inch blade, pulled the woman, 22, from the car and forced her across a ditch.

The two other suspects demanded cash from the man and searched him, but got no money.

The third suspect beat the woman on the chest and forced her to commit a sex act. He then attempted to rape her, but failed,

Kennedy: Governments Can't Stifle Human Hope

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI) -Addressing thousands at a multiracial rally, Sen. Edward Kennedy blamed last year's wave of racial violence in South Africa on the white authorities "who think they can stifle human hope."

About 4,000 supporters of the nonracial United Democratic Front gave clenched-fist salutes and waved an outlawed African National Congress flag as Kennedy spoke in a mixed-race suburb of Cape Town.

The Massachusetts Democrat said his tour, condemned by whites and many blacks as "a steppingstone to the White House," was not linked to any presidential hopes for 1988.

"One reason for my trip here is to signal that the vast majority of my fellow citizens oppose apartheld and will not accept endless delay and empty excuses for it," Kennedy said.

Apartheld is the system of racial segregation praticed by the country's white minority government.

Kennedy traveled Saturday to the Namibian capital of Windhock to meet with clergymen and leaders of the rebel South West African Peoples Organization. South Africa runs Namibia, also known as South West Africa, in violation of U.N. resolutions.

He was to return to South Africa Sunday to conclude his 8-day tour with a church service in the black township of Soweto outside Johannesburg.

In his speech at the rally in Cape Town Friday, Kennedy spoke of last year's three-month wave of violence in which more than 150 people died - most of th :m blacks killed in clashes with police.

"The responsibility for unrest and disorder lies not with you but with the men who think they can stifle human hope," Kennedy said.

Since arriving, Kennedy often been accused of making the trip to bolster presidential ambitions. One white newspaper, Beeld, has said Kennedy came "to wrest the black vote from Jesse Jackson" before the 1988 election.

'The real question is not whether I will ever seek the presidency of the United States, but whether and when a black man will be able to seek and win the state presidency of South Africa," Kennedy said.

Earlier, he briefly visited the Cape Town prison where black nationalist leader Nelson Mandela is serving the 23rd year of a life sentence for treason and sabotage.

Authorities did not allow Kennedy to see Mandela, the president of the outlawed African National Congress -South Africa's biggest black political organization.

"I firmly believe that the real cause of peace in South Africa will be served with the freedom of political prisoners, Kennedy told reporters outside the

A spokesman for Vessey said the two sides would likely discuss an upcoming U.S. naval port call, possibly to Shanghai, early this year. It would be the first such call by an American warship in more than 35 years.

With a Korean War-vintage MIG fighter as a backdrop and buffeted by cold Siberian winds. Vessey was formally welcomed by his Chinese counterpart, Chief of General Staff Yang Dezhi, in ceremonies outside Peking's Military Museum.

Vessey, who arrived for a one-week visit Saturday, stood at Chinese military exercises and red-carpeted podium, saluting while the national anthems of both countries were played.

They then reviewed a goose-stepping honor guard of Chinese Army, Navy and Air Force troops before driving to the nearby Great Hall of the People to begin talks officials said were aimed at familiarizing Vessey with China's defense posture.

"Weapons sales are not his field, but they could very well discuss a port call," said a military spokesman when asked if Chinese arms purchases and the U.S. Navy visit would be Vessey is the highest-ranking U.S. military officer to visit China since the communist takeover in 1949.

China To Buy U.S. Jets

HONG KONG [UPI] - A country's sole airline. southwest Chinese province will buy two modern passenger jets - at an undisclosed price - for a new regional airline, the first local aircraft order in China's campaign to decontrol and improve air travel, according to the Bocing Co.

In a statement issued in Hong Kong, the Scattle aircraft manufacturer said the Yunnan province government has agreed to buy two Boeing 737-300 jetliners for service on regional routes.

Boeing said it was the first order for a provincial carrier under Peking's recent breakup of the much-criticized Civil Aviation Administration of China, which for 35 years has served as regulating air travel and the airplanes.

The new policy provides for establishing six large regional airlines, each a former Civil Aviation Administration division, and smaller provincial services as warranted.

Although the government will own the new airlines and control aircraft purchases through Civil Aviation Administation, the carriers will set many of their own policies and manage their financial affairs in free-market style.

The effort is part of Chinese leader Deng Xiaoping's campaign to liberalize the economy, but it is also an attempt to end the Civil Aviation Administration's reputation as among the world's worst airlines for its rude staff, undependable schedules both the government body and antiquated, dirty

Charity And The World Bank

Last summer the World Bank sketched "a possible scenario for the future of sub-Saharan Africa": inexorable destruction of forests and croplands; a swollen population surviving - when lucky - on donated food. Americans this winter have seen that scenario televised and have played a part in it by generous gifts of food-relief organizations. Most givers are aware that emergency charity for Africa's starving will probably be needed for years to come. Many will insist - with equal realism and equal charity - that an even greater need is for long-range action to take Africa off the international dole.

The chief agents for such action must be Africans themselves and their governments. But resources are meager, and in too many countries performance has been poor. Without outside help and sometimes strong pressure, the performance is not likely to improve. A strong instrument of effective help and pressure to build stronger African economies is the World Bank. In December the bank announced a large boost in its budget for agricultural research, field missions and technical assistance to African development.

That welcome news is only in part an immediate response to the starvation tragedy of 1984. It is also, more important, an intensification of development aid focus on neglected fundamentals of African food production. Crop technology is one such fundamental; drought-resistant grains and fast-growing tree species are long-term necessities that research can help provide. Private-profit incentives for farm ownership and production are equally needed; by carrot-and-stick persuasion the bank can press governments to relax their controls on crop marketing and prices. And by sharpening the focus of international aid the bank can slow the growth of the urban bureaucracles that have damaged African agriculture almost as much as successive years of drought.

The bleak scenario for sub-Saharan Africa con be rewritten. Part of the rewriting depends on donations such as many non-Africans have made this winter and will be asked to repeat. A greater part depends on African leadership and hardheaded assistance through institutions like the World Bank. Practical, generous, U.S. citizens surely should support that part, too.

We finally reached the end of that dreaded Orwellian year, 1984. And we find that, like most of the things we worry about, it wasn't so bad in retrospect.

Or, at least, the troubles we had weren't the ones Orwell warned against.

Big Brotherism, the frowning face of totalitarianism, isn't rampant in America or, for that matter, in the rest of the world.

The creaking monster of Marxist-Leninist totalitarianism in the Kremlin can be rolled out, from time to time, to scare us. But, with the geriatric set doddering around the Kremlin and dominating the Politburo, with the empty shelves in the Russian food stores and the shiploads of grain coming to Soviet ports from America, there is even less reason than there was in 1949, the year the English author George Orwell published his anti-Utopian novel, "1984," to believe that communism is the wave of the future.

The dutiful students and their teachers in high school and college classes who have struggled through this book as assigned reading and shared their pious liberal concerns about the future needn't have worried. Americans are freer and more independent today than at any time in our history.

We need a new book for the reading list. This one will be considered conservative. It will be called "2020," and will envision the coming breakdown of American society into supply-side libertarian anarchy.

OP Pro-Growth Leaders Frustrated

among Senate Republican leaders on deficit reduction - to the exclusion of initiatives that would spur economic growth - has deeply frustrated conservative "opportunity society" House Republicans. They believe an expanding economy will in the long run lower the deficit more effectively than any budget-cutting plan now being contemplated.

This belief is the motivating force behind a rebellious effort led by Reps. Jack Kemp of New York. Newt Gingrich of Georgia and House Minority Whip Trent Lott of Mississippi to fashion their own pro-growth budget proposals.

Kemp and others in this group believe their party's long-term future will be shaped by the extent to which they can implement expansionist monetary and fiscal policies that will propel the economy into greater prosperity.

Though they support "moderate spending restraint," they abhor cuts in social welfare programs, resist serious cuts in grants in aid to the states and localities, and, in Kemp's case, oppose withholding cost-of-living increases for Social Security. "Cutting Social Security is stupid," Kemp told a group of Capitol Hill leaders this week.

While supporting overall "spending restraint." including deep cuts in business subsidies and loan programs and other forms of corporate welfare, they want pro-growth legislative initiatives put at the center of this year's budget agenda.

Such an agenda would include establishing enterprise zones in depressed inner cities to resurrect business activity and job creation: reforming the Federal Reserve Board by bringing stability to its monetary policies; and enacting a tax simplification plan that lowers rates while broadening the tax base by eliminating loopholes.

Kemp & Company's budget proposals will be offered next month as an alternative to the administration's budget as well as to a competing budget being fashioned by Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole of Kansas and Senate Budget Committee Chairman Peter Domenici of New Mexico.

By freezing most non-defense programs at current levels, except programs for the poor such as food stamps, and by withholding cost-of-living raises for Social Security beneficiaries, Dole's and Domenici's options would cut an estimated $240 billion deficit down to $78 billion by fiscal 1988. How much of this would cut into defense is still not known.

Reagan's tentative plan, which doesn't touch Social Security, would get the deficit down to just under $100 billion in three years.

To keep the comet from going unnoticed in the cities, the Astronomical League, the largest astronomical organization in the world, has started the Dark Skies for Comet Halley campaign. The idea is to dim or turn off unessential outdoor lighting for a while on Halley's best viewing nights.

The comet was last seen in 1910, when Model T Fords chugged along dirt roads, William Taft was president, and no one had ever heard of light pollution.

On its elliptical path. Halley's swings around the sun every 76 years. Its reappearance was predicted by English astronomer Edmund Halley who died in 1742.

The Astronomical League is concerned about dazzling shopping center displays, high-intensity floodlights and even ordinary street lamps that may interfere with comet watching.

Don Archer, executive secretary of the League, said the group is using the comet to start a nationwide grass roots campaign against light pollution.

Astronomers have come up with a practical and economical solution low-pressure sodium lighting. Double-Agent Era

We have recently celebrated the 30th anniversary of the censure of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy by the U.S. Senate. And during this anniversary celebration we heard much about his faults and much about the levels of "British" intelligence. "wave of terror" that resulted from his investigations and his regular media "bombshells" but we have heard almost nothing at all about the circumstances that made "the AcCarthy era" possible.

McCarthy was — this was the rationale for his hearings - investigating the effectiveness of the federal loyalty-security programs. The fact of the matter is that in the World War II and post-World War II periods, vital Western agencies had been massively penetrated by agents of the Soviet Union. This was known at the time, and it has become solidly documented as time has gone by. McCarthy's premise was, quite simply, correct.

These reflections are prompted a remarkable book I have just read. Too Secret Too Long. by Chapman Pincher, a British intelligence expert, has just come out.

Mr. Pincher's book is correctly described on its dust jacket as "the most powerful, infuriating, heartbreaking book every published about spies."

The British equivalent of the CIA is called the MI 6. The British equivalent of the FBI is called MI 5. At a crucial period in the struggle with the Soviet Union, MI 6 was commanded by Kim Philby, a long-time communist mole who later defected to the Soviet Union. It is Mr. Pincher's thesis, circumstantial but utterly persuasive, that MI 5 at the same time was headed by another communist mole, Roger Hollis, and that Hollis' second in command, named Mitchell, was probably a communist agent too.

I would like to quote a passage from Mr. Pincher to give some sense of the flavor of things at the highest

In the summer of 1963, with the public scandal of the Profumo affair still fresh and the Mitchell case still unresolved, Hollis was suddenly faced with evidence he could not ignore that his old colleague and friend, Sir Anthony Blunt, had been a Soviet agent during the whole of his five years' service inside MI 5 and possibly afterwards. The situation was exacerbated by Blunt's position in the Royal Household as Surveyor of the Queen's Pictures ... In Chapter 19 I have described how Blunt was recruited to Soviet Intelligence at Cambridge by Burgess. and how he, in turn, had recruited others before being appointed Deputy Director of the Courtauld Institute of Art in London."

The upper levels of British intelligence were a nest of Soviet agents. When the American professionals in the CIA and the FBI got wind of this, it was severely damaging to U.S.-British relations.

Mr. Pincher's book is a "powerful" - indeed epic - and also "heartbreaking" account of the breakdown of British internal security, at a time when two communist agents ran the two principal security agencies. It is a story of decadence, and has a Balzacian cast of characters from the spy netherworld, including, my favorite, a spy code-named "Sonia," who trans-mitted reports from a hidden wireless near Oxford, and is now living in East Berlin, where she writes spy

The Hand That Feeds...

WASHINGTON (NEA) - Although the Federal Elections Commission is supposed to serve the public, the agency panders to a very different constituency — the politicians whose campaign financing activities it is supposed to regulate.

That's because the FEC must cope with a conflict unique to federal regulatory agencies: its oversight authority extends to all candidates for federal office, but the politicians elected to those posts control both the laws and the budget under which the commission must operate.

What occurs under those circumstances is aptly described by Richard A. Viguerie, who specializes in direct-mail fund raising for conservative candidates:

"The people who administer the law aren't dummies. They aren't taking on their bosses. They're going to go pick on the cripples. They're not about to go after Tip O'Neill. They go after the defeated and the minor candidates."

The most recent evidence of the commission's penchant for pro-tecting powerful politicians comes in the face of proposed new regulations. They would permanently shield from public scrutiny all records of FEC meetings at which enforcement actions against candidates are considered.

At all government departments and agencies, federal mandate ensures that law enforcement matters that have not been finally resolved are kept secret. Thus, pending investigations are not at

But after an investigation has been concluded, public access to most of the files (with exceptions su the names of confidential informants) is authorized by the Freedom of Information Act and the Sunshine in Government Act.

Indeed, the commission's general counsel last year authorized the release of transcripts of several FEC executive meetings at which the commission considered enforcement matters that subsequently were completed.

That action was taken after the journalist seeking the documents offered a compelling argument: "The commission is supposed to see to it that sunshine illuminates the financing of federal elections. How can it justify hiding its own actions In the dark?"

Lawmakers Aid Ex-Nazi Commanda

WASHINGTON - A former Nazi concentration camp commandant, who concealed his past to gain admittance to the United States, has been hunted down and stripped of his U.S. citizenship. But just as he was about to be booted out of the country, several distinguished members of Congress intervened to stop his deportation.

They joined Dr. Edward Rubel, a director of the Captive Nations Committee, in protesting the deportation order. Rubel's letter to Secretary of State George Shultz has the acrid stench of anti-Semitism, accusing the Justice Department's investigators of collaborating with "Jewish Zionists" and the Soviet secret police.

The congressional dignitaries wrote more moderate letters to Shultz on the former Nazi's behalf. or otherwise showed sympathy for his supporters' cause. They include House Foreign Affairs Committee Chairman Dante Fascell, D-Fla.; Sen. Alfonse D'Amato, R-N.Y.; Sen. Pete Domenici, R-N.M.; Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz.; Rep. Don Ritter, R-Pa.; and, before he was defeated. Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman Charles Percy, R-III.

D'Amato, apparently fearing the wrath of New York's Jewish voters. later repudiated his original letter of support. An aide to D'Amato asked my associate Lucette Lagnado not to report either the senator's initial support or his later repudiation. pleading constituent sensitivity.

At the center of the deportation battle is 65-year-old, Estonian-born Karl Linnas, who immigrated to this country after World War II and now lives on Long Island.

Evidence gathered by the Justice Department's Nazi-hunting Office of Special Investigations revealed that Linnas had been a concentration camp commandant and had ordered the mass executions of Jews and other prisoners. He participated personally in some of the executions, according to the documents.

Because he failed to mention this when he entered the United States. a federal court has stripped him of his U.S citizenship, and he faces, deportation to the Soviet Union, of which Estonia is now a de facto constituent republic.

Linnas has appealed the deportation order on the grounds that the United States has never officially recognized the Soviet authority over of Estonia. He states that he would be willing to be sent back to his homeland but that he can't be deported to a country that doesn't officially exist in U.S. eyes.

Linnas's congressional supporters insist they have no sympathy for but agree with his technical argument. But the State Department's legal office, whose lawyers seldom agree on points of law, unanimously rejected the argument, suggesting that it is a smokescreen.

Eastern European emigre groups have also unfurled the banner of anti-communism to win congressional support for Linnas. The most virulent letter was written by Rubel. himself an Estonian immigrant. who described Stalinist Russia as "exclusively ruled by Marxist Zionist Jews." The truth is that the Soviet leaders were systematically exterminated during the Stalinist purges.

In his letter to Shultz, Rubel also questioned why "the members of the Jewish JUDENRAT, who profited from the Holocaust (are) allowed to remain in the United States and are not sought out by the collaboration with the Soviet government" and the KGB secret police. "It is clear," he declares. that the Jewish Zionist pressure group in Washington speaks through the OSI for the U.S. government."

Without mentioning the Linnas case, DeConcini has written to the Justice Department, noting criticism of the OSI and auggesting he might hold hearings on the charges.

Linnas's congressional supporters, of course, are neither Nazi sympathizers nor anti-Semitic bigots. Fascell, for example, has been a champion of Jewish rights. Apparently, the members of Congress have been influenced by the intense lobbying of the emigre groups.

Officials of the Captive Nations Committee and other emigre groups supporting Linnas also denied any anti-Semitism. But they would not take issue with any of the virulently anti-Semitic statements in Rubel's letter to Shultz. An official of the Joint Baltic Committee characterized Rubel as "a colorful individual." The official repudiated the anti-Semitic part of Rubei's letter. but not the "historical facts."

Gators Fail On 4th Down — Penalties Stand

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) - The University of Florida failed in its efforts to persuade the NCAA to soften punishment for numerous violations by the Gators' football team.

Florida, which finished 9-1-1 last season and was considered one of the top trams in the country amid reveala of the violations, lost its appeal to the NCAA Council Sunday and was placed on three-year probation - including being barred from bowls and television for at least the next two years.

The action came on the eve of the 79th annual NCAA Convention which begins today at the Opryland Hotel in Nashville.

in announcing the penalties against Florida, NCAA president John Toner said the Gators were penalized for 1979-83 and led to the dismissal of head football coach Charley Pell after the third game of the 1984 season.

He said the third year of probation, especially regarding sanctions against post-season events and television appearances, would be suspended if the university meets "prescribed monitoring conditions."

The NCAA also cut Florida's grants for new players from 30 to 20 the next two years and cut its total of football grants from 95 to 85 next year and 75 the year after that.

"We deeply regret that the NCAA has decided not to modify its previous decisions on penalties imposed on the University of Florida's football program," said Florida president Marshail M. Criser, who came to Nashville in an,

"We feel particularly disheartened that the NCAA nas elected to maintain its imposition of the 85-75 caps on football scholarships.

"As we have said in the past," Criser added, "we believe these unprecedented penalties go far beyond the appropriate corrective actions, considering all the factors in this case, and, we believe, will have a chilling effect on institutional self-correction in the

the NCAA Committee on Infractions said the violations at Florida were "the most blatant lack of any effort to assure control" of any case it had handled in recent years.

"Head football coach Charley Pell acted contrary to the principles of ethical conduct inasmuch as he did not, on all occasions, deport himself in accordance with generally recognized standards normally associated with the conduct and administration of intercoilegiate athletics," the report continued.

The Southeastern Conference, which barred Florida from representing it in the Sugar Bowl, supported the Gators' appeal Sunday, noting the "unprecedented penalty will have a severe, long-term impact on the institution affecting coaches, staff and players long after the violations occurred."

The agenda for this year's NCAA Convention includes proposals affecting academic standards, use of drugs and greater autonomy for the major football powers.

A proposal to stiffen academic requirements, which was adopted two years ago, but does not go into effect until Aug. 1, 1986, is under fire. A resolution is being offered that calls for a study of possible alternatives to those requirements.

Main opposition to the proposal involves required test scores that some say might be racially biased.

"There is still time to modify the proposal by next January." said Toner of the University of Connecticut. "Then, we would have until the following August to get those modifications, if needed, in place."

'Sun Sets' On Rams' Win Skein

By Sam Cook Herald Sports Editor

When a team has won 25 consecutive matches, it tends to believe in miracles. Streaks of this nature are derived from hard work, talent, luck, forfeits and fate. And when it comes time for a miracle finish, someone usually produces.

Lake Mary's wrestling team. owner of that skein of longevity after subduing Merritt Island (32-24) Saturday afternoon, was on the threshold of No. 28 against Miamt Sunset Saturday

The Rams hadn't wrestled very well, both Carbias had been beaten, but they still had several of the above-mentioned things going for them. Trailing, 24-9 with just three matches to go. gutty Walter White had pinned his opponent to make it, 24-15, and hand the potential hero's role to teammate Billy Caughell.

A forfeit to Lake Mary at unlimited loomed on the horizon which would give the Rams six more points. Caughell, a burly 220-pounder, needed to post an eight-point victory or better over unbeaten Mario Lemarte to pick up the four team points needed for a 25-24 victory.

Caughell started quickly. overpowering Lemarte for a 2-0 lead just 40 seconds into the first period. An escape cut the lead in half and a takedown by Lemarte with 20 seconds left pushed him ahead, 3-2.

The Sunset grappler was the aggressor in the second period, putting together back-to-back near falls for an 8-2 lead. Caughell sandwiched a reversal and a takedown around an escape, however, to draw within 9.6 entering the final two minutes. Just two minutes to live by for the Lake Mary streak. Could Caughell keep it alive? Not this time. Both wreatlers, obviously exhausted, slugged it out in the final period but the only point was an escape by Lemarte for a 10-6 victory. The streak was dead - 27-21. "We had the spirit and the heart and the character to stop it," said Sunset athletic director George Phelan, who was subbing for coach Chuck Alimeda. "The key matches, though, were the lightweights. That's were we

We just didn't go for it."

The early matches were closely contest although lackadasical. Freshman Enrique Carbia (101) bolted to an early 4-1 lead over Chris Claps but gave up a reversal and a near fall in the second period to lose, 6-4. Claps improved to 12-0.

Lake Mary's 108-pounder Craig Johnson jumped ahead of Martin Funk, 2-0. fell behind. 3-2, then pulled ahead, 4-3, with a reversal with four seconds left in the first period.

Johnson built his lead to 5-3 with an escape just six seconds from the end of the second period. At that point, however, he relaxed and Funk took him down to tie the match with just one second left. In the third period, Funk reversed Johnson midway through the period for a

Leesburg Drops Seminole, 42-32

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

Sanford's Fighting Seminoles won 6 of 10 matches Saturday but it wasn't enough as Leesburg's Yellow Jackets won three matches by forfeit and won the last two to claim a 42-32 victory in prep wrestling action at Seminole High.

Leesburg picked up a win by forfeit in the first match and the Yellow Jackets took a 12-9 lead on Tim Johnson's pin at 108 pounds. Seminole's Sheralton Mays won by disqualification at 115 to make it 12.6. Mays improved his record to 5.1 with the win. But Leesburg picked up forfeits at 122 and 126 to take a 24-6 lead.

John Wellmaker's pin at 135 upped the Yellow Jackets' lead to 30-6 before Seminole got to its strength and back into the match. Tony Brown started the Seminole comeback at 141 pounds when he decisioned Kevin Scott, 7-1. Brown ran his record to 9-0 with the win.

Tracy Turner shaved Leesburg's lead to 30-15 when he pinned Keith Scott in 5:10 at 148 pounds. Turner, a freshman, has a 7-2 record for the season. Troy Turner, a sophomore, kept his unbeaten string going at five when he pinned Tony Revatt in 3:57 at 158.

Walt Lowry cut Leesburg's lead to 30-27 by pluning John Keoner in 35 seconds at 170 pounds. Lowry now stands at 5-1 for the season. Dwayne Hall then put the Seminoles in the lead. 32-30, when he won a superior decision, 20-3, at 188 pounds to run his record to 3-2 for the year.

Leesburg's Chris Cornelius came back to pin Loyal Barr in 41 seconds at 223 to give the Jackets a 36-32 lead. Seminole had a chance to win the match with a superior decision or a pin at unlimited, but James Duess was too powerful for

Tommy Heffington as he pinned him in 1:59. "It came down to the last match but the guy (Duess) had already beaten Tom (Heffington) once this season," Seminole coach Roger Beathard said. Lady Patriots Face 2 Tests

Lake Mary, Seminole Try To Knock Brantley Of Top

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots, the Five Star Conference leaders. face two tough opponents this week as they try to hold onto the conference lead. Brantley, 15-2 overall and 7.0 in the conference, is at Lake Mary Tuesday and hosts Seminole Thursday.

The Lady Patriots put their eight-game winning streak on the line Tuesday night when they go up against Lake Mary's Lady Rams at Lake Mary High (girls 6:15 p.m., boys 8).

Senior guard Kim Lubenow caught fire from the outside in Brantley's last two games to offset the inside scoring of Kirsten Dellinger. Michelie Brown played her usual all-around game Friday against Lyman with eight points, 10 rebounds, 11 assists and seven steals. Juntor point guard Sherry "Ice" Asplen and senior forward Cami Twaddell complete the starting lineup. Bench strength comes from Ashley Thomas, Angle May, Andrea Gordon, Michelle Hagan and Cindy Staggs.

Lake Mary is coming off a convincing victory over Spruce Creek in which it played without scoring and rebound leader Alleen Patterson. Cynthia Patterson, Alleen's cousin, did an outstanding job in her first starting role of the season. Senior center Courtney Hall also played impressively inside against the Creek. Joining Patterson and Hall in the starting lineup are guards Kim Averill and Liz Stone and forward Karen DeShetler.

Senior forward Andrea Fenning, who played her first game last Tuesday against Mainland, may be in the starting lineup Tuesday against Brantley. Fenning, coming off a painful knee injury, was the Rams' top outside shooter a year ago and her presence will strengthen Lake Mary's chances in the conference race. The Lady Rams stand at 8-6 overall and 5-2 in the Five

In Five Star Conference action tonight, Lyman (4-9 overall and 3.5 in the Five Star) travels to Spruce Creek (1-8, 1-5) and Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks (3-11, 1-6) host Daytona Beach Seabreeze (7-4, 3-3) at 8.

Lyman is looking to rebound after Friday's loss to Lake Brantley. Kim Forsyth, who was held to seven points by Brantley's Dellinger on Friday. leads the way for the Lady Greyhounds. Denise Stevens adds additional inside strength while point guard LaTonya Johnson has been scoring from the outside.

Lake Howell will have another tough one tonight as it takes on Seabreeze which is coming off a rough overtime loss to DeLand Friday in which Bridgette Gordon made a half-court shot at the buzzer in regulation to send it into overtime. Gordon finished with 38 points and 23 rebounds. Leading the way for Seabreeze is the inside tandem of Donnella Wesley and Jennifer Toliver and spunky point guard Michelle Efferson.

For Lake Howell, the Johnson twins. Jolee and Kellee, have the leaders in Seminole County in every category (scoring, re-

Best Ball Doubles Are Having A Ball

The sound of laughter and friendly kibitzing you hear at Bowl America is more than likely coming from some of our "Best Ball Doubles" competitors.

Everyone seems to really be having a lot of fun bowling this format. Each member of the doubles team rolls their first ball, and then they decide which spare to go for if neither bowler strikes.

That is when the fun starts. We are guaranteeing $100 first place money again, and expect 100 or more entries. The handicap is 90 percent from 210 and each team bowls four games.

Right now, Vince Cara and Claudia Jasa are in first place with a 1015 series. Several teams are signes up for the weekend's squads, planning to replace them as front runners. The squads are Saturday at 4:30 and Sunday at 3 p.m. If these times are inconvenient for you, you may bowl anytime lanes are available and there are two or more teams opposing.

The Moonlight Bowling crowd is growing again with over 100 there last Saturday night. Leroy Tolbert won $100 last Saturday night by rolling three out of four strikes in our Jackpot competi-

Raiders Welcome Valencia

By Sam Cook Herald Sports Editor

Bill Payne doesn't know why Valencia Community College always plays his Raiders tough. "Maybe they outcoach us," he joked Sunday. "I don't know what it is,

but it's usually close."
Payne and his favored Raiders will find out how close tonight at 7:30 when Valencia invades the SCC Health Center for a Mid-Florida Conference game. The Raiders, 12-8 overall and 1-1 in the MFC, whipped St. Johns River, 68-59, at Palatka while the Matadors, 5-12 and 1-1, lost a one-point decision to Santa Fe at Orlando.

Per usual, the Raiders have the better record at this point in time. They beat VCC twice last year during the regular season but lost when it counted most in the Mid-Florida Conference Playoff's title game.

"Valencia will let you score just to get the

Payne said the encounter usually means a little more to VCC. "They look at us as a big rival," said the third-year Raider coach. "Usually our records aren't close but the games are. They just get up for us."

J.C. Basketball

The Matadors will be getting up a little higher tonight, too. Tony Wright, former standout at Jones and brother of all-stater Lester, will be in the VCC lineup. The sophomore transfer from Florida A&M is an excellent jumper and in four games with the Matadors he has games of 40 and 31 points. He was held to 11 in Saturday's loss, however.

"I watched Valencia twice earlier in the year." said Payne. "But I haven't seen them with Wright. He'll definitely make a difference. They do have good athletes. If they're hitting their shots, they can beat VCC's other big gun is 6-4 Moses Gordon, who played at Evans. Mike Wheeler, a 6-3 forward from Colonial, is another scoring threat. Tim Garcia, a 6-0 guard, and Alberto Gonzalez, a 6-0 point guard, fill our the starting five.

The Raiders, meanwhile, received another stellar all-around performance from Linny Grace in their win over St. Johns. The 6-3 swingman tossed in 15 points, pulled down seven boards, handed out four assists, made four steals and blocked two shots.

The Raiders, who built a 30-23 halftime lead, received solid scoring from guard Kenny Edwards, center Greg "Slim" Johnson and guard Brent Baird, all of whom tallied 10 points each. Baird hit all four of his floor shot and blocked two shots.

Despite the first-half prospersity, SCC came out flat in the second half as St. Johns ran off eight straight points for a 31-30 advantage. Four turnovers in a row didn't aid the SCC cause.

The Raiders regrouped, nevertheless, as Edwards and Johnson exchanged lead changes with St. Johns. Robb Brantley finally put the Raiders ahead for good, 44-43, with 9:48 to play. A Johnson hook shot gave SCC its biggest lead of the second half at 55-49 and the Raiders held that spread the rest of the game.

Down the stretch, Calvin "Kiki" Bryant, who finished with nine points, dropped in four free throws while Mike Landell and Baird added two each to keep St. Johns from seriously challenging.

Brantley Assault Claims 3-0 Win Over Tribe Girls

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

For as much time as Lake Brantley spent assaulting Seminole's goal Saturday afternoon it was a morale victory for the Lady Seminoles to allow just three goals. But one goal was all the Lady Patriots really needed as Seminole's offense was literally non-existent in a 3-0 loss to the Patriots at Lake Brantley High.

"The girls did an outstanding job to play Lake Brantley to 3-0," Seminole coach Suzy Reno said. "Lake Brantley beat us twice, 7-0 and 9-0, last year. Our only trouble was we didn't play offense the first half.".

The Lady Patriots improved to 9-2 with their fifth straight victory while Seminole now stands at 8-3-2. The Lady Seminoles return to action today at 5 p.m. at Lake Howell High. Seminole and Brantley will tangle again Thursday at Seminole High.

The entire first half Saturday was played around Seminole's goal as Brantley took 29 shots and Seminole took none. But Tribe goalkeeper Sherri Rumler put on an impressive display as she turned back 27 shots.

"She (Rumler) was bombarded left and right," Reno said. "And she did an outstanding job allowing only one goal." Brantley's one goal in the first half Brantley's one goal in the first half came on a nice shot by Katherine Hawkins.

Rumler moved to forward in the second half as Seminole tried to get its offense cranked up. The Seminoles had four shots on goal in the second half and all four were good shots according to Reno. "Beth Nelson and Sherri (Rumler) both had good shots in the second half but Lake Brantley's defense did a good job stopping them."

Fiorentino Hat Trick Lifts Rams

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

Doug Henning couldn't have come up with a better hat trick than Tony Florentino did Saturday. The Lake Mary sophomore scored three goals in the first 14 minutes of the game, including two within 15 seconds of each other, as the Rams quickly disposed of Lakeland Santa Fe, 7-0, in prep soccer action Saturday at Lake Mary High.

Fiorentino's magic lifted Lake Mary to 12-5 for the season with its fourth straight victory. The Rams return to action Wednesday at Trinity Prep before traveling to Lake Howell Friday for a Five Star Conference matchup.

Lake Mary scored its first goal nine minutes into the game on a corner kick. The pass from the corner was intended for Andre Sanders, but he was too far away from the goal to score. So Sanders headed a pass to Fiorentino who headed the ball into the goal for a 1-0 lead.

The Rams struck again 15 seconds later when Sanders stole Santa Fe's kickoff, went right down the field and passed off to Fiorentino who deposited the ball into the goal for a 2-0 lead.

Lake Mary scored its third goal 14 minutes into the game when Fiorentino took a long pass from Rick Broennie off his chest and fired it past the keeper. "That was a beautiful goal." Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle said of Fiorentino's third. "Broennie was about 40 yards out and passed it over the defense to Fiorentino who took it off his chest and immediately shot it past the keeper. It was probably our best goal of the season."

The Rams added two more goals in the first half to take a 5-0 lead. The fourth goal was scored by Sanders on an assist by Durrand Richards and Richards scored the fifth goal when he kicked in a loose ball in the penalty area.

Lake Mary tacked on two more goals in the second half as Louis Rosen scored on an assist from Ernie Broennie to make it 6-0 and Ernie Broennie completed the rout as he scored an unassisted goal in the final minute of play.

The Rams blasted away at Santa Fe's keeper all day long with 42 shots on goal compared to eight for the visitors from Lakeland.

Lakeland.
"The defense was under no pressure so that gave the offense time to crank things up," McCorkle said. "It gave the offense a chance to develop some con-a chance to develop some confidence."

Betsinger's crew has been relying on the standout defense, which features keepers Gary Gunter and Matt Beck. "We have a very good defense," understated Betsinger, who mentioned that his team has given up only four goals in its eight ball games.

Led by striker Lee Alexander's six goals. Lake Mary has put the ball in the net 20 times this scason, and Friday's output more than kept up the average production.

Paul Duariglia headed in the opening tally off a corner kick from Steve Sapp to give Lake Mary a 1-0 halftime lead.

With 13 minutes expired in the second half, Pat Flynn took a straight breakaway about 30 yards, and a minute later, Frank Ramsuer booted home a rebound off the Oviedo keeper to round out the scoring.

A sweeper, Duariglia joined up with left back Ralph Padilla, right back Rick Morales and stopper back Mike Kryger to play an excellent game. Betsinger said.

Betsinger also praised the offensive work of striker Ernie Broennie, Sapp at midfield and his son Scott Betsinger for their solid if unsung work.

"A lot of our assists come from the midfielders who show a lot of good hustle and a lot of passing. I believe in a lot of defense and good teamwork." the coach said.

Lady Rams Shock Vero

VERO BEACH — Lake Mary's Lady Rams won the game they should have lost and lost the game they should have won this past weekend.

But that's all right with coach Bill Eiselle since the win was a big 2-1 decision over powerful Vero Beach High.

"The girls just played a great game," said Eiselle. "Vero had been beaten only once all year and that was by Lyman. So, you know how good they are." The setback dropped Vero Beach to 10-2-2 while Rams temporarily moved over the .500 mark to 7-6-2.

Vero Beach assumed a quick 1-0 lead when Heidi Lystand scored seven minutes into the game. It was the lone lapse by keeper Laura Hellegaard who turned back 14 other shots on goal.

Eighteen minutes later, the Lady Rams tied it when Jodi Gall took a pass from Kristen Jones and drilled it home from 18 yards away. The ball zipped just inside the right corner post.

Thirteen minutes into the second half, Fran

Gordon kicked in the game winner. The elusive senior took a pass from Mario Baumeister, dribbled twice and boomed a kick into the upper right hand corner. "It was wa beautiful goal," gushed Eiselle. "Mario made a great throw in, a few steps ahead of Fran. She caught up with it and kicked it in."

Although Eiselie's reliahed Friday's victory over Vero Beach, it did prove to be a costly one. Five starters were too banged up to play Another coach impressed with his young ladies this past weekend was Oviedo mentor Chris Hall. Two breakaway goals by Chris Geltz and Tiffany Baker secured a 2-0 soccer victory over Lake Howell Friday.

Both teams registered an offensive overload with a total 53 shots on goal said Oviedo boys' coach Hall, who was taking a break from coaching the school's boys' booters. Hall's assistant, Gene Lescellette, will take over the girls' reins, and the pair were on hand to watch the Lady Lions take the abutout victory.

"Gene will be taking over for Paul Greer (the former girls' coach) since the boys' junior varsity just ended its season," Hall said.

Hall and Lescellette were treated to a fine defensive job by the Oviedo defense which turned back 13 Lake Howell shots in the first half and another 25 Silver Hawk attempts on the Lions' net in the second half.

Stadler and Wadkins battled head-to-head through the final 18 holes Sunday in the 90-hole event, but no winner emerged.

For four more holes the story-line remained the same, but on the fifth extra hole Wadkins sank a 20-foot putt to win the $90,000 top prize.

Wadkins had eagled the 14th hole at Indian Wells, a 483-yard, par-5, by sinking a three-foot putt. But that only gained him one stroke on Stadler, who

So, with three holes left to play, Stadler, who scored his first pro victory in the 1980 Hope, had a three-shot lead. But Wadkins refused to yield, making birdle putts of 15 feet, 10 and 15 again over the last three holes, tying Stadler with a record score of 27-under-par 333.

in the playoff, starting at the par-3 15th hole, neither was able to break through for four holes. The next time they went to the 15th, for the fifth extra hole. Stadler put his tee shot in a right bunker and blasted out to five feet. Wadkins hit his tee shot - a 6-iron — 20 feet from the pin and then rolled it home for the winner.

The victory was Wadkin's 13th since joining the Tour in the Fall of 1971. The $90,000 winner's check enabled him to move into ninth place on the all-time money list ahead of Arnold Palmer and 1984 Masters champ Ben Crenshaw with $1,967,439.

Stadler, who has won eight tournaments in the last five years, received $54,060. Last year, he won $324,241 for eighth place. He's already won $1,646,849.

"This is about the fourth time Craig and I have played in the last graup and one of us won," said Wadkins, who seemed emotionally drained from the experience. "I'm proud of the way I hung in. I could have quit at any time and settled for second money, but I wanted to win. The money is fine but winning is better."

Stadler was not apologizing for his play.

"We both played well and he made a heckuva finish." said Stadler. "Someone had to win and he did."

Stadler shot a 66 in the closing round to Wadkin's 65.

"Any time I shoot a 66 in the final round. I don't have to make an apology," said Stadler. "In that posttion, it takes a good round not to win. I played well, and that's all right. There will be other days."

The 333 Wadkins and Stadler shot in regulation broke the tournament record set by Bruce Lietzke in 1981 and tied in 1982 by Ed Flori and Tom Kite (Fiort won the playoff) and Keith Fergus and Rex Caldwell in 1983 (Fergus won the playoff).

Hubert Green closed with a 65 to grab third place and a $34,000 prize.

He shot a 20-under score of 340, while Ron Streck finished with a 70 for a 19-under score of 341. He won $24,000.

Finishing at 342 were Buddy Gardner, Ray Floyd and Larry Mize. Defending champion John Mahaffey wound up at 343, while Jack Nicklaus finished at 354. Palmer, who has won the Hope five times but not since 1973, did not make the cut.

From here, the Tour moves on to the Phoenix Open where Wadkins will play, but Stadler will not. Wadkins also plans to play the following two weeks - in the Los Angeles Co n and the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am.

"I've worked hard since Jan. 1 because I wanted to have a good year this year," said Wadkins. "As for this victory. I have one day to enjoy it. On Tuesday, 1 go back to work to get ready for Phoenix."

Wilkens' Psych Job Lifts Sonics

United Press International

Lenny Wilkens proved Sunday that being a good coach often means being a good psychologist.

With the Sonics in a nosedive, Wilkens benched three starters for last Thursday's victory at Golden State. Three days later, Gerald Henderson and Tom Chambers showed just how much they disliked their reserve roles, sparking Seattle to a 119-114 win over the Kansas City Kings.

Restored to the starting lineup. Henderson collected a career-high 31 points and 10 assists and Chambers poured in 26 points to spark Seattle to its second straight victory

"I don't know the reason why we got benched," said Henderson, who has started all but that one game this season. "I guess he (Wilkens) wanted to shake things up. But you can't take things like that personally. You have to do whatever it takes to win.'

Elsewhere, Detroit buried the Los Angeles Lakers 121-98, Philadelphia topped Washington 115-104, Dallas defeated Portland 124-101, Milwaukee thrashed Denver 140-116 and New Jersey edged Houston 100-99.

McEnroe Destroys Lendl, Solidifies No. 1 Ranking

NEW YORK (UPI) - It isn't often a person can almost knock himself out, then stand up and claim he's a better person for it. Then again, it is even less often that a man comes along who can play the game of tennis the way John McEnroe does. Without question, McEnroe stands unchallenged as the world's best tennis player, but he almost defeated himself Sunday when he socked a ball into his eye during a

The tournament, the traditional seasonending climax to the Grand Prix circuit, is known as the Volvo Masters.

McEnroe's bizarre incident occurred in the 12th game of the opening set, minutes after the left-hander had gained a key break in the previous game.

As he was about to serve at deuce, McEnroe suddenly stopped and yelled at a photographer, "Shut up." Then, bouncing the ball on his racket to settle his nerves, he batted the ball against his right eye.

VA Surgeon 'Forced' To Resign Before Hospital Investigation

MIAMI (UPI) - A Veterans Administration Medical Center's heart specialist who told hospital officials he would tell the truth in an investigation into high patient death rates said Sunday he was harassed into resigning.

Dr. Robert A. Chahine, chief of cardiology at the VA, said he resigned Friday after being told to either step down or be dropped from the staff. He retained his job as professor of medicine and co-director of cardiology at the University of Miami School of Medicine.

The hospital's heart surgery unit was closed last month after reports that mortality rates between 1973 and 1983 there were twice the VA's national average.

Three independent physician-investigators are scheduled to arrive in Miami Tuesday to begin a formal review of death rates in the VA heart surgery unit.

Ex-Cop Ends Hunger Strike

PORT ORANGE (UPI) - A former Daytona Beach police officer seeking better disability benefits has ended a 47-day hunger strike because of deteriorating health.

Jeff Amsel, 33, of Port Orange, said he lost 50 pounds and was confined to a wheelchair for the last few days of his strike, which began Nov. 28. During the strike, Amsel said he consumed only distilled water.

Amsel, a four-year-veteran of the Daytona Beach Police Department, was seriously hurt in March 1982 during a scuffle with a burglary suspect.

He did not retire immediately, saying he hoped to return to work again. However, during Amsel's convalescence, the city's pension plan was changed by referendum. The new plan drastically reduced benefits for disabled workers.

The city says Amsel officially retired under the new plan and must live with it. City officials have refused to comment on Amsel's hunger strike.

Workers Fail To Loose Ship

PALM BEACH (UPI) - A Palm Beach socialite, who is disappointed that efforts to pull a 496-ton freighter from her backyard have failed, said her lawyer is trying to trace ownership of the boat so she can sue for damages.

Salvage workers tried for the second time Saturday to pull the 197-foot freighter Mercedes I from Mollie Wilmot's oceanfront property but were thwarted when a steel plate buckled under 80 tons of pressure.

State investigators said the rat-infested ship had left Haiti with no known cargo a few days before it broke from anchor in violent storms Thanksgiving night and slammed ashore, breaking the seawall behind the Wilmot home and cracking her swimming pool. The owners disappeared after

Israeli Cabinet Discusses Troop Withrawal From Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) - Two French truce observers assigned to duty in buffer zones between Lebanon's rival factions were shot and killed today as they drove through a Moslem neighborhood of Beirut, police sources said.

The shooting came as the Israeli Cabinet prepared for a special session to vote on a phased withdrawal that would remove all Isreli troops from south Lebanon by fall.

Police identified the victims only as a captain and a staff sergeant. The spokesman said the shooting was under investigation.

Another French observer was shot and killed in similar circumstances Jan. 7 outside the French ambassador's residence on the Beirut Green Line which separates Christian east Beirut from the Moslem west sector.

In Jerusalem, the Israeli Cabinet was called into special session today to vote on a phased troop withdrawal from Lebanon to be completed

No details of the plan were officially disclosed, but media reports said the Cabinet for the first time since the 1982 invasion of Lebanon began debating the plan Sunday that calls for Israel to remove its troops in nine months.

An Israel radio analyst said a majority was shaping up in favor of the plan, which likely would be carried by "more than one or two votes" despite opposition by Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir.

Former Soldier May Try Secret Search For MIAs

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) - Former Green Beret Col. James "Bo" Gritz may be planning another secret foray into Laos to look for Americans still listed as missing in the Vietnam War, Bangkok newspapers reported today.

Two English-language newspapers in Bangkok reported that Gritz might be in Thalland. Those reports, however, could not be immediately confirmed.

A similar mission in 1983 ended when Gritz was arrested by That police.

When Gritz and his followers returned from that mission, they presented U.S. officials bone fragments they sald came from an American flier shot down over Laos. The U.S. Embassy sald, however, that what Gritz brought back were fragments of chicken city trash and garbage service. Knowles, in a memo to commissioners, says it takes about of cleaning up only vacant lots 90 days for the city to complete legal and work process for each parcel to be cleaned up. During that 90 days, Knowles said the commission will hear many stories about hardship and requests for delay until the private property owners can handle the cleanup themselves.

The U.S. embassy has repeatedly disavowed attempts by Gritz and other freelance searchers who have sought American POWs by sneaking Into communist Indochina.

He explains after a written complaint is received by the city. a written notice is sent to the property owner and after the owner is given adequate time to clean up the property, the city does it and bills the owner. If the owner does not pay the bill within a reasonable time, a lien is placed against the property.

The city does not have enough manpower and equipment to be in the maintenance of private properties as a program," he said. "What is used are atreet personnel and equipment on a when available basis," Knowles says, adding the city policy has a limiting factor so the city does not regulate homeowners' lawn mowing.

He tells the commissioners in the memo that they will be surprised what people will request or file complaints on. "You will find people throwing debris on someone else's property and then calling to file a complaint against their neighbor because of an unsightly mess.

He also said that lot mowing and debris removal "has private property rights aspects that requires special care to avoid entangling the city in lawsuits concerning trespass. "The law does not allow city action merely on appearances. City action can only be taken if it can be shown something impacts the health, safety and general welfare of the public. An unpainted house does not allow the city to require the owner to paint it."

Orange-Osceola State Attorney Robert Eagan both said they don't see the need for a statewide prosecutor.

"The prosecutors are elected in their communities and they're responsible in their communities," Eagan said. "No case involving organized crime has ever been brought to my office that was not prosecuted if there was any evidence at all to take Into court '

The problem, says Boyles, "is not with prosecuting the cases. The question is is there an investigative agency with the manpower, resources and expertise to bring the cases.

"Some local police agencies are capable of doing it, most aren't." he said. "If you want to make a dent in organized crime the best thing to do is beef up FDLE (Florida Department of Law Enforcement).

That may have been true "a few years ago but not anymore." Ms. Linthicum said. "The FDLE is making big cases. But since most organized crime cases rarely involve just one state attorney's jurisdiction, it's tough to prosecute. You have to get a lot of offices involved. It can become quite unwieldy."

To head off the objections of state attorneys who may not want to share their political turf with a statewide crime fighter. Ms. Linthicum said the final proposal sent to the governor may suggest limiting the organized crime prosecutor's authority to multijuriadictional cases, leaving purely local cases to the individual state attorneys. But even if that hurdle is cleared, there are still many unanswered questions: Who will the prosecutor be? How large a staff will he or she have? What will it cost to set up? What kind of cases will be prosecuted?

"It becomes a matter of definition," Ms. Linthicum said. "Just what is organized crime? Two or more people engaged in an ongoing criminal activity? Or the stereotypical 'Godfather' types? "We'll probably concern ourselves with something in the middle," she said. Boyles, who has been state attorney in the seventh judicial circuit for 16 years, said organized crime exists in Central Florida, particularly in the areas of narcotics and trafficking in stolen property.

But "there aren't many Don Corleones running around that I know of," he said. "Maybe in South Florida, but not here.'

Dad's Broken Promises Breaking Kids' Hearts

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorced woman, raising three children under 15, which is not easy, but that's another letter.

This is about a problem I've had since my divorce four years ago. My ex-husband, who lives on the West Coast, has promised our children many wonderful gifts for Christmas - none of which he has ever delivered. He has called them in October promising to send plane tickets

so they could spend Christmas with him! None came, of course.

Every year he asks them what they want for their birthdays. They've told him, and received nothing. I have never talked against him because I think it's important for children to respect their father, but it's growing more difficult to make excuses for him when he keeps disappointing them year after year. His broken promises are breaking their hearts. And mine, too. IN PIECES IN NEW YORK

DEAR IN PIECES: Why protect him with excuses? Your children will soon conclude (if they haven't already) that their father's word doesn't mean anything.

Facing reality prepares children to live in the real world. Though it's heartbreaking now. the pain will diminish when they learn to expect nothing from their phony father.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a volunteer firefighter. He is on call 24 hours a day, answering emergency alarms that range from a broken toe to a house going up in flames. My husband. and all the other volunteer firefighters, put their lives on the line every time they go out on a call. And they get no pay.

tolerance test found that I have reactive hypoglycemia. I know that I should follow a highprotein diet that is low in carbohydrate and contains no sugar. Recently I read that the more complex carbohydrates could be used in diabetic diets. Is that also true for hypoglycemia? If so, what are the more complex carbohydrates? What about grains, raisins, figs and dried fruits? I'm allergic to cheese and, for protein, am eating mainly

DEAR READER - Unless you had typical symptoms when you had your glucose tolerance test that gave low results, you do not have hypoglycemia. To have hypoglycemia, you must have both the symptoms and the low glucose level at the same time.

Yes, the changes that are affecting diabetic diets certainly apply to patients with hypoglycemia. A lot of new information is being learned about how various foods affect the blood sugar. Solid foods and foods that slow the emptying of the stomach are digested slowly and are less likely to cause a rise in the blood glucose level. That, in turn, prevents a rebound low blood glucose level later.

Fat also helps to slow the emptying of the stomach, so it is not surprising that recent studies show that a small amount of ice cream does not cause a major rise in the blood glucose of either normal subjects or diabetics.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I take brewer's yeast. Recently I read that if you take brewer's yeast, more calcium should be added to your diet, because the yeast has an overabundance of phosphorus. I also read that calcium shrinks the veins if you have high blood pressure. I have high blood pressure, so what do l have to do? DEAR READER - Brewer's yeast won't give you enough increased phosphorus to make any difference. You get a lot of phosphorus from many foods. Meat is high in phosphorus.

People should get enough calclum, but not for that reason. As a woman, you need extra calci-

Perhaps South should not to have started with four clubs to have fallen for the defenders' stratagems, but give the Canadians credit. They created an
