Columbia Postponed, Again

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The launch of the hard-luck shuttle Columbia and its crew of seven was postponed a record fourth time today for at least two days because of clouds obscuring emergency landing strips.

It was a frustrating disappointment to Columbia's crew members, who have been on an emotional roller coaster with repeated last-minute delays. A fifth launch try was tentatively scheduled for Thursday.

The crew, including congressional observer Rep. Bill Nelson, D-Fla., had been scheduled to take off on a five-day mission at 7:05 a.m. EST to launch a $50 million RCA Satcom television satellite and carry out a series of experiments.

Nelson's crewmates for the first of 15 shuttle missions planned for 1986 are commander Robert "Hoot" Gibson, co-pilot Charles Bolden, George Nelson, Steven Hawley, RCA engineer Robert Cenker and Franklin Chang-Diaz, the first American-Hispanic NASA astronaut.

They were four hours in the shuttle's cockpit more than four hours while they waited for a break in the weather.

Launch could not be rescheduled for Wednesday because engineers are required to inspect Columbia's main engines for insulation damage after they have been exposed to supercold propellants two days in a row.

Girl's Life Saved With Boyfriend's Heart

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Fourteen-year-old Donna Ashlock sat in a hospital bed eating ice cream, unaware that her boyfriend had died, unaware that his heart was beating in her chest.

Felipe Garza, 15, had said he would die so Donna could live.

Donna, on the verge of death from degeneration of the heart, received the boy's heart Sunday in a five-hour operation at Pacific Presbyterian Medical Center. Felipe died Saturday of a brain hemorrhage that has left doctors mystified.

He and Donna lived in the farming community of Patterson, attended high school together and had been dating for about two months, their families said Monday. "She does not know Felipe is dead. She does not know she has Felipe's heart," said her father, Raymond Ashlock.

John Sanchez, Felipe's half-brother, said when Felipe learned several weeks ago that doctors had discovered the girl's mortal condition, he kept saying, "I'm going to die so I can give my heart to Donna."

Suspects Sunshine Law Violation

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford's probe into Seminole County's Yankee Lake land purchase in relation to the state Government in the Sunshine law has prompted the city to ask the county's five commissioners and its administrator to submit detailed personal records relating to the purchase and sewer service agreement with Heathrow Utilities.

In a 39-item request submitted to the county last week, City Attorney William Colbert called for the officials to produce all travel vouchers, personal leave requests, desk calendars, telephone logs and appointment books "dealing with, leading up to, or touching upon" Yankee Lake site acquisition.

The city attorney and co-counsel Ken McIntosh will review the information with county officials and attorneys Friday at the county services building.

Colbert today declined to discuss the requests individually, saying the list "in its entirety" represents the onset "of a very, very thorough examination of steps the county took to obtain Yankee Lake."

The documentation was called for, he said, to provide leads into the city's investigation of county purchase practices and will serve as springboard for questions the city attorneys will raise when taking the depositions of county representatives.

'...if the county didn't acquire the property legally, then the "sale" is invalid.'

—City Attorney William Colbert

"We told the city commission we would get some answers regarding the county's Yankee Lake acquisition and we're following through," Colbert said.

In addition to county officials' personal records, the city would like to review the minutes, notices and agendas of commission meetings that addressed Yankee Lake acquisition. Also requested are documents on all financial considerations made to obtain the property, Colbert said.

For unrecorded verbal communication regarding Yankee Lake, Colbert has asked the county representatives to submit "notes memorializing the conversations."

"We're covering all bases," the city attorney said. "We've got a lot of questions and this is our way of getting the answers."

For its own part, the city commission on Monday night is expected to bolster its efforts to obtain the property through condemnation by hiring an attorney who specializes in prosecuting Sunshine Law violations.

According to Colbert, "Although the city hasn't made a formal accusation yet, if the county didn't acquire the (Yankee Lake) property legally, then the 'sale' is invalid."

Under the purchase agreement the county made in November with Yankee Lake owner and Heathrow developer Jeno Paulucci, the developer's utility plant would be shut down, with its waste rerouted to the plant the county plans to build at Yankee Lake.

Colbert said he's calling for information on the Heathrow plant's lease because the county's agreement for the facility dates back to 1984, and "it looks like they incorporated prior agreements with Heathrow" into the Yankee Lake purchase contract.

"This could be another tie-in to violations of the Sunshine Law," Colbert said.

County Commission Chairman Bob Sturm said today both the Yankee Lake purchase authorization and the utility lease were addressed by Seminole commissioners in public session as prescribed by law. "So far as I'm concerned," he said, "we did nothing wrong."

The county commission's adherence to the Sunshine Law included, according to Sturm, "formal votes" to adopt both measures.

"The city, of course, is entitled to its own opinion," he added.

The city filed a condemnation proceeding to obtain the Yankee Lake property on Nov. 8, two days after Seminole commissioners authorized purchase of the property. Both Sanford and the county sought the land for their respective wastewater management programs.

Sanford's condemnation proceeding named as defendants Paulucci agent Nicholas Pope and two banks that held liens on the Yankee Lake property.

Colbert said the possibility that county commissioners clandestinely, and thus illegally, arranged purchase of Yankee Lake, "is worth looking into" in light of the county's "choosing to enter the suit" on Dec. 23.

According to Colbert, "If the county violated the Sunshine Law, they don't own the property. And if that's the case, they have no right to be in the suit."

The county contends its purchase is valid and has hired two private attorneys, Jim Spoonhour and Howard Marsee, to supplement the efforts its in-house legal counsel is taking to defend its interests in the suit.

According to defense attorneys, it was Sanford that acted illegally when bringing its condemnation action. The dismissal motions they have filed against the city are scheduled to be heard in court on Feb. 3.

Rather than enter his request as part of the city's case, Colbert said the four page document was submitted directly to the county under the state's public records statute. The

Row Surrounds School Clinics Plan; Seminole Steers Clear

From Staff and Wire Reports

TALLAHASSEE — A "family rights" spokesman Monday told a House ad hoc committee on children and youth that a proposed high school health clinic pilot program would promote abortion and dispense contraceptives, and promised to make it "the bloodbath of the session."

The proposal is to spend roughly $500,000 on two high school health clinics. In Seminole County, school board spokesman Karen Coleman said no such clinics are planned here, and that the system does not offer or have plans to offer an actual "sex education" class. The clinics, one in an urban setting, the other in the country, would provide a wide range of health services, including counseling for teens thinking about engaging in sex.

If they work, similar clinics could be set up in other communities.

In fact, one north Florida school system in Gadsden County, already has the mobile unit in place which will house its health clinic. The clinic is on the campus of James A. Shanks High School in Quincy. Opening date for the clinic is unspecified.

The school system's General Supervisor in charge of Guidance and Testing James H. Diamond says that when the clinic opens, students will be able to consult with a nurse from the county health department and obtain birth control materials. Diamond said he didn't know whether students would have to obtain parent's consent before visiting the clinic.

Testimony at a meeting of the House ad hoc committee on Children and Youth grew emotional Monday as the proposal's opponents and proponents offered strikingly different accounts of the track records of similar programs in other states.

Carole Griffin of Big Bend Right to Life, a north Florida group, later offered her assessment of the row, which the Legislature will settle during the spring session:

"This is going to be the bloodbath of the session," Griffin said. "It's a power struggle over control of our children. Will the state have control or will we (parents) have control?"

Proponents of the measure include the Governor's Constituency for Children, a state task force on preventing handicaps in children and the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, which includes the measure in its budget request for next year.

They say the program's sex education facet amounts to a Deputy Mayor John Lormann and Mayor Larry Goldberg share a congratulatory kiss Monday night just after being elected by Longwood colleagues to their respective posts. Mrs. Lormann is a former Longwood mayor.

Goldberg Longwood Mayor As Lormann Named Deputy

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

As predicted, Longwood Commissioner Larry Goldberg, 46, was unanimously elected mayor by his fellow commissioners Monday night after he was nominated by Commissioner Ed Myers.

Goldberg, who is beginning the second year of this term on the commission, previously was on the commission 1976-1979. This is his first time as mayor.

Former mayor and veteran commissioner June Lormann was elected deputy mayor on the nomination of outgoing mayor Harvey Smerilson. She is beginning her 14th year as a city official.

Goldberg, admittedly nervous in his new role, which includes presiding over the commission meetings, thanked the other commissioners for electing him mayor. "I hope I can do as well as Smerilson did in the past year and accomplish as much," he added. In other business the commission accepted the bid from Con-Am of Central Florida, Inc., a residential and commercial contractor, of $85,126 for the purchase of 3,785 acres of surplus city property located outside the city limits on Longwood-Lake Mary Road. Con-Am's was one of three bids opened. The others were from Agape Assembly for $30,010 and Congregation Beth Am for $65,000.

A fourth sealed bid was not accepted on the advice of the city attorney because it was not received by the advertised time of 4 p.m. deadline. Acting City Administrator Greg Manning said he had mistakenly told the unnamed bidder it would be acceptable as long it was delivered to city hall by 5 p.m.

"That will be a nice sizeable amount to put into fund for park

How Drunk Was She? Girl's State Crucial Issue In Sexual Battery Trial

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Whether a 17-year-old girl was incapacitatingly drunk when she had sex with a 30-year-old man at a party is the crucial issue in a sexual battery trial that started amid heated exchanges between the presiding judge and the state attorney on the case.

The trial for Kevin Larry Hughes, of 34 N. Fairfax Ave., Winter Springs, was to continue today.

If convicted, Hughes could receive up to 30 years in jail.

Hughes, who does not deny having an encounter with the girl, maintains she was a willing partner. The girl testified Monday she could have agreed but doesn't know because she can't remember the entire incident.

Before the trial began, Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Leffler and Assistant State Attorney Jeffrey Deen tersely discussed aspects of the case apparently because the state attorney's office entered plea negotiations after the jury was selected and before it returned from lunch to start the trial.

Deen said he couldn't discuss negotiations with the public defender until he talked to the juvenile's mother who wasn't available earlier in the day. Leffler said he didn't like the idea of going through the process of selecting jurors and then not have the case go to trial.

The pretrial maneuverings were further complicated by the crime

Hughes said he was willing to plea to — simple battery — even though "I know in my heart that I am innocent of the charge..." he said.

According to comments made in court, Gary Anderson of the Public Defender's office and Deen agreed to have Hughes plead guilty to simple battery carrying a six-month sentence — three of which he's served — and a year's probation. Normally a simple battery charge for a first-time offender would not involve jail time.

"I believe it is a good resolution of the issue," said Anderson. Deen said the state was willing to negotiate to avoid putting the girl on the stand.

Leffler said he had several reservations about the negotiation. He said he was concerned that the state would be willing to accept a misdemeanor plea amounting to a few months in jail for a first-degree felony charge that could snag Hughes 30 years. He also said, after hearing Hughes' account of the incident, that he was not sure he had enough facts to release or hold Hughes prior to sentencing if he accepted the simple battery plea.

"I don't feel comfortable sentencing him today without a presentencing report," Leffler said.

When Leffler asked Hughes what he wanted he opted for the trial before the five-man, one-woman jury. Hughes is accused of assaulting the girl at a Winter Springs party on either Oct. 5 or 6.

NATION IN BRIEF

Union Chief: FAA Budget Cuts To Hold Travelers 'Hostage'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Proposed budget cuts for the Federal Aviation Administration will result in declining levels of air safety that "will hold the entire American air traveling public as hostage," a union official says.

Howard Johannsen, president of the Professional Airway System Specialists, which represents FAA electronics technicians, said Monday the agency should be exempt from the mandatory cuts in order to maintain air safety standards.

The proposed cuts, which could total $135 million, are called for under the Gramm-Rudman Act which requires progressive cuts in spending levels to reach a balanced budget by 1991.

Johannsen said Congress pared the FAA's $4.9 billion 1986 budget by $55 million and another 5 percent cut in March, as required under Gramm-Rudman, would be a "fiscal act of terrorism."

"The effect of the cuts forced on FAA by the Gramm-Rudman law will hold the entire American air traveling public as hostage," Johannsen said. "To go ahead with the planned severe cut in expenditures is an act of appalling irresponsibility."

Johannsen said the agency's technician workforce is so short-staffed that he suspects routine maintenance procedures and records are being "pencil-whipped" — reported as performed when they are not.

Bomb Found Before Hockey Game

BOSTON (UPI) — A live hand grenade connected to a timing device that was removed from a Boston Garden trash barrel before an exhibition game involving a Soviet hockey team was planted by someone who "meant business," police say.

No one claimed responsibility for the bomb, and the Jewish Defense League, which had warned violence could erupt because of Monday's game between the Boston Bruins and the Moscow Dynamo, called it "a moral obscenity."

An anonymous caller told a news agency at 4:17 p.m. EST Monday that a bomb had been left in a trash barrel in the arena, and the device was found about a half hour later in a first-floor canister, police said.

The grenade was put in a special container and exploded at the department's bomb disposal site at about 7:30 p.m. The 7:35 p.m. game was played on schedule as about 150 people at a JDL-organized rally demonstrated outside.

Postmaster General Firing A First

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Postal Service Board of Governors, in an unprecedented move, fired Postmaster General Paul Carlin and has announced he will be replaced by Albert Casey, former board chairman of American Airlines.

The board said Casey, 65, a prominent businessman widely credited with turning the airline around in the 1970s, will be named to the $86,200-a-year job today.

Carlin, 54, the first postmaster general to be fired since the postal reorganization in 1973, will remain as an adviser to the board, a spokesman said.

The House committee that oversees the Postal Service reacted quickly to the announcement, promising an investigation into the firing.

Sources close to the board said Monday that Carlin, who took over Jan. 1, 1985, as the nation's mail chief, was told last fall that his job was in jeopardy. The board was apparently displeased with Carlin's efforts to reorganize regional and district offices, sources said.

Nader Seeks 'Business Revolt'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader, instigator of several uprisings against big business, is now trying to rally a "business revolt" — this time against the insurance industry.

Nader and J. Robert Hunter, a former federal insurance administrator, accused the property-casualty insurance industry of "premium-gouging" that pushed up the cost of commercial liability policies by as much as several hundred percent.

At a news conference Monday, the two men charged the industry justified excessive rate hikes by using "fraudulent" figures to show a financial loss last year.

In a separate interview, Nader said he plans to meet soon with representatives of businesses hard-hit by soaring insurance costs, such as day care centers, architects, truckers and even automobile dealers. He said he will urge the businesses to push for legislation to lift the industry's partial immunity to federal antitrust statutes and measures to make it easier for companies to form their own insurance pools.

"The industry is using its massive current premium-gouging and massive cancellation as a political battering ram to stampede legislators and regulators to act to further enhance profit and reduce risk," he said.

Asked if it feels odd to suddenly be a business advocate, Nader said: "Businesses are consumers, too."

Reagan Ready To Squeeze Libya

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, holding his first news conference in nearly four months tonight, appears ready to tighten his economic squeeze on Libya in retaliation for Moammar Khadafi's support of international terrorism.

Reagan held an "important decision-making" meeting with his top national security advisers Monday on possible sanctions against Libya and the "focal point was economic," administration officials said.

Officials said Reagan will "probably have something to say" about anti-Libyan measures at the news conference, scheduled for 8 p.m. EST.

Just days before he took office in 1981, Reagan vowed "swift and effective retribution" against terrorism.

Gulf War Flares With Iran Poised For Major Offensive

By United Press International
Iraq recaptured an oilfield on its southern front Monday in an apparent strike at forces assembled for a major Iranian offensive, a military communique from Baghdad said. The report said hundreds of Iranians were killed or wounded.

Tehran radio, monitored in Athens, Greece, said Iranian fighter bombers attacked a military garrison at Rawanduz in Iraq's northeastern corner "inflicting considerable damage" before returning safely to base. The attack was the second on Rawanduz in three days.

The attacks coincided with a new peace offer from President Saddam Hussein to end the five-year Persian Gulf war, the Iraqi communique said. The Iranian government has said there can be no settlement while Hussein remains in power.

In Cairo, Iraqi Foreign Minister Tarek Aziz said his country believes a full-scale Iranian offensive is imminent but expressed confidence it will be crushed.

Speaking to reporters during a brief stopover at Cairo Airport, Aziz said: "Iraq is watching the situation closely and the Iraqi armed forces are prepared to crush the Iranian aggression when it takes place."

Aziz stopped in Cairo on his way to Fez, Morocco, to attend a conference of Foreign Ministers of the Islamic Conference Organization.

Iran had no immediate comment on the Iraqi report that its troops recaptured part of an oilfield on Majnoon Island in the marshes straddling the border. Iran captured the two man-made Majnoon Islands in surprise attacks across the southern marshes in early 1984.

The Iraqi military communique reported Iraqi forces inflicted heavy losses of men and military hardware on Iran's troops in fighting around the oilfield, the state-run Iraqi news agency INA said.

INA said Baghdad's forces also shot down an Iranian F-4 Phantom aircraft with anti-aircraft fire as two enemy warplanes penetrated the border and tried to fire air-to-ground rockets into "residential areas."

"The plane was seen falling" in the border region, "while the other escaped without achieving its objective," the news agency said. Tehran radio, however, said the Iranian planes "returned safely to base."

At the United Nations, officials released a letter in which Iran threatened "a strong and decisive reciprocal measure" unless Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar is able to end a new series of Iraqi air attacks on Iranian civilian targets.

The letter from Iranian Ambassador Said Rajale-Khorassani said Iraq had accused Iran of carrying out raids on non-existent civilian targets as an "excuse-seeking policy in order to start its war of cities."

The Baghdad communique said "the military situation on Majnoon is now totally under the control of the Iraqi forces." It also said the Iraqi troops were consolidating their positions, apparent expecting an Iranian counter-attack.

Iraqi warplanes also raided Iran's main oil terminal on Kharg Island at 11:50 a.m. local time, INA said. It was the third attack on Kharg in three days.

The action coincided with celebrations in Baghdad marking the 65th anniversary of the establishment of the Iraqi army.

In a speech marking the occasion, Hussein said his country was ready for a peaceful solution to the crisis and the establishment of friendly relations with neighboring Iran.

"We are ready to end the war peacefully and establish good relations based on the principle of non intervention and freedom for both states," the Iraqi leader said.

"But Iran's determination to continue the war will only bring more destruction on Iran itself.... Iraq is determined to win this war, regardless of how long it takes," he said.

In Tehran, however, President Ali Khamenei told visiting Turkish Prime Minister Turgut Ozal that "the war will not end so long as the present regime in Iraq remains." Tehran radio reported.

Progress Made In MIA Negotiations

HANOI, Vietnam (UPI) — Vietnam will not use the search for more than 1,700 missing Americans as a bargaining chip for better relations with Washington, an official pledged Monday outside a meeting involving the highest-ranking U.S. officials to visit Hanoi in 10 years.

The seven-member delegation, headed by Assistant Defense Secretary Richard Armitage and Assistant Secretary of State Paul Wolfowitz, talked with Deputy Foreign Minister Hoang Bich Son across a narrow, green felt-topped table for more than three hours.

Armitage said the discussions would continue today with Foreign Minister Nguyen Co Thach in attendance.

"The two sides engaged in an in-depth discussion of all aspects of the American prisoner of war-missing in action issue," Armitage told reporters.

The talks in the two-story yellow mansion that once housed the French colonial governor dealt with "how we might accelerate progress towards the resolution of this issue," he said.

Armitage at one point introduced Col. Howard Hill, a member of the delegation and a former prisoner of war, to the Vietnamese as "a former guest of yours."

While the meeting was going on, Vo Dong Giang of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs told reporters Hanoi wants better relations with the United States, but would not use the POW-MIA issue for political gain.

"Vietnam has no intention whatsoever of taking the search for the remains as a bargaining chip toward normalization or toward improvement of relations between the two countries," he said.

Details of the talks were withheld at the request of the Americans, but they had been expected to focus on plans submitted by each side to resolve the MIA issue within two years and a proposal for a permanent U.S. MIA liaison office in Hanoi.

A Vietnamese Foreign Ministry source said today's session addressed the fine points of proposals to resolve the fate of the MIAs and "recover their remains. The key points would be ironed out during the meeting with Thach, he said.

Soon after the Americans arrived, Hanoi officials proposed a visit to the site of a warplane crash in Hanoi and to a building the Vietnamese have set aside to be the U.S. Embassy if diplomatic ties are established.

The Foreign Ministry source said the Americans rejected the invitations on the grounds the trips would be "artificial."

Vietnamese officials have indicated they are interested in a long-term improvement in relations that would lead to Western investment, trade and aid for its ailing economy.

But Washington sees the MIA issue as only one obstacle to diplomatic relations. The key issue, U.S. officials have said repeatedly, is Vietnam's occupation of Cambodia and the U.S. position is that all Vietnamese troops must be withdrawn from Cambodia before relations can be normalized.

In November, Vietnam permitted the first joint U.S.-Vietnamese excavation and U.S. officials said they hoped for many more of them.

There are 1,797 Americans listed as MIAs in Vietnam and its surrounding waters. Virtually all are presumed dead.

Also in the U.S. delegation are Richard Childress of the National Security Council and Ann Mills Griffiths, director of the National League of Families of Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia.

Wallace Reported 'Doing Fine'

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. George Wallace was "doing fine" in his third day of hospitalization for a chronic urinary tract infection but doctors said it had not been determined how long he would stay in the hospital.

Wallace, 66, who has been confined to a wheelchair since a 1972 assassination attempt left him paralyzed from the waist down, spent a "comfortable" first full day Sunday at the University of Alabama-Birmingham Medical Center, an aide said.

"He's awake and lucid," assistant press secretary Frank Mastin said from the hospital. "He's still doing fine. There's no deterioration since yesterday."

Wallace press secretary Billy Joe Camp said Sunday night that Wallace's doctors described the governor as doing well.

"He has had a comfortable day. He has read newspapers and watched television and talked with his staff people about the legislative session forthcoming," Camp said.

He said Wallace would "keep running" the state government from his hospital bed.

Wallace was taken to the Medical Center Saturday from the executive mansion in Montgomery, his seventh hospitalization since he won a fourth term in 1982.

"This is not real serious," hospital spokesman Hank Black said. "It's just to keep him from developing a worse problem. He'll be here a few days, but we really don't know exactly how long."

Camp said Wallace spent Sunday reading newspapers, watching television and discussing the upcoming legislative session with aides.

Wallace canceled a public appearance Friday because of the fever, and his physician, Dr. Ross MacBride, recommended he be taken to the hospital to receive the antibiotics intravenously.

Wallace, who is considering seeking an unprecedented fifth term this year, was hospitalized in September and October 1984 for a fever that doctors also traced to a urinary tract infection.

"This is a nemesis with paraplegics," Camp said.

Wallace underwent a spinal operation last July to relieve pressure that was causing pain in his back. He had a physical examination in November that revealed a polyp on his colon, which was removed and found to be benign.

Wallace said then he would

Death Penalty For Doctor

CLAYTON, Mo. (UPI) — Dr. John Dale Cavaness, a small town practitioner in Southern Illinois, was sentenced Monday to die in the gas chamber for murdering his son to collect $148,000 in insurance benefits.

St. Louis County Circuit Judge Drew W. Lutten Jr. followed the recommendation of the jury that found Cavaness guilty Nov. 20 in sentencing the doctor to death.

Cavaness, 60, said nothing when the sentence was passed but tightened his lips and stared at the floor.

No execution date was set. A death sentence is automatically appealed to the Missouri Supreme Court under state law.

Cavaness was convicted of first-degree murder in the death of his son, Sean, 22, on Dec. 13, 1984. Sean Cavaness was killed with two shots to the head in an isolated area near the suburb of Times Beach.

After the doctor's conviction for killing Sean, Marian Green, his former wife, said she believed Cavaness also had killed another son, Mark.

Mark Cavaness was found dead of a shotgun wound to the head in April 1977 on the family's catfish farm near Harrisburg, Ill. Cavaness collected $40,000 on an insurance policy on Mark's life.

A third son, Kevin, 29, testified against his father at his trial and said after the sentencing that he, too, believed Cavaness had killed Mark.

"Ever since Mark's death, I've had suspicions," said Kevin. "I know how violent he could be."

Cavaness was popular among his patients in Harrisburg and Eldorado, where he practiced. A number of supporters set up a defense fund and attended the trial and sentencing, and appeared disappointed at they left the courtroom.

Trial testimony indicated Cavaness was more than $400,000 in debt.

The doctor was arrested after neighbors reported seeing him near Sean's south St. Louis apartment the night he was shot. Cavaness at first denied being with Sean that night, but later recanted.

He said he had gone out drinking with his son, and Sean became despondent and shot himself. Cavaness said he shot Sean a second time to make the death look like a homicide and spare his family the shame of a suicide.

Man Charged In Motel Molestation

A Sanford motel resident was awakened at about 12:30 a.m. Monday to find a stranger crouched beside her bed touching her leg. The woman's screams awakened her boyfriend and sent the intruder running. A man matching the suspect's description was nabbed nearby by Sanford police and arrested after he was reportedly identified by the woman, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

Lorraine Gibson, 20, and Kensay Lee Simms, 24, both of the McAlister Motel, 2102 Southwest Road, Room M, were asleep when the intruder awakened Ms. Gibson and her screams sent Simms in pursuit of the man who fled, the report said.

Simms chased the suspect north into an open field and the suspect cut back to the motel room where Ms. Gibson was standing in the doorway. He reportedly pointed a rusty handgun at her, but again her screams and having the room door slammed in his face put him on the run.

A sheriff's deputy arrived at the scene and was notified via radio that Sanford police had stopped a man matching the suspect's description in the 1700 block of Southwest Road, the report said.

The victim reportedly identified the suspect.

Billy Williams, 34, of 1408 W. 16th St., Sanford, was charged with armed burglary and aggravated assault with a firearm at about 3 a.m. Monday. He was being held in lieu of $8,000 bond.

FARGO GUARD DRAWS JAIL.
A Wells Fargo guard who was reportedly driving "recklessly and inconsiderately" eastbound on Interstate 4 near Lake Mary Boulevard, was arrested at about 10:10 p.m. Sunday after he allegedly pointed a pistol at a Seminole County sheriff's deputy who was in his own pickup truck.

Deputy Mark Borgschulze reported he was driving to work when he tried to pass the suspect's vehicle which had been traveling recklessly at about 65 mph.

Borgschulze said the suspect turned on the inside light in his vehicle and pointed a handgun over his shoulder at the deputy as they drove along.

Borgschulze activated a blue light on his truck and the suspect stopped his vehicle. A sheriff's report said the man was wearing a Wells Fargo uniform and was identified as an employee of that company.

The man was taken to the sheriff's department for questioning and was charged with aggravated assault with a firearm.

Thomas Anthony Skinner, 29, of Deltona, has been released on $1,000 bond and is scheduled to appear in court Jan. 27.

COCAINE & NEEDLE
One of two men questioned by Altamonte Springs police after they were spotted in a car in the lot of the Hotline Bottle Club, State Road 436, at about 4:40 p.m. Sunday has been charged with possession of cocaine and drug paraphernalia.

The man charged, who was in the driver's seat of the vehicle, was arrested after a policeman reportedly found a syringe, a bottle cap believed to contain a liquid form of cocaine and two cigarettes that had been tampered with inside the car. The officer also reported finding a tip for the syringe in the suspect's pocket and a piece of plastic with suspected cocaine residue inside.

Michael Thomas Pierce, 21, of Orlando, was arrested at 4:46 a.m. Sunday. He has been released on $2,000 bond and is scheduled to appear in court Jan. 20.

to reason with an apparently intoxicated man who was allegedly creating a disturbance at his home, but they ended up arresting the man after he refused to calm down and for a second time punched an officer in the chest with his finger.

The man reportedly offered one of the policemen $100 to leave him alone, a police report said. The man's wife, whom police reported is ill, asked that her sister be called from a nearby home and that reportedly caused the suspect to become increasingly rowdy, the report said. Other members of the family feared for their safety, the report said, and the suspect was arrested.

Lewis D. Richenbach, 63, of 435 N. Central Ave., Oviedo, was arrested on charges of disorderly intoxication, two counts of battery to police and resisting arrest, at his home Sunday. He was jailed at 9:55 p.m. and has been released on $1,000. Richenbach is scheduled to appear in court Jan. 27.

POT IN CAR
A man sitting in a pickup truck behind closed businesses at Township Plaza, Longwood, at about midnight Sunday, was charged with possession of marijuana by Longwood police after an officer reportedly spotted a partially smoked pot cigarette on the floor of the vehicle and found a plastic bag of the drug in the truck.

George F. Jones, 20, of 325 Bonnie Trail, Longwood, has been released on $500 bond and is scheduled to appear in court Jan. 14.

PRODUCED ARREST
A man who allegedly pried open a fenced door and crawled under a fence to enter Green Brother's Produce at 413 W. 13th St., Sanford, at about midnight Saturday, was nabbed at the scene by Sanford police and charged with burglary. The man was found inside an office of the building and arrested, a police report said.

Garnett Antinino Wise, 25, of Ocala, was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

TAG CHECK ARREST
A Seminole County sheriff's deputy who ran a computer check on the license tag of a car parked at the eastbound rest area of Interstate 4 near Longwood, determined it had been reported stolen in Victoria, Texas, arrested the Victoria man who had been asleep in the car.

Roger Dale Keith, 27, was charged with grand theft auto at 3:41 a.m. Monday and was being held in lieu of $3,500 bond.

KIDNAP/RAPE ATTEMPT
A 16-year-old Oviedo girl reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies she was abducted as she walked along State Road 426 at Chapman Road in Oviedo at about midnight Dec. 30.

The girl said the man who was driving a small four-door car, forced her into the vehicle and then drove to Osteen where he pulled off the roadway and tried to rape her, a sheriff's report said.

The man reportedly hit her in the face and then drove to Daytona Beach, where the girl escaped when the man stopped the car at a traffic light, the report said.

The girl was issued a referral notice by sheriff's deputies, meaning she has 10 days to decide if she wants to press charges against the suspect.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS
Carlton O. Williams, 28, of 4631 McKay St., Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies a 1986 Kawasaki motorcycle chained in a shed at his home was stolen Saturday or Sunday. The cycle is worth $1,270.

The 1975 Chevrolet of Mark Elugardo, 20, of 875 Falkirk Drive, Winter Springs, was stolen while parked on Seventh Street in Casselberry on Saturday or Sunday. A sheriff's report said the vehicle is valued at $250.

Rail Competition Benefits Public

Congress created Conrail Corp. in 1976 from the remnants of the bankrupt Penn Central Railroad and other failing railroad lines in the Northeast and Midwest. Since then, the government-subsidized corporation has made such a dramatic financial recovery that Washington is ready to sell the railroad to the highest private bidder. Problem is, Congress cannot decide which of two offers to accept.

Ten months ago, the U.S. Department of Transportation recommended that Conrail be sold to Norfolk Southern. The Virginia-based conglomerate is offering $1.2 billion and plans to fold the government-owned freight carrier into its operations that extend east of the Mississippi River. Meanwhile, the investment firm of Morgan Stanley & Co. is offering $1.2 billion for Conrail and plans to preserve the railroad's independence by making it a publicly owned corporation within the next five years.

Although the proposed purchase prices are identical, a closer look discloses that Morgan Stanley's is the better offer.

To begin with, Conrail is one of three large, profitable railroads in the eastern half of the United States, with a book value of in excess of $4 billion. The corporation has turned a consistent profit during the last four years and has $1.05 billion cash on hand, including $850 million in a cash reserve and approximately $200 million in excess funding for the corporation's pension commitments. Conrail's financial comeback clearly demonstrates its fitness to remain as an independent entity.

The U.S. Railway Association, which monitors Conrail for Congress, concluded as much earlier this year. Its comprehensive study predicted the carrier would make a $1.4 billion profit during the next four years, even allowing for a recession that could cause a downturn in traffic and revenue. Numerous economists are even more optimistic about Conrail's future, projecting a $1.94 billion profit for the corporation through 1989.

Nevertheless, the Department of Transportation contends that Norfolk Southern has the deep pockets to see Conrail through any economic downturns. But the deep-pockets premise is flawed because it assumes that once a business turns sour, the investor will keep pouring money into the investment. In fact, Norfolk and Southern has not hesitated to liquidate its subsidiaries when they fail to turn a profit.

A merger between Norfolk Southern and Conrail would create the nation's largest railroad system and reduce the number of major roads east of the Mississippi from three to two, resulting in a virtual monopoly. If Morgan Stanley's investors bought Conrail, there would be no worry about a giant eastern rail monopoly because the publicly owned corporation would strengthen competition throughout the region.

An independent Conrail would also preserve jobs and pension benefits for its employees who initially made considerable financial sacrifices to make the corporation solvent. On the other hand, Norfolk and Southern estimates that 1,800 jobs would be eliminated following the merger. Industry analysts predict that as many as 9,000 persons could lose their jobs.

The Morgan Stanley offer, moreover, would permit the government to recoup an estimated $600 million in tax revenues by preventing Norfolk Southern from using Conrail's valuable tax and financial benefits to shelter non-Conrail income from federal taxes.

Congress and the Reagan administration should therefore ensure that Conrail becomes a publicly owned corporation. This would permit the corporation's management structure to remain intact, allow the investors to make money, encourage the public to reap the benefit by investing in Conrail stock, and enhance railway competition east of the Mississippi. Congress can set this positive process in motion by approving the sale of Conrail to Morgan Stanley & Co.

Canada Rules The Waves (Of Nausea)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — You might think the reusable shuttle program serves no useful purpose other than cluttering up the sky with a few more communication satellites, but you would be wrong.

From out of outer space may come the world's first hangover-free alcoholic drink. Judging from the holiday season just passed, that would certainly be a blessing.

After a study of spacesickness, one of Canada's first astronaut trainees concluded that the dizziness, nausea and disorientation that sometimes afflict the crews of space ships have a lot in common with hitting the bottle too hard.

"His research shows that spacesickness and the ill effects of too much alcohol may be related," says one report.

In other words, develop a substance that protects astronauts from such attacks and science may give bottlers a substance that precludes that morning-after feeling.

If so, the space program surely would be ranked as a commercial and humanitarian success, regardless of what other spinoffs it might have.

One reason research of that nature is so timely right now is an annual survey indicating that more corporate employees attended office parties this season than last.

It may be, of course, that some of the convivial workers were motivated more by health concerns than by festive spirits.

According to another recent study, drinkers are healthier than non-indulgent types, with beer-swillers the healthiest of all.

As one college professor put it, "Either drinking beer is healthier or attracts healthier drinkers."

I knew beer could put roses in your cheeks, not to mention the coloration of the nose, but this survey found that wine drinkers likewise reported in sick less often than teetotalers as did those who favor the hard stuff.

Keep in mind, however, that the latter study was conducted in Canada, as was the study of spacesickness. Those Canadians appear to come up with survey conclusions that might seem a mite strange to the rest of the North American continent, and parts of South America as well.

Keep in mind, also, that the study was funded in part by the brewery industry.

Even so, the prospect of attending holiday parties without experiencing dizziness, nausea and disorientation the next morning is bound to make future invitations brighter.

Meanwhile, fortunately, most companies give their employees ample time in which to recover.

Of the companies responding to a survey conducted by the makers of Bell's scotch whiskey, all were closed on New Year's Day last Wednesday.

Perhaps unfortunately, only about 6 percent gave their employees Jan. 2 off as well.

That lapse could be made less noticeable by serving hangover-free drinks.

What science needs to develop now is a substance that would prevent office party attendees from being made to feel dizzy, nauseous or disoriented by their fellow employees.

If the space program can accomplish that feat, it truly will be performing a remarkable service for mankind.

History Supports Decision

By Arnold Sawicki
UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When Ted Kennedy announced he would not seek the Democratic presidential nomination in 1988, all sorts of reasons were advanced to explain why the Massachusetts senator was bowing out.

Here's another. Maybe Kennedy was thumbing through the history of the Democratic Party and, lingering over the pathetic story of William Jennings Bryan, decided, "I don't want to end up like that."

The way Bryan ended up was being humiliated at the 1924 national convention. A year later, after the Scopes monkey trial that fixed his public image as a Bible-thumping windbag, he was dead.

Political parties make much of their dead heroes. Pictures of Abraham Lincoln, Teddy Roosevelt and Dwight Eisenhower often are the backdrop at Republican gatherings; Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson, Franklin Roosevelt and John Kennedy look down on Democratic conclaves. But not William Jennings Bryan.

Yet, in his day, Bryan stood astride the Democratic Party, as the saying goes, like a colossus. It nominated him for president three times, twice by acclamation, and he was a potent force in national party affairs for more than two decades.

In 1896, with one speech — "You shall not crucify mankind on a cross of gold" — the 36-year-old obscure former congressman from Nebraska stampeded a national convention that was expected to nominate a senator who had been in Congress for more than 20 years. In 1900, despite a thorough drubbing four years earlier, "the boy orator of the Platte" won the nomination on the first ballot, and did it again in 1908.

In 1920, he was active in the drafting of the party platform, but his influence was waning. At the marathon 1924 convention (103 ballots over 11 days), the man whose voice once held the Democratic Party captive rose to explain his opposition to Alfred E. Smith and was drowned out in a chorus of boos and catcalls.

So to the premise of this piece. Maybe, just maybe, Ted Kennedy looked at the Democratic Party and the nation as they are in the fifth year of Ronald Reagan's presidency and made the cold, hard decision that his chance to make a credible run for the presidency had come and gone.

Pentagon Organizing To Organize

FUDDLE FACTORY — The frustration that soon overtakes anyone trying to make the Pentagon bureaucrats more efficient is illustrated poignantly in a recent internal memorandum from Army Undersecretary James Ambrose to his top aides. "It is surprising to me to find ... continued discussion of 'how to organize' and 'who is to be in charge of what.' I thought that had all been settled. I think it is much more important to get on with the much needed work. ..." he wrote. Ambrose evidently knows too well how easy it is for any program to be "organized" to death in Washington.

As Farmers View It

WASHINGTON — Writing a column on a broad range of controversial issues, from Social Security benefits to corporate welfare, stimulates a lot of letters — not all of them complimentary. But no recent column has produced as much angry mail as last month's examination of the plight of some American farmers.

In that piece, I compiled statistics from various government agencies showing that the vast majority of the nation's 2.3 million farmers are doing fairly well, thank you. It's that 15 percent or so of farmers who have borrowed recklessly to buy more land and equipment who are tottering on the edge of bankruptcy — and many will go under this year. It is they who are getting all the attention from the national news media, and perhaps deservedly so.

Well, farmers — and especially their wives — wrote letters, and in the interest of fairness, here's a sampling of the ones I've received from around the country.

Mrs. Elmer Dobberstein of Ellendale, Minn., says that she and her husband have been farming for 37 years, and both of their families farmed as well. They have three sons and a daughter, and she writes that "in spite of the off-the-farm jobs, we are barely hanging on. We are still more fortunate, though, than a good number of people in our area who have 'gone down the tube.'"

Shop The Federal Flea Mart

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The conservative philosophy is that the private sector is good and government is bad. This leads to the belief that private industry can perform nearly any government function more efficiently, at lower cost and with better quality — except, perhaps, for defense and law enforcement.

Allowing private industry to perform tasks previously carried out by government is called "privatizing."

The federal government already does this in a limited way by contracting out such things as food and security services in federal buildings. State and local governments have been even more aggressive in contracting out such services as trash collection and public-hospital administration.

When President Reagan was first elected in 1980, it was expected that his administration would zealously follow a policy of privatization — but the issue was relegated to a back burner.

One of the few privatization measures to come out of the first Reagan administration was the decision to sell the government-owned Conrail rail-freight system to the Norfolk Southern Corp. However, this effort was stymied by Congress, which must approve the sale.

But now, in the second Reagan administration, privatization has become a major issue. Dozens of individual privatization plans are being floated, some serious and some fanciful. Among the proposals:

— Eliminate the present Social Security System and, instead, require that workers and employers pay into individual retirement accounts established by financial institutions and insurance companies.

— Replace the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation with a private insurance system.

— Sell to private industry the U.S. Postal Service, now a quasi-public corporation that still gets a billion-dollar annual subsidy.

— Sell Amtrak to private railroads, just as Conrail is being sold.

— Sell the interstate highway system to the states, which could finance the purchase by putting up tollbooths.

— Sell the U.S. Weather Service, including weather satellites in orbit, to private forecasting companies.

"Why do we hang on?" Mrs. Dobberstein asks. "We hang in there because we have a deep sense of responsibility for feeding the world."

But she says that the nation's troubled farmers "at least most of us) are not asking for a government bailout. We are asking for decent prices in the marketplace. Then we could take care of our debts. We have sold our grain and livestock for years without a profit, or a very low profit. This fall, the price received for corn and beans does not cover the cost of raising it. Please rewrite your article."

Mrs. Kenneth Cudd, 61, of Perryton, Texas, has been a farmer's wife for 40 years and raised three children, all of whom are college graduates "but (they are) not in farming!" she writes, apparently grateful.

Mrs. Cudd sent me copies of two grain-sale statements, one for grain sold in 1973, which earned them $5.35 a bushel, and the other dated June 11, 1985, when wheat brought in only $2.90 a bushel.

On the other hand, A.D. Cowley of Hereford, Texas, a retired farmer, sees things a little differently. He writes to say, "I have just read your article (and) you're 100 percent right. Our government made it too easy for some of these so-called farmers to get big loans which they knew they couldn't pay back."

Canadian government is considering establishment of a special bureau, like the Justice Department's Office of Special Investigations, to identify the war criminals among the thousands of Eastern European refugees who settled in Canada after World War II. Ukrainian and Baltic emigre groups are strenuously opposed to such a move, while Jewish groups are just as adamantly in favor of setting up a Nazi-hunting office.

He arranged for his computer to dial Rev. Jerry Falwell's toll-free number every 30 seconds, at a cost to the Moral Majority of about $500,000 before he was found out. Falwell is understandably sore, and the FBI is checking to see if the stunt was illegal. ## SAC Favorites: Lyman, Tribe Clash Tonight

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Seminole and Lyman, two teams picked as the squads to beat in the first-year Seminole Athletic Conference, get together tonight in Sanford to see if the pre-season poll has any substance.

Tipoff is set for 8 p.m. at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium. The junior varsity game begins at 6:15 p.m.

Seminole, Lyman and Lake Brantley are all tied for the early SAC lead with 1-0 records. Lake Howell and Lake Mary are 0-0 while Oviedo is 0-3.

Seminole, 6-4, was a unanimous choice of the six county coaches, gathering all of the first-place votes for 60 points. Lyman, 8-2, received five second-place votes and one third third for 46 points. Oviedo (31), Lake Mary (26), Lake Brantley (24) and Lake Howell (13) were next in line.

Coach Bill Klein's Seminoles feature an imposing frontline of 6-7 Rod Fossitt, 6-7 Craig Walker and 6-4 Rod Henderson. Andre Whitney and Jerry Parker are the guards. Fossitt is the lone senior. Senior Mike Wright has handled the third guard effectively while Joe Holden, who leads the county in free throw percentage (14 of 17 for 82.4 percent), has been a strong addition on the boards as a third forward. Brad Baird, a 6-8 junior, is the backup center.

Seminole hosts DeLand Thursday and entertains Lake Brantley Friday.

Coach Tom Lawrence's Greyhounds, meanwhile, are a veteran group, which returns all five starters. Guard T.J. Scaletta, forward Brett Marshall and center Ralph Philpott, all seniors, have each played on the varsity level since their sophomore year. Junior forward Vince Florence and sophomore Craig Radzak are also seasoned starters. Radzak played varsity last year as a freshman while Florence played two years of varsity ball at Luther before coming to Lyman this year.

Basketball

The Greyhounds also have Robert Thomas, who Lawrence calls "my John Havlicek off the bench," rounding into top form after a superb football season (911 yards rushing). Matt Fitzpatrick, a transfer from Ohio, gives Lyman another quality guard.

"We're shooting the ball real well," Lawrence emphasized. "I'm real happy with this group. They play together real well and we have played steady ball all year."

"We're really looking forward to coming to Sanford. I just hope we're ready to play," Lawrence added, who takes his cagers to Lake Howell Friday for a second SAC game.

While the Greyhounds have been steady during their first 10 games, Seminole has been inconsistent. The Tribe dropped three close games early in the year, one a one-pointer to powerful Mainland. The Seminoles posted an impressive victory at Seabreeze before winning three of four in the first Central Florida Classic to take third place. Lyman also won three consecutive after dropping its opener to take the consolation title.

Tonight's battle of the boards should be interesting. Philpott at 6-5 along with 6-3 Radzak and 6-3 Marshall are all strong boardmen. Florence, at 6-1, is an excellent leaper. Philpott is third in the county with 8.1 boards per game while Radzak is sixth with 6.9 per outing. Marshall is seventh at 6.7 per game.

Henderson is second in the county with 8.7 per contest while Walker is fourth at 7.4. Fossitt is averaging 6.6 and Holden, playing 16 minutes per game, is averaging 4.9. Guard Parker hangs around the weak side for 5.0 rpg.

Also returning to action tonight are the Lake Mary Rams of coach Willie Richardson. Lake Mary, 1-5, will be looking to end a three-game losing streak at Bartow.

"We're snakebite," Richardson declared during the Classic when the Rams lost two close encounters.

Lake Mary's worst loss is just six points. The other four are by two or three points to Spruce Creek, Winter Park, Boone and Bartow. Lake Mary was without 6-4 Chris Jackson against Bartow due to his late arrival. The senior forward could make a difference tonight.

Lake Mary has a busy week with a game in Daytona Beach against Mainland Wednesday and a third clash Saturday and

Payne's Dream Will Be Struggle

Somehow, it doesn't see fair. Here Bill Payne sits with the best team he's had in four years at Seminole Community College, yet it's going to be a real struggle to realize his ultimate dream.

The dream is Edmunds Center on the campus of Stetson University in DeLand. On Feb. 27, eight teams from around the state will congregate for the Florida State Junior College basketball tournament.

Two of those teams will come from Division II, SCC's district. Payne's only problem is that four of the best seven teams in the state play in Division II, the Mid-Florida Conference.

"After seeing all of them play, I'd be very happy with second place," Payne said. "Florida Junior College is just the best team by far."

Which leaves SCC, Daytona Beach and Santa Fe to scramble for the other berth. Finishing second is key concerning the tourney, since the runnerup is the host school when the tournament pares to four teams. The winner of the post-season clash also goes to the final showdown at Stetson.

Payne, however, may be a little presumptuous to rule the Raiders out of a MFC championship before the season begins. The Raiders, 13-3, were ranked first in the state a couple of weeks ago and have a very well balanced team. Scoring, rebounding, playing defense — they can do it all.

Tonight, they have a final nonconference tuneup against Leesburg's Lake-Sumter Community College before opening the MFC Thursday night at Ocala against Benny Gabbard's Central Florida Community College five. Tipoff tonight is at 7:30 at the SCC Health Center. There is no charge for admission.

"I'm very pleased with our overall play," Payne said about his fourth-ranked Raiders Monday night. "We are pretty quick at all positions."

Payne singled out Orlando Jones, James Morris and Lake Howell's Erem Brooks as the two players who have surprised him the most. "We didn't think James was as quick or as good of a defensive player," he said. "We knew Erem was good but we realize he was as talented as he was."

Improvement, too, has been evident for the Raiders, according to Payne. He cited 6-6 forward Claude Jackson and 6-9 center Vance Hall as the most improved. "It's been confidence more than anything," Payne said. "We always thought they were good players but they've become better with more confidence themselves."

The Raiders are standing pat with their starting five. David Gallagher, Mike Landell and Tony Roberts are the guard while 6-7 Greg "Slim" Johnson and 6-9 Hall are the frontcourt. Roberts and Hall are freshmen.

Gallagher is averaging 11.4 points, 6.9 assists, 3.2 rebounds and 4.1 rebounds to give the Raiders everything they want from a point guard. Shooting guard Roberts leads the team with 15.5 points. He is also contributing 4.8 boards and 2.6 steals and 3.8 assists. Landell is

Benching Boredom?

The bench can be a boring place sometimes, but it is a good area to catch up on all the latest gossip around Lake Mary High School. That's what it appears Theresa

Surprise! Seminole Ties Rams

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

For much of the early part of the season, Seminole High struggled just to field a team. But the Lady Tribe never gave up and continued to improve, particularly in this past weekend's Burger King Tournament.

Monday night, Seminole found out that it is not only improved, but can compete with the county's stronger teams as it played Lake Mary's Lady Rams to a 1-1 tie in soccer action at Seminole High.

Seminole, which started the season with an 0-7 record, now stands at 3-10-1. The Lady Tribe returns to action Thursday at Lake Howell. Lake Mary, which now stands at 7-3-1, goes up against Lyman Friday night at Lyman High.

"Lake Mary had more shots (21-14) than us, but we outplayed them on the field," Seminole coach Suzy Reno said. "We had some good chances to win it, but couldn't put the ball in the goal. We were hoping to win it, but we're happy with the tie."

Lake Mary coach Bill Eissele said the Lady Rams were a bit flat coming off a fine performance in the Burger King Tournament.

"We were a little flat and probably a little overconfident," Eissele said. "And some of the girls are probably still sore from playing three games in a row in the tournament. With the way we played, I was happy to come out with the tie."

Neither team could pass through the pipes in the first half as Seminole was not successful on five shots while Lake Mary couldn't get on the board despite 12 shots on goal.

Actually, Lake Mary came close to scoring in the first half but had what Eissele said looked like a pair of goals called back.

"One goal was called back on a hand ball and the other it hit the football crossbar, not the soccer goal and went into the goal. They weren't bad calls but it was kind of a letdown after those two goals were called back."

In the second half, both teams had nine shots and both had one goal. Seminole broke the deadlock 25:53 into the second half when Rachelle Denmark scored on an assist from Melissa Shuckman.

Vicky "Spuffy" Pakovic, recently moved to midfield from forward, crossed the ball from the right side to the left side to Shuckman who passed to a waiting Denmark in front of the goal. Denmark put the ball in the cage and Reno said Lake Mary keeper Laura Hellegaard didn't have a chance to save it.

Lake Mary came back to tie it with 17 minutes remaining and it was junior Kelley Broen who got the Lady Rams on the board.

The goal came on a dead ball play when Donna Rohr touched the ball to Broen who fired it into the upper left hand corner.

The defenses did the job the rest of the way as neither team could break the tie. The game did not go into penalty kicks because all games between county teams this season that end in ties will remain ties.

"We got tremendous defense from Ciny Benge, Angela Freeman, Jennifer Roberts and Kim Walsh," Reno said. "And at least we got some offense and got some shots on goal. The tournament was good for us because we got to make some changes that made us a better team."

Forsyth, Stevens Up Lyman To 5-1; Seminole Loses Riggins For Year

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

Anyone who has seen Seminole High play Lyman High in girls basketball in the past, may have thought the two teams traded uniforms before Monday night's game. Usually, Seminole uses the fastbreak to wear down its opponents while Lyman is usually patient offensively.

Monday night, however, Lyman's Lady Greyhounds took advantage of their hustle and Seminole's lackadaisical play to run wild on the fast break while senior Kim Forsyth had her way underneath to the tune of 29 points as Lyman ran to a 79-71 victory over the Lady Tribe in Seminole Athletic Conference play before a crowd of 151 at Seminole's Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium.

Lyman moved into a tie for the SAC lead with Lake Brantley, both with 2-0 records. The Lady Greyhounds, who stand at 5-1 overall, return to action Wednesday at West Orange and get back in league play Thursday at Lake Howell.

Seminole now stands at 1-1 in the SAC and 7-4 overall. The Lady Tribe has another tough conference battle Thursday at Lake Brantley.

The Lady Seminoles will be without freshman point guard Aretha Riggins for the rest of the season. According to Steele, Riggins, who led the county in assists and steals in the early going of the season, has a bad illness that has her hospitalized.

"It's a shame about Aretha," Steele said.

Basketball

"We were looking forward to having her back and running the offense. We're really going to miss having her around."

Seminole was playing without senior forward Kim "Big Wheel" Johnson Monday night because Johnson missed the team's last practice.

Lyman's success with the fast break Monday didn't only surprise Seminole but surprised the Lady Greyhounds themselves.

"We're usually the slow-down type of team," coach Dick Copeland said. "We really don't have the depth to run. But Seminole gave us the break tonight and we took it."

Seminole coach Steele said it was Seminole's inability to get back on defense that cost it the game.

"We just weren't getting back," Steele said. "And we had no intensity whatsoever. The girls didn't do anything the way I told them to."

Along with her game-high 29 points, Forsyth also yanked down 12 rebounds. Forsyth, who has already received a scholarship to play at North Carolina State, scored 21 of her points in the first half when Lyman led by as many as 19 points.

"It's no different for me even though I've already signed," Forsyth said. "I still want it more than ever. But, so far, I haven't been really pleased with the way I've played. I expect a lot more from myself."

Forsyth

Forsyth got plenty of help from her teammates Monday as Denise Stevens poured in 18 points. Chandra Roberts hit a career-high 16 and LaTonya Johnson contributed 14. Johnson also ripped down 10 rebounds and handed out five assists. Stevens grabbed 10 boards and Roberts dished out six assists.

Temika Alexander led Seminole with 20 points. Leticia Strickland popped in 16 and Yolanda Robinson added 15 points and 15 rebounds. Catherine "Kitty" Anderson, who went into the game averaging over 17 points, got into early foul trouble and wound up with 10 points.

Lyman came out and scored the first 11 points of the game with Forsyth scoring five

Shula: Miami's Defense Still On The Run

MIAMI (UPI) — The Miami run defense, shredded for 251 yards by the Cleveland Browns in last week's playoff game, now must prepare for a New England Patriot team that ripped through the Dolphins for 201 yards two months ago.

Despite the problems against the Browns, who averaged 6.8 yards per carry in Miami's come-from-behind 24-21 win Saturday, coach Don Shula said Monday the Dolphins weren't about to begin changing strategies now.

"At this stage, you don't come in and do a whole different concept offensively or defensively," Shula said after his team went through a light workout in preparation for Sunday's AFC championship game with the Patriots.

The Dolphins played the run better when they defeated the Patriots 30-27 Dec. 16 in the Orange Bowl, giving up 122 yards on the ground. New England won 17-13 Nov. 3.

"New England has an excellent running game," Shula said of the Patriots, who defeated the Los Angeles Raiders 27-20 Sunday. "We had a tough time in the first game, but we played better against the run in the second game. It looked like things were coming along, but then we got taken apart by Cleveland."

At the Dolphins' practice Monday, four players — offensive linemen Steve Clark and Jon Glesler, wide receiver Mark Duper and linebacker Jackie Shipp — did not work. Tuesday is an off-day for the team, and the Dolphins will resume their regular practice week Wednesday.

Shula said it still appears that everybody would be available to play against the Patriots.

"It's too early to tell any more about them," he said.

The Patriots will be fighting two streaks Sunday. New England has not won in the Orange Bowl in 18 games (their only win was in 1966), and the Dolphins have won all five of their AFC championship game appearances. The Dolphins also have won three straight playoff games at home, and six of their last seven.

IN BRIEF

Holmes Wants Spinks Rematch 'Badder Than A Pig Wants Slop'

EASTON, Pa. (UPI) — Former heavyweight champion Larry Holmes wants a rematch with Michael Spinks "badder than a pig wants slop."

"That's what we're working on," Holmes said Monday. "We've got to find a date and a few more little details to iron out."

Holmes lost his International Boxing Federation crown to Spinks Sept. 21 — the only loss in his 49 career fights.

A spokesman for Holmes, Richard Lovell, said "the possibilities are very good" for a rematch, and added the bout may be held March 22.

Holmes, 36, said in a telephone interview that while he is "fat and overweight" at 235 pounds, he would knock out Spinks.

"Money's not the issue right now," he said when asked about his payday for a rematch. "The issue is getting him in the ring and killing him, ruining his boxing career."

The loss to Spinks, a light-heavyweight before the fight, was an especially bitter one for Holmes, who failed to tie Rocky Marciano's 49-0 record. Asked how badly he wants a rematch, Holmes responded: "Badder than a pig wants slop."

Cheeks Leads Sixers Past Spurs

United Press International

Armed with a license to score and teamed in the backcourt with Julius Erving, Maurice Cheeks took charge of the Philadelphia offense Monday night, leading the 76ers to a 108-102 victory over the San Antonio Spurs.

Cheeks scored 23 points, handed out 13 assists and grabbed five steals while committing just two turnovers to lead the Philadelphia 76ers to their ninth victory in 10 games. Erving, normally a forward, played off-guard in place of the injured Toney.

Cheeks, hitting 9-of-11 field goal attempts and 5-of-5 from the line, took advantage of Spurs backup guard Wes Matthews, playing in place of an ailing Johnny Moore.

Elsewhere Monday night, Phoenix defeated Seattle 114-97 and Sacramento topped Washington 106-87.

At Seattle, Larry Nance scored 27 points, James Edwards 25 and Jay Humphries 23 to lead the Suns in the continuation of a game suspended Sunday because of leaks in the roof of the Seattle Center Coliseum.

At Sacramento, Calif., Joe Kleine and Mike Woodson keyed an 11-2 second-quarter run to lift the Kings to their third straight victory.

Lyman Frosh Upset Lake Mary

Going into Monday's game, Lyman High's freshman squad averaged 48 percent shooting from the free throw line for six games. After almost doubling that percentage, Lyman came away with a 55-46 upset victory over Lake Mary's Rams Monday night at Lyman High.

The Greyhounds hit 16 of 19 free throws for a percentage of 84. The last time Lyman played Lake Mary, 58-44 loss, the 'Hounds hit just 9 of 22 free tosses (41 percent).

Ray Williams led the way for coach Rich Balezantis' Lyman cagers with 18 points including 8 of 9 from the line. Stephen Jerry tossed in 10 points and Jarvis Watkins led the way underneath with 11 rebounds. Lyman ran its record to 5-2 with the win.

Carlos Hartsfield pumped in a game-high 24 points for Lake Mary which now stands at 6-1.

Allen's 20 Points Derail UCF

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Forward Randy Allen scored a game-high 20 points and Jerome Fitchett added 15 as Florida State broke a four-game losing streak with a 76-58 win over the University of Central Florida in basketball action Monday night.

Florida State, now 5-5 for the season, grabbed a 33-21 lead at the half, but the hot shooting by the Knights closed that lead to 45-41 with 1:05 left in the game.

Allen, who scored 14 of his points in the second half, sunk two jumpers from 15 feet as the Seminoles regained an 8-point lead and were never seriously challenged again.

The Central Florida Knights, now 1-11, were led in scoring by Faronte Roberson with 13, and Tony Marini and Cummings-Jacobs with 12 points each.

Oviedo.

The only other county team in action tonight is coach Dale Phillips' Oviedo Lions who travel to St. Cloud, Phillips, whose team has been wracked with illness and injury, was impressed with the way his cagers came on "strong in the Classic. Oviedo has won three consecutive to level off at 5-5.

"The tournament really helped us get off on the right foot," Phillips said. "When we get Mark Stewart (broken ankle) back we should be a real good team."

Stewart, a 6-4 senior, was injured in the second to last football game. His cast was removed during the Christmas break but Phillips said he is uncertain when Stewart will be able to play.

Shoring up on the boards for Stewart has been James Walker.

The 6-6 senior played well in the Classic and is feeling more comfortable in the paint with 10 games under his belt.

The Lions continue to get excellent scoring from the county's 1-2 punch of senior Allen Unroe (16.4) and junior Robb Hughes (16.2). Unroe (5.9) and Hughes (5.6) are also 1-2 in rebounds. Junior guard Terry Campbell is third in the county in assists (3.8) and second in steals (2.3).

Junior Randy Ferguson completes the starting lineup. He was the right man in the right place in the tournament. "Fergy" tossed in one basket to win a game and another bucket to send a game into overtime, which the Lions eventually won.

Lake Brantley, 5-4, doesn't play until Friday in Sanford. "We're about where I thought we'd be," first-year coach Steve Jucker said. "Our biggest problem is our bench. It's practically all guards. We really miss Steve Stark (broken hand). It looks like he's going to have a cast on for four more weeks.

Jucker is getting double-figure scoring from Mark Moser (13.3), Wade Wittig (11.4) and Brent Bell (10.0). Senior guard David Hardwick (9.7) and sophomore center Darren Leva (9.2) complete the starting five.

Lake Howell, 3-6, returns to action Wednesday at home against West Orange. Coach Greg Robinson's crew entertains Lyman Friday for its first SAC encounter. The Silver Hawks travel to DeLand Saturday.

Lake Howell lost three starters, including its outstanding guard tandem of Efreem Brooks and Scott Anderton. Robinson, however, has been encouraged thus far. "We played a little better than I thought we would being that the experience was limited," he said. "The positives have outnumbered the negatives. We're not going to set the world on fire but we're looking for some progression each time out."

The Hawks are starting 6-5 Kevin Lenard and 6-4 Fred Hicks along with John Lowe.

Henderson Philpott

Randy Keller and Mark Schnitker.

Lenard is averaging 9.5 points and 7.4 board through the first nine games. Lowe has hit 59 percent of his field goals while averaging 10.1 points per outing. Lowe leads with 31 assists and 18 steals. Hicks is the leading scorer with 10.7 points per game. He also collects 6.3 rebounds per outing.

Robinson said his younger players have been pushing for time, though. Sophomores C. Gibson, Matt Johnson and Phil Clark along with junior Terry and freshman Aaron Gammons form the backup five.

Eck's 22 Charge Up Oviedo; Manuel, Howell Rip Apopka

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Basketball

No matter how talented Stephanie Nelson is, the senior standout needs some support if the Oviedo Lady Lions are going to win some games.

Monday night, Michelle Eck stepped forward and took charge for the Lady Lions as she poured in a career-high 22 points in leading Oviedo to a 50-40 victory over St. Cloud's Lady Bulldogs in Orange Belt Conference play at Oviedo High.

Nelson, who had averaged over 13 points per game going in, contributed 11 points. Nelson had been the team's high scorer in all but one game going into Monday's action, but she was probably as happy as anyone to see Eck score 22.

"It was good to see her (Eck) come around and have a good game," Oviedo coach John Thomas said. "That's what we need is for other people to score to support Stephanie (Nelson). The more balance we get the better we'll be."

Oviedo, which snapped a six-game losing streak, now stands at 2-9 overall and 2-0 in the OBC. The Lady Lions return to Carey Manuel pumped in a career-high 14 points and grabbed 10 rebounds Monday night as Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks won their seventh straight, 61-39, over Apopka's Lady Blue Darters at Lake Howell High.

Lake Howell, which now stands at 6-3, returns to Seminole Athletic Conference play Thursday at home against Lyman. Lake Howell is 0-1.

While Manuel did the job inside, the Lady Hawks also got fine inside performances from Kelly Grider and Jolee Johnson who added 10 rebounds each. Grider also scored nine points while Erin Hankins and Tammy Lewis added eight apiece. Lewis also handed out seven assists and Mary Schnitker dished out four assists.

Professional Car Care: Sanford's Oldest, Best

Professional Car Care owners Larry and Darrell Jackson, along with Chris Lonis and Robert Pelham, your "appearance specialists," have more than 20 years experience in the automotive industry. Professional Car Care has been serving Sanford at the same location for over five years.

Professional Car Care, located on French Avenue (Highway 17-92) at the corner of Eighth Street in Sanford, specializes in custom auto glass tinting. They are known throughout Central Florida for their quality...their lifetime warranty...and their low prices.

Their solar window film is the highest quality manufactured to date. They would like to invite you to visit with them and experience the benefits of solar window tinting.

Professional Car Care strives to keep prices low and demands the highest in quality. Why are their prices low? Because they believe that solar window tinting in Florida is a necessity!

Advantages of solar window tinting include high heat and glare reduction, complete elimination of interior fading, and it provides the comfort and security that makes window tinting so popular.

Professional Car Care offers complete auto detailing, fabric protection, interior sanitizing, waxing and pinstriping.

Larry says, "We are proud to be your area's outlet for the best in automotive rustproofing and undercoating, rustproofing by Quaker State Oil Co., a name you've known and trusted for 100 years. Quaker State Rustproofing comes with a limited lifetime factory warranty."

Their hours are 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. In working on your vehicle, they strive to accommodate your busy schedule. Look for the sign on the roof with the car and truck.

Professional Car Care believes the best advertising is a job well done.

Ford Recalls Taurus, Sable

DETROIT (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. said Monday it issued a recall notice on its new Ford Taurus and Mercury Sable intermediate models because of a faulty ignition switch.

Bright said about 190 of the 4,500 cars had defective ignition switches, which allowed the key to be removed without the switch being in the locked position.

Bright said Ford notified the National Highway and Traffic Safety Administration about the condition Dec. 18 and did not publicize the action because most cars were still in dealer hands.

The two models, part of Ford's $3-billion program to place an all-new mid-sized model on sale until Dec. 26, but some dealers were allowed to pre-sell the car as early as Dec. 16.

"We don't think it's a big deal," Bright said, because the recall is not safety related and so many cars were still at the dealers. But Ford had to notify NHTSA because it involves federal anti-theft regulation.

Bright said the defective switches, made by an outside supplier, can be identified from the key code or dealer invoice and will be replaced.

Bob Loveland, owner, of Loveland's Refinishing (right) and assistant Larry McKenzie with carved panel they are refinishing.

Loveland's Tender Touch Restores Your Furniture

Bob Loveland, owner of Loveland's Refinishing, 506 W. 13th St., Sanford, wishes everyone a happy and prosperous new year as he looks forward to another year in the Sanford business community.

"I want to thank everyone who helped make 1985 a successful year for their confidence and business," Bob said, "and for recommending me to their friends."

With the Christmas rush over, Bob suggests it's time to take care of furniture repair, touch-ups or refinishing you may have been putting off or spill or burn marks that may have marred furniture over the holidays.

He celebrated his first anniversary at his new location (just one block east of French Avenue across from the newly-painted city water tower) in November. He has eight years experience in the furniture refinishing business, five of which he has operated his own business.

Because of the growth of his commercial business, as well as his residential, Loveland's has added an extra man — Larry McKenzie — to better serve his customers.

Some of Loveland's commercial accounts include work done for the Women's Club of Sanford's clubhouse renovation, the Deltona Inn, Sweetwater Country Club, the Good Earth Restaurant and Country Furniture.

Don't throw away those old pieces with sentimental value even though they may be a bit worse for wear. Loveland's can clean them up and either completely refinish or touch up scratches, water damage or cigarette burns. They can replace damaged or missing parts and have them looking like new.

Bob gives estimates and does work for insurance and moving claims including fire, water and smoke damage.

Loveland's also offers furniture stripping and custom painted finishes.

"Most everything can be stripped and redone," says Bob. "Most pieces are worth doing. It is very satisfying to bring back an old part of our heritage and make furniture over like it was yesterday."

Local pick up and delivery are available free of charge.

For easy access to Loveland's to drop off furniture or parking, enter the lot from through the Laurel Avenue entrance. The business is open Monday through Saturday from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Bob will also come to your home evenings to give free estimates. Please don't ask for estimates over the phone as they are very difficult to give without seeing the furniture. Call for an appointment.

IRS Predicting A 'Normal' 1986

By Lori Santos
WASHINGTON (UPI) — With only a few changes on this year's federal income tax forms, IRS officials confidently predicted Monday that 1986 will avoid the problems that plagued the tax processing system last year.

At a briefing to announce what alterations await the 1986 filer, Fred Purdue, IRS director of returns processing, said: "I think '86 will be a substantially different processing year in terms of service and the public than was '85, substantially improved, much like a normal processing year."

Last year there were hitches with a new computer, as well as considerable delays in processing returns at service centers — notably in Philadelphia where many returns were lost and tremendous backlogs built up. But this year, Purdue said, the problems are under control with earlier hiring and more training of employees, as well as new computer programs expected to greatly enhance processing.

Purdue attributed last year's difficulties to being "woefully understaffed" at service centers, as well as tardy training and hiring of employees. This year's $3.6 billion budget — $31 million more than requested — should assure "we won't have the same problems," he said.

"More people this year will be processing forms ... and less is expected from each employee," Purdue said, referring to employee complaints of "quotas" last year that led in some instances to shredding of returns. The IRS last week sent out 87.3 million tax form packages, as always advising taxpayers to file early and avoid the common mistakes that yearly plague about 20 million filers and delay processing.

The most noticeable changes on the new forms are in the exemption areas involving dependents and alimony payments, according to Art Altman, assistant director of tax forms for the agency.

The IRS is now asking non-custodial parents to list the first names of children that did not live with them in 1985 to ensure the children are only claimed by one party as a dependent. For alimony payments, taxpayers must give the name and Social Security number of any person that received payments.

Both changes, as well as similar provisions for Social Security income and charitable contributions, were made to ensure that taxpayers are honestly claiming deductions and listing all of their income.

"Now we have the ability to check both the deductions and the reporting of income to see if both parts match," Altman said.

Aquino Outlines Economic Plan For Philippines

By Fernando Del Mundo
MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — In the first major policy statement of her campaign, presidential Candidate Corazon Aquino Monday outlined a six-point economic program to lift the nation from its worst economic crisis since World War II.

Aquino, who is attempting to unseat President Ferdinand Marcos in national elections scheduled for next month, also vowed to renegotiate terms of the country's $25 billion to $30 billion foreign debt.

"Our economy cannot possibly endure, nor our people long accept, a situation where nearly half of our export earnings must go to interest payments alone, and for loans that have benefitted only a favored few," Aquino told several hundred business leaders at a luncheon at the Intercontinental Hotel.

Aquino said agriculture must be developed but the private sector is the "engine of the economy."

"Foreign investments will be welcome, but as a supplement to domestic capital in all priority areas where domestic capital is not adequate," Aquino said. She said utilities and natural resources would remain under local control.

Aquino, pointing to the nearly 40 million Filipinos affected by unemployment and mass poverty, pledged her "untiring efforts" to secure for labor its equitable share of profits.

"I am convinced that, apart from gross violations of human rights and the persistence of certain structural injustices, much of the appeal of the armed struggle is rooted in our present economic conditions, rather than in ideological conviction," she said.

Marcos, 68, who has ruled the Philippines for 20 years, called the elections 16 months ahead of schedule amid criticism in Washington of his handling of the economy and the growing strength of the communist New Peoples Army.

Aquino, a mother of five who is vice president and treasurer of a sugar-based conglomerate owned by her rich family, has been criticized by Marcos for her lack of experience.

The U.S.-educated Aquino said she would vigorously press the International Monetary Fund to reconsider a program asking Filipinos to buy more goods from abroad while saddling the people with taxes.

She vowed to dismantle coconut and sugar monopolies, stimulate investment in "labor-intensive, rural-based, and small- and medium-scale enterprises," preferably in food production, and withdraw government from private business.

She told the businessmen their choice is limited to "a regime with a record of rapacity and ruin" or a "free, open and accountable government that will be credible in its leadership."

The Political Power Of Prayer

By Bill Lohmann
UPI Feature Writer
VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (UPI) — From a preacher in a New York ghetto to the spiritual leader of a worldwide Christian television network, Pat Robertson has spent his life accomplishing the inconceivable.

He now prayerfully considers his greatest challenge, one he readily admits might prove too enormous even for his considerable resources and unwavering faith — a run from the pulpit to the White House.

Robertson glows with his trademark, squint-eyed smile when asked if there is at least a 50-50 chance he will seek the Republican nomination for president in 1988.

"I would say," Robertson, 55, states without hesitation and his voice rising, "it is that good."

Ever since Robertson announced he was "praying about" running for president, the unofficial king of electronic evangelism has heard snickers. But the giggles are not so loud anymore.

Robertson is an ex-Golden Gloves middleweight boxer, ex-combat Marine, Yale-educated lawyer, born-again Christian, ordained Southern Baptist minister, ultra-successful businessman, world traveler, author of five best-selling books and smooth-talking but folksy broadcaster.

His Christian Broadcasting Network ministry — a part-religious, part-commercial empire — takes in $230 million annually in donations and advertising. That's more than double any other television evangelist and represents a base of financial support that would make any politician drool.

The A.C. Nielson Co. reports "The 700 Club," Robertson's slick magazine-style show featuring a fast-paced mix of news and religion and the flagship production of his network, has a monthly audience of 29 million people and the number is growing by 30,000 per month.

Add Robertson's heritage — his father, A. Willis Robertson, served Virginia in Congress for more than three decades and his bloodlines trace back to Sir Winston Churchill and two U.S. presidents, William Henry Harrison and Benjamin Harrison — and a Robertson candidacy seems anything but bizarre.

It is unclear how much support Robertson could muster — he does not plan to make a decision before next November's congressional elections — but Republicans and Democrats alike are taking him seriously.

Paul G. Kirk Jr.,

chairman of the Democratic National Committee, was concerned enough to send out a recruiting letter aimed at rallying prospective Democrats by calling Robertson "a radical right-wing leader" and "one of the most powerful public figures in America today."

Kirk closed the letter by sounding an alarm to Democrats: "Don't let 1985 become a year like 1979 when we all said Ronald Reagan can't possibly win. Because when President Pat Robertson finishes his scripture reading and begins his televised State of the Union address, it will be too late."

Robertson smiles when he considers the Kirk letter.

"I was somewhat amused, but nevertheless it was sent by the chairman of one of the two great parties," Robertson said during an interview at CBN headquarters in Virginia Beach. "It's almost unbelievable how much credibility the thought of my candidacy has gotten. It's an extraordinary thing."

Marion Gordon Robertson was born in Lexington, Va. — his older brother first called him "Pat," the nickname he still prefers — and reared a Southern gentleman.

The late A. Willis Robertson was a Democrat and one of Virginia's best-known politicians, spending 14 years in the U.S. House and 20 in the Senate. As a youth, Pat Robertson rubbed elbows with the nation's policy-makers, visited the White House at age 12 and later wrote campaign speeches for his father.

Says Robertson, "Not long after I learned 'mommy' and 'daddy,' I learned 'constituent.'"

Robertson also was reared in a religious environment, particularly by his mother, who planted the seeds of faith in her son. But at first the church was more of a social than spiritual event.

He was a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Washington and Lee University in his hometown, did graduate work at the University of London and gained his law degree at Yale.

Robertson and his wife, Dede, a nursing student he met while attending Yale, were in New York City in 1956 living the life of "sophisticated New York swingers who were rapidly climbing the success ladder." Robertson wrote in his first book, the autobiographical "Shout It From the House-tops."

It was during that time Robertson underwent a religious conversion, left his job at W.R. Grace Co. and enrolled in a seminary. Robertson says he encountered conversations with God that led him, at one point, to sell the family's belongings, donate the money to Korean orphans and move his wife and three small children into a rat-infested brownstone parsonage next to a brothel in Bedford Stuyvesant, a predominantly black ghetto in Brooklyn.

Robertson ministered to the downtrodden of the slum community, but it wasn't long before he learned of an abandoned UHF station for sale in Portsmouth, Va. Robertson says he locked himself in an empty church to fast and pray for five days before God instructed him to buy the station and told him how much to pay for it.

Robertson had only $70 in his pockets when he struck a deal to purchase the station for $37,000, the figure God had given him.

The first broadcast of "The 700 Club" in 1961 barely escaped the Portsmouth city limits, and the station was a one-camera operation on the air only briefly each day.

Today, "The 700 Club" is the top-rated religious show in America and CBN reaches around the world. It combines religious broadcasting with reruns — such as "Wagon Train" and "Groucho Marx" "You Bet Your Life" — in a 24-hour schedule. A nightly national news show is scheduled to begin this year.

The first donation to Robertson's station was $3, so he opened a bank account for CBN, for that amount, Robertson now serves on the board of directors of the same bank.

His first big fundraising project was to solicit $10 per month from 810 members — the origin of "The 700 Club." He met that goal and more and now reportedly accepts contributions from 1 million regular donors.

CBN has blossomed into a complex of colonial-style buildings on a prime 685-acre site. Besides the $22 million state-of-the-art CBN broadcast center, there is a $13 million library for CBN University, which offers master's degrees in five professional fields and next fall will include a law school donated by Ora Roberts University.

There also are office buildings and a 12-room Georgian mansion, surrounded by brick walls, where Robertson lives. Robertson built the home with profits from his books, then donated it to the university as the permanent chancellor's home. In addition, ground has been broken for a hotel and convention center on the CBN property.

CBN employs 4,400 people worldwide, and provides a 24-hour-a-day around-the-clock telephone counseling service. Last year, CBN counseling operators ministered to more than 4 million troubled viewers who called in.

Another project of CBN's Operation Blessing, a philanthropic program that last year coordinated the distribution of $45 million in goods and talent to impoverished people around the world. Robertson also has launched an ambitious nationwide battle against illiteracy.

In addition to CBN, Robertson owns three television stations in the United States, CBN Middle East, which boasts the most powerful television transmitter in the world, and a radio station.

"The growth has been amazing," says Bob Slosser, a former alchemist and editor for The New York Times who first met Robertson in the 1960s and now serves as president of CBN University.

It is hard to determine Robertson's personal wealth. He earns an annual salary of $80,000 from CBN but donates the entire amount back to the corporation or other ministries. He lives on other income, most notably the royalties from his books. However, he has not been required to disclose his worth and has not done so.

He is not an extravagant man. Besides his family, Robertson's main pleasure is his small stable of horses. While other religious celebrities exhibit a taste for fancy cars, Robertson prefers a Ford Bronco.

The gray-haired Robertson, basically a shy man who maintains a constant twinkle in his eyes, bristles at being labeled a TV evangelist.

The job of evangelist is a very noble calling, but I really am not one," he says. "I'm a professional broadcaster. I am a religious broadcaster, but we own television stations and run a commercial television network."

I say (evangelists) are not my competition. My competition is ABC, NBC, CBS and Turner. But these other people are my friends, and I feel close to all of them. We're all trying to do the same thing in different ways using different styles."

Robertson uses less hellfire and brimstone than Jimmy Swaggart, does not shoot from the hip as quickly as Jerry Falwell and solicits donations only during a few PBS-style telethons each year rather than constantly seeking money.

He is relatively soft-spoken and exudes a thoughtful, almost fatherly manner when speaking. "The 700 Club," he quotes the Bible, uses maps and seems like a professor explaining issues — usually from the conservative view.

But many Americans might have a hard time distinguishing between Robertson and TV evangelists.

Divine intervention, faith healing and speaking in tongues are among Robertson's chief beliefs — convictions that could prove confusing, if not disturbing, for those who do not believe in Robertson's form of religion.

Last fall, Robertson and his co-hosts on "The 700 Club," along with the studio audience, offered prayers for God to push Hurricane Gloria away from the Virginia coast. When Gloria moved harmlessly out to sea, Robertson said the prayers worked.

How the general public perceives his ministry is not lost on Robertson.

"I think all somebody has to do is hear me, see me and talk to me," Robertson said. "Then they know I'm a reasonable person."

RAST Is Latest Allergy Test But Is Not Better

DEAR DR. GOTT — What is the RAST test for allergies?
DEAR READER — This complicated blood test, now available in kit form to doctors, is used to measure small amounts of protein antibodies. Once a person has developed an allergy, the body manufactures antibodies to neutralize the allergy-causing substance. These antibodies can be isolated and identified. The RAST test is useful in diagnosing small children and adults with troublesome rashes. Ordinarily, the older scratch-test technique is easier to perform, cheaper and is said to provide an allergist with equally important information.

DEAR DR. GOTT — After a woman stops the birth-control pill, how long does it take for menstruation to begin? When can she get pregnant? At what age is it best to stop taking the pill?
DEAR READER — Ordinarily, a woman will ovulate and menstruate within three to four weeks after stopping contraceptive pills. However, there is a broad range of normal responses, and some women may not menstruate for a few months after discontinuing the drug. Pregnancy can occur almost immediately, depending on when the woman re-establishes her normal ovulatory pattern. Most women who stop the pill in order to become pregnant will become fertile within a cycle or two.

Many specialists recommend that women in midlife, by age 40, stop the pill and consider non-drug methods of contraception, including barrier devices, tubal ligations, or vasectomy for their partner. The risks of the pill — including the tendency to form blood clots in the leg veins — appear to be more common in older women, especially those who smoke.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Would you please comment on the role of pharmacists with respect to prescribed medicine?
DEAR READER — Pharmacists are highly trained, dedicated professionals who are licensed to dispense drugs from prescriptions supplied by physicians. But their true role does not end here; pharmacists are much more than dispensing robots. In my experience, pharmacists are invaluable sources for both doctors and patients. They are generally more knowledgeable than doctors about the drugs they prescribe. I often call on pharmacists for advice, and I know many other doctors do, too. Pharmacists are usually up-to-date about new medicine; they know about side effects; they can advise how to take medicine so that its efficiency is not compromised.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
 D.W. Strickler of Dealburg, Pa., sent me today's deal. Rubber bridge players may be a little bored, since the game contract is assured, but a tournament player knows the importance of an overtrick. Watch how declarer Strickler brought in 11 tricks.
 East won the ace of clubs on the opening lead. He realized from declarer's play of the jack that there was no future in that suit, so he switched to the jack of diamonds. Declarer won the king, drew trumps, cashed the club king and played all of his trumps. His last four cards were two diamonds and two spades.
 By this time East had begun to fidget uncomfortably. When East finally threw the diamond ace, trying to pretend that he did not hold the queen, Strickler knew what to do. He played a diamond, and hapless East had to win and give up the remaining tricks to the A-K-J of spades in dummy.

 Had defender East earlier played ace of diamonds and then the queen or jack of diamonds, the play would have been even easier. Now if East kept the high diamond, he would have to unguard the queen of spades. If he threw the remaining diamond honor, declarer's 10 would be high.
 If any of you are tired of fighting for overtricks, the remainder of this week's columns will deal with the safest and surest ways of making various slam contracts.
