SUGGESTIONS FOR MAKING A FLORIDA FLOWER GARDEN... A proper soil condition is absolutely necessary for a good flower garden. The soil must be put in the proper condition or the flower garden will never be satisfactory. It is much easier to make the condition of the soil right at the beginning than to attempt to do the improving as you go along. In many places, the size of the garden is limited and the soil often very poor. The procedure of improving and preparing the flower garden soil is really quite simple, whether the soil is hard clay or light sand. Well rotted manure and leaf mold or black muck or hammock soil are ideal materials to work into the flower garden soil. If you cannot get well rotted manure and leaf mold or muck or hammock soil, the easiest and cheapest way is to spade under a thick layer, two or three inches deep, of horticultural grade peat moss. This material is clean and easy to handle, and a wonderful source of active material for breaking up hard soil and making it mellow, or for adding humus to sandy soil. The material is clean and easy to handle, and a wonderful source of active material for breaking up hard soil and making it mellow, or for adding humus to sandy soil. There are two general methods of sowing flower seeds, the first method is to sow the seeds in the open in shaded shallow furrows in the garden, where the plants are to bloom. Burlap, palm leaves or Spanish moss may be used for shading, and will also protect seeds from being washed out, covered too deep or packed by heavy rains. The other and preferred method of starting most flower seedlings in Florida is to sow the seeds in flat or shallow boxes, or in muslin or burlap covered seedbeds, where the environment may be more easily and better controlled, than when sown in the open. The flat must have adequate drainage provided by holes in the bottom to allow the free passage of water. If flats are used, use a mixture of rotted manure or peat moss and fertile sandy loam garden soil, free of root-killing nematodes, and set the flat to within a half inch of the top. Firm the soil with a block of wood, and soak with a fine spray. After the water has drained away, sprinkle seeds thinly over the moist surface, or plant large seeds in rows. Large seeds may be covered by sand; fine seeds planted broadcast, such as Snapdragon, Pansy and Petunia, should be pressed into the soil with a block. Cover the seeds with newspaper, or better, with burlap and apply water to the flat or seedbed daily toward evening, until germination starts, never allowing the seeds to dry out. The cover must be removed immediately after the seeds sprout so that the tiny plants will not be weak, spindly or leggy. After germination, apply a damp-off disease control, following the directions on the package. The damp-off control should be used at the first sign of the disease, which caused young seedlings to rot off at the base of the stem. Give as much light as possible and water daily with a fine spray, never allowing the soil to dry out. Thin the seedlings as they begin to crowd. When the flower plants have four leaves and are 4 to 6 inches high, they should be set in their permanent locations in moist soil in the garden on a cloudy afternoon or toward evening, and water the plants thoroughly immediately after setting. They should be shaded during the next few days until the roots become established. Frequent watering toward evening and bi-monthly applications of a good fertilizer will contribute in a large measure to the success of a flower garden. Frequent shallow watering to keep down weeds and to loosen the surface soil is a very beneficial operation. After the flower plants are set in the garden, the soil should be kept moist but not soggy, and the weeds should be kept down. FASRON 821 welcomed back from J. School at Cecil Field, Jacksonville, recently Jim H. Carter, Earl Martin and Mrs. Bill Mosier. These men claimed that they really learned something and that Genor Fournier and Al Battle, who just left for the same school, would come back with a great deal of knowledge about jets. Each week FASRON 821 honors one of the enlisted men of the mess by selecting him "White Hat of the Week." This honor is given on the basis of outstanding work and the term, "White Hat of the Week," is taken from the fact that the man honored wears the white sailor hat of the enlisted man. This week Lucy Jeanonne was chosen "White Hat of the Week" by FASRON 821. Lucy is from New Orleans and is many of the men of FASRON but is now living in Sanford with her wife, Ann and their son, Timothy, at 2212 Peoples Avenue. Congratulations to the "White Hat of the Week!" Recently the Chief Petty Officers Club elected new officers. The new club Manager is Chief Stigma of FASRON 821. Chief Granger, NAAB, is the new club Treasurer. Chief Fred Cook, NAAB, was re-elected Club President. Congratulations and good luck on their new jobs to these men. In Coast Herb Anterson and his family, FASRON 821, were glad to see them when they did as club officers of the Chief Petty Officers' Club in the past term. Now NAAB men are taking home this week, Frank Truder, Jacksonville visiting his mother who just returned from home. Angus Bayler is also in town with his family. NAAB men reporting measure to move on a flower garden. Frequent shallow watering to keep down weeds and to loosen the surface soil is a very beneficial operation. After the flower plants are set in the garden, the soil should be kept moist but not soggy, and the weeds should be kept down.

"No significant action was reported." But all along the battle line Allied infantrymen bundled in winter battle clothing and Reds in their padded uniforms roamed across snow and through the mud in small patrols, feeling out the positions of the opposing line. Truce negotiations hinge now on whether the former armistice city of Kaesong and its guardian hills are left in Red territory or placed in Allied hands. The Reds say they must have it. Nuckols said the U. N. position is "firm, but not adamant." Asked if the Allies would let the talks break down over Kaesong, he said: "That's a matter of pretty high policy. It means looking into the future." Nuckols protested the Red offer proposal "takes everything and offers nothing." He referred to the Red acceptance of the Allied offer to withdraw from 200 square miles on the eastern front and the Communist refusal to give 200 square miles in the west, including Kaesong, in exchange. The proposed U. N. eastern withdrawal includes the coastal belt to Kaesong and the last two miles recently hacked out before Kumsong in the east-central salient. Nuckols said the U. N. appointed Red port of Wonsan of the Korean coast which "has more military significance than their relatively small acreage inroads." The islands are off the beleaguered Red port of Wonsan on the east coast and near Chinnampo and the Taedong river in the north. The Red negotiators insist on quick acceptance of their offer but there had been no sign of any agreement. While British-Egyptian tension continued, Egyptian rejection of the proposed Middle East defense pact met non-cooperation among other Arab states and veiled criticism from a Cairo paper which opposes the government. Flery Interior Minister Fouad Serag El Din claimed Thursday the British had banned off trucks from canal zone roads and had stopped rail shipments a week ago. Gasoline and kerosene reach Cairo by pipeline, but Serag El Din asserted Cairo soon would be starved of heavy industrial fuels. This, he said, might lead to "troubles and revolution."

Among those affected are men deferred as students, or for dependency or essential occupational or agricultural reasons, 4-F, ROTC students; those who enlisted in the National Guard before they were 18 1/2, aviation cadets deferred up to four months in order to enter the aviation training program, elected officials and others. A Selective Service official said in an interview that all draft boards have been asked to bring individual files up to date to identify those whose period of military service liability has thus been extended. "The man who currently has been deferred to complete his college education, or for some other reason, may be sure he will be called into service before he becomes 35," the official said. He added: "Local boards are revising their files now to get these deferred men into uniform as soon as they become available and are those, and to sort out those who are liable until the age of 35 from those who are liable only until the age of 24." Those whose draft liability still ends at the age of 30 include veterans, all non-commissioned officers, ministers and divinity students, sole surviving sons and -once they have completed their period of enlistment-men who went into the National Guard before Feb. 1, 1951.

Hillyer Report Proves Value of Terminal to Sanford

Hillyer Associates, water traffic experts of Jacksonville, were employed by the City for $3,500 at the suggestion of Randall Chase and W. H. Stemper to make a complete study of water terminal prospects at Sanford.

Both their original report and their supplementary report were favorable to the construction of the terminal, so much so that the bonding firm of L. H. Ghoramley & Co. were willing to back their judgement with $850,000.

On Oct. 30, 1951, F. C. Hillyer advised the City of Sanford, in the letter published on the left in this ad, that:

- 1) The C. G. Willis Marine Transportation Co., desirous of extending its barge lines to Sanford, is unable to do so because of no terminal facilities.
- 2) The construction of terminal facilities at Sanford would automatically grant to Willis authority to operate barge service to Sanford from Camden, N. J., the heart of the nation's largest distribution center.
- 3) Recent increases in rail freight rates have provided water transportation with a safer margin of profitable operation than ever before.
- 4) General conditions today are more favorable to water transportation than a year ago.
- 5) Net income from proposed terminal, after all payments on bonds, is now estimated at more than the $10,498.50 estimated one year ago.
- 6) If the terminal had been built one year ago, the revenue from it would be paying a good return on the investment today.

Air Force May Come Up With New Tactics To Meet Red Air Power

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of two articles on air developments against the background of Korea and East-West tension.)

By ELTON C. FAY
(Associated Press Military Affairs Reporter)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Out of a conference of top United States Air Force commanders may come a revision of tactics to deal with the new dangerous Red air power over Korea.

The presence at the meeting of Lt. Gen. Otto Weyland, chief of Far Eastern Air Forces, who flew to the U. S. as the Korean air war was reaching unprecedented fierceness, made it evident the grave problem had high priority in the discussions.

The three-day, periodic session of commanders from headquarters and from all domestic and overseas field commands, was concluded yesterday at Colorado Springs—this time given unusual significance by the Korean air war situation. Presiding at the conference was Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, who plans to make another inspection-conference trip to the battle area soon.

The intensification of Communist air activity, with increased losses of U. S. planes, can reopen the old question:

Should a new effort be made to lift the ban on bombing Red air bases in Manchuria from which the Soviet-manufactured MIG-15 jet fighters are striking at American bombers and fighters operating over Korea?

The question is a touchy one which Air Force officials prefer to discuss only in private and among themselves—remembering what happened to one advocate of the plan, Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

They speak soberly of the difficulty of fighting an air war "with one arm tied behind you." The only opportunity U. S. Air Forces in Korea have to strike at Red air power mustered in Asia is the few fleeting seconds when enemy jets dart within range of U. N. plane guns. The strategy used in the European air campaign of World War I, destroying enemy planes on the ground together with the air fields, is the other arm which the U. N. Air Force hasn't been able to use.

Airmen feel that this is only nibbling at the fringes of Red air power.

In more than a half year of fighting the MIG's, fewer than 100 are known definitely to have been destroyed. Against this is the fact that the number of these entirely modern enemy jets, equal to the best of U. S. fighters, is estimated at between 600 and 800. They are based on Manchurian air fields, some of them within less than a minute's flight to the Yalu River boundary.

Moreover, there is a deep suspicion that not all of the MIG's bearing the insignia of the Chinese Communist Air Force are flown by Chinese or North Korean Communists. Vandenberg The United States is known to have advised the United Nations that if mass air attacks by the enemy on ground forces in Korea occur, the prohibition against striking into the Manchurian sanctuary will be lifted.

Some air strategists see in the upsurge of Red air activity in Korea a definite indication that the first steps toward such air attack on ground troops may be in the making. Their reasoning goes like this:

The Red commanders want to establish forward bases from which their planes can reach the frontlines, with enough fuel to remain over that target for more than two or three minutes. The MIG-15s, with the high fuel consumption that goes with jet planes, are too far away to be really useful when based back in Manchuria.

Therefore the Reds are striving desperately to build forward, staging bases in North Korea, among other places at Namai and Tse-ngwang at the fields.

The reaction of the Communists to the bombing attacks on the air strips, especially in one of the primary fields which have set off the bitter battles between the MIG-15s and the B-29s and the swarms of F-80's, F-84's and other fighters.

Recently Red pilots had been seen with B-29s when the American bombers were working the Yalu River region. And there had been occasional sightings between jet fighters of the Red in the general Yalu region weeks, the MIG's were seen to be in the air over the Yalu River region. And there had been occasional sightings between jet fighters of the Red in the general Yalu tolerable. There is a general, rule-of-thumb figure used by the Air Force beyond which losses become intolerable—10 percent for planes and personnel over a period of several missions. Because plane production is well below that of World War II, when that loss percentage figure was used, the "tolerable" figure for the Korean war for aircraft presumably is lower than 10 percent.

The trouble is that the ratio of enemy planes destroyed to U. S. losses is dropping, despite the communications reporting some individual engagements where four enemy planes have been knocked out of the air for each U. N. plane lost.

In one recent week, the count was seven, 14 Red planes counted as destroyed, 14 Allied planes destroyed, including four B-29s. Aside from the immediate tactical problems of the Korean fighting, the Air Force has other troubles—including the fact it must fulfill commitments on a global basis while waging war in Korea.

The Colorado Springs meeting, like previous ones since the Korean war started, provided the opportunity to consider the worldwide situation. Whatever help the Far East command may have asked certainly would have to be balanced against the requests of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for buildup in air strength in the Western European defense system.

New bases in North Africa are coming into use; new fields in Western Europe and the Eastern Mediterranean area are being planned or built. The Air Force must provide the planes for these bases while at the same time seeking to retain air superiority in Korea.

The influence of the spirit on the body is measurable. A merry heart doeth good like a medicine, but a broken spirit drieth the bones.—Pr. 17:22

Senator Taft says he will conduct no "me-too" campaign. Could he be hitting at Dewey?

Don't forget there are two elections being held tomorrow night, one for school trustees and one for City Commission.

Last week's Life Magazine contains an interesting story on New York's harbor, largest shipping center in the world. Shipping laws, the entire port, are completely tied up, by a few men seeking more power for themselves, or by a few bombs dropped by an equally ambitious facious nation.

You do not have to lie to avoid answering embarrassing questions put to you by newspaper reporters. On leaving Paris, General Eisenhower told his press conference he could not discuss politics. Whereupon one smart guy asked, "When, at the present rate of progress, do you think Europe's rearmament will be such that you could safely be replaced?" To which Ike replied, "Quarterback sneaks may be all right in the football season, but if you made a yard on that one . . . We recommend his technique to other political leaders."

We see where even the referees in some of the big basketball games are now taking bribes to throw the game. Well, if the referees can get rich off the game, why can't the referees? We suppose that's the way they figure. And where this sort of reasoning leads to, anyone should be able to see. If in basketball, why not in football, baseball? And before you get through with it, the sole aim of the players, the referees, the umpires, and everyone else connected with it, would be not the fun of the game, or even to win it, but to see who could sell out for the most money. That is where the gambling racket leads when carried to its logical conclusion.

Should Communists be employed as teachers in public schools or colleges and universities? A few years ago the answer to that question might have been different from what it is today. Harvard University, which is known for its liberal views toward extreme left wingers, henceforth will be more particular, it is now revealed by President James B. Conant who says, "I maintain that a professor's political views are of no concern to the university, or are his activities within the law as a private citizen. But I do not believe that the usual rules as to political parties apply to the Communist Party. As far as I am concerned card-holding members of the Communist Party are out of bounds as members of the teaching profession."

Most often repeated question we have heard since Governor Warren's visit here last week is why did he do it. Why is he using up all this time and energy going around the state "to report to the people" if as he says he has no further political ambitions. Well, in the first place it is incredible to us that as thorough-going a lifelong politician as Governor Warren could have "no further political ambitions". The ambition of every politician continues to haunt him until he lies in the White House, and then he is sure to seek a third or fourth term if he thinks he can be re-elected. Of course, Warren cannot run for governor next year, and we doubt if he runs for the Senate so soon after his gubernatorial debacle, he undoubtedly would like to have someone to follow him in the governor's chair. We believe he is going to seek a third or fourth term.

Damaging Dock Strike

There is a growing awareness of the damage which results from a shipping strike such as that which has tied up the docks in New York City and Boston. Cargoes back up into other transportation channels, ships are stalled, and there are great losses to industry and commerce.

When we are fighting a war there is additional damage to national security. Military cargoes are stopped along with the others. Even though as in this case the movement of purely military freight may be started again under government pressure, there is damage to the military effort as long as any interruption of ship and cargo movements continues.

We are engaged in a great effort to restore economic security in the world, and it can be done only through trade. The hindering of commerce hurts our own economy and that of every friendly nation.

Most of the losers in such a strike have nothing to do with the dispute which is involved. In the case of the New York dock strike this point has been particularly evident, because the dispute occurred within the striking union. It was basically not a dispute between labor and management but between two factions in the labor organizations. It was not a strike which management could have averted by merely giving in to the strikers.

Any major strike in these times attracts public censure, because its spreading rings of injury take in so many innocent victims. Some enlightened leaders in labor and management are beginning to understand this, and to look for ways to avoid or limit strikes. The public wishes them all success.

Sanford Forum

The Editor
 Sanford Herald
 Sanford, Fla.
 Dear Mr. Dean:

Whatever affects Sanford, affects Seminole County and although I am not a voter in Sanford, I do live in Seminole County and as I am Chairman of the Industrial Division of the Chamber of Commerce, I naturally am very much interested in what all the candidates for election to the Sanford City Commission are saying with regard to the Terminal.

I have only heard one candidate state whether he was for or against the Terminal. The others are all "mussy footing" the issue, while some are talking about "cliques" running the city. They do not state what "clique" is, who is in it or what the object of the "clique" are. Why don't they all come out "flat-footed" and state their case of why they are for or against the Terminal then the Sanford voters can judge for themselves and put those men in. In this way they will cut out the need for a referendum by the voters which will be an accounting for money and more expense to the taxpayers. There have been enough expenses already by making surveys and getting opinions and court fees to practically pay the foundations of a good Terminal Warehouse. Therefore, why don't all candidates come out and state their intentions? If some say this is only an "smoke screen" for other issues, then what are those other issues?

If the people of Sanford want industry, they had better place the right man in office. We have had what I consider the finest industrial offer this city will ever have a chance to get, but it is now lost because the Commissioners advised this industrialist that the city was broken and could not build a building for any purpose. Also that the only building part-way suitable, which at the present time is vacant, could not be had on a rental or buying basis. The owner could not be reached. If the city so broke and there is valuable buildings lying idle, why can't the commissioners do something towards alleviating this situation and not only create jobs for the unemployed, but also help to pay for the city tax load? What is holding up this industrial development of Sanford? Don't the majority of the people in Sanford want industry?

Let these candidates come out and state their stands on these two issues. Instead of hindering and straddling the issues, I would like to see what affects Sanford affects the whole of Seminole County.

Yours sincerely,
 Henry A. Simpson

General Dwight D. Eisenhower (right) accents a point for reporters who interviewed him at Mitchell Field, New York, while his plane was refueling to continue the flight from Europe to Fort Knox, Ky. The five-star general, summoned home by President Truman for a conference, barred all questions as to politics but told the reporters to ask "anything you want about NATO" (North Atlantic Treaty Organization). He said conference with the Chief Executive will deal with military matters only. Eisenhower expects to spend a few days with his family at Fort Knox. (Internationals) the river can be controlled so as to benefit the sportsman, the farmer, and the cattlemen.

The idea of the thing is to maintain the water at the proper level," he said, and stated that it might even be possible to put locks below Lake Monroe in order to keep the lake at the desired level.

Mr. Breckenridge today quoted Irlie Bronson of the Cattlemen's Association in Florida, stating that the Indian River Canal would make it possible for many more people to see it, due to eliminating the need of having to retrace the trip as at present.

Some opposition to the canal project was made by C. Gordon Fredine, supervisor of river basin studies unit of the Fish and Wildlife Service, said Mr. Breckenridge. Mr. Fredine stated that the water level advocated by the engineers under preliminary planning would not allow flooding of the Lake Harney and Puzos Lake area sufficiently to replenish the growth that fish feed upon.

Fickleness Of Fame

"Mid pleasures and places though we may roam,
 Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home."
 The author of these lines, among the most familiar in American poetry, is to receive his proper honor in 1952. John Howard Payne died on April 9, 1852. Congress, despite other omissions, managed to include among bills passed one providing for the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of Payne's death.

During his lifetime Payne received little recognition. An actor with a brief period of success, and the writer of many ambitious but unread dramas, he is recalled almost accidentally by the fact that an opera which he wrote, "Clari, or The Maid of Milan," contained one superb song, "Home Sweet Home."

The song appeared in 1823. For nearly thirty years afterward Payne wandered about, finding no particular opening for his talents. He came near to acquiring fame by association when he proposed to Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley, the second wife of the poet. She informed Payne, however, that she preferred Washington Irving, but did not marry him either.

How curious are the chances of life! A writer who hoped all his life to achieve masterpieces found them all forgotten, and his only remembered product was a song thrust into the middle of an unsuccessful opera.

Gamblers And The Tax

Gambling racketeers are protesting in loud and injured tones against the new federal tax which claims ten per cent of their wagers. Some have hired lawyers to fight the tax measure in the courts. One metropolitan figure issued a statement that the new tax will impose undue hardship on bookies.

One would think from the attitude of the gamblers that they were engaged in strictly legitimate enterprises (threatened by a harsh and unfair tax, a view impossible to support in any state except Nevada, the only one in which commercial gambling is legal. One reason why gambling is so difficult to stamp out is that it has been tolerated for so long by an indifferent public and negligent or corrupt officials that the gamblers regard their activities as a proper part of the community scene.

Law takes its force from the will of the people who desire it. A law which is not enforced over a long period of time is in a sense repealed by public attitude, since it is in a sense repealed by public attitude, since it is no longer real and workable. Lawbreakers must not become so firmly entrenched that they can feel entitled to indignation when their crimes are curtailed by law.

Urges A-Bomb
 A-bomb, he made it clear that he was not excluding any atomic variation of that weapon which may have been tested in Nevada. Those tests reportedly involved weapons suited for tactical field use against enemy troops as distinguished from A-bombs employed strategically against industry concentrations, for example.

Asked whether use of atomic weapons in Korea might bring retaliation by Russia, Johnson replied:

"I think the possibility of that is too absurd to consider. The Russians might someday use the atomic bomb against us in this country, but I won't be for such a reason as that.

"As a matter of fact, I think one big reason why they wouldn't use it against us at all. Don't forget the Russians have a great respect for our atomic bomb, despite their own achievement of atomic explosion."

Johnson said he agrees with Senator McMahon (D-Conn), chairman of the Congressional Atomic Committee, that the time has come for the United States to switch from conventional weapons to the atomic variety as quickly and to the greatest extent possible.

"It will take some time," Johnson added, "but not as long as our military officials in the Pentagon argue that it will."

Diets For Arthritis
 By W. V. Bitting Touchette, D.V.M.
 In an effort to find relief the arthritis patient will soon follow any suggestion offered. Of these so called "sure cures" faddish diets are common, even though there is no medical evidence to support such claims.

Because he has faith in some such method of treatment the patient may feel at first that it is helpful, gradually the beneficial effects disappear. Just as your doctor will not rely on any diet to cure your arthritis, he will not recommend any diet to your arthritis patient. He will tell you that the only way to get relief is by using the method of treatment which has been shown to be effective by the use of X-rays and laboratory tests.

Don't let a little pain make you a slave to a diet. Consult your doctor for the only way to get relief.

Ike And Truman

 capial since he left last Feb. 10 to become Supreme Commander of Allied Forces in Europe was against a background of separate but not entirely unrelated matters, among them these:

1. A growing feeling that it is taking too long to get the free nations of Western Europe adequately armed to stand off any Russian invasion attempt; that it may be better to hasten now to supply the necessary equipment for a smaller, efficient force than to wait until '50, or for 50 divisions can be assembled three years hence.
2. Eisenhower's comment to reporters, upon reaching the United States, that there were encouraging and discouraging news in the European defense buildup effort.
3. The persistent speculation that he may choose to run for president. If he chooses a military question would arise because of the consequent NATO command vacancy.

The White House itself contributed to this speculation. It was Mr. Truman who proposed the trip at a time the General was working on information to give to the forthcoming Rome session of NATO.

Then there was the arrangement for a luncheon meeting of just the President and the General in Blair House today. That could provide the time and place for Mr. Truman to learn, if he doesn't already know, whether he can count on the General to continue in his command or look upon him as an enemy in the political field.

Oddly, it appeared that a statement by the President, not another one by the General, was needed to clear the air.

Talks were scheduled for this morning between Eisenhower and military officials of the United States and the permanent military group of the NATO committee in Washington. And there will be

LET'S ADD IT UP

We all know there are two cliques, each accusing the other of half-truths, untruths, confusing the issues and afraid to let all the facts become known. I have taken, maintained and continue to hold a strictly independent stand. My stand is based on facts, backed by law, contracts, and the unbiased decisions of experienced authorities:

Here are the facts:

- 1) The federal government, after years of investigation and innumerable hearings conducted by Army engineers, spent $600,000 dredging a 12-foot channel from Jacksonville to Sanford so that water transportation could be provided from here to the great distribution centers of the east. The government engineers would not have spent this money if they had not expected the river to be used.
- 2) The bonding company after extensive investigation is so convinced of the success of the terminal as to be willing to provide the necessary funds for its construction with only the parking meter revenues pledged as additional security if profits from the terminal should prove insufficient to retire the bonds. The law reads, "No tax can be levied on you or any of your property for the construction or maintenance of the terminal."
- 3) The water traffic experts of Hillyer, Association of Jacksonville made an extensive survey of the terminal project and are of the opinion that over-all conditions now are more favorable for the development of water traffic through the Sanford terminal than ever before, or even one year ago when they first made their favorable report, and state that the net income from the terminal would be higher under present conditions than previously expected. This supports the statement that the terminal will be self-liquidating even without the parking meter fund.
- 4) The contract for the construction of the terminal requires that all materials be available before construction is begun. Increased costs due to delays or shortages can not be reflected back on the City as was the case with the stadium.
- 5) We all agree we need more sewers, street repairs, additional recreational facilities, better police and fire protection, but all these take money, and none of them produce money. We will have to increase our sources of revenue other than taxes in order to pay these improvements. Your water terminal will lower your tax rates, bring in new industry, create demand for labor and in turn produce the needed revenue to pay your city on a sound financial basis.

Vera-Ellen has been linked with such names as Gary Cooper, Rock Hudson and Richard Widmark, but has never gone steady. "I don't believe in it," she said. "If you're going to go steady, you might as well get married. And I haven't reached that point yet."

As a matter of fact, she continued, a Hollywood gal doesn't have too much time to devote to hunting a husband.

"When I'm in a picture, I don't have much time to go out," she explained. "I have to be up at 6:15 in the morning, and that doesn't allow much night life. Often the studio will have parties and other functions which I have to attend every week, so "You to three auction sales per week are planned on Fort Myers State Farmers Market with fair daily supplies of eggplant, squash, cucumbers and light supplies of tomatoes. During the past week 312 bushels of eggplant averaged $2.80 on fancy, $1.50 on choice with gross revenue totaling $778.70. All sales were on a packed out basis.

"The peak of the cucumber deal, though a large acreage of young fields are yet to be harvested, may have been reached last week on the Wauchula State Farmers Market with 10,880 bushels averaging $3.25. Open house at Rollins College put some of our crew into a college daze; some reminiscing, others just amazed at the possibilities. Saturday the members of the Rollins extension courses at NAAS, Sanford, and the Patrick Air Force Base at Cocoa, were guests of the college. From NAAS were Bing DeLaitte, Bob Wise, Jerry Embrey, Bob Anthony, George Cox, Floyd Hurst, Phil Belle, Ray Falgout, Dave Hickham, Joe Rush, Fred Peterson, Vince Muesmeche, John Lawrence, and yours truly.

President Hugh McKean gave the introductory talk to welcome the students to the campus. After a short deft explanation by the president of the customs of the college and its methods of teaching, the guides escorted their various groups on a tour of the campus.

As the evening progressed the men visited the sorority and fraternity houses, had chow at the "Booney," went to the president's estate across the lake, and then made preparations for the main event of the evening, the dance at the student center. Everybody had dates, thanks to the willing and wholehearted assistance of their guides. But the Cinderella Hour approached all too swiftly, ending wonderful outing and closing a memorable day.

To the faculty and members of the student body we give our hearty thanks for their welcome, friendliness, and interest shown to the men from NAAS, Sanford.

Bluish-Black Mole May Be Cancer Is Doctor's Warning

By FRANK CAREY

Associated Press Science Reporter
DALLAS, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Be wary of any "bluish-black" mole on your body; it could be a "dangerous" cancer, two doctors said today.

Dr. James A. Hendrick of San Antonio, Texas, and Dr. Grand Ward of Baltimore declared in a report to the opening of the 45th annual meeting of the Southern Medical Association.

"Bluish-black moles can be one of the most dangerous cancers occurring on the human body. When these moles are located on areas where they may be irritated, they undergo cancerous changes and are quickly disseminated over the entire body which prevents their cure."

They said that "any solitary mole" could be cut out by the patient's doctor and examined under a microscope to determine if it is cancerous.

"The form of treatment of moles with caustic acids, electric needles, or radium is extremely dangerous," they said, "as these agents frequently will not destroy the mole but may stimulate growth to the extent that it can not be cured."

The doctors made the statements in connection with a scientific exhibit they staged dealing principally with cancer of the

Phone Rate Increase Granted In Georgia

ORLANDO, Nov. 5.—(Special)—Higher telephone rates in Georgia will become effective Nov. 15 under an order issued last Thursday by the Georgia Public Service Commission granting Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company rate increases totaling $3,835,000, it was announced today by A. B. Dooley, Florida manager of the company.

The adjustment in rates affects local business and residence telephone service throughout the state and public telephone rates on local calls in the cities of Atlanta, Augusta, Columbus, Macon, and Savannah.

Mr. Dooley said the rate increases in Georgia were made necessary by rising costs which had reduced the company's earnings to a level inadequate to attract investment money required to carry forward a full-scale construction program to meet public demands.

2 New Entrances At Tax Collector's

The two new entrances to the office of County Tax Collector John L. Galloway were opened this morning, and many persons were present to pay taxes and secure occupational licenses.

Installation of the new entrances is part of the rebuilding program at the Court House for which Fred Dizon is contractor. Completion of the second story of a concrete block addition, will materially enlarge the tax collection department.

Governor's Race Is Still Far From Big Money Stage

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The young campaign for governor of Florida apparently hasn't reached the big money stage.

Four announced candidates for the Democratic nomination today reported last week's contributions and expenditures. The total was only $498.56 in expenses and $978 in campaign fund receipts.

The first primary is six months away, and several men regarded as sure candidates haven't formally announced. The qualification deadline is March 15.

J. Bralley Odham of Sanford said he spent $300.50 last week—mostly for travel and campaign staff salaries—and received contributions totaling $400. The contributors were William D. Curtin of Geneva $100, D. L. Harper and C. R. Kirtley of Sanford $50 each and Harry Lee, Jr., and Harry Lee, Sr., of Sanford $100 each.

He reported that his own Rainbow Dan McCarthy of Fort Pierce Groves had put $500 into his gubernatorial campaign fund, and he received $50 from Carl C. Williams of Fort Pierce and $25 from William Hyde Thomas of Fort Pierce.

He reported expenditures of $194.38, of which $100 was for postage and the rest for stenographic and clerical work and travel.

Bill Hendrix of Tallahassee and Dale Spencer of Kissimmee reported no contributions and no expenditures for last week.

Candidates for governor and United States senator must report their campaign fund receipts and disbursements every Monday after they publicly announce they are running. Candidates for other offices only have to report once a month.

D. S. Danahy of Orlando, a candidate for the Railroad and Public Utilities Commission, reported expenses of $244.48 and no contributions between Oct. 1 and Nov. 4. He is his own campaign treasurer and the Citizens National Bank of Orlando is his depository.

Clay C. Lister, Wewahatchee candidate for the state senate in the 25th district, reported he had put $100 of his own money into his campaign fund, and spent $87.50—thirty dollars for a qualifying fee and $57.50 for copies of the 1947 and 1949 State House of Representatives Journals.

And Now As To This "Clique" Business

In my ad in last Friday's Herald I showed you why my opponent is so desperately anxious to be elected to the City Commission by pointing out to you how he had on two successive years while he was on the City Commission voted to increase the tax burdens of the small home owners to the relief of the big property interests.

Today I want to explain to you what he means by the "clique" which is running our City and to which he says I belong. If he means that I am not a free agent, that I am controlled by political racketeers, then he is mistaken. I do not belong to any such clique. I wear no man's collar but my own.

But if he means that I belong to a progressive group of citizens among whom are counted the vast majority of Sanford people, that I want to see Sanford grow and prosper, and certain municipal improvements made on a sound financial basis in order to make Sanford a better town in which to live, then he is right. I do belong to such a "clique".

But he belongs to a clique too. He belongs to the clique that is trying to get control of the City Government. He belongs to the clique which controlled our City for many years and never made one single effort to extend sewers, repair streets, increase the police force, or carry out any of the other progressive plans he is now talking about.

WHICH CLIQUE DO YOU PREFER? The Clique of reaction and retrogression? Or the CLICK of progress.

By your vote tomorrow you will decide the way of the future.

Auriol Urges Big 3 Meeting As UN Opens

French President Is Confident Private Meeting Of 3 Men Would Ease Tension

PARIS, Nov. 6 (AP)—Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico was elected president of the United Nations General Assembly today. The vote was 44 for Padilla Nervo, nine for Victor Andreu Bolaños of Peru, and six for Adolfo Costa Du Rels of Bolivia.

By MAX HARRISON
PARIS, Nov. 6 (AP)—President Vincent Auriol of France opened the sixth session of the United Nations General Assembly today with an appeal for a Truman-Churchill-Stalin meeting in Paris during this session to discuss world tensions.

Auriol told delegates of 60 nations, gathered in the theater of the red and gold Palais de Chaillot that such a meeting would be welcomed with joy throughout the world. The French President did not mention Prime Minister Stalin, Prime Minister Churchill or President Truman by name, but referred to them as the "distinguished men towards whom all anxious eyes are turned." He added he was sure that a meeting of the three in private and within the scope of the U. N. could make progress at easing tensions.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinskiy was at his desk in the hall as Auriol spoke. So were U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, and French foreign minister Robert Schuman. The western Big Three opening session after a final conference at the French foreign ministry to map strategy on an American peace plan which is expected to dominate this session.

After the conference, Big Three spokesmen may say only that the foreign ministers discussed the peace plan.

Fire Department Called To Put Out 8 Fires In 3 Days

Called upon to put out eight fires within three days during the current cool spell, firemen of the Sanford Fire Department have been taxed to the utmost. Fire Chief M. C. Cleveland said this morning:

Starting at 6 o'clock last night when firemen were called to 810 Elm Avenue where burning leaves were menacing a house, three calls were received at five-minute intervals. At 8:18 o'clock the second call at 818 o'clock was to a house at 408 French Avenue where slight damage was caused by a defective oil heater. At 8:30 o'clock the third call at 8:20 o'clock was from 718 Willow Avenue where a defective oil cook stove had set fire to the kitchen of a house. Since all men of the department were at this time or on the other two calls, said Chief Cleveland, no run could be made immediately to the third fire.

At 11:00 o'clock the same night, firemen put out a fire in a 1936 Dodge at the W. D. E. Puello Co. on West First Street. Achilz overturned an oil heater at 108 West Ninth Street at 7:58 o'clock Sunday morning. Slight damage resulted. A defective oil heater at the Salvation Army headquarters at 618 o'clock Sunday afternoon, resulted in no damage. At 6:28 P. M. Sunday, firemen fought a stuborn fire that caused considerable damage to a house at Fifth Street and Congress Avenue, due, said Chief Cleveland, to a defective oil heater.

Peace Without Armistice Said To Be Red's Aim

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 6 (AP)—The United Nations Command spokesman said today the Reds want to call off the fighting in Korea without signing a formal armistice.

The U. N. he said, will have none of that. Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckolls, the spokesman, told newsmen the Reds tipped their hand Tuesday when they rejected the latest Allied proposal. That was an offer Monday to set aside the Nucleon cease-fire buffer zone plan for the moment and take up other items that must be settled before a formal armistice can be signed.

The Reds, Nuckolls said, immediately "final, formal solution" of the buffer zone matter before proceeding to the rest of the agenda. Nuckolls said this would in effect allow a de facto cease-fire and end to the fighting without formal agreement—and let armistice talks drag on indefinitely. Nucleon said he felt the Red rejection was flat and final. Asked how he felt about it, Nucleon replied: "Only time will say how irreparable it is."

There was speculation the Reds wanted an unofficial armistice (1) to get relief from Allied air bombings, (2) because it might pin down a great amount of the west's available military forces, and (3) because they can't stand another U. N. offensive. Nucleon said the only incentive on page two.

Republican Campaign In South Urged

Taft Reaffirms Belief In State's Rights In Speech At Alabama Rally

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 6 (AP)—Senator Robert Taft (R-Ohio) waved the state's rights flag again today and called on Southerners to forget their "prejudice against the name Republican" and back the G. O. P. on "fundamental issues."

The Ohio candidate for his party's presidential nomination again urged a strong Republican campaign in traditionally Democratic Dixie. In a news conference and a speech at a party rally he reaffirmed his state's rights position and added his belief in the "liberty of our cities, of our counties and of school districts to run their own affairs."

Taft said he always has voted for anti-poll tax and anti-lynching measures in Congress, but has opposed such measures as the Fair Employment Practices Commission bills which would give federal agencies the power to punish those it thinks are violating federal directives.

Southern opposition to President Truman's program for enactment of the Fair bill was one of the primary causes of the 1948 states rights revolt. "The issues at stake are fundamental," Taft said, "and I refuse to believe that in the face of such issues, Southern Democrats are going to be influenced by any prejudice against the name Republican."

He said election of a Republican President next year is the only way "to restore honesty and integrity and American principles to power in Washington."

"I believe we must put on an all-out campaign in all southern states in behalf of the Republican nominee. We must make an all-out campaign against the address in government and influence peddling."

Taft conferred with state Republican leaders before the luncheon. He said he thought he would "get strong support at the Republican convention" from Alabama. This state has 14 votes at the convention.

He will fly to Biloxi, Miss., tonight to address three to five thousand people.

Plans Made For Armistice Day By American Legion

Churchill Says Government Was On Way To National Bankruptcy

LONDON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill declared today his new Conservative government found Britain on the road to "national bankruptcy."

He warned the nation it is entering a period of emergency during which he will be forced to take "exceptional measures."

"We are convinced," he told the House of Commons, "that it is necessary to present the British people with the most drastic action which will avert the national bankruptcy which is now before us."

In addition to stronger fiscal and monetary measures, Churchill said he would call for a special national conference at which he would discuss the British situation.

Churchill declared that the British situation is "grave and that it is essential to take the most drastic action."

He said unless "drastic action" is taken, the British people will be faced with a national emergency without delay and the government will be forced to give effect to "a policy which will act as a shock to the credit all the world over."

Churchill described the nation's financial position as "grave and that it is essential to take the most drastic action."

Under bright skies and in waning sun, Sanford citizens thronged to the polls this morning to elect three city commissioners, three Seminole County commissioners and to vote on school millage.

By 1:00 P. M., a total of more than 1,200 citizens had voted at the City Hall, and all indications pointed to a record breaking total, perhaps as high as 2,500, according to H. N. Sayer, city clerk. Precinct clerks reported that the voting started promptly at 7:00 o'clock at the City Hall when the poll was opened, and that citizens had streamed in steadily all morning. An even heavier vote was predicted for the afternoon. Lesser interest was shown in the County School voting, but voting was steady and by 1:00 o'clock the total of the two precincts was 627. Of these, 200 were side residents had voted at the Girl Scout headquarters on Commercial Avenue. At the east side precinct at the Chamber of Commerce Building the total at 1:00 P. M. was 847.

General Agrees To Speak Out Immediately If Proper Time Ever Comes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—President Truman and today the reason for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's visit here was to discuss Europe's economic crisis and to discuss the possibility of maintaining economic stability while retaining. And he declared, he feels "much trouble."

Mr. Truman's statement of why he called Eisenhower home came shortly before the General left by plane at 11:21 A. M. EST, to return to his European defense command in France.

The President made it an impromptu speech to the National Council of Economic Advisors. He said the main question concerned the coming through of the bill was the first of a series of bills to be passed for the West.
