Lawsuit Readied To Block Deer Run Annex

By ED PRICKEIT and DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writers

The Sterling Park Homeowners Association, through their attorney James T. Golden of Sanford, were to file a lawsuit today, seeking a permanent injunction against the City of Casselberry to stop the annexation of the 927-acre parcel known as Deer Run.

The ordinances of annexation, adopted by the Casselberry City Council in January, were to become effective March 1. The city delayed the effective date to negotiate agreement between the city and developers, Sterling Park Limited and subsidiary companies which petitioned for the an-nextion. The property proposed for annexation is wholly undeveloped.

Mrs Diane Bauer, a director of the homeowners association and a resident of Sterling Park in county Lake Howell Water District high and dry, Page 5-A.

territory (not included within the area to be annexed), said the lawsuit is to be filed today.

Seminole County Commissioners voted Tuesday night to file its own lawsuit against the City of Casselberry to block the annexation.

Deer Run was originally part of the planned Sterling Park development.

County officials contend the city's annexation procedures are illegal, Acting County Atty. Gary Siegel said he will file the lawsuit by next Monday. "They (city officials) violated the statute; it's as simple as that," Siegel told commissioners.

The motion to file the lawsuit was made by Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski and was seconded by Commissioner Bob French. The decision was unanimous.

Siegel said there are two types of annexation procedures allowable under Florida law. One is voluntary in which the property owner or owners petition the city for annexation. The second is when a governmental body annexes an area wholly or partly surrounded by its boundaries without the property owners' consent.

Sterling Park homeowners have stated concern that the city is creating a situation whereby they can be annexed against their will.

County officials say they want to know what annexation of the 927 acres will mean to 165 families who will be left on an island almost surrounded by the city and served by Casselberry utilities.

Residents fear the annexation will be used as a lever to force them into the city.

Homeowners also are worried that utility bills will spiral and property values will decrease if the 927 acres are annexed.

Mrs. Bauer said residents weren't counting on the county's filing the suit. But she said the action

Two Attorneys Quit Cheshire, Cite 'Overwork'

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

State Atty Douglas Cheshire's two felony prosecutors in Seminole County quit this morning, packed their belongings and moved out of their courthouse offices amid an uproar attributed to the overworking of the two lawyers.

As William Heffernan and Mark Rabinowitz were moving out of Joel Dick, administrator of Cheshire's San Diego Office, acknowledged that the felony prosecutors have been overworked during the six weeks Cheshire has been state attorney for Seminole and Brevard counties.

"The problem is critical but it's a transitional one," Dick said. "But we hope to have it resolved by this afternoon."

Dick said a stop-gap measure assistant city attorney Don Davis has already been shifted to the felony division and that he (Dick) may turn over administration of the Seminole office to someone else and become a felony prosecutor also.

Dick said that by early March he expects to have two more felony prosecutors, probably promotions from the present three-man misdemeanor and one-man juvenile divisions.

If this plan is followed two replacement prosecutors would be hired to fill the misdemeanor division vacancies created by promotions.

Cheshire was reported at home in bed with the flu. His assistant over both counties, Jerold Ficos, arrived in Sanford about 11 a.m. His only comment was that Cheshire has experienced prosecuting attorneys who can be moved into the positions being vacated by Heffernan and Rabinowitz.

Rabinowitz, who moved to the Sanford office last month from Brevard County after 2 1/2 years with the state attorney's office, told reporters he has no comment to make on his abrupt resignation.

Heffernan, as he packed boxes and papers into cardboard boxes in his courthouse office, said, "I'd like to leave it like this, I'm entering private practice... probably in south

GARBAGE TRUCK OVERTURNS
Sharp turn on SR 419 near Ojeda proved too much for this Seminole County sanitation truck, which flopped onto its side Tuesday. Driver Myron White of DeBary received minor head injuries and was treated at Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Policy Change Aids Sanford

County officials Tuesday voted to allow Sanford sanitary workers to dump half loads of garbage at county transfer stations — an action that will save Sanford $25,000 a year.

County Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff said the county policy required that all dump trucks — full or not — were required to pay $31 per load.

Kirchhoff said Sanford's yearly dumping bill was estimated at about $100,000. With the new policy, Kirchhoff estimated city officials can save about $25,000 per year.

Kirchhoff said the request to go to less-than-full loads came after meetings with Sanford City Manager Warren E. Knowles.

Kirchhoff said Knowles was concerned that city trucks at day's end were being charged the full fee — even though dump trucks weren't carrying full loads.

Kirchhoff said Sanford trucks dumped about 10 loads per day at county transfer stations. In addition, two loads are dumped on weekends at the shallow Sanford city officials are engaged in a hot debate with

Sanford Landfill Plan Under Fire
Report Raises Contamination Issue

By MARK WEINBERG
Herald Staff Writer

An engineering report financed by opponents of the City of Sanford's plan to operate a sanitary landfill at SR-46A and Oregon Ave., challenges the city's contention that nearby city water wells will not be affected by a landfill.

The wells are located at the Mayfair Golf Course, across SR-46A from the 85.45-acre proposed landfill site. The city applied in January for a landfill permit to the state Department of Environmental Regulation (DER).

The city's application was supported by an engineering report by Jammal Associates Inc., a Winter Park engineering firm.

Twenty-four acres of the site will be used for actual landfill purposes, and the landfill will be used for seven years, according to the city's application.

The 46-A Environmental Protection Association, which opposes the city's plan, sponsored an engineering report by the Orlando firm of Bio Engineering Inc.

The city's Jammal report claims that leachate (water which has seeped through buried material) will flow to the northeast, away from city water wells to the south.

The direction of the flow "is down gradient, or moving away from the well field of the (city's) water supply," says the Jammal report. "Any leachate that may be produced from a sanitary landfill operation that might enter the shallow groundwater would move with the direction of flow which... would be towards the swamp occupying the northeast portion of the site," the report continues.

The Jammal report also states that "no flooding would be anticipated to occur" in the portion of the site "outside of the swampy area."

The Bio Engineering report asks, "Where will drainage and leachate water go?" The report points out that changing the grade of the site by filling with garbage and covering with fill dirt may well affect the direction of the drainage.

The report claims the Jammal report "didn't review where leachate will go when the (swamp) area is built up."

"Other environmental effects" were not addressed by the city-sponsored report, according to the Bio Engineering report. These might include the possible effect of a landfill on private wells to the north-northeast of the site.

The Bio Engineering report also suggests the Jammal report relied too heavily on existing soil and hydrological reports prepared by the U.S. Geological Survey and that these reports may be outdated.

Annual DDC Membership Meet Set For Thursday

Thursday night's annual membership meeting of Downtown Development Corporation (DDC) will include election of directors and a review of progress in the past year toward revitalizing downtown Sanford.

The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. at the Chamber of Commerce building.

The meeting will also include a review of DDC's corporate structure and organization, treasurer's report and a review of DDC's four-point program, which involves training, marketing, facilitating of downtown's buildings and funding.

In announcing the meeting, DDC Chairman Sara Jacobson, addressing the group's members said, "Through your support, we have been able to reach the position we are in today. It has been a slow process, but we have come a long way. This year will be even more important than last year — and it will be more demonstrative."

The meeting is open to the public — Mark Weinberg.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Moderates Score Gain In Denmark Election

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Results today of Denmark's third general election in three years showed substantial gains for Prime Minister Anker Joergensen's Social Democrats despite setbacks last fall for the moderate socialists in neighboring Sweden and West Germany.

The Social Democrats got 37.1 per cent of the votes cast Tuesday and gained 12 seats in the Folketing, or parliament, for a total of 65. Two of the four parties that supported Joergensen's minority government through two years of frequent political crises also gained votes, but the other two lost.

The five parties won a total of 103 seats, a majority of 27 in the 179-member Folketing. However, none of the four parties that had been the Socialists' allies appeared eager for a coalition; Joergensen was cool to overtures from the left, and it appeared that another minority government was in prospect.

Vance, Rabin Confer

JERUSALEM (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin met for an hour and 20 minutes today, and afterward the Israeli leader told reporters he was "very very satisfied" with the discussion.

"I believe that the administration of President Carter and Secretary Vance will maintain the special relationship based on a search for peace through strengthening Israel," Rabin said.

Vance, who arrived Tuesday night for the first stop on a tour of six Middle Eastern countries, met with Rabin at the breakfast table, placed a wreath at the Yad Vashem memorial to the six million Jews slain by the Nazis, and then met with Foreign Minister Yigal Alon.

One of Rabin's aides said the prime minister and the secretary of state exchanged views on the Middle East situation. That was the only information immediately available on what was said.

Queen Gets Whale Teeth

SUVA, Fiji (AP) — Britain's Queen Elizabeth was greeted today by 12 black-robed chiefs who presented her with whale teeth as an assurance of a safe and warm stay in Fiji.

The Associated Press said that the queen and her entourage are expected to stay in Suva for about a week before heading for other parts of the island.

Crosland Unchanged In Coma

LONDON (AP) — The Foreign Office announced today that Foreign Secretary Anthony Crosland was still in a coma and there had been no significant change in his condition.

Crosland, 58, suffered a massive stroke three days ago. One of his aides said Tuesday night that he was "sinking fast."

Saudi Arabia Has Cash...Will Spend On Oil In Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Saudi Arabia is talking about getting a stake in Alaska's offshore oil by putting its money behind a company which the United States set up to aid Alaska's native tribes.

The Associated Press has learned that Konig Inc., a corporation set up under the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act, is seeking Saudi Arabian backing for an effort to bid for Alaskan offshore oil leases.

Harry Carter, Konig vice president, confirmed that the company wants to qualify to bid for offshore oil leases, and that the Saudis have given Konig "some feedback that they are interested in resource development in this area."

Carter also said Tuesday that "at least one of our board members is trying to make arrangements to go over there (Saudi Arabia) and talk to these people."

Reports of Arab interest in Alaskan offshore oil have been circulating within the oil industry.

Foreign nations and corporations are not allowed to bid directly for these oil and gas leases. But a legal specialist with the Outer Continental Shelf, a federal agency concerned with developing the offshore resources, said that "there's nothing in our regulations" to prevent Konig from bidding with Arab financial backing.

A spokeswoman also said that foreign-controlled corporations have sometimes set up American corporations, who then bid for leases. She said OCS rules do not prohibit such maneuvers either.

The Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act, passed in 1971, was intended to compensate native tribes for land taken over for oil, mineral and other economic development.

Konig was one of 12 regional native corporations set up to manage the money Alaska's natives received under the act. Carter says Konig's share of that settlement will total about $38 million.

Connie Waskin, spokeswoman for the Anchorage OCS office, said Konig has asked for information on how to become qualified to bid for leases that are scheduled to be offered in November.

Subzero Cold Hits In North

By The Associated Press

The northern states from North Dakota through Upper Michigan east through New England came under the grip of cold temperatures early today.

Temperatures in northern Minnesota were well below zero before daybreak. Subzero temperatures reached across Upper Michigan and readings in the teens stretch into upstate New York and into New England.

The colder air in the Mid-Atlantic states brought temperatures in the low and mid 20s. Freezing temperatures extended to southern parts of Mississippi and Alabama.

There was quite a contrast between eastern and western North Dakota. Eastern portions have temperatures around 10 degrees but Western sections were in the mid 30s. The western part of the state also had rain and snow along with some freezing rain. Light snow also fell in western portions of South Dakota and Nebraska.

A warm front trailing southward through the western Dakotas was responsible for the precipitation and the temperature contrasts.

Other precipitation in the nation occurred as snow flurries from Western New York through the Appalachians into eastern Tennessee and the North Carolina mountains. Flurries also extended westward into Michigan. Snow flurries produced by cold air flowing over Lake Michigan dappled northwestern Indiana. Rain showers damped southern Florida.

The west continued mild and dry. Temperatures over the Rockies were mostly in the 30s. The Pacific Northwest recorded temperatures in the 40s, while 50 degree temperatures dominate all of California, except the southern sections which reported mid-40s.

Here are some early morning temperatures and conditions from around the nation:

Eastern U.S.: Atlanta 25 clear, Boston 23 clear, Chicago 13 clear, Cincinnati 18 cloudy, Cleveland 10 snow, Detroit not available, Indianapolis 19 snow, Louisville not available, Miami 63 foggy, Nashville 26 cloudy, New Orleans 43 partly cloudy, New York 24 clear, Philadelphia 22 clear, Pittsburgh 13 snow, Washington 23 clear.

Western U.S.: Anchorage 28 clear, Denver 35 clear, Des Moines 9 clear, Fort Worth 35 clear, Kansas City 21 clear, Los Angeles 60 clear, Minneapolis-St. Paul 7 clear, Phoenix 64 clear, St. Louis 18 clear, Salt Lake City 33 clear, San Diego 64 clear, San Francisco 57 hazy, Seattle 48 foggy.

Canada: Montreal 7 snow, Toronto 3 partly cloudy.

Subzero Mullet Lake Road Area Burns

Seminole sheriff's deputies and state forestry service officials today were probing a 150-acre fire that raced through a wooded area east of Mullet Lake Road in northeast Seminole Tuesday afternoon.

Deputy B.L. Thompson said the blaze was reported by forestry service investigators as "definitely set." Thompson said there are no suspects in the arson that caused the fire on property belonging to Development Corp. of St. Johns, a Miami-based firm.

Three persons were booked at county jail following arrests on circuit court warrants in separate felony cases:

Daniel Stephen Bell, 18, no local address, was held in lieu of $5,000 bond on a grand larceny charge.

Dale Herbert Smith, 29, of Charles Street, Longwood, was released on his own recognizance following his arrest Tuesday at the courthouse on a warrant charging aggravated assault, carrying a concealed firearm and shooting into a dwelling.

Bond was set at $5,000 for Waldo George Corson, 50, of S. Cameron Avenue, Sanford, on an aggravated assault charge.

Sanford police today reported $213 in athletic equipment and personal property of two Colonial High School, Orlando, basketball players was reported stolen Tuesday night from a locker room at Seminole High School.

Patrolman D.H. Whitmore said thieves apparently entered the locker room via a rear door and made off with a varsity basketball uniform, three warm-up suits, a jacket, shirt, trousers, two pair of socks and a pair of shoes. Also listed as missing was a duffel bag and a player's wallet containing $4 cash.

David Flint, of Lawfield Circle, south Seminole, reported to sheriff's deputies that $120 in stereo equipment was missing after a burglary at his residence. Deputy Ven Stuart reported the yeggs apparently gained entry to Flint's apartment via sliding glass doors.

Hattaway Vs. Fecthel At Realtor Luncheon

Does State Need Tax Hike To Provide Services?

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The big decision to be made in Tallahassee during the upcoming session of the Legislature is whether taxes will be raised to provide needed services, State Rep. Robert Hattaway (D-Altamonte Springs) told fellow realtors Tuesday at the meeting of the Seminole County Board of Realtors.

Saying 1977 will be the year either of the political leaders or the politicians, Hattaway said he is a realist and recognizes that taxes must be raised to provide funds for necessary services.

He pointed in particular to the need for improving SR 68, adding that if traffic cannot be moved in Seminole County, people are not going to buy property here. He also stressed the need for improvements on SR-46 at Sanford, especially a "flyover," to alleviate the hurdles with traffic caused by a train-crossing on the highway.

"Not a lot of fat exists in the state budget and there will be some additional taxes passed in Florida in 1977," he told an audience at Quality Court Motel, Longwood.

Hattaway said he has recommended that tuition fees to those attending college be raised, but that the state Board of Regents has turned down this suggestion. But, he predicted, tuition will be raised eventually to provide additional money for the state's university and college system.

The Altamonte Springs legislator said a sales tax increase would also be realistic.

State Rep. Vince Fecthel (R-Leesburg), also a guest speaker at the meeting, disagreed with Hattaway's position, saying there are enough tax dollars to fund state needs and a "lot of fat" does exist in the budget.

"The most ineffective industry in the nation is government," he said.

Fecthel said that the number of dollars spent for education per student, from kindergarten through 12th grade has tripled in Florida in the past 10 years. He contended there is waste in the state government and that tax laws on the books are not being enforced.

Fecthel, noting one of his favorite concepts is zero-based budgeting, where each department would have to prove the need for each budget item annually, said the Legislature was able to zero-base budget only one obscure department last year.

Hattaway said another im-

Seminole County prosecutor's spot during 4 1/2 years in the Sanford office.

Heffernan's letter of resignation, dated today, indicated that he "cannot in good conscience continue to serve the citizens of Seminole County..." under these working conditions.

Cashiere, who defeated two-term state attorney Abbott Herring in the fall election, cut the number of felony prosecutors in Seminole from four to two when he took office.

Dick today said the idea was to "start lean" and then work up to a larger staff. He indicated that by closing time today he hoped to have four prosecutors assigned to felony cases and trials.

Dick said Heffernan and Rabinowitz had "performed well" during the six weeks he's been in charge of the Sanford office. "But there was too much work," he noted.

Dick said he looked for no problems in staffing hearings scheduled this afternoon before Circuit Court Judge Robert McGregor in felony cases docketed for trial in the two week period beginning Monday.

Tampa Lawyer Chosen

A Tampa lawyer has been approved as the head attorney for Seminole County's new in-house legal department.

Joe H. Mount, a former asst. city attorney, was selected unanimously at Tuesday night's county commission meeting.

Mount was interviewed here by county officials prior to the meeting and was approved after the top spot was turned down by Sidney H. McKenzie III of Tallahassee. McKenzie decided to take a position elsewhere. The commission on Jan. 19 voted to offer the top position to McKenzie.

Commission Chairman Dick Williams said the salary range is from $30,000 to $33,000.

Williams said all three applicants for hiring Mount is for Exec. Asst. Roger Newlander to negotiate terms with Mount agreeable to Newlander and to the commission chairman.

Seminole commissioners voted last week to create an in-house legal staff. The commission was taken to try and save the county money and to remove the attorney's position from the political arena.

Historically, when the majority vote on the commission has been Democratic, the attorney was also a Democrat. The same held true when Republicans held three of the seats on the commission.

The commission already has hired Gary Siegel as the No. 2 attorney on the legal staff, at a salary of $15,000 yearly.

In other attorney-related action, commissioners voted to pay a $30,000 bill submitted by former labor attorneys, Alley, Alley and Blue of Tampa.

At a meeting two weeks ago, payment of the bill was held up until the commission had an opportunity to study the request.

The Tampa-based firm earned $90 an hour for assisting county officials in handling labor negotiations. The contract with the Tampa firm was terminated last year. — Ed Perickett

TB Tests For Seventh Graders

Tuberculosis skin-tests will be given next week to Seminole County seventh graders who present a parent-signed consent form. The skin test, according to Dr. Orville Barba, medical director, Seminole County Health Department, is used to detect early tuberculosis.

Tests will be given at Lakewood, Sanford Middle, Tusculwilla, Milver, South Seminole, Teague, and Jackson Heights schools.

Hospital Budget Has Growing Pains

Both the American Hospital Association and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare say that the cost of hospital care will go up again this year.

Hospitals in one typical major metropolitan area expect to be paying about 6 per cent more for utilities and 11 per cent more for anesthesia gases. Laboratory supplies and chemicals and X-ray film will cost 10 to 12 per cent more, as will housekeeping, laundry and maintenance supplies and food. Wages and benefits for hospital workers will similarly rise.

One result of such steadily mounting costs is that hospitals around the country are finding that the replacement of obsolete equipment with up-to-date technology may be more than their budgets will allow. For example, a portable X-ray unit that had cost $2,500 20 years ago now costs $14,000.

This not only means that many hospitals cannot acquire the sophisticated equipment needed to provide quality medical care, many doctors will not practice in areas isolated from technological innovation.

As recently as 1973, nearly 140 counties in the United States were without a single resident physician.

Fortunately, a growing number of hospitals, large and small, are meeting the problem by leasing big-budget medical equipment. According to the American Hospital Association, over 50 per cent of U.S. hospitals have adopted leasing programs to cut their equipment expenditures.

Demand for leasing is particularly strong in the area of emergency care, says Richard D. Ringe, president of Trans Union Leasing, a major company in the business. Emergency room visits jumped from 22 million in 1972 to more than 60 million in 1975 and now account for more than 25 per cent of all hospital admissions.

Besides easing budget pains, another advantage of equipment leasing, he says is that it eliminates the threat of obsolescence. When equipment is no longer current, a hospital simply transfers to whatever is new by signing a new lease.

All encouraging and helpful, no doubt, but it will take a lot more than just leasing equipment to free hospitals from what is doing them in: bureaucratic red tape and government dictation.

Hawaiian Wall?

Hawaii, like some other states blessed with a benevolent climate, has discovered that a burgeoning population is the serpent in paradise.

Gov. George Ariyoshi concedes, however, that his proposal to stem the tide of new residents is in direct confrontation with the present laws of this land and possibly even the Constitution of the United States.

Indeed, his call for a constitutional amendment to permit states to set residency requirements for welfare, public employment and even housing runs head-on into constitutional guarantees of personal freedoms.

But there is merit in his further plea to the Immigration and Naturalization Service for special consideration for areas like Hawaii with high concentrations of immigrants from other countries. Legislation to achieve more balance among the states in accommodating immigrants may be feasible.

We suspect that the governor's proposal was made with tongue in cheek.

However, efforts to manage growth are painful. It is not likely that Akiyoshi will find easy answers to his problem.

BERRY'S WORLD

JACK ANDERSON

Around

The Clock

By AUDIE MURPHY

It happened again in the supermarket the other day. Waiting in the check-out line, I overheard two women talking about another woman in the next aisle. It seems they had noticed the woman was paying for her purchases with food stamps, and they felt obliged to comment—rather loudly—on the subject of food stamps and food stamp recipients.

"It must be nice not to have to work for a living, to have everything given to you," one lady commented. The other agreed and the pair continued to make similar observations while the poor woman with the food stamps gathered up her grocery bags and rushed out of the store.

I'm sure these little melodramas take place every day, in stores from one end of this nation to the other. These conversations are like little kangaroo courts, with the food stamp recipients being tried and convicted of being "welfare bums"—whether they are or not.

It is no wonder, then, that many people who deserve food stamps try to get along without them.

ANGLE-WALTERS

Now Carter People Fall Into Trap

WASHINGTON — The administration is less than a month old, and already it's happening. The meetings begin at the crack of dawn and the phone wires are still humming at bedtime.

Quite apart from the stress of the job, the physical isolation is invidious. An iron fence envelops the White House; an iron gate bars the entrance corridor of the Executive Office Building. No member of the great unwashed can pass through the barricades without the sanitizing bath of an advance appointment and security clearance.

No one who spends three-quarters of each day, six or seven days a week, holed up in the White House or Executive Office Building can possibly maintain a normal perspective on life.

Quite apart from the stress of the job, the physical isolation is invidious. An iron fence envelops the White House; an iron gate bars the entrance corridor of the Executive Office Building. No member of the great unwashed can pass through the barricades without the sanitizing bath of an advance appointment and security clearance.

The mightiest member of Congress is easy prey for any constituent willing to pursue him through the Capitol or camp in the White House for a while, yet the lowliest White House aide is hermetically sealed beyond that same voter's reach.

At its upper reaches, the executive branch conducts the most vital public business at the public's expense in carefully guarded isolation. Gatekeepers are prosecuted, or hauled off to the local mental hospital for a check up.

Perhaps Carter is unable or unwilling to lower the bars of the gilded case sheltering staff from the average Americans who pay their salaries.

But if he is serious about keeping his administration in some kind of touch with the real world, the best thing he could do is to order the hired help to go home at a reasonable hour Monday through Friday and to stay there on weekends, shoveling snow, fighting the lines at the supermarket and otherwise coping with the crush of normalcy.

The republic will not collapse if that one last memo waits until morning. If the energy crisis hasn't been solved by 7 p.m., the chances are it won't be settled by midnight.

Getting and spending the coin of power is a heady business, but the commerce exacts a fearsome toll from those who deal in Washington's principal currency.

Fatigue gnaws at the flesh and spirit, sapping health and warping judgment. Old friendships with those outside the mainstream wither from neglect and a lack of common ground. Husbands and wives drift apart, and the children grow up strangers. Good people burn out early.

Mobs Take Deadly Interest In Cigarettes

WASHINGTON — The nation's top mobster and moneyed mobsters have taken a quiet, deadly interest in the lowly cigarette.

It began with a few enterprising but petty crooks, who discovered that the difference in state taxes made it profitable to smuggle cigarettes across state lines.

For example, a truckload of cigarettes from North Carolina, where the tax is 3 cents per pack, could be sold for big money in New York, where the tax is 14 cents. The bootlegger merely had to bypass the state tax collectors.

New the crime syndicate has moved on to the racket. Members of the Vito Genovese and Carlo Gambino mobs have been linked to the underground traffic in cigarettes.

In several Northwestern states, the syndicate has cornered the cigarette blackmarket. Nearly half of all cigarettes sold in New York, for example, are distributed by the mob. Already, cigarette smuggling costs the taxpayer an estimated $60 million a year.

But investigators have now picked up damning evidence that the Mafia is expanding its cigarette operations into the Midwest and Southwest. In a recorded conversation with an undercover agent, one syndicate bootlegger boasted that "it'll be easy to move into Tucson."

Of course, the Mafia promotes and protects its own cigarette business by the blackjack, the knife and the gun. Investigators say more than a dozen cigarette bootleggers have been murdered. Some were executed, gangland-style, to eliminate the competition.

One suspected informant, Richard DeMay, was found dead in a ditch in northern New Jersey a week after a bootlegger bust. DeMay had been severely beaten and then riddled with 22 caliber bullets. Finally, his executors blew off his head with several blasts from a .38-caliber handgun.

The Mafia has also transformed cigarette smuggling into an efficient business, complete with machines that turn out counterfeit tax stamps by the thousands. With the same efficiency, the businessmen-mobsters hijack cigarette cargoes, smuggle the contraband across state borders and corrupt the police who might get in the way.

According to New York State Tax Commissioner James E. Tully, cigarette smuggling, unhappily, is on the rise. Yet it's an interstate crime that the Justice Dept. doesn't want to add to its jurisdiction. Cigarettes seem so small, but the illegal profits are huge.

RENT-FARMER: Family farms still form the backbone of America's phenomenal agricultural production. They will only survive this the last best nation in history, but family farmers have been the traditional guardians of American values.

even if it means depriving their families of life's bare necessities. People in charge of the food stamp program have said this is one of the program's main flaws — many people who really need it are reluctant to take advantage of it.

The food stamp program, like slavery, is a peculiar institution. It reflects the fact that in the U.S. it is still considered a sin to be poor — not a crime, but a sin. People who fall into poverty for some reason or another also fall from grace. They are reminded of this in countless ways.

The issuing of food stamps to the poor is the most visible example of this attitude. It is a grudging admission by the government that it must not let its constituents starve. It is a token, naggingly gesture utilized in place of meaningful action to relieve the problem of poverty.

Such a program lends itself to fraud. It cries out for people to abuse it. The agencies involved cannot muster the forces to stop the abuses. And, oh, the cry of self-righteousness that occurs when fraud is discovered.

The politicians love it. If you want to be popular, come out against food stamp fraud. The people, most of whom are working and scratching just to stay afloat, will adore you.

And while the people are diverted in their loathing of welfare cheaters, you can vote yourself a fat pay increase. You can allow your friends in big business to continue to plunder the national treasury.

You can vote billions for fancy mistakes that don't fly straight and more billions to aid petty dictators whose doom is already sealed.

While the people nurse their grudges against the welfare cheaters, you can block any measure that threatens to jeopardize the tax loopholes used by some huge corporations.

We don't understand mistakes, or foreign dependency, or the national tax structure. We have to depend on our leaders to do the right things, to make the right decisions. But we do understand that proverbial food stamp recipient who drives away in an Eldorado.

Her we can hate.

Askew Planning Gas Tax But Stays Mum On Amount

TALLAHASSEE (AP)— Gov. Reubin Askew says he won't seek as hefty a hike in gasoline taxes as he unsuccessfully sought last year. But he's staying mum on a report that his budget might require $200 million in tax increases.

Askew refused repeated queries by reporters to confirm or deny a report that he was thinking of sending to the legislature a budget that would call for that much in new taxes.

Askew did say that his gasoline tax-hike would be less than last year's request for 2.8-cents-a-gallon.

Senate Finance Chairman Jack Gordon, D-Miami Beach, said last week that he had learned from governor's aides that Askew's proposed budget was $200 million over anticipated revenue next year.

Health Policy Hearing Today

TALLAHASSEE (AP)— The chairman of a House panel looking into a controversial health insurance policy for state workers says the probe hasn't uncovered any evidence of wrongdoing.

"At the present time, we're still trying to nail down the facts," Rep. Don Hazelton, D-West Palm Beach said Tuesday.

Hazelton set a hearing today for his ad hoc subcommittee on hospitalization insurance to probe charges that the Cabinet awarded the $33-million policy to Blue Cross-Blue Shield in 1975 after lobbying by former Gov. Haydon Burns.

Burns and the losing firm, Aetna Life Insurance Co., have credited the former governor with swinging the Cabinet away from recommendations favoring Aetna Insurance Co.

Auto Tags On Way--Green

TALLAHASSEE (AP)— Florida's new license plates are rolling off prison assembly lines. They're light green on white and have a blank spot at the bottom reserved for the name of a motorist's home county.

The first of an initial order of 2-million plates will go on sale July 1, but officials said Tuesday that the plates may be available only to new car buyers or new residents.

The plates were ordered last year by lawmakers who didn't appropriate enough money to make plates for the entire state. They have dispersed the initial putting off full distribution of the new plates until 1978 to save at least $600,000 and maybe more.

Land Sales Attorney 'Fired'

TALLAHASSEE (AP)— An attorney who was tapped last year to revitalize the investigation-plagued Land Sales Division has been forced to resign, the Florida Times-Union says in editions for today.

Richard Booth submitted his resignation at the request of J. Jackson Walter, director of the Board of Business Regulation, the Jacksonville newspaper reported.

The newspaper's Tallahassee bureau quoted sources as saying that Walter demanded Booth's resignation, although the sources gave no reason for the dismissal.

Doomed Sireci Gets Life

ORLANDO (AP)— A Death Row prisoner sentenced to die in the electric chair for the murder of a used car dealer has been given a life term for the slaying of another man.

Henry P. Sireci Jr., who was convicted in October of the stabbing death of Howard Potet, pleaded guilty Tuesday to the killing of grocery store clerk John L. Short. Both Potet and Short were repeatedly stabbed and had their throats slashed by a heavy hunting knife in December 1975.

Cabinet Bars Smathers Plan

TALLAHASSEE (AP)— The Cabinet has rejected a proposal by Secretary of State Bruce Smathers to draw up specific procedures to govern the selection of state agency heads.

But the Cabinet tentatively endorsed a more-general policy saying that procedures would be drawn up on a case-by-case basis each time a vacancy occurs.

Commissioner Chairman Dick Williams said the area to be annexed by the city has "not met requirements" for such action.

County Refuses To 'Bail Out' Lake Howell Water District

The Seminole County Commission Tuesday night refused to accept responsibility for getting the ailing Lake Howell Water and Reclamation District back on its feet.

In a resolution to the Seminole Legislative Delegation, commissioners indicated the district was $250,000 in debt and is in no way the responsibility of the county.

The district was created under legislative authority without direction or input from the Seminole County government.

"By resolution, the legislative delegation has proposed to thrust upon Seminole County the solution to this problem," the resolution states.

It goes on to say that the board "does not recognize the assumption of this jurisdictional and monetary burden as a proper role of county government."

The decision to toss the hot potato back into the laps of local delegation members was unanimous, reporters for the Lake Howell Water and Reclamation District has assumed debts in excess of $250,000 "which are past due."

"The County commission's resolution contemplates a 1972 Florida Supreme Court decision held the annexation of various land into the district invalid. Thus, homeowners are being assessed for the debt."

Fictitious names and addresses are being used to obtain thousands of dollars worth of food stamps in the wake of a freeze that wiped out vegetable crops and put thousands of pickers out of work, officials say.

"I am sure there are some who are very dependent and needy," State Atty. Joseph D'Alessandro in Fort Myers said Tuesday. "But there are names there of people I recognize as criminals. I don't think they are farm workers."

The emergency food stamp program was started after some 30,000 migrants were forced out of work by the freeze that hit Florida Jan. 18-20.

D'Alessandro, who started his probe following disclosures by the Fort Myers News-Press, said he will have a grand jury look into the program in Southwest Florida next week.

He said the state's fraud division said agents were checking possible stamp fraud in Dade, Broward, Palm Beach, Collier, Lee and Okaloosa counties.

In Broward County, the Pompano Beach Sun Sentinel reported that some farm laborers asked asked for pay checks in fictitious names so they can get emergency aid under their real names.

Meanwhile, in the central portion of the state undercover agents said they found broad abuses in the regular food stamp program. They said stamps were being issued to ineligible applicants and used to purchase non-food items such as drugs, beer, wine and stuffed toys.

"Anything you can buy with cash, you can buy with food stamps," said Ed Doyle, an investigator for the Orange County State Attorney.

Officials said that investigation was not directly related to the emergency stamp program.

Fraud May Be Costing Government Thousands

By The Associated Press

Fictitious names and addresses are being used to obtain thousands of dollars worth of food stamps in the wake of a freeze that wiped out vegetable crops and put thousands of pickers out of work, officials say.

"I am sure there are some who are very dependent and needy," State Atty. Joseph D'Alessandro in Fort Myers said Tuesday. "But there are names there of people I recognize as criminals. I don't think they are farm workers."

The emergency food stamp program was started after some 30,000 migrants were forced out of work by the freeze that hit Florida Jan. 18-20.

D'Alessandro, who started his probe following disclosures by the Fort Myers News-Press, said he will have a grand jury look into the program in Southwest Florida next week.

He said the state's fraud division said agents were checking possible stamp fraud in Dade, Broward, Palm Beach, Collier, Lee and Okaloosa counties.

In Broward County, the Pompano Beach Sun Sentinel reported that some farm laborers asked asked for pay checks in fictitious names so they can get emergency aid under their real names.

Meanwhile, in the central portion of the state undercover agents said they found broad abuses in the regular food stamp program. They said stamps were being issued to ineligible applicants and

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Thursday, February 17, 1977

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Caution and prudence are your watchwords today.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your image is a more precious possession than you may realize today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) In order to make your point, you may be tempted to stretch the truth a bit today.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Expecting more than you are entitled to is a risky approach today.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The unfortunate tendency to see things as you'd like them to be clouds your judgment today.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Moving ahead without the boss's approval could be foolhardy today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You could fall for the old carrot-dangling-on-the-stick play today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Bring your wits to bear on a situation today if unwise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) In order to get others to do your bidding today you could promise more than you should.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 19) Risky financial ventures that usually don't faze you may beckon today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your chances for acquisition today are not as good as you'd like to believe.

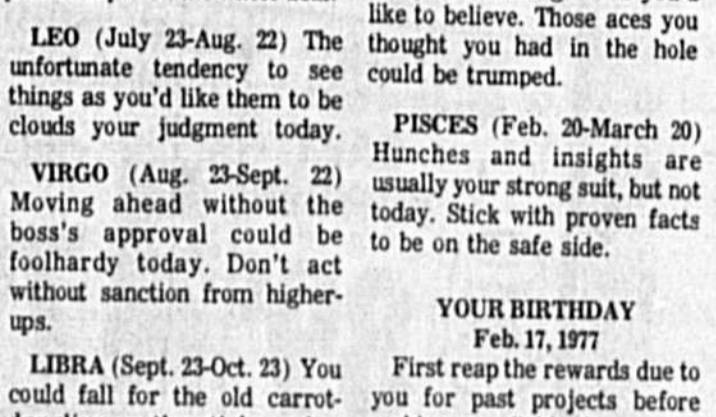

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Hunches and insights are usually your strong suit, but not today.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

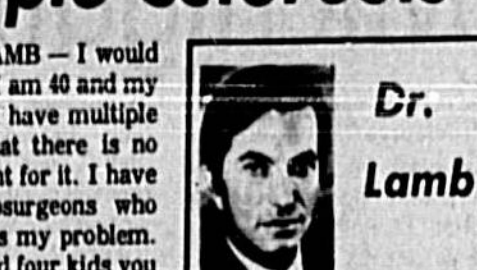

Feb. 17, 1977

First reap the rewards due to you for past projects before seeking new fields this coming year.

SPIDER-MAN

No Cure For Multiple Sclerosis

DEAR DR. LAMB—I would like some help. I am 40 and my doctor told me I have multiple sclerosis and that there is no cure or treatment for it.

With a wife and four kids you can see why I am upset. Not one of them gave me any help in the line of what to do about it.

DEAR READER—You can't make realistic plans for your family or for yourself without knowing the truth—even if the truth isn't very pleasant.

It is true that there is no treatment for multiple sclerosis (MS) that will really cure it.

MS is a disease that affects widespread areas of the nervous system. It can cause trouble with vision and speech as well as paralysis.

Lightweight Fight Makes Stadium Slate Heavy

ORLANDO—Tonight's main event at the Orlando Sports Stadium, a 10-round elimination match between Houston's Maurice "Terminator" Watkins and Miami's Jose "Speedy" Gonzalez, is something of a historic event. It marks the first time in recent years that the feature bout is a contest between two lightweight (147 lbs.) limit.

"I have to believe that the light boxing fans will support them the same way they support the bigger boys. From the advance sales, I would say that it seems as though they will."

"Here at the Sports Stadium we formerly went with the heavyweights, but in the past couple of years it has been almost entirely middleweights, with some light heavyweight action."

"In Watkins and Gonzalez we have two of not only the south, but the world's greatest fighters."

Cleveland Remains NHL Problem Child

CHICAGO (AP)—The turnaround could not have been much more complete. A long day of negotiations Monday appeared to have found new ownership for the troubled Cleveland Barons. Then, a few hours later, the prospective deal had fallen through and every problem had returned.

National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell, looking haggard and solemn, said Tuesday, "My understanding of the arrangement is that the proposed deal... has collapsed completely."

Elvin Hayes Happy Man

By The Associated Press Elvin Hayes is happy, and a happy Hayes is a very tough basketball player.

"I'm doing things I enjoy doing," says the Big E. "I'm blocking shots, rebounding, driving a lot, scoring from inside and outside. I'm dunking and I'm taking the outside shot. And I feel good."

And he is making other feel good. The happy Hayes hit his first eight shots Tuesday night, scored 19 points in the first quarter and 35 for the game, leading the Cleveland Cavaliers to a 108-114 victory over the Buffalo Braves.

Hayes went six-for-six in Sunday's National Basketball Association All-Star Game and hit his last two shots before that, so he had a streak of 16 leading the Cleveland Cavaliers to a 108-114 victory over the Buffalo Braves.

Goalie's Goal Yanked

LOS ANGELES (AP)—No goaltender in the 60-year history of the National Hockey League ever has scored a goal — thanks to the magic of videotape.

"If it wasn't for the tape, it would have been Roger's goal," Marcel Dionne moaned after Los Angeles Kings netminder Rogation Vachon was credited with a goal Tuesday night.

"It was really surprised I was given credit for the goal," said Vachon. "I guess it was a short moment of glory — but I'll take the win and the shutout any time."

Seminole Blisters Colonial

Ah, but the good old full court press. The defensive tactic turned into something of an offensive weapon Tuesday night in the first home basketball game of the season for Seminole High as the Seminoles defeated Orlando Colonial, 70-63.

That the Kings beat the New York Islanders 3-0 Tuesday night with Vachon chalking up his fourth shutout of the season and 27th of his career was quite enough for the Kings' goalie, but still...

The Question: Appointive Or Elective?

Facing Doom's Day, PSC Proves Own Worst Enemy

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — With legislators seriously considering a bill to make the Public Service Commission appointive rather than elective, PSC members seem determined to talk themselves out of a job.

It's the PSC which decides whether to approve rate increases filed by utility companies, so commissioners take the blame when rates increase — and rates are increasing at a record pace.

Just this week, the PSC approved a 440 million rate increase for General Telephone. Pending before the PSC are a $25.5 million Southern Bell Telephone Co. rate boost and a $39 million Florida Power & Light Co. hike.

Already thrust into a can't-win position by spiraling energy costs, the PSC has been making its situation worse with shenanigans like these:

—Staff Director Jack Dodd hired a private investigator without authority to do so, to investigate a tip that a PSC employee was homosexual.

—PSC Chairman Paula Hawkins and Katie Nichols, Mrs. Hawkins' unsuccessful hassees men, including four top aides to Gov. Reubin Askew, recently staged a four-week weight-reduction contest with a "weigh-in" at the House clinic as the grand finale.

Don Middlebrooks, a lawyer who serves as Askew's general counsel, led the field with the largest percentage drop in his body weight — 23 pounds, or 11 per cent.

"Middlebrooks looks terrific," said Ron Sachs, Askew's deputy press secretary and one of the contestants. "His clothes even fit."

The apparent loser: Jim Krog, a 269-pound heavyweight from Tampa and another Askew aide.

Krog, who secretly got married a few days before the weigh-in, missed the finale because he was in Tampa getting married again, this time in public for the benefit of his parents.

"He's probably out burning up calories now," said one contestant who asked to remain unidentified.

"Some contestants said each man put $20 worth of lunch money into escrow with the winner getting most of the pot.

But Sachs would neither confirm nor deny that. "You know the governor frowns on gambling," he said. There was no swim suit competition.

1976 challenger, swapped charges over whether Mrs. Hawkins has encouraged Mrs. Nichols to run against William Bevis or William Mayo, both of whom are up for election in 1978.

—Bevis and Mayo unsuccessfully attempted to block the election of Mrs. Hawkins, a Republican who has repeatedly goaded her Democratic colleagues, as chairman.

—Dodd reportedly got so angry during an argument with Bevis aide Ben Gertman that he smashed an ashtray on a desk.

The movement to reform the commission by adding two members and making the PSC appointive instead of elective can only gain strength from capers like these.

In fact, a House committee voted 123-124 last week for a bill increasing the size of the PSC and making members appointive.

Commissioners, who probably would lose their seats if the job became appointive, have understandable doubts about the bill. Bevis said he thinks an appointed commissioner could do a better job, but he dislikes the idea of taking election of utility regulators away from the people.

But the actions of the commissioners are speaking louder than their words. Unless they can clean up their act, they will unwittingly aid the reform movement.

Single member districts is a motherhood issue with Rep. Curtis Kiser, R-Dunedin. Kiser has joined with other Pinellas County residents in filing a petition asking the Florida Supreme Court to throw out multi-member districts.

Republicans Mackie Cabans and other minorities charge that multi-member districts discriminate against them.

Kiser said that his mother, a former Iowa legislator, could not have been elected but for a "surt" ruling to abolish multi-member districts in the Midwest state.

"Ever since, I've had a special warm spot in my heart for single member districts," he said.

She Sets Table With Syrian Hospitality

Meet Ballet Guild Dancers

Cindy Wheelchel is in her first year as a company dancer with Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole. She is the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Garrett.

Sponsoring Cindy during the 1976-77 season are Betty Anne's Hairstyling, Mrs. Hamilton J. Bisbee, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hubbard and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hutchinson Jr.

Also Mr. and Mrs. William E. Kane, Mr. and Mrs. John Pierce, Seaman Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Wheelchel. The Ballet Guild will present "Country to Classic" in the Sanford Civic Center on Saturday at 8 p.m.

ROSE HANNA WITH SYRIAN DISHES

She explained.

The Hanna children enjoy their mother's cooking, but also are fans of plain old hamburgers and french fries.

Rose is a talented seamstress, who alters garments, as well as making clothes to order. She especially enjoys making evening gowns.

Salads are featured at Rose's dinner table, plus a main dish or two that look like real production numbers. She laughs and says, "I guess my meals are sort of the gourmet type, but I try to balance each recipe."

Ingredients for some of her recipes may be found at St. George's Bakery, U.S. 17-92, Winter Park, food specialty stores in the Altamonte Mall and some on the shelves of Park 'N Shop, Sanford.

CHICPEA DIP (MSSABARA)

1 can chick peas
3 tsp. Tahini (ground hulled sesame seeds)
1/2 cup lemon juice or two fresh lemons

2 cloves garlic
salt

Drain half of the water from the peas. Put all ingredients in blender and blend well. Pour in a pie dish, decorate with chopped parsley and paprika, olive oil or hot butter.

KIBBEE

2 lbs. finely ground beef (extra lean, ground round)

2 lbs. cracked wheat No. 1 (Borghol)

1 stick butter or margarine

1 large onion (ground well)

1 large onion, chopped

1 lb. ground beef

1 small pkg. sliced almonds or pine nuts

salt and pepper

Wash the cracked wheat and let it soak for 10-15 min. Then mix by hand after draining it well, with the ground onion and the meat, salt and pepper. Divide into two balls.

Stuffing—in a skillet, melt 3 in. butter, then lightly brown the sliced almonds or pine nuts, add ground beef and chopped onion, salt and pepper, cook together for 5 min. Grease 1 1/2 inch pan, spread evenly 1/2 of the Kibbee mix, add the ground beef stuffing. Then spread the other half of the Kibbee on top of the stuffing. Cut into squares, then sprinkle the rest of the butter, melted, and cook in moderate oven 300 degrees, for one hour or until light brown.

SQUASH CASSEROLE

2 lbs. square dough with 2 cups milk

3 tsp. flour

1 chopped onion

1 lb. ground beef

1 egg

1 small pkg. sliced almonds (1/2 oz.)

salt, pepper, Parmesan cheese

Cut the squash into two pieces lengthwise, remove seeds. Wash and boil about 5 min.; drain. Grease oven pan and put in the squash in a skillet, light in the almonds, then add

White sauce — Mix the flour and part of the milk, add a beaten egg, then the rest of milk. Stir in a pan over low heat until thick. Add the squash and cheese and bread crumbs. Cook in a moderate oven at 350 degrees, for 30 min. or until done. Serve hot.

CABBAGE ROLL (YABRAK MALFOOF)

1 lb. head cabbage, or some grape leaves

1 lb. ground beef

1 lb. rice

1 chopped garlic

salt, pepper, dried mint, lemon juice

Boil the cabbage leaves about 2 min. Mix the ground beef, rice, salt, pepper and chopped garlic. Roll the mixture in cabbage leaves or grape leaves, each separate. Put in a pan, cover with water and little salt. Cook until rice is tender. Add lemon juice and dried mint. Simmer 10 min. and serve.

BALAWA

3 sticks butter

1/4 cups light syrup or honey

1 lb. pecan or walnuts (ground)

3 lbs. sugar

1 tsp. vanilla or orange blossom water

(Mix the pecans, sugar and vanilla and set aside)

Bake Gifts At Home; Inexpensive

CHERRY BANANA BREAD, COOKIES

By AILEEN CLAIRE NEA Food Editor
Breads, cookies or muffins made for the home or as gifts need not be expensive.

For example, a banana bread can cost about a dollar a loaf; oatmeal cookies, 22 cents a dozen, and bran muffins about a nickel each.

CHERRY BANANA BREAD
1 1/2 cups unflavored all-purpose flour
1 1/2 cups sugar

1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel
In medium bowl, mix flour, sugar, baking powder, salt and baking soda.

OATMEAL COOKIES
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup packed light brown sugar
1/2 cup granulated sugar

cherries, chopped
1 cup unflavored all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon

In large bowl, beat shortening, sugars, egg and vanilla until light and fluffy.

1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon double-acting baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup wheat bran cereal

1 egg
1/2 cup red maraschino cherries, chopped
1 cup shortening

'Meats, Cuts' Program Set

With several kinds and many cuts of meat on the retail market, meat offers more in variety and price range than almost any other food.

In an effort to provide up-to-date information on meat and meat selection, a program, "Meats and Cuts" is scheduled for Monday, Feb. 21, at the Seminole County Agricultural Center.

This program is a cooperative effort between the Seminole County Extension Home Economics Office and Public Supermarkets, Inc.

Bringing Up Baby With Home Cooking

By AILEEN CLAIRE NEA Food Editor

There's much concern and controversy raging now over food for babies.

Her reasoning, "I like to feed Buck the same foods we eat for dinner so I just blend up a share of the meal for him."

Hours that she used to spend in training for competition now go to her new roles as a wife, mother and working woman.

A pleasant proponent of this is former U.S. Olympic gymnast Cathy Rigby.

Where To Begin

Collecting Cookbooks

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor
DEAR CECILY: Some of my friends have started making collections, from demi-tasse cups to souvenir spoons.

DEAR BRIDE: An Englishman once said that "collecting cookbooks is a peculiar hobby."

One of the best-known cookbook collectors, the late Helen Evans Brown, had her own special booklets. Whenever she came to New York she brought a stack of them with her.

Then you might go on by consulting your own particular interests. There are cookbooks involved with just about all kinds of kitchen appliances.

There are cookbooks on all the main categories of food — meats; poultry and game; fish and seafood; eggs, cheese and other dairy foods; grains; vegetables; fruits; beverages.

For example, there is a cookbook devoted to beef and a number to only ground beef.

There is a cookbook devoted to lamb for its province and another that deals with lambs and other variety meats.

There are books on omelets and crepes. On apples, avocados, onions, potatoes, cranberries.

And recently there has been a rash of vegetarian books. Cookbooks on salads are with us.

Some books are devoted to cooking with chocolate. Some deal with liquors. This is the age of specialization.

Ethnic cookbooks are a category by themselves. If, say, you are of Polish or Scandinavian ancestry, you will certainly want a cookbook devoted to the dishes of your forebears.

Regional cookbooks are usually interesting because they represent a cross-section of a particular area. You might be surprised enough to collect one from every state in the Union.

Or you might want to limit your collection to cookbooks from your own state. Part of the joy of traveling for me is to pick up regional cookbooks — not nationally known — some are. When wandering friends know that you are making such a collection, they may be kind enough — as mine have been — to bring some of these back for you.

Sky King Ranch May Face Lawsuit Over Name, Image

By MARVYN TIPTON
Herald Staff Writer

Sky King Youth Ranches of America Inc. faces a lawsuit unless it agrees to "cease using the image created by the television series 'Sky King,'" a spokesman for the firm claiming ownership of rights to the series and name warned today.

The warning came from a spokesman for Flying Crown Enterprises Inc. of Winter Haven. Because of pending litigation, he asked that he not be identified.

Maurice Shams, attorney for the Ranch, has persistently claimed ownership of the name. "I wrote them (Flying Crown) and told them we have a patent on the name with the United States Patent Department," Shams said. He noted that Yergy, Yergy & McKnight, Orlando attorneys, had researched and recorded the patent. Officials with Flying Crown conceded that the patent may exist, but indicated they felt they had a prior claim on the name.

"They notified me that there was a partnership prior to this and that merged into a corporation—the Sky King Youth Ranches of America, Inc.," said Shams. "As I see it one merged into the other. They're both the same."

Expressing no apparent concern over the problem, Shams noted that "if (Sky King) is a name that has a problem with it, I don't see any harm in using another one. I don't see that the name makes any real difference in what we are trying to do."

Documents backing up the Flying Crown claim have been requested by Shams, he said. He indicated that J. Cheney Mason, an attorney on the board of directors of Flying Crown, had said there to back up the corporation's claim to the name. Mason, however, expressed surprise that Shams did not have copies of records which had been supplied ranch officials during previous controversy over the name.

The ranch has been embroiled in problems since last December when six members of its board of directors resigned.

Since that time the Florida Department of Social and Economic Services (formerly the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services) conducted an extensive investigation into administration of the ranch.

As a result of that investigation, specific demands were made on the ranch, including the preparation of forms to be approved by the state and used in conjunction with caring for the children.

Doris Abraham, in the Tallahassee office of SES said today she had received forms from both Pat Stevens, the local SES official designated to assist the ranch, and from the ranch itself. She expressed satisfaction with the forms and said, "They are doing what they are supposed to be doing at this time."

Another requirement resulting from the SES investigation was the replacement of Harrell E. Corley as executive director of the ranch. Mrs. Abraham said she had received a letter from the ranch mentioning the possible hiring of a Mr. Tom Thompson and his wife, Julie. The new executive director is to be hired by March 1.

The ranch also came under investigation for its practice of soliciting funds throughout the state without proper licensing. According to Shams forms have now been filled out for a new application. The will have to undergo the standard pre-licensing investigation.

Shams expressed optimism about the license as well as the problem over the name.

"I'm sure we'll get it squared away—one way or the other. If we're wrong, we're wrong. If we have to change it we will, but I've have the right to use it then I think we should."

LARRY GRAY WITH SON, KARL, POINTS TO SEWER PERC PONDS

Raw Effluent Stirs Pair To Action

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Two Winter Springs residents, Larry Gray of South Hawthorne Circle and Stephen Sherman of Gunter Court, wish Casseberry's utilities operation supervisor Bill Schrader good luck in his new job.

But, if that city's sewer plant breaks down again, shooting raw effluent with identifiable solids into a drainage ditch within 50 feet of their homes they are going to fight.

"And we'll be heard this time," Gray said. "Gray said when the problem occurred in early November, Sherman went in one direction via letters of complaint to the Department of Environmental Regulation (DER) with copies to the city health department, Mayor Gerald Christensen and the city council of Casseberry and to Mayor Troy Pland and the City Council of Winter Springs. Gray went the telephone route calling every official he could think of.

"We got no response from anyone," Gray said, unaware that Sherman's letter is what inspired the order from the DER to Casseberry demanding that the situation be cleared up.

"We know this happens when the plant breaks down and we understand Casseberry's problem, but our concern is what harm that raw effluent did the lake it poured into from the drainage ditch and to Ger Creek," Gray said.

Some 50 feet from the eastern wall of the Casseberry percolation ponds runs a drainage ditch at the rear property line of the Commission Vote Scheduled For March Growth Plan On Front Burner

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County's all-inclusive comprehensive plan—which has been touted as the single most important item of county business this year—is back on the track and running smoothly.

The plan temporarily derailed last Tuesday when Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski refused to approve a plan concept of the sewer element of the plan. The plan, by state law, must be adopted by October of this year.

Initially, Kwiatkowski said he objected to the plan because it didn't fit in with the long-range planning goals established by the county commission. But work sessions with commissioners and planners have ironed out the differences.

"I'm satisfied we're headed in the right direction now," Kwiatkowski said.

"We're on the right track, and the next key date is mid-March," Commission Chairman Dick Williams added.

County Planner Bill Kercher, whose job it is to get the plan approved by commissioners, said it's "good news" that problems have been ironed out.

"Terrific," Kercher commented.

He said planners will submit the complete package to the commission for approval on March 5. Public hearings then will be held to inform the public of the plan's contents.

"I think it (the plan) is the most important thing we are doing in the next couple of years," Williams said.

Attorney Ready

Tampa attorney Joe H. Mount, is expected today to accept Seminole County's offer to become chief counsel in the newly-created legal department.

A Tampa source close to Mount confirmed by telephone this morning that Mount was prepared to accept the $30,000-a-year position when it is formally offered.

Exec. Asst. Roger Nelawender was preparing earlier today to call Mount and offer him the position, which was approved by county commissioners last Tuesday.

Mount is a former assistant city attorney for the city of Tampa.

Following Twin Resignations

Cheshire Bolsters Felony Staff

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole-Brevard State Atty. Douglas Cheshire beefed up his felony prosecution division in Seminole within hours after two attorneys who had been carrying the entire felony trials load for six weeks abruptly resigned on Wednesday.

William Hefferman and Mark Rabinowitz had handed the prosecution in circuit court of 88 felony cases since Cheshire took office Jan. 4 and cut the number of felony prosecutors from four to two.

The veteran prosecutors resigned their positions as assistant state attorneys, packed their belongings and moved out of their courthouse office Wednesday morning.

Joel Dick, administrator of Cheshire's Sanford office, said the overworking of the felony prosecutors was a critical problem but a transitional one.

Dick said it was hoped the problem could be resolved by Wednesday afternoon. And by 3 p.m. Wednesday the local state attorney's office felony prosecution staff had been expanded to five attorneys.

Dick and attorney Don Davis took over the majority of the 88-case trial docket for the two-week trial period beginning Monday before Circuit Court Judge Robert B. McGregor.

Jerrold Bross, Cheshire's chief assistant supervising offices in both Brevard and Seminole, told Judge McGregor he is taking over the prosecution of prostitution and sexual battery trials which he couldn't continue "under these working conditions," he said he will open a private law practice, probably in south Seminole.

Rabinowitz said he had no comment on his resignation or reports that he'll also enter private practice.

Earlier, Dick told reporters that he may turn over administration of the Sanford office to someone else and concentrate on being a felony prosecutor. Dick worked as a prosecutor two years in Atlanta before becoming an assistant state attorney in Brevard two years ago.

Apparently two new attorneys will be hired to fill the misdemeanor division vacancies created with the promotion of Robinson and Erickson, in accordance with Cheshire's earlier announced policy of making promotions in-house and starting new attorneys at the misdemeanor prosecution level.

Hefferman, who said in his letter of resignation that he couldn't continue "under these working conditions," said he will open a private law practice, probably in south Seminole.

Rabinowitz said he had no comment on his resignation or reports that he'll also enter private practice.

UTILITY CHIEF BILL SCHRADER POINTS OUT CITY SEWER PLANT

Rosy Utility Future For Casseberry?

The future of the Casseberry utility department—the water and sewer system—is good in the view of its new operations supervisor Bill Schrader.

"It is a good, sound, profitable system and we are preparing for regionalization," Schrader said, adding that there are so many people in the view of its new operations supervisor Bill Schrader.

Schrader had been called upon to lead the utility department. When long-time utilities director John Lane resigned in October, Schrader was named acting head of the department. Since James McCracken announced his resignation, Schrader has been tapped as the new supervisor.

After Lane left, the city changed the position of utility director (Lane's salary was $19,000) to the supervisor designation with a beginning salary of $12,000.
