

Money Spent In Your Home Town Comes Back To You To Be Spent Again

... the money you spend out-of-town you lose forever!

When you shop in your home town, you start your money traveling among your friends and neighbors to buy new goods, to pay bills, to hire help. Soon it is back in your hands and again you start it on its rounds. Every transaction in which it figures makes business better . . . its repeated spending is a tonic for trade. Money you spend at home provides financial support for the churches, the schools, the city's operation . . . whatever your town can offer in public service depends on the money its people spend in its stores and industries.

MAKE YOUR MONEY DO DOUBLE DUTY

Spend your money in your home town to get you what you want. At the same time it will be getting your town what it wants . . . PROSPERITY

Sometimes We Fail To Show It

"But I spent only $11, Father," the young woman laughed. "Surely you could spare $11 . . . anyway, three of them went for gasoline and oil."

"It is of the gasoline and oil, I am mostly thinking," the old man said. "You should have bought it from Bill Jones before you started to the city. Bill buys his family's shoes from me."

"And, daughter, give a thought to this. There are six thousand men and women in this town. If each had spent $11 in the city today, $66,000 would be lost to our town forever."

"We think we love this town of ours, but sometime we fail to show it."

Prison Sentences Favored In Senate For U.S. Hoarders

President Reported Seeking Blanket Powers To Restore Control Of Rents

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2—(AP)—Prison sentences and $10,000 fines for hoarders and black-market dealers were voted by a Senate committee today as Congress pressed swiftly toward action on economic mobilization legislation.

A House vote on the administration's requested control powers—plus standby wage and price control—was possible late in the day but may not come until tomorrow.

Democratic leaders put before the House a substitute for the administration's original allocations and credit control measure. The new bill would give Mr. Truman power to slap ceilings on wages and toll prices back to the levels of the May 24-June 24 period.

The new bill also would allow the President to order rationing. Republicans, rallying behind a bill of their own, protested the last-minute introduction of a new Administration measure. The GOP bill also would provide for standby wage and price controls.

Rep. Halleck, (R-Ind.), called the Administration move "deplorable." He said it gave the House "no fair chance" to consider the proposals and was "a poor way to legislate."

The plan for crackdown powers on hoarders and black-market operators was approved today by the Senate Banking Committee.

The committee also approved a broad system of credit controls that would apply to all real estate construction after noon, Meridian time tomorrow. These would apply (Continued on Page Six)

Soviet And West Resume Battle In Security Council

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 2—(AP)—Britain supported the United States today in demanding that the question of seating Red China in the United Nations be put off until the conflict be given top priority in United Nations deliberations.

Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb called the Korean question the "most important and most urgent" to be dealt with by the Security Council.

The British delegate said he welcomed Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jakob A. Malik back to the Council after his seven-month boycott. He expressed hope this meant Russia was now ready to cooperate with the other nations.

The specific issue was adoption of an agenda. Russia's Jakob A. Malik, as August president of the Council, wanted Korea considered second, under the heading "peaceful settlement of the Korean question." (Continued on Page Six)

Packard Motor Car Company Goes In Red

DETROIT, Aug. 2—(AP)—The Packard Motor Car Company went sharply three-quarters of a million dollars in the red for the first six months of 1950, its financial statement showed today.

A net loss of $748,522 for the first half of the year was attributed to "advance absorption" of costs of Packard's new line of 1951 model cars, scheduled for introduction late this month.

Packard showed a net profit of $4,788,531 for the first six months last year, equal to 33 cents a share on outstanding stock.

LOCAL GUARD
The 60 men and five officers of Co. 1, 124th Infantry who are at Ft. Jackson, S.C. for two weeks of National Guard training are due home Sunday afternoon. They are under the command of Capt. David Gatchel and Lieut. John Saults.

RAINFALL
Rainfall was spotty over this section during the months of May, June and July, and was five and a half inches below normal for the period, said E.J. Moughtin, Jr., weatherman.

There have been no widespread rains over the county since Christmas day when three inches of rain drenched the area, he pointed out. Temperatures were higher than normal during June and were about normal during July.

AEC Selects DuPont Co. To Build H-Bomb

Senator Says U. S. Bombs Chief Deterrents To New Aggression By Reds

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2—(AP)—The government today apparently gave the DuPont company top responsibility for developing the hydrogen bomb.

An Atomic Energy Commission announcement provided that the chemical firm has been selected to design, construct and operate new facilities to produce materials for atomic weapons or fuels potentially useful for power purposes.

Company officials at Wilmington said "the project is of vital importance to the security of the United States."

The AEC said the new plants will be of "advanced design and their operation will provide new knowledge that will speed the progress of the atomic energy program."

But commission officials, as usual, shied away from any direct mention of the H-bomb, the new weapon President Truman has ordered for the atomic arsenal.

Where the new plants will be located has not yet been decided. DuPont and government experts have been looking for a site, expected to cover some 200,000 acres.

The new project is of such importance that AEC said it has set up a special operations office to supervise it. Temporarily located in Washington, it is under the management of Curtis A. Nelson.

Almost simultaneously with the AEC-DuPont announcement, Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) said in Capitol Hill he favors an even greater expansion of the nation's A and H bomb programs that has been recommended by Mr. Truman.

In urging a stepped up program, McMahon said "there is no question in my mind but what our atomic stockpile is the chief deterrent to aggression by the Reds." (Continued on Page Six)

Florida Improves Its Auto Accident Death Prevention

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 2—(AP)—Florida improved its position among the states for automobile accident death prevention last year, but it has slipped a little so far in 1950.

The Coordinating Committee of the Governor's Highway Safety Conference was told by the National Safety Council today that the Florida death record last year was slightly above the national average of 14 for each 100 million miles of auto travel.

Florida's 673 traffic deaths last year averaged eight for 100 million miles. So far this year, the rate has risen to 9.1.

However, Governor Warren told the cabinet today only 80 motorists were killed in highway accidents last month in comparison with 65 in July, 1949.

Dun Hill, field representative of the National Safety Council, complimented the state for its driver licensing, school safety and public information programs.

He presented a plaque to the Highway Patrol for outstanding achievement in driver licensing. The national organization rated Florida's 1949 licensing program best in the south and second best (Continued on Page Six)

Warren Suspends Okaloosa Sheriff

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 2—(AP)—Governor Warren today suspended Sheriff H. Iles Enzor of Okaloosa county and two constables for permitting gambling.

Sheriff Enzor and Constables O. L. Hengston and Fox M. Wilson were put on 30-day probation by the Governor July 7 after a hearing in which they were charged with allowing "open gambling houses, games of chance and other gambling devices."

Since then, Warren said, they neglected their duty by allowing the Magnolia and Shalimar Clubs to maintain "open gambling and games of chance."

MERO HEARING
Sheriff P.A. Mero announced that he will leave tonight for Tallahassee with Mrs. Mero and two babies in order to attend the hearing at 10:00 o'clock with Governor Warren in regard to gambling conditions in Seminole County.

Due also to attend the hearing are J. Bralier Odham, state president of the Jaycees, Marlon Harman, program director of Station WTRN, Police Sgt. W.A. Horn and B.J. Gause.

Battle Rages 40 Miles From Pusan As U.S. Troops Go On Offensive

National Guard To Know Future In Fifteen Days

General Lance Sees Developments Soon; 48th Is Healthy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2—(AP)—The Defense Department shortly will announce its defense mobilization policy for reservists, including National Guardsmen called to federal duty. A spokesman said, however, that the "interim" policy will not apply to Selective Service draftees.

Government sources said the Commerce Department will release a list of essential industries as a guide, and the Labor Department will issue a rather short list of "critical occupations."

COLUMBIA S. C., Aug. 2—(AP)—Citizen soldiers of the National Guard will know within 15 days their future as Guardsmen, Florida's Adjutant General Mark W. Lance predicted here today.

Maj. General Lance, a combat veteran of two wars, told a Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting here that there are 24 Guard divisions and 18 regimental combat teams in addition to the divisions and teams just called up for active service.

"Possibly all the National Guard army units may be called into active service by subsequent increments," he said.

He said he felt sure future plans would be announced soon so Guardsmen could make civilian life plans with some assurance.

"The National Guard as presently organized in the states and territories consists of 300,000 officers and men in army troops," he added, with 45,000 officers and men in Air Force troops.

"There are 25 infantry and two armored divisions, 20 regimental combat teams, and a number of support units, with approximately 100 per cent officer and 50 per cent enlisted strength, xxx."

Lance was here for an inspection of the 40th Guard division of Georgia and Florida troops, in summer training at nearby Fort Jackson.

PORT JACKSON, S. C., Aug. 2—(AP)—The 48th National Guard division is establishing a record as the healthiest of the states today in the Democratic senatorial primary race in Missouri.

The man supported by Mr. Truman, State Senator Emory W. Allison of Rolla, had 159,396 votes to 171,002 for former U. S. Representative Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., of St. Louis, in 4,199 out of 4,676 precincts.

This gave Hennings a lead of 11,606 with 477 precincts still to be counted, many of the missing ones in southern Missouri where Mr. Truman always has polled a heavy vote. So the outcome appeared still in doubt.

And in the neighboring state of Kansas Al M. Landon, Republican candidate for president in 1936, apparently was losing his campaign to regain control of the state (Continued on Page Two)

U. S. Soldier Escapes Reds By Putting On Korean Clothes

By HAL BOYLE
WITH U. S. TROOPS IN KOREA—(AP)—An 18-year-old American soldier, wearing the white pants and white shirt of a Korean, stumbled tiredly into a command post.

A group of doughboys saw him and began to jeer at him good naturedly.

"Where'd you get the good suit, kid?" one called.

The young soldier—Pfc. James Cannon of Medford, Mass., grinned shyly at them and then trudged wearily into headquarters.

There he reported that he was the only survivor of a squad of eight men trapped in Kuchang during a battle where the Reds seized control of that central location of the western front.

He said his seven comrades were cut down by machinegun fire trying to break through enemy lines and that he escaped across the mountains after trading clothing with a South Korean refugee.

"We were trapped behind a brick wall in the city," Cannon said. "We decided the only thing to do was to run for it rather than surrender. They had us surrounded."

"Four of the fellows were caught by machinegun fire before we reached a small stream at the base of a hill. Our corporal had been wounded. I tried to drag him behind a rock."

A North Korean came up on Cannon from behind. A South Korean soldier rushed the north-er and killed him by knifing him through the throat and chest.

"I don't know where that South Korean soldier came from," Cannon said. "I just looked up and he was there."

Cannon and the South Korean soldier then took off up the hill separately.

"There was a lot of sniper fire and I was the only one of our squad to make it to the top," he said. "Once I looked back and saw another North Korean soldier come up and beyond our corporal."

"On the other side of the hill I met a refugee and traded clothes with him."

"I don't think he was too happy about it—but I couldn't under-

London Trails In Bid For Return To Influence With GOP

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 2—(AP)—Former U. S. Representative Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., of St. Louis, claimed victory through his campaign director today over President Truman's choice for the Missouri Democratic senatorial nomination.

The Marines Have Landed Eager To Get Everything Well In Hand

By TOM LAMBERT and DON WHITEHEAD
SOUTH KOREAN PORT, Aug. 2—(AP)—U. S. Marines arrived in force tonight at the South Korean port. They called for beer, asked about their safety and promised to make things tough for the enemy.

"We will give them the best we got, and that's a lot," said a Marine sergeant.

A veteran of World War II and a typical leatherneck, he calmly scanned the low hills as the fog came in.

The brass band on the dock played new stirring leatherneck tunes, "From the Hall of Montezuma" and "Semper Paratus."

No Gains Are Reported On Korean Front For Past 12 Hours; 1st Marines Advance

TOKYO, Thursday, Aug. 3—(AP)—U. S. 24th Division troops recaptured hill positions northeast of Chongju and held on today in a flaming battle 40 miles from the main port of Pusan.

The arching battlefield was marked by burning villages all the way from the southern coast to abandoned Kumchon, which blazed, too.

General MacArthur's headquarters said U. S. troops and the North Korean Sixth Division were locked in a grim battle east of Chongju at the western approaches to Pusan.

"No gains by the enemy have been reported since 12:55 A. M. in the last 12 hours," the war summary at 9:57 A. M. EST Wednesday said.

For 18 hours or more the battle between tanks, artillery and men raged on the heights just eight miles northeast of Chongju.

On the central front Kumchon, abandoned and abandoned by the U. S. First Cavalry Division, scoured in rain as the Reds moved into its outskirts.

Desperately Yongdok, east coast anchor town which has changed hands frequently, was a no-man's land.

But the hardest fighting was just north of Chongju, about 40 miles west Pusan.

Battle weary U. S. 24th Division troops were almost surrounded when they counterattacked. They suffered many casualties and lost some tanks.

Associated Press correspondent Hal Boyle who flew over the whole flaming front said the battle line was followed by a string of flaming villages. Boyle first reported the abandonment of Kumchon.

Help for the doughboys was near. Fighting Marines in force were at a southeastern port only 40 miles from the battlezone. The Marines came equipped with 45-ton tanks, tank killer bazookas and other weapons unique to the Korean war.

American planes set fire to Kumchon as they had done at Chongju after it fell.

The 24th was almost surrounded by strong Red tanking forces. The Americans had counter-attacked to regain high ground they had lost Tuesday.

The Reds sidestepped them and attacked.

New Industry For Sanford Seen From Hosack's Machine

An event pointing to an important new industry for Sanford is the shipping this week of the new cellophane wrapping machine invented by G.C. Hosack to the Atlantic Commission Co., Inc., a terminal packaging plant in Jersey City, N. J.

The machine, which was given its initial trial here last Fall, and which was successfully used by Chase and Co. to wrap more than one half million individual stalks of celery in piffolium, will be tested for trade acceptance at Jersey City, said Mr. Hosack this morning at his ship in the Weika Building.

He will make the trip for the installation, and Mr. Snyder will supervise the operation of the machine. Lee Ransbottom is exclusive agent for the sub-licensing of the machines for the wrapping of the celery. Chase and Co. has placed an order for one of the machines (Continued on Page Six)

UNWORTHY... MOSCOW, Aug. 2.—(AP)—The Soviet news agency Tass said today that the Soviet government is not a member of the United Nations Security Council meeting...

THE WORLD TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

American military reinforcements are landing in Korea and rushing to the support of their hard-pressed comrades—and that's big news.

Meanwhile, oddly enough, half a world away at Lhasa, a new deal is being made which may have greater influence on the outcome of the Korean War than even the United Nations.

I refer to Soviet insistence that admission of Communist China to U. N. be made a condition to its participation in the Korean War. The United States, backed by the democracies, has been calling for Korean joint action first.

What the thing really boils down to is that Moscow is trying to restrict a long-term deal. She recently indicated that she would be willing to accept her influence on the Northern Koreans to ease their attack—provided first China and the democracies aren't going to agree to any such truce to buy off the aggressors.

That is the background of the scrap over procedure with which the Security Council opened its August session yesterday under the presidency of Jakob A. Malik, Soviet representative. Malik's presence was in itself an indication of the importance which Russia attaches to the occasion.

Well, now, let's take a look at it. It has any substance back of it? Probably the democracies aren't going to agree to any such truce to buy off the aggressors. However, it is a military fact that the North Koreans have overrun the major portion of South Korea.

Under those circumstances, there is no reason for us to be surprised to see Moscow try to make capital out of the situation. If Russia could get Red China installed in the United Nations, in an eventuality, Moscow's intervention really would represent a double bargain for the Soviet.

Why? Well, because (1) Communism would gain much prestige in Asia through its participation in the United Nations, and (2) because Moscow can see that ultimately the North Koreans will be defeated. So if that defeat could be avoided, why not?

There are many evidences that Moscow has an eye on the prize of Communism in some of them. Red China could play an invaluable part. For example, take the case of Tibet, which China claims as a province. A move against India, China and other Asiatic areas also seem contemplated.

Nation Faces War Footing | Congress Sentiment Strong For More Drastring Action

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Look for the government to place the nation on an almost complete war footing if the Korean conflict continues much longer.

President Truman's recent messages are believed to be the beginning of an even more stringent, all-out effort toward keeping the nation's economy on an even keel despite the emergency.

Already there is strong sentiment in Congress for more drastic action to put the nation in a position to fight the Korean fighting more vigorously to a climax.

It is doubtful that President Truman will order sweeping mobilization of both the military and economy immediately, or at the same time. Rather, it probably will be a gradual change-over to a war footing.

However, in the end, if the war in Korea continues or some new flare-up occurs, the country undoubtedly will be mobilized completely for war.

THE HEAT IS ON—Farm state senators and representatives are being pressured to vote before Congress on amending the present farm law.

Already there is strong sentiment in Congress for more drastic action to put the nation in a position to fight the Korean fighting more vigorously to a climax.

It is doubtful that President Truman will order sweeping mobilization of both the military and economy immediately, or at the same time. Rather, it probably will be a gradual change-over to a war footing.

However, in the end, if the war in Korea continues or some new flare-up occurs, the country undoubtedly will be mobilized completely for war.

RESOLUTION

Directed to the Honorable Governor of the State of Florida and the State Budget Commission:

Adopted unanimously at a special meeting held in the Tourist Center at Sanford, Florida, by a joint session of the Sanford Townsfolk Club No. 1 and senior citizens of Seminole County, Friday evening July 28th, 1950.

Whereas, a tragic situation has been created among the recipients of welfare grants in Florida, resulting from recent reductions in State appropriations of funds:

Therefore, be it resolved: that immediate steps be taken by the Governor of the State of Florida and the Florida State Budget Commission to restore the amounts having already been withheld, and bring all grants back to the maximum amount possible under existing legislation.

Further be it resolved: that should it be necessary to do so the State use its credit to make the necessary appropriations until such time as funds become available.

Further be it resolved: we call for immediate action.

Secretary, Mrs. Ellen Shadoff, Address, 819 Elm Ave., Sanford, Fla. Adv.

Girdles And Diapers Mark Latest Styles

By FLORENCE MILLS

PARIS, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Girdles lined with planks of wood to stiffen them and "slipper coats" fastened between the legs were just a couple of eccentricities displayed by Schiaparelli in her fall style showing yesterday.

The girdles were worn by Schiap's annaquins to promote her new flat-stomach girdlets.

But to emphasize what she called the "admirably rounded bust and hips," she uses so much artifice that many models looked like bunnies from the rear.

Her diaper coats are loose, thigh-length affairs made of light yellow carpet-pile wool. The diapers is a wide tab sewn to the back hemline and brought up between the legs to button across the stomach.

She introduces under-arm pockets on suit jackets and repeats the idea on accompanying blouse made of bright colored satin, a taffetin to match the jacket lining.

Her jackets have rounded shoulders, tiny waists, and long hips that stand away from the hips in a pyramidal line emphasized by jutting pockets.

Schiaparelli frames them with narrow skirts, built up to the top of the midriff and slanted to the knee.

Her topsuits are lined, soft-shaped affairs with small, fold-down collars. They outline, snugly to the hem at one side and have a row of buttons to match on the other.

Her blouses are very large and made of natural-colored linen or the dresser models. For evening she uses purple or black plush, buttons peppered with silver, and Schiap's color combinations are as daring as ever. She puts one-room dresses of wool, navy blue, earth scarlet, teal, coral and decorates a calf-length, short, or tulle velvet with a small, pink satin panel that falls loose to the ground.

MAVER I SHOULD HAVE THROWN MY GOLF RACKET!

The Daytona Beach Islanders edged out the Sanford Giants by a score of 3 to 2 here last night in a thrilling ball game.

Although the Islanders out-hit the Giants 8 to 5, they stayed in the game all the way as Jim Singleton kept the hits pretty well scattered. The deciding point of the game came in the seventh inning with two away when Islanders' shortstop Vance Losen got a single and sent to second on a lead throw to first base, and later came all the way home on a passed ball when Giant catcher Ted Foyshoff momentarily lost the ball in lack of home plate.

Southpan Jim Singleton was pulled in the bottom of the eighth inning in favor of a pinch-hitter with Clyde Stevens coming in to finish the game for the Giants on a hit. Stevens proved to be a better form last night than he was witnessed by the Sanford fans. He tossed out a pair of strikes which were very tough for a pitcher to face.

Giants' pitcher Hank Lovell and Rubber Jannard, who are visiting all of the clubs from clubs, were on hand last night to view the contest.

Jack Deal, Giant southpan pitcher, has been released, John Thursday announced this morning. Thursday night will be Ladies' Night when the Giants meet the visiting Florida A & M team at the club ball park, he also said.

The Giants' journey to Daytona Beach tonight to face the Islanders in a doubleheader with the first game slated to get underway at 6:30 P. M. Left-handers Jannard and rookie Carl Ties are destined to face the mound duties tonight.

Memphis Chicks Come To Life In Southern Association Race

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

If you have counted the Memphis Chicks out of the Southern Association pennant race, count them back in again quick.

The Chicks have come to life in the past few weeks of mediocrity and semi-dormancy, and the wreckage they've caused has twice changed the look of the pennant race.

Memphis whipped Birmingham 6-2 last night for the second consecutive time. That one made it 11-6 in the series.

The Chicks since July 25, and all those victories have been over the South's top two teams... they have won 15 games for the first time since July 25.

In seven games with league-leading Atlanta Memphis won four. In eight games with second-place Birmingham Memphis won five.

With a half game separate Memphis led the top two teams with only 48 games to play. However, nine and a half games more than the 12 games Atlanta has left to play.

Atlanta played the Chicks in two consecutive doubleheaders last Saturday and Sunday and lost both games. The Chicks' wins were 4-1 and 3-1.

Then the Chicks moved west to Birmingham and won 4-1. Birmingham and four Chicks were in the lead when they were defeated 4-1.

When Coolidge Inaugurated At Midnight An AP Man Was There

NEW YORK, Aug. 2—(AP)—One of the most important and ceremonious events in American government is the inauguration of a president.

For a newspaperman to get a scoop on such a story seems an obvious impossibility.

But there was one inaugural completely devoid of pomp and ceremony. And only one reporter on hand to tell the story, the swearing-in of Calvin Coolidge.

Joe H. Fountain, who scored a world beat for the Associated Press on that starkly simple rite, now has published a full account of that historic event in booklet form after more than a quarter of a century.

Fountain was editor of the Springfield, Vt., Republican at that time, and a string correspondent for the Associated Press. He now is a public relations representative for Canadian National Railways.

"The night of August 2-3, 1923, was humid and breathless," he writes. He was sitting on the porch of commercial hotel in Springfield when Mr. Coolidge, a congressman who was campaigning for the Senate. With them were Herbert P. Thompson, commander of the local American Legion post, and E. L. Lane, a railway mail clerk.

"Around midnight it was rumored that President Harding had died," Fountain continues. "Some radio enthusiast had picked up the flash on his old time crystal set. None took the report too seriously until I was summoned to the hotel telephone by a call from the Boston bureau of the AP."

"Harding is dead. Get a car and shoot up to Plymouth as fast as you can get there. There's only one telephone in Plymouth and already this has been commandeered by the government."

Fountain and his friends took off in the "largest and fastest" taxi in town. An early 1920 model, the car hit 60 on the winding road that follows the tortuous Black River.

"At such times as the congressman could make himself heard in the speeding car, he poured into my indifferent ear a plan of action. . . . A break for you that will make you, and a break for me, I heard at one time. 'This country is without a president,' was the phrase Dale insisted employed."

Enroute they met the headlights of an approaching car. Both had to slow down to pass on the narrow road. Recognizing reporters in the other car, the Fountain party stopped. "There's no use going on, Joe," one of the newsmen yelled. "We just left there and Mr. Coolidge has gone to bed. . . . He'll take the oath in the morning. . . . go back to Ludlow and join the game."

"Naturally," was undecided," Fountain said. "Dale said, 'this country is without a president' kept ringing in my ears." They went on and found lights in the Coolidge homestead. They were unharmed in by the Coolidge chauffeur.

"In a moment Mr. Coolidge entered from the kitchen and shook hands. Mrs. Coolidge came in. The president-to-be and a senator-to-be withdrew to a corner of the room and engaged in an earnest conversation. The elder Coolidge came into the sitting room. He walked to the table in the center of the room and as he did so Calvin and Dale appeared. "Father, Mr. Dale thinks I should immediately take the oath of office. You are still a notary, aren't you?" "Yes, Cal, I am," his father replied.

"It was then I knew that Mr. Dale had told his bill of goods. Mrs. Coolidge ventured to ask if Calvin shouldn't wait until the other newspapermen returned before taking the oath."

"The vice-president placed his left hand on the open bible. He raised his right hand. "Colonel Coolidge, tall, gaunt and pallid, his right hand raised, the typewritten copy of the oath in a steady left hand, brook the silence. Clearing his throat he spoke:

"I, Calvin Coolidge, do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of the President of the United States. . . . The son repeated the words, looking into the kindly, proud eyes of the 78-year-old man on the opposite side of the table."

"The colonel continued: . . . And will to the best of my ability preserve, protect and defend the constitution of the United States. . . . the constitution of the United States. . . . the son's voice echoed. And as the Vermont farm boy solemnly uttered the words:

" . . . so help me God." Calvin Coolidge was the 30th president of the United States. "The venerable Vermont congressman, taking his large, old-fashioned watch from his vest pocket, announced in a stentorian voice that might have been heard in Ludlow:

"It is exactly 2:47. "And I had for the world the dramatic story of how an average American, a man of the people, became president of the United States."

Korean War

Red pressure mounted on almost all fronts.

On the front near Kumsong, First Cavalrymen offered stubborn resistance to each North Korean attack.

The communists said South Koreans were battling for Yongdok on the east coast anchor of the battle line. But the city, once reported in southern hands, belonged to "neither side."

O. H. King, Associated Press correspondent in the hills near Chinsju, reported both Chinsju and the nearby village of Sochan were fired by U. S. planes in a five-hour raid.

As the battle progressed the Americans seized the heights at Sangmun, 10 miles east of Chinsju, King said. The Reds closed behind them. Quickly the Americans seized positions at Wunbung, five miles southwest of the village of Chinsju, King reported.

King said 15-ton Sherman tanks went into action a few hours after the vital battle in the Chinsju area started.

If the Americans lose there, the Reds could move eastward to a steep ridge where an American tank-supported element was trying to hold the terrain that levels out in a flat coastal plain almost all the remaining way to Pusan. There is no river barrier beyond the steep ridge.

"This force is holding its own," said Maj. General John Church, new commander of the 24th Division.

Church said the U. S. tanks met fire from Red tanks in dug-in positions.

The thrusting and enveloping North Koreans on the Chinsju front broke into flat ground that stretches to the main U. S. road-rail supply lines and to Pusan itself.

On their arrival, the Marines ordered for a quick rush into battle. They ranged from teenagers to grizzled veterans.

The North Korean Communists were punching eastward toward Pusan. The main U. S. transport base is 60 miles due east of Chinsju. American casualties in the southwest were heavy. Associated Press correspondent O. H. P. King reported that the battlefront that crossed the main U. S. road-rail supply lines and to Pusan itself.

of the war. A spokesman at his headquarters said the enemy efforts had been checked but not stopped.

The Reds were expected to hurl all of their remaining tanks into the battle aimed at pushing the Americans off the peninsula before their reinforced defenses can make a decisive stand.

U. S. Sherman tanks with 76 MM. guns supported the Americans near Chinsju.

Planes with bombs, rockets and machineguns hunted out assembling Communist forces, including many tanks in the Chinsju area.

Naval and aerial forces hit the two southern ports of Mokpo and Yosu, supply bases for the Communists behind the big push in the southeast.

British and South Korean naval units destroyed warehouses and supplies at Mokpo.

Without attempting to put values on human lives lost, the Council estimated the "bill" for preventable waste during 1949 in actual out of pocket loss was approximately $31,500,000.

Hill also reported that the state has gradually improved its rating for overall effort toward greater traffic safety from 40.5 percent of standard in 1946 to 57.73 percent in 1949.

At that time, Acheson said Spain could take three "constructive steps":

1. Agree to a treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation with the United States. He said Spain had shown "no interest" in such a pact.

2. Simplify its export and import controls.

3. Get rid of the numerous money rates and establish a value for Spanish money which would help Spain compete in the world market.

IN RESPONSE TO A U.N. call to arms against the Korean Communists, Secretary General Trygve Lie in New York has been swamped with assurances of aid in one form or another. Since ground troops, ships and planes are of immediate importance, the early score is something like this: Thailand, among the first to respond, offered 4,000 officers and men. Britain has promised a complete combat outfit, including everything from tanks to clerks, plus a Far Eastern Fleet to pound at shorelines. Australia is readying 2,500 fighters and so is New Zealand. They have planes now in action and destroyers are due. Turkey has some 4,000 crack troops ready, equipped with modern weapons. Little Cuba was early with an offer of supplies and some 20 other nations were offering everything from field hospitals to air squadrons. (Central Press)

Arms For Formosa

Acheson recalled to his news conference that the State Department had opposed McCarran's plan in the past.

Though he did not phrase it that way, Acheson's attitude appeared to be this in short: He feels any loan to Spain ought to be handled in the regular way; that Congress ought not to tie the hands of government agencies in negotiations with Spain by directly ordering a loan.

Acheson did say he is not opposed to the principle of a loan to Spain if it is economically justifiable and a good credit risk.

He recalled, however, that in his last comprehensive summary of American policy toward Spain last Jan. 12. He noted there were a number of economic barriers to such a loan.

These obstacles, he said, are in the power of the Spanish government to correct.

At that time, Acheson said Spain could take three "constructive steps":

1. Agree to a treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation with the United States. He said Spain had shown "no interest" in such a pact.

2. Simplify its export and import controls.

Marines Land

He was told the situation was bad and that the Marines probably would be rushed into combat. "Well, we came over to fight," the leatherneck said. "I think the boys are ready."

Pfc. Richard Sutton, of San Diego, was interested in guerrilla tactics.

"We have good infantry and I think we can handle the guerrillas," he said. "Anyway, we'll make a stab at it."

The Marines in green combat fatigues crowded the ships decks for first glimpses of the land where they will fight.

They were a bit wiser and subdued. But still, the wisecracks flew.

"If you know we was coming, around one Marine, "Where is the cable?"

Another quipped: "Look at those mountains. Ain't that a lovely place to fight?"

Sgt. Hubert Moore of Charleston, W. Va., stood to one side. A reporter asked him what he thought.

"I guess we feel about this one like we would feel about any fight," he said, almost shy. "We'll do all we can."

The Marines' combat confidence in their weapons. "We have got the best," said Sgt. Frederick Tarkenton, Tex.

The Marine infantry is well equipped for the job. They are well trained and well equipped.

Soviet And West

After disposal of the Chinese issue, Mr. Acheson said he would withdraw or revise his own draft, but was willing to make the U.S. version an additional item.

That was where the matter stood when the Council adjourned last night, after defeating P. M. Mallik's attempt to unseat the Chinese Nationalist delegation by a presidential ruling.

At the start of today's session, Mallik said he believed it would be "more profitable" to consider first the question of Chinese representation.

That is what the Chinese and U.S. representatives are discussing today.

terrest to expanded Soviet aggression. "I intend, therefore, to do, and cause to be done, everything I can to see that our present lead is maintained and increased."

Asked whether his proposed expansion included the hydrogen bomb, McMahon replied: "I am talking about the whole atomic program and the rate of it."

Dupont already has wide experience in the atomic field. It built and operated for a time the vast atomic energy plant at Hanford, Wash.

Exact terms of the company's new contract with the government have not yet been drawn up. But AEC said the firm "has already started preliminary work and has agreed to continue the project provided mutually satisfactory contract conditions can be worked out."

Dupont officials said they want the government to pay all costs, receive all patents growing from the work, and then pay the company a fee of one dollar.

Dupont got out of the Hanford operation in 1946, at its own request. Company officials said the firm felt that "with the country at peace, it was following the project for a company whose industrial field of endeavor is chemistry rather than physics."

"This is still the company's position," they said, "but in the interest of national security, Dupont again is prepared to place its experience and technical resources at the disposal of the government in undertaking this new project for the atomic energy commission."

Neither the AEC nor company announcement mentioned it, but Dupont is having legal difficulties with the government because of its far-flung operations.

In June, 1949, the Justice Department filed a major anti-trust suit against the Dupont Company, members of the Dupont family, General Motors Corp., United States Rubber Co. and other Dupont firms, demanding that interlocking interests be ended.

The lead attorney general, Tom Clark, described the Dupont concentration of industrial power in the United States, and announced that the suit, filed in Chicago, was designed to break it up.

The new atomic plants would be financed, at least in part, by the special $350,000,000 appropriation Mr. Truman asked July 7.

AEC listed these as factors of major importance in picking a site for the apparent H-bomb project:

1. Operating requirements of the facilities, "which cannot be disclosed for security reasons."

2. Such military considerations as vulnerability to attack.

3. Public health and safety problems.

4. Availability of government-owned land.

5. Closeness to population centers so as to avoid building new government cities like those erected for the A-bomb program.

Vulnerability factors probably would dictate putting the new plants at some distance from either seaboard.

In addition, large amounts of power, and perhaps considerable quantities of water, might be required for the operations. So a site on some river, near a power dam, might be desirable.

Nelson, the government's manager for the new project, is 45, an engineer, and was with the A-bomb project for several years.

The deputy manager will be Robert C. Blair, 48, a production specialist and administrative engineer.

Hoarders To Jail

(Continued From Page One) ply to all privately financed construction and would be administered by the Federal Reserve System. Meanwhile President Truman was reported considering asking Congress for blanket powers to restore rent controls wherever economic conditions warrant such action.

Housing Expediter Tigue Woods is understood to have submitted rent control recommendations to the White House last week at Mr. Truman's request.

An official familiar with Woods' recommendations told a reporter the housing expediter also wants Mr. Truman to ask Congress for power to bring new defense areas under rent ceilings for the first time, if conditions make it necessary.

The President also sent a new letter to Congress today urging speed in raising tax $5,000,000,000 to help pay for rebuilding America's defense against Communism.

The letter, addressed to Chairman George (D-Ga.), was read to the Senate Finance Committee as it began consideration of the tax increases.

Mr. Truman's new communication arrived as demands were made made in Congress for an excess profits tax, aimed at "profiteering."

Senator Brewster (R-Me.) told reporters the President, in a new letter, did not call for an excess profits levy now. "But he did not close the door on it," Brewster added.

George predicted quick passage of the $5,000,000,000 tax boosting bill "substantially as submitted" by the President.

The House Ways and Means Committee, meanwhile, turned down an excess profits tax proposal as part of new legislation for renegotiation of defense contracts.
