

HINDENBURG IS TOP CANDIDATE IN SUNDAY POLL

Old War Lord Shows Surprising Strength Over Fascisti And Communist Rivals

BERLIN, Mar. 14 (A.P.)—President von Hindenburg, who appealed to the voters to keep him at the head of the nation in order that civil war might be averted, lost by only 168,463 votes in yesterday's election, but he was so far ahead of every other candidate that it is taken for granted he will succeed when the nation votes again Apr. 10.

A total of 14,661,736 citizens cast their ballot for the present head of the state, instead of the 12,820,180 required to give him a majority. Thus he was successful by less than one half of one percent of the votes cast.

The most surprising feature of the election was the relative weakness of Adolf Hitler, leader of the national socialist fascists, who pulled only 11,325,521 votes. Hitler had counted on many more than 12,000,000 ballots, and his lieutenants were confident that his strength would run from 15,000,000 to 18,000,000.

Baby Bonds, Part Of Drive To End Hoarding Evil, Will Arrive Tuesday

An opportunity for Sanford persons to take an active part in President Hoover's Anti Hoarding campaign, becomes an actuality tomorrow with the arrival at the Sanford Atlantic National Bank of a generous supply of the government's "Baby Bonds." These bonds, direct obligations of the United States Treasury, bearing two percent interest, and maturing in one year, are in denominations of $50, $100 and $200.

The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce has already pledged its cooperation to the Government in this national movement to get off private money to work, and numerous private citizens have expressed a willing ness to become members of any committee which have for its purpose the spreading of propaganda picturing the folly of hoarding money.

The Sanford Atlantic National Bank is lending a hand in the movement, and is selling these certificates without extra cost to the purchasers as a public service and of public convenience, without profit to the bank.

MART CLOSED AS RESULT OF DEATH OF IVAR KREUGER

Swedish Match King Was Head Of Great Industrial System

STOCKHOLM, Mar. 14 (A.P.)—The Stockholm stock exchange was closed last night until further notice as a result of the death of Ivar Kreuger, the noted Swedish match king, in Paris Saturday.

It was the announcement of a committee of exchange members would meet on Friday to further consider the financial situation and the effect on it of the death of the demagogic figure in European finance.

Both members of the Riksdag adopted a bill authorizing the government to grant compensation to a person a bank negotiator on payment of debt.

The cabinet met immediately after the measure was adopted and considered a request from the Kreuger & Toll company for a moratorium on their obligations until May 1.

The government decided to extend a moratorium to Kreuger & Toll as well as to three smaller companies connected with Kreuger's affairs, and to four of his associates.

Meanwhile leaders of Swedish finance and industry braced themselves to face any developments that may arise from the outside of this world financial center.

At the same time it was generally expected that if the country will not keep its head, the consequences will be serious.

CELERY DEAL IS IMPROVED BY COLD WAVE

Growers Say Freezing Weather While Dam- aging Tender Crops Will Be Of Benefit

While some celery growers and small garden owners suffered a considerable loss when one of winter's coldest days visited this section early this morning, the consensus of opinion among heads of local shipping organizations and several farmers is that the general agricultural situation has been greatly improved.

The almost 60 percent loss of ten crops with a heavy rain, plus the destruction of plants and other pests which ravage celery during warm spells, should result in a quiescence of the celery market and tend the 1932 crop a few centimes ahead to bring better than expected prices, they agree.

One of the largest local shipping organizations heads reported he sold celery to wholesalers in the past week one of the best he had ever had. The market had provided local growers the best an "off" year permit any money producer. In fact, in most cases actually from a low price for our state. The damage to these crops is being done, while costing the farmer a seed of many months, it is not as bad as it is imagined because of the early cold weather which preceded this morning's heavy winds whipped north by the storm clouds. The celery plants from the north have been of a good quality, and size of them, therefore, it is expected that we shall get an excellent crop of celery, and a good deal of damage to the celery crop.

GOULD SEES A'S IN BETTER SHAPE THAN YEAR AGO

Sportswriter Thinks Team Shows No Sign of Usual Breakup

By ALAN GOULD
Special Press Sports Writer.
FORT MYERS, Mar. 12.—(A.P.)—Reserve strength clinched the Yankees' third straight pennant in 1931. The "shock troops" were ready, if needed, to help the hours of Mack make it four in a row, for a new American League record.

After scrutinizing the A's in person for the better part of a week, it is this correspondent's conviction that the club is in better condition than a year ago and even better equipped with secondary power. It manifests no signs whatever of the disintegration an eagerly hoped for by the rest of the league and anticipated by a full battalion of experts, following the club's downfall in the last world series.

In short, the "eyes" still have it. The infield, which cagled a year ago, has been definitely polished at short by Dix Williams, who, for utility purposes, Connie Mack has one of the spring's best hitters in Oscar Roettger, and hitting understudy to Jimmie Fox at first. With Roettger playing great ball, Mack can lead either Fox or Dykes at third. Max Bishop remains a fixture at second.

The "big plunch" is still there, provided by Mickey Cochrane, Al Simmons and Fox and so far there is no reason for suspecting the "big three" of the pitching staff. Grove, Earnshaw and Walter Johnson will fall to continue their remarkable mastery.

All these old trios come through for me the way they did last year, we will have a wonderful chance to win again, and Mack the conservative Mr. Mack.

The pitching trio accounted for 177 victories in 1931, the peak of their performance. They won 82 games in 1932 and 68 in 1930. Over a three-year stretch Grove, Earnshaw and Roettger have contributed 197 victories to the big winning march of the Athletics. This is one of the most astonishing pitching records of all time. It can hardly be any better.

Even if this combination cracks somewhere along the line, Mack is not entirely destitute of reinforcements. He has Roy Spinks, Melvin, who won 17 games last year. He has a great right handed prospect in Lew Krauser, 19 years old, and another star prospect in Joe Bowman, infielder from Portland. No one, rookie or veteran, has looked better this spring than 34 year old Ed Rommel. Mack considers himself well enough fortified to let Walter Hoyt depart.

Bowman, Roettger and Ed Cochrane, slugging outfielder, from Portland, are the outstanding additions. Krauser had a sufficient trial late last season to convince Mack he is a coming star. Ed and Madje-k from Harbinburg will stick as third string back stop but when this department is discussed there is only one answer—Gordon Stanley (Mickey) Cochrane.

Mrs. LeRoy Winner Of One-Club Golf Tourney On Friday

High winds and cold weather kept down the entry list of women participating in the first one club tournament ever staged here, and played over the Sanford Country Club course yesterday morning.

Twelve women golfers made their appearance however, and enjoyed the novelty of going around the first nine using but one club. The ten-iron was the most popular club used, although one golfer used a spoon, and another a unusually with good results.

Mrs. Leon LeRoy, won the tourney with a card of 88, using a two-iron. Mrs. Daisy M. Lewis, also using a two-iron, had a 84, while Mrs. A. C. Fort, with a three-iron, and Mrs. M. H. Beach, with a two-iron, had 85's.

Mrs. E. V. Housholder used a spoon and carded a 79 over nine holes; Mrs. E. S. McCall chose a trible and stroked the course in 82; Mrs. Ralph Wight played a two-iron and carded an 81, while Mrs. E. C. Hill, Mrs. Floyd Palm, Mrs. M. S. Wiggins, Mrs. George D. Bishop, and Mrs. Hewell Fish did not turn in cards.

The rollers met for luncheon at the termination of the tourney and decided to hold a similar event next Friday morning. Next week they will elect permanent officers, and will try to have at least 80 players on the course for this year's tourney.

Sport Briefs

GLASGOW, Mar. 12.—(A.P.)—Max Carey, manager of the Brooklyn baseball club, said yesterday he had no word from Babe Herman, the lone holdout of the Dodgers.

Herman's time was out yesterday, but Carey said he was not worried by Herman's failure to report.

Should Herman decide to hold out for $18,000, his salary last season, rather than accept the $15,000 offered him this year, Carey said, "We can do nothing about it."

"The team will not suffer as much as you might suppose," said Carey, "even if Herman should decide not to play ball this year, for we still have the Hoods to take his place."

"Hoods has always hit well over .200 in both major and minor leagues every year of his career. He is not as fast as Herman but he is a good player."

"I also have Al Cohen and Murray Howell, both stars in the making, as well as the veteran Johnny Frederick, ready for action."

"The next move is certainly up to Herman."

BLOOMINGTON, Mar. 12.—(A.P.)—Carl Fischer, the Washington National's speed ball pitcher, has a brand new change of pace and, like it, from Walter Johnson, the "Big Boy" of the league.

The pitcher and yesterday's southpaw with 12 wins last year, would get a shot at 29 games this year.

Johnson enthused as he watched Fischer mix them up for the boys, with a slow ball floating over now and then plenty pretty and baffling.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Mar. 12.—(A.P.)—The Buffalo Bulls of the International League, started their third winter training camp yesterday with arrival of some players in charge of the ball, new manager of the team and former White Sox star back stop.

The rest of the squad of 25 is due the next few days.

The Bulls open their spring games Mar. 19 when they play the St. Louis Browns. They meet the Browns again Mar. 21 here, and are billed to play the House of David team here Mar. 25. The team will stay here until Apr. 7.

TAMPA, Mar. 12.—(A.P.)—Winter flairs and trade winds continued to hover over the Cincinnati Reds camp yesterday.

Manager Dan Hagan, who has named his players "100 per cent improved over 1931," sent them through a two hour workout despite the cold.

Trade talk involved two of the Reds' hardest hitters, Joe Stupp and Tony Cuccinello, holdout in the field, and one of Brooklyn's slugging outfielders and a catcher.

ST. PETERSBURG, Mar. 12.—(A.P.)—President Phil Puffy of the Boston Braves announced yesterday he was having trouble with holdouts. While waiting his team pulled off the rough spots in preparation for the opening of their exhibition series today. Puffy said Wally Berger, Huie Cunningham and Wes Willie Shoelud were still outside the fold.

The difference between having Cunningham's name on and off the payroll amounts to only $300 so Puffy was a bit optimistic as to the prospects of signing the pitcher. He was not sure about Berger, his batting outfielder, or Shoelud the veteran hurler. Puffy says he has made his best offers and it's up to the boys. He gave Berger a $4,500 raise but even this didn't satisfy Wally.

The Braves clash with the Yankees today.

WEST PALM BEACH, Mar. 12.—(A.P.)—The work of training the St. Louis Browns' pitchers to hold the opposing base runners close to the bag was started yesterday as Fred Kinsley has previously had trouble in keeping his own throwing intentions secret from potential base stealers.

Monday he developed a technique of leading the runner and giving an indication of where he intends throwing the ball. All pitchers were drilled in this.

BRAUNTON, Mar. 12.—(A.P.)—Despite a chilly wind and overcast sky, Manager Gabby Street ordered his world-champion card

NO EXCEPTIONS WILL BE MADE IN NEW GRID RULING

Ball Will Be Dead If Any Part Of Player's Body Hits Sod

NEW YORK, Mar. 12.—(A.P.)—When the football rules committee last month changed the rules to make the ball "dead" when any part of the carrier's body except his hands or feet touched the ground they intended that no exceptions be made. E. K. Hall, chairman of the committee, has made that point clear in a letter to the Associated Press.

Inquiries from both officials and coaches had indicated some confusion as to whether the committee intended the rule to apply to a carrier falling in an open field with no one near.

"What if a ball carrier should slip and fall with a sure touchdown in sight and that play should count?" one football fan asked.

Hall said the committee intended no exceptions to the rule, no compromise with a play which, statistics gathered by the committee show, was responsible for many injuries last season when the toll of dead and injured was the highest in the history of the game.

"We discussed this point at length in the meetings of the committee," Hall wrote, "and realize that at first it will look foolish and will not be popular to see a man's forward progress stopped by the automatic working of the rule in cases where he might in perfect safety get to his feet and rush on to a touchdown."

"The difficulty lies in the fact that the minute you try to make exceptions you run into trouble. Furthermore, the minute you make an exception to the rule you are on the ball park for a work-out yet trying to get the weather prevents an exhibition game with the Phils."

The game will be played Mar. 18, and the game is scheduled to be played next Tuesday.

KOMODO DRAGON SHOWING HERE

Despite chilly, rainy weather, throngs of women and children and many men had visited the Municipal Zoo today to see the unusual exhibition which will be displayed there for the next two weeks, a display which has as its principal feature a live Komodo dragon, five feet long.

According to Captain H. H. Archer, owner of the dragon and the 13 foot Python included in the exhibit, this dragon is one of two now alive in America. In a lecture he delivers every hour of the day, Captain Archer quoted as follows from the National Geographic magazine.

"Komodo is one of the Lesser Sunda Islands in Malaysia, off the coast known as Indonesia. All the islands are volcanic, built up from the bottom of the sea by a successive series of flows. Komodo and Wator Park, with Coono, have already organized teams and are working out numerous practice games have been played and are scheduled for the next few weeks. He is anxious that Sanford be represented again, clearing it an ideal baseball city, with one of the best parks in the league."

In the St. John, Florida possession, the only large river which flows within the United States that flows north.

Joe Knight Will Meet Rosenbloom In Daytona Monday

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Mar. 12.—Joe Knight fought his way into the most important fight of his career, and today he stands here ready for it. Monday night he will meet Maxie Rosenbloom, light heavyweight champion of the world, here in the ball park, in a 10 round bout in a decision postponed from last Thursday night on account of the weather, and he expects to continue his string of knock-outs.

In recent months the Cracker boy from Cairo, Ga., has flattened some of the best men in the business and he is more confident now that he can catch up with the champion and tag him than he has ever been before a previous fight. His mysterious left hand, which flattened Yale Okun, of New York, Don Petrin, of Newark, and Dave Evans, of Philadelphia in recent starts, and Bob Godwin last winter is banded upon his arm to take Rosenbloom out of the ring.

Knight is in the best condition of his career. He trained himself into a great fighting peak for the battle Thursday night, came up from Miami for the last couple of days of training and is here working out daily to hold the edge. He will scale about 176 pounds, no more than a couple of pounds less than the weight Rosenbloom will carry into the bout, and he will be at a disadvantage against the champion only in experience. He has proved with his wallop that experience, after all, is not vital if the punch is there. In approximately 100 battles he has knocked out two-thirds of his opponents and believes he will find Rosenbloom's chin or middle before the end of the slug-ging bout.

The show will probably be the biggest of the entire winter season in Florida. At least three boys who have been boxing many bouts will appear in the preliminaries and preparations are being made to take care of a crowd of 5,000.

Florida has over 600 varieties of fish as well as lobster, oysters, shrimp, clam, turtles and other sea food.

The lizards which attain a length of 10 feet and a weight of 250 pounds, are known to eat humans as various Komodoensis. They are voracious, carnivorous reptiles, which attack their food much as the great flesh-eating dinosaurs must have done, tipping off great clumps of meat with their sharp, recurved saw edged teeth, and swallowing their whole, bones and all. In life a Komodo's forked tongue is its most constant action. Each scale on its body is underlain by a plate of bone affording a magnificent armor, which is, however, inefficient protection against bullets.

Baseball League Meeting Will Be Staged In Daytona

The first meeting of the Central Florida Baseball league for the 1932 season has been called by President J. T. Hogan for Friday, Mar. 18, at Daytona Beach, in that city's baseball park on City Isle. The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock, and every team is expected to have at least one representative present. The election of officers, and adoption of a schedule will provide the major topics of discussion.

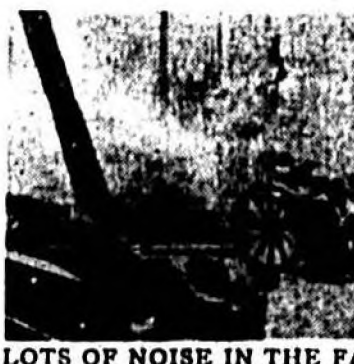

Whether Sanford will be represented is at present problematical, for little or no baseball talk has been heard recently. Last year's entry in the league, which passed through a nice series of seasons, has disbanded, with no indication that the same players will form a new team this year.

President Hogan reports that Daytona, Deland, New Smyrna

Wise Germans

The tremendous victory of the eighty-four year old Von Hindenburg in yesterday's elections is a remarkable testimonial of native German honesty and loyalty as well as the reverence which the people still hold for their aged war-time leader. Viewed by all as a terrific crisis in the life of Germany, the elections proved an overwhelming victory for conservatism, a blow to extremists of all classes whether of the right or of the left.

It had been only with the greatest reluctance that Von Hindenburg, who had retired from the Imperial Army even before the World War began, yielded to the demands that he again become a candidate to head the Republic. With all the honor and glory this life affords already him, with the appeal of the fireside more inviting than anything else, only the great needs of his country could have induced him to abandon the retirement which his age deserves.

Hindenburg, of all Germans, was the one man who could have defeated Adolph Hitler, the Nazi, who has many radical planks in his platform. Not the least of these is the overthrow of the existing constitution and the creation of the "third Reich". But what concerns many Germans most, as well as the rest of the world, is the Hitler proposal to repudiate the Young plan and all reparations payments. It was the danger of this in the event of Hitler's election that kept Von Hindenburg in harness, that made the world tremble.

Consensus of well informed opinion is that if Germany, under Hitler or any other leader, should repudiate reparations, the French government, which always keeps its huge army in readiness for trouble, would promptly seize the Ruhr district. Such action might easily lead to another international conflict, or at the very least to a civil war, because of even more depressing economic circumstances which would inevitably arise in Germany through the loss of these valuable coal and iron deposits.

It is interesting to note that the war horse of 1914-18 who led the German armies repeatedly to victory and finally to defeat, is now the moderator who counsels conservatism, conciliation, and arbitration. It is the fiery young Hitler who would risk another war. Evidently, the German people would rather struggle along with Von Hindenburg than to take a chance with Hitler, and in this, it seems to us, they are showing remarkably good sense.

Why Did He Do It?

The death of Ivar Kreuger, head of the Dirciont Match Company, industrialist, international financier, and one of the world's richest men, adds another important name to the large list of suicides because of real or fancied financial difficulties. By his own hand, the Swedish magnate took his life in his Paris apartment Sunday to cause a flurry of excitement in financial centers over the effect his act will have upon business, so extensive were his operations in commercial fields.

It has been generally recognized among bankers that the Kreuger interests were in need of financing to meet maturing obligations, that Kreuger's visit to the United States recently was to secure the needed financing, and that it was unsuccessful. However, his failure to obtain the needed loans had in no way been connected with any serious difficulties within the Kreuger organization, and even with his death it is not expected that the Kreuger business enterprises will be liquidated.

This is what makes the reason for his suicide so difficult to explain. Apparently in good health, with no family difficulties, an outstanding success in world business, why did Ivar Kreuger take his own life? Was it because he foresaw troubles further ahead which are not generally apparent now? Was it because he had become mentally depressed by overwork and anxiety? Or was it because he was disappointed over not getting a loan in the United States, perhaps his first financial rebuff?

It is hard to understand why a man having millions should commit suicide because he loses a small part of his fortune, or hands to some part of it. We can comprehend that the spectre of poverty might cause people to do almost anything, but it sounds ludicrous to say that Mr. Kreuger killed himself because of financial difficulties.

Perhaps it was not so much the money that Kreuger was thinking about. He probably never interpreted his own life in terms of money. It was power, prestige, and exultation that were his goals. This being the case it can be understood that he might have brooded over being turned down when he went to American bankers, that he might have gotten it into his head that he was a failure, that he couldn't face the public with the whisper abroad that the great Ivar Kreuger was refused a loan.

Col. W. M. Towner has formally withdrawn from the race for Congress from the Second Florida Congressional District.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Fisher, of Sanford, are the winners of the $1000 prize in the drawing for the Florida State Lottery, which was held in New York City. The drawing was held on Sunday, March 12, and the results were announced on Monday, March 13. The Fishers are well known in Sanford and are the owners of the Florida State Lottery.

Mart Closed As COLD WAVE Result Of Death IS IMPROVED Of Ivar Kreuger BY COLD WAVE

(Continued from Page One) Ivar Kreuger, who had retired from the Imperial Army even before the World War began, yielded to the demands that he again become a candidate to head the Republic. With all the honor and glory this life affords already him, with the appeal of the fireside more inviting than anything else, only the great needs of his country could have induced him to abandon the retirement which his age deserves.

(Continued from Page One) It was reported to have expressed the view that there would not be any immediate difficulties within the Kreuger organization, and that it would be possible to meet their liability at the end of April.

John Stor, head of the nation's largest wood-pulp concern, was quoted as saying: "We ought to be strong enough to stand up to the storm. There is no reason for despondency as long as we keep cool and rely on the government's resources."

Finance Minister General Dethlefsen, of Norway, stated that the death would not have any effect upon the value of the Swedish monetary unit or otherwise in Europe.

The well known economist, Heckscher, writing in the New York Herald Tribune, said there was no reason whatever for "writing the obituary of the Kreuger concerns."

In the midst of all this speculation and talk, nothing but sympathy was expressed for the dead financier, who had mortgaged an international financial empire out of his father's relatively small sugar concern.

Kreuger's honesty, his capacity for work, and his fighting spirit were emphasized by press and public alike to the exclusion of any expressions of bitterness or blame.

Local fishermen have been giving the best results down at Lake Talquin this week, and consequently very few fish have been entered in the fishing contest. In fact, until Wednesday, there were no fish entered. Mrs. E. T. Hadden, fishing with a hook and line, landed a bass that weighed 5 pounds, 2 ounces and this led to a weekly winner contest until Hotel Freeman brought one in a short while later, that weighed 11 pounds, 12 ounces. Both fish were caught at the power dam lake—Quincy, Fla.

Police officers in Jacksonville, Fla., are reported to have arrested a man who had been indicted for the murder of Ivar Kreuger. The man, who is being held in the Jacksonville jail, is being held in connection with the Kreuger case. The man's name is not being disclosed.

Florida generally experienced the coldest days of the entire winter with sub-freezing temperatures reported as far south as the Everglades, and a light to heavy frost general throughout the state.

Miami had a minimum of 30, the coldest March weather in its history, and the whole interior of South Florida encountered the lowest temperatures of the winter. Although the northern section saw the mercury drop below the freezing point and it was not quite as cold as it was the early part of last week when new minimum readings for the season were recorded, J. J. Mitchell, meteorologist said that frost damage would probably be twenty over the entire state.

Lakeland reported estimates of crop damage as high as 75 percent from frost, and ice, while Palatka estimated a 50 percent damage to the Hastings potato crop.

Orlando and Ocala, with minimums of 27, had the lowest of readings in the state.

Gainesville had a 23, Hastings and Okeechobee, 30, Moorehaven and Bartow, 31, Sanford, Titusville, and Jacksonville, 32.

A final weather report at 2:00 o'clock this afternoon said that the cold wave is expected to continue throughout the night to night, but will end either Tuesday afternoon or Wednesday morning.

Florida possesses 3,751 miles of coast line, or about one seventh of the coast line mileage of the nineteen states bordering on salt water.

35 Are In Cast Of Annan's Minstrels

Van Annan's Minstrels will be the attraction at the Alhambra Theatre this evening. The splendid organization, with a repertoire of features of advanced variety, and at the same time, pleasing to the charm traditions, numbers 35 people, all white, capable, lusty cork artists who excel in singing, dancing and funmaking. What more delightful enjoyment is found than to hear one of those old-time ballads rendered by a sweet-throated singer. And what is equally as diverting and entertaining than to watch the antics of a real minstrel comedian who seems capable of extracting fun from the very air. You are sure to find this and many other charms as outstanding features of Van Annan's Minstrels. Billy Henderson, the famous black-face comedian, is one of the leading funmakers. Watch for the big parade at high noon.

LANDIS VIEW ALTERS STATUS OF BIG OFFICES

General Landis appears to have removed all doubt as to the status of the office of state attorney in the coming Democratic primary. It will be very pleased to submit an appointment to the people believing as I do that their endorsement will be invaluable to me in the performance of my duties."

Attorney General Landis' letter to Secretary Gray is as follows: "March 8, 1932.

"Hon. R. A. Gray,
"Secretary of State,
"Capitol.

"Dear Mr. Gray:

"I am in receipt of your letter of the 5th instant, making inquiry as to your duty in the matter of accepting qualification of candidates and certifying their names for circuit judgeship or a state attorneyship, where the incumbents are holding under an ad interim appointment, but the term of the office does not expire until following the primaries of 1934, and in fact expires in 1935.

"You call attention to Section

389. Compiled General Laws which provides for the State Executive Committee of any political party by resolution to declare for the nomination of candidates for other than elective offices, to serve the Secretary of State with a certified copy thereof, and requires the names and positions to appear upon the official primary election ballot.

"You also quote two certain paragraphs from a certified copy of a resolution by the State Democratic Executive Committee, which declares for the nomination in the primary of certain appointive offices, which two paragraphs quoted are as follows:

"Judges of the Circuit Courts of the State of Florida, whose terms of office expire prior to the first Democratic Primary in the year 1934."

"State's attorneys of the State of Florida whose terms of office expire prior to the first Democratic Primary in the year 1934."

"I the Advisory Opinions of the Supreme Court to the Governor in 113 So 115 and 136 So 623, we find this language:

"When a vacancy occurs in the office of a circuit judge during a recess of the Senate the Governor fills the vacancy by appointment to hold no longer than the end of the next ensuing session of the Senate, and when the Senate convenes in session it is the duty of the Governor to submit the appointees to fill such vacancies to the Senate for confirmation for the unexpired term."

"In the Advisory Opinion of the Supreme Court to the Governor in 134 So 595, we find this language:

"When the Legislature is not in session and a judge of a criminal court is appointed and commissioned without a confirmation by the Senate, the legal term of such appointee is 'until the end of the next ensuing session of the Senate unless an appointment be sooner made and confirmed and consented to by the Senate.' Section 464 (399). Compiled General Laws 1927. If a vacancy in such office occurs during a term, and a successor is appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate, he holds to the end of the term; and, where a vacancy occurs when the end of the term is prior to the next ensuing session of the Senate, the Governor shall have the power to fill such vacancy by granting a commission for the unexpired term. Section 7, Article 4, Constitution."

"In the same Advisory Opinion, we find his language:

"Upon the election or appointment of an officer, a commission is issued to him which is evidence of his right to hold the office; but, if the term of the office, as stated in the commission is not in accord with the term as fixed by the applicable law, the term of the officer is governed by the law, not the commission."

"From the above citations it is clear that a recess appointment may extend only to the end of the next session of the Legislature, but an appointment during the session of the Legislature confirmed by the Senate, may extend to the end of the statutory term of office."

"In construing the above quoted paragraphs from the resolution of the State Democratic Executive Committee, it becomes necessary to construe the words 'whose terms of office' in my opinion the words so used in the paragraphs quoted, have reference to the terms for which the officers may legally be appointed under the above quoted provisions of the Supreme Court, and not necessarily to the full term of office as prescribed in the statutes."

"If the appointment is during the session of the Legislature and is for the remainder of the statutory term of office, and is confirmed by the Senate, and such statutory term of office extends beyond the Democratic Primary in the year 1934, it is my opinion that you would not have authority under the above quoted paragraphs of the Committee resolution to accept qualification of candidates and certify their names for circuit judgeship or state attorneyship. If, however, the appointment is a recess appointment, it could legally extend only to the end of the next session of the Legislature, and the term of office of such appointee is for such period and not for the full statutory term of such office. Therefore, it is my opinion that in such last mentioned case it becomes your duty to accept qualification of candidates and to certify their names for circuit judgeship or state attorneyship, without regard to when the statutory term of such offices may expire.

"Yours very truly,
"CARY D. LANDIS,
"Attorney General."

Indian Who Killed White College Girl Faces Trial Today

GLOBE, Ariz., Mar. 14. — (A.P.) — The life of Max (Goiny) Seymour, 21-year-old Apache, will be demanded in court today by the United States government, for the slaying of Henrietta Schmerler, college co-ed.

Counsel for Seymour, a range rider, said the mercy of the federal jury will be asked at the Indian's trial on the grounds he was more familiar with 3,000-acre reservation than with white man's customs and ethics.

The plea at the trial, set for today, will hinge on the assertion that the redman misunderstood the flirtations of a sophisticated college girl which involved him in a situation from which his primitive mind could find but one escape, his counsel explained.

Miss Schmerler, whose attainments as a student won her a fellowship in anthropology at Columbia university a year ago, after she had received a degree of bachelor of science from New York university, was killed on the White River Apache reservation at July 18.

MR. CANDIDATE

Let Us Help You Conduct Your Campaign More Economically

We are familiar with the fact that each of you, regardless of the office which you are seeking, must be confronted with difficulties. Like others you may find it necessary to make every dollar spent go as far as possible. To this end we are prepared to help you by offering printed forms at unusually low prices.

A campaign, to be conducted most efficiently, must have a great amount of personal contact with the voters. This is a fact that is probably well established in the minds of the candidates. In past years many candidates have found it best to leave the prospective voter with a card bearing his name and the office he seeks. This places his name more firmly upon the mind of the person to whom he conversed.

Still another form of advertisement (and it might just as well be termed as advertising) is the placard posted in various parts of the county. A large card bearing the candidate's name in bold letters may, no doubt, make a successful contact with persons unknown to the candidate, personally. Then there is the blotter. It may be placed in offices, in homes, in public places and almost everywhere that people have occasion to write. Biotters are used and consequently may be read.
