Wilcox Introduces Bill In Behalf Of Distressed Cities

Measure Would Allow Insolvent Towns To Negotiate With Majority Of Creditors

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25.—(A.P.) Legislation in the interest of bankrupt municipalities was urged upon the President today by Representative Mark Wilcox, Democrat of Florida. He submitted a bill to allow insolvent cities to negotiate settlements with the agreement of a majority of creditors.

Continued session of Congress until June 1 so it can complete President Roosevelt's program, was favored today by Speaker Binney. He said "everything we have done so far won't amount to anything unless we get the whole program. We will win this war if the people back home will stay with us."

In the meantime the administration through Secretary Wallace has requested Congress to take action to get anything done about farm relief, the executive officials must be trusted with a broad flexible power.

The Senate labor committee failed to reach an agreement on the President's reforestation bill and called a conference with William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, who is opposing it. Nearly $100,000,000 of unexpended money appropriated for the public building relief program a year ago lies in the Treasury available for use by the President in carrying out his reforestation program.

Continued labor opposition to the President's reforestation bill was expressed at the joint committee hearing by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. He said it provided for "the regimentation of labor in peace times" and would demoralize the nation's wage levels.

"They regiment labor in Fascist Italy," Hitler Germany, and Soviet Russia," he said, "having been a year ago for emphasis, but it seems to me the spirit of America."

Plans For Operating Schools Discussed

TAMPA, Mar. 25.—(A.P.) The ways and means of obtaining sufficient funds to operate the schools for a full term next season were discussed today at the annual meeting of the Florida Educational Association and the National Association and the State School Board Association. It was generally agreed that at least $7,500,000 will be necessary.

The school board association committee called for at least an eight month school term; that the state should operate the schools through the full term and with utmost economy commensurate with the proper education of the child. E. J. Longstreet, Daytona Beach, was elected president of the Education Association. G. J. Semmes, Pensacola, was elected president of the School Board Association.

Suspended Polk Co. Tax Collector Is Short

BARTOW, Mar. 25.—Final report of an audit of the office of J. P. McDermott, suspended Polk county tax collector, indicates a shortage of $63,538 in his account since 1932. Grady Burton, special investigator for Governor Shreve, said yesterday. Burton had served bonds of $25,000 each, covering the three terms of office since he was elected in 1930. McDermott was suspended last year by an order of Governor Shreve, and was later removed from office by the State Auditor, W. B. Waterbury. Burton was put to work on his bonds. Through himself as an auditor who is checking the work of the governor's department but has not yet submitted a report.

Police Guard Home Of Threatened Solon

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 25.—(A.P.) Police guarded the home of Senator Herman Brand today following a death threat received by the Senator over the telephone. Brand, the only Allegheny senator to vote recently against a bill by the legislature to handle Sunday sports in Pennsylvania, told officers the man who threatened him first asked him why he opposed the bill.

NEW YORK, Mar. 25.—(A.P.) Mrs. Smith, ill, and her son, who were admitted to the hospital by blood transfusion, are expected to recover.

SHOLTZ HOPES TO EXTEND HIS ECONOMY PLAN

Would Put Program In Affairs Of Florida Cities, Counties Under Supervision

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 25.—(A.P.) Governor Dave Sholtz hopes to extend his governmental economy program into the affairs of Florida's cities, counties and districts by state supervision of local expenditures.

"It may be wise," he said here in an address on taxes, "for the state government, through the budget board or some other means, to supervise local expenditures so that economy will be state-wide in cities, districts and counties."

The real cost of government, he said, is in the local units, not in the state government, and bond debts form the heaviest burden in these lesser political subdivisions of Florida. The state government, he declared, costs only 7 cents of each dollar paid in taxes while local government costs 94 cents.

"A great part of our tax problem," the governor said, "lies in the solution of the local debt question which will be one of our principal projects during the coming legislature."

Rigid economy, he said, has made it possible for the state government to reduce its budget for the coming two years 28.1 per cent. Local governments should "do likewise," he said.

He explained the proposed increase in the state ad valorem millage from 4 7/8 mills to 5 1/8 mills by saying the earnings power of any tax levy has declined to the point where the larger millage will produce less revenue during the coming two years than the lower rate did during the past two years.

"Glad To Be Free" Says Mellon After Landing In America

NEW YORK, Mar. 25.—(A.P.) Andrew W. Mellon, private citizen now after serving his country for 12 years, came back to America yesterday "glad to be free" of the cares of public office.

But although yesterday was his seventy-eighth birthday, the ex-ambassador to Great Britain made it clear he has no thoughts of pursuing an inactive life.

"I'll meddle in business when I feel like it," he said.

Back in Pittsburgh he has a business empire—corporations which his family and close friends dominate—with assets above $3,000,000 mark, even at 1933 prices.

From Pittsburgh, even before his arrival in this country, Mellon had been eagerly for his advice again.

Banking, one of his chief interests throughout his business career, is an activity he will be unable to engage in, under the law, for two years, except in an advisory capacity.

Standing outside the door of the Lykathian dining room as the ship came up the bay, Mellon chatted with newspapermen. He said he would live in Washington for the present.

He expects to spend the weekend in Pittsburgh and go to Washington Monday. He said he might see President Roosevelt, but has no appointment. He expressed interest in the confirmation of the appointment of Robert W. Higgins as his successor, and said President Roosevelt is "favorably regarded" in Europe.

Legalization Of Beer Has Brought Forth Perplexing Problems For Enforcers

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25.—(A.P.) Intended by its drafters to be plain in intent, the new beer bill nevertheless is presenting as many problems as a jigsaw puzzle to those charged with its enforcement.

At every turn officials who must put the legislation into effect on Apr. 7 are finding fresh entanglements to send them rushing in their counsel.

The measure hardly was enacted before a difference arose over the exact day and hour that it would become effective. And that was but the beginning of a series of questions. Here are a few that have been laid before officials since the bill was passed:

1—Can beer be sold on coastwise vessels within United States jurisdiction after Apr. 6 and on ships flying the American flag on the high seas? It can.

2—If advertising is admissible in the mails can a newspaper published in a dry state but with a large circulation in an adjoining wet state carry brewers' advertisements. No official answer yet.

3—Will the parcel post deliver beer? Yes.

4—Will it deliver in dry states? No.

5—Can beer be shipped by rail from one state to another through a dry state? Yes and no, according to your attorney, with no official ruling yet.

6—Can beer be delivered now from the breweries in retail quantities? (Continued on Page Five)

NATIONAL RAIL SYSTEM IS SEEN AS PROBABILITY

Rumors Fly Thick And Fast Regarding Contemplated Action

NEW YORK, Mar. 25.—(A.P.) With rumors and gossip flying thick and fast through Wall Street regarding the administration's railway program, the one clear conviction that emerged yesterday was that the final plan would make the steam carriers a part of a national transportation system permitting annual savings of hundreds of millions through discontinuance of duplicating services.

Just what specific moves will be necessary to accomplish this ideal finds Wall Street opinion divided, but unusually well informed quarters contend that one of two plans will eventually meet with congressional favor.

The first plan, it is said, would grant President Roosevelt broad emergency powers to appoint a national coordinator who, together with regional coordinators, would exercise strict supervision over the carriers something like a rail dictatorship. Walker D. Hines, director general of the railroads during the Federal control period, is most frequently mentioned as the man best qualified to handle this key position.

The second plan is reported to resemble the war-time Federal Railroad Administration. This would be a temporary Federal Railroad Administration, with a distribution of earnings among participating roads.

The views of the security executives, shippers, and rail executives themselves have all been referred to President Roosevelt's adviser, national coordinator who, together with regional coordinators, would exercise strict supervision over the carriers something like a rail dictatorship. Walker D. Hines, director general of the railroads during the Federal control period, is most frequently mentioned as the man best qualified to handle this key position.

It was indicated in Wall Street yesterday that this committee was in constant touch with Washington on the development of the program.

Creating that a revision of the anti-trust laws would be necessary, financial circles held yesterday that the major feature of the plan would be the elimination of waste. From an operating standpoint, one of the most important angles of such an idea would be the reduction of circuitous routing of freight.

Under present laws, however, the originating carrier of shipment is permitted to retain the long haul. Traffic moving in transit may be stopped for storage, purpose, milling or manufacturing, and then move on under the original rate. Any change in such a procedure would strike directly at hundreds of converting plants scattered throughout the country and would be strenuously fought by certain business interests. It was asserted by usually well informed students of the problem.

GEOLOGIST VISITS GUT

Herman Gunter, of Tallahassee, state geologist, spent several hours in this city yesterday visiting friends and inspecting a large collection of fossil bones taken from Lake Monroe during the past few years by J. J. Gut. Mr. Gunter appeared keenly interested in the bones, made several sketches, and collected other information which he will check with data in his office.

FEW PERSONS ELIGIBLE FOR APR. 12 VOTE

Approximately Seven Hundred May Cast Ballot In Election For Representative

According to an opinion rendered by Attorney-General Carey D. Landis today and transmitted to County Tax Collector Jno. D. Jinks only those persons who had registered and paid their poll taxes before Jan. 1, 1933, or are otherwise exempt from paying poll taxes, will be qualified to vote in the special election to be held on the special election day, Apr. 12, for the purpose of electing a candidate to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of Representative J. H. White.

This opinion reached Sanford shortly before noon today, and according to the record there are 230 registered persons who had paid their poll taxes for 1931 and 1932 or before Mar. 18.

In addition, it is estimated that there are approximately 500 persons living in the county who are exempt from paying poll taxes for the following reasons: They are disabled World War veterans; they were above the age limit of 25 years a year before Jan. 1, 1933; they became 22 years of age after Jan. 1, 1933, or were members of the National Guard on Jan. 1, 1933.

The total number of qualified voters for the special election therefore is slightly in excess of 730 persons. On Nov. 1, 1932, residents of this county were qualified to vote in the general election.

Mr. Jinks telegraphed to Mr. Landis this morning asking "What date poll taxes can be received for 1931 and 1932 in order to qualify to vote in this special election of a candidate? Will those who have become of age since last general election be given opportunity to register and vote?"

The answer: "There is no law authorizing the opening of registration books for special elections. Under Section 218, Compiled General Laws, poll taxes must be paid at least on or before the fourth Saturday preceding the day of election for the two years next preceding the year in which the election is to be held. Such poll taxes as would qualify voters under this section must have been paid on or before Saturday, Mar. 18, 1933, to enable voters to vote in the special election."

Mr. Jinks' only comment was "Well, this means that the poll taxes for 1931 and 1932 must have been paid on or before Saturday, Mar. 18, 1933, to enable voters to vote in the special election."

It is expected to leave the City Hall at 9:00 o'clock Monday morning, to arrive in Ocala on Monday. It is indicated in a check up of the active membership of the Association in this county.

Jews Will Not Be Persecuted, Says German Minister

Coering Gives Impassioned Address To Press Pleading For Fair Consideration

BERLIN, Mar. 25.—(A.P.)—Persecution of any man simply because he is a Jew will not be tolerated, said Captain Herman Goering, minister without portfolio, in an impassioned address today to foreign correspondents in which he pleaded for fairness in estimating the German situation.

He also expressed the opinion that Jews and socialists should be rendered their German friends poor service by making unfavorable reports on German conditions or by holding groundless mass meetings.

While admitting excesses during the first days of the German revolution he claimed the government adopted most stringent measures including the death penalty for further transgressions.

Meaning Chancellor Hitler will take action to adjust the whole problem of Eastern Jews, refugees from postwar persecutions in Poland, Hungary, Russia and other eastern nations who have been held responsible by the Nazis for present distressing conditions in Germany.

A statement that certain foreign newspapers are printing "irresponsible distortions" concerning the treatment of Jews in Germany was issued by the central union of German citizens of the Jewish faith.

Reports of anti-Jewish street riots are "pure inventions," the statement said.

The central union is an incorporated society with headquarters in Berlin and it comprises 11 affiliated organizations in the different German states and 1200 local centers.

The aims of the union are given as to combat anti-Semitism and to promote the inner peace of the German people. The official organ, the weekly Centralverein Zeitung, has a circulation of 60,000 and the monthly edition 70,000.

The patriotic society of national German Jews took action similar to that of the central union, protesting against reports to broadcast as "foreign attempts to blackmail Germany which we, as Germans, oppose with the same determination as our non-Jewish compatriots."

The statement of the central union said: "Certain foreign newspapers are spreading stories to the effect that multitudes of Jews are regularly found at the entrance to the Jewish cemetery in Wolosse, a suburb of Berlin, that Jewish girls are forcibly herded into public squares, and that hundreds of German Jews have reached Geneva, nine-tenths of them, including many children, terribly maltreated."

"All such reports are pure inventions. This union emphatically declares that German Jews cannot be held answerable for such irresponsible distortions, which deserve the utmost condemnation. In the last few weeks the German nation has been in the throes of a tremendous political upheaval, the statements, and political reprisals and excesses that occurred, also against Jews. But the efforts of the state and national government to restore order, and Chancellor Hitler's order (to his best followers) to put an end to individual actions, have been effective, the central union asserted."

Pacific Coast Liner Sinks At Her Wharf

SEATTLE, Mar. 25.—(A.P.) Victim of a strange disaster of the sea, the Seattle-Orient liner, President Madison, lay deep in the water alongside her dock today after capsizing and sinking. All but two of more than 180 persons aboard, when the $5,000,000 liner keeled over escaped. The sinking, are believed trapped and drowned in the vessel. The disaster occurred while water poured by the side of the liner, which repair men after the heaviest rain, seriously shifted and caused the ship to list.

Miss Eloise Winn Is Winner Of Contest

Miss Eloise Winn, Seminole High School pupil who was entered as a representative of the school in the district declamation contests at Deland today, was awarded first place. It was announced late this afternoon by Mrs. Martin Stinephor, who accompanied the group to Deland.

Miss Winn therefore will represent this district, which includes schools at Sanford, Deland, Ocala, New Smyrna, Apopka, and Daytona Beach, at the state contest finals Gainesville next week. Last year she succeeded in reaching the finals, and was named winner of the second prize. Her prize winning declamation is entitled "Ann Comes to Green Gables."

Last Rites To Be Paid Mrs. Ida Parramore

The body of Mrs. Ida Sarrine Parramore, 75, who died at her home in Jacksonville last night, will be buried here tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at her husband's grave in Lakewood cemetery. A short committal service will be read at the graveside by Dr. E. D. Brownlee. The Erickson Funeral Home has charge of arrangements.

Funeral services were held in Jacksonville this afternoon, with Rev. A. C. Holt, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating.

Mrs. Parramore was a pioneer resident of Sanford. She moved to Jacksonville 27 years ago where her husband died in 1912. Mr. Parramore conducted a livery stable here for many years, the structure occupying the site of the Masonic Temple.

Surviving Mrs. Parramore are a daughter, Miss Anole L. Parramore, and a son, Phillip J. Parramore, both of Jacksonville. Two grandsons, Phillip Jerome Parramore, Jr., of Harrisburg, Pa., and Reginald P. Mitchell, vice-consul at Hankow, China, also survive.

PRICE CUTTING IN EXTREME CALLED POOR PRACTICE

Action Seen Hurting Consumer Demand Rather Than Aiding

NEW YORK.—Selling below cost merely to achieve a sale is a practice that has been too common during the depression for the welfare of business generally, and has had the effect of retarding instead of stimulating consumer demand, according to numerous authorities. The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey comments interestingly on this "buyers' market" condition that has brought about a constant striving on the part of some purchasers to obtain goods at still lower prices, disregarding producers' costs entirely.

Standard Oil of New Jersey states that one of its subsidiary companies recently was in the market for a large quantity of staple material when it "bought" regularly. A number of suppliers were qualified to fill the order and to obtain the business they submitted bids.

"The lowest estimate was rejected for an unusual reason," the company says. "The purchasing agent held that the price indicated that the manufacturer would have to give away a part of his capital with the delivery, or what seemed more likely, produce the material at the expense of his labor." In a sequence of this kind, New Jersey Standard plus-ed the business with a manufacturer submitting a higher bid.

In commenting on the price-cutting practice as applied to the refiner of petroleum products, the statement emphasizes that no business or industrial division is subject to worse competition than the refiner and that to sell low he must buy cheaply.

"If it had appeared that the supplier referred to had based his bid on costs, including a fair allowance for the labor entering into them, he would have obtained the order, for certainly we cannot pay more for our supplies than competing oil companies do and meet them on equal terms in marketing our own products," the statement continues. "In this case, in offering his product substantially below the best quotation made by any one else, it appeared that the supplier might break down prices to a new low level which would by that much delay the general business recovery."

"At no time within memory has there been such an orgy of price cutting as is now going on to get business. Unsuccessful bidders, on learning that the lowest prices they are able to quote are too high against the tender of a com-

HOUSE OF DAVID BALL TEAM GETS 19 TO 1 BEATING

Pitching Of Minor Is Feature Of Contest Played Under Lights

By PETER SCHAAL

Landing on a lazy left-hander named Swaney for 17 hits and 13 hits to knock him from the hill, the Sanford All-Stars continued their attack on Janesko, a husky right-hander, to pound out a 19 to 1 victory over the House of David nine in a night baseball game played before a small crowd at Municipal Park last night. By agreement, the game was called at the end of the seventh inning.

While the local sluggers were making the visiting outfielders scamper to all parts of the field, young Tigie Minor, pitching with the ease that has pleased Central Florida Baseball League fans for the past two seasons, was hurling fastballs who were "costs" still lower in seeking subsequent orders until there is no price structure worthy of the name.

"Business conditions will not begin to improve until this vicious practice is ended. As a matter of fact, price cutting at these levels does not stimulate sales; on the contrary, it makes buyers hesitate to commit themselves for more than their immediate needs because they do not want to be caught with ordinary inventories on a falling market. It has been, and remains, the policy of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey to discourage offerings which obviously are framed to shut out fair competition without a proper allowance for the cost factor."

no-hit baseball. With two out in the first half of the seventh, he appeared on the way to a no-hit game when Starr stepped to center field. It was the visitors' only hit, for Ramsey (left) got after Bennett had walked, and the game was over. Minor struck out 10 men in the seven innings, five of them in order in the second and third innings.

As a novelty, the game was a success for a few innings. When the local athletes had scored a dozen runs at the end of the fifth, the game slowed down to a stankstill and before it had ended many of the fans had left the park.

Centerfielder Thiel of the House of David nine had the misfortune to be hit on the right cheek while trying to catch a high fly. The blow knocked him down and he was led from the field with a deep wound under the eye. This aided in slowing up the game for after play had been resumed, fielders were more wary about balls-hit to them, and as a result hits were many.

Leading the local attack was Joe Barnes with four singles and a double out of five tries, and reliable Red Martin with three doubles and a long-distance triple in five tries. Martin drove in six of the 19 runs. Jack Sanford pitched out four hits, including a double, in five tries, and drove in four runs. He also made a remarkable catch of the first ball hit during the game.

New York Jews Protest German Racial Violence

Lawyers For Senate Committee To Make Wide Investigation

(Continued From Page One) calling upon "all New Yorkers to make common cause with us in a mighty wave of protest to isolate the German government in its commercial pursuits and to refuse to buy any goods of German manufacture or origin."

Mayer O'Brien replied that "any oppression meets with the moral indignation of the world," and added that "any regime that fosters religious and racial intolerance is bound to meet with opposition throughout the world."

He promised to attend a mass protest meeting at Madison Square Garden Monday night at which former Governor Alfred E. Smith and Bishop William T. Manning will be among the speakers. At the same time the Rev. Theodore Ainsworth Green, of New Britain, Conn., chairman of the committee on international relations of the general council of Congregational and Christian churches, wrote Secretary Hull on behalf of the organization protesting against alleged German anti-semitism.

The ceremony which started the parade yesterday was held in St. Mark's place where the procession formed. Rabbi J. O. Maremsky, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., head of the Orthodox Jewish rabbi of the metropolitan area, carried the Orthodox prayer book, and Rabbi Edward Laman, national chairman of the Jewish war veterans, prayed that the protest might arouse the world and the Rev. Seldej Rovner sang the mourning chant. Then the parade started with the Seventy-first regiment band leading it.

DELAY IN BANK PROSECUTION IS GIVEN SPOTLIGHT

Lawyers For Senate Committee To Make Wide Investigation

NEW YORK, Mar. 24.—(P)—A determination to scrutinize the circumstances surrounding a three months' delay in the prosecution of Joseph W. Harriman, resigned chairman of the Harriman National Bank & Trust company, was announced yesterday by counsel for the Senate committee whose inquiry into stock market practices already has resulted in far-reaching disclosures.

A statement to that effect came from Ferdinand Pecora coupled with a promise to "gather all the available facts and present them to the committee at a public hearing" if the matter was found to fall within the scope of the Senate resolution authorizing the committee's activities.

Attorney General Cummings, in Washington, said the prosecution of Harriman, now charged with making false entries in the accounts of his closed bank, was held up at the direction of William D. Mitchell, attorney general in the Hoover administration.

Cummings explained that "apparently the impression was that the delicate financial situation at that time brought the judgment that prosecution might be well deferred." Cummings added that he meant no criticism of his predecessor and that the situation was to be judged on the basis of circumstances as they were at the time.

The delay in prosecuting Harriman, who was arrested in his sick bed a week ago, came to light through a depository' protective committee which demanded the appointment of a special prosecutor to prosecute United States Attorney Medalle on the ground he had been dilatory.

Medalle then issued a statement saying in part: "I acted within less than 24 hours after I was authorized to proceed, by the commencement of prosecution upon a warrant issued for Harriman's arrest."

"The comptroller of the currency as well as counsel for the clearing house, requested the department of justice at Washington, at the time the facts were transmitted to me, to withhold action until the bank's affairs could, if possible, be straightened out. This request was acceded to by the department of justice."

"With the publication of this statement, the depository protective committee today renewed its demand for the appointment of a special prosecutor. William F. Walsh, attorney for the group, said the depository, with the federal authorities and the clearing house had failed throughout the situation to take proper safeguards in their behalf."

Walsh also expressed the view that a special prosecutor, instead of Pecora, should look into the circumstances of the delay, at the same time expressing "the highest regard" for Pecora's ability.

Senator Fletcher of Florida, chairman of the banking and currency committee, forwarded the data on the matter here yesterday. He said "it seems an extraordinary thing for the department to order a delay in the prosecution, but there may be some reason for it that I don't know about."

Time counts when you're in pain! Insist on genuine Bayer Aspirin, not only for its safety but for its speed.

The tablet that is stamped Bayer dissolves in one-half hour many minutes faster than remedies that are offered in its stead.

If you saw Bayer Aspirin made, you would know why it has such uniform, dependable action. If you have ever timed it, you know that the tablet stamped Bayer dissolves and gets to work before a slower tablet has any effect.

Stick to genuine Bayer Aspirin. You know what you are taking. You know it is harmless; nothing in it to depress the heart. You know you will get results. For headaches, colds, neuralgia, rheumatism, the safe and certain relief is always the tablet stamped—

And Seminole County is going to have another election. Thus politics goes on forever.

It has about reached the point when most concerns speak of advertising they really mean publicity.

When a fellow comes in and says, "Now personally I like so and so very much, but," look out for the dirt.

We wish prosperity would regenerate from amnesia and contrast a severe case of nostalgia.

Maybe it would be better to have more but big banks. The U. S. C. can see big ones.

In wishing Ed Higgins the best of luck in his new patrol factory, we suppose it is unnecessary to remind him that it takes dough to make pretzels.

And just about the time Congress decides to investigate stock market pools, New York newspapers come along and present the White House with a pool.

News from Pittsburgh indicates that Andrew Mellon's fortune has shrunk considerably during the years of the depression.

Something, we should think, should be done to confine the use of the new camera which takes pictures in the dark to strictly commercial purposes.

Talks used to go on the theory that the only way you could get in trouble with the law was to steal a banana, but since Charlie Mitchell's arrest it begins to look like the new administration has raised the ante to a million dollars.

A Defect in The Law

The untimely death of Judge H. S. White has created a situation revealing an unfortunate defect in our state laws which, it seems to us, should receive the attention of the Legislature some time during its forthcoming session.

It so happens that very few indeed have paid their 1932 poll taxes. Ordinarily there would have been no election at all this year, none until June of next year, and therefore no particular point in paying such taxes when there are so many other kinds of taxes which have to be paid.

Relief For The Mind

One of the worst aspects of a major calamity like the California earthquake is the aftermath of despondency, ruined hopes, fears, and apprehensions, plus a tendency on the part of everyone to discuss over and again the details and incidents surrounding the catastrophe, thereby making the memory of its horror linger.

The efforts to provide relaxation facilities are reported so far to have been successful in quieting fears over the recurrence of more quakes and also appear to have been beneficial in restoring normal activity in many sections.

It appears to be a fact that the actual physical damage done by an earthquake or other destructive force of nature is only a small part of the resultant grief and pain.

PROSPECTING IS DISCOURAGED BY FEDERAL REPORT

Inexperienced Persons Without Resources Given Little Hope

DENVER, Colo., Mar. 25.—A survey recently made of conditions in western gold fields by United States geologists and others, chiefly state officials, has convinced many of these agencies of the inadvisability of prospecting for gold at this time, especially in the case of individuals who are poorly equipped or who lack funds to sustain them for some time while searching for gold.

From Arizona comes word from the dean and director of the University of Arizona at Tucson: "There are at least 300 men prospecting for gold in this state now, and their success to date has been indifferent, decidedly. The average daily recovery of each placer miner is worth considerably less than 50 cents, and he stands a good chance of starving to death unless he can finance himself for a long time."

The bulletin referred to above also points out: "Our West was explored and developed by a hardy race of pioneers, well equipped with physique and courage, and most of the outstanding mines were discovered by those who turned their attention toward prospecting. Even in those early days, however, only a small proportion of the prospectors actually found and acquired possession of valuable mineral deposits."

"During the 70 or 80 years that has elapsed since the discovery of our oldest western mining districts the country has been thoroughly covered by prospectors, many of them favored by years of practical experience. The field work of numerous geologists and engineers whose work leads them into the less explored parts of the country shows the presence of many small placer diggings and old prospect pits, even where the indications of metalization are comparatively weak.

It has thus been increasingly evident that the chances of success in surface prospecting have been declining."

In Colorado, John T. Joyce, state commissioner of mines, "welcomes prospectors to try their luck," but adds that "everything considered, we do not feel justified in holding out any great encouragement." Possibly the most widely publicized placer area for the unemployed was around Denver, figures of the United States Mint reveal that the efforts of several thousand men produced but $475 last year.

While gold production increased appreciably in California during 1931 and 1932 the net result for inexperienced placer miners was rather indifferent. Approximately 8000 individuals worked the streams. Their total production was $450,000, or $56.25 per man for the year. It is agreed by most authorities that even the bulk of this was produced by the more experienced placer miners who took advantage of favorable conditions not known to inexperienced men.

W. W. Bradley, state mineralogist for California, after making a tour of the placer workings of the state found that "many were hardly making their 'bacon and beans'." Practically all that remains in placer mining for the man with only time and his muscles for capital is the panning of the relatively small amounts of fine gold brought down annually with the winter movements of gravel in the stream beds.

Production of gold in Idaho doubled in 1932 over 1931, but the principal increase came from one mine. No estimate of small scale placer work has been compiled. Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico, and Utah are classified by the department of interior as being in arid regions where a large part of the gold produced has been a by-product from large scale copper mining.

RUGE WISCONSIN SCRP ISSUE PUT IN CIRCULATION

Officials Have Called For Use Currency Plan

MADISON, Wis.—Wisconsin's $10,000,000 scrip issue, the first to be backed by any American state as a stabilizing measure during the national emergency, has been placed in circulation.

State banking officials have contended long to use the scrip freely for the present, keeping the currency in reserve, as a practical means of stimulating commodity business.

The scrip plan is the only new feature of a program based upon 1932 legislation establishing a banking board to review the power to rebuild banks from within, instead of forcing them to close their doors.

Under the Wisconsin moratorium waiver plan, between 100 and 200 banks were suspended last year; their doubtful assets revaluated; their affairs set in order under strict state supervision; and they were permitted to re-open for new deposits to be kept in cash, available for 100 percent withdrawal on demand.

Names you should know. YOU like to know names that everybody knows—name of the man who tied lightning to a kite; name of the man who watched a teakettle and went out and made an engine. Just knowing such names gives you pleasure. Yet there are names that thousands of people know that can give you much more pleasure in a much more personal way. Names that stand for the best things to eat, to wear, to sleep on. Names, that if connected with the salad dressing, hat, fountain pen you select—or any other desirable thing—mean it is most desirable. Names written large in ADVERTISEMENTS. Advertisements tell why those are wise names for you to know. Why such names greet you in the best grocery, department and hardware stores. Why those names are in the buying vocabulary of thousands... are believed in by thousands... justify belief! Read the advertisements. Don't ask vaguely in a store for "cold cream," "a vacuum cleaner." Ask for So-and-So's Cold Cream, So-and-So's Scales, So-and-So's Vacuum Cleaner. Use the names you have learned through advertisements, and stand for the product that means most to you and to everybody. READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS.

Will Rogers Coming To Milane On Sunday

There is one thing impossible, even to the modern miracle workers of the picture studios who recreate lost worlds, part seas, raise mountains and destroy cities. It is impossible to remain sombre on a film that has Will Rogers in the cast. He is just that kind of a fellow.

Far from being a wise-cracker Rogers keeps everyone laughing because he instinctively gets a humorous slant on everything from the news of the day to the humdrum routine of work. It isn't so much what he says, although that is plenty, but the way he says it. Paper and print can't reproduce the Rogers drawl or the sly subtle humor of the Rogers grin.

He was in particularly good form on the sets where he worked with Janet Gaynor, Lew Ayres, Sally Eddy, Norman Foster, Louise Dresser, Frank Craven and Victor Jory on Fox Film's all-star production "State Fair". It is all because he was unusually satisfied with the picture and the role he plays in it.

He wore overalls and rough blue shirts. He puttered around a farm yard, and he had the time of his life doing scenes with Blue Boy, the 500-pound pig hog of the picture.

He will swap yarns by the hour with the boys on the set, but can't be induced to talk for publication. He never gives the makeup man any work, and all he asks of the prop boy is to have a supply of chewing gum on hand in case he forgets his own.

Mrs. Locke Entertains For Palatka Visitor

The service table was of lace cloth, and was replenished with a long silver tea service and a silver coffee service. Refreshments of assorted fancy sandwiches, cupcakes, tea, coffee, and after-dinner mints were served on silver trays by the Girl Scouts. Tea and coffee were poured by Mrs. Horace Cochran and Mrs. M. GENEVA

By MRS. P. E. DOOLEY

The Geneva Garden Club held its first flower show Friday, Mar. 24, in the town hall. The club is beginning its second year of work and the displays of work and the displays of various classes of shrubbery and blossoms showed remarkable progress and hard work on the part of members. A most interesting display was the wild flower exhibit with Mrs. J. M. Quirk as chairman. Another excellent feature was the school exhibit of the Junior Garden Club, which is sponsored by the Geneva Garden Club.

The Geneva school has been missing when they do not hear these sermons. They are excellent.

What came near being a serious wreck took place Monday night about 6:30 when two cars came together, one was driven by Paul Hodges, who was returning to Sanford after bringing R. O. Swope home. The other car was being driven by a Hansen boy from Paola. Paul's car turned over and was dragged several feet. Fortunately no one was injured.

PLAN OF ALDRICH AFFECTING BANKS SEEN IN OFFING

Opinion Is Held That Suggested Changes Will Be Effected

CHICAGO, Mar. 23.—The belief that such changes in the banking system as those proposed by Mr. Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the governing board of the Chase National Bank, in New York, are bound to come, appeared current among a cross section of Chicago bankers interviewed recently.

Mr. Aldrich's plans involve the separation of commercial banking from investment banking, and were announced simultaneously with the decision that the Chase National Bank was going to divorce its affiliate, the Chase Securities Corporation, from the bank itself.

A banker who is in a good position to discuss the Aldrich proposal said that, in his opinion, he believes his opinion shared by others of his colleagues here—sweeping changes of this sort are bound to come sooner or later. Undoubtedly the banks can maintain a much more solid position, he said, without the influence of an investment affiliate.

At the same time, he said, it has become apparent that no matter how legitimately a bank's investment business is carried on the commercial department is sure to feel repercussions from disappointed customers of the investment department.

This has become especially apparent during the recent slump, he said, when securities sold to customers in all good faith have dropped in value to such an extent that the buyer feels a sense of resentment against the bank, and transfers his business elsewhere. It is just like being disappointed in a purchase made in one section of a department store and then coming to the conclusion that nothing else from the store is any good, he said.

At one of the largest banks in Chicago, one of the vice-presidents, asked to discuss the Aldrich proposals, said that in his opinion discussion was useless because

GIGANTIC METEOR LIGHTS SKIES IN WESTERN AREAS

These Rumble Battles Doors And Windows In Many Sections

San Angelo, Tex., Mar. 25.—A gigantic meteor lighted the sky with awesome brilliance in the southwestern states before dawn yesterday and, with thunderous rumbles that rattled doors and windows, apparently disintegrated on its earthward plunge.

In various localities of the north Texas plains region, the Oklahoma panhandle, southwestern Kansas, southern Colorado and New Mexico expressed the belief that the meteor or fragments of it had fallen nearby, but no reports had been received last night of the falling of parts which may have struck the ground.

Two airmail planes flying near San Angelo and Albuquerque, N. M., had comfortable close-ups of the bright meteor.

"It is a small, coming from the west," said Ed Coyle, who was flying eastbound on 9500 feet altitude, Tex. "We were at 10,000 feet when we saw it."

After the dazzling light faded the sky, however, Coyle saw a trail of the meteor's glow and bluish tinted tail and it was going north of him. He described the meteor as "shaped like a ball," with fiery fragments whirling away from it.

"I noticed that an extremely bright, fiery thread, extended backward from the main mass before it spread out into the gaseous brilliantly shaded tail, which may have been between 50 and 100 miles long," he said.

"It was impossible to tell whether the meteor gradually disintegrated or struck the ground."

Frank Williams was flying 50 miles west of Albuquerque when the whole sky was suddenly illuminated "as if some one had turned on a great blue electric light," as he described it.

He said an "enormous mass of blue light" without a tail, approached from a high altitude for eight or 10 seconds from a distance estimated at 300 miles, then separated into two clouds—one a very brilliant blue and the other yellow and flame colored. The clouds then seemed to merge and remained in view for about half an hour.

Many persons were awakened by the brilliance and the rumble which caused dwellings to vibrate.

"Let us do it in a way that is in accord with the spirit of America. Let labor work, but let it work voluntarily and freely."

In strange contrast to Green's opinion the bill constituted "a form of Sovietism," the committee were told by a communist leader, Herbert Benjamin, that his organization was "unqualifiedly opposed" to the measure.

Benjamin, speaking for the national committee of unemployed councils, said it would "legalize a system of forced labor." He demanded unemployment insurance and cash payment of the bonus.

Earlier, Chairman Connery had suggested the bill in its present form was like a "draft-act" under which men would be picked up on the streets and forced to go to the work camps for a year.

Douglas MacArthur, army chief of staff who was on the stand at the time, denied this interpretation, saying the plan seemed to him "entirely voluntary."

Members of the committee pointed out the President had consented to modification of the legislation to make it clear that the enlistments would be voluntary. Walsh said that was one of the changes that probably would be made in the bill.

Connery said, however, he would push a substitute proposal under which men would be enlisted for a month instead of a year, and paid $50 or $80 a month, depending upon whether or not they were married, instead of $30.

The President has opposed this.

At the outset of the hearing, Lewis Douglas, budget director, testified the President's plan would be financed for the remainder of this fiscal year from $40,000,000 of unobligated public building funds.

Green testified the bill would establish a "dollar a day wage level for unskilled labor and put 'regimented labor' at work now done at regular wages.

"You can't restore prosperity by paying men below a subsistence level," he said.

Several members of the committee told of laborers in their sections of the country working for less than the compensation proposed in the bill, but the labor head insisted "You cannot relieve conditions by adding misery to misery."

BRITISH PLEA FOR DEBT REDUCTION ADVANCED AGAIN

Proposal Is Met With Indication Of Tariff Reciprocities

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25.—(AP)—Britain's plea for downward revision of the war debts was carried to the Roosevelt administration yesterday by a message from the United States which indicated that any reduction be balanced by definite accomplishments for the restoration of world trade.

For the first time since President Roosevelt took office, the subject was broached by Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, in a long interview with Secretary Hull at the state department.

Hull called in Assistant Secretary Raymond Moley, regarded as one of President Roosevelt's closest advisers, both before and since his election, and there began the careful diplomatic fencing which the British hope will result in greatly scaling down the four and a half billion dollars which they owe to the United States.

A state department announcement afterward made clear that the United States on the other hand desires above all things in the international field the complete success of the world economic conference in London this summer. The administration was represented as believing that upon it depend the hopes of all nations for ending the depression.

The American government will emphasize at the conference the importance of agreements for the reduction of tariffs and the removal of trade barriers. It will place little emphasis on the war debts.

While the administration regards trade and debts as subject to separate treatment in theory, it is believed by well posted observers, that the attitude of the United States toward reducing the debt of any nation will be determined to a great extent by that nation's contribution to revival of trade.

The theory behind this is that by sweeping away the tangle of trade restrictions grown up as each nation sought to sell but not to buy, American trade would be benefited in an amount which would far exceed the actual sums written off.

Officially, the administration's position is, however, that the installments totaling $114,000,000 which fall due June 15 are to be paid in full. No word has been said publicly to imply reduction but the purpose behind the preliminary sparring has been clearly indicated.

After his conversation with Hull and Moley, Lindsay declined to comment, but it was learned that his government had requested him to ascertain the Roosevelt administration's attitude on the debts

STATE REALTORS ADOPT 13-POINT ECONOMY PLAN

Budget Commission's Condemned In Resolution Also Okeyed

ORLANDO, Mar. 25.—Adoption of a 13-point legislative program and the adoption of a resolution condemning the action of the State Budgeting Commission in proposing an increase in the ad valorem tax, was the principal action of the board of governors of the Florida Association of Real Estate Boards, meeting here yesterday.

The resolution condemning the budget commission was introduced by M. M. Parrish, of Gainesville, and points out that the commission not only recommended an increase in the ad valorem tax, directly against the crying need of because of conflicting reports one that another would be undertaken and another that full payment would be demanded June 15.

On behalf of Secretary Hull, it was said no decision had been reached and that on the subject of war debts the talking was preliminary and exploratory. It was added that Secretary Hull, whenever the subject of debts is mentioned, counters by bringing up the entire program for business recovery set forth in the detailed agenda of the economic conference detailing measures for reviving trade by removing obstructions.

of the hour, but the commission failed to suggest the reduction of the salaries of high officials.

The meeting was the last that the board will have before the legislative convenes and it was the opinion of the governors that every effort should be made to have this program adopted by the general assembly.

The program follows:

"1. That rigid economy be practiced, and that it be required of all officers and departments of the state, county and city governments.

"2. That there be a drastic curtailment of road building, preferably a 2-year holiday.

"3. That the state be re-districted to reduce the number of judicial circuits to not more than 20.

"4. That the legislature amend the present statute fixing a maximum compensation of $7,500 for county officials to an amount in keeping with the compensation now received by other salaried people, and that a general control account be established in each county, requiring all salaries and fee officers to deposit daily with the treasury of this respective county, all fees and funds coming from the county.

"5. That the tax base for revenue purposes be broadened in order to relieve the inequitable burden now placed on real estate and to provide revenue for the schools.

"6. That the legislature repeal all ad valorem tax levies for state purposes and, submit at the next election an amendment to the Constitution repealing the one mill state levy for school purposes.

"7. That the state assume the

Plant City Berry Season Nears End After Busy Weeks

PLANT CITY, Mar. 25.—With the local strawberry shipping season drawing toward a close, indications were today that more than twenty million pints of berries will have been marketed here, when the final shipments are loaded or northern points.

The movement passed 19,000,000 pints with the forwarding of four cars Thursday night. It is anticipated that at least another million pints of berries will be marketed before the berry growers from other sections cut in with a sufficient volume of fruit to wind up shipments from this point. The local shipments thus far this season have brought the growers a cash return of approximately $1,250,000.

Prices were strong, however, this week with an average of nearly 10 cents per pint for the first four days, Monday's average being a half cent over that figure and Wednesday's a quarter of a cent over, Thursday's the price was below 10 cents again but above establishments to get it ready for the trade after the stroke of midnight, Apr. 6? No.

And so the questions go. But officials have not attempted to answer the one which is being asked most generally, namely: if the beer cannot leave the brewery until midnight and gets to the retail trade some time afterward, how long will it take to cool it?

Meanwhile, wet and drys appeared today before a Senate District of Columbia sub-committee and for an hour and a half argued their respective points of view.

The hearing followed passage of a bill yesterday by the House to regulate the sale of beer in the national capital. Congress has the same power in this respect over this city as state legislatures have over the states.

Despite the barrage of legal snare, the internal revenue bureau and the bureau of industrial alcohol which are charged with regulating and taxing the only legal industry, are being favored with the issuance of permits and
