Man 70, Finds $900, Returns To Owner

MRS. R. B. THOMAS JR. Two weeks of vacation Bible school will begin Monday, August 2 at the West Sanford Free Will Holiness Church. Activities are scheduled for 9:00 a.m. until 12 noon.

Children and adults of the community are cordially invited to share in the joy of Vacation Bible School. Mother Ruby Wilson, Pastor.

The right to vote is one freedom granted every reblooded American of voting age.

The slogan, "A voteless people is a voiceless people," in every sense is a true statement. How can you have a meaningful voice in governmental, political, state and local affairs unless you are registered to vote and exercise that right by voting.

In this rapidly changing society, the best way to be heard where in political issues are concerned, is by voting.

August 8, 1970 is the deadline for voter registration. After that date, the books will be closed and you will have no voice. Are you a registered voter??

Dan Bentley Sr. of 2701 West 18th Street, Sanford, received a letter from Florida's Governor and Claude R. Kirk, congratulating him for being one of few honest Americans.

Dated June 11, 1970 and we quote: "This is to let you know how much I admire the honesty of one program to another; grant streamlining to save money and manpower hours, and decentralization, giving local governments more say in federally-backed programs.

"I believe we now have a near the point where our ability to reform and renew the federal grant effort could determine the fate of our entire governmental system," Richardson said.

As it now stands, he said, federal assistance programs are too numerous, too scattered and too much isolated from each other. The situation continues to worsen, he said. As for his own department, he pictured it as "an old friend who has grown excessively fat."

Richardson, a member of last month to succeed Robert F. HEW chief, decried the emergence of hastily organized private schools to avoid integration. "It is a problem of not whether there will be desegregation of schools, but how best to achieve this and to get the public to recognize the need for quality education for both black and white students."

Hippie Padders' Plead Innocent

Seven persons accused of narcotics violations after a May 29 raid by Seminole Sheriff's Department on a Fern Park "hippie pad" yesterday pleaded innocent at an arraignment before Court Judge William Akridge.

Vicki Dale Williams, Charlotte Christine Thompson, Dwight Monroe Mason, Thomas Richard Helms, Joe Fuller Cloud, Charles Robert Cloud, and Richard Dale Hash pleaded not guilty to possession of narcotic drugs and possession or control of central nervous system stimulants charges after State Attorney Abbott Herring had filed direct information charging the seven along with five others after possession charges had been dismissed for insufficient evidence by County Judge Wallace Hall.

However, a later ruling by the Florida Supreme Court on definition of possession resulted in the re-filing of charges by Herring. Still to be served with Circuit Court warrants are: Tom A. Fisher, Leonard Schilderhouse, Debra Lynn Fitch, Debra Capps and Charles A. King.

A second raid on the same apartment two weeks later by sheriff's department resulted in five misdemeanor arrests against Susan Yenick, Robert Hash, Kenneth Cox, Robert Chapman and John Teppeloff. These charges were dismissed by Peace Justice Thomas Lovett because the sheriff's department held the warrants four days before making the raid.

Herring said a week ago, he would bring these cases before the Seminole County Grand Jury and seek to have the five indicted.

Governor Responds To Parents

Kirk May Intervene In Seminole

Gov. Claude Kirk is contemplating intervention into the Seminole County School desegregation controversy with the U.S. Justice Department and some 300 parents of elementary school students.

This was confirmed by a statement from Gov. Kirk after his receipt of a telegram from Robert Moore, representing parents of Pinerest school students, who asked the governor to intervene to stop the cross-busing of black and white students from Pinerest to Goldsboro Elementary School and return.

Gov. Kirk stated, "My office has been in contact with Seminole County School Supt. John Angel and talks will continue today following the return of Seminole School Attorney Douglas Stenstrom from Washington."

Kirk continued, "I am reviewing the case and I am considering asking U.S. District Judge Charles Scott to allow me to intervene in the Seminole case."

Supt. Angel told The Herald he had been in contact with the governor's office Wednesday and there had been discussions relative to the county's school plan, which was accepted yesterday by the Justice Department.

Attorney Stenstrom's trip to Washington was an effort by the school board to get approval of the county plan as another plan submitted previously by the Justice Department's educational team could be withdrawn in favor of the Seminole proposal.

Judge Scott, at an Aug. 2 hearing, will be asked to accept the county's plan by the Justice Department.

The Justice Dept. at its discretion, grant the request of the Justice Department and accept the local plan as he sees fit. The county and the Justice Department plan in favor of his own proposal.

The Pinerest parents have, in another telegram, asked Judge Scott to allow them to be heard and possibly delay still another desegregation plan which some say would include the closing of Midway and placing of the 300 students into Pinerest thus preventing the cross-busing of the paired Goldsboro and Pinerest Schools.

County plans call for placing fourth and fifth graders now attending Pinerest into Goldsboro by busing and busing Goldsboro's 1-3 grades back to Pinerest.

All Pinerest School parents are requested to attend a 2 p.m. Sunday meeting at the school auditorium to discuss with Supt. John Angel and other school officials the desegregation problems arising from the cross-busing of school students from Pinerest to Goldsboro.

Douglas Stenstrom, board attorney, is also expected to be present for the meeting, according to Robert L. Mooney, chairman of the parents committee.

Expert Warns Gold Coast

By BEN FUNK Associated Press Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Chemical and bacterial contamination is seeping at an accelerated pace down into the Biscayne Aquifer, the great underground river which supplies fresh water to 2.5 million Florida Gold Coast residents.

And unless the flow is checked officials say, the water may become unsafe for drinking within five years.

"I estimate that we have five years of grace, says Dr. Paul Hughes, Broward County Health Director. "The first sign the water is contaminated will be when foam comes out of the taps. That'll be the detergent."

"The heavy metals—mercury, lead, zinc, arsenic, copper—will come later. Then we'll have to turn to bottled water."

Frank Kleeman, who took over the newly created post of county pollution control director three months ago, said he had been concerned about the potential threat to the drinking water supply from Broward's 40,000 septic tanks and its sludge pits.

"I became especially concerned when we confirmed last week for the first time a case of hepatitis from swimming in one of our lakes," he said. "How long before we find the first case from drinking our water?"

Five persons became ill after taking a dip in Swim Lake, a popular gathering place for campers. Tests by Dr. George Schallberger, adviser to the pollution control board, showed the lake to be badly polluted by effluent from a small sewage treatment plant.

The Broward County Commission has appropriated $200,000 to the pollution control board to monitor all waterways.

"It's tough to do the job," Hughes said. "In 12 months, we'll know how we stand."

But Broward isn't alone in its problem. Dade and Palm Beach counties also sit astride the Biscayne Aquifer and their own high tide, each the back and forth, contaminants from the three heavily populated counties are intermingled.

"Broward is the only Florida county that analyzes all its wells for chemical content," Hughes said. "We've done that for 40 years. In the rest of Florida, which a world health can be controlled by the amount of oxygen reaching the injured area."

Richardson said emphasis was being placed on four areas of reform—proposals designed to "reverse the top-heavy trend of governmental programs."

Most important of the four, he said, was the consolidation of federal grants into a coordinated system of disbursement. Others include fund transfers, in which a governor may trans-

No Trouble Foreseen In Southern Mixing

By JACK WILKINSON ATLANTA (UPI)—The federal government will be keeping close watch on integrated schools in the South next fall, but does not expect any wide-spread trouble, Elliot Richardson, the new secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, said Monday.

"The lines of segregation must be broken down in a real and meaningful way," Richardson said. "It is a problem of not whether there will be desegregation of schools, but how best to achieve this and to get the public to recognize the need for quality education for both black and white students."

Richardson, a member of last month to succeed Robert F. HEW chief, decried the emergence of hastily organized private schools to avoid integration. Hippie Padders' Plead Innocent

Seven persons accused of narcotics violations after a May 29 raid by Seminole Sheriff's Department on a Fern Park "hippie pad" yesterday pleaded innocent at an arraignment before Court Judge William Akridge.

Vicki Dale Williams, Charlotte Christine Thompson, Dwight Monroe Mason, Thomas Richard Helms, Joe Fuller Cloud, Charles Robert Cloud, and Richard Dale Hash pleaded not guilty to possession of narcotic drugs and possession or control of central nervous system stimulants charges after State Attorney Abbott Herring had filed direct information charging the seven along with five others after possession charges had been dismissed for insufficient evidence by County Judge Wallace Hall.

Higher Taxes Now A Politically Hot Issue

Residents of Seminole County will not have to wait until next year to see if their governments are going to raise taxes.

They are! Already the budgets of the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction (School Board) and the Seminole County Commission indicate a boost of 8.2 mills over this year.

This means that the road to higher taxes has already been started. Next year there is every indication that the taxpayer will have more demands on his pocketbook made by both the federal and state governments.

Thus we find the recent suggested questionnaire which the Associated Industries of Florida has distributed to its members for use when candidates for office drop in to solicit support most apt.

We are particularly intrigued by the very logical questions they give the political events: First—the primaries; second—the election; third—the taxes.

It is, of course, quite in the natural course of events that growing demand for services from every level of government would cost more money.

Yet, the entrance of solid business men into the field of politics this year indicates that we are not alone in believing that waste and inefficient management are the thieves of our tax moneys.

We are not commenting in detail on either the school board or the county commission's perplexities at this time.

But it is certainly obvious that somewhere the bars were let down when the schools operation, largely due to extraordinary salary and personnel increases, was allowed to have the racing commission funds for its use, taking it away from the county commission and producing a double boost in the probable millage assessments.

No one has to be a member of the AIF to be guided by these sage guidelines when taxes are the subject:

"Primaries, elections taxes? It does not have to be that way. Taxes don't have to follow elections. But, you can bet your bottom dollar they will in 1971 unless you do your homework right now, TODAY!"

Such an approach to the 1970 elections by such an important and influential group as make up the membership of the AIF is a long stride towards the goal of electing officials who not only recognize their obligations to their constituency but are able and willing to express them in simple and definite terms.

During the next few weeks our readers will be approached by candidates for every office. This will come about in formal speeches (which must be discarded), informal gatherings (which are hard to keep on a single subject), in the press (where precise answers are often sought and rarely given), over the radio and TV (where rehearsals are the rule and the superficial gets top attention).

To them we urge that those who seek reelection for any office be asked to spell out what they have done to keep costs down and productivity up with the voters' costs that sound replies will bring about sound support.

As an example of the kind of thinking which the AIF is sharing with us let this reference to education be a sample: "Yearly the 'educators' get more than twice as much money as all other functions of government."

"There is no real yardstick by which to measure results. Are our children better educated than they were ten years ago? Is a child in our county progressing better than children in other counties? What is our real progress? What will you do to determine the actual value return on dollars invested in education?"

Interesting? Certainly. Practical? Very much so. Usable? Yes, indeed. Effective? The ballots will answer this and this means YOURS!

Welcome Words

The news media has been undergoing harsh criticism recently so it's refreshing to note one staunch defender among public officials in Washington.

We concur with the remarks of Kenneth A. Cox, a member of the Federal Communications Commission, who reminded a New Orleans audience that "the news media have not caused the war or created poverty. They are performing a vital function by throwing light on these problem areas."

Cox said that "those who attack the news media for reporting bad news undermine freedom and resemble young critics they often criticize." He deplored what he called "broad attacks" and "broad statements" by critics of news media. He said that there is some validity in Vice President Spiro Agnew's charges, "but basically I think it is very dangerous for high government officials to make such broad statements."

Cox is right. It would be ridiculous to claim that the press is perfect or that it should be exempt from any criticism. Newspapers are as different as the individuals who operate them and individuals who make no mistakes seldom accomplish anything worthwhile.

But critics should be aware of the fact that when they make broad and often baseless attacks upon the news media, they are in effect attacking their own interests and the public's right to information. So far as newspapers are concerned, when it comes to both good and bad news, never before have readers had access to so much information.—Houston (Tex.) Chronicle

Daughter - Power In Colombia

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In Colombia she is called Maria Eugenia. But just that much is enough to establish the identity of Colombia's best known woman politician.

At the age of 29 she already was being compared to Evita Peron, credited by many with being the real brains and power behind one-time Argentine dictator Juan D. Peron.

Today at the age of 35 she strives with single-minded determination to restore to power her father, former dictator Gen. Gustavo Rojas Pinilla.

Rojas, forced to resign his job in 1957, has been ranked by this column as one of the most ruthless dictators in modern Latin American history.

The job he lost under duress in 1957 he nearly won back again this year in free elections in which the candidate supporters, by Colombia's ruling Conservative-Liberal coalition, Misael Pastrana Borrero, defeated him by only a little more than 60,000 votes out of more than four million cast.

Rojas is receiving treatment in Miami for a chronic diabetes condition and heart trouble and has assigned leadership of his National Popular Alliance to his daughter in his absence.

Already credited with most of the organization work accounting for the amazing strength of his campaign, she has accepted the assignment with enthusiasm.

She charges that the election was stolen from her father and has promised that blood will flow until he is restored to power.

It promises an eventual four-year term for 46-year-old President-Elect Pastrana.

Maria Eugenia Rojas de Moreno Diaz, to use her full marriage name, is senator in her own right and for the four years of his presidency will be sitting as opposition leader.

The convening of the new Colombian congress the night of July 20 provided a good example of things to come.

Police carried her screaming from the senate floor, where she had attempted to read a statement interrupting outgoing President Carlos Lleras Restrepo's state-of-the-nation message.

Colombian voters are bored with the Conservative-Liberal coalition under which they have lived for 12 years. Maria Eugenia and her father have taken advantage of that boredom.

Don Oakley Says:

Exact Cash Plan

By DON OAKLEY, NFA Editor

We hear a lot about the coming "cashless" society, when everyone will pay for everything with a credit card.

In some of the earlier versions, the card is magnetized so that when it is inserted in the cash (less) register at a checkout counter, the purchase is instantaneously deducted by electronic means from one's bank account.

That day may still be a long time off, but a form of the cashless society is now well-established in one area of daily life as has recently been introduced in another—in both cases for a reason that has nothing to do with computers or electronic or high finance.

In many cities around the country today, bus drivers no longer carry money with which to make change. Passengers must either drop tickets or the exact fare in the box.

The result has been an impressive reduction in robberies of bus drivers in these cities which have adopted such fare plans. In Washington, D. C., for example, 116 drivers were robbed in 1967. There have been no robberies since exact fare went into effect two years ago.

For the same reason — to thwart deprivations of petty criminals — a major oil company last spring decided to have money at night at its 450 service stations. Only credit card purchases or exact cash payments are accepted between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m.

Any cash received is deposited in a double-locked safe whose keys are not on the premises. No change is given. The guy who has nothing but a $10 and who needs only $5 worth of gas is out of luck.

But so is the would-be robber. The company has experienced only three holdup attempts since the no-cash plan was started. In the year before that, there were 80 robberies at its stations. The company is now considering extending the moneyless hours to 2 p.m. during the winter months.

We're always going to have a certain number of people who have no desire to achieve or who have no desire to fit in an amicable way with the rest of society, and these people should be separated from the com-

Bumper Sticker Psychology

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — My friend Rogers, who took a course in elementary psychology about 30 years ago, claims he has discovered a new personality-intelligence evaluation technique that is both simpler and more reliable than existing methods.

He explained it to me the other day as we were driving along Pennsylvania Avenue past the vast excavation from which the new $100 million FBI Building eventually will emerge.

"By their bumper stickers you shall know them," said Rogers, who tends to speak in proverbs when he discovers something. "What does that mean?" I said.

"It was just thinking of all the money that the FBI wastes on security checks and similar investigations," he replied.

"In many cases, it could find out everything it needed to know about a person just by looking at his car number."

"People reveal a tremendous amount of information about themselves on their car windows and bumpers."

"Properly analyzed, bumper stickers provide deep insight into political, intellectual, economic status, education, age, religion, ethnic and regional backgrounds and cultural standards."

"How does bumper sticker analysis work?"

"It works like a political poll," Rogers said. "By examining a few key phrases, pollsters can project the vote for an entire state."

"There also are key bumper stickers that an analyst learns to recognize and interpret."

"I said, 'Could you give me an example?'"

"Sure. See that car just ahead of us? It has a Harvard decal on the rear window, an American flag decal on the trunk and an 'America-Love It or Leave It' sticker on the bumper."

The car is owned by a middle aged, second-generation American who makes pretty good money as a construction worker and admires Spiro Agnew. He barely finished high school himself but has a son in Harvard.

"He was proud of the boy at first. Then a generation gap developed. The kid let his hair grow, became an antiwar military and got busted for smoking pot. Now his old man is ready to disown him."

"I said, 'That's amazing. How could you tell that was what the sticker meant?'"

"The guy driving the car lives down the street from me."

Washington Window:

Sports Writers: Front-Center!

By EUGENE V. RISHER
SAN GLENN, Calif. (UPI) — Backstage at the Western White House:

President Nixon has made little effort to hide his aversion to most political writers, but sports writers are something else again. In a nostalgic mood he once remarked with something like regret in his voice that he almost became a sportswriter himself.

Shirley Povich of the Washington Post and Jim Murray of the Los Angeles Times are among his favorite columnists.

The President gets most of his news from condensed summaries of newspapers, wire service reports, and television newscasts prepared by his staff each day. When he picked up the phone last week to talk about one of the several newspapers delivered to his office in the White House he usually goes straight for the sports pages.

No only is Nixon an avid sports fan but for a man in his position, a courageous one. He does not hesitate to take sides and is an outspoken Monday morning quarterback.

He outraged Penn State University football fans last year by declaring well in advance that the winner of the Texas-Arkansas football game would be the nation's number one collegiate team (he was right).

When he went to the Kentucky Derby two years ago he announced his pick before the race was run (wrong).

But baseball and the Washington Senators are his first love. This may well be the only time in his life that Richard Nixon has held such devotion for a loser. He can cite as many statistics on the Washington Senators as on the national budget.

During a reception at the White House last year for baseball writers, officials and players—past and present—Nixon started his guests by playing had seen or read about years ago. Warming to an opportunity that most fans dream about but never get, he circled among his guests questioning them about their triumphs and disasters.

Several times during the season he slips quietly out of the White House and goes to RFK Stadium in Washington to watch the Senators play. At other times he gets a first-hand account of the games from his son-in-law, David Eisenhower, who has a part-time job this summer keeping statistics for the Senators.

On one recent trip he accompanied the Senators' manager, Ted Williams' role barring dressing room visitors for 15 minutes after a game and dropped by to congratulate the delighted players on their rare win.

Nixon's own participation in sports is necessarily limited. He bowls at the White House frequently enough to have developed a callous on his bowling hand. He manages to play a few times a week, but he is in California or Florida and plays an occasional round of golf with David or his friend C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

But anybody who has seen him hit a golf ball would know immediately that the affairs of state are not being neglected.

O'Brien Challenges Demo Reformers

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien told party reformers today to strive for peace, focus on pressing domestic issues, and avoid another convention like 1968.

"It will suffice to say that minority groups, women and citizens between 18 and 30 must, under the guidelines, be fairly represented in state delegations to the 1972 Democratic National Convention," O'Brien said.

He said he is working to achieve the guidelines at the state party level. "But we must remember they are but a first step in a program of reform and re-examination that will continue indefinitely."

To win the youth vote, he said, the party must stand for peace in Indochina, always remembering the slogan "the cause of peace is patriotic."

It does no good to point the finger of blame for what happened, he said, but he added the convention did lay the groundwork for reform.

The commission's subgroup, headed by Sen. George McGovern, D.S.D., launched a hearing into the role of young people in the political and electoral process.

"It will suffice to say that minority groups, women and citizens between 18 and 30 must, under the guidelines, be fairly represented in state delegations to the 1972 Democratic National Convention," O'Brien said.

Trains Still Dump Human Waste

By CARL C. CRAIG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration will propose steps aimed at eventually ending the railroad's practice of dumping raw human waste along the tracks, Commissioner Charles C. Edwards has informed Congress.

But Edwards' testimony Tuesday before a House subcommittee "amounts to a total surrender to the railroad industry," consumer group leaders told the congressional panel headed by Rep. Henry B. Reuss, D-Wis.

R. R. Manion, representing the Association of American Railroads, said on the basis of a five-year sanitation study 20 years ago "and on the sharply reduced volume of waste since that time, we fall to see that a problem exists."

Edwards said that while he believes "the discharge practice to be antiquated, deplorable and offensive to our sensibilities, I must reluctantly conclude that the evidence required under the Public Health Service Act to link discharge with introduction, transmission or spread of communicable disease from state to state is not present at this time."

Thus, he said, the FDA will propose a rule that rail passengers be required to use restrooms built after December 1971 be fitted with full retention facilities when sanitation equipment is required.

Nader told the subcommittee the railroads are dumping hundreds of millions of pounds of raw human waste, in a practice he said "allows a unique insight into the intransigence of these corporations and the weak self-demeaning posture of the Food and Drug Administration toward them."

The railroads have $7.9 billion invested in their industry, Nader said, in estimating it would cost $13 million a year to have the sanitary equipment needed to prevent dumping.

But Manion said it would cost $150 million and $100 million to make toilet conversions and install facilities to handle retained wastes.

Critical Writer And Sensitive Athletes Still Entertaining Their Fans In Print

(Last of Three Parts)
 By MARTY BALBOVSKY
 The Cleveland Indians may not lead the major leagues in blizzarding opposing pitchers, but they do lead all of baseball this season in the annual blitz of the sporting press.

So far, the following incidents have occurred:

- Ken Harrelson has publicly accused the sports editor of one of Cleveland's newspapers of being the main reason the team is going to be forced to relocate in another city. According to Harrelson, the sports editor (Hal Leborvitz) has been entirely too critical of the team's performance.
- Sam McDowell threatened to eject physically a certain Baltimore writer from the Indian's locker room if he ever showed up in it. The writer described the Indians as "hapless."
- Duke Sims tongue-lashed several writers after a recent game, then told them to vanish and leave him alone hereafter. He said he was misquoted in a story and that he was through talking to sportswriters.
- Elsewhere, it is the same old story: Ted Williams is read at the writers in Washington; Lou Durocher gets his morning paper, tosses the sports section into the nearest wastebasket; and Richie Allen is telling anyone who inquires that all of his troubles in Philadelphia were started by the sportswriters there.
- And if that isn't enough, along comes pitcher Jim Bouton to question the sanctity of locker rooms and hotel rooms there than any sportswriter could possibly do.

Chamberlain. He is convalescing from knee surgery. Writer goes over to him and asks: "How's the knee, Wilt?" Wilt answers: "Get lost."

Chicago, Mid-June, 1969. Writer has appointment with Reggie Jackson, has been waiting since 11 a.m. in lobby of Sheraton Hotel. It is now 1 p.m. Writer assumes Jackson is ducking him. At 2:30 p.m. Jackson usually walks through revolving door. Writer asks: "Where have you been?" answers: "Out buying clothes."

New York. Visiting manager's office in Shea Stadium. Writer asks Walter Alton, manager of the Dodgers, if after 17 years of managing—he has noticed any change in the attitudes of young players toward the game. Alton answers: "You're trying to trick me. If you're going to ask questions like that, kindly leave." Writer does. Washington. Afternoon before championship game of NCAA Basketball Tournament. Writer stops John Wooden, coach of UCLA, in lobby of Sheraton Hotel, and asks: "Why is it, John, that you lock the doors of your locker room to the press?" Wooden answers: "Because all you guys are alike. You're all looking for controversy. Controversy sells your papers. Everybody knows that."

Most sportswriters agree that incidents occurring en route to a story often are more entertaining than the stories themselves. But rarely are they printed. To do so, said Russ White of the Washington Daily News, would only result in a greater widening of the war.

"And just think, what chance would we have against all those guys wearing hard hats and carrying bats?"

Northside Faces Fort Lauderdale

Fort Lauderdale eliminated Lake Worth from the district tournament at Cooper Field Wednesday night 7-2 behind the fourth pitching of Rick Winkvist.

Lauderdale went ahead to stay in the first inning by collecting three runs. Center fielder Ellison led off with a walk. Ellison went to second on a passed ball and Hardin struck second. Left fielder Rick Pruss knocked in Ellison with a sacrifice grounder and led once on a fielder's choice and Hardin. John Myers promptly knocked in Rudeck with a double.

Robert Alvarez scored another Lauderdale run in the bottom of the third frame. Alvarez reached first base on an error by shortstop Gary Murphy. He stole second and scored home on another error by backup Bob Benson. Rudeck crossed the plate and Winkvist went to third on another error by Benson. Hardin singled to push Winkvist across. Rudeck added another run in the fifth to put the lead on the cake. Murphy scored the first Lake Worth run when he went to first on an error, stole second and third and scored on a passed ball. In the seventh inning, first baseman Rick Koenig, who had moved to first after starting the game on the mound, singled and stole second base. Center fielder Mike Koenig and round out the Lake Worth scoring.

In addition to scattering four hits, Winkvist fanned nine while issuing only two base-on-balls. Winkvist also reached base every time he went to bat, once on a fielder's choice and once on a singles. He scored one run and also drove in one. Murphy, Bob Gallo, and Wes Good

FOR FULL DETAILS CONTACT ADMINISTRATOR, FLORIDA LIVING NURSING CENTER.

Providing skilled nursing services for patients who do not require extended hospital care but who need professional care.

Patients convalescing from accidents, strokes, or surgery and aged persons suffering from chronic illness may benefit from the services of the Center.

Florida Living Nursing Center is only one of 319 Medical Facilities operated by the Seventh-day Adventist Church around the circle of the earth.

They are people with many years of experience in operating hospitals, sanitariums, clinics and nursing facilities. Their work, wherever established is two-fold — that of ministering to both the physical and emotional needs of their patients. They are indeed PEOPLE WHO CARE.

Accommodations:
Rooms are individually decorated and attractively furnished to provide a warm, homelike atmosphere. Rooms are either private or two bed semi-private providing a large degree of privacy for each patient.

Occupational Therapy:
Keeping the patient involved in interesting hobbies and crafts is an important part of a program of rehabilitation and emotional adjustment.

Beautiful Gardens:
A walk in the beautiful garden areas permits the patient to relax and enjoy the pleasant year-around climate of Central Florida.

Food Service:
Wholesome, well balanced and attractively prepared meals are no less important than the medical treatment prescribed by the Physician. The Dietary Department is directed by a Registered Dietitian.

Physiotherapy:
For restoring muscle tone and healing of joints damaged by injury, disease, or stroke. This department is fully equipped, including a therapy pool. It is directed by a Registered Physical Therapist under the direction of a Staff Physician.

Dancers Shower 'Teach'

It's The Little Things That Count

Talented young dancing artists were as excited as the honoree at a bridal shower Saturday, July 24, at Florida State Bank Lounge.

Guest of honor was Miss Valerie Rye and guests were her dancing students, including Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole.

It was a shower of little things the guests could afford themselves and the bride-to-be received a pot pourri of home-making essentials including cleaning supplies, kitchen needs and bathroom pretties.

Hostesses for the afternoon affair were three mothers of the dancers, Mrs. Thomas Largent, Mrs. D. J. Brough and Mrs. Robert Marasca.

The beautiful refreshment table was covered with white linen and overlaid with a dainty aqua net cloth. Centering the table was a silver punch bowl, wreathed in aqua-tipped mums and fern, accented by silver candelabra with aqua candles. Silver trays were attractively arranged with chicken salad and ham salad open-faced sandwiches, cranberry nut bread with cream cheese, miniature pecan tarts, petit fours, toasted nuts and assorted butter mints.

Sharing the memorable occasion with the hostesses and honoree were her mother, Mrs. Walter Rye, and her sister, Miss Miram Rye.

Also Vicki Accardi, Terri Ann Armas, Franca and Melissa Echols, Pam Galloway, Debbie Graham, Jackie and Lisa Greene, Tari and Cindy Jurs, Susan Largent and Pam and Gina Madden.

Also Kim Roberts, Sara Lee Roberts, Monica Jo Rowe, Deborah Russell, Susan and Judy Swain, Nancy Tomlinson, Mary Ellen Van Dyke, Leslie Whitten and Sarah Anne and Jean Williams.

Also Judy Bales, Kerrie and Debbie Kuffen, Leslie Marasca, Amy Brough, Mary Ann Grover, Julie Tucker, Monique Torsal, Julie Hagan, Debbie, Vicky and Lisa Robinson, Tony Kniffen, Jeff Largent and Margie and Sarah Mercer.

Also Dana and Dinna Schuyseneyer, Lynn Yarborough, Beth and Tammy Shoemaker, Debbie Pharis, Debbie Shoemaker, Kim Erickson and Debbie Mize.

Also Dianne Roberts, Lynn Fortier, Kathy Smith, Carol Brumley, Terry Fay, Noma Huchs and Julie Williams.

A SHOWER of "little things" attracted the dancing pupils of Miss Valerie Rye, Saturday, when they danced their way into the heart of the popular "teach". Party hostesses and guest of honor are, from left, Mrs. Robert Marasca, Miss Rye, Mrs. Thomas Largent and Mrs. D. J. Brough.

Doris Stein Delegate To Annual Pilot Club International Confab

Mrs. Doris Stein, president of the Pilot Club of Sanford, Inc. was the official delegate of her club at the convention of Pilot Club International which was attended by some 1,200 women.

At the conclusion of July 23 meeting, Miss Barbara Calhoun of Macon, Ga., was installed president of Pilot International. She will head the membership of some 15,000 professional and executive business women during the civic club's 49th year and preside over its 50th annual convention. Miss Calhoun for over 20 years has managed the office of the Macon, Ga. operations of the Life Insurance Co. of Virginia. She succeeds Mrs. Mahal B. Breton, Contract Administration Branch Chief of the Galveston, Texas Division, Corp of Engineers, Department of the Army, as president.

Mrs. Frances Keever is the newly elected and installed president-elect. She is co-owner and business manager of photographic studio in Kannapolis, N.C. and will be installed as president of Pilot International during the 50th convention next July.

During the four-day meeting, Dr. Margaret Jones Chanin of Nashville, Tenn. was honored as America's "Handicapped Professional Woman of the Year." Dr. Chanin was presented a check in amount of $10,000 along with a silver bowl as winner of this award.

This was the first of an annual selection sponsored by Pilot International and the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped. Dr. Chanin lost both arms in a boating accident in 1941 when a junior in Dental School at the University of Texas. She is an instructor in the Department of Preventive Dentistry and Community Health, Meharry Medical College in Nashville.

Miss Calhoun urged Pilot Clubs, in addition to the hundreds of community projects they spearhead at the local level, to participate in a special international project at the Hospital de Occidente in Honduras. Pilot is a member agency of CARE, Inc. and each year co-sponsors a CARE-Pilot project. This newest one makes possible a training program for auxiliary nurses and supplies needed equipment to the hospital.

While at the Convention in Miami, Doris Stein attended the following workshops by Allstate Foundation, Heart, Arthritis, Cancer, Meals for Mothers, Hope, CARE, National Foundation & Salk Institute. President's Committee on Employment, work they are doing to help the underprivileged.

Keynote speaker during the convention was Ralph F. Salerno, for 10 years a crime fighter with the New York City Police intelligence unit. He spoke on organized crime, why Pilot's safety education work. It has won high priority from government, and outlined some of the efforts to control and reduce it which are proving successful.

Robert Leys, vice president in charge of public affairs and communications for Allstate Insurance Companies, complimented the organization on its traffic safety program when speaking at the Safety Luncheon. A check from Allstate Foundation for $10,000.00 was presented to Pilot's Charitable and Educational Foundation to extend Pilot's safety education work. Mrs. Agnes D. Beaton, Director of Women's activities for the Allstate Foundation, presented annual safety awards to Pilot Clubs and to youth clubs sponsored by the organization — Anchor and Compass Clubs.

Next meeting of the Sanford Pilots will be a steak "cook-out" at Mrs. LuBene Ball's home on Crystal Lake, Tuesday, July 28.

MRS. DORIS STEIN, left, president of Pilot Club of Sanford, chats with the newly installed Pilot International president, Miss Barbara Calhoun at the 49th annual convention in Miami.

MRS. F. D. SCOTT, right, entertained at a bridal luncheon for Miss Merritt Phillips, center, Saturday at Deltona Inn. Mrs. W. M. Philips Sr. poses with her daughter and the hostess.

Mrs. F. D. Scott Hostess To Luncheon For Miss Philips

A bridal luncheon, Saturday, July 25, at Deltona Inn, honored bride-elect, Miss Merritt Phillips. Hostess for the 1 p.m. affair was Mrs. F. D. Scott.

Merritt arrived at the luncheon wearing a sleeveless double knit cranberry and blue dress accented with a matching silk scarf.

Mrs. W. M. Philips Sr., mother of the honor guest, received a white carnation corsage from the hostess, who also presented Merritt with a gift of silver in her registered pattern.

Centering the luncheon: table was a bride's candle, decorated by the hostess, with pearls, wedding bells, wedding rings, etc., centered in a fluff of white illusion, which the bride-elect received as a memento of the happy occasion.

Unique place cards, also created by the hostess, featured a butter bean, painted and decorated, including hair, to depict each guest.

Others enjoying the delectable salad luncheon and hospitality were Mrs. Todd Pemberton, Mrs. Richard Fletcher Jr. and Mrs. William Park, all of Orlando.

Also Miss Rose Krutzart, Mrs. Henry Schumacher, Mrs. G. S. Blake, Mrs. Martha Ashby, Mrs. Jack Morrison and Mrs. Richard Deas.

Fowler-Gaver Engagement Told

By MARYANN MILES

Mr. and Mrs. Verie Thompson Fowler, of Forest City, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Cynthia Ann Fowler, to Jeff Gaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gaver of Miami.

Born in Takoma Park, Md., the bride-elect is a graduate of the Forest Lake Academy and will be a senior this year at Southern Missionary College in Collegedale, Tenn. where she is working on her Degree in Elementary Education.

Her fiancé, born in Miami is a 1967 graduate of Forest Lake Academy and is in his senior year at Southern Missionary College. He hopes to go into research.

The couple has chosen Aug. 16 for their wedding which will be held at Forest Lake Seventh-day Adventist Church. The bride-elect's uncle, Elder Henry Fowler, from Salisbury, N. C. will perform the ceremony.

Water Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Florida delegation headed by Sen. Sponsard L. Holland, D-Fla., has urged authorized $1.5 billion of new water projects which include an estimated $162.8 million improvement of Tampa Harbor.

Holland and Randolph Hodges, director of the Florida Department of Natural Resources, told a Senate Public Works subcommittee harbor improvement money is needed for Tampa, which ranked ninth in the nation in terms of tonnage shipped to foreign markets.

Two Bandits

HAWTHORNE, Fla. (AP) — Two bandits who held four Bank of Hawthorne tellers at gunpoint while they cleaned out the bank's cash drawers Wednesday were caught today by FBI agents and Alachua County sheriff's deputies.

Deputies said an auto believed to be the robbers' getaway car was found abandoned three miles north of the small town on U.S. 301.

A state law which requires that children under 18 be supervised at all times by an adult is being enforced in the area where the robbers were picked up within an hour after they hit town.

Leaders Convene

WASHINGTON (AP) — Florida's ranking Republican and Democrat in the state's Congressional delegation Wednesday called an Aug. 6 meeting of city and county leaders from North Florida to discuss a proposed economic development program for the area.

Democratic Rep. Bob Sikas and his GOP counterpart, Rep. William C. Cramer, called the Tallahassee meeting to sound out sentiment on what they believe should be the Coastal Plains Regional Commission.

Social Security

Bna Fish of the Sanford Social Security office says: "Medical treatment in an expert's opinion is necessary for everyone. But if you're 65 or over, Medicare may help pay those costs."

When the parents are called and asked if the boy or girl has permission, the usual answer is "yes and no," according to Glenn.

"The parents usually say, 'We didn't want him to, but we're not sure he would go anyway,'" said Glenn.

Romanian Flood Victims Suffer

By RICHARD C. LONGWORTH
LUDUS, Romania (UPI)—Every time Radu Ionescu turns a newspaper, he reads of the great national effort to repair damage wrought by Romania's floods.

Selfless help from the Communist party and the government, he is told, will have everything back to normal in a year.

Ionescu, which is a pseudonym for a newspaper, he came back to his home in Ludus for the purpose of this report. He was wiped out by the flood. So far, he has seen little help and he doubts things will ever be back to normal.

It was 2 a.m. on May 14 when the Mures River rose out of its banks a mile from his home. He just had time to gather up his wife and three children and run before the flood hit his one-story house.

House is Gone
"The water went away after two days but when we came back our house was gone," said Ionescu, a skinny, work-hardened man with bad teeth.

He stood in the pile of timber and debris that once was his home. "I lost everything."

With help from his friends, Ionescu put up a one-room brick shanty with a leaky roof to house his family after flood waters receded. He hopes to have a good roof and heating installed by winter. He has received some money from the government, he said, "but it's nowhere near enough."

There are thousands of Radu Ionescus all over Romania. The floods lasted for more than a month, killed hundreds of people, covered 1,500 villages and towns and destroyed at least 45,000 houses. It was the worst disaster in Romanian history.

In the capital of Bucharest, officials talk about "tremendous national unity" to repair the damage. They tell of massive relief efforts.

In Ludus, a desperately poor town in the foothills of Transylvania, Radu Ionescu and his neighbors tell a different story from that told in Bucharest.

Bucharest claims that only quick warnings by local Communist party officials kept the death toll down. But Ludus and the neighboring towns of Tirgu Mures and Medias were among the first places hit, and the warning.

Party Fears 'Panik'
The reason, according to Ludus residents, is that the party feared a "panik" among the people. Only a visiting Czech circus in Tirgu Mures was told.

The government said it provided quick aid in money, materials and skilled help. Ionescu said he got the equivalent of about $1,000, enough to buy a new house. Most of it is already gone on the one-room shanty.

KELLY SPANDAU, who also received a number of awards, presented badges to his brother Steve Spandau, Bradley Mueller, and George Daugherty, at Forest City Boy Scout Troop 7 Court of Honor. (Maryann Miles Photo)

Bear Lake Eagle Scouts

By MARYANN MILES
The Eddie C. Marvins, Raymond Drive and Highway 434, Saniando Springs, are indeed proud parents as both of their sons have achieved the Eagle Rank. Their younger son, Steve, received his Eagle award in a ceremony held Monday evening, as a member of the newly formed Forest City Boy Scout Troop 7, under the very able leadership of Frank Ward. The troop members feel very proud, too, as Eddie is the first of the boys to receive his Eagle Badge. Steve received his Eagle award while a member of the Bear Lake Boy Scout Troop 236.

Other awards given during the Monday night ceremony include Kelly Spandau, who received his Star badge, and swimming safety and conservation of natural resources merit badges; Steven Spandau, model building and design, home repairs, music and reptile study; George Daugherty, model design and building, swimming, and fishing; Bradley Mueller, second class.

Mathews Will Use A Familiar Ring

By United Press International
If Senate President John Mathews "no new taxes" call has a familiar ring to Gov. Claude Kirk, it's because Kirk built his campaign around the slogan in 1968.

"This burden of national inflation is already taking dollars out of the pockets and food off the tables," the Democratic candidate for governor said in Lakeland. "The taxpayer of Florida can't stand another lick in unnecessary new taxes."

In other campaigning, Republican gubernatorial hopeful Jack Eckerd said Florida needed to accelerate and better organize its pollution fight.

"Clearly, we have no alternative to full mobilization to get our environment—no alternative that we can live with," Eckerd said in an Orlando speech.

"Neither can we continue to live with leadership in Tallahassee that sells out to the dredgers and fillers, which concedes more smokestacks and pollution fight."

"Clearly, we have no alternative to full mobilization to get our environment—no alternative that we can live with," Eckerd said in an Orlando speech.

"Neither can we continue to live with leadership in Tallahassee that sells out to the dredgers and fillers, which concedes more smokestacks and pollution fight."

Cramer Charges Gurney With 3 Campaign Strikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward Gurney has been pincushioned for G. Harold Carwell in the money market, trying to score for dollars to finance Carwell's campaign for Florida's other Senate seat.

But now, by his own admission, Gurney has scored an error and Carwell's opponent for the Republican nomination, William Cramer, said it was a mistake that he should have been addressed to Carwell's finance chairman at Orlando, Fla.

Two days ago, Rep. Cramer, Carwell's principal opponent for the GOP nomination, said Gurney had twice before come to bat and both times broken the financial laws. Cramer said Gurney unlawfully solicited other members of Congress, including Cramer, and wrongfully offered a memo as a gift to donors.

After the latest difficulty arose, Cramer's press aide, Dick Neill, quoted Cramer as saying, "This is the third offense. The President's senator said, 'Florida doesn't have a more serious problem.'"

Meanwhile, a candidate for the seat of retiring U. S. Sen. Spenser Holland, U. S. Rep. William Cramer, promised to support "conservative solutions."

Hess Announces Candidacy

George H. Hess, III, of Lake Mary is a Republican candidate for county commissioner District 2. Born in Evansville, Indiana, he is 36 years old and a U. S. Navy veteran of the Korean Conflict. He attended Indiana University and Bradley University, is married and has three children.

This is his statement: Seminole County has become the crossroads of Central Florida. To live up to this fact, and to maintain this fact, we must have a strong road program. Acquire new and improve existing recreational facilities. — A Sheriff's Department that has the full support of the County Commissioners, both in enforcing the laws, and in men and equipment to the job. — A curfew, designed to keep children off the streets at night with multiplying fines for habitual offenders. Fines to go for recreational funds for children.

— Explore every means of State and Federal revenue, so as to release county funds for more attention to education and roads.

— Streamline our zoning. Set limits as to the number of any given type business within a given area.

— Work with all local governments and reorganized organizations such as the Jaycees, Chamber of Commerce, etc., to enforce the laws and business of a type suitable to our area, and will provide more and better jobs to our citizens.

Kidney Donor Denied

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Attempts of a death row inmate to force Raiford State Prison officials to allow him to donate a kidney to a teen-ager might live denied by a circuit judge Wednesday.

Leon County Circuit Judge Ben C. Willis denied Calvin C. Campbell's request to make prison officials send him to Denver where it would be denied to one of an array of offices where service ranges from general medicine to specialties such as orthopedics, electrocardiograms and eye examinations.

Soaring Health Costs Cut Cuban Exiles Initiate Miami Pay-As-You Go Medical Clinics

MIAMI (AP) — In this era of soaring health costs, there's a health plan flourishing in Miami's Cuban quarter that lets each member go to a clinic as often as they wish for as little as $5 monthly.

It is a pre-payment plan long established in Cuba and now becoming increasingly popular in exile.

Latins, well-to-do and hard up alike, flock to the Cuban clinics here. If they have health insurance where they work, they still sign up for the clinics to get unlimited doctor visits.

A Miami doctor tried to sell the plan to Americans, but got nowhere.

U.S. medical authorities eye the clinic system suspiciously but have not launched general investigations into its legality.

The $5 monthly price was quoted by Clinica Cubana, one of a "network" of fraternal or "mutual" clinics in Miami. It has just opened a $100,000 plant, called the Flagler Granada Medical Center. There are facilities for minor surgery as well as consultations.

Dr. Paul Glassmann, noting the success of the clinics among Cubans, tried recently to start one for Americans. The venture failed.

"It never got much beyond the drawing boards," said Glassmann. "With Cubans it's different. They've grown up with it. It's a family thing."

So Glassmann went in with one of his Cuban patients, a treasurer Jesus Rico, to establish a clinic for Cubans, the Clinica Union Latina. The health association, with Rico as president and Glassmann as medical director, has just opened a $60,000 clinic at 1100 S.W. 15th St. in a family-owned building.

"Volume is the name of the game," Glassmann explained.

"If you have enough people, it's profitable. Figure it out by multiplying the number of members by the monthly payments."

Glassmann added: "It's the philosophy of the Cubans. They come with their family like on a family outing."

Dr. George Palmer, executive director of the Florida Board of Medical Examiners, said: "We have only one investigator for the whole state, and he has more important things to deal with. The feeling is that Cuban physicians are not to stir up a mess. After all, the Cubans are taking care of their own."

Women Voters Accept Board Resignations

League of Women Voters
President Mrs. John Bowers has announced the resignation from the Board of Directors of Mrs. James M. Walter and Mrs. Julius C. Ringling. Mrs. Walter, who is moving to Jacksonville, has held a League office since 1968 and served as president in 1969. Members paid tribute to her outstanding efforts on behalf of the League at a farewell party on July 21st.

Mrs. Ringling has served as a Director since her election by the members in March. She submitted her resignation from this office in accordance with the non-partisan policy governing Board Members. Her husband, Dr. Julius Ringling, is a candidate for the District School Board.

The League of Women Voters encourages its members to be active involved in partisan political activities, but those who serve on the Board of Directors must remain a strictly non-partisan status. This governing body, composed of five officers and 12 directors, is responsible for determining the policies and positions of the organization. Board decisions are based on the consensus of a bipartisan membership and are free from any political party considerations.

Mrs. Val Colwell, Rt. 1 Box 235, Sanford ran the following ad last week:

Three roasters, 10 laying hens, $1.25 each or Rooster for $25, 500-6000 savings and week ends.

Mrs. Colwell said she sold the flock to the first caller, and the phone just kept ringing. She was surprised and pleased with such good response and results.

Mrs. Clyde Cline, Rt. 2 Box 7, Sanford found a tenant for her house with an ad that read like this:

Two bedroom house with breeze-way, kitchen equipped, 2433 Yale, 500-0000.

Mrs. Cline rented her house first day of ad and had many other additional inquiries.

Carolyn Smith, 1162 Selma Rd., Lakewood, Fla. ran this ad recently:

1954 Ford 4 door, in good condition, $75, 600-0000.

Mrs. Smith said that they had several calls about the car, and sold it on the 2nd day the ad appeared.

Police Academy Should Be Here

By STAFFORD DERRY

Every voter in Seminole County should immediately let the State Cabinet in Tallahassee know that the location of the State Police Academy in the existing buildings on the Sanford Airport has strong local support.

As present it appears that the very real arguments of logic, reason and sense would result in the state capital where such arguments as the availability of the Sanford facilities, plus the airport and the geographical advantage of putting such a school in the center and not in the northwest section of the state were advanced.

Inspired reports from Tallahassee printed in an Orlando newspaper would have the decision already made by State Law Enforcement Commissioner William Reed to build new facilities in Tallahassee and locate the academy there.

Prompt and vigorous refusal of our Sanford-Seminole leaders to believe this as factual reporting sent them to the state capital where such arguments as the availability of the Sanford facilities, plus the airport and the geographical advantage of putting such a school in the center and not in the northwest section of the state were advanced.

They have done their part. Now it is up to the voters (this is an election year with cabinet posts on the ballot) to speak in the language of the cabinet officers can understand.

Telegraph, telephone, communicate! Let this be a united, impressive and total response which will let Tallahassee know that growing, vital Seminole County cannot be safely ignored.

By JOHN A. SPOLSKI

About the Census . . . smile, things could be worse. Did you know that there are actually five states where the population dropped? Mississippi, North Dakota, South Dakota (must be a message there, eh?), West Virginia and Wyoming.

As a matter of fact, the latest census record, Florida went up from 4.9 million to 6.6 . . . Just imagine how impressive our local figures could have been, provided we'd had been on the ball and incorporated all of the many surrounding areas . . . AND ASSURING THEM WITH FACILITIES COMENSURATE WITH THE RAISE IN TAXES, OF COURSE.

Remember, the only way any city . . . ANY CITY . . . in the U.S. gains recognition insofar as Federal grants, etc., is concerned is aimed at the population. Not to mention those industries interested in locating in an area; they want to know that it's a thriving, growing community.

Editorial
The Sanford Herald today of the arrest of seven men in New York and Florida on charges arising from an extortionist loan made to an Orange County businessman. The arrests were the result of a joint investigation between the Florida Department of Law Enforcement and the FBI.

The arrests were based on an indictment returned by a Federal Grand Jury at Jacksonville on July 29 presented by the Orange County Strike Force from Miami which charges the seven men with violation of Section 894.802 and two of Title 18, U.S. Code, in that they conspired to make extortionist extension of credit and that they charged excessive rates of interest and thereafter attempted through threats of violence to collect the loans. The penalty for violating these sections is 20 years in prison or $10,000 fine or both.

Arrested Orlando today was Oliver F. Johnston, 43, a New York City resident. Santiana said the arrest was made jointly with the agents of the FBI and FDLE. Arrested in Miami were Carlton Eugene Miller, 42, and William Joseph DeFuria, 30, and Arthur Sacco, Joseph J. Davis, 25, of Clearwater was arrested in Clearwater by FBI agents.

Two New York residents, Frank Sacco, 44, and Stanley R. Dulman were also charged in the indictment. Dulman was arrested by the FBI in Westchester County, New York. Frank Sacco was charged with eight separate counts of extortionist credit transactions.

Stamp Program To Start
State Rep. Leslie Earle, a member of the legislative public health and welfare committee, reported to The Herald Thursday afternoon that the Seminole County school board has approved a program to start the welfare food stamp program in Seminole County.

It is hoped to get the program underway in 30 days.

Dr. Earle reports that Emmett Roberts, director of Family Services for the State Division of Health and Rehabilitation, assured him that these funds will be released in 30 days and since the county commission is prepared for it it should be implemented in that time.

Since the program is new in Seminole, Roberts promised that the county would be at the top of the list of eight or nine counties in the state given this priority because they previously had no food stamp nor commodity programs.

Earle, who looked into the situation at the request of Seminole officials, found that Congress had not yet agreed upon the appropriation for the U.S. Department of Agriculture sponsored food stamp program. The department, therefore, has been forced to operate on the basis of last year's levels on a month-to-month basis. The $600 million appropriation in last year's expired July 1. It is expected that funding will be doubled to $1.2 billion in the new appropriation with the fiscal from commodity to food stamps.

Seminole School Case Shifted To Orlando

Events are moving rapidly in the Seminole County School segregation confrontation with the U. S. Justice Department and the federal courts. Since Douglas Stenstrom school board attorney returned from Washington, D. C., happenings involve his office with the county school mix plan.

Stenstrom revealed at a Thursday afternoon meeting that the Seminole case had been shifted from the Jacksonville U. S. District Court, and jurisdiction of Judge Charles Scott, to Orlando Federal Court under Judge George Young.

The change to Orlando has resulted in some confusion regarding what plan the school board will choose to open the 1970-71 school year. Although the board has submitted its own plan, which received the approval of the U. S. Justice Department, there may be a delay in its use at the opening of school Aug. 31.

Reason for the indecision revolves around whether the Orlando court will have sufficient time to hear the board's new plan before the school opening. If a hearing before Judge Young is not held by opening day, it is possible the board will not be able to keep the freedom of choice school plan in effect until such a hearing.

The board has set a Tuesday night meeting and will make a decision at that time regarding under what plan the school year will begin. At least two board members, A. L. Keeth and Pat Bute favor the use of the as yet unaccepted plan, but one school administrative aide, Andrew Bracken, has recommended opening school under freedom of choice.

DENVER (UPI) — City Park golf course employee Charles G. Bryan says some people take their golf game too seriously.

Bryan told police he was working on the 12th green when an angry party of four walked up to him, complaining that watering of the course had made play impossible and then knocked him to the ground.

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — A North Dakota bank and six of its officials and shareholders, including some of the state's highest Democratic leaders, were indicted today on charges of conspiring to make political contributions from bank funds.

Named among defendants by a federal grand jury at Minot, N. D., were former North Dakota Democratic national chairman Mark Purdy of Minot, three incumbent state representatives and the Democratic minority leader of the North Dakota state senate.
