Women's Clubs Of County Have Meet

With the Oviedo Woman's Club members as hostesses, the regular meeting of the Seminole County Federation of Women's Clubs was held yesterday beginning at 10:00 A. M. at the Oviedo Woman's Club building in Oviedo. Dr. Elizabeth Tracy presided over the meeting which was opened with the song, "America the Beautiful" sung by the members, with Mrs. Emma Abbott Lyman as accompanist. Mrs. E. M. Carroll acted as secretary, and Mrs. R. C. Scheffer gave the treasurer's report.

Reports were heard on the month's work of the following clubs: Mrs. H. W. Tanner, as president of the Longwood Civic League, stated that the League had been very successful with welfare work; Mrs. C. R. Mason and Mrs. A. M. Phillips, of the Sanford Woman's Club, announced that the art exhibit sponsored by the Literature Department is proving a success; Mrs. F. R. Mitchell, of the W. C. T. U., said that the important event of the month with her W. C. T. U. was the tea given in celebration of the anniversary of the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment; Mrs. R. C. Scheffer reported for the Spanish American War Veterans Auxiliary; it was announced that the outstanding event of the month for the Oviedo Woman's Club was the banquet given recently when Judge James G. Sharon gave an address.

During the business session Mrs. Orin Burnett, Mrs. W. B. Ballard, Mrs. R. C. Scheffer, Mrs. J. H. Menick and Mrs. W. A. Theodore Langley were chosen to form the nominating committee. Following a talk by Mrs. S. O. Chase, Jr. on the needs of a county nurse, the County Federation moved to endorse the project of securing a nurse with the understanding that it take no part in the necessary financing. Mrs. C. R. Mason then gave a talk on the needs of a home demonstration agent.

Just before the close of the meeting Mrs. John C. Kennedy presented a short address on parliamentary law. Mrs. J. H. Menick was given the honor of introducing the meeting was given by Mrs. A. M. Phillips, and Madame Josephine Bettanetti. With accompaniment by Mrs. Joe Leinhardt, Mrs. Phillips sang, "A Brown Bird Singing," and a medley of old songs. Madame Bettanetti rendered, "Songs My Mother Taught Me," by Dvorak; "My Prayer," by Broon; and "Star Tricks," by Foster. Mrs. Lyman furnished her piano accompaniment.

At the conclusion of the meeting luncheon was served in the club rooms from tables decorated for the occasion with garden flowers developing a color scheme of blue and gold. Those serving were the following members of the hostess committee: Mrs. A. G. Covington, Mrs. B. F. Wheeler, Mrs. V. H. Slade, Mrs. Theodore Aulin, Mrs. Coalglazier, Mrs. E. H. Laney, Mrs. A. P. Farnell, Mrs. O. G. Wolcott, Mrs. Orin Burnett, Mrs. Libby Wainwright, Mrs. L. P. Mills, Mrs. T. W. Lawton, and Mrs. W. J. Lawton.

W. H. Cross, of Carrolltown, Ill., and his daughter, Mrs. C. E. Valentine, of Granite City, Ill., who have been visiting the former's other daughter, Mrs. W. D. Gardner, 1104 Myrtle Avenue, for some time, returned home yesterday.

ROLLINS COLLEGE IS CELEBRATING FOUNDERS WEEK

Animated Magazine To Be Held On Campus Sunday Afternoon

WINTER PARK, Feb. 17. — Rollins College will begin this week to celebrate its forty-seventh anniversary as the oldest institution of higher learning in Florida with a "Founders' Week" program featuring the sixth consecutive issue of the Animated Magazine on Sunday and Convocation Exercises and the Conferring of Honorary Degrees on Monday.

Activities begin Thursday, Feb. 15, with a meeting of the board of trustees in the morning followed by the opening of an exhibition of paintings by Jean Jacques Pflister in the afternoon. In the evening, the Little Theater Workshop Play, "The Workshop," an original review written by Mrs. Dorothea Thomas Lynch, the Workshop director.

Featuring Friday's program will be the thirty-eighth anniversary luncheon of the Rollins Sanjour, the undergraduate weekly newspaper, and final awards in the Irving Bachelier Florida History Essay Contest for Florida high school students. Miss Annie Peniston, of Dunedin; John Clark Ellis, III, of Geneva; Miss Betty Chapman, of Daytona Beach; and Miss Eleanor Wells, of Mt. Dora, have been named to compete for the final awards at Mr. Bachelier's Winter Park home, "Gate of the Isles," Friday night. The Phi Kappa Association of Florida will hold a public meeting with Dr. Charles Wardell Stiles of the Wesleyan Chapter scheduled to deliver an address on "Zoology and Religion."

Saturday is Alumni Day with the annual alumni luncheon listed to follow the thirty-fourth annual meeting of the Rollins College Alumni Association in the morning.

The Rollins Animated Magazine, with 20 contributors to the "table of contents" appearing "in person" to read their own manuscripts, will be published for the sixth consecutive year at 2:30 P. M. Sunday afternoon, out-of-doors. Contributors will include President Hamilton Holt of Rollins, Zona Gale, Joseph C. Lincoln, Jane Adams, Princess Aiala, Albert Shaw, Joseph J. Early, Opie Read, Irving Fisher, Edward A. Filley, James G. McDonald, John Canale, Eulalie Osgood Grover, Fred B. Smith, Vivian Yelverton, and Professor Edwin Osgood Grover, the magazine's "publisher."

Sunday night, Dr. Fred B. Smith, Moderator of the National Council of Congregational Churches of America, will preach the sermon at the Union Service of Rollins College and Winter Park churches.

Convocation and the Conferring of Honorary Degrees will be held out-of-doors Monday morning, Feb. 22, with Zona Gale as one of the speakers. In the afternoon, at his reception, President Holt will present to the college his collection of autograph photographs and portraits of the presidents of the United States.

60th Anniversary Of Local Masonry Is Observed Here

Winter Record For Weather Is Seen As Unusual

cy, for although fair and warmer has been the order for Sanford and vicinity, rains, squalls, and occasional cold spells have covered all Southern areas except Florida.

From a popular almanac distributed in Sanford, the following predictions are offered for the remainder of the month: Feb. 16, a storm forming over the Missouri Valley; 17th and 18th, mild, cloudy over the Northwestern States; 19th, a great storm advancing from the Pacific Coast; 20th to 21st, heavy storm over the Missouri Valley; 22nd to 23rd, rain, turning to snow over Northwestern States; 24th to 25th, severe cold wave over Northern States; 26th to 27th, heavy rains and snow over Southern States, and 28th to 29th, cold wave over the entire nation.

A visit to the office of J. P. Vanzant, weather bureau official here, yesterday afternoon, disclosed much interesting information as to comparative figures for other years, but little as to what may be expected in the future. "I believe it would be safe to say that there will not be a prolonged cold spell at any time this winter," Mr. Vanzant ventured, unofficially, "but, predicting weather in Florida is hazardous to an extreme, so, all we can do is wait and wonder."

After a study of comparative figures and charts compiled by Mr. Vanzant from official government readings taken on the Pezold farm on Beardsall Avenue, Florida and Sanford may reasonably expect something unusual at almost any time. It may be more hot weather, or it may be a freeze, but, according to the old law of averages, it is time that the unusual occurred.

Farmers well know that weather conditions during the season, Oct. 1930-May, 1931, were below normal. According to government figures, each month during that period found the thermometer from two to five degrees below normal readings. Cold weather was the rule, and not the exception, and rain fell with about normal regularity.

October of 1931 was about normal in temperature and rainfall, but November found the average mean temperature being 68.5, or 4.1 degrees above normal. Rainfall during November amounted to 33 inches as compared to a normal 1.65 inches. The unusual in weather really began in December, according to the records, for the average mean temperature was 69.5, or 8.7 above normal. Yet, the rainfall during December was about cause of the torrential downpour which fell on New Year's Eve.

Even the month of January, as all farmers know, was above normal. The average mean temperature was 65.4 degrees, or 5.3 degrees above normal. The unusual in rainfall was recorded during January when a total of .62 inches fell, 50 inches of which fell on the last day of January. The normal precipitation during January is 2.21.

So far in February, that is, including temperature readings of Sunday, the average mean temperature has been about 68 degrees. For a similar period last year, the average mean was 58 degrees. Not a drop of rain has fallen, yet the normal rainfall for Sanford in February is 2.11 inches.

Here is a comparative table of maximum and minimum daily temperatures for the first 14 days in February of 1931 and 1932:

Max	Min	Max	Min
65.5	51	1	49
67	50	2	57
67	53	3	57
61	51.5	4	53
71	40	5	51.5
72	40	6	41.5
74	43	7	59
75.5	46.5	8	54
75	46	9	58
69	47	10	55
59	44	11	60
58	44	12	65
72	50	13	72.5
66	50.5	14	72.5

The extreme to which February weather has gone is easily indicated in this tabulation which reveals that the warmest day in early February in 1931 was 77 degrees, while the warmest this year was 85 degrees. The coldest weather was 40 degrees during early February last year, yet this year, the thermometer has reached the 40 mark but once, on Feb. 6, when it went down to 41.5 degrees.

Further comparisons reveal that for the first two weeks of this month the average maximum temperature has been about 80 degrees, as compared with an average of about 63 degrees last year. The average minimum temperature for the first two weeks of this month has been about 56 degrees, while for a similar period last year it was 49 degrees.

What the future holds no one knows, although numerous stories have been advanced that this will be the "warmest year on record," and that "this is the same sort of weather which preceded the big freeze." Sun spots, which are known to have a singular effect upon conditions, are said to occur in regular intervals every 11 years. They are also accredited with having much to do with the summer of 1931, which was the warmest on record.

The Weather Bureau has contributed a chart of records for forecasting the weather with an aneroid barometer. It reads as follows, as to condition of the barometer, direction of the wind, and weather indicated: High, steady barometer, SW to NW, fair and little temperature change for one or two days; high and rising rapidly, SW to NW, fair followed by warmer and rain within two days; high and falling slowly, SW to NW, rain in 24 hours; very high, falling slowly, SW to NW, fair and rising temperature for two days; high and falling slowly, S to SE, rain within 24 hours; high and falling rapidly, S to SE, increasing wind with rain in 12 to 24 hours; high and falling slowly, SE to NE, rain in 12 to 18 hours; high and falling rapidly, SE to NE, increasing wind with rain in 12 hours; high and falling slowly, E to NE, summer, light winds, winter means rain in 24 hours; high and falling rapidly, E to NE, summer, rain in 12 to 24 hours; low and falling rapidly, SE to NE, rain and high wind, clearing and cooler in 24 hours; low and rising slowly, S to SW, clearing soon and fair for several days; low and falling rapidly, S to SE, severe storm soon, clearing and cooler in 24 hours; low and falling rapidly, E to N, northeast gales with heavy rain or snow, followed in winter by cold wave; low and rising rapidly, going to W, clearing and colder.

W. F. Garner Under Arrest In Shooting Of Georgia Officer

(Continued from Page One) sonville, he picked up a young man hiking toward Waycross, and was conversing with him about hold-ups as they neared that city. A man on a motorcycle drove alongside his car without warning and ordered him to stop the car, which he did. This man then took the keys from the lock and asked "Running a load?" to which Mr. Garner answered "no."

The man pulled a gun and ordered Mr. Garner to throw up his hands. Instead, Mr. Garner pulled a gun from beneath his right leg and fired once, the bullet missing. The officer turned toward the back of the car and as he did Mr. Garner shot again, the bullet entering the man's back, causing him to fall to the pavement. Sheriff McCall said that Mr. Garner admitted they both emptied their pistols at each other, and that he took a shotgun from the rumble seat and fired it at the man on the pavement. He took the man's empty pistol, the key's to his car, and drove away, with the youth still in the car with him. As they neared DuPont, they ran into a drove of cows, damaging the car. Mr. Garner said he decided to leave the car at DuPont, and he went on in a hired car to Valdosta. The youth disappeared shortly after they reached DuPont, he said. At Valdosta he telephoned Mrs. Garner and asked that his son, Lewis Garner come to Valdosta at once, which he did. Both returned to Sanford at midnight last night.

According to O. M. Hines, Ware county, Ga., deputy sheriff who was in Sanford this morning with C. F. Justice, solicitor of that county, and A. P. Johnson, filling station owner, who was one of two eye-witnesses to the affair, Officer Stephens wore a regular officer's uniform when he was shot.

Mr. Johnson, who saw the shooting and with a friend drove immediately to the scene, about 200 yards from his filling station, just before Garner, and the youth drove away, positively identified Garner as the man who shot Stephens. "I'll never forget him," Johnson said.

TO GRADE BAR PAPERS

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 17. — (A.P.)—G. T. Whitfield, secretary to the state board of law examiners, yesterday said the board members expect to meet in Jacksonville, Mar. 12 to grade examination papers turned in by 48 candidates for admission to the state bar. The examinations were held here Monday.

MANAGER, Sanford County

tion of the county should have representation from a man who is practically a farmer, and since I have become intensely interested in the development of the county during the past year, I have a desire to give my time and experience for the common good of us all. I have no political aspirations, and have entered this race on behalf of numerous friends."

Mr. Haines is not new to political life for he is a well-known public figure in Middlesex county, Massachusetts. He served for four years as a representative from that district in the Massachusetts house; was a delegate to the Constitutional Convention for two years, and served as non-partisan mayor of Medford, Mass., for eight years.

He was born in Boston in 1874, graduated from its public schools, attended Brown University, and is a graduate of Boston University, class of 1899. He practiced law in Boston for over 20 years, and was admitted to the United States bar in 1902. He is also a member of the Florida bar, admitted about 10 years ago.

Mr. Haines is one of Altamonte Springs leading figures. He is president of the Royal Fern Co., the Standard Fern Co., and the Florida Plumosa Exchange. He is the owner of more than 125 acres of orange groves which he daily visits and supervises, and is also a heavy property owner in the community itself. He came to Altamonte Springs in 1922, is a member of the Rotary Club, the Shrine, Knights of Pythias, Elks, first vice-president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, and has voted the Democratic ticket since his arrival in Florida.

Frank Kay Anderson, resident of Altamonte Springs and associate editor of Citrus Industry, announced that he, too, is a candidate for the office of representative from Seminole County, Group No. 1.

He seeks election on a platform of strict economy in the operation of the state government, and pledges his entire efforts to that end. "Tax reduction must come," Mr. Anderson said, "for it is my opinion that the only way for business to go forward in Florida is to reduce taxes. The primary way to reduce taxes is to reduce the operations of government, and I shall work steadily to that end."

He points to the steadily increasing costs arising from the operation of license tag agencies which he believes should be abolished and the duties handled through some other county office, probably that of tax collector. "Essentially county functions ought to be returned to the counties, and not handled at Tallahassee," he further states in his announcement which features tax reduction policies.

Mr. Anderson, who is widely known throughout Florida, has lived in this state the greater portion of his life, and is one of its many boosters. In his long years of service as an editorial and feature writer on many subjects, Mr. Anderson has had numerous opportunities to become conversant with the needs of difficulties, as well as accomplishments of various city, county, and state governmental administrations. He expects to use this experience to good effect if elected to the office, and states that he believes it will be of great value to this section.

He has resided in Altamonte Springs for the past six years, although he has spent many earlier years there, having lived there for several years shortly after his birth in Tennessee. His relatives are pioneer residents of that community, and he now lives, with his wife and children, in his grand-father's residence, one of the landmarks of Altamonte Springs.

He is associate editor of the Citrus Industry, published in Tampa, and is a contributor to the Fish and Oyster Reporter, and the Polk County Democrat, Bartow, both owned and controlled by the former news magazine.

Pointing to a record of economy and progress and asking that he be returned for a fifth term so that his new well-established policies may be continued, John Melach, veteran celery grower, announces for re-election to the office of County Commissioner, District No. 2.

Mr. Melach was elected to this office in 1922, and upon being re-elected on Jan. 7, 1923, he was elected as chairman of the Board, an office he has held for the past nine years, succeeding L. A. Brunley.

An leader of one of the most important governing boards in the county, Mr. Melach conducted his associates through the trying "boom" days with a careful hand, with the result that while other counties in Florida are heavily burdened by bonded debts, sprung of speculation and unwise County is today at the forefront of the few prosperous and well-governed counties in Florida.

Widely visioning the future and the actual needs of the county in several departments, Mr. Melach has stood for only those measures and practices which are economical. Upon taking office, the county's bonded debt was $940,000. It remained at that figure until 1925 when antiquated nine-foot roads were seen as inadequate for the constantly mounting traffic attending the agricultural development of the county.

Deciding upon a three-year road and bridge building program which would give this county a modern chain of highways, Mr. Melach and his group in 1925 authorized the issuance of bonds totaling $760,000, later followed by two $450,000 issues, every dollar of which has been spent for road construction. This county has never defaulted in the payment of its bonds in either principal or interest.

The fourth announcement is that of Vance E. Douglass, who seeks re-election to the office of county clerk, which he has held since his election over strong opposition in 1924. He was re-elected in 1928.

Mr. Douglass states that his platform remains as in other years, one based on courteous, economical, and efficient service to all taxpayers and other interested persons. He believes that the best efforts of himself and his staff are appreciated by voters who are constantly calling upon his office for assistance in the numerous legal and real estate matters confronting them, and assures each voter that present policies will be continued if he is elected to office again.

Mr. Douglass is a native of this county, born and raised near Sanford. He attended Orlando schools, and was appointed deputy clerk under his father E. A. Douglass in 1913. He is a member of the Methodist Church, the Masonic order, the Odd Fellows, Sanford Elks Club, Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, and is president of the Florida Field Trials Association.
