Now Tied For First Place With Local Town Tavern Team

The Belcher Oil team of the Sanford Air Base put up a nice game struggle for five innings Friday evening in their club with the local Independents at City Diamond-ball Park, but finally bowed to the Independents 8 to 3, in seven inning game.

The start of the sixth inning found the score tied at 3 runs each, the Independents having scored two runs in the first inning and one in the third, while the Belcher Oilers got one each in the second, fourth and fifth innings. In the sixth, Pitcher Cook of Belcher Oil got into difficulties allowing three singles, a two bagger by Steele and a pass to Evans. When the last ball finally settled and the cheering died down the Independents were three runs in the lead, and in the seventh clinched their victory with two more runs.

This victory put the Independents in a first place tie with the local Town Tavern Team, each having scored three wins against the Carpenters, Administrators and Belcher Oilers of the air base.

Tonight at 8:30 the two local teams, the Independents and Town Taverns will clash here in a fight for the league lead.

Cards Split Double-Header With Cubs, Still Hold Loop Lead By 2 1/2

CHICAGO, Sept. 21. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals split a double-header with the Chicago Cubs before a crowd of 35,919 Sunday and thus failed to increase their 2 1/2-game lead over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the National league stretch drive.

The Dodgers, also split their double-header with Philadelphia. Morton Cooper, the Cardinals' ace right hander, registered his 21st victory in defeating the Cubs, 1 to 0, allowing only four hits in the first game. Claude Passeau, in rare form, held the bewildered Cards to five scattered hits as the Cubs took the second, 3 to 0. It was Passeau's 19th victory.

Leon Lon Warneke rationed only seven hits to the former teammates in the opener, but a hitting double steal enabled the Cards to score their only run that gave them their sixth straight victory and their 34th in 41 games, besides their 100th of the season.

Walker Cooper grounded out to Lon to open the fourth. Then Johnny Hopp drew a pass and promptly raced to third base as George Kurovski sent his second hit bouncing into left field.

Martin Marion lined to Bobby Sturgeon, the club second-base man, but then while Warneke was pitching to Mort Cooper, Kurovski sprinted for second. As Cub Catcher Chico Hernandez threw to head off Kurovski, Hopp broke for home from third base, then held up long enough to draw a throw to Stan Hack, the Cub third baseman. When this happened Hopp tore for the plate and dodged in past Hack's throw to the catcher.

In the second game, the Cubs drove Lefty Max Lanier to the showers in less than three innings when they scored their winning three runs.

Passeau blasted the third open with a single through the box and Stan Hack bunted safely, with Passeau going to second. Phil Cavaretta drove a single to center, scoring Passeau. Hack fanned at second, Nicholson popped and Dallandro fouled out. Novikoff, the Mad Russian, slashed a single to left, scoring Hack, and when Jimmy Brown, the Cards' second baseman, muffed Stan Musial's throw-in, Cavaretta charged home with the final run.

County Assistance Money In August Totals $10,366

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 21. (Special)—Cash grants received during the month of August by Seminole county recipients of Old-age Assistance, Aid to the Blind and Aid to Dependent Children totaled $10,366, according to State Welfare Commissioner Leonard W. Hlatt.

During the month $8,723 was paid to 617 recipients of Old-age Assistance; $288 to 24 recipients of Aid to the Blind and $1281 to 46 families (109 children) receiving Aid to Dependent Children.

During the same period, net cash payments to public assistance recipients the state average of $23,484 per year. This was the largest sum ever paid out in Florida during a single month for this purpose, and was made possible by additional revenues resulting from taxes levied by the 1941 session of the legislature on money played through the mutuels at horse tracks and the diversion of the 44 cent "b-a-k-a" at horse tracks, for Old-age Assistance, and an increased wine tax and a tax on heavy trucks, for Aid to Dependent Children.

A reduction of 13 percent in operating costs for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1942, was recently announced by the State Welfare Board in a drastic economy move intended to supplement funds available for the payment of cash grants.

Blanding Uses Unofficial Class For Tall Draftees

CAMP BLANDING, Sept. 21. —If any man taller than six feet, eight inches tries to enlist in the Army at Camp Blanding, he'll probably be classified A-1 plus "too high."

That unofficial classification came into being here when two giants, Private Carl B. Eisenbach, six feet six inches Bushnell, and Private David E. Adams, six feet eight inches from Miami, were inducted into the Army within a few days of each other.

The tops for regulations height in the Army is six feet six inches so Eisenbach managed to get in; but the Fourth Service Command in Atlanta had to grant a special waiver in Adams' case.

Eisenbach, though two inches shorter than Adams, weighs 205 pounds. Adams tips the scale at 218. Both men were size 15 shoes and both will be held here until they receive extra large clothing.

Adams had tried to join the Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard but had been rejected because he was "too tall." He had almost given up hope of getting into the Armed Forces when an Army recruiting sergeant suggested he apply on a waiver. A line man, supervised by the district office, Signal Corps, suggested he apply on a waiver. A line man, supervised by the district office, Signal Corps, suggested he apply on a waiver.

Roy Reigels And Mickey Owen Both Make Comebacks After Sports Boners

Wide World Features BROOKLYN, —It takes a man with courage, ambition and determination to come back after a historic boner as Roy Reigels made in the Rose Bowl football game a decade or so ago and as Mickey Owen made last year in the World Series.

But both came back. Reigels was rated a better football player after he had run the wrong way against Georgia Tech and Mickey Owen is more highly regarded now than last October, when he missed the third strike in the fourth game against the Yankees.

Mickey was the goat of the series. His misplay gave the Yankees new life, just the respite they needed to go on and win the game the Dodgers had sewed up. That probably was the turning point of the post-season championship. Mickey was not wholly to blame. It was really an almost wild pitch. A wide-breaking curve that broke heading in. It happened that Tommy Lincoln swung on it—thus giving him life at first if he could beat Mickey's throw, which he did.

There's talk that Reiser and Medwick and Reese and others were Brooklyn's most valuable players this year, but no less an authority than Manager Leo Durkin nominates Mickey.

Owen has been in there almost every day, handling the pitchers well, performing his other catch-

Italy States Allies Drive Into Libya

Mechanized Columns Are Southeast Of Bengasi, Egypt; El Alamein Quiet

(By Associated Press) On the north African front, the Italian high command disclosed that Allied mechanized columns had knifed deep into the Axis-held territory of Libya, reaching the neighborhood of Gialo Oasis, 250 miles southeast of Bengasi. On the Egyptian front, all was quiet on the El Alamein line 60 miles west of Alexandria.

From General MacArthur's headquarters in Australia came the report that Australian paratroops, hastened by the possibility of Japanese invasion forces at Milne bay, have intensified their attacks against enemy units being through the Owen Stanley mountains in the forlorn area 32 air line miles from Port Moresby.

The mopping up of the last stragglers from a Japanese landing force trapped and defeated Aug. 25-30 at Milne bay, 225 miles east of Port Moresby, left Allied commanders free to cope with the enemy thrust through central New Guinea, and hopes that they might be ready for offensive action there.

Ground forces opposing the Japanese around Ioribaiwa were reported more aggressive, although the situation was described officially as showing "no general change." Allied planes, opposed in the air over New Guinea, hammered without pause at the Japanese base, striking Sunday at Lae, Buna and Kokoda, on the north side of the mountains where a large Japanese supply dump was destroyed.

(The Vichy radio heard in London, asserted the Japanese advance toward Port Moresby continued, and that the Australian forces were being driven back to the coast.)

Club For Service Men Discussed At C. Of C. Meeting

Trade Body Considers Additional Wells In Water System

Construction of a recreation building to be located in Fort Mellon Park and to be used as a club for service men now looms as a distinct possibility, following a conference Saturday between officials and J. R. Brennan, senior engineer of the Federal Works Agency, Edward Higgins, secretary of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, discussed at the conference was the construction of additional wells for the Sanford water system.

After investigating both of these projects, Mr. Brennan requested application blanks to be sent by the City for both projects so that they could be presented to the federal government. These blanks will be received in a day or two, and applications will be filed immediately, it was revealed.

It was the opinion of the engineer, according to Mr. Higgins, that both improvements were necessary, and that the former could see no reason why the application blanks should not be granted.

Mr. Higgins also stated that he and City Commissioner J. J. James plan to leave today for Jacksonville to confer with the Federal Works Agency and engineers regarding these two projects.

Mr. Higgins was very optimistic over his chances of getting these two projects through, added Mr. Higgins, "details concerning which will be announced later."

Nazis, R.A.F. Night Raiders Are Grounded

Rebuilt British Navy Chases Battleship Tirpitz Back To Norwegian Berth

(By Associated Press) In the western air, both the R.A.F. and the German night raiders were grounded last night. However, in respect to Naval activities, a London communiqué reported last night that powerful units of Britain's rebuilt war fleet chased the German super-battleship Tirpitz back into her Norwegian berth, perhaps with a torpedo in her huge side which she ventured out for a convoy raid some days ago, and they are standing by to sweep down on her if she moves again.

British planes and submarine patrols have redoubled their vigilance off Trondheim fjord, where the Tirpitz has been based since shortly after her completion a year ago, and will off the battle-wagons the instant she pokes her nose beyond the steel cliffs, responsible sources said.

The Tirpitz' latest futile sortie was believed aimed at the same convoy which the Germans claimed over the week end to have shattered by sinking or damaging 41 of its 45 merchantmen and six escorting British destroyers and airplane attacks over a six-day period. British officials called the German claims fantasy.

The Tirpitz was said to have steamed out of Trondheim heavily escorted by other German warships based in the area, believed to include one 20,000-ton battleship, presumably the Scharnhorst and one or two pocket battleships and heavy cruisers.

But she barely had cleared the harbor, the story ran, when she learned that British naval forces were waiting for her. The Tirpitz wheeled and foisted at top speed for the protection of Trondheim's cliffs and coastal guns but not before one British submarine "succeeded" in being effective attack range.

If the Tirpitz was hit, it will be the third time torpedoes have torn into her huge bulk, which is listed under the German prize construction program as 45,000 tons but is believed to be close to 48,000.

Soon after the look-up, residents of Trondheim she sailed forth on a raiding expedition. British torpedo planes attacked her and scored at least one hit on the scorched back into the fjord.

The reports said the clubs were being organized by Mrs. Roosevelt's personal secretary, including improvement of negro welfare with several groups as "All negroes out of the kitchen by Christmas."

Gaze to a Loveliest

(From Kaleidograph)

I cannot give Clear pale honey From a neat hive In orchard sunny.

Rich and dark Is the comb I promise, Ripped from an oak And stung with malice.

O do not look For a meadow pool That lies at dusk Beneath a cool.

Mine is the fame Of restless seas Distilled in wine To burn or freeze.

And I learned song From a falcon's throat. So do not long For the stock dove's note.

Do not demand That I should weep— A halo bland Upon my hair.

Fan kissed my brows When I was born And each one shows A graceful horn.

If you could choose You'd have me— A garden enclosed, A symmetry.

Of pleached green alleys And stunted walks, With beds of lilies On smooth meek stalks.

Do I'm a tangle Of nettles and lilies Whose flowers spangle My tangles like fire.

And with the rose Which you would gather A sharp thorn grows One from the other.

May not be torn Or both you'll lose— So dare my thorns And wear my roses!

Fighting For News

The recent disappearance of Larry Allen during the British raid on Tobruk recalls that newspapermen all over the world, have been facing the dangers of the front lines in order to bring newspaper readers the latest news of the day. His experience at Tobruk, whatever it may have been, was not the first time in this war that Allen had faced danger. He has had more ships shot out from under him than most sailors in a life time.

Since the war began eight newspapermen have been killed, 17 wounded and three reported missing in action. In addition 18 have been captured in action and 57 more interned in enemy countries, a fate which has proved in some instances to be almost as bad as death itself. A recent issue of Editor & Publisher recounts what has happened to some of these newspapermen, as follows:

Airplane accidents accounted for several of the deaths. Ralph W. Barnes, New York Herald Tribune, was killed when a British bomber crashed in Yugoslavia on Nov. 18, 1940. Melville Jacoby, Time, was killed in a takeoff accident in Australia last April 29. On the home front, Ben Miller, Baltimore Sun reporter, died in a plane crash at Wichita, Kan., last May during a "production for victory" tour of war plants sponsored by the National Association of Manufacturers.

"The United Press death toll stands at two. Webb Miller, general European manager, was killed in a London bomber accident two days before the German advance into the Low Countries. Harry Perry, of U.P.'s London staff, died of malignant malaria contracted while in Cairo awaiting assignment to the Mediterranean fleet.

"Don Bell, NBC correspondent at Manila, who was bayoneted to death by the Japanese in Manila early this year, according to a report published by Melville Jacoby of Time before the latter's death in Australia. Mrs. Lea Burdette, PM contributing photographer, killed in Iran by bandits last May. Eugene Petrov, for two years a correspondent of North American Newspaper Alliance, killed at Sevastopol.

"American press war fatalities since 1938 total 10. Edward J. Neil, Jr., Associated Press, and Harold G. Johnson, Newsweek, were killed when a shell exploded near their car during the Spanish civil war in 1938. A British correspondent, E. R. S. Sheepsbanks, Reuters, died with them. The first British correspondent killed in the current war was A. Massey Anderson, Reuters naval correspondent, who died in action in the Mediterranean.

"Of the 17 wounded or injured, three were U.P. men. Harold Guard, now in Australia, was hit in the leg on the Malayan front. He limps as a result of this wound. Franz Weisblatt was wounded before the fall of Manila and later was captured on Bataan by the Japs. Virgil Pinkley suffered a minor flesh wound in the neck when struck by a machine gun bullet while covering action in Libya.

Three INS casualties in this group include Larry Meyer, who was wounded by shrapnel while in a boat covering the raid on Dieppe last month. Merrill Mueller, formerly of INS, and George Lunt, of the London staff, were injured slightly in April, 1941, when a bomb fell near the INS London office. Lunt is the son of Jack Lunt, New York Mirror editor.

"George Weller, Chicago Daily News, who is now in Australia, was wounded in the journey from Java. Richard Mowrer of the same paper was wounded in a raid near Mersa Matruh during the early stages of the desert battle. He was buried in debris up to his neck and managed to come through with minor injuries, although he developed an ear infection.

"The cruelest wounds were inflicted on Leigh White of CBS. Shot in the groin when a Messerschmitt raked a Greek troop train with machine gun fire in the spring of 1941, White was in hospitals abroad and in New York for many months. Only recently he discarded his crutch and now is able to walk with the help of a cane.

"James M. (Don) Minifie, then chief of the London bureau of the New York Herald Tribune, lost his right eye as the result of injuries suffered in a raid the night of April 16, 1941. Cecil Brown of CBS has the distinction of being the war correspondent most frequently injured. He was burned in the sinking of the British battle cruiser Repulse, was hit by bomb splinters in Singapore and was injured another time while there.

"Wounded with White was Robert St. John, then of the AP and now in London for NBC. St. John was hit in the leg and limped for some time. Larry Allen, AP naval correspondent who won a Pulitzer prize for his story, was injured slightly but was nearly drowned when the British cruiser Galaten was torpedoed and sank in the Mediterranean last December.

It was this same Larry Allen who was reported missing the other day following the raid on Tobruk.

650 Freshman End Orientation Week At Tallahassee

TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 22. (Special)—Approximately 650 new students have completed the first phase of their orientation into college life with the close of Freshman Week at Florida State College for Women on Saturday, Sept. 19.

The General Orientation program will continue throughout the entire year during which freshmen will have older students as their counselors and faculty members as their advisors. The next six weeks of school will be devoted to an adjustment program designed to insure a more exact understanding of college standards in the academic, social and extra-curricular fields and to the acquiring of suitable attitudes towards these phases of college life. During the rest of the year, efforts will be made to see that each freshman is oriented in some activity outside of her college work. Extra-curricular activities open to freshmen are athletics, departmental clubs and honoraries, Y.W.C.A. and denominational church groups, specially directed groups for freshmen. Outstanding among the changes made this year over last year's program was the running of two separate and distinct sections of the orientation program for Freshman Week. These two sections ran one day apart beginning on Tuesday morning. The reason for the two sections was the lack of adequate transportation to get all the freshmen here at the same time. It was necessary to make arrangements for half of the freshmen to come at one time and the remainder a day later.
