No Gramm-Rudman Ruling

Court Spurns Parents' Argument Against School

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today did not issue a ruling on the Gramm-Rudman balanced budget law, despite a report by ABC news that the court would strike down a key provision of the law. Court officials routinely announce how many opinions will be issued the following week.

Last week a court spokeswoman said there would be three opinions Monday, four Tuesday and three Wednesday. However, the court delivered only two opinions today, raising speculation the court decided to hold back temporarily its decision in the Gramm-Rudman case because of the ABC report.

ABC Supreme Court correspondent Tim O'Brien reported the decision, saying that while he had not seen the opinion, he had been told of its contents by sources.

As reported by O'Brien, the court, on a 7-2 vote, declared unconstitutional that part of the law designating how to make automatic budget cuts if Congress and the White House fail to meet deficit targets.

"We are confident the story is correct and the Supreme Court will announce the decision shortly," O'Brien said after the court failed to rule in the case today.

In other action today, the Supreme Court rejected efforts by a Roman Catholic couple in Virginia to teach children at home to protect them from "secular humanism."

The justices refused to hear the case of Richard and Margaret Snider, who were fined $100 for violating Virginia's compulsory school attendance law.

The state law requires parents to send their children to private or public school or to hire a certified tutor. Exceptions are granted to families opposed to school because of their religious beliefs.

The Sniders, who live in Henrico County, began teaching

Man Dies In Copter Crash

An Orlando man is dead and a Casseberry helicopter pilot recovering from a broken collarbone following a helicopter crash Saturday on the median of Interstate 4.

Dead is Michael Fletcher, 31. The pilot, Santiago Rosell, 35, was discharged Sunday from Sand Lake Hospital. He could not be reached for comment today.

The accident occurred in rain Saturday around 6:30 p.m. north of Disney World on

I-4 near a rest stop.

According to reports, the helicopter, flying low near the interstate, flew under a powerline then snagged a second one causing the crash. The crash was witnessed by Rosell's wife who was following on the interstate in a car. According to witnesses, the helicopter was buzzing a car on the interstate at the time of the incident. A FAA investigator was to talk to Rosell

GOP Leaders Praise Hawkins, Endorse Anti-Crime Platform

By Sarah Fischer
Herald Staff Writer

National Republican leaders continued to voice their strong support for the re-election of U.S. Senator Paula Hawkins, as the state party's grassroots delegates wound up their two-day convention Saturday by embracing the party's 1986 platform.

The platform adopted by the convention's 1,900 delegates took a strong anti-crime position, calling for stiffer penalties in drug cases and limiting the number of appeals and time allowed for appeals in death penalty cases.

It also was anti-tax increase, opposing suggestions of a state income tax, and any attempt to extend the sales tax to food, medicine and other areas of personal services.

The convention also provided a sounding board for five 1988 presidential candidates and one potential vice presidential contender.

Throughout the convention, Republicans rallied support around Hawkins in what they said would be a tough re-election race against Democrat Gov. Bob Graham.

None of the national figures would admit openly they were running for president, although each said he was interested and would make a decision after the November elections. However, for the time being they said they would lend their energies toward the upcoming congressional elections, which they said are vital to the continuation of President Ronald Reagan's politics.

The 1988 presidential contenders speaking at the convention were Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., former Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., former Secretary of State Alexander Haig, and former Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld. They were joined by Secretary of Transportation Elizabeth Dole, regarded as a potential vice presidential candidate.

"None of us are here, you understand, none of the speakers have been here with any thought in mind of '86, or '88," Dole told a news conference Saturday night, drawing laughter from his mistake on dates.

"They're all here because they are interested in 1988, and that's why I dropped into town," he said. "I saw all these cars out here as I drove by and thought I had better check it out. It turned out to be a political convention."

"But we are concerned about '86, and we know how critical this state is," he said. "I think every speaker has mentioned that. This is sort of the showcase state. We see the Republican Party growing by leaps and bounds in Florida and it is a sort of model for other states around the country."

Dole and his wife were co-speakers at the closing banquet Saturday night and praised the record of Hawkins and her importance to the Reagan Administration during its final two years, a theme voiced by the earlier speakers.

"Paula Hawkins is as fine an advocate as there is in the U.S. Senate," Mrs. Dole said. "She is tenacious. She is a fighter."

She said the country has experienced a "rebirth of economy and spirit" under Republican leadership and has "restored hope to the vocabulary of American life."

"Paula Hawkins has done an outstanding job," Dole said. "Here's a Republican senator who has immediate access to anyone in government, particularly the president. If you want to reward (Ronald) Reagan during his last two years in office, then don't turn the Senate over to the Democrats."

Dole also rallied the Republican delegates from 49 Florida counties, saying, "We are building the party from the ground up. We're no stronger in Washington than our party is at home."

He credited the rapid growth of the Republican party in Florida to its being able to attract young people, ages 18-24.

"We give them a lot of hope," Dole said. "There is a revolution going on out there. We're listening and responding to what America wants us to do."

The 1988 presidential race is

South African Police Brace For Violence

Blacks Stay Home On Soweto Anniversary

Note: This report was written in compliance with South African emergency restrictions stipulating journalists may report only information coming from the government.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Blacks boycotted work and security forces clamped a lid on black townships today to prevent violence on the 10th anniversary of the Soweto riots, which triggered a 10-month black uprising that claimed some 600 lives.

A government spokesman said eight people — all blacks — were killed in racial violence during the 24-hour period that ended at 6 a.m. today.

The deaths brought to 31 the number of people killed in unrest since a nationwide state of emergency was declared Thursday. Among the dead were three women killed by a car bomb that exploded outside a popular restaurant in Durban Saturday night.

"Police and security forces are on standby and are on patrol at every possible place where trouble could have been expected," government spokesman Leon Mellet said today.

Authorities banned direct reporting from troubled black townships and said local and foreign journalists could report only information coming from the government. All telephones in Soweto were cut off early today.

'Soweto is like a graveyard... This is the quietest June 16 since 1977. It has never been as quiet as this.'

Hundreds of thousands of blacks stayed away from their jobs, locking themselves inside in townships whose streets were virtually deserted. Opposition groups and trade unions had called for work stoppages to mark Soweto Day.

The government barred all public commemorations of today's anniversary of the Soweto riots but blacks vowed to defy the ban. Bishop Desmond Tutu, the Nobel Peace Prize-winning Anglican bishop of Johannesburg, scheduled a commemorative service today at his Johannesburg cathedral.

Mellet confirmed that police fired tear gas Sunday night at the Athlons Road Mosque in Athlone, a mixed-race suburb of Cape Town. He said people in the mosque were not holding a religious service and that calls were made to kill policemen and defy the state of emergency.

"About 20 policemen arrived and ordered dispersal," he said. "While an officer was issuing this order, a shot was fired at police from above the mosque. Police had information there were more snipers in the area."

Mellet said police fired tear gas and the crowd dispersed.

Witnesses said 29 cannisters were found inside the mosque and that elderly people and children fainted in the rush to smash doors and windows to escape the fumes.

(In an earlier dispatch, before censorship was imposed, it was reported that witnesses said police waiting outside the mosque beat fleeing worshippers with whips.)

Mellet said he had no information on reports that 200 people were detained at a church in Elsie's River, another mixed-race suburb of Cape Town.

Today's national work boycott was the second this year and appeared likely to become the biggest in South African history.

Mellet said the "orchestrated stayaways" reached as high as 90 percent in some areas but that anticipated major violence had been averted.

"It is more peaceful than one could have

Flag Brings Honor

In a Flag Day ceremony Saturday, Kathy Leonard, left, business manager for Ken Rummel Chevrolet, accepts framed citation from Bud Tobin, commander of American Legion Post 53 of Sanford and June Blair, president of Auxiliary Unit 53, in appreciation to the dealership for its "loyalty and patriotism" in flying a giant-sized American flag from a flag pole at its location on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Sanford.

Bacteria Found In Crystal Lake

Bacteria indicating the presence of human waste has been found in water samples taken from the East Beach area of Crystal Lake in the City of Lake Mary. City Manager Kathy Rice said Monday.

Fecal coliform bacteria, which indicates the presence of human waste in the water, was found in high numbers in the first week of the second series of tests on the lake water, she said. The lakes East Beach is located off Country Club Road, north of Lake Mary Blvd.

The high counts were discovered in evaluation of water samples taken during the first week of June by Teer Laboratories. Ellis Teer of the analysis company has been testing water since May.

Hawaii Space Center Proposed

U.S. Firm Hires China To Launch Satellites

PEKING (UPI) — China, which has signed its first agreement with a U.S. firm to put two satellites aloft within three years, said today it favors an American proposal for a joint commercial space center based in Hawaii.

Peking officials and representatives of New York-based Teresat Inc. Sunday announced the signing of an agreement to use Chinese rockets and launch facilities to redeploy two satellites recovered in 1984 by the U.S. space shuttle Discovery.

A joint press release said the agreement, the first formal launch contract signed by China and a foreign firm, calls for launching one satellite aboard a Chinese Long March-3 rocket in the last quarter of 1987 and the other six months later.

The two satellites — the Palapa B and Westar 6 — will be launched from China's Xichang space center in central Sichuan province.

In another development, the official Peking Review magazine said today an unprecedented proposal to use Chinese Long March carrier rockets to launch American satellites from Hawaii came from the giant Hughes Aircraft Corp., which makes most U.S. satellites.

The magazine said the Hughes proposal calls for the construction of a Sino-U.S. space center on one of the Hawaiian Islands. It did not say which one.

It said the proposal was presented by Hughes Aircraft President Paul S. Visher and has received a positive response from the China Great Wall Industry Corp., the state enterprise which handles business matters for Peking's fledgling commercial space program.

The plan calls for a "satellite launching ground for long-term cooperation, to be set up on a Hawaiian island where Chinese carrier rockets and launching technology shall be exploited to launch American civilian satellites" in cooperation with Hughes, it said.

Peking Review said the proposal has received "positive response" from the Chinese and negotiations between both sides are expected to be held soon.

Western diplomats said the plan could attract customers reluctant to have their satellites launched in communist China.

With both the U.S. and West European space programs grounded, China has recently moved aggressively into the commercial satel-

President: Abortion Controversy Dominated NOW Convention

DENVER (UPI) — The National Organization for Women closed its convention with debate on taking better care of U.S. children and on helping AIDS victims but the group's leader said vital issues such as day care were forced aside by lingering abortion controversy.

A National Right to Life Committee convention six blocks from the NOW convention headquarters made other vital issues take a back seat to abortion, just as attention had focused on the Equal Rights Amendment in the 1970s, NOW President Eleanor Smeal said Sunday.

Smeal, the mother of two, said pay equity and child care also are important topics for women, "but these other issues don't get the publicity."

Three anti-abortion activists were arrested during the march for heckling NOW leaders. On Friday, police arrested 22 people in an anti-abortion protest at a Rocky Mountain Planned Parenthood clinic.

Summit Prospects With Soviets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new overture from President Reagan has left prospects for another superpower summit in the hands of Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev at a time of contention and possible opportunity in U.S.-Soviet relations.

The White House confirmed during the weekend that Reagan sent Gorbachev a letter proposing that Secretary of State George Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze meet soon, possibly in Europe, to develop an agenda for a summit late this year.

The letter, delivered in Moscow last week by U.S. Ambassador Arthur Hartman, was described by administration officials as conciliatory in tone.

When asked about the letter Sunday as he returned to the White House from the presidential retreat at Camp David, Md., Reagan refused to discuss its content or say whether a response had been received.

Senate Tax Vote Nears

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate, in an unusual burst of speed, is rushing past objections and beating back amendments to its radical tax reform plan in anticipation of a vote this week, but some challenges may still surface.

A rare coalition of liberals and conservatives — all seeking to preserve the measure as drafted by the Finance Committee — banded together time and again last week to defeat amendments, even ones that were exceedingly popular, such as restoring tax breaks for individual retirement accounts.

Members of the "core group" heeded warnings of Finance Committee Chairman Bob Packwood, R-Ore., and Republican leader Robert Dole of Kansas that any major change to the bill could cause the entire measure to fall apart.

Their toughest challenge came on the amendment to restore IRA tax deductions, which they defeated 51-48 last Wednesday.

President Pushes Contra Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, who warned that "delay is deadly" in the fight against communism, today steps up his campaign for aid to the Nicaraguan rebels by inviting supporters of the package to the White House in advance of a crucial vote in Congress.

Reagan, who has championed support for anti-communist insurgencies in Central America, Asia and Africa, scheduled meetings with the Nicaraguan supporters and leaders of the anti-Soviet resistance forces in Afghanistan as part of his push to gain approval for $100 million in aid to the rebel Contras.

With the House, which rejected his request in March, expected to reconsider the matter next week before the start of a two-week Fourth of July recess, Reagan has depleted the Contra aid as an urgent national security issue.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Grand Jury To Examine Police Brutality Charges

FORT MYERS (UPI) — The case of a black man who charges police with brutality for allegedly beating him into unconsciousness after he was stopped for supposedly running a red light goes before a grand jury this week.

Leroy King, 49, a former construction foreman, accused the seven white officers he said beat him of brutality. They said he began to fight with the officer who pulled him over. State Attorney Joseph D'Alessandro decided last week to take King's allegations before a Lee County grand jury.

Fort Myers Police Chief Jere Spurlin denied that his department had any problems with brutality but said he welcomes any review of his department.

Although a judge found King not guilty of the traffic charge, two other charges, battery on a police officer and resisting arrest, were still pending.

Eight Broward Sites Polluted

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — Some of eight Broward county sites tested by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency may rank among sites eligible for cleanup under the nation's "Superfund" for hazardous waste, studies showed.

Six of the eight sites, chosen from a list supplied by local and state environmental officials, are contaminated with heavy metals and pesticide compounds, the recent EPA studies showed.

The sites will be scored and ranked in order of their potential danger to determine which ones will be proposed for the national priorities list, he said.

The reports were based on samplings of groundwater, surface water and soil taken last year and analyzed by a new mobile laboratory, housed in a mobile trailer the agency kept in Hialeah, in Dade County.

Miami Beach Alerted For Sharks

MIAMI (UPI) — Miami Beach police warned swimmers to stay close to the shore after sharks or other large fish fed on the bodies of two drowning victims.

The bodies of the two victims, an elderly man and a teenage boy, were found within blocks of each other late last month at the northern limits of Miami Beach.

Although the Dade County medical examiner listed the cause of death in each case as drowning, both bodies were badly mutilated, possibly by feeding sharks or other large fish after the victims drowned, Lasseter said.

Chernobyl Officials Sacked

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet officials have begun apportioning blame for the Chernobyl nuclear disaster, firing the director and chief engineer of the power plant and naming others who failed to perform properly during the emergency.

The Sunday story in Pravda, the nation's most important newspaper, also said some employees of the Ukrainian power plant were "still on the run" seven weeks after the accident.

"The former director V. Bryukhanov and chief engineer N. Pomin were dismissed for not being able to organize leadership and discipline, for meekness and lack of administrative ability," Pravda said.

The report made clear that the two dismissed officials did not understand the seriousness of the situation, the world's worst nuclear power accident.

The Pravda story did not specify the cause of the April 26 accident, which contaminated parts of four Soviet republics and killed 26 people, according to the most recently released figures.

Sunday's article followed weeks of hints that the staff at Chernobyl failed to react properly to the explosion and fire that released radioactive material into the atmosphere.

Many other Chernobyl officials — in addition to Bryukhanov and Pomin — were criticized by name in the Pravda story but it was unclear if they had been fired.

"Due to a lack of administrative and educational work with people, some of the workers of the station are still on the run, among them the shift master and senior foremen," Pravda said.

Pravda also talked of a labor shortage at the reactor site, where the two undamaged units of the four-reactor power station are scheduled to resume operation in October.

The statement that "the work needs more people" could foreshadow a delay in the ambitious government plans to resume power production only six months after the disaster.

The Pravda report contained new complaints about the care of evacuees, saying workers protested bureaucratic delays in getting assistance.

And Izvestia, the afternoon newspaper, reported Saturday that 7,000 people in a radiation-contaminated village in Byelorussia remained in the village during clean-up operations.

Izvestia said more than 30,000 people had already been moved from the Byelorussian sector of the 19-mile evacuation zone surrounding Chernobyl and that it would have been difficult to relocate residents of the village, which is just outside the zone.

Study Of Reagan Tenure:

Worker-Protection Programs Eroded

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fifty years of federal programs to protect American workers have seriously eroded since President Reagan took office, a report to Congress says.

While basic laws protecting workers remain in place, "lax administration, budgetary cuts and inadequate legislative oversight have undermined the protection the laws offer," the report said.

"Training opportunities for the unskilled and unemployed have diminished, working conditions have deteriorated, workers' rights have been undercut and the unemployed and the retired have less income security."

The report, released Sunday, was submitted to the Joint Economic Committee by Sar Leviton and Isaac Shapiro of the George Washington University Center for Social Policy Studies.

Committee chairman David Obey, D-Wis., said the report indicates the administration

"has executed a full-scale retreat in virtually every area of government activity affecting the well-being of American workers."

Not only have workers suffered higher unemployment levels, "but virtually every program to help the jobless — from unemployment insurance to retraining and job-search assistance — has been cut back dramatically," Obey said.

The report said federal funding of employment and training assistance has dropped from $9.5 billion in 1981 to $5.6 billion in 1986. The percentage of unemployed receiving unemployment insurance fell to "a historic low" of 34 percent in 1985.

After adjusting for inflation, the minimum wage has declined by 26 percent since January 1981 and is now at its lowest real level since 1955. The enforcement of health and safety regulations also has deteriorated.

The report said the decline in the unemployment rate since 1983 does not justify the cutback in federal employment

Amnesty Concert Draws 55,000

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UPI) — Amnesty International drew 55,000 fans to a show featuring jazz, folk, rock and reggae greats such as Miles Davis, Joan Baez, The Police and even, Yoko Ono.

John Lennon "here in spirit" to benefit human rights around the world. Davis, the legendary jazzman; Ono, Lennon's widow; and the folk group Peter, Paul and Mary were among the first to take the stage Sunday. The Police, who had split up but reunited for the Amnesty tour, ended the concert.

Ono sang the slain Beatle's idealistic vision of world harmony, "Imagine," introducing it to the cheering audience with: "John is here in spirit with us."

"This is dedicated to all the people in South Africa who have been imprisoned this weekend," said Peter Gabriel, leading into a song titled "Biko" about the South African labor activist who died while in police custody.

The noon-to-midnight concert at Giants stadium at the New Jersey Meadowlands was the last in the series organized to celebrate Amnesty International's 25th anniversary, raise money and bring in new members. Some 25 million television viewers also watched the show, officials said.

Traffic Reporters Killed In Copter Crash

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — A helicopter carrying a television news crew crashed and burned near a downtown intersection today during a live traffic report, killing the pilot and a reporter and critically injuring a cameraman, a station spokesman said.

The helicopter, named "Chopper 12," was from WTLV-TV, Channel 12 in Jacksonville. Aboard were a reporter from radio station WAPE, a cameraman from Channel 12 and the pilot.

Those killed were Julie Silvers, the reporter for WAPE, and Buddy Smith, the pilot of the Hughes 500 helicopter. The cameraman, Bret Snyder of Channel 12, was reported in "grave" condition at University Hospital in Jacksonville, Marjorie Phinzy, news director at WAPE said.

"One of our engineers, who was at the scene shortly after the crash, said eyewitnesses told him a piece flew off the back of the helicopter and it sort of lost power and spiraled to the ground," Phinzy said. "Some construction workers apparently ran to the helicopter and pulled everyone out before it exploded, but Julie and the pilot were already dead," she said.

Phinzy said the crash occurred in a tree-filled lot and no cars or bystanders were involved.

David Richardson, news director at Channel 12, said the chopper went down at 6:44 a.m., at the end of a live traffic report.

"Chopper 12 spiraled in, hit some power lines and apparently exploded," Richardson said.

Scholarships Awarded

Eight Seminole County high school graduates received scholarships from the Longwood/Winter Springs Area Chamber of Commerce recently. C of C Education Committee chairman Walt Lee said.

The recipients include: Lyman High School, Dawn E. Boyesen, $500 each; Chow M. Yu, Oviedo High School, $400; and three prior scholarship recipients, Jay Spann, Kim Gall, and Tina Warden, also were given additional assistance. Lee, who is also a Lyman assistant principal, said, "One of the major objectives of the Longwood/Winter Springs Area Chamber of Commerce is to nourish the spirit of working together for the benefit of the community and its residents.

"I can think of no better way to accomplish that goal than assisting tomorrow's leaders in attaining the education they will need to carry on our efforts," Lee added.

Serving on the scholarship selection committee with Lee were Chamber board members Catherine Daucher, M.M., "Red" McCullough, and Don Terry.

The committee selected the eight recipients from 14 applications from the three of four high schools in the Chamber's service area and from prior recipients requesting continued assistance. The total amount of scholarships awarded was $4,000. —Paul Schaefer

WEATHER

SANFORD REPORT: Highs this weekend ranged from 89 degrees Saturday to 91 degrees Sunday with only .38 inch of rain recorded for the two days at the University of Florida Agriculture Research and Education Center on Celery Avenue and .30 inch at the main water plant at Mayfair Golf Course. Casselberry received 1.5 inches on Saturday and .4 inch on Sunday for a weekend total of 1.9 inches. More rain is expected for today.

NATIONAL REPORT: Severe thunderstorms that hurled tornadoes in North Dakota and Minnesota spread heavy rain today from the Plains to the Great Lakes, while other storms drenched southern Florida. A flood watch was posted today for northwest Pennsylvania, and a severe thunderstorm watch was issued for southeastern Minnesota and parts of Iowa and Wisconsin, the National Weather Service said. Thunderstorms rumbled from Kansas and eastern Nebraska through northern Iowa, Minnesota and the upper Great Lakes. Strong winds were expected along Ohio's Lake Erie shore, and a marine warning was posted from Cleveland to Fairport. Water levels in the lake are so high that strong winds pose a threat of flooding along coastal areas, said NWS meteorologist Scott Tansey. More than 2 inches of rain in northeast Ohio Sunday sent a foot of water surging over streets in Cleveland and washed out a bridge in southern Ashtabula County. The storms knocked out power in Trumbull County. Thunderstorms also drenched extreme southern Florida today. Tansey said, "It's raining pretty heavily in those areas." A tornado Sunday in east-central North Dakota damaged a home, a car and farm equipment southwest of Hannaford. No injuries were reported. Other funnel clouds were sighted near Grand Forks, N.D., but weather service spokesman Mark Ewens said he did not know the extent of the damage.

Garbage Pick-Up Changed

The schedule for garbage pick-up in the City of Lake Mary has been changed, according to City Commissioner Buzz Petsos of the city solid waste committee.

Petsos said the schedule was changed so that areas producing the most trash will be picked up earlier.

Refuse hauler Western Waste, Orlando, was awarded a five year exclusive contract to pick-up garbage in the city of Lake Mary. Their service started May 1.

Petsos said the southeast section of the city, including Cardinal Oaks and Country Downs developments, and other subdivisions, will be picked up starting at 6 a.m., and former morning pick-up areas will now be picked up in the afternoon. All other portions of the city will remain on the same schedule.

The changes went into effect Friday.

Tip Led To Arrest Of Suspected Beer Bandit

A tip from a woman who reported to Altamonte Springs police that on June 3 she saw a man taking beer from a truck parked at Bennigans tavern, State Road 436, Altamonte Springs, led police to a suspect with a car fitting the description provided.

The car was traced to the suspect's mother on June 9, police said. The mother questioned the suspect and reported to police that he did have use of her car on the day three cases of beer valued at $12 each were stolen from the truck at the restaurant, a police report said.

Albert Frances Berban, 18, of Orlando, was charged with burglary and theft at 4:05 p.m. Friday at the Altamonte Springs police station. Bond was set at $1,000 and he has been released.

ASSAULT, OLD DISPUTE
A 26-year-old Sanford man has been charged with aggravated battery after allegedly "backhanding" and threatening a Paola man over a "domestic" incident that occurred two years ago.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies reported the suspect arrived at the home of Kenneth Spivey, 340 Grant Line Road, at about 11 a.m. Friday. The man reportedly started to argue with Spivey and hit him in the face, cutting him.

Spivey followed the suspect to his truck and offered to shake hands, but the suspect allegedly drew a hunting knife from his back pocket and threatened Spivey, a sheriff's report said.

The suspect was arrested at his own home at 2:16 p.m. Friday. When charged he allegedly continued to make threats against Spivey. David

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Sandi L. Forrest, 25, of Longwood, the owner of Bargain Spot Auto Sales, reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies that a former manager of her business has apparently collected payments and issued receipts for car payments, but didn't turn the cash collected over to her. The apparent thefts occurred between April 1 and June 1. Ms. Forrest told deputies she had repossessed four vehicles, because she had no record that payments had been made, although the customers were able to produce payment receipts signed by the former manager. The case is under investigation.

A gold chain valued at $250 was stolen along with $53 cash, a $165 television and other items from the home of Mark Thomas Young, 34, of 462 Jergo St., Winter Park, on Friday, a sheriff's report said.

A $277 video recorder, eight tapes, $100 binoculars, jewelry and other goods were stolen from the home of Robert E.

Tweed, 45, of 1000 Lake of the Woods Blvd. #E105, Fern Park, Friday. Deputies have the name of a possible suspect.

Marian M. Richardson, 31, of 616 Vincent Place, Longwood, gave deputies the name of a suspect who may have stolen $1,000 worth of items including furniture, jewelry and clothing from her home between June 8 and Friday.

Stereo speakers valued at $110 were stolen from the vehicle of Fred D. Southall, 25, of 3048 Foxhill Circle #105, Apopka, on Thursday or Friday, a sheriff's report said. At that same address and time a $258 radar detector was stolen from the car of Alvin G. Kruse, 40.

David C. Hockman, 23, of Plant City, reported to sheriff's deputies that near a restroom at the east Interstate 4 reststop near Longwood at about midnight Friday one of three men who approached him hit him in the left arm with a nunchaku, a martial arts weapon, and took $8 from his wallet before fleeing. Hockman's arm was treated at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford, a sheriff's report said.

Cheerleader Clinic Scheduled

The Eastern Cheerleaders Association will conduct a summer clinic for junior and senior high school cheerleaders on the campus of the University of Central Florida July 31-August 3.

The program includes all phases of cheerleading for all levels of experience. Cheerleader coaches may attend, but they are not required to do so.

Information is available from the association at P.O. Box 475, South Hill, VA 23970, or (804) 636-2000.

Peace Talks And Rape ...

The grandmother lifted her skirt and showed zippered scars on her abdomen and breasts. "This is where the death squads raped and shot me," she said. "I went to the police looking for my pregnant daughter, but they attacked me."

It was 1984 and the woman was waiting outside the office of the bishop of San Salvador, hoping to show a visiting senator her wounds.

But the senator rushed to a meeting with Christian Democrat candidate Jose Napoleon Duarte and the woman was left pleading with a journalist. "Tell the American people this is happening to the madres of the disappeared!" she cried.

Duarte was soon elected president of El Salvador.

He promised two things — to curb death squad violence and to open talks with the rebels.

He had early success diminishing the rate of death squad violence, but killings continued.

He met with rebels in two rounds of talks, but failed to convince them to come out of the hills.

Now, two years later, independent human rights leaders have been abducted and tortured.

The Mothers of the Disappeared are occupying the bishop's church as a protest, and Duarte has called for a third round of talks with the rebels.

El Salvador twists in its agony. More than 60,000 people have died in the civil strife.

Most are like the grandmother, civilians. The war has shifted from the ground to the air, where bombings of guerilla bases also have killed mothers and children.

Americans would prefer to forget about El Salvador. We would prefer to think of Duarte as a shining success. We would prefer to forget about the death squads.

But the press secretary of the independent human rights commission, who showed many foreign journalists the photographs of the death-squad victims, has himself been abducted, interrogated, tortured and forced to sign a confession that he was not allowed to read, according to the rights group.

In May, six mothers and human-rights workers were abducted and tortured. One of them was raped, suffering severe abdominal injuries.

The debate in Congress is about Nicaragua. But our aid is supporting the Duarte regime.

Our government is training his police and military. We're providing him helicopter gunships and bombs.

Duarte, his face still scarred from military torture, knows the suffering of those who are abducted and beaten.

If these mothers and human-rights workers are subversives, let them be brought to trial and charged.

In fact, Salvadoran courts have been unable to put any known death-squad killers behind bars.

Justice is a delusion in this land of killing.

Duarte needs the support of the United States in order to pursue negotiations with the rebels. In seeking peace, Duarte should not lose control of his own military.

Peace talks cannot go on above the cries of mothers being raped and tortured.

Do People Take Trash Seriously Enough?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — People magazine has set forth a list of "great trash" available this summer.

As evidence that beach reading book publishers have supplied "nothing deeper than Cher's navel," it cites Roger Vadim's "sizzling memoir" of his life as a movie director.

While I would vote for most of the magazine's nominees, I question whether People takes trash seriously enough. Although it pays lip service to high class sleaze, the suspicion grows that People isn't really dedicated to dress.

Already there are complaints the nation's colleges aren't graduating enough "yes men" to meet current demands. Can you imagine what might happen if their professors filled their heads with the notion that trash can be easily and quickly brushed off?

I don't care what the field might be — whether movies, books, food or fine art — there is a pressing need for seediness.

According to People, "the finest in trash food" this season may be "Miami Mice," a matched set of edible rats that come in five delicious flavors.

A real crummy aficionado might be justified in asking: "Why only five flavors?"

Aren't these "squishy critters," as People calls them, fully as shoddy as ice cream, which can be purchased in 59 or more flavors, give or take pistachio?

"Proust, the budget deficit and the diplomatic chill between Australia and Indonesia can wait," the periodical says, maintaining the public is more preoccupied with a television starlet's hair, which "has more tease than a cornerful of Times Square hookers."

I recall some years ago seeing a roadside sign that read: "Help Beautify Junkyards: Throw Something Lovely Away Today!"

I commend that sentiment to the editors of People, along with advertising that touts a local pornography outlet as "Parveyors of Fine Smut Since 1976."

Other trash on the People list includes: — "The proliferation of dubious wedding memorabilia" in connection with Britain's upcoming royal nuptials, including a commemorative mug so shoddily made that "red clay can be seen through the glaze."

— A Hollywood telephone gossip service whose "trashier tidbits" revealed that "a certain prime-time star discovered that two of her male loves had fallen for each other."

— A film in which two rape victims track down the culprits in such a "unladylike" manner "it might explain why the female director" used a pseudonym in the titles.

Oh, sure, you might agree with People that "the all-American kitsch machine is in full throttle" this summer. You might even agree that certain items being sold as souvenirs of the Statue of Liberty's restoration constitute "truly tacky paraphernalia."

I still insist People tends to treat trash too trivially.

Take it from a true claptrap connoisseur, the more one's life is guided by picaresque principles, the more one is inclined to put trash in its proper place.

WASHINGTON WORLD

Reagan Remains Detached

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan has a detached operating style that is reminiscent of Dwight D. Eisenhower. Distance from personnel disputes and even policy matters is his trademark.

White House staff problems, disension in the ranks, Cabinet bickering never seem to be on his watch. In many ways, the distance he keeps is self protective, but the question often occurs — who is in charge?

It is true the federal government is not monolithic. It is run by individuals with different perspectives and different axes to grind.

Reagan delegates duties and therein gives away a lot of power. Details do not concern him. As a consequence, the White House chief of staff, Donald Regan, often appears to merit the label "Mr. Prime Minister."

For example, The New York Times reported that the president's director of speechwriters for the last three years was dismissed by Regan after "constant battles" over the president's public speeches.

The speechwriter, Bentley T. Elliott, a conservative, had planned to remain on the job until September when he expects to join the staff of Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., who aspires to the presidency. But the Times said that Elliott got the ax before he could resign.

The apparent cause was an internal battle between Reagan's conservative advisers, headed by Communications Director Patrick Buchanan, and the more pragmatic advisers headed by Regan.

Buchanan wanted to name Margaret Noonan, one of the speechwriters, to head the team in place of Elliott, but he was overruled by Regan.

Nowhere is it explained where Reagan might have weighed in, and apparently he didn't, even though speeches are his stock in trade.

The question of whether Israel has cooperated with an investigation of spying allegations resulting from information given by Navy analyst Jonathan Pollard in his plea bargaining has caused a public rift between the State Department and the Justice Department with their differing statements.

The State Department, seeking to soothe Israel's ruffled feelings, issued a statement saying there is "no evidence of any espionage ring involving Israeli officials." The department said Attorney General Edwin Meese concurred and had given his approval.

But the Justice Department said Meese did not approve the statement. — Helen Thomas

WILLIAM RUSHER

Where Next In Space?

Now that the president's commission to investigate the Challenger tragedy has submitted its report, the question arises: Where does America's space program go from here? It is unlikely to be cut back much, if at all, once Congress and the White House are satisfied that the errors that made the Challenger disaster possible have been identified and corrected. But new mistakes can still be made down the road — as a recent remark by Sen. Albert Gore, Jr. illustrates. The Tennessee Democrat expressed the hope that America would, in the foreseeable future, land astronauts on Mars in a joint project with the Soviet Union.

Now, as it happens I find much to commend in the idea of a manned landing on Mars. Nothing seems more obvious to me than the proposition that it is man's destiny to explore the solar system. But I cannot imagine a more stomach-turning way of going about it than to embark on it hand in hand with the Soviet Union.

In the first place, a complex project such as a manned landing on Mars is bound to be difficult enough without trying to internationalize it. Sir John Hunt, planning the expedition that made the first successful ascent of Mt. Everest in 1953, sensibly confined the climbing party to citizens of British Commonwealth countries. As he wrote afterward, "On an expedition of this exceptional nature the stresses and strains set up between individuals are bound to be considerable, and I could not afford to make even more difficult the achievement of our all-important unity by making it at the same time an experiment in international good will."

Behind this point, however, looms a far larger one. Senator Gore's suggestion reveals his total confusion on the subject of U.S. relations with the Soviet Union. Nothing about that appalling regime warrants the sort of American approbation, or at least condonation, that would be implied by such a combined operation. (Just imagine the uproar if anyone proposed embarking on it with a regime like Nazi Germany — or even today's South Africa!) The Soviet Union is the longest-lasting and most thoroughly-going despotism on the face of the earth — a despotism all the more detestable because it is based, not on one of the uglier forms of ignorance, but on the claims of a perverted "science." Alone among the world's major nations, it has a Ministry for the Promotion of Atheism.

For 40 years we Americans have been told that, because of the prospective horrors of a nuclear war between the superpowers, it is necessary to walk carefully in the matter of our relations with the Soviet Union. As a means of discouraging the use of our attitude toward Nazi Germany (which didn't have The Bomb) as a benchmark for how to treat the Soviet Union, this argument had, and still has, a certain validity. But there has never been any lack of people on this side of the Iron Curtain eager to put our relations with Moscow on a positively amiable footing, and Sen. Gore finds his place in that grand tradition.

Unfortunately his suggestion has a superficial charm that will appeal mightily to the hopelessly naive. It is easy to imagine what they will say: Perhaps out there, looking back on the receding earth from the perspective of a million miles, Joe and Ivan and Tom and Vassily will realize at last, and tell us, that we are all travelers on the same tiny planet, and that the things we have in common are far greater than the things that divide us. That might bring tears to the eyes of senators like Albert Gore, but what effect do you suppose it will have on the grim-visaged members of the Politburo?

JEFFREY HART

Bush, Kemp Up Front

The television evangelist Pat Robertson has now made a very strong showing in the complex Michigan delegates selection process, a tribute to the fervor of a couple of thousand grass-roots supporters. This does not mean that he has a ghost of a chance of winning the Republican nomination, but he is now skewing the political equation.

Paraphrasing, I believe a strong case can be made against clergymen running for and holding public office, be they priests, nuns, rabbis or ministers. A clergyman, by definition, has a specifically religious vocation. God is the primary, the overwhelming subject. His studies and his life — supposedly — have been devoted to God. Tax rates, missile counts and such things are important, of course, but they pale before the idea of God.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson is not a clergyman but a huckster and a grandstander. The pope was right to tell Father Drinan, a Jesuit priest, to get out of Congress, and Drinan was right to get out. Pat Robertson should get out too.

The Republican race, correctly analyzed, boils down to Bush and Kemp.

The polls do not yet indicate this. In fact, they list a plethora of candidates. Toward the top of the lists we find Howard Baker and Bob Dole. Baker is an old shoe who is associated with no important issues or positions, or, for that matter, constituencies. He will fade, as he did in 1980.

Bob Dole is somewhat, but not much, more formidable. He has staked out positions on taxes and spending — but these are not conservative positions and are chiefly popular with non-conservative Republicans and with the Beltway mentality. Dole's major problem is that no one likes him very much, or takes any pleasure in imagining him in the Oval Office.

Jeanne Kirkpatrick stirs a lot more juices, but she does not appear to be serious about the presidency. She has never run for public office, and turned down a chance to run for a Maryland Senate seat which will be won by someone with the political stature of Mickey Mouse. No one knows what Kirkpatrick thinks on a whole range of domestic issues. Color her secretary of state in a Kemp administration.

Lewis Lehrman ran a fine race against Mario Cuomo. He has what it takes to be president, and may have the best mind among all the prospective nominees. But he, too, has never been elected to anything — and, anyway, he supports Kemp.

JACK ANDERSON

Alaska Vulnerable To Soviets

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — The ugly reality of more than 30,000 highly trained Soviet men and women specializing in assassination, sabotage and other deadly mischief — the so-called Spetsnaz forces — has not been lost on the Pentagon's counter-terrorist experts. They've been quietly preparing U.S. defenses against the Soviet special forces.

No place is more vulnerable to Spetsnaz infiltration than Alaska. The vast area of the thinly populated 49th state — one-sixth of the total U.S. land mass — stretches to within three miles of the Soviet Union in the Bering Strait. Indeed, there are some in the Pentagon who maintain that Spetsnaz forces are already training against specific targets in Alaska.

These suspicions, plus unconfirmed reports of unusual Soviet equipment in the Soviet Far East and possible Russian infiltration of Alaska, prompted Dale Van Atta to visit the area and investigate the threat posed by special forces commandos.

Last summer the Air Force took part in a coordinated exercise in Great Britain, Operation Brave Defender, aimed at a potential Spetsnaz strike. Even more to the point, the largest military exercise — open or secret — against the Soviet threat, including Spetsnaz forces, was staged in Alaska last year.

Operation Brim Frost involved 18,100 Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine and Coast Guard personnel, 285 aircraft and 1,150 vehicles.

The difficulty of defending Alaska against infiltrators is truly staggering. There are 72 square miles of Alaska for each American soldier based there. Yet it may be, as the late Gen. Billy Mitchell once told Congress, "the most strategic place in the world" — an area that is vital to U.S. security in the age of high-speed aircraft and intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Operation Brim Frost was in part "designed to meet the threat of sabotage operations against critical facilities by unconventional warfare forces," according to a briefing on the war game. In southern Alaska, the "enemy" forces attacked the Beluga Power Station, which supplies electricity for much of the Anchorage bowl, where two-thirds of Alaskans live.

In central Alaska, Army Special Forces posing as Spetsnaz invaders attacked the Trans-Alaska pipeline — an obvious top target, since it supplies oil to the "Lower 48."

While the security Van Atta inspected at the pipeline's source in Prudhoe Bay was impressive, oil officials acknowledged that it is impossible to defend the entire 799-mile length of the pipeline as it goes south. About 420 miles of pipeline are above ground; 4 feet in diameter but only an inch thick, easily vulnerable to conventional explosives or even a rifle bullet.

Other tempting targets are the radar stations that provide the crucial early warning of missiles headed toward the Lower 48. The ones on the Distant Early Warning line in northern Alaska, our first line of defense, seemed the least protected.

For example, Van Atta was able to walk within a few feet of the "vitals" of an early warning station six miles east of the northernmost U.S. community, the Eskimo village of Barrow. He was not viewed with suspicion, because the occasional tourists who get there invariably have their pictures taken next to a totem pole and a signpost telling the distance to Key West, London, New York and other points south.

City Series: Sunniland Battles Cardinal

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Although they are meeting for the first time this season, Cardinal Industries and Sunniland aren't quite strangers.

At the beginning of the 1986 Sanford Little Major League season, two teams dropped out of the Little American League, forcing two teams from the National League, Cardinal Industries and Atlantic Bank, to switch to the American League.

Cardinal Industries went on to win the American League title after a one-game playoff this past Thursday against Adcock Roofing. Sunniland, meanwhile, remained in the National League and won the title without a playoff.

The two teams will meet in the first of the best of three Sanford City Championship Series tonight at 6:30 at Fort Mellon Park.

"It was a bit surprising to me that Cardinal won," Sunniland manager Skip Mitchell said. "We beat them last year when they were in our league and they don't seem to be too different of a team."

Many of the standouts on both the Cardinal and

Baseball

Sunniland clubs this season are returning players from a year ago. Sunniland finished second to First Federal in the National League last season with Cardinal further off the pace.

Sunniland, which finished with a 10-3 record, has four capable pitchers led by big righthander David Dunn, a starter on last year's Little National League all-stars. Mitchell said Dunn would probably start tonight's game, but he could also go with either Tyrone Chiberton, Richard Peterson or Don Hunt.

"We've got quite a few pitchers who could start," Mitchell said. "Dunn will probably start the first game but we'll wait and see who Cardinal throws."

Offensively, Sunniland is led by Dunn, Ned June, Quinn Byrd, KoJack Hunt and Don Hunt. Rounding out the team are Derrick Brinson, Anton Stringer, Alex Dunn and Ray June.

"We hit just as well as we pitch," Mitchell said. "The majority of my team has been hitting the ball well all year."

Cardinal, which has a 14-2 season record, will most likely have Anthony "Redman" Roberts on the mound to open the series although it also could go with Britt Henderson. Both pitched in Thursday's 12-9 win over Adcock Roofing with Roberts getting the win despite giving up four home runs.

While the pitching didn't dominate Thursday, Cardinal Industries got some clutch hitting from Roberts, Matt Wilk and Craig "Merk" Merkerson. Roberts and Wilk drove in two runs each in a seven-run fourth inning which was capped off by Merkerson's three-run homer.

Defensively, manager Otis Raines' Cardinal team is strong up the middle with Wilk at shortstop and Jamie King at second base. Leroy Kitt is a steady third baseman with Henderson a good glove at first and Willie Williams solid behind the plate. The outfielders include Merkerson, Jock Singleton and Victor Graham. Rounding out the team are Todd McGill and Chris Rinabarger.

While Cardinal is coming off Thursday's win, Mitchell said his Sunniland team has not been able to get in much practice because of the almost daily rain the past week. Sunniland last played on the final day of the regular season, June 3.

Skip Mitchell

Sunniland's last trip to the City Series was in 1984 when it was led by Mike Merthie. Sunniland lost the championship to Adcock Roofing that year. Cardinal Industries has not been to the City Series in recent memory while playing in the National League.

'Gades Conquer Savages' Tourney

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

After a steady two-day diet of rain, the Seminole Softball Club complex fields looked more like one big bog.

But, as they have done in the past, most of the teams in the Seminole Savages 15 and Under Tournament put on their mud flaps and took care of business. And, in the end, it was the Fern Park Renegades who conquered the quagmire.

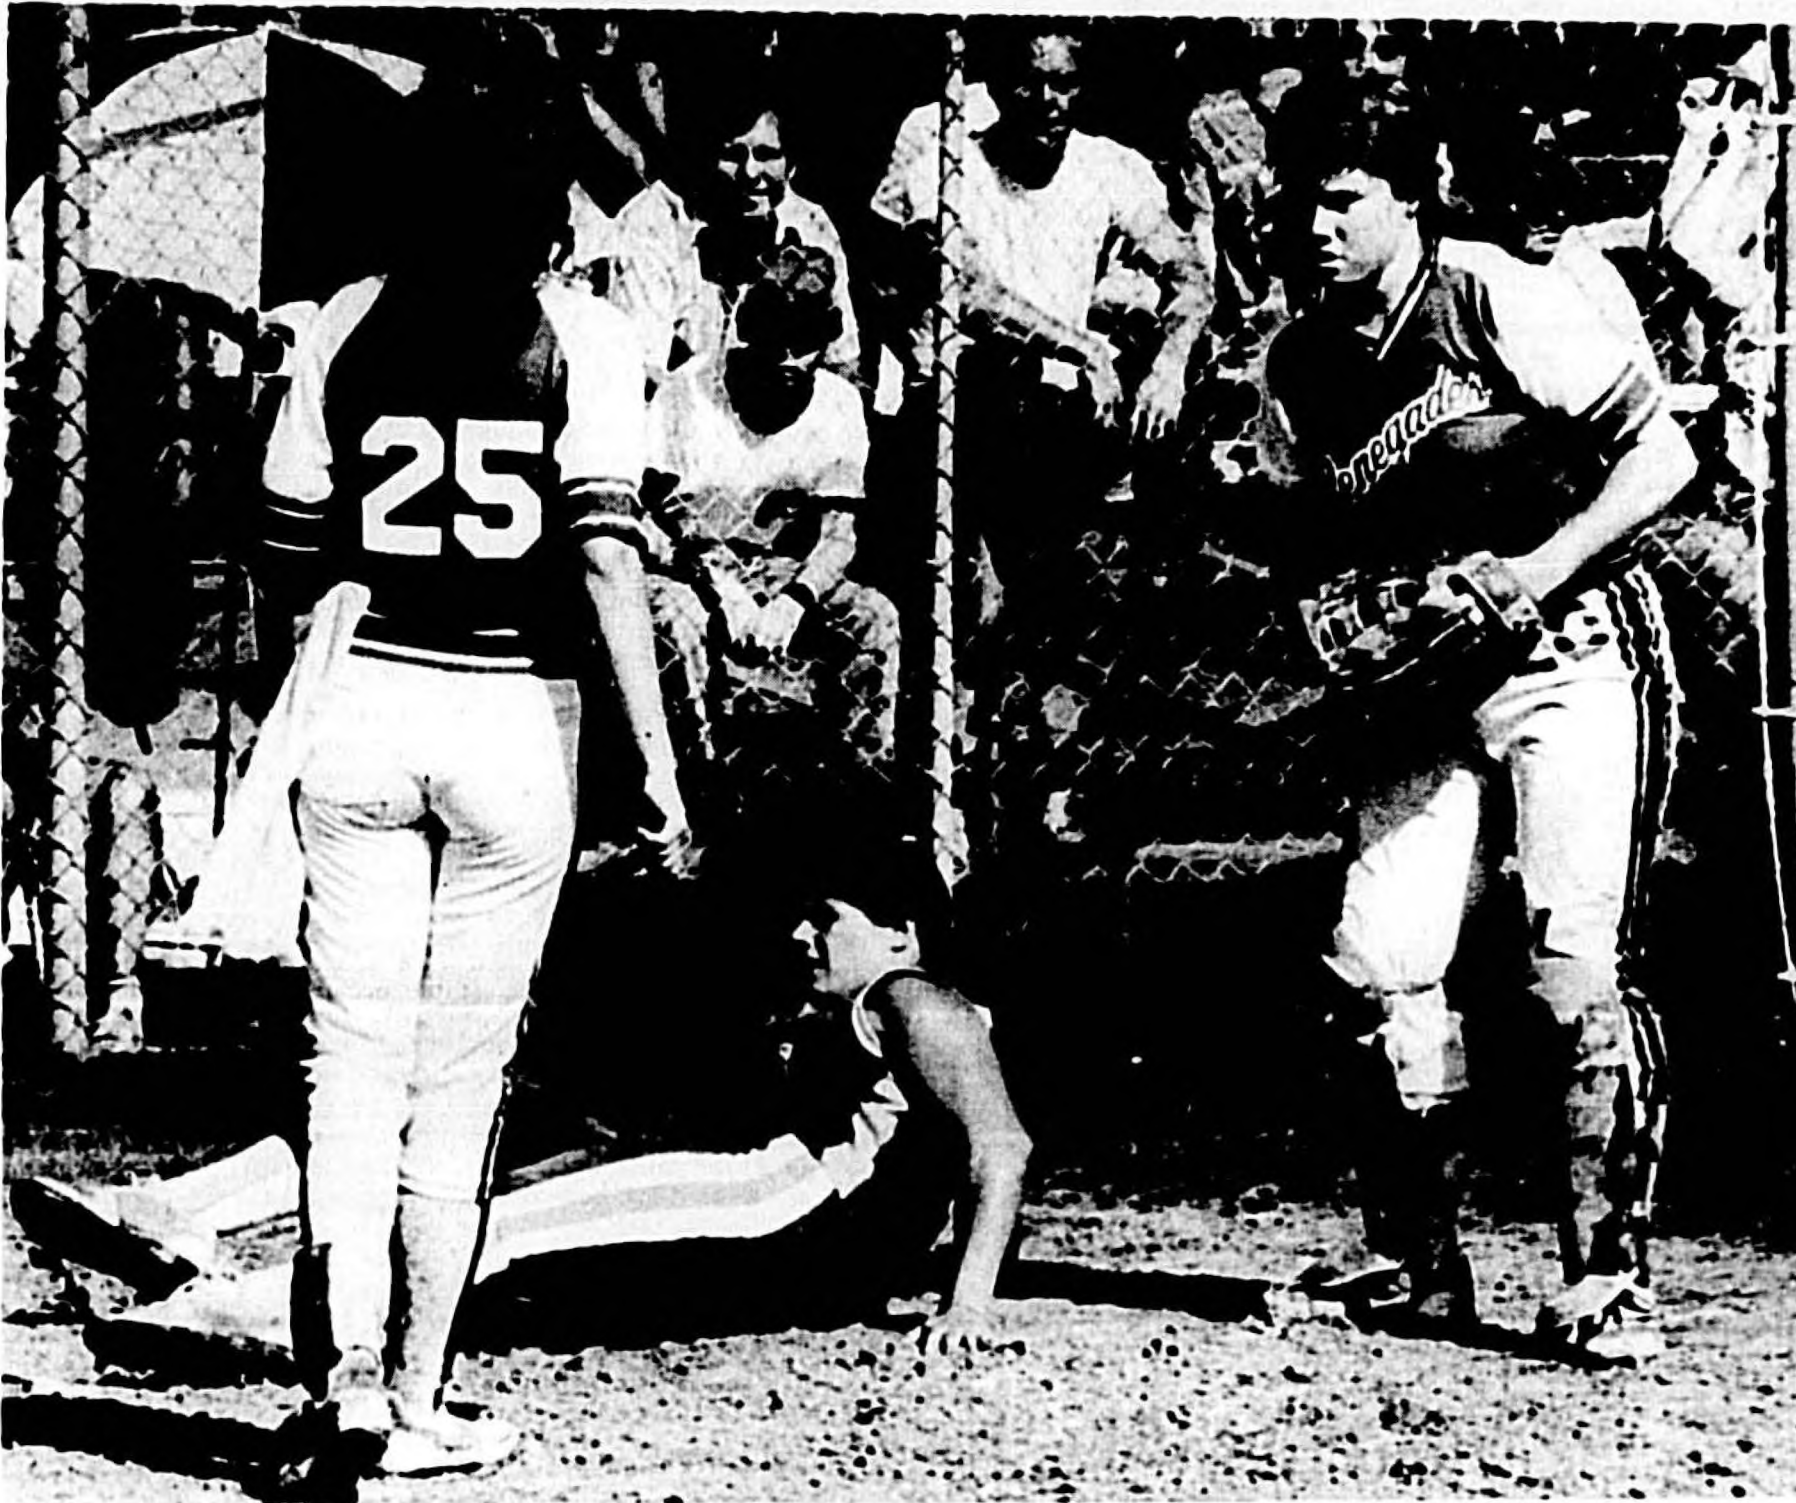

With a 7-6, eight inning victory over the host Seminole Savages paving the way, the Renegades won six straight in claiming the championship. The Savages finished second with a 5-2 record.

Both the Renegades and Savages take this weekend off and return to action the 27-28 at the Conway Tournament in Orlando.

"Outside of the rain, it was a great tournament," Savages' manager Pansy McDonald said. "There was a lot of rain and mud but the teams stuck in there. The kids really wanted to play softball."

In the opening game, the Renegades went against the rival Savages. The Savages opened with two runs in the top of the first but the 'Gades came back with consecutive home runs by Tracy Safford and Tracy Brandenburg to lead off the bottom half, then added two more runs in the inning.

The teams fought to a 4-4 tie after seven innings but the Savages rallied for two runs in the top of the eighth. Rixja

Millwood and Anna Hollis both singled and pinch hitter Heather Golden then ripped an RBI single to score Millwood. Hollis scored when Corrie Lawson, who was 3 for 4 with a home run for the game, hit into a fielder's choice. The Renegades came right back with a rally of their own in the bottom of the eighth. Stacy Brandenburg started it off with a base hit and Kim Steinke followed with a pinch hit single. Safford then singled in Stacy Brandenburg and Tracy Brandenburg singled to drive in two more runs to give Fern Park the victory.

After the battle with the Savages, the Renegades were not seriously threatened the rest of the tournament. In game two,

Floyd Reaches Threshold

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (UPI) — After 26 years on the PGA tour, Raymond Floyd finally has reached the threshold of fulfilling his career-long dream.

"My goals the past few years have been to win the U.S. and British Opens," Floyd said Sunday after capturing his first U.S. Open championship, giving him three of the four "major" titles. "Now, all that's left is the British Open, and I hope I can go after that one next month."

Winning the U.S. Open was Floyd's goal ever since he started playing tournament golf, and at 43, he became the oldest man to claim it. He won the PGA Championship in 1969 and 1982, and the Masters in 1976.

Floyd's victory on the Shinnecock Hills course, oldest incorporated golf club in the nation, was the second in a major by one of the tour's older veterans. The cheers had barely subsided from 46-year-old Jack Nicklaus' triumph in this year's Masters, making him the oldest Masters champion.

"I never really thought about being 43 years old, and this being perhaps my last shot at a U.S. Open," said Floyd, after forging out of a last-round logjam with a closing round of 66 Sunday to win by two strokes. "But, sometimes you have to face realism. I did feel I'd better get on with it."

Just two days earlier, Floyd, who has been playing on the tour since 1963, pointed out that while he felt he was in better shape physically than he had been 15-20 years earlier, "you can't overcome youth. When you are young, you can go out there without doubt or fear."

Floyd appeared to have neither doubt nor fear Sunday. He began the day in fifth place, three strokes behind leader Australian Greg Norman, but birdied three of the final nine holes to win.

"People say I have that (winning) look on occasion," he said. "I don't know what it is. But today I felt totally in control. I felt like everything was in synch. My rhythm was in the right mode."

"I felt together," said Floyd, who finished with the only sub-par total, a 1-under 279 that earned him $115,000. Lanny Wadkins and Chip Beck finished tied for second, two strokes back, despite each matching the course record with 5-under 65s. "I was never upset."

Wadkins and Beck posted their 281s more than an hour before Floyd finished, and at one point they were tied at 1-over with six others, including Floyd, for the lead.

Floyd was still tied with Payne Stewart with five holes left, but took the lead for keeps when Stewart, who wound up at 70-283, bogeyed No. 14. Floyd was home free after getting his fourth birdie in a bogeyless round, at No. 16.

"Anyone who tells you they aren't keeping an eye on the scoreboard isn't telling you the truth," Floyd said. "There are scoreboards all around, and you can't help noticing them. But I set my plan earlier in the week, and made up my mind I wasn't going to deviate."

"Yes, I looked at the scoreboard today, but I never changed my method of play and I think that's why I was successful."

Sevens Super For Altamonte Astros

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

The Altamonte Junior Astros rolled a pair of sevens this past weekend and came up winners on both counts in the Little League Baseball Florida District 14 Top Team Tournament at Rolling Hills.

The Astros opened the tournament on Saturday with a 7-6 victory over the Deltona Dodgers and followed it up Sunday with a 7-5 win over the Maitland White Sox.

The Astros return to action tonight at 5:30 in the winners' bracket final against the Windermere Orioles at Rolling Hills. Tonight's winner advances to Thursday's tournament finals.

Baseball

In the opener on Saturday, the Astros came back from a 6-3 deficit with four runs in the bottom of the seventh.

In the seventh for Altamonte, Chris Plecones, Andy Spolski and John Jump drew consecutive walks and a passed ball enabled Plecones to score. Bill Rippard then walked to reload the bases, bringing up Rusty Hurst. Hurst dropped down a squeeze bunt that scored Spolski and, when the pitcher threw wildly to first, both Jump and Rippard scored for the Altamonte victory.

Plecones was the winning pitcher as he allowed seven hits, struck out three and walked three. Tony Niemesh, who scattered six hits, took the loss for Deltona.

In game two, the Astros again had to come from behind. This time, Maitland's White Sox built a 5-3 lead going into the top of the sixth when Altamonte scored twice to tie it, then came back with two more in the seventh for the win.

In the sixth, Jump drew a walk, Rippard singled and they both moved up on Hurst's sacrifice bunt. Todd Stresen-Reuter then stepped up and unloaded a double that scored Jump and Rippard to even the score at 5-5.

In the seventh, Matt Albert reached on an error. Plecones singled and the two pulled off a double steal. Spolski, who was 3 for 4 in the game, then belted a two-run double.

Senior Dodgers Dismantle Deltona Phillies, 15-4

By Mark Blythe
Special to the Herald

The Altamonte Dodgers handily disposed of the Deltona Phillies, 15-4, Sunday night in the Little League Baseball Florida District 14 Division II Top Team Tournament at the Eastmonte complex in Altamonte Springs.

The Altamonte Seniors, managed by Woody Woodard, advance to a winners' bracket game under the lights tonight at 7 at the Eastmonte complex. The Dodgers will play either Maitland, Eustis or Southwest Volusia.

Altamonte managed to score in each inning to claim their margin of victory. Offensively, it was Pat Deluca delivering the big blow with a two-run homer in the fourth inning. Other hitters included Jimmy Kremer who went 2-3, Carlos Abreu 2-4 with 2 RBIs, and leadoff batter Shane Stufflet smacked a double while drawing three walks.

Pitching honors went to Jesse Richardson who came away with the win as Abreu came in in the fourth inning and picked up the save. Richardson gave up three runs, two on a home run by Deltona's Ray DeJesus. The Phillies only managed four hits while Altamonte pounded out 11.

In the first after two outs Kremer singled and went to second on a passed ball. Val Clinton walked and both moved up on another passed ball. Abreu then singled them both in. The second and third innings were marred by errors and passed balls as the Dodgers took full advantage of by scoring two more in the second and three in the third.

In the fourth, after Deluca's homer, four straight walks were issued to tack on another run to build Altamonte's cushion to 10-3 after Deltona picked up a run in the top of the inning.

With two on in the top of the fifth, Abreu came in and only allowed a run in two more innings of relief work.

In the fifth for Altamonte, Abreu walked, stole second and went to third on a sacrifice. He then scored on a wild pitch to add to the Deltona mistakes.

In the sixth Richardson led things off with a single. Stufflet then doubled and Aaron Iatarola singled both runs in. Kremer and Tony Floreno then hit back to back singles that ended home Stufflet and Kremer making the scoring spree on a wild pitch.

Cubs Call Martinez

The Chicago Cubs, in search of an outfielder with a good stick, called up Dave Martinez from Iowa of the American Association this past Saturday.

Martinez, a graduate of Lyman High School, was hitting .289 with three home runs and 22 RBIs at Iowa. In his major league debut on Sunday, Martinez started in center field and was the leadoff man in the order. He was 0 for 3 at the plate.

Belgium Shocks Soviets

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The Soviet Union, once appreciated like fine caviar, is now a World Cup leftover.

In the first real jolt of a tournament favorite, Belgium downed the Soviets 4-3 in overtime Sunday at Leon to advance to the quarterfinals. The Soviet Union, so much in command during the opening round, returns home to reflect on what went wrong with perhaps its strongest national squad ever.

"The best team won the match, and some of our players made mistakes they have never made before," Soviet coach Valeri Lebanovsky said. Lebanovsky, who took over as coach just three weeks before the World Cup, encountered more mistakes after the final whistle. In his abbreviated postgame news conference, a water pipe burst in the ceiling, flooding the room.

Joining the Belgians in the quarterfinals is Mexico, which blanked Bulgaria 2-0 at Mexico City and turned the capital into one long street party.

In the next round, the Belgians play Sunday at Puebla against Denmark or Spain game. Mexico plays Saturday at Monterrey against West Germany or Morocco.

Today, it's Argentina vs. Uruguay in what could be a less than neighborly gathering at Puebla, and Brazil vs. Poland at Guadalajara.

With the ouster of the Soviet Union and Bulgaria, Poland is the last of the four East European teams remaining in the World Cup.

The game at Leon underlined the intensity that comes with straight-elimination play. Such was the drama, that the last shot — by Soviet substitute Vadim Yevtushenko — flew over the Belgian crossbar with seconds left.

In overtime, Belgium struck with two quick killer blows against a vulnerable Soviet defense — a header in the 102nd minute by Stephane DeMol following a cross by Eric Gerets; a goal from inside the penalty area by Nico Claessen in the 109th.

SYSA Of Central Florida Glides To AAU 14 Title

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Before the AAU/USA Junior Olympics 14 and Under State Tournament even started, it wouldn't have been surprising to see a coach, player or parent from the SYSA of Central Florida team carrying a road map with the city of Roanoke, Va., circled.

Roanoke is the site of the 1986 AAU/USA Junior Olympic National 14 and Under Tournament and this past weekend's State Tournament was merely a rest stop on the road to nationals for SYSA of Central Florida.

SYSA rolled to three straight victories, all by 20 points or more, en route to the 14 and Under State Championship at Lake Mary High. SYSA opened the tournament with a 60-24 rout of Daytona Beach on Friday, then dumped Orlando, 60-38, on Saturday and returned Sunday in the finals to bump off St. Helen's of Vero Beach, 59-38.

The SYSA 12 and under team also came away with the state title and both teams qualify for the National Tournament which is being held July 18-25.

"After Sunday's game, we had a meeting and every girl had at least one parent there," SYSA 14 and under coach Mike Averill said. "They decided they definitely want to go to nationals. Now, we're making plans to try to raise the money to go."

In Sunday's 14 and under finals, SYSA of Central Florida led the entire game, gradually building its lead from beginning to end. SYSA led by nine points at halftime and the scrappy St. Helen's squad could not come back in the second half.

Jennifer Clark and Vicky Smith had 14 points each to lead the way for SYSA while Kathy Freeman had a game-high 18 points for St. Helen's. Averill said SYSA will add Freeman, a dynamic young point guard, to its roster for the nationals. "Early in the game, Jennifer (Clark) and Vicky (Smith) go on the tail end of the break and gave us the lead," Averill said. "Tonya Perry and Lisa Crapps did a great job on the boards and Keasha Maxwell played great defense. And Paula Brown did a good job at point guard when Tracy Brandenburg went out with foul trouble in the second quarter."

In Saturday's win over Orlando, four players scored in double figures for SYSA led by Conya Johnson with 13 points. Clark added 11 points while Smith and Crapps tossed in 10 apiece. Brandenburg, who just completed her freshman year at Lake Brantley High, contributed two points and six assists. Sonya Franklin had 21 of the 38 points for Orlando.

Also on the SYSA of Central Florida roster is Suzanne Hughes, who just finished her freshman year at Oviedo High, along with Joey Paugh and Pam Starks. Hughes had 10 points in the opening win over Daytona Beach.

"I'm really proud of this team," Averill said. "It's a great group of kids who are good learners and listeners."

The 12 and under team, coached by Tom Bieri, advanced by winning the three-team State Tournament. The top player on the squad is Betsy Hughes, younger sister of Suzanne Hughes, who was a standout in the Inter-County Basketball Association.

Other players on the roster are Kelly Hartman, Tracie Smith, Tara Calvin, Jennifer Kruger, Kim Coll, Joyce Tullis, Sheema Clark, Melissa Mau and Denise Gerrity.

EAST WINS CONSOLATION

Seminole East, routed by 31 points in its opening game, came back with two straight wins to claim the consolation round title in the State 14 and Under Tournament.

"We looked 100 percent better in those last two games," Seminole coach Charles Steele said.

Seminole East downed, Seminole West, 42-37, then beat the Bee Cee Stinglers of Brooksville, 40-35, in the consolation finals.

Steele said guards Shawna Cohen, Lakoscia Kennon, Michelle Toombs and Tammi Scott played well as did Liz Long and Chineta Gilchrist underneath. Long played only the last game of the tournament and her presence was definitely missed the opening round loss to St. Helen's.

"It might have been a different story if we had Liz (Long) the first game," Steele said. "They (St. Helen's) didn't have anyone over 5-8 or 5-9 and Liz is 6-1."

Inkster Stays Calm, Wins Lady Keystone Open

HERSHEY, Pa. (UPI) — Defending champion Jull Inkster remained calm when she fell three strokes behind the leader Sunday with nine holes remaining in the $250,000 Lady Keystone Open.

"No one was running away with the tournament, and there were plenty of holes left," said Inkster, who tied Debbie Massey and Cindy Hill at six-under-par 210 at the end of regulation, then made a par on the first playoff hole for her second straight tour victory.

Inkster started the day two strokes behind Massey, the second-round leader, but shot a third-round 70 to force the tie. Hill, also two strokes back at the start of the day, matched Inkster's round to finish the 54 holes at 6-under as well.

Massey had victory in her grasp as she came into 18th hole at 7-under for the tournament. But she pulled her tee shot into the trees along the right and had to use a stroke getting back onto the fairway.

Massey's third shot on the par-4 hole landed on the green, but her 12-foot putt to save par was just wide, forcing her to settle for bogey and setting up the three-way playoff.

Inkster put herself in perfect position for victory in the playoff when she hit her approach shot onto the front of the green, then two-putted from 12 feet for the winning par as Massey overshot the green and Hill landed in the sand on the left.

The Gades thumped the Seminole Eagles, Seminole Softball Club's 15 and under "B" team, 12-1. Julie Barton was 2 for 3 with a homer while Safford and Jeannie Woods added two hits each.

In game three, the Renegades bombed Manatee, 18-6, behind a five-homer barrage. Leslie Barton belted a pair of homers to lead the way while Tracy Brandenburg, Julie Barton and Tina Wilson all added round trippers. Stacy Brandenburg was 3 for 3 in the game and winning pitcher Kristin Bates 2 for 2.

The Renegades then blanked Osceola, 15-0, as Julie Barton and Safford had three hits each with one of Safford's being a homer. Shannon Kennedy was 3 for 3 at the plate as the Gades knocked off Atlanta, 7-3. Fern Park then completed play in the round robin tournament with a 9-3 victory over the Tampa Mustangs. Julie Barton, Bobbie Osborne and Steinke had two hits each.

SAVAGES FINISH 5-2
After the disappointing loss to the Renegades in game one, the Savages dropped a 19-1 decision to Tampa Magic in game two. But Seminole regrouped after losing two straight to win their last five games.

In game three, the Savages downed Atlanta, 8-5, in a game that was shortened by rain. Tammy Jenerette, a future Oviedo High player, led the Savages' offense as she was 2 for 2 with a homer and three RBIs. Lawson also drove in three runs while Brooke Burns, a good-looking second baseman out of Lake Howell High, was a solid 2 for 2.

The Savages followed with a 7-1 victory over the Tampa Mustangs in which Sherry McDonald and Heather Meyer were both 1 for 2 with a walk. The win over the Mustangs gave the Savages a 2-2 record in Saturday's games.
On Sunday, the Savages opened with a 9-2 victory over Manatee. Lawson was 3 for 3 to lead the way while Robin Whitehead had three hits and two RBIs.

The Savages got better as the tournament came to a close as they capped off Sunday's games with a pair of shutouts, 9-0 over Osceola and 14-0 over the Seminole Eagles.

Against Osceola, Lawson was 3 for 4 with Whitehead and Melinda Jackson adding two hits each. Jackson was also the winning pitcher. Against the Eagles, Hollis had two hits and drove in four runs to back the pitching of Jodie Switzer. Burns, Lawson, Meyer and Golden also had two hits each.

WORLD IN BRIEF

U.S. May Bail Out Mexico To Prevent Default On Debts

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The United States, anxious to prevent Mexico from suspending interest payments on its nearly $100 billion foreign debt, is preparing a bail-out offer, a Mexican government finance official said.

U.S. officials have been considering some kind of bail-out package ever since they learned that Mexico, left reeling by a precipitous drop in world oil prices, was considering suspending interest payments, the Mexican official said Sunday.

Some banks in the United States and other industrialized nations are heavily extended in Mexico and a suspension of interest payments would rock the international banking community. Finance officials also fear that if Mexico suspended payments, other heavily indebted Latin nations — such as Argentina and Brazil — might follow suit.

Kohl's Coalition Wins Key Election

HANOVER, West Germany (UPI) — Chancellor Helmut Kohl's ruling coalition narrowly won a pivotal state election in Lower Saxony to preserve its majority in the Bundesrat — the upper house of the federal parliament.

Unofficial projections showed Kohl's Christian Democrats, led by incumbent state Premier Ernst Albrecht, received 45 percent of the vote in Sunday's state election.

To remain in power, Albrecht must form a coalition with the liberal Free Democrats, which barely cleared the 5 percent hurdle for state parliamentary representation. The unofficial tabulation showed the Free Democrats with 5.5 percent of the vote.

Police Combat Jewish Violence

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Extra uniformed and undercover police patrolled trouble spots today to combat rising violence and acts of vandalism against Israel's Orthodox and secular Jews — including the torching of a synagogue.

Police Inspector-General David Kraus said he ordered the extra police forces into the streets Sunday in hopes of restoring calm to neighborhoods shaken by two weeks of renewed violence between the ultra-Orthodox who believe Jews should follow strict religious doctrines and the secular-minded who resent having such views imposed on them.

Khmer Rouge Reports Fighting

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — The Khmer Rouge guerrilla group said today it seized positions near Cambodia's endangered 12th-century ruins of the Angkor Wat temple in an attack six days ago that killed 43 Vietnamese soldiers.

The Voice of the National Army of Democratic Kampuchea — Khmer Rouge radio — said the attacks began just after midnight on June 10, hitting Vietnamese defenses near the spectacular ruins and the capital of Siem Reap province.

Move To Oust Panama Chief

PANAMA CITY, Panama (UPI) — Panama's most active opposition party called on army officers to oust the military chief, Gen. Manuel Noriega, because of his alleged links to drugs, weapons trafficking and spying for the United States and Cuba.

Amid the growing political crisis, the United States reportedly has decided to have the U.S. ambassador deliver a formal expression of American policy on Panama to the government.

expected." Mellet said. "The planned violence that certain radicals had in mind did not materialize."

He said there had been no deaths or serious property damage since dawn.

Few blacks entered the nation's major business centers. Hundreds of factories and stores shut down for the nationwide black observance of the Soweto riots anniversary.

The work boycott left whites to perform tasks customarily done by blacks — loading garbage, pumping gas and toasting sandwiches in take-out bars.

Public transport from black areas in Johannesburg, Pretoria, Cape Town, Durban and Port Elizabeth ran empty and unused buses were withdrawn from service in several main centers.

Parents patrolled school grounds in some white suburbs of Johannesburg.

"I do not think that anything will happen but I feel we must take precautions," said a man guarding a schoolyard.

President Pieter W. Botha, citing plots by "radical and revolutionary elements," declared a nationwide state of emergency Thursday to give security forces additional powers to cope with anticipated violence.

The streets of Soweto were virtually deserted today, save for the men manning a roadblock outside the township's central Regina Mundi Catholic Church.

"Soweto is like a graveyard," said one resident of the vast township, which sprawls across the low hills about 10 miles southwest of Johannesburg.

"This is the quietest June 16 since 1977. It has never been as quiet as this."

"People are staying indoors with the doors closed. I have never seen it like this," he said.

Few civilians moved on the streets, in contrast to the usual morning bustle.

The giant bus depot from which fleets of blue single-decker buses normally pour out at dawn, was locked and deserted. The only buses moving were from the township's Baragwanath Hospital, collecting staff and patients from their homes.

The narrow, twisting route from Soweto to Johannesburg was clear of the normal lines of minibus taxis that ferry tens of thousands to their jobs in the city.

Beside the road, small groups of men tried to hitchhike — surreptitiously — to the city, gesturing with their thumbs under cover of jackets and sweaters.

Railway stations were deserted and trains that did run were empty.

Shops, cafes and filling stations were deserted.

About 50 white Christians gathered at a church in Johannesburg for an early-morning service to commemorate the anniversary and to deliver flowers to Soweto.

After the service, they were given five minutes to clear the church lawn, heaped with flowers dropped off during the weekend. A convoy of cars headed for Soweto with the flowers but it was stopped outside the Baragwanath Hospital. The flowers were unloaded from the cars and heaped by the roadside. Minutes later, the flowers were loaded into trucks and removed.

For millions of blacks, the 1976 Soweto riots are a landmark in the struggle against segregationist white rule.

Some 20,000 black schoolchildren joined in a march through Soweto in June 16, 1976, to protest a government order that all black children receive half their education in Afrikaans, the language of the ruling white Afrikaner minority.

During the march, they were confronted by police. Some stones were thrown and shots rang out.

Hector Petersen, a 13-year-old student from the Morris Isaacson High School, fell to the ground, bleeding from the ears and mouth — the first victim of what became a 10-month nationwide black uprising.

By late afternoon, schools, shops and government buildings were in flames throughout the township. Within two days, rioting had spread to Tembisa, Daveyton, Katlehong and other ghettos on all sides of Johannesburg.

The violence eventually spread to 160 black townships across the country and continued until April 1977.

An official inquiry put the final death toll at 575 — 451 of them killed by police. Opposition sources maintain the true figure is more than 1,000.

"wide open" as far as candidates are concerned, he said.

"No one has a lock on it," Dole said. He said Reagan's successor should "have an understanding of where we've been and where we're going and should be willing to make tough choices."

Kemp said at a news conference the 1988 presidential race still is too far away and he is devoting his time to getting Republicans elected this year. In answer to a question, he said he hoped potential presidential candidates can avoid sniping at each other.

"I don't think we ought to be so critical of each other that we can't get together, particularly here in Florida, and win the governor's race in 1988," Kemp said. "We've got some important Senate races. I'm a strong supporter of Sen. Paula Hawkins' re-election to the senate."

Hawkins got in her own plug for re-election during brief remarks Saturday as the GOP's candidates for all offices were introduced.

"I have promised President Reagan and Senator Dole that we will deliver Florida for the Republican Party," she told the cheering delegates. "We have a great opportunity to deliver on our record of performance, and with your help, and God's help, we will keep control of the country and keep it going to the right."

With the spotlight of attention focused on Hawkins, the GOP's six gubernatorial candidates and those for state cabinet posts took a back seat, but all got an opportunity for a demonstration and brief remarks Saturday.

Rumsfeld addressed the convention Saturday morning, and Baker and Haig appeared Friday.

lite launching market by offering rates 10 percent to 15 percent lower than its competitors.

According to official Chinese reports, China, which has launched 18 satellites since 1970, is currently negotiating with at least a dozen nations to launch satellites from Xichang.

Xinhua quoted China Great Wall senior engineer Wu Keli as denying Peking is trying to "take advantage" of the grounding of the NASA and West European Ariane space programs.

"This is sheer coincidence," Wu said of China's entry into the market late last year and the Jan. 28 explosion of the space shuttle Challenger and May 30 failure of an Ariane rocket.

Wu noted that commercial demand for carrier rockets to launch satellites has far outstripped the capacities of NASA and Arianespace, providing China with a "good opportunity."

According to reports, the craft pulled powerlines down with it as it tumbled out of control and crashed bringing traffic to a standstill on I-4.

Trucks and cars, their headlights burning through evening rain and mist, backed up to five miles on both sides of the accident. The traffic jam wasn't allowed to move until about 10 p.m.

The helicopter was returning to Orlando from Kissimmee at the time of the crash.

...Bacteria

May's tests showed high total coliform bacteria counts in water taken from the East Beach area of the lake, and a second series of tests to determine if the contamination is from fecal coliform was ordered by the city.

The West Beach samples have been given consistent "satisfactory" ratings throughout the testing, which is continuing today.

"One sample doesn't tell the story, and that's why we're continuing our tests," Teer said. "One day (the second day of this month's tests), the counts were acceptable," he added.

But on June 1, tests taken disclosed 1,600 average fecal coliform bacteria per 100 milliliters of water sampled from the East Beach. The allowable daily average, according to Teer, is 200 average bacteria per day.

Swimming in the lake was banned in November when similar bacteria counts were discovered in the West Beach area. A broken septic tank pipe was discovered to be the source of pollution. The pipe was repaired, and the problem was thought solved.

Mrs. Rice and Teer both said another septic tank problem could be the source of the latest contamination.

"We'll have a team walking the beaches and going house-to-house trying to find the problem," Mrs. Rice said.

Meantime, the swimming ban remains in effect.

Widow Eager To Scale Sons' Mountains Of Memorabilia

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow in my mid-50s. I have seven fine sons — the youngest is 21. I raised them in a four-bedroom-and-den dwelling, until one by one they graduated, found suitable employment and moved into their own apartments with my blessings.

Some are artists, some are blue-collar technicians, still others are university graduates and professionals.

I am alone now, have a good job and secure future. My problem? Abby, you would be aghast should you enter my home. It is filled with trophies, certificates of merit, and dozens of awards for academic and athletic achievements. There are rooms filled with sporting equipment for baseball, basketball, football, tennis, golf, boxing, hiking, skiing, fishing and hunting. There are books, artists' supplies, a backgammon table, chess sets, dice, poker chips, playing cards, musical instruments and music books. Need I go on?

I have begged them individually and collectively to come and get their stuff. This house has served its purpose, and I'd like to sell or rent it to a large family. Then I'd find myself a small efficiency apartment and live happily ever after. I am appealing to you, Abby. How can I get my sons to act? They all say they will "soon," but soon never comes.

CARMEN IN LOS ANGELES

DEAR CARMEN: I am sure you know what to do, but you need someone to give you a shove. Here it is: Call a meeting of the "seven deadly sinners" and tell them your home is not a warehouse, so on (you set the date) you are having a garage sale, auction, or the Salvation Army is backing up a truck, and all their stuff is going by-bye. Therefore, if they haven't come over and picked up their property before that date, they will never see it again. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: This concerns the case of the prospective buyer of a secondhand car who asked if he could test-drive the car around the block, then drove off, never to return.

An obvious point was overlooked. If the seller gives the keys to a prospective buyer, and that person fails to return the car, the seller's insurance company will not consider the car stolen, and, therefore, will not reimburse the seller for the loss.

BEEN THERE IN SANTA BARBARA

DEAR BEEN THERE: I consulted Arthur Groman, an outstanding Los Angeles attorney. He said: "I don't believe there is only one conclusion. It depends on the terms of the insurance policy, the intent of the parties and the skill of your lawyer."

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are about to buy our first home together. He has boxes of pictures and letters from all his past lovers. I don't want them in our home, but he insists that they are a part of his life and he will not let them go.

I have asked him to store them in the home of one of his relatives so I will not have to run into them anymore.

Am I being childish? I love him very much, but this hurts.

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Childish? No. Surely there is somewhere to store these old souvenirs where you won't be "running into them." Basement? Attic? Let him find a place. And if he can't, I'm sure you can. Out of sight — out of mind.

Summer School Scholarship

At the June general meeting of the Woman's Club of Sanford Inc., Ann Brisson, left, club president, presented a scholarship to Nona Gampg of Sanford. According to Kate Nash, chairman of the club's Education Department, this year's scholarship was designed to benefit a mature student returning to the classroom to further her education. Ms. Gampg, a student at Seminole Community College, plans to use some of the funds to attend summer school there.

Antenuptial Agreements Map Out Quality Of Life

By JOAN HANAUER
UPI Feature Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Couples planning marriage today are signing antenuptial agreements or marriage contracts that cover everything from closet space to estate planning.

"Realism and romance suddenly are going hand-in-hand," said Jacalyn Barnett, a matrimonial practitioner and partner in the New York office of Shea & Gould, among the nation's largest law firms.

"Love is on the rise," she said. So are matrimonial lawyers, she said. In New York alone there are 11,000 in 1986, up from 700 in 1980, according to the American Bar Association.

"Fortunately," she said, "people recognize that divorce also is on the rise. Particularly as life expectancy increases, there are more and more serial marriages."

"That means children who can be labeled "his," "hers" and "theirs" and are among the many complications of modern marriage.

"There's a new form of Hallmark card, a legal Valentine called the premarital or antenuptial agreement," Barnett said. And she believes anyone contemplating marriage ought to sign one, spelling out in precise terms the unwritten contract that is part of any marriage.

"The greatest problem in the '80s for all relationships is communication," Barnett said, "and the best way to encourage effective communication is to have a couple focus in on the priorities of their individual lives and their life as a couple."

"If they do that and reduce it to writing, they create a marriage with their own individual stamp, rather than a cookie cutter marriage created by a state legislature."

She said antenuptial agreements, also called marriage contracts, should cover those areas a couple anticipates will be a source of major differences between them. Those may include children, finances, inheritance and estates, religion, geographies, career relocation, debts and other quality-of-life choices.

She added that the exact areas of contractual agreement vary from couple to couple.

"I've handled antenuptial agreements restricting the curse words to be used in front of a spouse, or the offender has to pay a fine," she said. "I've had agreements allocating closet space, imposing a fine if someone gains weight and giving a reward for losing weight. Some specify that the spouses alternate in choosing the annual vacation choice."

"But no one ever bought my suggestion that since in-laws are such a problem, there should be a restriction on how often a mother-in-law can visit. Or a father-in-law; I don't want to be sexist. Some couples have discussed it but none of them had the guts to do it."

She gave as an example of the kind of situation antenuptial agreements are designed to handle, using the fictional case of "Bill and Stacy":

Both were previously married. Each has two children by a previous marriage. Bill makes a decent but not lavish living. Stacy is a widow, does not work and has no bank account.

Bill could afford to send his children to a top private college — but not if he must do the same for Stacy's brood. Stacy may believe that all the children deserve the same education — which would mean state schools.

These problems, Barnett said, should be worked out before marriage.

"This kind of problem can erode a marriage," Barnett said. "An antenuptial agreement does not solve problems, but it helps people develop the skills so that they can work as a team on the problems that life inevitably throws at them."

No Answers Yet About Arthritis

DEAR DR. GOTT — What is your opinion about the theory that osteoarthritis and rheumatoid arthritis are caused by an amoeba? I heard that this is being researched at three medical schools, but that the Rheumatoid Disease Foundation and the American Medical Association doesn't approve.

DEAR READER — Osteoarthritis is caused by the natural wearing away of joints that occurs with age. Rheumatoid arthritis is a form of joint inflammation. I am not aware of the AMA's position on amoebas as a cause of rheumatoid arthritis. Although there is a study in progress to investigate this possibility, I believe that the reports are, as yet, inconclusive.

DEAR DR. GOTT — It seems that my liver does not expel iron. I am a moderate drinker, but my doctor thinks I'm a real lush. What causes this type of liver ailment and what damage can be done?

DEAR READER — Toxic levels of iron can build up in the liver and in other structures. Iron overload can result from the faulty regulation of iron absorption and from repeated blood transfusions. If you are a heavy drinker, your liver problem is more likely to be caused by alcohol than by iron. Often the people in a drinker's environment are more reliable judges of the amount consumed. Listen to your doctor and get off the booze.

Iron itself is toxic to the liver. If you do have iron overload, more specific treatment will be necessary; you can obtain further information from the Iron Overload Diseases Association, 224 Datura St., Suite 912, West Palm Beach, FL 33401.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I had a glucose-tolerance test and have hypoglycemia. The doctor says it's due to a pancreatic disorder and adrenal insufficiency. Can a high-protein diet take care of these problems?

DEAR READER — A high-protein diet may help, but only if you simultaneously reduce the sugar you eat.

I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report on HYPOLYCEMIA. Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 plus their name and address to P.O. Box 2597, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm only 35 and I'm getting gray hair. What can I do about it, other than using hair coloring?

DEAR READER — I'm not aware of any natural means to get rid of gray hair. It's in the genes.

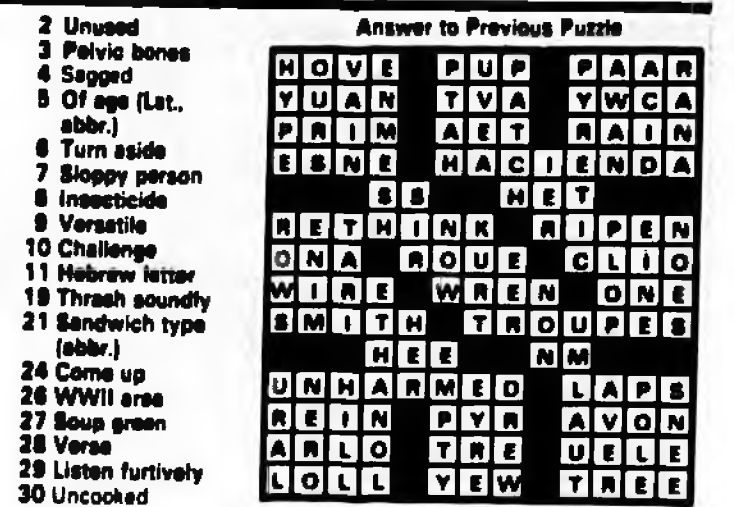

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio, 44101.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

If the North-South hands look familiar to you, that's because they are the same as last Saturday's. Against the odds-on 3-2 trump split, the approach on Saturday was to take a spade finesse, next bang down the spade ace, play out your high diamonds and hearts, and then put either opponent on lead so that he would have to lead clubs for you. But what about today's variation, in which West holds the four trumps to the K-Q? The answer is that you must make an informed, educated play in the club suit. You need to figure out which of your opponents is likely to hold only two clubs, and then play accordingly.

Here's how that should work. On the second lead of spades from dummy, East shows out. To maintain ease of communication, you put in the Jack and West wins another trump trick. Because East has only one spade, it is much more likely that he will be the player with four clubs. If so, there will be only two clubs in the West hand.

Hope that West holds one of the two missing club honors. Play clubs from the South hand, leading up to the Jack in dummy. You will probably get some reaction from West if the lay of the cards fits your plan. If West goes up with the king, you will later play a club from dummy, finessing against the queen held by East. If West ducks, you play the jack, which loses to East's queen. Later you plunk down the club ace, dropping West's king and making your 10-spot the game-going trick.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring... YOUR BIRTHDAY JUNE 17, 1988

In the year ahead, exciting social times are in the offing. You will make new contacts with people from all walks of life. Some will be extremely helpful, but a few could be detrimental to your purpose.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you are involved in a joint venture today, it's best that you manage events rather than your counterpart. His moves may be too reckless. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Let your humane and forgiving instincts direct you today, instead of being vindictive.

Further complications will ensue if you try to even the score.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Do not hold back if a close friend is in need of your assistance today. Step into the breach; pull out the stops, and go all the way.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be both realistic as well as cautious in your financial affairs today. A profit is possible if you don't take foolish gambles.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This can be a productive day for you, provided you have a sound plan. If you try to operate without a blueprint, chaos could result.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It's been said that loose lips can sink ships. People who have confided in you will be glad they're not sailing over the bounding main today.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) All will go smoothly with associates today, as long as something of value is not an issue. When the ante goes up, everyone will start looking out for himself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It's probable that you will fulfill an ambitious aim today, but you may offend someone in the process. Weigh your gains against what it costs to win.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The assistance you require from others won't be forthcoming today if you assign tasks to them while doing nothing for yourself. You'd better do your share.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You may be called upon today to clear up a mess that is not of your making. You're the only one who can set things straight, so do what you can.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) The route to an important objective will be blocked today. But you still can succeed by using an alternative plan. Have one ready.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Do not think only of yourself today to the detriment of others. Motives of this ilk may profit you now, but they'll catch up with you later.
