'Star Of Sanford' A Beauty, But She'll Be A Month Late

By Donna Eates
Herald Staff Writer

The official introduction of the $1 million Star of Sanford cruise ship, expected to arrive in Sanford Aug. 28, has been delayed by at least a month—but she'll be worth waiting for, a spokesman for the cruise line said today.

"She is a gorgeous ship," said Cindy LaLonde, site manager for Star Line Corporation. "She makes the Bay Queen look like a tub. She is much bigger and much wider and allows parties more privacy and plenty of room to move about.

"The interior has dark blue carpeting and French style chairs. It's just a classy ship."

The Star of Sanford has been designed to replace Michigan's Bay Queen, which offered cruises on Lake Monroe for five months beginning last December 1 and became very popular.

Inclement weather in Maryland, where the Star of Sanford is being built, has caused a delay in construction Ms. LaLonde said.

It is now scheduled to arrive at Lake Monroe about Oct. 1. The ship's interior is expected to be outfitted enroute, she said.

Star Lines had bookings for September cruises and Ms. LaLonde said the firm is very disappointed about the delay, but those bookings have been rescheduled.

"We expect to be into full scale bookings by Oct. 5," she said, adding a couple VIP cruises will be going out in the lake and up the St. Johns River before then to "tune up" the vessel from its oceanic voyage around Nova Scotia and along the coast of the United States.

"We certainly hope the ship gets here by the end of September," she said.

The Star of Sanford has been especially designed for the Florida climate and to operate out of Lake Monroe and into the St. Johns River. It is 122 feet long and is wider than the old Bay Queen with two enclosed air-conditioned decks and a third sun deck.

The new ship will seat 150 persons on each of the enclosed decks and its overall capacity is 600.

The Bay Queen was brought to Sanford by the predecessor company of Star Lines. It operated with two decks and a capacity of 460.

It had previously operated out of Charlevoix, Mich. during the summer months. At the end of the season here on May 1, Star Lines announced the Bay Queen was returning to Michigan and a new ship, Star of Sanford was being built for cruises here.

Nanci Yuronis, public relations director of Star Lines, said at the time that more than 50,000 passengers took advantage of the cruises in Sanford during the five month period.

"And we only scratched the tip of the iceberg," she said.

Of the new Star of Sanford, Ms. LaLonde said: "She noted that when the Star of Sanford goes into operation there will be a chef aboard."

Midway Scoured For Code Violations

Inspectors from two Seminole County departments are making their presence known in Midway.

Health department and building division inspectors are combing the community east of Sanford looking for houses which don't comply with county regulations.

And their search has turned up many houses which do not have indoor toilet facilities or have exposed wiring or structural flaws.

Their survey of the Midway area began after complaints from a group of Midway residents, the Midway-Canaan Economical Action Team, who said county officials have turned a deaf ear to complaints about conditions in Midway.

McNeat members gave county officials a list of houses and buildings in Midway which they felt were in violation of county ordinances.

According to Russ Miller, Seminole County's Director of Environmental Health, at least nine houses have been found along State Road 46, Sipes Avenue, Midway Avenue, Washington Street and Granby Avenue which have neither indoor toilets or indoor plumbing.

County ordinance requires that houses have indoor toilets and indoor plumbing, Miller said. Owners of the houses were given 30 days to take action to correct the problems.

Complaints against owners of two houses have been referred to state officials for action, Miller said. The county health department is funded by the state.

The building department condemned 12 unoccupied buildings between July 6 and July 28, according to John Perry, director of public services and development.

Perry said the building division stepped up condemnation inspections at the request of county commissioners who have approved funding for a new inspector in the 1983-84 budget.

"Condemnation had been a low priority," Perry said.

One of the county's building inspectors has been working on condemnation inspections since the budget hearings.

"Midway was an obvious target," Perry said.

Perry and Miller both are certain that additional houses will be cited in the continuing survey of Midway.

McNeat officials have said development of Midway will lag behind the rest of the county as long as county officials do not enforce ordinances there. Group members are hopeful that condemned houses will either be improved or razed to make way for new houses.

Rolling Sturm

Seminole County Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn steals the show from Commissioner Bob Sturm with her behind the scenes paint roller lactic as county officials gathered for a "wallbreaking" ceremony this morning at old Seminole Memorial Hospital—soon to become the new County Services Building. Watching Mrs. Glenn's performance are, from left, Circuit Court Clerk Art Beckwith, Commissioner Barbara Christensen, County Administrator T. Duncan Rose and Tax Collector G. Troy Ray. The ceremony marked the beginning of demolition inside the building, paving the way for renovation. The building will be used for offices by commissioners and their staff, the tax collector, property appraiser and supervisor of elections. The supervisor of elections office will move into the building in December with the others scheduled to move from the courthouse early in 1984. Bids on the renovation project will be presented to commissioners Aug. 9. The project is expected to cost about $1.6 million. Following the commissioners' move, the courthouse will be converted into new courtrooms and offices for judges and other court-related officials.

Doctor Balks At Giving Testimony

Hospital Sued For Indigents' Bills

By Diane Petryk
Herald News Editor

Sanford surgeon Kenneth M. Wing's refusal to sit still for a deposition hearing has spurred on West Volusia Memorial Hospital's threatened lawsuit against Central Florida Regional Hospital—and himself.

The suit, filed in Volusia County Circuit Court, seeks reimbursement of more than $13,000 in hospital costs incurred at tax-supported West Volusia Memorial by two indigent patients transferred there by for-profit Central Florida Regional.

Dr. Wing signed papers permitting one of the transfers.

West Volusia Hospital Authority attorney Bill Sherman in late June filed a petition in Seminole Circuit Court asking the court's permission to take a deposition from Wing, whose place of residence is being contested, arrived unannounced at West Volusia Memorial on March 23, 1983. Forty-nine days later he had run-up an $11,321 bill.

While Central Florida Regional Hospital administrators admit there was a "breach of protocol" in not informing the hospital of the patient's pending arrival, they say that doesn't make them liable for the man's bill.

CFRH assistant administrator Tom Moseley said Monday hospital records showed the man to be a resident of Deland, in Volusia County. West Volusia administrators, however, say the man is a resident of Roanoke, Va.

Sherman said the man had been working in Seminole County and his only connection with Volusia County was "through a friend who said he could use his post office box."

Moseley said a man's "place of employment has nothing to do with it."

It is the county of residence which must pay for hospital care if a person is determined to be indigent, he said.

"We'll treat an emergency wherever the person's from," Moseley said. "But this person was in need of an extended course of medical treatment. We looked at his place of residence and saw to it he was transferred to the appropriate tax-supported hospital."

"There was a break in protocol. We acknowledged and apologized for that," he added. "But as far as that making us responsible for his bill, I don't believe it does."

As for the 1982 tuberculosis patient, he said: "If they (West family unit of one to qualify as indigent.

West Volusia authorities, however, say a person qualifies as indigent if his income is below $4,300.

In the second transfer, a 42-year-old skin graft patient, whose place of residence is being contested, arrived unannounced at West Volusia Memorial on March 23, 1983. Forty-nine days later he had run-up an $11,321 bill.

While Central Florida Regional Hospital administrators admit there was a "breach of protocol" in not informing the hospital of the patient's pending arrival, they say that doesn't make them liable for the man's bill.

As for the 1982 tuberculosis patient, he said: "If they (West Volusia Memorial) are having difficulty getting Seminole County to reimburse them, that's an issue they have to take up with Seminole County.

Moseley said he doesn't believe either case against Central Florida Regional can be substantiated.

In 1980 Seminole County sold aging tax-supported Seminole Memorial Hospital to Hospital Corporation of America, a private, for-profit hospital company. As part of the deal the corporation agreed to build the new Central Florida Regional Hospital and provide for the care of indigents. The initial agreement provided for the county to pay $300,000 a year towards care of indigents, with the hospital making up the rest of the costs, if any.

The set amount, according to Seminole County Health Department Director Dr. Jorge Deju, was put in the contract so the county could budget. It had found, in dealing with the administration of Seminole Memorial, that some of the indigent care it was being billed for was, in reality, just bad debts. The persons leaving those debts were not indigent according to set criteria. Taking into consideration the size of the family unit, the criteria sets income levels and those whose annual income exceeds them are not eligible for county-paid hospital care and will be likely called upon by a bill collector.

Since the takeover by HCA, Deju said, the county has hired an intake eligibility officer to determine who is to be considered indigent for purposes of hospital care.

The county looks at it in a very practical manner, Deju said, taking a variety of factors into consideration, such as the individual's living situation.

This year, the county has contracted to pay $342,000 for indigent care. If Central Florida Regional

Heirs Sought For 30's-Era Safety Deposit Box Loot

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

If, like the Harriets of Sanford or the Sjobloms of Lake Mary, you or a relative had a safety deposit box at the First National Bank of Sanford when it folded in the Depression of the 1930s, you may be in for a surprise.

The federal government is trying to locate relatives of owners of the safety deposit boxes from a defunct Sanford bank as well as 15 others around the state, according to Florida Comptroller Gerald Lewis.

Lewis, whose office is required by Florida law to dispose of abandoned safe deposit boxes from Florida institutions, said more than 1,000 names are on the list released recently by the federal Comptroller of the Currency.

The safe deposit box contents were turned over to federal authorities and for about 50 years have since gone unclaimed by the owners or their heirs.

Lewis said the U.S. Department of Treasury reported that the safe deposit box contents consist of legal, financial and personal papers including abstracts, leases, titles, receipts, letters, agreements, passports, notes, stock certificates, mortgages, deeds, wills, bills of sale, bonds, contracts, insurance policies and certificates of deposit. There is also a smaller quantity of watches, jewelry, flatware, guns, coins, currency and household and other miscellaneous items.

A call to Alvin E. Sjoblom of Lake Mary revealed that A.E. Sjoblom, listed as the owner of one of the boxes, was his grandfather, who died in 1932. Alvin and his brother, also of Lake Mary, said their father, one of 13 children, died in 1979 and their mother died in 1972. They said there are numerous other grandchildren.

A.E. Sjoblom was a farmer and cattleman and operated a packing house and general merchandise store in Lake Mary before his death.

His grandsons said they intend to file a claim as even though the contents might not be of monetary value, they could be of historical significance to members of the family. Neither previously were aware of the box's existence.

Another call to W.F. Harriet of 1312 Elliott Ave., Sanford, revealed that his father J.A. Harriet, a safety deposit box owner listed, died in 1950 and his mother is also deceased. He said their six children are still living. Mr. Harriet said he planned to ask his brother, who is a lawyer in another part of the state to file a claim.

He said he remembered his father banking at First National before it closed.

Lewis said boxes from Florida institutions which were closed will be reclaimed by the state and eventually sold at public auction. If the owners or their heirs are not located, along with contents of more current unclaimed boxes from Florida institutions.

For several years after the banks failed, receivers were appointed in the local communities to return contents claimed by safety deposit box holders, according to Dean DeBuck, communications officer for the Claims Processing Unit in Washington, D.C. After that there were still unclaimed items and the federal government was required to store them.

"We never got asked about them and we only had the legal authority to safeguard, not dispose of them," DeBuck explained. "We were never under any pressure to give the stuff back. There was not much interest shown and they remained pretty much unnoticed for a long time until we ran into storage problems." "That's when we decided to get rid of the stuff," he said. "We decided to give people one last chance. We just got the legislature giving us the authority in the Garn-St. Germain Depository Institutions Act of 1982. They were given a year to file claims."

Some states do not have abandoned property disposition laws like Florida's, and unclaimed boxes from those states will be sold at public auction.

210 Women Arrested At Anti-Nuclear Protest

ROMULUS, N.Y. (UPI) — Troopers arrested 210 women who scaled the Seneca Army Depot fence to protest nuclear weapons as a crowd of flag-waving townspeople jeered, "Nuke 'em till they go."

Nearly 2,000 other women protesters sang "We Shall Overcome," as waiting troops arrested, handcuffed and herded the women onto buses as soon as they swarmed over the barbed-wire fence of the military base Monday.

Some 300 flag-waving local residents taunted the demonstrators with shouts of "Go home," and "Nuke 'em till they go." The protesters answered with strains of "God Bless America" and flashed the two-fingered peace sign. A long line of sheriff's deputies kept the two groups apart.

The women, members of the Encampment for a Future of Peace and Justice, claim the depot stores Pershing and cruise missiles. The Army has refused to say whether nuclear weapons are stored there.

A Woman Governor?

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Evelyn Gandy, sporting a new image of toughness and a slick, well-financed political machine, faced four primary challengers today in her quest to become Mississippi's first woman governor.

The slim, bespectacled Miss Gandy, 62, is favored to be at the top of the ballot when polls close at 6 p.m., but likely will land in an Aug. 23 runoff against either Attorney General Bill Allain or millionaire businessman Mike Sturdivant.

The winner faces Republican Leon Bramlett, a Delta businessman and ex-Navy football star, who is unopposed for the GOP nomination and seeking to become the first Republican in modern time to occupy the Mississippi governor's mansion.

Race has not been an issue in the governor's race, but black candidates are making a strong bid for county offices throughout the state's 82 counties, and on Monday the Justice Department entered the state with 322 observers to make sure federal election laws are not violated.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: The steamy heat blamed for nearly 200 deaths nationwide bore down on most of the country for the second month and Northeastern thunderstorms knocked out power to thousands of people. Forecasters said the showers would provide only "temporary relief" from the heat. Temperatures ranged from the low to upper 90s from Nebraska to Texas Monday and forecasters warned of little break from the sultry temperatures. Temperatures would hit the 100s in the southwest and the 90s and 100s in the Plains states of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas through the week, forecasters said, with showers and thunderstorms spiking parched southeastern soil. Nearly 3½ inches of rain doused Baton Rouge, La. Showers and gusty — but cooling — thunderstorms were scattered from the Ohio Valley through New York state, knocking out power to 20,000 customers in eastern New York, downing trees in Erie County and causing some property damage. A 1½-mile center, N.Y. woman said the gusts blew her horse shelter as far as 1,000 feet away and drove the 2-by-4 supports like arrows through the plywood walls. Most of the power was restored by evening, a spokesman for the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. Golfball-sized hail fell north of Albany and high winds caused some damage at Middleburg. Trees were felled in Brocton and in Cattaraugus County. The National Weather Service said lightning set a house afire in Johnstown, N.Y. To the west, lightning sparked new wildfires today in eastern Oregon, Idaho and Nevada, where more than 115,000 acres have already been charred by weekend fires, many of which continued to burn. A tornado injured one man and damaged four houses in the desert about 30 miles northwest of Palm Springs, Calif. Thunderstorms churning up winds of up to 45 mph rattled Phoenix, forcing a radio and a TV station off the air briefly and causing two major power outages. Some street flooding was also reported. Storms also hit the Plains, knocking out power to thousands in Nebraska.

AREA FORECAST: Partly cloudy with a chance of afternoon and evening thunderstorms through Wednesday. High near 90. Low in the lower to middle 70s. Winds will be light from the east to southeast.

BOATING FORECAST: Winds from the east to southeast near 15 knots through tonight. Seas 2 to 4 feet.

AREA READINGS (9 a.m.): temperature: 79; overnight low: 75; Monday high: 90; barometric pressure: 30.16; relative humidity: 91 percent; winds southeast at 6 mph; rain: .19; sunrise 6:41 a.m., sunset 8:15 p.m.

Defends Record, Blasts Critics

Reagan Embraces Women And Blacks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, wanting to have some last-minute words with Republican congressional leaders today before Congress leaves on its summer recess at the end of the week, planned a meeting to discuss Central America and legislative priorities.

Deputy press secretary Larry Speakes told reporters it will be Reagan's "last meeting before the congressional recess."

Speakes said Reagan wanted to talk about the pending legislative agenda and possibly developments relating to Nicaragua. The president has been receiving reports on contacts that Richard Stone, his Central American emissary, has made with Salvadoran rebel leaders and Nicaraguan government officials.

GOP leader Bob Michel has expressed concern over the escalation of the U.S. military presence in the region and has indicated he opposes any increase in the number of advisers in El Salvador beyond the ceiling of 55 Reagan previously established.

Monday, Reagan flew to Atlanta to address the 105th annual American Bar Association meeting and delivered an ardent defense of his civil rights record, describing his critics as "those who specialize in partisan rhetoric and the politics of accusation."

Rebutting attacks by black leaders, women's groups and others, Reagan claimed a record of vigorous enforcement of voting rights and fair housing laws.

He added that, although opposed to the Equal Rights Amendment, his administration has made progress in eliminating "all traces of discrimination in the law against women."

An objective review of his record, Reagan said, will show "much has and is being done to assure that every woman has an equal opportunity to achieve the American Dream."

"I reaffirm today our unshakable commitment to eliminate discrimination against blacks, women, the handicapped and other minorities," he said.

"And let me add this is not just our legal commitment it is also our moral commitment."

After he returned to the White House, his Office of Media Relations and Planning handed out a digest of the administration's record of enforcement in the past 2½ years in the fields of civil rights, school desegregation, fair housing, voting rights, rights of handicapped, sex discrimination and crime.

Most of the points were touched on in his speech to the nation's lawyers.

The president apparently is trying to mend fences with disident groups before he heads into a presidential campaign. He has not yet announced whether he will run, but he is planning a major political strategy meeting in Los Angeles around Aug. 21 and at that time is expected to privately pass the word to his key advisers whether he will seek re-election.

His top advisers are convinced all systems are go as far as Reagan running for a second term. But they do not expect him to make a formal announcement until November. In a recent interview he said he wants to hold off as long as possible so that his actions will be labeled "presidential" and not political.

Earnings Break Recession's Bonds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The economic recovery boosted the earnings of American workers' in the April-June quarter enough to outrun inflation for the first time since the recession began two years ago, the Labor Department says.

The report on incomes showed women tacked on another percentage point in their effort to catch up to male earnings, achieving 66 percent the median pay of men.

But the survey also found the number of families without any wage or salary earners rose again, adding about half a million families to hit 12.7 million.

The earnings gain resulted in a tiny improvement in spending power, with income outrunning inflation for the first time since the recession began in the summer of 1981.

—Commerce Department report

In a separate report, the Commerce Department said today that despite the recession, the number of poor people increased a bit more slowly last year than in the two previous years.

But the growth took the nation's poverty level to 15 percent of the population, the highest since 1966.

The 1982 poverty threshold was $9,862 for a family of four.

The rise of 8.1 percent in the number of people below the poverty income level compared with increases of 8.7 percent in 1981 and 12.3 percent in 1980.

The poverty figures do not include food stamps as income. If food stamps were included, the number of people below the poverty line could be cut by up to 42 percent, the Commerce Department said.

The Labor Department said its survey showed American workers at the midpoint of the earnings range made $320 a week in the second quarter, up from $308 a year ago.

The earnings gain resulted in a tiny improvement in spending power, with income outrunning inflation for the first time since the recession began in the summer of 1981, department analyst Beverly Johnson said.

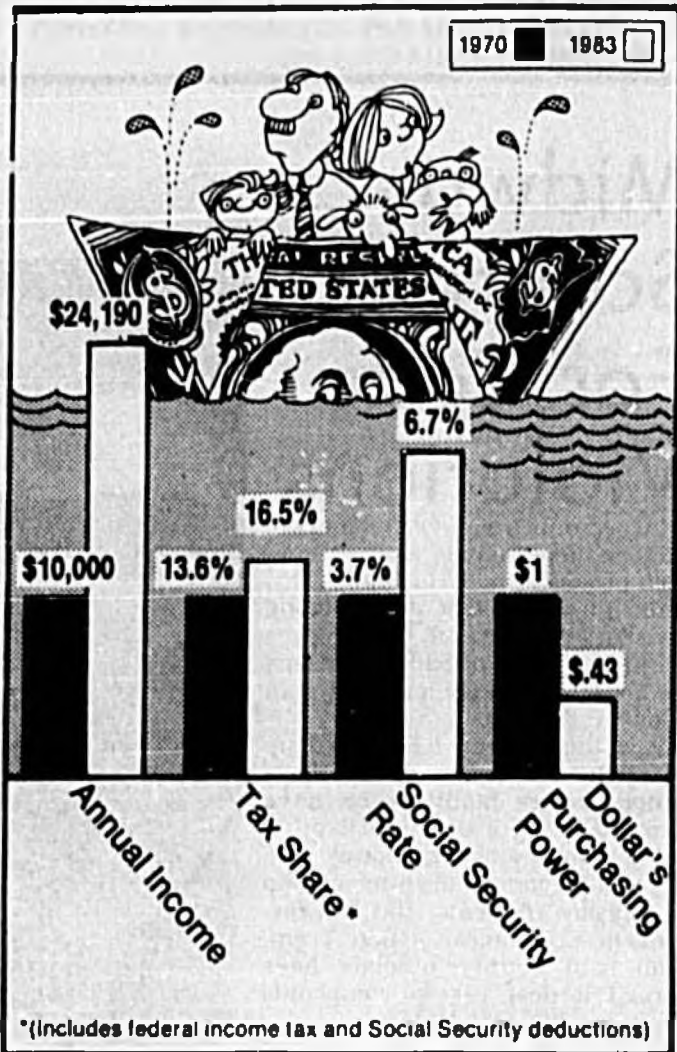

"Since the recession, in the past year or so, earnings of workers have not really kept pace with inflation. This time they did," she said.

The median pay raise for the year through June was 3.9 percent at an annual rate, slightly better than the 3.2 percent that consumer prices climbed in the same period.

The report said over the past year earnings of white males rose while those of black men stayed about the same, with black men earning a median $294 a week compared with $393 for white men and $280 for Hispanic men.

The survey found of 60.5 million families in the United States, 40.5 million had earnings only from wages and salaries.

The department said 12.7 million American families had no one working at all, but this group grew more slowly than before, by about half a million families from the second quarter of 1982 compared with growth of about a million in the previous year.

An average American family of four must have an income of more than $24,000 a year to enjoy the same purchasing power of $10,000 in 1970. Inflation and a bigger tax bite are the primary culprits.

...Hospital Sued For Indigents' Bills

Hospital uses more than that in caring for people who cannot pay, it must pick up the tab itself.

In the case of the second transfer precipitating the lawsuit, Dr. Wing had prepared the man for surgery during his two previous days at the hospital and was ready to begin the skin grafts when he was informed of the patient's inability to pay by CFRH patient accounts manager John White.

Sources at Central Florida Regional said it was White who ordered the patient transferred. Hospital Administrator Jim Tesar said in June that only a doctor can order a patient transferred. White said his office "can only enlighten a doctor as to the situation."

Sources said that may be true, but the hospital administration is in a position to put pressure on a doctor to abide by its rules.

In the case of the skin-graft patient, Dr. Wing had been donating his services because, he said at the time, he knew the man would not be able to pay. He treated him for two days in preparation for surgery. The operating room costs of $300 to $500 an hour would have been the responsibility of the hospital. "Apparently the hospital balked at that and ordered the patient shipped out," a source said.

Sherman said that's not uncommon.

"There's a tendency for for-profit hospitals to transfer a lot of patients to public hospitals," he said.

"West Volusia Hospital has performed services for them (Central Florida Regional) and are entitled to compensation. Central Florida Regional received unjust enrichment."

No trial date has been set to hear the suit, but the case has been assigned to Volusia Circuit Judge Uriel Blount Jr.

Nerve Gas Production Ban May Be Lifted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon will be able to produce nerve gas for the first time in 14 years under an agreement reached by Senate and House conferees working on a $200 billion military spending bill.

A congressional source said Monday the negotiators agreed in a closed session to lift the moratorium on nerve gas production on the condition that one old nerve gas weapon be destroyed for each new one made.

The conferees are expected to meet all week to resolve remaining differences in the overall legislation, and it is still possible the agreement over nerve gas could be changed before the final bill is sent to the full House and Senate.

Possible Arson, Two Other Fires Investigated

Three weekend fires caused approximately $120,000 in damages to three Seminole County residences over the weekend, and arson is suspected in one of the blazes, a fire official said. No one was hurt in any of the fires.

A fire that started in a pan of frying chicken caused about $100,000 damage to a four-bedroom house in the Black Hammock area near Oviedo about 4:30 p.m. Saturday, according to Ray Pippin, chief investigator for the Seminole County fire department.

Pippin said flames engulfed the kitchen of the William King residence on Kansas Street, causing a family member to have to drive a mile to use a neighbor's phone to call the fire department.

Pippin said arson is suspected in another fire which destroyed a mobile home near the residence of Ronald Rucker, 55, at 200 N. Jungle Road near Geneva.

Pippin said the fire occurred at 3:32 a.m. Sunday and did $15,000 damage to the mobile home which belonged to Rucker. Pippin would release no details on what was used to start the fire.

No arrests have been made in the case. A third fire resulted when lightning struck a home at about 5 p.m. Saturday and shorted the circuit breaker box, starting a brief blaze in the attic.

About $5,000 damage was done to the home of Mattie W. Spencer, 613 Seminole Ave., Pippin said.

HUB CAPS HIJACKED

A thief pushed in the hood of a Sanford man's car and removed four hub caps from the vehicle between 6 p.m. Tuesday and 11 a.m. Wednesday.

William M. Lennox, 73, of 1305 Sanford Ave., isn't sure where his 1979 Chevrolet Nova was parked when the incident occurred. The hub caps were valued at $25 each.

BOAT BURGLARY

Someone stole a boat battery and a rod and reel from a boat in the backyard of a Sanford man's home between 12:30 and 7 a.m. Wednesday.

O.W. Wilson, 67, of 402 Willow Ave., said four fiberglass poles in the boat were broken. He estimated his loss at $90.

RUDE AWAKENING

When a 63-year-old Sanford man's alarm clock went off at 5:35 a.m. Monday, he awoke to find a burglar in his hallway. Upon being discovered, the burglar fled through a sliding glass door in the dining room.

Michael Capko told police the intruder also entered his residence at 406 Temple Drive through the sliding door. At the time he contacted police, Capko didn't know if anything was missing.

CHAIN SNATCHED

A Sanford police officer captured a suspected thief 20 minutes after a gold chain had been snatched from the neck of a man stopped at a traffic light Monday.

According to a police report, the incident began when Keith J. Harris of 727 Black Haven Drive, Orlando, was stopped in his car at the intersection of 13th Street and Olive Avenue in Sanford at about 12:30 p.m.

A man approached Harris's car, reached in and grabbed a gold chain from his neck and fled, the report said.

Minutes later, officer Eddie Borges, who was in a patrol car in the vicinity, heard a radio report of the robbery and a description of the suspect.

Borges soon spotted a man on the street nearby who matched the description. Borges stopped the man, questioned him and found a gold chain in his possession, the report said.

Borges then drove the suspect to the victim who identified the chain as his and the suspect as the robber who took it, the report said.

Terry Thompson, 18, of 1704 W. 12th St., Sanford, was arrested and charged with robbery and grand theft. He remains in the Seminole County jail today in lieu of $8,000 bond.

Completion Plans Awaited For Altamonte Building Where Roof Collapsed, Man Died

Altamonte Springs building officials are taking steps to ensure that construction work will be completed safely on an unfinished shopping center where a Sanford worker was killed last week when the roof caved in.

Portions of the building's load-bearing walls and structural steel were damaged by the collapse and "we want to know how much has to be physically removed and replaced" to prevent any possibility of another collapse, said a city official.

Peters, Altamonte building director.

Peters said today he expects a new set of building plans to be submitted by the project's architect later this week that will give details on how to complete the construction job.

Peters said engineers for an insurance company which represents the owners of the half-completed building examined the site Monday, searching for evidence of what caused a 40-by-54-foot section of the roof to collapse last Tuesday shortly before 1 p.m.

The owners of the Altamonte Depot, located about 100 yards north of State Road 436 on County Road 427, also made preparations

Monday to begin weighing an estimated 10 to 20 tons of roofing gravel that was stored on the roof before it collapsed.

Peters has said the collapse was "probably" caused by the weight of the gravel. He estimated that about 10 tons of gravel was on the roof at the time of the cave-in.

The roofing subcontractor has estimated there were five tons on the roof.

James Terry, 39, of Sanford, was struck by falling stones, boards and equipment and died of multiple skull fractures.

Fraud Crackdown Nets 2 Social Security Cheats

MIAMI (UPI) — The indictments of two men on charges of lying to collect government aid are part of a new push to crack down on Social Security cheats, authorities say.

Rubin Francis Edwards Jr. and Sylvester Mills were charged Monday by a federal grand jury in Miami. They became the ninth and tenth south Florida residents charged since the crackdown began.

The offenses alleged by the grand jury since the beginning of the year include possession of counterfeit Social Security cards and illegal procurement of tens of thousands of dollars in government aid.

Willard Hill, an investigator for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services in Atlanta, said Social Security auditors will use the new penalties to stem abuse in Social Security collections.

Government officials said people who are accidentally paid too much may not be prosecuted, but those who commit blatant fraud are the targets of the new crackdown.

Widow Rolls Craps

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — A 60-year-old bookkeeper accused of embezzling $320,000 from a public relations firm to finance gambling trips to high-styled casinos in Las Vegas and Monte Carlo says she has sold all her assets to pay back her former employers.

But if prosecutors and defense attorneys fail to hammer out a plea agreement for Ruth Mishkin, a widowed bookkeeper, the woman could be given a lengthy prison sentence.

"If we go to trial and get a conviction, I'm asking for 15 years," said prosecutor Carole Comfort Rice. "She took advantage of honest people who trusted her."

Mrs. Mishkin, who earned $350 a week, is charged with embezzling $320,000 from her Boca Raton employer, The Communications Group, over a period of more than five years.

Rifle-Swinging Israelis Clear Lebanese Protesters

By United Press International

Israeli soldiers swept a Lebanese Christian militia base in southern Lebanon today to clear the area for the redeployment of Israel's troops, swinging rifle butts to disperse civilians protesting the takeover, reports said.

Beirut's Christian Phalange radio said at least two people were injured. Other protesters disrupted coastal traffic by burning car tires along a highway, the radio said.

The order to the Christian Phalange-dominated Lebanese Forces to close the base at Kafr Fallous touched off protests last week by thousands of villagers.

The order to the Lebanese Forces was issued last Thursday as Israel readied southern Lebanon for the pullback and redeployment of its 30,000 troops in the country to more defensible positions in the south.

Chadian City Bombed

NDJAMENA, Chad (UPI) — Libyan aircraft backing Chadian rebels stepped up bombing raids today on army positions in the northern town of Faya Largeau and hit civilian targets in a "virtual genocide," the government charged.

Soviet-made Libyan aircraft dropped bombs nine times during the night on the oasis town, the largest in northern Chad, and the raids resumed at 6:15 a.m. today, Foreign Minister Idriss Misikine said.

"We are seeing a virtual genocide," he said. "There are many civilian victims. A large part of Faya Largeau has been razed."

In Paris, the Chadian embassy's charge d'affaire, Allam-Mi Ahmad, said Soviet-made MiG 21 and 23 fighter-bombers and Mi-24 helicopters concentrated on hitting the urban center of the strategic town "and in particular civilian objectives."

Miffed At Legislature

Telson: 'No' To Seminole School Budget

By Micheal Beha
Herald Staff Writer

Pat Telson is voting against the Seminole County School Board's budget this year.

She's not unhappy about the budget itself or about the job district officials have done in preparing the $122.8 million spending plan.

Mrs. Telson's negative vote is a symbolic protest of the state Legislature delaying action on school funding until late in June which set district officials several weeks behind their state-mandated schedule for preparing the budget.

"The only thing I'm unhappy about is the Legislature," she said. "Our people at the district level have done an excellent job."

Mrs. Telson's negative vote was the only one cast by school board members at a public hearing on the budget Saturday.

She actually supports the budget, saying it's a lot leaner than last year's even though the district will spend 8 percent more than $113.5 million it spent in fiscal 1983.

Mrs. Telson said the district has two more schools to support along with the demands of the state's RAISE bill which increases the graduation requirements for Florida students.

Keeth Elementary School near Winter Springs will open its doors when students return to the campus later this month and construction of Hamilton Elementary School in Sanford will begin later this year.

The state's RAISE bill forced the district to reschedule all high school students to a six-period school day. Seminole County students had been attending five classes per day with a sixth period available for students with high academic achievement. But the extra class will be necessary for students to meet increased graduation requirements.

School Superintendent Robert Hughes called this year's budget process the "most unique budget funding year in Florida."

He said school districts were kept in the dark because of the Legislature's uncertainty about funding.

The Legislature initially passed a budget which was vetoed by Gov. Bob Graham. Graham called legislators back for a special session in order to prod them into allocating more money for educational improvements. The two sides compromised and came up with a state school funding plan which wasn't finally approved until the end of June.

The school board's budget includes $207,589 for upgrading of the district's data processing program. The new equipment is needed, Hughes said, by both the district administrative office and the schools.

Also included in the budget is $163,500 for installing finishing kitchens at Milwee, Jackson Heights and Rock Lake middle schools, Wekiva and Woodlands elementary schools and the Rosenwald Exceptional Child Care Center.

The board also approved a tax rate of $7.13 per $1,000 assessed value. That rate is up about 2 percent from last year's rate of $7 per $1,000 value.

The district's final public hearing on the budget will be held Sept. 7 at the School Board office at 1211 Mellonville Ave., Sanford.

7-County Raid Nets $3 Million Pot Haul

PENSACOLA (UPI) — A harvest of Florida Panhandle marijuana fields, some of them booby-trapped with rusty iron spikes, has ended with the seizure of more than 6,000 plants worth an estimated $3 million, officials say.

Florida Department of Law Enforcement commissioner Robert Dempsey and sheriffs from Bay, Escambia, Okaloosa and Santa Rosa counties made the announcement in a joint news conference Monday.

Despite rainy weather and news reports that could have warned marijuana farmers of the raids, Dempsey said the investigation in seven Panhandle counties was successful. He said officials would carry out more searches in attempts to stop marijuana farming throughout the state.

"This shows the efforts of federal, state and local authorities working together can be successful," he said. "It (the message) should go out to marijuana harvesters in Florida that we intend to continue and intensify efforts to eradicate marijuana."

A total of 22 officers from the FDLE, the federal Drug Enforcement Administration and sheriff's departments in Bay, Escambia, Holmes, Okaloosa, Santa Rosa, Walton and Washington counties participated in the harvesting from last Tuesday through Friday, FDLE agent Jim Harley said.

Six state airplanes were used to spot 6,256 plants seized in 88 small fields, FDLE officials said. Sheriffs in the seven counties, however, estimated more than 8,000 plants were uprooted.

The plants, ranging from sprouts to 18-foot stalks, would have been worth $3 million if they reached maturity, Harley said.

Santa Rosa County Sheriff Jim Powell displayed a booby trap made of a piece of rusty iron with rusty 6-inch spikes welded to it. Four of the devices were found buried on two dirt roads leading to seven marijuana plots, he said.

City To Review Record Budget For Sanford Airport Authority

A record $3.8 million budget for the Sanford Airport Authority's operations in fiscal 1983-84 will be reviewed by the Sanford City Commission at 7 p.m. Monday following a public hearing.

The hearing will be held at city hall, 300 N. Park Ave.

The authority's budget is funded totally by revenues from the airport operation. And while the proposed budget is up by $500,000 over the current year's $3.3 million, more than $1 million of it is slated for new construction at the airport.

Revenues from the terminal operation itself are expected to exceed $1 million. Terminal revenue includes aviation fuel and oil, ramp rental, rental cars and gate service. No federal or state aid is anticipated.

Aviation revenue is expected to total $304,000 in the new budget while industrial revenue is expected to total $664,297.73. Other leases and concessions revenue anticipated totals $24,743.70.

The Airport Authority anticipates granting its employees a 3.5 percent cost-of-living pay raise in the new year, the same amount that is included in the city budget for Sanford employees.

In other airport business, Henry Schumacher, appointed by the Sanford City Commission to the Sanford Airport Authority replacing resigned John Daniels, will officially take office on August 9.

Young Democrats To Poke Fun At Politicians Saturday Night

The Central Florida Young Democrats will present their second annual "Evening of Political Satire and Humor" at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Altamonte Springs Civic Center, corner of Magnolia Street and Longwood Avenue. A cash bar will open at 7 p.m.

Tickets for the event are $10 per person.

Prominent figures will come under humorous scrutiny at the fund-raising event, among them being U.S. Secretary of the Interior James Watt and Deanna Pitman, the former Miss Florida.

Those wishing additional information may call Lisa Glascock at 831-5146 or Mitchell Frank at 898-2610.

4-Cent Gasoline Tax, County Planning On Tap At Governments Council Meeting

Seminole County Administrator T. Duncan Rose III and county planner Woody Price will be guest speakers at the 7:30 p.m. meeting Wednesday of the Council of Local Governments in Seminole County at Casselberry City Hall.

Rose is scheduled to speak on the 4-cents per gallon gas tax recently adopted by the county commission.

Price is to give a status report on the "joint planning committee," composed of city and county officials and staff members.

The Casselberry City Hall is located at 95 Lake Triplet Drive just off U.S. Highway 17-92.

The council is composed of elected officials from each of the county's seven cities and the county government.

Boating Skills, Seamanship Course Set

Flotilla 41 of the United States Coast Guard Auxiliary will conduct a class in Boating Skills and Seamanship starting Sept. 12th at 7:30 p.m. at their Lake Mary headquarters located at 211 E. Lake Mary Avenue.

So that adequate supplies and materials will be available, advance registration is recommended. Classes will be held on Monday and Thursday evenings for two weeks.

Completion of the course will give boaters knowledge which will add considerably to the safety and enjoyment of their boating. Also, most insurance companies allow a boat insurance discount upon completion of this course. There is no charge, but students pay $15 for books and other materials.

For more information, call 323-9416.

Classroom Propaganda

Nuclear war and arms control have become hot academic topics. Classes on the controversial issues are rapidly increasing.

Although no standard textbooks cover nuclear armament questions, the National Education Association (NEA) and other organizations have developed curriculum manuals and are offering them to the nation's schools.

As a teachers' union closely allied with liberal Democrats, the NEA is highly partisan. It is not surprising, therefore, that the NEA's curriculum manual, entitled "Choices: A Unit on Conflict and Nuclear War," flunks the test for objectivity and intellectual integrity.

Written with the assistance of the Union of Concerned Scientists, the manual clearly reflects both organizations' support for a nuclear freeze as well as their bias against President Reagan's policy of deterring aggression through strength. "Choices" is replete with inaccuracies, distortions and flagrant omissions.

In comparing the nuclear weapons of the United States and the Soviet Union, the manual falsely asserts that our arsenal is far superior. It disregards the fact that the Soviet Union comes out ahead in three of every four categories of generally accepted criteria used to assess nuclear strength.

In examining U.S. defense spending, the 144-page NEA manual curiously makes no mention of Soviet military expenditures. And, the manual's claim that the United States spends more on weapons than on social programs is belied by its own charts that show the Department of Defense budget dwarfed by expenditures for social welfare and transfer payments.

Shockingly, the manual also would have teachers manipulate students' emotions. "Choices" urges teachers to describe the symptoms of radiation sickness in nauseating detail, while the students listen to recordings of anti-war songs.

We can't imagine why anyone would spend $9.50 to purchase one of the NEA manuals. The NEA says it has sold 5,000 but news reports indicate few school systems are using them.

The NEA is not the only advocacy organization that is attempting to promote its view of nuclear issues by indoctrination of students. Nuclear education material prepared by such disarmament groups as Ground Zero and Educators for Social Responsibility also has been criticized for bias.

Perhaps to counteract the anti-nuke groups, the Reagan administration has prepared its own nuclear education material entitled "Emergency Management Instruction." Written by officials of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), it is scheduled for public distribution in September.

The FEMA manual is not flawed by inaccuracies or blatant distortions. But portions of it are subject to legitimate criticism.

For example, in comparing the effect of long-term radiation exposure to a "nice tan," the administration document glosses over the dangers of radiation. Moreover, the veracity of the FEMA manual's assertion that most people situated "a few miles" from a nuclear blast would survive, obviously would depend on the size of the explosion and other variables.

With numerous psychiatric studies showing that many children are deeply concerned about the prospect of nuclear war, nuclear issues are a proper subject for study in the schools.

But biased curriculums should be replaced with objective texts. To leave the writing of instructional manuals to the NEA, or any advocacy group, will politicize the nation's classrooms and leave impressionable school children with dangerous, one-sided views.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Do you prefer the hijackers or non-hijackers section?"

By Jane Casselberry

On returning from vacation I was surprised to learn that old friend Jimmy Birkenmeyer had died during my absence. Thought to be the nation's oldest municipal employee, he was an institution at Casselberry City Hall, where he was feted May 13 on his 100th birthday.

It was a big day for Jimmy, whose title was "director of foliage." He jovially waved and grinned as he reviewed his very own parade made up of city emergency vehicles which gave him a siren salute.

He received a call from the governor, a champagne toast from Mayor Charles Glascock, birthday cake and service pins totalling 25 years from the city. What he enjoyed the most was a singing Bunnygram and collecting birthday kisses from "the girls" at city hall.

Keeping the foliage growing was what kept him going. He went to work five days a week to look after the plants and flowers at city hall. A retired toolmaker and metal polisher, who played on a family baseball team with his nine brothers back in 1907, Jimmy received a bi-weekly pay check of $68.04 and was still contributing to the Social Security System.

He began working around Casselberry City Hall in 1955 without pay and after five years was put on the payroll as custodian. He helped build the city's first fire house and town meeting hall, built with volunteer labor.

"I'll be here till they kick me out," he declared on his birthday. Well, Jimmy has been "kicked upstairs" and hopefully there will be lots of pretty flowers there for him to tend. If there aren't I'm sure he will plant some.

A sign out front of the Buckhorn Bar, Jimmy's favorite hangout, says "To Jimmy Birkenmeyer with love. We miss you, Jimmy." So say we all.

Three Door of Central Florida, Inc., a United Way agency, and a comprehensive drug and alcohol abuse, treatment, prevention and education program will benefit from a promotion by Paul and Janet Bliton franchises of Arby's Roast Beef Restaurants in cooperation with Pepsi Cola August 1-21. For every medium-size soft drink sold at Arby's Orlando locations, they will donate 25 cents to Three Door's residential building project.

International teen age students from Europe, the Far East, Central and South America and Mexico are anxiously awaiting notice that they have a YES (Youth Exchange Service) host family to welcome them this fall when they arrive for the 1983-84 high school year. YES is in urgent need of American families to host these 15-18-year-old students scheduled to arrive this month and next. They have been carefully screened and oriented and speak fair to good English.

They have medical insurance and their own spending money. Host families are asked to provide bed and meals and to accept them as a son or daughter. For information write YES, World Trade Center Building, 350 S. Figueroa St., Los Angeles, Calif. 90071 or phone (213) 617-0800.

DICK WEST 'Not So Deep As A Well...'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has undertaken a campaign to cut federal office space by 10 percent, giving each worker an average of 135 square feet.

The difficulty of getting agencies to cut back has been illustrated by one official with a colloquy from Shakespeare's "King Henry IV."

Arthur Barton, deputy assistant commissioner of the General Services Administration, which allocates working quarters, quoted this exchange between Glendower and Hotspur:

"I can call spirits from the vasty deep."

"Why so can I, or so can any man; but will they come when you do call for them?"

Barton obviously identifies with the latter line, uttered by Hotspur.

Well, the Immortal Bard is far from a one-way street, you know. The other side can quote from his works, too.

To see how government workers might feel about Barton's call for less vasty offices, let us think of Shakespeare as a middle echelon civil servant:

Q. How many filing cabinets and typing desks can you fit into 135 square feet?

A. "I have not kept my square; but that to come shall all be done by the rule. Hob, nob, is the word."

Q. "Hob, nob" is two words, sir. It all sounds terribly bureaucratic. What about office-sharing by executives?

A. "Two stars keep not their motion in one sphere."

Q. Well, I assume the federal honchos need room for thinking and decision-making, not to mention shelves for books of quotations.

A. "They that stand high have many blasts to shake them. What private griefs they have, alas! I know not. We cannot all be masters."

Q. But what if some high-level bureaucrat did volunteer to cut the size of his office by 10 percent?

A. "Upon such sacrifices, my Cordelia, the gods themselves throw incense."

Q. Please don't call me Cordelia, sir. With whom do you share an office?

A. "I cannot tell what the dickens his name is. A needy, hollow-eyed, sharp-looking wretch. He doth nothing but talk of his horse."

Q. The two of you must be terribly cozy.

A. "Arm'd at points exactly, cap-a-pe."

Q. Wow! Cap-a-pe must be even worse than check-by-jowl. No wonder you are reluctant to give up 10 percent.

A. "This was the most unkindest cut of all. Policy sits above conscience. I'll not budge an inch."

ROBERT WALTERS

And Who Is to blame?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It's after midnight and the Senate is still in session, struggling to deal with one of the nation's most divisive public policy issues — the size and shape of the Defense Department budget.

When legislation of lesser import is pending on the Senate floor, there are occasions when fewer than a half-dozen senators are present for mid-afternoon debates. On this night, however, about 25 legislators listen attentively.

Even more impressive is the fact that when the final vote of this nocturnal session is cast, 94 of the Senate's 100 members will emerge from nearby offices, cloakrooms and hallways to participate in the balloting.

As on other days of the contentious and protracted debate, the Senate on this night defeats virtually all attempts to significantly reduce the size of the military budget — but there surely is no consensus among its troubled members.

Sen. Charles E. Grassley of Iowa, a conservative Republican, is disturbed by the "cost overruns, low-balling and underestimating" which have become hallmarks of the Pentagon's multi-billion-dollar weapons system contracts.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, a liberal Democrat, speaks of "flagrant budgetary manipulation." Sen. Slade Gorton of Washington, a moderate Republican, is blunt and terse: "The bill is simply too large."

Indeed, the measure they are considering on this muggy midsummer night authorizes the Defense Department to consume more money next year than was required annually to operate the entire federal government as recently as the early 1970s.

How did we get into this predicament? In great measure, the fault lies with Congress itself because its members increasingly have come to view military spending as a glorified form of "pork barrel" doled out to satisfy what they perceive as their states' and districts' insatiable demand for rewards from their politicians.

Thus, Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., one of the most astute and respected members of the Senate who is rapidly rising in seniority on its Armed Services Committee, somberly proclaims his commitment to "ensuring that the American taxpayer obtains maximum value for each defense dollar expended."

At the same time, however, Nunn is distributing to his constituents a pamphlet boasting that "Georgia ranks in the top 15 states in the distribution of defense dollars." The state's "12 outstanding military installations," its defense contractors and other components poured almost $4.9 billion into Georgia's economy in 1982, Nunn notes with pride.

Those defense contractors must accept even more of the blame. While grasping for unconscionable profits, they have charged the Navy $110 for diodes worth 4 cents apiece, peddled 17-cent lamps to the Pentagon for $44 each and sold 67-cent bolts to the Defense Department for $17.59 apiece.

Finally, there are the increasingly irresponsible managers of the government's defense establishment who now are openly disdainful of almost all efforts to provide national security in an orderly, thoughtful and rational fashion. Deputy Defense Secretary W. Paul Thayer (former board chairman of the LTV Corp., a major defense contractor) was asked at a recent Senate hearing to justify the Pentagon's dubious practice of buying weapons now and testing them later to determine whether they work properly.

A General Accounting Office study cited 10 major weapons systems which the Defense Department ordered at a cost of $33 billion without knowing whether they would be effective — but Thayer summarily rejected the study's conclusions.

"It wouldn't be the first report we ignored," he haughtily proclaimed.

Similarly, Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger earlier this year refused to cooperate with members of Congress seeking to fashion an adequate yet reasonable budget for the Pentagon: "I do not worship the congressional budget process."

ROBERT WAGMAN Senators Battle For Top Spot

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It's generally said that Congress gets most of its work done during non-election years — and so it was believed that the 98th Congress would have to do most of its work this year, since 1984's presidential and congressional elections would tie it into political knots.

So far, however, the Senate has accomplished relatively little, and it probably will devote much of the remainder of this year to budgetary matters. It has avoided a number of controversial issues and probably won't tackle them any time soon.

One reason is the very early start of the 1984 Democratic primary and the fact that four of the announced candidates are in the Senate — which means that election-year partisan politics already has intruded on normal Senate business.

However, the GOP side offers an even greater impediment to the smooth flow of Senate business: Sides are forming in what may become a bitter and divisive contest over who will succeed Majority Leader Howard Baker in the 99th Congress.

Baker isn't seeking re-election in November, and if the GOP retains control of the Senate, the new leader will take over in January 1985. There are numerous candidates for the post, and the contest is having a considerable effect on the Senate's work this year.

Eight Republicans are regarded as contenders to replace Baker. Most have said that while they'd be interested in the post, they wouldn't campaign for it — which, translated from the politicalese, means that they're running full out for the job. Since all eight contenders now hold either leadership roles or chairmanships of major committees, this "quiet campaigning" will have a major effect on day-to-day business.

The favorite to succeed Baker should be Alaska's Ted Stevens, who currently holds the No. 2 position on the GOP side of the aisle. Stevens is generally rated as a good No. 2 man — a behind-the-scenes role — but many question his ability to deal with the White House and act as GOP spokesman in the Senate. Stevens clearly wants the job, but says he won't campaign for it — a claim that most observers greet with more than a little skepticism.

The next possibility: Paul Laxalt of Nevada, who is highly regarded by conservatives, is very close to the president and projects a good image. Laxalt says that he isn't a candidate, but most observers believe that he could have his arm twisted. Laxalt will be in the thick of the fight.

One man who clearly wants the job is Bob Dole of Kansas. Dole's work during the Senate budget battles earned him a great deal of respect from the press and from most of his colleagues.

Changing The Record On The Hill

WASHINGTON — Republican members of the House are properly outraged over alterations of official hearing transcripts that put words in their mouths and made them look foolish.

Not that tampering with the official record is anything new on Capitol Hill: It's just that the alterations are customarily made by the congressmen themselves. Impromptu remarks that might make them look like ignoramuses are routinely excised.

Any inquiry into the metamorphosis, which changes verbal clubfoots into gazelles, would reveal that a legislator, after participating in debate, can go back to his office, send for the transcript and revise it at his leisure — here, changing "no" to "maybe"; there, adding a literary curlicue or reversing a bogus argument.

But a few weeks ago, Reps. Judd Gregg, R-N.H., and John Hiler, R-Ind., were horrified to discover that some unflattering transcript changes had been made in their remarks at a hearing on environmental matters.

While most of the changes merely polished up the congressmen's grammar, some were clearly done with mischievous intent. The House Ethics Committee was assigned to find the guilty party.

In their zeal to pump "Altergate" into a full-blown scandal that might embarrass the Democrats and share headlines with the purloined Jimmy Carter briefing book foolfaraw, Gregg and Hiler charged that similar alterations had been made in the transcripts of still other hearings on the manipulation of the silver market in 1980.

"We have definite documentation that those transcripts were 'dramatically altered,'" cried Gregg in high dudgeon on the House floor.

However, he told us, "We are not pushing that one now."

He has admitted to us that neither he nor his staff had bothered to check the original transcript against the "dramatically altered" printed version before he made his charge. He based his melodramatic accusation on a comparison between a colloquy that appeared in a Barron's magazine editorial and the final printed hearing record.

We did the checking that Gregg should have done. The testimony in question — a colloquy between the late Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y., and Commodity Futures Trading Commissioner Read P. Dunn, a Democrat — took up roughly a page in the printed record.

Out of the 308 words in the original transcript, exactly six were changed; three words were added. None of the alterations was significant, much less dramatic.

Gregg, meanwhile, is not shy about revising his own remarks when they make him look silly. At a hearing last March on bank regulation, for example, he declared profoundly: "As we were talking before, it used to be you had to audit three times out of every two years the bank and the comptroller's office." Afterward, he discreetly deleted this puzzling remark along with 22 other changes.

INSIDE RUSSIA: Like the hidden side of the moon, the Soviet side of the earth is sheathed in shadows. Occasionally I try to penetrate the darkness and report what is happening in Kremlinland. From classified intelligence reports, here's what life is like for the workers in Yuri Andropov's "workers' paradise":

— Andropov blames Russia's nagging economic ills not on the communist system that caused them but upon the laziness of the workers. He has dispatched police to collar absentee workers in the nation's shops, bathhouses and theaters. He has succeeded merely in adding to the red tape that already entangles them. Now the workers produce elaborate, documented, formal excuses to justify their absences from work. Or if they are refused time off, they simply loaf on the job.

— The Soviet system cannot meet its production goals without slave labor. An estimated 4 million prisoners, both criminal and political, have been herded into work camps and are forced to do hard labor. Any obstinate worker or political dissident can wind up on the slave-labor force for the least offense. Here are a few typical sentences: one year for "parasitism"; three years for anti-Soviet slander; seven years for anti-Soviet agitation.

— As my own small way of focusing attention on Soviet persecution, I rate the leading imprisoned dissidents. Soviet Martyr No. 1 is Yuri Orlov, who dared to monitor the Kremlin's compliance with the human rights accords that it accepted. He's now in a work camp where, in desperation, he went on a hunger strike on July 10. Soviet Martyr No. 2 is Anatoly Shcharansky, whose crime was to ask to leave the country. His wife was allowed to leave, but he was cruelly detained and imprisoned. Soviet Martyr No. 3 is the distinguished physicist Andrei Sakharov who has been offered university posts in Austria and Norway. But the Soviets have banished him to a lonely and wasteful exile.

Sheri Smith R.C. Fowler Repeat Vows

Sheri Rae Smith and Richard Craft Fowler were married July 9, at 7:30 p.m., at United Presbyterian Church, Lake Mary. The Rev. Atlee F. Stevens performed the double ring and candlelight ceremony. Soloist Jean Brooklyn sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Russell Smith, 121 Sanora Blvd., Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of retired rear admiral and Mrs. Richard E. Fowler, 3400 Whitner Way, Sanford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a formal white imported organza gown fashioned along a traditional silhouette with a sweetheart neckline. Recembroidered motifs of Alencon lace lavishly embellished the full sheer sleeves and fitted bodice. The flowing skirt, bordered in crystal pleating and Venice lace, gracefully cascaded into a trailing train. Her only jewelry was a diamond and pearl pendant, a gift from the bridegroom. Her headpiece, a wide-brimmed hat, secured her veil of imported illusion. She carried a cascade of white rosebuds showered with trailing ivy and baby's breath.

Suzanne Sullivan of Altamonte Springs, attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a floor-length pink organza gown featuring a ruffled neckline with two sheer ruffles bordering the skirt. She carried white carnations with pink baby's breath and pink ribbons and the two pink rosebuds the bride presented to the two mothers following the exchange of vows. Her headpiece was a wreath of pink flowers and veiling.

Bridesmaids were Maureen Walsh, Longwood, and Lisa Smith, sister of the bride. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's.

Michael Bell of Pompano Beach, served the bridegroom as best man. Usher-groomsmen were Jay McKel, Tom Fowler, brother of the bridegroom, and Glen Solomon, Miami.

Tara Self, flower girl, distributed rose petals from a pink basket. Jonathan Duryea, ring bearer, carried the rings on a pillow handmade by Mrs. Arolyn True of Lake Mary.

The reception was held in the church fellowship hall. Mrs. John R. Noll, Mrs. Pam Smith and Carolyn

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Craft Fowler

Mancuso assisted in serving.

Following a wedding trip to Sanibel, Jamaica, the newlyweds are making their home at 3401 Whitner Way, Sanford. The bride is employed in the children's department at Robinson's of Florida. The bridegroom is with University of Florida's Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences at the Agricultural Research Education Center, Sanford.

In And Around Longwood

Farewell Arletta Coberly

Farewell Arletta Coberly, Arletta M. Coberly, principal at Longwood Elementary School for the last 13 years, will be honored at a farewell dinner on Aug. 19.

Evelyn Fowler, the school's media specialist, said she thought it would be nice to hold a farewell dinner for Arletta and shared the idea with Mary Kristoff, Pam Simmons, Linda Connery and Diane Thompson. Together, the women have been planning, sending out invitations and making preparations.

The gala event will be held in the auditorium of the school, and includes a sit-down buffet dinner of ham, turkey, salad, vegetables, potatoes, rolls and coffee, all for $3.50 per person.

The program will be filled with surprises.

It starts at 7 p.m., and will last approximately two hours. Tickets will be sold at the school's office Aug. 1-5, and Aug. 8-12 only, between 10 a.m. and noon. Invited are parents, teachers, students and friends.

Over the last 13 years, Arletta was a dedicated principal and has been instrumental in forming the school's award-winning Fife & Drum Corps. She has taken the group on trips to Washington D.C., and Williamsburg, Va.

Arletta worked to obtain an environmental grant to purchase a greenhouse for the school, as well as worked with the teachers to write an extensive program curriculum for the school's environmental studies.

This last year she purchased enough closed circuit television sets to have one placed in each of the classrooms and supported and encouraged Mike Platt in his developing the school's gymnastic program.

Arletta has been assigned as the new principal of Idylwild Elementary School, Sanford.

The Longwood/ Winter Springs Chamber of Commerce held its monthly meeting on July 25. Guest speaker for the meeting was Barbara McGraw, C.L.U., Director of Marketing for Prucare of Orlando, and spoke on the possibilities of lower medical insurance premiums.

Planned for the Aug. 22 meeting will be the football coaches of Lake Mary, Lake Brantley, Oviedo and Lyman high schools. Each of the coaches will give an assessment of their teams, as well as answer questions regarding the forthcoming football season.

If you have any information of community interest, contact Karen at 323-9034.

Child's Question Has No Easy Answer

DEAR ABBY: Some years back you published a letter from a young boy who asked, "If God is good, why did he let my little brother die?"

Please try to find it. I need it now to explain to my grandchildren why God took their baby sister. Thank you.

M.C.H. IN ROANOKE, VA.

DEAR M.C.H.: Here it is: DEAR ABBY: My Sunday school teacher says that God is everywhere. Please put this letter in the paper and maybe he will see it.

"Dear God: Why did you let my brother die? When he was hit by the car, my mother prayed to you to let him live, but you wouldn't. My little brother was only 2 years old and he couldn't have sinned so bad that you had to punish him that way."

"Everyone says you are good and can do anything you want to do. You could have saved my little brother, but you let him die. You broke my mother's heart. How can I love you? — PETER"

DEAR PETER: Your question is one that has troubled religious men for thousands of years. One great thinker wrote a book about it. It is called "Job" and is part of the Bible.

It says that the suffering of innocent people is something we cannot understand. But this much is sure: Death is not a punishment. It is one of life's mysteries. Speak to your minister, Peter. Communicate with God by praying, and he will help you in your search for wisdom and goodness and help make your mother happy again.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't throw this away thinking I am some kind of nut. I'm a fairly intelligent, 24-year-old guy. I'm straight, nice-looking, not a creep, but I'm still a virgin. I am not looking to get married, but I would like a little action.

My friends tell me to go to clubs and bars and find a one-night stand. Abby, I must have gone to 100 of them, but no luck. Maybe I'm too polite or too honest. I could never flat out ask a girl to go to bed with me. And telling a girl I "loved" her just to get what I want seems too cheap and deceitful.

What am I doing wrong? Don't give me a lecture about right and wrong. I know the difference. All I want is a sure thing. Nothing serious or permanent — just a one-night stand. Thank you.

HARD UP IN HAMILTON, OHIO

DEAR HARD UP: Know thyself. You seem to be a decent, caring guy — too nice to love 'em and leave 'em. What you really want is a nice girl — not a one-night stand.

DEAR ABBY: "Shortchanged in Iowa City" is only partly liberated. She's the woman who makes a little more money than her boyfriend and pays for dinner half the time. Good! But her problem was that when she gives the money to her boyfriend, he keeps her change after paying the bill.

The solution is simple: Hand the money to the waiter yourself and get your own change back. Why should your boyfriend handle your money if YOU are paying for dinner?

I make four times the salary my husband does. For 10 years, I've paid for most of our meals out. If a waiter hands the bill to my husband, he openly passes the bill to me. My husband doesn't care. I don't care. The waiter doesn't care.

What's the fuss, "Shortchanged?" It's YOUR money. You might as well hand it to the waiter yourself. Problem solved.

Hungry Tamiami Devours Seminole Fastballs En Route To Bronco Title

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Question: What do you feed a hungry Cuban?

Answer: A diet of curveballs. Manager Jim Lucas and his Seminole Bronco All-Stars found out that the Tamiami All-Stars didn't like "junk food" as a main course in the Pony Baseball State Bronco Tournament this past weekend — but they found out a little late.

The Broncos and Tamiami met in the winner's bracket final Saturday afternoon, and the well-disciplined Cuban hitters devoured three innings of fastballs en route to a 14-2 feast.

"We hoped to hold them down for a couple of innings with the hard stuff," said Lucas. "And then come with the changeups and curves. But they were geared for the fastball. They really ate us up."

Tamiami batters four Seminole pitchers en route to the lopsided victory which was stopped after five innings due to the 10-run rule. Starter Erik Wofford was tagged with the loss.

"We were down so far, we just never could get started with the bats," sighed Lucas.

The bats, however, were no problem in the loser's bracket final against Tampa Forest Hills. Chris Schoenfelder slugged a pair of triples to drive in four runs as the Broncos stayed alive with a 14-12 victory.

Wofford, too, bounced back. He came on in the late innings and pitched out of a jam with runners on second and third in the final frame to gain the save for Seminole. A big seven-run fifth inning propelled the Broncos into the championship game, although they needed two victories to unseat Tamiami.

For Sunday's rematch, Lucas tabbed catcher James Joyce to start on the mound for the Seminole crew, and Joyce,

State Tournament

Seminole's best offspeed hurler, turned in a stellar effort.

The 12-year-old righthander threw blanks at Tamiami for three innings before the Miamians nudged across single runs in the fourth and fifth and two more in the sixth to wrap up the championship with a 4-0 victory.

"James (Joyce) did a heckuva job," said Lucas. "He used his changeup and slow curveball perfectly. He really had them off-balance."

The Broncos' bats, though, were also off-balance, something Lucas never believed would happen. Chris Hudson had a double for the only extra-base hit.

"Their pitcher wasn't that tough," said Lucas. "We were just chipping the ball. The big thing I thought we'd do well in this tournament was hit, but the hits just weren't there." Tamiami now joins North Tampa, a team from Georgia and a team from Alabama at the Southern Regional at Town & Country in Tampa. Action begins in the double-elimination tournament on Wednesday.

Rozelle Suspends Reilly For Season

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Los Angeles Rams linebacker and jail inmate Mike Reilly has had his 1983 season ended by National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle. The team says Reilly will be welcomed back in 1984.

Rozelle announced Monday that Reilly, currently serving a one-year prison term for drunken driving and felony vehicular manslaughter, is being suspended for all games through the end of the 1983 season and fined $5,000.

Reilly, sentenced to one year in jail after being convicted of causing the death of one person and seriously injuring two others in an auto accident, had been working out with the Rams as part of a work release program. He is serving the prison term in an Orange County jail.

The Rams late Monday issued the following statement: "The Los Angeles Rams will comply with Commissioner Rozelle's decision. Mike Reilly will not play for the Rams during the 1983 season and post-season. He will, however, be permitted to practice with the team and use club equipment and facilities. At the conclusion of the suspension, the Rams will allow Mike Reilly the opportunity to pursue his career as a professional football player."

In advising Reilly of the suspension, Rozelle said that, "participation in NFL games while serving a jail sentence, in my judgement, is inconsistent with public confidence in and respect for the game of professional football."

Rozelle said the $5,000 fine would be directed to an appropriate charity.

Reilly, then a rookie from Oklahoma, was involved in an auto accident near the Rams' training camp on Aug. 7, 1982, and was convicted of causing the death of one person in another vehicle and seriously injuring two others.

After crying "misdeal" during the last hand of its ongoing judicial card game, the city of Oakland, Calif., Monday revealed the ace hidden up its sleeve.

In an emergency petition, Oakland city officials asked the California Supreme Court Monday to prevent the Los Angeles Raiders from playing their 1983 schedule at the Los Angeles Coliseum by upholding an earlier ruling favoring the Raiders in the city's eminent domain case.

The action would force the Raiders to stay in Oakland for the 1983 season until the dispute is settled at a trial.

In 1982, the Raiders played in Los Angeles.

Monterey Superior Court Judge Nat Agliano said the city had not proven that the club was vital to the city's existence and ruled against it, enabling the organization to base in Southern California.

The petition filed to the court charges that Agliano showed a "deep antipathy" to the state high court's earlier decision which sided with Oakland.

At New York, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle announced Los Angeles Rams linebacker Mike Reilly, will be fined $5,000 and suspended for all 1983 season games. Reilly is serving a one-year prison term for drunken driving and felony vehicular manslaughter.

At Plainville, N.Y., former New York Jets star Gerry Philbin was in "satisfactory" condition at Central General Hospital after nearly drowning in his backyard swimming pool. The accident occurred Saturday.

At Suwanee, Ga., the Atlanta Falcons waived linebacker Greg Zappala of Miami, wide receiver Mark Millwood of Arkansas Tech, defensive back Kris Van Norman of Nebraska, punter Case deBruijn of Idaho State and wide receiver Stanley Floyd of Houston.

At Charleston, Ill., the St. Louis Cardinals released kickers Todd Cox of Dubuque and Alex Falcinelli of Rutgers, punter Michael Johanes of Indiana State and wide receivers DeWayne Jett of the University of Hawaii and Ken Blair of the University of Missouri-Columbia.

At Greeley, Colo., the Denver Broncos cut 15 players, including ninth-round draft choice, defensive back Brian Hawkins.

Others cut — all free agents — were: running backs DeWayne Robinson, Brendon Crite and Tim McCray; linebackers Ray Cone and Ben Klefer; defensive ends Tom Fox and Tyrone Evans; tight end Mike Lively; quarterback Jim Arrivey; tackle Scott Sax; punter Calvin Murray; kicker Steve Tobin; and defensive backs Wayne Jones and Andra Jones.

At San Angelo, Texas, the Houston Oilers released former SMU linebacker Victor Simon, Angelo State defensive tackle Dexter Roberson, Northeast Louisiana guard Scott Boucher, and Concordia defensive end David Kjergaard.

At Green Bay, the Packers said defensive end Byron Briggs, a Packer for three years, will be sidelined for an undetermined length of time following arthroscopic surgery today. Starting linebacker Mike Douglass is to be examined for a rapid heartbeat problem.

At Thousand Oaks, Calif., the Dallas Cowboys released 14 rookies Monday, including ninth-round draft choice safety Al Gross.

The Cowboys continued two-day workouts, preparing for the pre-season opener Saturday against the Miami Dolphins. They waived center Dan Bertelson of Wyoming; defensive tackles Mark Daniels of Southwest Oklahoma, Eric McCree of Boise State and Broderick Thompson of Kansas; cornerbacks Terry Waller of Richmond and Rodney Gilbert of Wittenberg; and wide receivers Ron Harvey of Boise State and Jon McKee of Virginia Tech.

Confident Legion Begins District Against Boone

LONGWOOD — Altamonte Springs Legion Post 183 begins defense of its district baseball title tonight when it plays Boone at 8. Apopka takes on Winter Park Pace in the first game of the double-elimination tournament at 5:30 p.m. at Lyman High School.

Manager Bob McCullough's squad has posted a 13-6-1 record going into today's tournament and it hopes to earn a second straight trip to the State Legion Tournament next week at West Palm Beach.

"The strong pitching of this squad and the strong senior leadership could take us to state, again," pointed out Sawyer, who will be doing his receiving for the Seminole Community College Raiders this fall.

Barefoot, who will start tonight's opener, has beaten Apopka twice this summer and has a one-hitter to his credit over Orlando Evans. Boone has whipped Altamonte two of three times this summer, but Barefoot discounts the 2-1 edge as being any advantage for Boone.

"The first time we had some of our seniors at the beach and the beach and the second time we gave it away," said Barefoot. "They were both close games (3-2 and 4-3). We should get them this time."

A victory propels Altamonte into Wednesday's 8 p.m. game against the Apopka-Winter Park winner. McCullough indicated he would come back with Livernois, who had a tremendous sophomore year for Lyman, on Wednesday. "We can win it in three straight games," said McCullough. "That's what we'd like to do."

Altamonte's starting lineup will be John Drinkwater leading off and playing center field, Gibbons next at second base, Sawyer catching and batting third and Perkins, who will attend Valencia Community College this fall, holding down the cleanup spot. Alegre, a hard-hitting junior, plays right field and bats fifth while Steve Lorenz takes care of first base and the sixth slot. Byron Overstreet, an up-and-coming sophomore pitcher, will be the designated hitter for Barefoot. Robbie Robinson will hit eighth and play second while Greg Lorenz will handle shortstop and bat ninth.

Clint Baker, Jimmy Odom, John Cuptl, Joe Rintharany and Livernois complete the roster.

Rain Washes Away Altamonte Teams

It didn't matter that Altamonte's two Little League All-Star teams were 100 miles apart Monday — both were all wet.

Rain washed away the Juniors at the state tournament at Winter Garden while day-long showers did the same to the Seniors at Manatee Junior College in Bradenton.

Manager Frank Messina's Juniors and Juno-North County will try again today at 5:30 at Winter Garden while manager Clayton Garrison's Seniors will do the same at 2 p.m. at Bradenton against Boynton Beach. East Tampa Bay and Fort Myers will play at 4 p.m. Neil Harris will be on the mound for the Seniors.

At Winter Garden, North County was just completing its infield practice when the shower came down and tournament officials waited 45 minutes before making a decision. Just one game will be played today to determine who will meet Tampa Wellswood, a 7-6 winner over Fort Myers in Monday's first game.

Wellswood, a spunky little team from a baseball-rich area in Tampa, jumped to a 7-2 lead with a series of bunts in the second inning, then held off a four-run, seventh-inning rally by Fort Myers for the victory Monday.

Winning pitcher Brian Kistner struck out pinch-hitter John Healy to preserve the win with the bases loaded in the seventh.

Wellswood mustered just one hit off loser Naye Miles, but it ran the bases and bunted effectively enough to score seven runs in the second inning. Tampa's ace Paul Russo will pitch on Wednesday against the Altamonte-North County winner.

Jeff Hagen will pitch today for Altamonte. — SAM COOK.

Luzinski's 'Bullshots' Rip Yanks; Butler's Triple Propels Atlanta

United Press International
Greg Luzinski is giving a new definition to the word "bullshot."
A bullshot is a cocktail made of gin or vodka and bouillon, but Luzinski's concoction packs a wallop of its own.
"The Bull" unloaded a pair of bullshots against the New York Yankees Monday night, belting a pair of long two-run homers at Chicago's Comiskey Park to lead the White Sox to a 4-1 triumph before a sellout crowd of 44,812 and a national television audience.
Luzinski's first homer, which came in the first inning off rookie Ray Fontenot with Tom Paciorek on base, hit the left-field roof, making him the first player in the history of major league baseball's oldest park to hit two homers onto the roof in one season. He also did it on June 26 against Minnesota.

The White Sox' designated hitter also homered into the upper deck off Fontenot with Paciorek on base in the third inning. It was the second time this season Luzinski has hit two homers in a game against the Yankees.

Luzinski said his roof blast was possibly the hardest he has hit a ball in his career.

"Both pitches were mistakes, but I'd have to say I couldn't remember ever hitting one any harder," he said. "Certainly, I don't remember hitting back-to-back homers as hard."

Floyd Bannister, 8-9, benefitted from Luzinski's heavy hitting to notch his fifth straight victory. The left-hander allowed only five hits in posting his third complete game.

Indiana 6, Blue Jays 0

At Toronto, Len Barker fired a three-hitter and struck out nine and Mike Hargrove lashed a two-run double to lead the Indians to victory. The triumph was the second straight for Cleveland under new manager Pat Corrales.

A.L./N.L. Baseball

Toronto has lost nine of its last 14 games.

Brewers 8, Red Sox 2

At Boston, Ted Simmons had three hits, including a two-run single that highlighted a four-run sixth inning, to spark the Brewers' triumph. It was the sixth victory in Milwaukee's last nine games and 23rd in the last 31. Chuck Porter pitched the first five innings to raise his record to 3-5 and Tom Tellmann went the final four innings for his eighth save.

A's 4, Mariners 3

At Seattle, Oakland's Davey Lopes drew a two-out, bases-loaded walk from reliever Bill Caudill to force in Tony Phillips with the winning run in the ninth inning. Tom Underwood, 7-5, pitched 3 1-3 innings of one-hit relief to get the victory with Dave Beard getting the last three outs to notch his fifth save.

Angels 12-0, Twins 6-7

At Minneapolis, Steve Lubratich had four RBI and Reggie Jackson hit two doubles and a single to lead a 16-hit attack that sparked the Angels to victory in the opener. In the nightcap, Tom Brunansky hit a solo homer, Darrell Brown cracked three singles and a triple and Rick Lysander, making his first major league start, tossed the first shutout by a Twins pitcher this season.

Phillies 2, Cubs 1

Greg Gross wanted to see his name in the lineup more often, but knew he had to see better at the plate in order to bring his playing status into focus.

So, the Philadelphia Phillies outfielder got new glasses this spring and hopes his chances of starting will improve along with his eyesight.

Gross got a rare starting assignment Monday night

Brett Butler

and produced three hits, scored the tying run and got the game-winning RBI in the Phillies' 2-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Philadelphia starter Steve Carlton, who raised his record to 10-11 with his first win since July 4, struck out 12 and the Phillies took their seventh victory in eight games.

Padres 7, Astros 4

At San Diego, Bobby Brown's three-run homer with two out in the 10th inning lifted the Padres. Brown's homer, his second since being purchased from Las Vegas of the Pacific Coast League Saturday night, came off loser Bill Dawley, 5-4. Winner Luis DeLeon, 2-3, pitched the final two innings.

Reds 4, Dodgers 2

At Los Angeles, Dan Driessen singled in Eddie Milner with the tie-breaking run to trigger a two-run 10th inning that paced Cincinnati. Reliever Ben Hayes, 2-2, got the win. Dodgers starter Bob Welch, who walked Milner to open the 10th, dropped to 8-11.

Braves 8, Giants 3

At San Francisco, Brett Butler's bases-loaded triple in the seventh inning capped a four-run rally to lead Atlanta. Rick Camp, 9-8, scored on Butler's hit and got the win but needed 1 2-3 innings of relief help from Steve Bedrosian. Andy McGaffigan, 2-9, started and took the loss.

Best Low Net

Chad Weinkauf, 13, had the best low net score for the beginners group at the Longwood Golf Club Six-Week Summer Tournament held recently. Above, Weinkauf rolled in a short putt.

Quarterback Up For Grabs As Bucs Open

Pro Football

We are happy with it. The preseason games are important for them but I am confident both will do well. From everything I've seen I don't think our quarterbacking will prevent us from being a winning team."

Another distraction for the Buccaneers this preseason has been the failure to report to camp of tight end Jimmie Giles, dissatisfied with Tampa Bay's offer for a renegotiated contract for 1983 and 1984. Easing the Buccaneers' concern has been the improved performance of Jerry Bell, the team's third-round draft choice in 1982. "Jerry Bell is one of our most improved players," says McKay. "There never has been any question about his ability to catch the football and he is much-improved in the other areas of the game."

As McKay points out contract problems while a relatively new phenomenon with the Buccaneers, are widespread at this time of year around the league. "Everyday in the papers I see where other teams are having problems with their players," he says. "I think it is a fact of life in today's football. We've been fortunate in the past."

The Buccaneers have had very successful drafts the last few years and a number of younger players from those drafts are making spirited efforts to win starting positions. Among these contenders are inside linebacker Jeff Davis (fifth round, 1982) who is contesting Cecil Johnson; defensive backs John Holt, Jeremiah Castille, Johnny Ray Smith, Thomas Morris and Sandy LaBeaux against the veteran quartet of Mike Washington, Neal Colzie, Norris Thomas and Cedric Brown and second-year man Melvin Carver, who is battling James Owens at tailback. Two second-year players, Booker Reese and John Cannon, are the leading candidates at defensive left end where Dave Stalls has announced intentions to retire to pursue a career in veterinarian medicine. For all these and others the four-game preseason is most important.

"I think we have a good mix of experienced players and younger players," says McKay. "We have practiced well so far and we are looking forward to our first game. New Orleans will be a very good test. They have an outstanding team and we were fortunate to defeat them last year."

PREVIOUS MEETINGS: The homefield advantage has not meant much in the Tampa Bay-New Orleans series. Only once in seven previous games both preseason and regular season has the home team won. In preseason action the Bucs lead 3-2. All three Tampa Bay victories have come in the Louisiana Superdome while New Orleans has won on its two regular season visits to Tampa Stadium. The Bucs have defeated the Saints each of the last two seasons with a 31-14 win in 1981 and a tense 13-10 triumph on December 5th of last season.

In that game the Saints out-gained the Bucs 380-to-271 as quarterback Ken Stabler hit 29 of 43 passes without interception for 333 yards.

BUC PRESEASON RECORD: Tampa Bay is 15-17 in its seven previous preseasons and 12-8 over the previous five seasons. Last year the Bucs were 3-1 with wins over Philadelphia (35-7), Washington (28-13) and Atlanta (34-0) while losing at Houston (6-21).

Furniture House Has Discount For Students

The Furniture House located at 1740 N. Highway 17-92, Longwood, wants to give high school and college students preparing for "Back to School" a break. High School and college students are invited to take advantage of the 30 percent student discount being offered this month on furniture such as desks (plain wooden to dressy Basset suitable for the living room), bookshelves, chairs and chests of drawers.

Located at Five Points junction of State Road 419 and County Road 427, The Furniture House has a constantly changing variety of quality new and slightly used furniture selections for every room in the house at reasonable prices. It is just south of the first traffic light north of State Road 434.

Owner Norma Mingo, who opened her business in January, has been joined by her daughter, Jane Howard.

They have a great selection of baby furniture including car carriers, strollers, high chair, changers, children's rockers and wardrobe. You can get a matching three-piece set of sturdy wardrobe, changer and chest for baby for only $155.

And talk about great buys, they are offering a twin bed complete with foot and head boards, railing, mattress and box spring for only $65. Or how about this—a complete set of "ranch-style" living room furniture including couch, two chairs, two end tables, and coffee table for $399, a Duncan Phyfe dining room table for $110, or a couch and love seat set for $175.

"We buy, sell, trade, and sell on consignment," said Norma, "and if we don't have it for them, we'll find it. We buy from one item to a houseful. Before you sell, be sure to call me at 321-2063 for an estimate."

Bursting with bargains, the Furniture House has complete living room, dining room, bedroom suites, dinettes, and patio furniture, as well as occasional pieces such as hutches, chairs, coffee tables, end tables, bars, couches and recliners.

You will find Early American, French Provincial, Duncan Phyfe, Mediterranean and modern styles of furniture and even some antiques. They also have wicker, bamboo and rattan.

They have springs, mattresses, mirrors, lamps, paintings, chandeliers, cut glass and accessories.

The Furniture House has a pick up and delivery service and a layaway plan. Visa and Master Charge are accepted or financing can be arranged. The Furniture House hours are from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m., seven days a week. Come in and browse, you'll be pleasantly surprised.

Norma also has a warehouse on Mingo Trail in Longwood Industrial Park.

All Work Is In-House At Artco Printing

Joan and Jim Mackie, owners of Artco Printing, 2617 S. French Ave. at Park Drive, Sanford, want to thank their many loyal customers, who have made the business a success.

They are very happy with the continued growth of their business over the past 3½ years and especially value the relationships formed with their customers.

A complete full-service shop, Artco has been in Sanford since 1973 and was purchased 3½ years ago by the Mackies. They offer the convenience of one-stop service.

Artco can handle quick copy to complex jobs from the first step of type setting to completion of a job in two-color raised print.

Their new two-color press enables them to produce letterheads, business cards, brochures, etc. in either flat or raised print in a more efficient and economical manner.

While other area printers send raised printing orders out of town, Artco Printing eliminates problems and delays by specializing in raised printing in-house direct to the public. They are the only printer in the area with the special equipment needed to do raised printing.

They can cut delivery time on business cards, invitations and announcements. There is no extra charge for raised printing.

No job is too big or too small for Artco. They can make copies from one to 1,000. They can run anything from a paper plate to a metal plate. They print tickets, church bulletins, newsletters, forms, envelopes, brochures, flyers, social and business stationery, wedding invitations and special announcements. They imprint names on napkins and Christmas cards.

ding invitations and special announcements. They imprint names on napkins and Christmas cards.

Artco has a wide variety of colors in ink and paper stock. Computerized typesetting with memory, off-set camera, letter press, two-color work, and carbonless forms, folding and binding are all available at Artco. They also make customized rubber stamps and magnetic signs.

Artco is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon. Pick up and delivery service is available. Just call 323-7465.

To reach Artco, located between Dick's Appliances and Orange-Seminole Cablevision, if you are going south on Highway 17-92 turn left on 27th St. Go one block and turn left again on S. French Ave. If you are driving north on 17-92 (Orlando Drive) turn right on S. French at the junction of French, Park Drive, and Orlando Drive.

Why Did Firebombing Suspect Go Unaided?

By United Press International
Mental health officials say repeated requests that John William Ferry Jr. be hospitalized were ignored until the troubled man lit a firebomb in a Tampa grocery store, killing five and injuring 13 last month.

State mental health officials say the case is not unique or surprising, but is just another horrifying example of Florida's inadequate system for coping with mentally ill patients. "I doubt if Billy Ferry would have been treated if he had been picked up in Miami," Barry Morris, director of the Dade County courts' forensic psychiatry unit, said. "It's probably no one's fault."

Unless a mentally ill person wants help, unless he knows that he needs help, there's not much you can do. It's the law. Ferry's family had repeatedly requested treatment for the 31-year-old drifter, who had been arrested for several petty crimes, but never received any help. After the firebombing, state officials discovered the troubled man had been examined at a local

Answer to Previous Puzzle

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY AUGUST 3, 1993

This coming year you are likely to involve yourself with several new social groups. This is well and good, provided you don't neglect your old buddies.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be extremely careful today about giving friends unsolicited financial advice. If your suggestions fall, you might be held accountable for the year ahead are now ready. Romance, career, luck, earnings, travel and much more are discussed. Send $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't enter the fray today just because you think you have strong supporters to back you up. The ranks behind your banner may collapse under fire.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be extremely attentive today if someone is disclosing important information. In fact, you'd better make notes rather than trust to your memory.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Pals with complicated problems are apt to look to you today to bail them out. Regrettably, you might not have enough buckets on board to do the job.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't bring outsiders in today to help resolve issues which should be settled privately between you and your mate. They'll hinder, not help.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Malingerers will be looking to dump their duties on your broad shoulders today. If you allow this, they may add more straws than any camel can carry.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This is one of those days when you'll have to be careful not to take a position where everyone may gang up against you. Walk the middle line.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Even if it's a fait accompli, don't boast about your achievement today. This might incite a jealous associate to take devious measures.

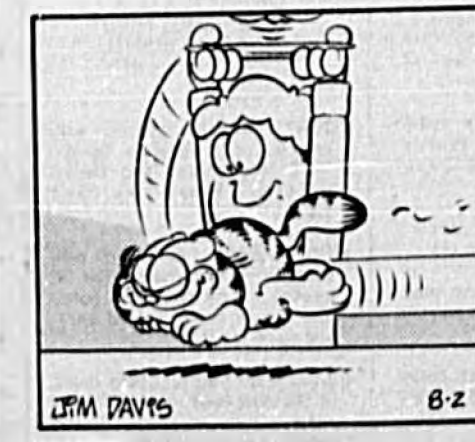

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If someone says something about you today which you feel is unwarranted, it may be wise to let it go unchallenged rather than to make an issue of it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you feel you have to buy friends today, you'll find it won't be worth the money spent if persons don't accept you for what you are.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your judgment might not be up to par today. Unfortunately, this may also be true of your companions. Avoid making hasty agreements.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) True humility is a virtue, but humbling yourself unbecomingly is not. Rather than using pretense, let your ego shine through.

Reader's Fatigue Not Psychological

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I was upset by one of your columns saying that many factors cause fatigue. You said over 80 percent of fatigue complaints were caused by psychological reasons. That simply is not true. I am a living example. Many doctors told me my extreme fatigue was caused by my psychological grief over losing my husband. Two different hospitals declared I was a "doctor shopper."

I had to get into a wheelchair for muscular weakness and live with my daughter and sister for many weeks. Finally a truly fine doctor diagnosed me as having a severe case of hypothyroidism as well as Addison's disease. After two weeks of treatment my doctor said I could go home. Since then I have been able to resume my activities.

Please be careful when you say 85 percent suffer from psychological problems. I know many cases where the diagnosis was made after much agony to the patient.

DEAR READER — The important thing is that you saw a doctor who was able to diagnose your case and you were treated. That is great.

Now, you should learn to be more objective, too, even though that might be difficult with your experience. Your experience does not mean that everyone who has fatigue has a medical problem.

Quite the contrary, you just prove what is well known — 15 to 20 percent of the people who complain of fatigue do have medical problems. And so it remains that 80 to 85 percent do not.

Your case is a good example of why we always recommend that people with unexplained fatigue have a complete and thorough medical evaluation. In 15 to 20 percent of the cases an underlying cause, which can be cancer, diabetes, heart disease, emphysema, nutritional diseases or an endocrine disease may be present. Beyond that mental fatigue, and even inactivity, can be a factor.

I will stand on my statement. There is a lot most people who have fatigue can do to improve their well-being. These are discussed in The Health Letter 9-6, Fatigue: Feeling Tired and Weary.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What causes tubal pregnancies? I've had two of them and still don't understand what causes them.

Then about a month ago I went to the doctor for a pelvic infection and he asked if I was planning on having children, even though he knew about my tubals. Why would he ask that?

I haven't had to use any birth control device for four years now and my husband and I have accepted the fact we will have no children.

DEAR READER — The doctor may have been quite busy. You should have inquired why he asked that.

The usual treatment for a tubal pregnancy is to remove the tube but when it occurs a second time, and the patient wants a pregnancy in the future, it is possible an effort is made to simply remove the products of pregnancy and save the tube.

The most likely cause for tubal pregnancies is a narrowing or constriction of the tube, perhaps from a previous inflammation, but there are other theories as well.

astute declarer got enough help from his East-West opponents to make 11 tricks when 10 appear to be almost out of range.

He won the first trick with the ace of diamonds over East's queen and played ace-king and a small club to dummy. Then he led dummy's nine of hearts and East made the ineffective falsecard of the ace. This falsecard persuaded poor West that he needed to guard hearts with all his might.

Now East led the five of diamonds. Dummy's king, won and the last club was cashed. East chucked the deuce of spades. South sloughed the five and West carefully unblocked diamonds to avoid some end play that he had visualized. The three of hearts was led. East played his king and led another diamond.

South gratefully took his 10 spot and watched poor West squirm. West had been squeezed in hearts and spades and actually threw a spade. Now all that was necessary for the rest of the tricks was for South to take a spade finesse, and he did just that.
