House Committee Questions Rusk On Red Troops In Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk faced probable congressional questioning today about Soviet military forces in Cuba. Rusk was scheduled to testify at a closed session of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The committee session started at 10:30 a. m. Rusk said on a television program Sunday night that the presence of four small but heavily armed Russian combat groups in Cuba is "a matter of real concern." But he said that "we have had some indication from the Soviet Union that these forces, at least portions of them will be removed in due course."

Rusk's appearance before the House committee was billed as a briefing on world trouble spots.

In the television interview Rusk said that MIG fighters had been coming into Cuba for many months but that "it has been our judgment that they have been consistent with a defensive capability on that island."

He also said that Russians have been flying the jet fighters as well as training Cubans to fly them.

Rusk said that Soviet military personnel had been moving out of Cuba over the last several weeks. "As long as that out-traffic continues," he said, "then that is a gain, but we are interested in whether that out-traffic will now continue."

Rusk conceded that the MIG fighters could carry nuclear warheads but he said "we do not believe that there are nuclear warheads in Cuba today."

Boost Science Knowledge Powers Urges

HOUSTON (UPI) — Col. John A. Powers, often called "the voice of the astronaut," told a group of Texas editors Sunday he feels today's citizen must increase his knowledge in the field of science.

Powers, publicity officer for Houston's Manned Spacecraft Center, said people must increase their space knowledge if the decision-making process is to remain democratic.

"Today's space age citizen, assuming that our news media has done its job, needs to know more about science than a science teacher knew a generation ago just to read and understand his newspaper," Powers said.

He told the Texas Associated Press Managing Editors that newsmen must perform a vital function in raising the space IQ of the average person.

"The news media will have to spend more money to acquire new people and equip present personnel with an improved scientific literacy," he continued.

In discussing the almost $99 billion space budget, Powers said it calls for complicated weapons systems, space and nuclear science advancements and other complex subjects that require more understanding by newsmen and the public alike.

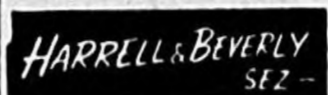

In the development of sword play during the 16th and 17th centuries, the dagger was commonly used as a left-hand auxiliary.

City Kills $200,000 Industry Here

JIM CRAPPS 'No' SONNY RABORN 'No' AL WILSON 'No'

By Larry Vershel
At the start of the City Commission meeting Monday night, Mayor Tom McDonald said debate on the ACL Pipeline bill would be limited to 10 minutes for each group.

He mentioned the Gettysburg address being only 10 minutes, etc., etc. Anyway, some two hours later they were still arguing. . . . Which reminds me . . . I would have admired Lincoln more if he would have just shaken his fist at the audience at Gettysburg instead of that 10 minute oratory.

Jim Crapps asked the City Commission, Monday night to seek legislation to double commissioners' salaries and expense accounts. . . . Not a sound could be heard for 23 seconds and the board went on to the next item on the agenda.

PIPELINE BLUES—Two months ago this reporter was told that no ACL employees would be laid off due to the proposed pipeline. . . . don't be surprised if the pipeline company files a suit against the city. . . . What's worse the city backed off on its word. . . . City told a $200,000 industry to "go somewhere else." What ever happened to free enterprise?

I don't know how many ACL men were in the room but we counted 125 cigarette butts on the floor at midnight.

. . . and two cigar stubs.

And a candy wrapper.

"It's a woman's prerogative to change her mind," so the old saying goes. . . . But we don't have any women on our city commission. . . . But it does change its decision. . . . A plan or procedure is adopted and the commissioners are given credit by a majority of their constituents for some good solid thinking. . . . Otherwise why would the decision be made? . . . Then—fill up the commission room at one of the sessions, have a couple of objections to the previously well thought-out action, and what happens? . . . You guessed it! . . . Back-peddling and a rescinded decision. . . . Followed by confusion. . . . lack of confidence. . . . reluctance of many to accept commission decisions because they might be reversed by them can be completed. . . . Costs go "down the drain". . . . Guts, that's what we need!

Boosters Club meets Thursday night to talk over building a $30,000 stadium. We hear Pete Knowles has been invited to give the "city's side."

County Commission Chairman J. C. Hutchison made it up the stairs this morning without Dick Irvin's help.

Officers in the courthouse will probably be closed for O. P. Herndon's funeral at 4 p. m. Wednesday.

City conducted a street light survey of downtown results: lighting very adequate except for 2nd St.

Stop sign survey for the Mayfair section in the works.

Mothers Polio drive march Thursday. . . . Volunteers needed. . . . Call Mrs. Robert Ziltner NOW.

How come the city refused to add George Touhy's semi-centennial celebration?

Boat marina coming up again. City gave outfit headed by Jake Zorian of Millland some 180 days to come up with engineering plans on "go-no-go" basis. If Jake fails, the city will get the plans. Tom McDonald opposed the move—"Don't want to tie up the place," said Tom.

School Supt. Ray Milnes and Walter Teague were given the go-ahead by the School Board Thursday to attend a school superintendents meeting at the U of F in Gainesville on Jan. 31 and Feb. 1.

Centennial Committees Named

The various committees of the Seminole County Semi-Centennial to be celebrated on April 27 are swinging into action this week.

The City Commission by a 3-2 vote Monday night turned down a $200,000 industry from locating in Sanford by refusing to go along with negotiations with the Sanford Pipeline Co. Opposing the move were City Commissioners Jim Crapps, Sonny Raborn and Al Wilson.

After the meeting both Raborn and Wilson declined comment on their decision while Crapps said "They haven't proven their worth to me."

here despite protests from a large crowd of ACL employees and attorneys.

every such savings is a factor in the continued existence of the base here," Capt. Ware said.

Area Road Freeze Damage: $20,000

Approximately 15 miles of county roads are in need of repair because of the December freeze, it was reported this morning by Road Supt. J. C. Lavender to the County Commission.

Lavender said the road damage is just now beginning to appear. He estimated cost of repairs, with re-paving, will be $20,000.

He was authorized to make a complete study and recommend repairs to the Commission. Commission members agreed to accompany him on a study of road damage.

County Engineer William Bush was authorized to attend a public hearing on improvement for flood control of the Econlockhatchee River basin by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers at 10 a. m. next Tuesday at the Orange County courthouse, Orlando.

In calling the hearing, the Corps stated that "accelerated growth which has taken place in recent years (in Seminole and Orange Counties) is said to have aggravated problems to the extent that considerable urban development is subject to periodic flooding. Purpose of this hearing is to discuss with local interests the flood control and related problems in the Econlockhatchee River basin and to receive their views relative to the need and feasibility of providing remedial improvements."

Bush also was authorized to make a survey to determine the centerline of the proposed Altamonte Springs-Longwood Road.

The Commission also approved the Little Wekiva flood and approved Bush's request to officially close Osceola Airport to air traffic. The Seminole Timing Association was granted a lease to hold drag races at the airport.

The engineer was authorized to request of HLM Products

ACL May Be Dragged Into Strike

JACKSONVILLE (UPI)—Federal District Judge William A. McRae Jr. took under consideration today a petition which could drag three other major Florida railroads into a strike which has crippled the Florida East Coast Railway for seven days.

If McRae grants the petition by the FEC, he could at the same time open the way for picketing of the Jacksonville Union Terminal by striking members of 11 non-operating unions.

Such action would halt operations by the Atlantic Coast Line, Seaboard Air Line and Southern Railroads through Jacksonville, cutting mail, express and shipping lines from a major part of the Sunshine State to the rest of the nation.

McRae promised the court he would issue his ruling "as soon as possible" and observers said it would probably come this afternoon.

In St. Augustine, meanwhile, new discussions were held between state and federal mediators and representatives of management and labor.

The actual petition seeks an injunction to force the Jacksonville Terminal Company to take over about 2,000 rented freight cars scattered over FEC tracks in Florida, and for which the FEC says it is paying about $6,400 per day in rental fees.

Former Sanford Pastor Dies

Dr. E. D. Brownlee, former pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here for 37 years died in Dade City Monday night.

Graveside services will be held in Sanford at 3 p. m. Wednesday.

In lieu of flowers, all donations are to be made to the Thurwall Orphanage.

Legislature Warned: Grave Consequences

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Gov. Farris Bryant warned the Legislature as it began its third special session on reapportionment today that failure to come up with an acceptable plan will bring "grave consequences."

A 42-senator reapportionment plan was placed in position for passage in the Senate today, just hours after convening of Florida's last-ditch special session on reapportionment.

It may mean, Bryant said, that the 1963 regular session will not be able to meet, or that any act it should adopt if it does meet will be unconstitutional.

Bryant did not address the lawmakers in person. He conveyed his general views in a three-page letter read separately in each house and addressed to the presiding officers.

Bryant did not lay down any specific plan for the Legislature to adopt as he did in two previous sessions. He has said he would accept either a 38-district reshuffle or a 42-Senator plan, if accompanied by a House formula based on population.

He reiterated in his message to the legislators that anything they may pass at this late date could be thrown out by either the federal or state court.

The 38-district reshuffle, product of legislation from urban areas, is very attractive and would meet the provisions of the present state constitution, he said. But Bryant warned, it might be knocked out by the federal courts unless accompanied by a constitutional amendment making further changes to strengthen population factors.

By the same token, he said, a statute enlarging the legislative limits of 38 Senate seats and 95 House seats might be invalidated by the State Supreme Court.

"If you fall in this special session to produce a plan for reapportionment acceptable to the federal court, the consequences will be grave," Bryant said.

PRETTY JUDY Harmon was crowned "Junior Miss March of Dimes" at the Melodee Skating rink Monday night by Dick Rinsbottom. Miss Harmon collected over $98 with over $300 collected for the annual drive during the evening.

No Grits . . . No Gravy . . . No Tobacco

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The weekly White House breakfast for Democratic congressional leaders reverted to the same old menu today.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said that "no grits, no gravy and no tobacco" were served today.

Last week, following complaints by Rep. Hale Rogers, D-La., that breakfasts in the mansion were too bland, tobacco and grits were served with the scrambled eggs. But apparently it was a one-shot affair.

Sheppard Case In Surprise Turn

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The case of Dr. Sam Sheppard, convicted of murder in the bludgeoning slaying of his pregnant wife, Marilyn, took a surprise turn on the eve of his latest bid for freedom.

Sheppard's Boston attorney, Lee Bailey, said Monday night the doctor is engaged to a German divorcee.

The state Pardon and Parole Commission today was scheduled to act on Sheppard's application for commutation of his life sentence for the 1954 slaying in the couple's Bay Village home near Cleveland.

Bailey said Sheppard became engaged to Mrs. Ariane Tebbenjohanns, 32, of Düsseldorf, Germany, after a courtship by mail. He said the correspondence began three years ago after Mrs. Tebbenjohanns, the mother of a nine-year-old daughter, became interested in Sheppard's case.

Mrs. Tebbenjohanns visited Sheppard last week at the Marion Correctional Institute and became engaged.

"We hope to marry as soon as possible," the blonde Mrs. Tebbenjohanns said. "I hope to be very happy with Sam. There is a great interest in the Sheppard case in Germany. I intend to write, if necessary, about this shocking affair. In my country, American justice and fairness is usually praised."

"Naturally I was very disappointed in the verdict and I am convinced of his innocence."

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a man who has been retired for exactly four months. I have worked hard since the age of 14 and have earned the rest. My wife isn't very happy about it and has given me the nickname of "Sitting Bull." I enjoy sitting and don't like her calling me "Sitting Bull." Will you put this in your column? We both read it. Maybe she'll take the hint and cut it out.

SITTING BULL
DEAR SITTING: Yours is a noble nickname. Another retired gentleman wrote to tell me that his wife had nicknamed him "Honeydew." I had said every two minutes she'd say "Honeydew this" and "Honeydew that." Wanna trade?

DEAR ABBY: My son, who has been a good boy and very close to his family, brought home a young lady for us to meet. He is interested in marrying her. We all fell in love with her, Abby. She seemed a precious thing. Now he tells us that she told him she had had a child out of wedlock four years ago, and had it adopted out.

I'd like to hear from a mother or mother-in-law who has experienced this. Or, perhaps a man who has married a girl with this in her past, Abby, would you accept a girl like this in your family?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Why not? One mistake should not haunt a girl forever. She was honest enough to tell your son, and he was honest enough to tell you. Neither was necessary.

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 but look much older. When my girl friend and I go to a night movie together, my mother picks me up. But she never waits until the show is over. She always comes after me early because she says she is tired and wants to go to sleep and can't wait until the end of the movie. When I see her going up and down the aisles looking for me, I get so embarrassed I want to die. How can I get my mother to let me walk home with my girl friend?
EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Walking home at night is out of the question, so don't campaign for it. Perhaps your girl friend's mother or father can pick you both up and deliver you home after the movie. If that's not possible, you'd better be content with things as they are.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

The practice finesse is one taken purely to see if finesses are working for you and not with any idea of gaining a trick. West snared the ace and king of diamonds against South's four spade contract and shifted to the jack of clubs. South remarked "This should be a good time to take a practice finesse. West surely holds the king of clubs." Instead South went up with dummy's ace and the contract went right out the window. A spade lead disclosed that West held both missing trumps. He needed them for his no-trump king, but West exited with the king of clubs. South ruffed this trick, went over to dummy to discard one heart, but eventually had to lose a heart finesse to West's queen. Had he finessed earlier, South could have cashed the ace of clubs and discarded one losing heart, then ruffed the deuce of clubs. Then he could have played the ace and another spade. This would put West in with the king of spades and he would either have to lead away from his queen of hearts or give South a ruff and discard.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

"European women are afraid to buy labor-saving devices for fear their husbands will think they're lazy," says a business management consultant who has been working in Europe. That bit of news ought to make the American woman lift her head in pride. American women are always being told how superior European women are to American women. But it's been a long, long time since the American woman labored under the hangdog delusion that in order to prove her worth to her husband she had to work like a slave, sigh about standing over a hot stove all day and remind the lord of the manor that a woman's work is never done. For a long time American women have frankly and realistically latched on to every labor-saving device they can afford, to ease the drudgery of keeping a house and family clean and well fed.

Vegetable Market

In New York Monday celery was slightly stronger. Florida crates of two to two and one-half dozen also sold for $3.25-$3.75, mostly $3.50-$3.75, and three to four dozen were $3.50-$3.75. Cartons of 18 film wrapped celery hearts were $3.25-$3.50. Cabbage brought $4.00-$4.50 per crate, with small sizes going at $3.00-$3.50. Carrots, in crates of 48 1-lb. film bags, medium to large, were $3.75-$4.00. Chinese cabbage was a bit higher than on Friday, at $2.25-$2.50 per crate, and endive and escarole were also slightly above the weekend price. Endive ranged from $2.00-$2.00 per crate, according to size, with most sales at $2.75-$3.00, and a few at $3.25. Escarole sold at $2.00-$2.50 per crate. Big Boston lettuce brought $2.50-$3.00 per crate of 24 heads and cartons of romaine with 12 to 18 heads sold at $2.50-$2.75. Curly parsley ranged from $2.50-$3.50 per crate of five dozen bunches. Radishes brought 75 cents to $1.25, mostly $1.00 per basket of 50 6-oz. film bags.

In Central Florida Friday celery was steady at $2.25 per crate for all sizes. The best quality cabbage was firm at $3.00-$3.25 per crate but many small and poorer quality sold lower. Endive sold for $1.50-$1.75 per crate and escarole was $1.25-$1.50, with most offerings of both rather small. Iceberg lettuce ranged from $3.00-$3.50 according to quality, with one mark quoted high as $4.00. Parsley was $2.25-$2.50 per crate and radishes $2.75 cents per basket. Shipments from Florida over the weekend included: celery rail 40 cars, truck 84 carlot equivalents; cabbage rail 5, truck 20; escarole rail 1, truck 28; lettuce rail 2, truck 24, and radishes rail none, truck 25.

Chances Seen Slim For British To Enter Market

BRUSSELS (UPI) — France's uncompromising opposition today reduced to near-zero Britain's hopes of entering the European Common Market at the present time. The market's foreign ministers scheduled another "crisis" meeting, but there was scant chance of easing France's demand for an end to the negotiations on Britain's application for membership. The consensus of conference sources was that a rejection of Britain would be disastrous to the British economy, and could force a total reshaping of President Kennedy's plans for a greater Atlantic alliance.

Hobby and Robert T. Besserer, hospital administrator, conducted a discussion on local facilities available for the mentally ill while awaiting examinations and hospitalization.

Sheriff Hobby gave an outline of facilities he had available; Judge Mize gave a brief sketch of how persons are committed and where they are placed until there is a room in a hospital, and Mr. Besserer spoke on the local hospital facilities.

He stated that the lack of personnel prevented placing the mentally disturbed in this hospital at the present time. During the question and answer period it was brought out that the jail is the only place available for these patients.

The Mental Health Assn. would like to present programs at various organization meetings to acquaint the public with the situation.

Mr. Herndon, who retired in 1959, served more than 20 years at the courthouse and not many people stay on the same job that long and render the long and unflinching faithful service that Mr. Herndon did.

To say that Mr. Herndon will be missed would be just a "cliche." We loved him and when he passed on the street you knew "there was a Man."

God rest his soul.
We won't see his like again!

Money And Scientists

We live in an age often called the "scientific revolution." But many scholars think it is not as scientific as it ought to be.

The complaint is simple and important: that not enough time, money and manpower are spent on basic research. Too much is specifically related to projects like weapons development or space programs.

Alan T. Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation, takes note of this in the foundation's newest yearly report to the President. He says:

"Although the desirability and importance of such an ideal (simple basic research) is surely understood by thoughtful people everywhere, it appears to be one that is very difficult for a country to adopt as a national objective."

The difficulties include: The sheer size of the effort in money and men, compelling extreme care in the quest for "productive" results.

The fact that the federal government is now the main source of research support, which again forces attention to projects that will yield visible return.

The foundation estimates that in 1961-62 about $15 billion was spent in the United States for research and development in the natural sciences. That is nearly three times the outlay for 1953-54, when the first formal check was made.

Of the $15 billion, roughly one-tenth went for basic research. All other research effort was directly tied to specific project goals, like finding out how to heat a space capsule adequately.

Basic research expenditures also have tripled since 1953-54. But a breakdown of this increase shows what troubled scientists are talking about.

Government-performed basic research, measured in dollars, is up 400 percent — largely owing to stepped-up space programs. Meantime, funds laid out by colleges for the same purpose — basic study — rose 175 percent.

A good many people make the argument that research linked with space development, or even that devoted to specific health projects, has "spill-over" effects which can yield broad general scientific benefits to the whole of society.

One can never be sure what offshoot idea may spring from solving some particular problem in space technology.

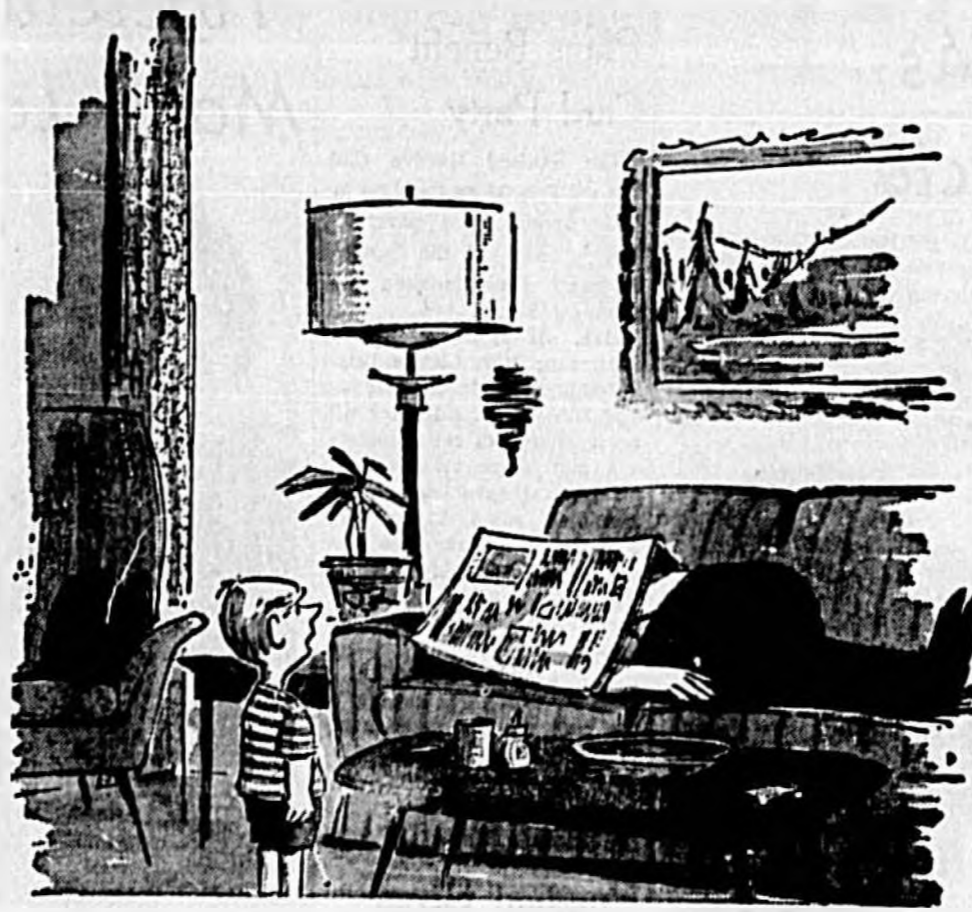

Not many scientists probably would quarrel with this contention. Yet they still don't like the idea of having so much research tied tight to practical, immediate goals. They think mankind benefits most when the scientist can explore the unknown with full freedom.

Waterman makes the point in the foundation report:

"Because basic research in science is closely related to scholarly work in all disciplines, and to the arts, it is the mark of a mature nation to allow full play to exploration of the mind in these directions."

America still seems well short of such maturity.

"But, Pop, How Will a Tax Cut Help When You're on Strike All the Time?"

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

CASE O-444: Belle, aged 8, is the dog that used to belong to Mrs. Crane's father before he finally passed away at the age of 98.

After his death Belle "adopted" us and now stays down at our farmhouse all the time.

Belle is normally brave and will attack a full grown groundhog without hesitation, which is something many dogs hesitate to do.

So on any canine courage test, Belle should rate at least average.

But Belle has a terrific phobia of thunder and lightning. And she can sense when a storm is brewing. If the air becomes humid and the sky grows cloudy, Belle will sink down the stairwell that leads into our basement.

Then she will cower on the concrete floor and not move, despite our stern orders.

For she blocks the basement door till we cannot open it. Though we may finally yell at her, she ignores all commands and will shiver there in terror in the besting rain.

The only way we can get the door open is to lift her up bodily. And she will meanwhile ignore all food, though she may not have eaten for 24 hours.

So her fear of thunder and lightning is so great that she refuses to move into her dry kennel but covers in the cold, pelting rain.

And that same fear is stronger than the demands of hunger, so you can see that Belle's terror is so strong it makes her ignore the normal instinctive hunger for food and shelter.

One afternoon while Mrs. Crane and I were fishing on the little farm pond near our house, Belle had been sleeping on the sandy shore.

Suddenly a thunderstorm came up. Belle became so terrified she swam out to the boat and insisted on climbing inside with us.

Then she tried to clamber into Mrs. Crane's lap. Because Belle was dripping water, Mrs. Crane tried to push her away, so she crawled into the narrow V-shaped cubby hole in the prow of the boat.

And when we beached the boat, as the rain began to fall in torrents, she lay there trembling and refused all our commands to get out of the boat.

Even when we tried to coax her to come with us and get into the automobile, Belle refused to budge.

It was then raining with cloudburst fury, so Mrs. Crane finally pulled Belle out from under the prow of the boat and lifted her in her arms.

Then she carried Belle to the car and deposited her on the floor rug, where she remained, shivering in abject terror, even after we arrived home.

She then refused to leave the car, so we left her with the door open but she never got out of the auto till the storm was over and the sun had come out again.

Belle may have been nipped by lightning which often accounts for the fear of farm animals concerning thunderstorms.

Such splendid dogs may then be scared by the sudden sound of a shotgun so they are ruined for hunting purposes.

It is possible to eradicate such terrific fears by the process in psychology which we call "re-conditioning," but it is a slow and expensive matter so most people don't try it with animals.

But when human beings abnormal fears which complicate their happiness, it is wise to re-educate those youngsters to a new outlook regarding the dark or thunder or ghosts and such phobias.

Phil Newsom Says . . .

Shock At Gaitskell Death

Among British political opinion and London newspapers alike the reaction to the death of Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell seemed unanimous.

Said the Conservative Sunday Telegraph: "It is a measure of Mr. Gaitskell's stature that his death has reduced the whole future of British politics to speculation."

The Sunday Express said that never before in modern British political history had the loss of a single leader dealt such a blow to a major party.

For Gaitskell was not only the helmsman of his party, he was also in many ways the designer of its present mould.

He had modified the party's program of nationalisation for British industry, he had overcome leftwing demands for ban-the-bomb and unilateral disarmament, and by sheer persistence led his party to the point where public opinion polls gave it 44.5 per cent of the vote and labeled him Britain's next prime minister.

He had described himself as a poor hater, yet he was able to take on the flamboyant Nye Bevan, a better hater than most, and defeat him in 1955 for the party leadership.

A quiet man, he could be goaded to anger.

In Glasgow, followers of the Committee for Nuclear Disarmament attempted to disrupt a party rally which Gaitskell was addressing.

Snapped Gaitskell: "Go and see what it is like to deal with Soviet police and Soviet tanks like the Hungarian people."

Gaitskell came from a middle class family, the son of a civil servant. He never walked in a picket line, yet early decided that "my future belongs to the working class."

He became a don at London University, and in the Labor landslide of 1945 began a meteoric rise in government. All of this without flash or color, but as an intellectual.

The party platform was

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Eisenhower's salty Secretary of the Treasury George Magoffin Humphrey had a favorite saying that, "Economists can't tell you where you're going—they can only tell you where you've been after you get there."

President Kennedy's economic message to Congress and the accompanying report of his Council of Economic Advisors are like that. The report has page after page about where the economy has been since the Democratic administration took over.

It also has a very useful, condensed compilation of what this administration has done to try to make things better.

But when you start looking for what it says about where the country is going in the years ahead, the picking is slim. So much depends on what Congress does in the next six months in relation to what the President says it should do to make things better.

Trying to get at the heart of the 1963 economic report as it is, to simplify its sophisticated language, is not easy. One approach might be through its "gross national product" figures. GNP is the sum of all the goods and services produced in the United States. This is a big concept, but simple enough for anyone to understand. It's the total of all expenditures, government and private, on a yearly basis.

In 1960, last year of the Eisenhower administration, GNP was $503 billion, $21 billion higher than the year before.

In 1961, first year of the Kennedy administration, it was $518 billion, a gain of only $15 billion because of a hangover from the late 1960 recession.

In 1962, GNP was $554 billion, a jump of $36 billion in spite of the stock market collapse and what everyone said was a business slump. Actually, it was a pretty good year—except for four million unemployed and 10,000 business failures.

President Kennedy's economic message predicts that 1963 GNP will be $578 billion. This will be a gain of $24 billion over 1962. But it will be $12 billion less than the 1962 GNP gain over 1961.

So the net effect of President Kennedy's new economic program, as spelled out in his previous State of the Union and budget messages, is that the economy will not grow as much in 1963 as it did in 1962.

As for the economy as a whole this year, the President predicts business investment will rise "at least modestly," home construction will continue at 1962 levels, government spending will rise by $8 billion, and consumer purchases should rise in line with gains in business and government activity.

The great drag on the economy is still said to be the $30 billion to $40 billion of usable productivity, idle for lack of sufficient markets or incentives. This, it is claimed, is what holds back economic growth and full employment.

Dr. Walter W. Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, anticipates that full employment might be attainable in 1964, although Treasury Secretary C. Douglas Dillon had previously said that it might not be attainable before 1967.

Beyond this the Council of Economic Advisors — the experts — don't crawl out on any limbs of business prediction. There is good reason for this. In their last report, the President predicted that gross national product for 1963 would be $571 billion. He was $17 billion too high. The GNP rose less than half of the $50 billion increase predicted.

Now go back and read that first paragraph again.

It has been estimated that only one per cent of all songs copyrighted and published in the U. S. ever achieve success, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

To The Editor

Sanford City Board of Commissioners Sanford City Hall Sanford, Florida Dear Sirs,

During past years our Board of City Commissioners has shown itself to be a body possessed of both good business judgment and vision. They have worked out difficult civic problems with admirable far-sightedness, calling in, as they did, well known, qualified consultants to make surveys and give advice, before moving forward with their projects.

When we read last Friday's edition of the Sanford Herald, however, we were agast!

Surely, neither Mr. Knowles nor Mr. Veivington (regardless of each one's fine ability in his own line of work) lays any claim to being a qualified Library-Planner!

Let us, please, look around us! When the DeLand City Commissioners began planning the actual moving of their Library facilities into larger quarters, they secured the services of an American Library Association specialist in that field. Allamonte secured expert advice from Florida State Library Consultants. You remember how our City Commission availed themselves of such State level expert opinions also, before they built our Civic and Recreation Center.

The little city of Live Oak used the services of the Florida State Library also. And now they are so proud of their excellent library services that they have put up permanent street signs pointing, "This Way to the Library."

We understand about the move into the old Post Office Building being a mere "stop-gap" expedient to serve until we build a modern new Library building (adjoining the present General Henry S. Sanford Memorial?)—of which we shall all be as proud as we have been of our beautiful Civic and Recreation Center.

But why can't this move into the old P.O. Building be a real "step-up" with a much larger, wider and better quality library service than our city has ever dared to even dream of before? We would like to see coming from that old building, a library service during this and next year, equal, at least, to that given by Winter Haven's Public Library. Comparing our population to that of Winter Haven, isn't that fair?

We, the Sanford Story League, therefore, do heartily recommend:

1st, that the Sanford City Board of Commissioners secure the advice of a qualified American Library Association Library Planning Specialist before they remodel the old Post Office Building;

2nd, that the City Commission set aside all monies received from sales of Library properties, both present and future, as a Library Fund to be used only for Library purposes at only the time when the long-range plan for a modern new Library Building comes to fruition;

3rd, that the City Commission give to the Public a definite statement concerning its Public Library Policy, naming the Chairman and other members of the Sanford Public Library Board and explaining how they are selected and what is the length of each member's tenure of office.

Assuring you of our confidence in the Sanford City Commissioners' conscientious desire to serve our city wisely; and also assuring you of our special interest in the quality of the cultural opportunities which the Commissioners make available to the people of our city, we are

Sincerely yours,
Sanford Story League
Mrs. F. Robb, president

Kennedy Asks School Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today offered Congress an education package that would double present federal school aid spending. He said it would give every American a chance to learn more, earn more and live better.

The President asked for a catchall school aid bill that would provide new assistance about equal to the $1.3 billion already being spent on education each year by the federal government.

The bill carried—with some notable concessions—nearly every education request Kenedy has made since taking office two years ago. It also carried most of the controversy, including the bitter public-parochial school dispute, that killed off the entire Kennedy education program in the last Congress.

The legislation outlined in Kennedy's education message would help pay for new classrooms, laboratories, libraries and shops; provide higher pay and better training for teachers; and open new sources of funds for college students.

Unofficially, its total cost over three to four years would be about $5 billion.

The program was tailored to meet some of the congressional objections that have dogged school aid proposals from both Democratic and Republican presidents. These changes may get some parts of the program through Congress.

But it carried little promise for an end to the church-state fight for aid to grade and high schools. Kennedy asked for a four-year, $1.5 billion program to help public schools build classrooms and raise teacher pay. The program was smaller and cheaper than in 1961. Unlike past requests, he did not give his reasons this time for seeking no direct aid to private and parochial schools.

However, the President made it clear he regarded Congress as duty-bound to face and resolve the religious disputes as well as others facing school aid proposals.

"We can no longer afford the luxury of endless debate over all the sensitive questions raised by each new proposal," he said.

"The federal government... has clearly not met its responsibilities in education," the President said.

Social Security Visits 'Heavy'

About 13,500 employers across the country are now receiving personal visits from representatives of the Social Security Administration. These employers are those who have repeatedly filed incomplete or inaccurate reports of employee earnings for social security.

The 13,500 are a relatively small number compared with the 4,600,000 employers who report employee earnings to the Social Security Administration every three months, Col. Byron K. Patton, social security district manager said. But the Social Security Administration is anxious to make sure that none of the millions of workers who contribute to social security loses his present and future protection because his employer makes mistakes in his reports.

High Orbit Probe Slated

United Press International
CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) —America plans to fire a new communications satellite next week at one of the most ambitious goals in space—an orbit so high it will seem to hang in the sky in virtually one spot.

The 150-pound "space switchboard" is named Syncom. It is the fifth, smallest and most unusual satellite built by this nation for the task of relaying radio signals between stations on earth.

Its creators are touting Syncom as the forerunner of a comparatively simple three-satellite system that could girdle the globe with "live" television, telephone and radio communications.

Syncom, a first cousin if not a brother to the famed "Telstar" and "Relay" satellites, is scheduled to be launched Feb. 6 aboard a Delta rocket toward a circular orbit 22,300 miles above earth.

There is a reason for this exact altitude. It is a "magic number."

This is the point in space that scientists alternately refer to as the "synchronous orbit" or "24-hour orbit." A satellite in this high up travels at a speed that matches, or is synchronized with, the rotating speed of the earth below.

All new and old business will be discussed and a new secretary will be elected to fill the vacancy created upon the resignation of Mrs. John Church due to ill health.

A film program will be presented by the Florida Forestry Service under the direction of Ranger Albert Harris from Longwood and Ranger Jim McClellan of Chuluota.

Geneva Citizens Call Meeting For Today

By Louise Grayson
A special meeting and program of the Geneva Citizens Assn. has been called for 7 p. m. today in the Community Hall by Lewis Hughey, president.

The result is the same—to an observer on earth, the satellite appears stationary in the sky, never moving over the horizon in what could be called "customary" satellite fashion. It is always up there in one spot, ready for duty.

Dream Backfield Makes Pro Grid Hall Of Fame

CANTON, Ohio (UPI)—Jim Thorpe, Red Grange, Bronko Nagurski and Sammy Baugh, possibly the greatest "dream" backfield the game has ever known, were among the first 17 immortals voted into the National Professional Football Hall of Fame today.

Also honored for their playing ability were backs Dutch Clark, Johnny (Blood) McNally and Ernie Nevers, center Mel Hein, tackle Pete (Fats) Henry and Cal Hubbard and end Don Hutson.

The six officials named for the Hall for helping to guide the pro sport from its original role as a stepchild of the college game to its modern popularity were former NFL Commissioner Bert Bell and Joe Carr; George Halas, founder of the Chicago Bears; Curly Lambeau, founder of the Green Bay Packers; Tim Mara, founder of the New York Giants, and George Preston Marshall, founder of the Washington Redskins.

The 17—all picked unanimously by a national board of selectors—will be enshrined in a hall now under construction here where the National Football League was founded on Sept. 17, 1920. Five of the honored men are deceased—Bell, Carr, Henry, Mara and Thorpe.

The announcement of the first group to enter the Hall was made by Dick McGinn, director of the National Professional Football Hall of Fame, who commented: "These are the milestone men of pro football. Their deeds and dogged faith wrote the history of this great game."

The board of selectors will meet annually to consider nominations for new members, with the next meeting scheduled for the eve of the 1963 NFL championship game. No set number will be chosen nor will it always be necessary for a man to be selected unanimously.

Thorpe, Grange, Nagurski and Baugh are perhaps the most famous backs in football history — and undoubtedly would have formed the "dream" backfield to end 'em all if they ever had performed as a unit.

By John A. Spolski
League leaders this past week included such stalwarts as Jim Altman, Marilyn Bailey, Mary Sutton, L. Moore, Ed Conley, Marjorie Klipp, Jennifer Thompson and Clyde Piercy.

We have reports from the Powder-Puff Keglerettes Lg. as well as the Mixed Lg. Spare Ribbers, Sanford Herald, Mr. & Mrs. Lg., Sandspurs, Holler Motors/Navy Wives, plus a couple of others.

Let Jennifer Thompson lead the Powder-Puff Keglerettes Lg. with a hi game total of 182 and Sweet Honey Childs took series with a 232.

Jim Altman has been doing real well in the Sanford Herald Mr. & Mrs. League. For two consecutive weeks he's been able to come thru with that "cushion" game of 300 or better. (Cushion meaning, that it's O. K. if you have a "not-too-good" one . . . you're still out of the woods cause of that high game.)

Last week Jim led the men with his 214 and . . . what's this? Jane Spolski high with a 187/497 for the women (Ahem, old buddy! The Kids and Wives beat you . . . what's gonna blame it on now? That green bell you throw?)

Don't worry, I'll come up with a dandy! Don't worry! It certainly can't be me!

I'VE GOT IT! I'VE GOT IT! It's those new pins, that's what's causing me all my trouble. (And the trouble I was having earlier, was because of those old pins!)

Only one thing wrong with that reasoning . . . too many high games have been rolled even with new wood.

In the Spare Ribbers Lg., L. Moore blasted a 197 hi scratch as Ed (Ten Gallon Hat) Conley won series with his 555.

Marilyn Bailey of the Navy Pals team was high in the series dept. with a 474 in the Navy Wives Lg. and Mary Sutton was real excited and pleased after having rolled her first sanctioned BIG GAME . . . 204.

And while we're on the subject of Navy, our thanks to Captain Ware for being on hand this past week to make the trophy presentations. (The only thing I didn't understand from his remarks were . . . What is that thing called golf? Must be a new kind of game they're trying to introduce to the public or something.)

Trophies were most attractive and special thanks must be offered to League officers Bill Foster, President and George King, Secretary for the fine job both of them are doing for this league.

High average was taken by Big John Uhr—187; series went to D. Demilo—414 and scratch game was won by Ed Michalek with his 247.

Clyde Piercy of Appleby's Restaurant team was a shoot-in' up a storm in the Thursday Nite Mixed Lg. Clyde smashed the new wood with his 218/564, tops for the men. Marge Klipp was high for the gals with her 208/517.

George-Oh-Swann has sold more finger lifts for me in the past week than at any other time since we've opened. He put some into his ball, and now he's striking more often than not.

As an example, his 204/556 was good 'nuff to steal the spotlight in the Jet Lanes Kegler's Lg. (Come to think of it, Tony Rodrigues put some into his bomb and he's been tough to beat lately!)

H'mmmmm, I wonder if that's what I need?

We're real sorry to hear about good friend and bowler Don Thompson leaving the area. I understand that Don will be heading for California tomorrow and once again it points out the fact that these visiting civilians who are temporarily attached to the NAS are real assets to the community. Don certainly fit into that category with a capital G for Gentlemen. Good luck, Don.

Well, we were host to the Central Florida Monthly Classics on Saturday night and I'd be remiss if I didn't single out the gals a DePalma, Meltzer, and Hentecost!

You see, out of the entire Sanford Association, these were the only three who participated.

Dave Tomberg shot a magnificent 1119 for four games. And in case you're wondering about average, that's a cool 225 per game. For it, Dave pocketed $100.00 first place money. Second thru fifth was won by Buddy Phelps (1049) $52.50; Joe Rohitaille (1028) $25.00; John Harlowe (995) $22.00; and Bill Allen (988) $17.00.

That's what happened in the A Division for bowlers with averages of 176 and up. However, in the B Group (avgs. of 175 and under), Paul Frambach took first with a 1021 and $65.00 and second was won by Ben Heaton (985) $30.00.

Al DePalma took one of the Jackpots with his 237 game and also picked up an additional $10.00 for high game out of the money.

Echaniz Sets Fronton Mark

Monday was a big day for the youthful Echaniz who won six consecutive games, his four starts during the matinee and his first two at the evening performance. An unofficial scrutiny of the records indicates that this is an individual record for the Fronton.

During the course of the afternoon Echaniz was practically invincible, using every trick in the professional's book to keep the string going. In the evening the going was tougher but he still came through with two thrilling victories to make his total six for the day.

With such going Echaniz bids fair to become the player of the week if his luck holds. He certainly has a good start toward the title, with six straight as of Monday night.

Tonight is Charity Night at the Orlando-Seminole Fronton with the entire proceeds of the evening being contributed to the Florida Sheriffs Association Boys Ranch at Live Oak, and the Elks Lodge Harry Anna Home for Crippled Children at Umatilla.

Platters Hold Pinecrest Lead

Other top scores were Beverly Kreck (Toppers), 170/435; Hello Summers (Strikers), 199/452; Gene Lambert (Strikers), 169/484; Christine Sacak (Markettes), 152/305; LaVern Ward (Needles), 158/390; and Margie Waters (Queen Pins), 144/409.

League standings are Platters 47-29, Toppers 44-31, Strikers 42-33, Markettes 40-36, Needles 30-46 and Queen Pins 24-52.

Huff Answers Critics On 'Dirty' Football

NEW YORK (UPI)—The violent world of pro football has come crashing down on Sam Huff.

The New York Giants' aggressive 230-pound linebacker has been tormented by taunts for the past several weeks that he was excessively rough in his treatment of Green Bay's Jim Taylor in the National Football League championship game Dec. 30.

"I've been getting raked over the coals by everybody and it hurts," says Sam, a broad-shouldered West Virginian with an obviously sensitive soul. "It seems like everybody turned on Sam Huff at the same time."

There have been newspaper columns written all over the country, by some who attended the title game and others who watched on television; there have been vicious letters and anonymous late-evening telephone calls to his home; and there have been irritating gibes by people with whom he comes in daily contact.

A fan in Columbia Falls, Mont., wrote a Dallas columnist that his two youngsters have stopped eating the breakfast food Huff endorsed because of how he played against Taylor.

Huff, who only a few years ago was glamorized on television and in magazines and newspapers as pro football's outstanding defensive player, feels that it's all a bum rap.

And the Giants tried to do something Monday in his behalf. They invited newsmen to drop into the club's office for a film viewing of the Packers' 16-7 victory over the Giants and to decide for themselves whether Sam really did Taylor dirt.

And in justice to Huff, those who watched the hour-long replay of the title game, re-

Bankers Score Hard Earnest Cage Victory

Sanford Atlantic Bank scored a hard-earned 51-20 victory over a stubborn Robson Sporting Goods in the opening game of Biddy Basketball Saturday.

Matt Morgan for Sanford Atlantic and Mark Caolo for Robson's were outstanding.

Standard Oil put up a tough battle for three quarters before going down to Sanford Electric's full court press 48-

20. Mike Long sparked the Electricians and Bill Higginbotham was outstanding for Standard Oil.

Bobby Lundquist dumped in 15 quick points for WTR in the first quarter. WTR coasted to a 53-33 win over a fired-up Strickland-Morrison team. Bill Schmidt was outstanding for the Ford men.

Day and Night Grill showed too much polish as they defeated First Federal 55-27 in the final game of the day.

League standings are Sanford Electric 4-0, Standard Oil 3-1, Day and Night 3-1, WTR 3-1, Sanford Atlantic Bank 2-1, First Federal 1-3, Strickland-Morrison 0-4 and Robson Sporting Goods 0-4.

Gambling: Main NFL Meet Topic

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—National Football League club owners open their annual winter meeting here today with a two-phased investigation into gambling allegations the unofficial main topic.

League Commissioner Pete Rozelle made a brief, informal report to the owners on progress of his own investigation Monday night on the eve of the formal sessions, but did not disclose what he had said.

Word of a second investigation, apparently to check on other sports as well, came from Washington where Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of a Senate investigating subcommittee, confirmed he had sent a staff member to San Francisco to "check on reports" of sports gambling.

Pros Get In Practice Licks

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—Touring golf pros including Jackie Burke, winner of the Lucky International at San Francisco Sunday, swarmed over four golf courses in this desert playground today to get in a few practice licks for the lucrative Palm Springs Golf Classic.

The Classic, starting Wednesday and running through Sunday for a marathon 90 holes, has total potential prize money of $115,000, making it one of the richest events on the tour.

Cinci Tops Cage Ratings

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cincinnati, which overcame its toughest non-conference hurdle in Illinois last Saturday, today was the unanimous choice for the sixth straight week of the United Press International board of major college basketball coaches.

The Bearcats, who beat Illinois, 62-53, for their 33rd consecutive victory and 15th straight of the season, thus remained the No. 1 choice of the 35-man UPI board for the ninth week in a row.

Loyola of Chicago, unbeaten in 18 games, held a tight rein on second place for the sixth straight week.

3 Matinees On Tap At SOKC

Three matinees are on tap this week at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club for the first time this season. The greyhounds will run under the sun tomorrow and also Friday and Saturday afternoon, starting at 2 p. m.

Eight top bracket spenders make up the field for the day. Light featured ninth race tomorrow. It is a Grade A contest and among the entries are Mrs. Mops, Topoko Rose, Stars and Occasion.

Stars holds the distinction of belonging to T. J. Daniel, owner of the track's winningest kennel. This speedy 66-pounder has contributed two victories to Daniel's total of 23 through Saturday night.

Fred Whitehead had the next highest score, a total of 18. Orville Moses' Excelling, high scorer last season and winner of the Racing Queen Stakes, gets her second start of the season in tonight's ninth, the evening's main event. In her first try she had trouble early and missed the money. Ed's Rolling Dealer, Sleek Linda and Roker's Circus will each be trying for a third first in this top attraction.

Pressure Aids Gaspar Ortega

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Mexican Gaspar Ortega explained today he had "put the pressure" on welterweight contender Charley Scott of Philadelphia and scored a unanimous upset decision in their return 10-rounder at the Civic Center Monday night.

Ortega, weighing 140½ pounds to Scott's 148½, averaged Scott's unanimous win at New York's Madison Square Garden on Jan. 6, 1962.

As in the New York bout, there were no knockdowns Monday night. But 27-year-old Ortega, a 7-5 underdog, gave 26-year-old Scott a thorough battering in the second half of the fight. He beat the tiring Scott at long range and at close quarters—with a terrific pace.

A crowd of 5,484 paid $15, 481.

Jackets Grab SEC Leadership

By United Press International
If the mark of a champion is winning the close ones, you can pass the crown to Georgia Tech.

Known primarily for its engineering courses, this proud school deep in the heart of Dixie will have more need of doctors to treat its gasping supporters if the basketball team continues at its present pace.

The Yellow Jackets were up to their old heart-stopping tactics Monday night before last-minute heroes by sophomore Ron Scharf produced an important 66-62 victory over Kentucky. The win left Georgia Tech in undisputed possession of first place in the Southeastern Conference and established the Engineers as favorites to win their first league title since 1958.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Maybe Frito Lay Was Right In Not Coming To Sanford

Maybe Frito Lay was right after all!

Remember last year when the Frito Lay company said they would not locate in Sanford.

At that time, W. E. Freeman, vice president of the company said "his company was not confident future Sanford officials would be in a position to honor commitments made by the present board."

"The Frito Lay Company does not want to burden any community and in the opinion of this company we would be more secure in Orlando."

Well, in this paper's opinion, perhaps Frito Lay was right in not locating here.

The other day three commissioners backed down on their commitment. What is to stop them from doing this time and time again?

Of course we are talking about the City Commission decision Monday night not to honor a previous verbal agreement to allow the Sanford Pipeline Co., from constructing a jet fuel line from the lakefront to the Naval Air Station.

Raborn Comments On 'No' Vote

Opposition to the $300,000 fuel pipeline to the Naval Air Station was voted by M. L. Raborn Jr. in City Commission meeting Monday because the parent company desired use of city-owned right-of-way, namely Melonville Ave.

While stating he favors a pipeline, Raborn said in a prepared statement to the Herald today that he voted against establishment of the utility simply because the company requested use of city property.

City Commissioner J. H. Crapps, who also denied the pipeline right-of-way use, said today he will have a prepared statement later today for release Thursday. The third commissioner, Al Wilson, who completed the majority in the denial, also said he would have a prepared statement for release Thursday.

Raborn's statement to the Herald reads as follows: "I feel that it would be appropriate at this time to offer my reasons for voting against the proposed pipeline as presented to the Sanford City Commission on Jan. 28. "The Navy is Sanford's most valued and valuable industry and every citizen should be interested in promoting the permanency of NAS Sanford. The Navy's stated position of being interested in increasing the efficiency and reducing the operating cost of the station is as it should be. As citizens and taxpayers we should want it no other way. "As a businessman doing business with both the civilian population and with the Navy it would have been much easier to have approved the application of the Pipeline Company. However,

Following approval of the City Commission of Dec. 7, the company finalized the requirements established concerning complete PROTECTION of abutting landowners and other citizens, detailed engineering studies and selected a site for the one million gallon storage tanks urgently needed by the Navy.

Pipeline officials acted in good faith from the outset... and this community is "shocked" by the decision of the commission that they do not intend to honor that verbal agreement made last December.

It has been established by communication from the Navy that "substantial savings will accrue to the government as a direct result of the Naval Air Station as a permanent installation in this community."

The pipeline company intends to honor their contract for the transportation of JP-5 jet fuel to the Naval Air Station.

Let us hope the city commission will see fit to honor their agreement.

Or, perhaps Frito Lay was right after all.

Bulletin

Legislative hearing scheduled for Friday has been postponed because of the uncertainty when the present special session of the Legislature will be concluded. State Rep. Mack Cleveland Jr. telephoned The Herald from Tallahassee early this afternoon.

Cleveland said he conferred with State Sen. Bernard Parrish and State Rep. Joe Davis and it was agreed the hearing should be postponed until some future date.

However, the delegation requested the various commissions, municipalities and others interested in proposed legislation proceed to advertise as required by law and all prepare their drafts for the delegation as soon as possible.

"We will reschedule the hearing," Cleveland said, "as soon as possible, when we can leave Tallahassee after this special session and return home."

Gray Ladies Classes Set

Classes for Gray Ladies in Seminole County schools will open at 9:30 a. m. Thursday at the county health department. John S. Gibson, American Red Cross area field representative, will be the instructor.

The volunteer program is open to all mothers of school children. It will include courses in orientation to Red Cross, introduction to the Gray Lady service, a 10-hour first aid course, care of the sick and injured, school job orientation, health record keeping, reporting procedures and legal implications in caring for children.

This Red Cross service to the schools has received the support of R. T. Milwee, school superintendent; Dr. Frank Leone, health department director, and Hugh Carlton, Sanford Junior High School principal, the first school to request the service.

"Gray Ladies" serve in the capacity of practical nurses for the care of sick or injured students during school hours.

Drive On To Save Shad; New Canal Route Ask

A one-man campaign to save the area's shad fishing sport and industry although still favoring support of a Sanford-East Coast canal has been launched by S. B. (Jim) Crowe.

Crowe, operator of a fishing camp on the St. Johns River east of Sanford on Highway 46, appeared before the County Commission Tuesday to defend what he termed "the $30 million shad fishing industry."

He declared that commercial fishermen and sports fishing camps derive a three-quarter million dollar annual income from shad fishing in this area.

Crowe proposes an alternate right-of-way for the canal, as opposed to a new thought broached by the St. Johns-Indian River Navigating Committee.

The committee is supporting an 11-mile canal from Lake Harney to the headquarters of the Indian River. Crowe proposes a 36-mile canal direct from Sanford to the Titusville area, by-passing the St. Johns River.

Crowe's argument for a direct canal is that to dredge the winding St. Johns River will disturb the shad spawning beds and ultimately kill off the fish.

Crowe, who has fought and argued for many years to save the shad industry, cites the following letter from the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, U. S. Department of Interior, addressed last July 2 to the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers:

"The Lake Monroe - Lake Harney section is the principal spawning area of the American shad in the St. Johns River. These anadromous species migrate upstream annually to this reach of the river where they spawn over shoals.

"Crowe contends a fish ladder has not yet been constructed to succeed with shad. He claims that in Connecticut shad have to be lifted by basket over a dam. They will not climb a ladder.

"In the reach to be dredged, sport fishermen expend an approximate 50,000 fisherman-days annually fishing from boat and shore for shad and other species. Downstream from the spawning area, commercial fishermen harvested about 550,000 pounds of shad in 1958.

"Damages to shad spawning success and ultimately to the fishery are expected to result from the dredging but the actual extent is difficult to predict. This effect could range from moderate to extensive damage and would be known only after the dredging was accomplished. Removal of shallow sand bars and alterations of currents in the area could both produce damaging effects.

"The project reach also supports valuable sport fisheries for other species, especially bluegill and largemouth bass. Dredging will adversely affect the fishery for these species to some degree through disturbance and destruction of habitat."

Sanford along with all of Florida was faced at noon today with the possibility of being divorced in rail traffic from the rest of the nation.

The possible rupture in rail traffic hinged on action in Jacksonville resulting from the week-old strike of Florida East Coast union members.

Atlantic Coast Line officials, however, held out two glimmers of hope that rail service will continue into the Sanford area.

Federal Judge William A. McRae Jr., at Jacksonville, was quoted today by UPI that he would grant an injunction asked by FEC compelling the Jacksonville Terminal Company to take back 2,000 idle freight cars being rented to FEC at a cost of $5,400 per day.

UPI reported this would tie up the Jacksonville terminal and halt all rail traffic into Florida because FEC strikers would picket the terminal and this picket line would be honored by union members of the other three railroads operating through Jacksonville.

W. S. Baker, ACL vice president for labor relations at Jacksonville, told The Herald by telephone that should Judge McRae grant the injunction against the terminal company ACL and other railroads would ask for a second restraining order enjoining FEC pickets from closing the Jacksonville terminal.

UPI at Jacksonville told Herald by telephone that Judge McRae's office reported he would announce his decision at noon.

Second glimmer of hope for continued rail service in the Sanford area was offered by local ACL officials, who said ACL trains could be detoured here through High Springs and the "Perry cut-off" at Monticello.

In fact, local ACL officials indicated there would be no interruption of train service here but "there might be some delay."

As the FEC strike moved into its second week today, the first face-to-face meetings between labor and management were scheduled in St. Augustine, the result of efforts by state and federal mediators.

James Holarea, of the Federal Mediation Board set the meeting at 2:30 p. m. FEC Vice President Ray W. Wyckoff and Jack Hadley, chairman of a committee representing the strikers, were to head the delegations.

Presently the navigating committee is awaiting an engineering report on the feasibility of the 11-mile route. Following that report the committee will call a meeting of county commissioners of Seminole, Orange, Brevard and Volusia Counties to ask their support. Crowe Tuesday asked Seminole County commissioners to oppose the dredging of the St. Johns River in favor of a direct canal.

Navy Plane Down; 14 Aboard

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Coast Guard reported that a Navy plane with 14 persons aboard apparently crashed today in the Atlantic about 150 miles southeast of New York.

A spokesman said that a search plane had sighted two life rafts and a dye marker. The spokesman said the pilot of the search plane did not indicate whether there were survivors.

The cutter Abasco and a number of Navy vessels were speeding to the scene. The plane, a P3A Orion, left the naval air station at Patuxent River, Md., on a routine flight at 7:34 p. m. Tuesday and was last heard from at 2:48 a. m. when it gave its position as 150 miles southeast of New York.

Meredith Going Back To Ole Miss

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — James H. Meredith said today he has decided to return to the University of Mississippi for the spring semester.

The 29-year-old Negro, whose entrance into the university last fall was greeted by rioting which left two dead and hundreds injured, made his announcement at a news conference here.

"Many things have taken place in recent months and I see signs that give me hope that I will be able to go to school in the future under adequate, if not ideal, conditions," Meredith said.

His decision came a few days after he had completed his academic work for his first semester of study at the previous all-white university.

Income tax classes will again be conducted this year for the aid of regular taxpayers who must itemize deductions and fill out the long form, Roger Harris, instructor said today.

The classes will begin Thursday at 7 p. m. at Seminole High School, and will run for three hours on three consecutive Thursdays. "The demand for this service has been great, since the successful classes were held last year," Harris said. The instruction is given under the supervision of the Seminole County Adult Education Department.
