Longwood, Casselberry Go To Polls

Voters will go to the polls in Longwood and Casselberry Tuesday to elect city officials, consider charter amendments and approve or disapprove proposed bond issues.

In Longwood, City Clerk Don Terry is predicting 25 percent — 1,081 — of the city's 4,246 registered voters will turn out at the city hall polling place. Up for election are the three city commission seats held by June Lormann, Charles "Chick" Pappas and Steven Uskert.

Longwood voters will also consider four separate bond programs totaling $1.1 million.

In Casselberry, where City Clerk Linda Zike is predicting an "optimistic 30 percent" turnout — 1,942 — of the city's 6,475 registered voters, the mayor's office held by Charles Glascock and the council seat held by John Leighty are up for grabs. Councilman Tom Embree has been virtually re-elected since no one qualified to run against him.

Casselberry voters will also make choices on three charter amendments, including whether they want to continue with a full-time administrative mayor or would prefer to have a city manager.

Polling place in Casselberry is the city hall council chamber on Triplet Drive. Polls in both cities will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Absentee ballots must be turned in no later than 7 p.m., Tuesday, said the clerks in both cities.

In Longwood, Mrs. Lormann, completing her fifth term in office, is also serving as mayor this year, elected to that office by her city commission colleagues. She is being challenged by podiatrist Dr. Frederick Pearl. Pearl's challenge is only the second Mrs. Lormann has faced in her 10 years in office. She was elected without opposition to three of her five terms.

Pappas, finishing his first term on the city commission, is opposed by Ed Myers, who ran once before in the late 1960's unsuccessfully.

Harvey Smerilson, a member of the city's planning and zoning commission, is cying Uskert's post. Uskert is completing his second term in office.

Longwood voters will also be casting ballots on a four-part $1.1 million bond issue.

The bond issue includes acquisition, construction and equipping of a community building and municipal complex as well as acquisition of about two acres of land on W. Warren Avenue adjacent to the fire station, $373,000; acquisition, construction, equipping and

7 Teenagers Injured In Pickup Crash

Two Sanford teenagers who were among seven youths injured when a pickup truck they were riding in flipped over in Paola Saturday night were listed in satisfactory condition today in Central Florida Regional Hospital.

The accident happened on Emmett Road at about 8:30 p.m. Saturday, according to the Florida Highway Patrol.

Several teenagers who were riding in the back of the truck were thrown from the vehicle, one of the victims said. The driver and two passengers in the cab were also injured.

Hospitalized were Kenneth Buske, 16, of 720 Cherokee Circle, who suffered a cervical sprain and cuts; and Gary Stair, 16, of 2300 Sanford Ave., who suffered a fracture to his left leg.

Michele Waters, 14, of 1109 E. 20th Street, Sanford, was treated for minor injuries in the emergency room at the Sanford hospital and released.

Passengers who were treated for minor injuries in the emergency room of Florida Hospital-Altamonte Springs and released were: Teresa Parker, 15, of First Street, Paola; Marty Bacon, 18, of 190 Alma Ave., Lake Mary; Shelly Howington, 13, of 1326 Elliot St., Sanford; and Patrick Briel, 19, of 135 E. Florida Ave., Lake Mary, who was identified as the driver of the truck.

Teresa Parker, who was riding in the back of the truck said the truck was traveling at "a high rate of speed" on unpaved Emmett Street and began weaving on the road and then flipped completely over before coming to rest on its side.

Miss Parker said the teenagers had gathered at her house earlier in the evening for a party and later decided to go for a ride.

Other passengers in the truck who were not injured were Amy Sonendurg, 14, Joe Patton, 14, and Tim Duval, 13, all of Sanford.

Newest Fear Cyberphobia

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Cyberphobia — fear of computers — affects three out of every 10 U.S. adults, a Florida State University professor estimates.

Dr. Abraham Kandell, chairman of the FSU computer science department, said Friday cyberphobia is so strong in some people that they have a "fear of touching computers or even being near them."

Season's Decor

Sanford's new nativity scene, paid for by the Christmas Parade Committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, appeared on the Park Avenue side of the Sanford City Hall last week. Meanwhile in Lake Mary, on advice of City Attorney Robert Petree, the city commission has denied city employees request to build a nativity scene on their own time for display on city property. Petree said court decisions are that city property should not be used for religious purposes.

Boy Safe

Kidnapped Youngster Found In Sanford

An Orange County boy who was reported missing two weeks ago was found safe in Sanford late Sunday and the man accused of kidnapping him was transferred from the Seminole County jail to Orange County today.

Orange County sheriff's Capt. John Guemple said the man suspected of kidnapping the boy phoned Orange County investigators Sunday to say he might turn himself in.

The call was traced to a Sanford phone booth and when Orange County agents arrived at the Fountain Lodge Motel on U.S. Highway 17-92, they spotted the suspect's car and entered the motel, but found no sign of the suspect or the boy.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies were called in and the suspect was spotted in his father's car at U.S. Highway 17-92 and Airport Boulevard, Sanford.

Ten-year-old Lucas Edward Stark, of 1326 West 19th St., Orange County, was found in the back seat of the car. Orange County Investigator Lou Ronca said the boy was frightened, but appeared unharmed. Officials won't say if the boy had been sexually assaulted. He was returned to his mother late Sunday night.

Guemple said Stark and his abductor lived in the same neighborhood and the two knew each other before the boy's disappearance, but he could not give a motive for the kidnapping.

The boy was last seen on Nov. 21 with the suspect in the area of the South Orange Blossom Trail near his home.

Orange County investigators had been contacted last week by a young girl who said she had been with the suspect and the boy in Daytona Beach, but did not leave with them when they came to Sanford. Daytona authorities returned the runaway girl to her home in Chuluota.

Johnny Angel Green, 19, of 214 Amelia St., Orlando, was charged with kidnapping in the case. He is being held without bond.

EDB

Sanford Singled-Out For Well Tests, Knowles Says

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Angry at county health authorities' refusal to schedule retesting of three city contaminated wells, while continuing to test city wells already shown to be free of EDB, Sanford City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles has taken his complaint to state agencies and to Tallahassee.

In letters to county officials, officers of the state Department of Environmental Regulation and the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, Knowles suggests the county is playing "a game" and singling out Sanford in looking for the pesticide ethylene dibromide when "protection of the public" should be a countywide effort.

No other city wells in the county have been tested, Knowles said he learned. Knowles pointed out the county health department tested city wells in the U.S. Highway 17-92 area near Airport Boulevard which, he said, are some three miles from the Mayfair Golf Course where EDB was used.

He is also angry about the scheduled testing today of three wells at the Mayfair Golf Course which have already been tested twice and shown to be either free of EDB, below detection levels, or containing less than the .1 parts per billion set by the state as a safe level.

When the county health department began testing wells on or near county golf courses two weeks ago where EDB treatments had been used to eradicate nematodes in the soil, the results showed that three of Sanford's seven wells at the Mayfair Golf Course were contaminated with as much as five times the allowable level of the chemical.

Knowles' series of letters not only to state agencies, but also the county health department, County Administrator T. Duncan Rose, county commissioners, local legislators and others were sent after he was notified that the county also tested the city's wells some distance from the golf course and was to retest clear wells at the golf course today.

The county, in cooperation with the state, has tested dozens of wells in or near golf courses where EDB was applied.

Rose said today Dr. Jorge Deju, county director of Health and Human Services, is very carefully researching the issue in preparation for responding to Knowles' complaint.

Deju said today the city of Sanford will have to commission a team of hydrology experts to determine what it must do to get the three closed-down city wells back in operation.

"Deju is in contact with the University of Florida, especially with a hydrology professor there, to find exactly what conditions must exist before the three down wells are retested," Rose said. As an example of preparation for retesting, Rose said the wells might have to be reactivated and in operation seven days before the tests could validly be done again.

In another area being tested, Rose said that Deju's staff has found four private wells out of 56 tested in the Rolling Hills area near Longwood are contaminated with EDB. At this time, those homeowners are being given bottled water on a daily basis paid for by the state.

Industrial Bonds Would Bring Manufacturer To Lake Mary

The Seminole County Commission, at its Tuesday meeting, will consider approving a $1-million industrial revenue bond issue to allow A.G. Mauro of Florida Inc. to open a 22,000-square-foot manufacturing plant in Lake Mary. The county-sponsored issue was unanimously approved Nov. 23 by the Seminole County Industrial Development Authority.

The sale of the bonds, if approved by the commission, will enable the Pittsburgh-based firm to finance the land purchase, construction and equipment for the plant and related warehouse/distribution facilities, which will be located in the Rinehart Road area of the city, near Florida Computer-graphics.

Mauro is expected to complete construction by the spring of 1984. Assistant County Administrator Jim Easton said today.

The company estimates 90 percent of its employees will be from the local area and 15 new jobs will be created at the facility by June, 1985. A total of 25 new jobs are expected to be provided by June, 1986, Easton said.

Mauro has been in business for 56 years. Since 1949 it has concentrated in the wholesale distribution of building hardware for residential and commercial construction, he said. —Mary Matlack

Schools' New Finance Officer Will Work To Defeat Prop. 1

By Mary Matlack
Herald Staff Writer

Gaining additional state support and working to defeat Proposition 1 will be among the top priorities for Seminole County school district's new assistant superintendent for business and finance.

Although for the next few weeks he will concern himself with administration of the district's $123-million budget, Carey E. Ferrell Jr., who began his duties Thursday at the county school board offices, said come spring, he will be in Tallahassee lobbying state legislators for money and favor.

And Ferrell is well versed in the intricacies of state government. Formerly the Florida Department of Education director of planning, budgeting and evaluation, he was responsible for coordinating legislative programs for the state's entire system of public schools.

But Ferrell says he's glad to be back in Central Florida. Having grown up in Palatka, in Putnam County, he said he expects to enjoy the challenge of working in a growing, but less urban area than Tallahassee.

Until June, Ferrell said, he will commute weekends to his home in the state capital where his wife, Elizabeth, a teacher, and son, Robert, 16, will finish out the school year.

"I worked in the Putnam County district before I went to the Department of Education and I like this area. Bob Hughes and the board and staff here are excellent. It's a growing county that lets you get a little closer to the action," he said.

Ferrell explained that his new post, which pays an annual salary of $41,749, involves "the actual process of putting the statewide system into practice."

As the district's first official lobbyist, Ferrell will receive a yearly supplement of $5,000. His duties will take him back to Tallahassee in the spring to make sure state legislators are aware of Seminole County's school needs.

"The district is in competition for benefits. I will keep the board informed of legislative matters and it will be my responsibility that they (the board) are represented and heard on these issues," he said.

Ferrell said Proposition 1, a controversial measure to roll back government revenues to their 1980-81 levels that is destined for statewide balloting next year, is "hanging over everything" and would be disastrous for county schools.

If approved, Proposition 1 would decrease property taxes but would force school boards and local governments to ask voters to either approve additional local taxes or accept decreases in vital services, he said.

Proposition 1 does not contain provisions for growth, making its revenue cuts even more severe than those provided by Propositions 13 and 2 1/2 in California and Massachusetts, respectively. In the other states, the measure takes into account student population rather than mandating an across-the-board rollback, he explained.

"The real effect of Proposition 1 would be in long-term impact. It will be the critical thing in the Legislative sessions and with elections coming up in November," he said.

Car 'Stolen'; Owner Jailed

An Ocoee man was jailed for resisting arrest in Longwood late Saturday after police spotted him driving a stolen car. Only the car was his own.

Sgt. Domenick Leonard spotted the stolen car that had been reported stolen in Ocoee several weeks ago. He ordered the driver of the car to stop.

Leonard reported that the driver was uncooperative when he exited his car. According to the officer's report, the driver said: "Stay away from me, don't touch me," and then jerked away and ran into the woods.

The man, it turns out, had been stopped driving his own car. He had simply neglected to notified Ocoee police that the car he had reported missing had been found.

He now faces charges of battery to a police officer, escape and resisting arrest.

Leonard Louis Vetter, 29, of 1213 Russell Drive, Ocoee, posted $5,000 bond and was released from the Seminole County jail today.

IN BRIEF

Greyhound Workers Voting On New Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Striking Greyhound bus drivers plan to stay off the highways at least until a few days before Christmas while they vote on a new contract containing a 7.8 percent wage cut.

The Amalgamated Transit Union said it will conduct a nationwide mail referendum of its 12,700 Greyhound members on ratification of the tentative agreement reached Saturday night, but will not count the ballots until Dec. 20.

The delay could have a major effect on Christmas travel for those Americans planning a lengthy holiday trip.

Greyhound officials said Sunday the bus lines could return to normal service within a few days of ratification, if it occurs.

Abortion Clinic To Reopen

EVERETT, Wash. (UPI) — Operators of a controversial abortion clinic that was gutted by a fire will reopen "as quickly as possible" and seek an injunction against anti-abortion protesters they blame for starting the blaze.

"Our goal is to reopen in two to four weeks," said Audrey Fine, spokeswoman for the Feminist Women's Health Center.

The non-profit clinic, a target of vigorous protest since it began providing low-cost abortions in August, was temporarily put out of business Saturday by a fire that destroyed a clinic lab and employee staff room.

Police Lt. Dan Anderson said the fire was "of suspicious origin."

"We have received harassment in the clinic since we opened in August and it has been a disturbing pattern of escalation," Ms. Fine said, explaining the pickets block traffic and harass women coming into the clinic.

Lawyers for the clinic, which handles about 175 clients a month, indicated they would seek a court injunction this week "to restrict the place, time and manner of picketers," Ms. Fine said.

The former president of the defunct Bank of Lake Helen has been sentenced to five years in prison and four years probation after pleading guilty to conspiracy and other charges.

Jackie C. Hardy, 51, of Tallahassee, was sentenced in federal court in Orlando Friday by U.S. District Judge John Reed. Hardy pleaded guilty Oct. 20 to six charges including conspiracy, misapplication of bank funds and filing a false income tax return.

Last Tuesday, Reed sentenced Leonard E. James, 58, president of Alumavent Products in Sanford, to 2½ years in prison and ordered him to pay a $3,000 fine after he also pleaded guilty to conspiracy and other charges in connection with the operation of the bank.

The bank collapsed under a load of bad debts in 1980. After an FBI investigation, James and Hardy were indicted in May and charged with defrauding the government. They were accused of participating in a scheme in 1978 to receive more than $100,000 for helping arrange a Farmer's Home Administration loan to a couple who owned a DeLand fern growing operation.

The indictment said James received about $93,000 and Hardy received $10,700 by inflating the value of two ferreties they bought and secretly leased to the couple.

Both men were also charged in a scheme to buy a men's store in DeLand with checks drawn on James's closed checking account at the bank while Hardy was president. The indictment charged that checks drawn on the account were covered by loans approved by Hardy without permission of the bank's board of directors.

POLE STRUCK

An unknown vehicle struck a light pole on Busch Boulevard in the Seminole County operations center in Sanford sometime before 2:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The pole was tipped and a light was knocked off the pole, a Sanford police report said.

PURSE SNATCHED

A man grabbed a Sanford woman's purse which contained $300 in cash and escaped despite a foot chase by the woman's husband.

Deann Baird, 45, of 820 Via Bonita, was walking in the rear parking lot of Pac 'n' Send, 714 W. First St., about 9:20 p.m. Tuesday when the man snatched the purse from her arm, a Sanford police report said.

The man ran west on First Street and Mrs. Baird's husband, Charles, chased him but lost him, the report said.

SURVEY THEFT

A survey tripod and prism valued at $550 were stolen from a survey site on Osceola Road in Sanford.

Joseph S. Lemming, 27, of 4220 S. Orlando Drive, Sanford, said he left the equipment unattended for a few minutes around 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

jewelry, $110 in cash and a camera for a total haul of $1,475 between 1 and 1:30 a.m. Sunday.

Carol E. Kohler, 43, of 120 Exeter Court, told police there was no sign of forced entry to her house.

BURGLARS FOILED

Burglars knocked a hole in a wall of a Sanford business and entered the building, but fled when a burglar alarm sounded at 10:42 p.m. Sunday.

The burglars first cut an opening in a fence which surrounds Cattlemasters, Inc., 2020 McCracken Road, then knocked a hole in a north wall of the building, possibly with a sledge hammer, according to a police report.

When the alarm went off, the burglars apparently fled, the report said. Nothing appeared to be missing. The amount of damage to the building has not been determined.

APARTMENT VANDALIZED

Someone broke out two windows in a Sanford woman's apartment at 4:30 a.m. Sunday.

Margaret Ann Smith, 22, of Apt. 104 Seminole Gardens, said she saw an unidentified man wearing black gloves lean from the railing of a stair case and break the windows with an unknown instrument. No damage estimate was available.

PROWLER ARREST

A Sanford man found lurking behind the Atlantic Bank on First Street at Park Avenue, Sanford, was arrested after a Seminole County sheriff's deputy noticed the tip of a crowbar protruding from beneath the man's jacket.

The officer also found a screwdriver in the man's jacket pocket. He was arrested when he couldn't explain why he was behind the bank or why he had the tools, a report said.

Jack Thomas Rash, 28, of Fifth Street and Park Avenue, is being held in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $5,000 bond. He is charged with possession of burglary tools and prowling.

BOAT THEFT

Edward Gross of 112 Crystalview Drive, east of Sanford, reported that a 14-foot fishing boat valued at $400 disappeared from his yard between Nov. 25 and 30.

JEWELRY MISSING

An Altamonte Springs woman reported that about $2,500 worth of jewelry is missing from a vanity in her bathroom.

Anjanette Stevens, 40, of 485 Blackwood Ave., said there was no sign of forced entry to her home and the theft probably occurred sometime Monday when she was away, a sheriff's report said.

CAR STOLEN

An Orlando man reported that his car, that was parked for three days on the side of Interstate 4 near State Road 434, was stolen.

Michael A. Williams, 18, of 8605 Caracas Ave., reported the Volkswagen stolen on Wednesday. Seminole County sheriff's deputies said.

GRINDER GONE

Stefan C. Kozic, 32, of 549 Elm St., Oviedo, reported that a bench grinder and a chainsaw valued at $200 was stolen from a workshop next to his house sometime Wednesday or Thursday.

DUI DISPOSITIONS

The following persons have been either convicted or pleaded guilty in Seminole County Court to driving under the influence. Most of them, as first-time offenders, have had their driver's licenses suspended for six months, fined $250 and ordered to perform 60 hours of community service. In cases where a different sentence has been imposed, the actual sentences are reported.

—David Lee Sheppard, 1501 Douglas St., Sanford.

—Robert E. Vaughan Jr., 2700 Curry Ford Road, Orlando.

—Lonnie Perry, 20, Old Lake Mary Road, Sanford, was ordered to pay a $500 fine, and his driver's license was suspended for 5 years.

—Robert G. Rogers, 418 Oak Hill Drive, Altamonte Springs, was ordered to pay a $500 fine, to spend 10 days in the Seminole County jail and his driver's license was suspended for 5 years.

DUIs NOT PROSECUTED

The following persons were arrested and charged with driving under the influence, but the State Attorney's office has decided not to prosecute their cases:

—Alfred C. Barnes, 149 Cleveland St., Apopka.

—Joseph M. Barnini, 2105 Formosa Ave., Orlando.

—Michael W. Flannery, 7402 Ft. Lane Rd., Geneva.

—Joseph Leo Jacobs, LaSalle, Mich.

—Nancy E. Kerns, 6209 Curry Ford Rd., Orlando.

—Michael D. Lang, 735 E. Church St., Longwood.

—Larry A. Lindgreen, 3187 Wendehimer Drive, Apopka.

—Herman Maxwell, P.O. Box 473, Lake Mary.

—Jessie S. Singletary Jr., Hester Ave., Sanford.

AMENDED DUIs

The following persons, who were arrested on a charge of driving under the influence, have had that charge amended to the lesser charge of willful and wanton reckless driving:

—Gary M. Chartier, 105 W. Woodland Drive, Sanford.

—John Eugene Dover, 205 Holiday Lane, Winter Springs.

—Brian M. Morrissey, 1360 Hobson St., Longwood.

Improving public works projects including construction of a sidewalk and bicycle path along Church Street, road improvements, paving and drainage improvements, acquisition of a one-acre site for the public works department and replacement of a back hoe, $562,000; acquisition of an equipped ladder truck and new ambulance for the fire department and acquisition and training of dogs for the police K-9 corps, $115,000; improvements and repairs to existing public parks, Candyland Park, north of the cemetery, and Retter Park, west of the fire station.

Casselberry voters will choose between Glascock, the incumbent, and George Smith, Glascock, completing his one-year split term as mayor, has also served on the city council. Smith has run unsuccessfully in the past for city council seats.

Leighty, who has served on the city council on and off for the past 13 years, is being challenged by Al Harmon, employed by Freedom Savings & Loan Association. Harmon is a newcomer to city politics.

A series of three charter questions will also be on the ballot in Casselberry.

The electorate has a choice of voting for the present full time mayor or for a city manager form of government with the mayor fulfilling only ceremonial functions; expanding terms of office to three years or keeping terms at two years; and continuing city elections in December or changing them to the general election time in November.

Beirut Bomb Blast Kills 10, Wounds 50

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — A car packed with 330 pounds of TNT exploded beneath an eight-floor apartment house in Moslem West Beirut today, igniting fires that swept through a city block. Police said at least 10 people died and 84 were wounded.

The car bomb exploded at rush-hour in the ground-floor garage of the housing complex in the Treek al Jedida neighborhood. Fire rapidly spread to an adjacent paint factory and apartments, witnesses said.

Dozens of cars caught fire and a nearby three-floor building collapsed, witnesses said.

Among the hundreds of people caught by the 8:04 a.m. (1:04 a.m. EST) blast were young schoolchildren, witnesses said.

Motives for the blast were not immediately known, but preliminary investigations did not rule out the possibility that the blown-up car was being booby-trapped in the garage for a bombing attack elsewhere.

Union Crackdown Begun

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Police cracked down on a display of support for the banned Solidarity union and warned of tighter security regulations in an apparent attempt to flush out underground activists.

In Katowice, in the heart of southern Poland's coal country, witnesses said police squads swooped down on a crowd of about 500 people gathered to dedicate a bronze plaque in memory of eight miners killed two years ago during the first days of martial law.

Warsaw police broadcast a series of warnings that they would be using stop-and-search tactics much more widely, plus other unspecified procedures described as "unavoidable." They also advertised special telephone lines for anonymous informers to report suspicious activity.

The stated reason for the campaign of extra police vigilance was an increase in burglaries and auto thefts. But there was widespread speculation the action was aimed at underground operations and assorted blackmarket activities.

Heineken Suspects Sought

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands (UPI) — Police arrested a 31-year-old woman thought to be involved in the kidnapping of beer baron Freddie Heineken and pressed their search for three other suspects believed to be hiding in Spain.

Police identified the woman arrested Sunday as a girlfriend of the alleged mastermind of the multi-millionaire's 21-day kidnapping, Robbie Griffiths.

Griffiths was arrested when he flew into Amsterdam from Spain last Wednesday, the same day Heineken was freed from captivity during a police raid on a warehouse outside Amsterdam.

Police said they had "certain suspicions" about the woman whose arrest brought to 26 people the number taken into custody throughout the country in connection with the case. Only seven people remain in custody.

Destitute Family Gets Help From Police

SURFSIDE (UPI) — A Tennessee family who drove 1,100 miles because they heard there were jobs in south Florida, found out they were wrong and wound up at the Surfside police station looking for a handout.

Clifford Keeley walked up to the front desk and said: "We're out on the street and don't have any place to go. We don't have any food or money. Can we get some help?"

Keeley, 57, his wife, and sons Mike, 20, and Stevie, 13, arrived from their home in Dyersburg, Tenn. nearly three weeks ago and since had exhausted their resources. They were out of money, out of gas out of food and already had sold their flashing tackle.

Things have gotten a little better, because Keeley's plea to the police Friday produced temporary lodging in a hotel, a meal and $35 in donations from officers. And Mike has gotten a job as a valet in a hotel and will be paid Friday.

Students Return To ROTC

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The nation's economy and an upsurge in patriotism are bringing students back into ROTC programs at Florida State University, but a top officer says scholarships may be the greatest incentive.

"The military has one of the best scholarship programs around today, and we're getting better students applying than ever before. We are very competitive in the types of men and women we take," said Col. Hoyt Prindle, commander of the Air Force ROTC program at FSU.

Marines On Alert

'Things Tense' After 8 Soldiers Killed; 2 Planes Downed

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — American soldiers braced for renewed attacks today from Syrian-backed rebels who shot down two U.S. Navy jets and killed eight Marines in the fiercest fighting since American troops arrived in Lebanon 15 months ago.

The fighting started Sunday when 28 warplanes from two American aircraft carriers struck Syrian anti-aircraft batteries east of Beirut. The attack, personally authorized by President Reagan, was the first against Syrian positions in Lebanon.

Two crewmen from one of the downed U.S. planes were reported missing and American officials feared one was killed and the other captured by the Syrians.

Shortly after the airstrikes, gunners in the hills east of the capital retaliated by blasting Marine positions around Beirut airport for 4 1/2 hours with heavy artillery, rocket and mortar fire.

"We are on condition one alert, and looks like we will keep it that way for a while," a Marine spokesman, Capt. Wayne Jones, said shortly after dawn today. "Things are pretty tense here."

In Washington, Syria's ambassador to the United States, Rafic Jouejati, told CBS News today the latest fighting showed Washington is "bent on an escalation" of the conflict in Lebanon.

Though Syria has not sought help from the Soviet Union to counter U.S. moves, Jouejati said, it would have to do so "if the escalation goes on."

The eight Marine deaths Sunday — the first since the October suicide bombing that killed 239 Americans — came 12 hours after Reagan personally ordered the U.S. warplanes to hit Syrian missile batteries. Two Marines were wounded in the shelling.

The downed American jets were the first U.S. aircraft lost in combat since the Vietnam War.

The Marines who came under fire arrived in Lebanon only two weeks ago after taking part in the U.S. invasion of the Caribbean island of Grenada. Officers described the shelling as the heaviest since the first U.S. troops arrived 15 months ago to help maintain peace between Lebanon's warring Christians and Moslems.

Another Marine spokesman, Maj. Dennis Brooks, said the fire against American positions appeared to be coming from Druze Moslem rebels dug into fortified positions in the Shouf mountains overlooking the airport. The Druze, members of a small Moslem sect, are supported by Syria, which has an estimated 40,000 troops in Lebanon.

The Marines responded to the attack with fire from their own artillery and tank fire backed up by the Navy's 5-inch guns offshore. The thud of the shelling reverberated throughout Beirut.

The fighting had died down by the time Lebanese President Amin Gemayel flew back home today after talks in Washington with Reagan.

Before Gemayel's return, Prime Minister Chefik Wazzan condemned the United States and Israel for turning Lebanon into a battlefield with the Syrians. Reagan said he ordered the airstrikes in response to Syrian fire at unarmed U.S. reconnaissance planes on Saturday.

The Pentagon said 28 Corsair and Intruder attack planes from the carriers

Independence and Kennedy took part in Sunday's raids on the Syrian positions.

In response, the Syrians unleashed about 40 Soviet-made anti-aircraft missiles and heavy ground fire, the Pentagon said.

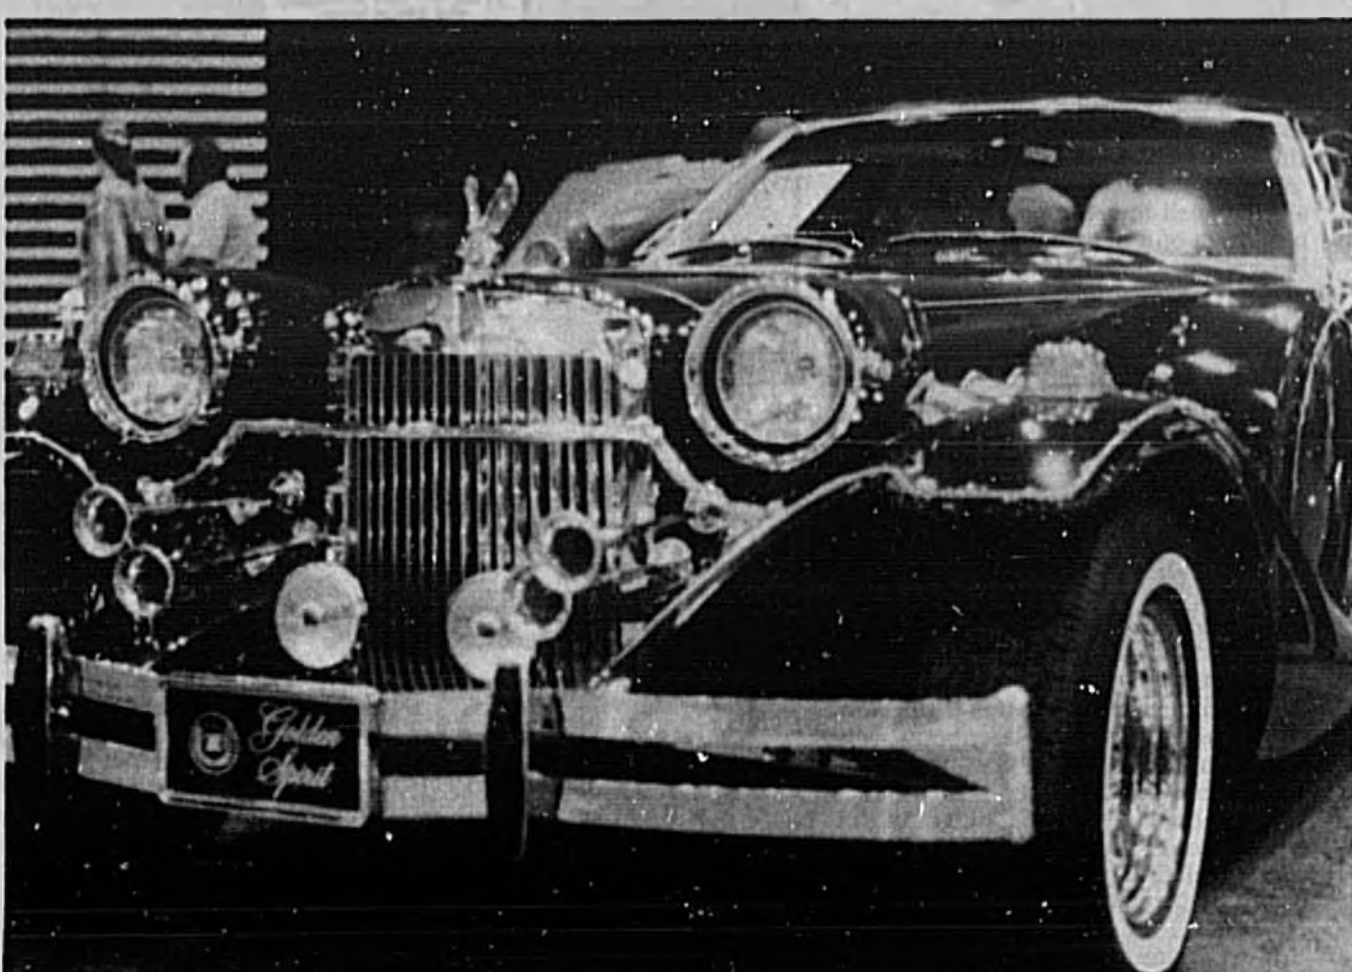

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, visiting Paris, said negotiations were under way for the return of the two American airmen whose A-6E Intruder was shot down behind Syrian lines.

American officials said they feared Lange subsequently died of his injuries.

The second downed U.S. jet, an A-7 Corsair, crashed into a house in the northern Beirut suburb of Zouk Mkayel, injuring six children and two women. The pilot parachuted to safety.

American officials confirmed a third plane was hit by a Syrian missile but said the pilot made it safely back to his carrier.

Nicaragua Invites Exiles To Come Home

Nicaragua invited rebels and other exiled opponents to return to their homeland and join in elections in a sweeping amnesty offer to bring an end to the war that has devastated the country.

Officials in El Salvador said Sunday the army will begin to crack down on right-wing death squads believed to be responsible for the killings of thousands of civilians in the country's 4-year-old civil war.

Nicaraguan Junta Coordinator Daniel Ortega read a decree at the closing of a session of the country's national congress Sunday offering amnesty to an estimated 10,000 U.S.-backed rebels fighting to overthrow the Sandinista regime and to other exiles — mostly businessmen — who oppose the leftist government.

A separate decree said the Nicaraguan Council of State would begin debate on an electoral law in January for presidential elections expected to be set for 1985.

The amnesty offer, open until Feb. 21, invited exiles to return and "join in the electoral process with full rights to elect and be elected."

The decree also provides for the return of land or just compensation to people whose holdings were expropriated by the government, but excludes leaders of the rebel groups fighting the government from Honduras and Costa Rica.

The offer marked the latest attempts by the Sandinistas to end the fighting that has killed 1,000 Nicaraguans since January and caused millions of dollars in damages.

Ortega called for a minute of silence for Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, who died Saturday at age 71.

Zablocki had sponsored legislation to cut off U.S. aid to anti-Sandinista rebels.

Two Salvadoran officials who asked to remain anonymous said the government has shown it is aware of the need to eliminate the activity of rightist death squads.

They cited a strong condemnation of the paramilitary groups Friday by Defense Minister Carlos Eugenio Vides Casanova, who said "death squads should disappear forever as a demonstration of our decision to combat them and of our faith in the democratic process."

The death squads, believed to be run by active duty and retired army officers, have reappeared in recent months, and human rights groups say they are responsible for more than half of the 45,000 combatant and non-combatant deaths since the Salvadoran civil war began in 1979. Most of the death squad victims have been civilians suspected of leftist sympathies or ties to the guerrillas.

Andropov Said To Be Back On The Job

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union today said President Yuri Andropov's health has improved after a 109-day absence from public view and he is "tackling in full measure" his duties as Communist Party and government leader.

Communist Party spokesman Leonid Zamyatin told a news conference that rumors Andropov suffers from more than a cold "do not correspond to the truth," but he refused to detail precisely what has sidelined the Soviet president.

The news conference was called to outline the Soviet position on the arms talks and the subject of Andropov came up in response to a reporter's question.

Andropov, 69, was last seen Aug. 18. He has escaped public view during a period of East-West tension in which the Soviets shot down a civilian jetliner carrying 269 people and cut off talks on limiting the medium-range missiles.

Andropov is presumed to have been seriously ill or to have undergone surgery since he was last seen.

Speculation about Andropov's health escalated by his absence at the annual military parade in Red Square Nov. 7 on the anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution. He was the first Soviet leader ever to miss the parade.

Florida Suffers 'Rash' Of Charity Scams

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Florida has a "rash" of phony charities, says a legislative committee member who is asking the attorney general to crack down on groups that violate fundraising laws.

Rep. Fred Lippman, D-Hollywood, chairman of the House Regulatory Reform Committee, said the state's laws governing charities are too weak and need some teeth.

"We've got to protect the charitable spirit," Lippman said. He said there is a "rash" of phony charities and other scams in Florida and not enough is being done on the state level to stop them.

"The most likely spot for it to be cared for is with the attorney for the people," Lippman said. "I intend to speak to the attorney general (Jim Smith) as to possibly setting up a properly funded unit" to enforce the charitable solicitations act.

Enforcement of that law is currently handled by the secretary of state's office.

Lippman said he had

Sewage Plan On The Rocks

ORLANDO (UPI) — An innovative sewage treatment plant that would inject highly treated waste-water into the Floridan aquifer may be doomed because of strict state guidelines.

The city of Orlando has spent $5 million in design and engineering costs for the project — called Conserv 1 — but now fear they may have to scrap the plans.

The Department of Environmental Regulation placed stringent requirements on the project because of growing fears about pollution.

The new rules, mandated under a new state law passed in April, set limits on the amount of pollutants and toxic chemicals that the proposed plant would pump into the aquifer.

City engineers say the new rules would make the plant too expensive to operate. State officials disagree.

City officials want to build the $90 million injection treatment plant in one of the area's hottest growth spots near the Orlando International Airport.

Under the proposal, the plant would inject 15 million gallons a day of highly treated waste-water into the aquifer, an underground drinking-water supply for millions of central Florida residents.

City engineers opted for the injection system for two reasons — to replenish underground water supplies and because discharge of wastewater into lakes and streams is banned in that portion of south Orange County.

"Conserv 1 appears to be the only feasible means of providing wastewater capacity ... within the applicable service area," said Phillip Parsons, Orlando's environmental attorney.

Robert Haven, Orlando's director of public works, said if the injection treatment plan is banned, developers would resort to a series of small "package" sewage plants.

Haven said the package plants — holding ponds that allow treated sewage water to trickle underground — could be more harmful to the environment than a single large plant.

Our Role In Any Gulf Peril

The world has learned to live with an Iran-Iraq war that, however bloody and tragic for the two adversaries, has not seriously threatened the vital interests of other nations. That may soon change.

With the war now in its fourth year and no end in sight, the Iraqis especially are getting desperate. Iraq has had to borrow and beg billions of dollars from its Arab neighbors to finance the war. But Iran has been able to sell enough oil to keep fighting without risking economic collapse.

What Iraqi President Saddam Hussein now seems to fear most is being trapped in a war of economic attrition against his fanatical enemy, Iran's Ayatollah Khomeini. Hussein may, therefore, attempt to force a quick end to the conflict by involving outside powers.

There is one particularly obvious way that he might do so. The Ayatollah has warned repeatedly that any attacks upon Iran's oil facilities — the terminals and refineries on Kharg Island, for example — or on nearby shipping in the Persian Gulf would compel Iran to retaliate by closing the strategic Strait of Hormuz.

That would strike directly at the economic interests of Iraq's financial supporters and Gulf neighbors: Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Qatar, and the United Arab Emirates. All depend on revenue from oil shipped out of the gulf by tanker.

But even bigger stakes are involved. The tankers that transit the strait each day deliver half of Western Europe's oil, 90 percent of Japan's, and a portion of that imported by the United States. Accordingly, America is pledged to hold the Strait of Hormuz open no matter who tries to close it. Any Iranian try at blocking or mining the strait would promptly bring in the U.S. Navy, and perhaps some European warships as well, to preserve the right of passage through a vital international waterway.

Saddam Hussein may be hoping that all this would be enough to force a compromise settlement on the Iranians, with each side withdrawing behind the original borders the Iraqis set out to alter by invading Iran in 1980. Khomeini has said he will not stop fighting until the Hussein government is ousted and Iraq pays huge reparations for starting the war.

There are signs that the Iraqi armed forces may already be pursuing a dramatically more provocative strategy intended to draw outside powers into the conflict. A merchant vessel was sunk in the Persian Gulf recently by an Iraqi missile, probably one of the Exocets recently purchased by Iraq from France. If a tanker is sunk or if Kharg Island is hit, Khomeini could well try making good on his threat to close the Strait of Hormuz.

All this, plus the ever-present threat of a Soviet intervention in Iran, gives Arab states and the West every reason to try again for a diplomatic solution to the fighting between Iran and Iraq.

A Promise Is A...

A man in Virginia who contributed to the campaign to elect Sen. John Warner is now suing the senator to get his money back. He maintains that Warner promised before the election to vote one way on a key issue, and then voted the opposite way.

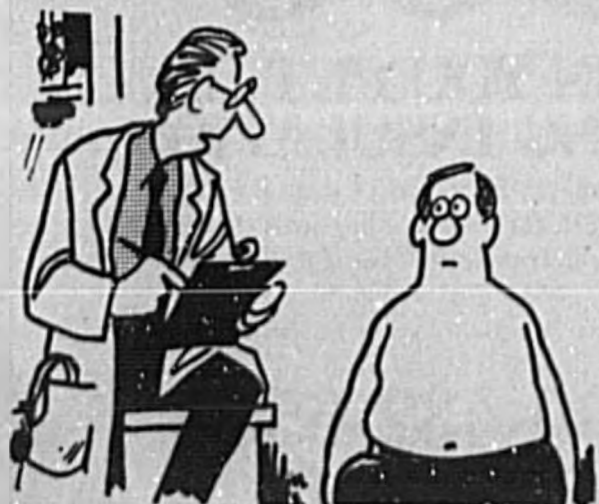

If this lawsuit is successful it could send shivers down the spine of every politician in the country. Imagine being hauled into court for failing to stick to campaign promises. This could undermine the whole U.S. political system, which operates on the general assumption that once an election is held, campaign promises are no longer operative.

What strikes us about this case is that the plaintiff in Virginia had to hire a lawyer and go to court to solve a problem that could be handled easily, on behalf of all voters, by a simple piece of campaign reform legislation. With all the new campaign financing laws being written, why hasn't anyone thought of introducing the concept of the money-back guarantee?

If this principle had been in effect, the disgruntled voter in Virginia would simply have taken the receipt for his campaign donation to the credit window in Warner's office. Since Warner did not perform as described on the label, the contributor would be entitled to a refund.

Once this is written into law we should hear nothing more about the problem of raising money for election campaigns. What voter wouldn't be willing to send a few dollars to a candidate who promised to cut taxes if the promise were backed up with a money-back warranty?

BERRY'S WORLD

"I'm afraid you're going to have to give up smoking, drinking and stress."

By Diane Petryk

If you plan on using your credit cards a lot this holiday season, it's also a good idea to plan on carefully checking those holiday bills. Mistakes are not that uncommon. And they're sometimes easy to spot — a charge from a gas station you've never been to or a bill for a meal at a restaurant on a date when you were out of town.

When you do discover you're being billed for a charge you didn't make, it's important to know what your legal protection is and what steps to take to remedy the situation. To help, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation has published a booklet called Fair Credit Billing. A copy may be obtained by sending 50 cents to Consumer Information Center, Dept. 408L, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

According to the booklet, you can challenge anything on your credit card statement you believe to be a billing error. The Fair Credit Billing Amendment to the Truth in Lending Law defines a billing error as any charge made by an unauthorized person, a charge for something you didn't accept on delivery or a charge for something not delivered according to agreement. Billing errors also include mistakes and transactions where you've asked for an explanation or need more information to identify the purchase.

Fair Credit Billing also tells you what to do about defective merchandise or unsatisfactory services purchased with your credit card.

If you think your bill is wrong, here's what to do:

• Write to the creditor within 60 days of the time the bill was mailed. Be sure to include your name and account number, say what you think is in error, what the error is and why it's incorrect.

• While waiting for an answer, you don't have to pay the amount in question or finance charges that apply to it. But you are obligated to pay all portions of the bill that are not in dispute.

The creditor is required to acknowledge your letter within 30 days, unless your account is corrected sooner. Within two billing periods — but never more than 90 days — either your account must be corrected or you must be told why the creditor believes the bill is correct.

If the creditor made a mistake, you don't pay finance charges, just pay the correct amount you owe. If no error is found, the creditor must promptly send you a statement of what you owe. In that case, the creditor may include any finance charges that have accumulated while the bill was under dispute.

There's more information in the booklet, including advice on defective merchandise and unsatisfactory services.

And if you order Fair Credit Billing, you'll also receive a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog which lists more than 200 free and moderately priced consumer booklets published by the federal government.

ANTHONY HARRIGAN Stalinism Is Still Among Us

The average American is so far away from the world of the hardcore leftist that he finds it almost impossible to understand that adherents of Stalinism continue to exist in the United States. Unfortunately, Stalinism is still around.

I was reminded of this the other day as I listened to a National Public Radio broadcast of a debate in New York City between two radicals — one who believes that atomic spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg served the Soviet Union and one who asserts that the Rosenbergs were innocent and that the real enemy was and is the FBI and other agencies of the U.S. government. The assembled radical audience resented the speaker who described the Rosenbergs for what they were, and roared with approval when the other speaker said that the FBI, not communism, was the enemy.

It is sad and almost unbelievable that such a mind-set should exist in the United States. It is important to understand, however, that this is the case. Thirty years after the Rosenbergs were executed, there is a Stalinist fury in the radical community in the United States that is directed at the judge in the federal trial, Judge Kaufmann. A new motion picture, entitled "Daniel" (produced by the Paramount division of Gulf & Western Corporation, and starring Edward Asner), attempts to convince viewers that Julius and Ethel Rosenberg were not spies. According to columnist George Will, Mr. Asner also is a supporter of an organization that lobbies to rehabilitate the Rosenbergs, the Fund For Open Information and Accountability. Unfortunately for Gulf & Western, release of the docu-drama coincides with a new book, "The Rosenberg File" by liberal authors Ronald Radosh and Joyce Milton that further documents the role of the Rosenbergs as espionage agents in the service of Josef Stalin.

To many people, all this may seem ancient history with no relevance to today's issues and problems. The opposite is true, however. The attempt at rehabilitation of the Rosenbergs is part of the overall campaign of the hard Left to discredit the United States.

The Soviet Union currently is engaged in the most extensive disinformation campaign in its history. The objective of this campaign is to halt deployment of new U.S. missiles in Western Europe and to cripple the U.S. government's resistance to new communist expansionism in Central America. The radical communities in Europe and the United States are being used as tools to undermine Western resistance and morale.

It isn't enough for the Soviet-inspired anti-nuclear defense elements to oppose deployments of free world weaponry. They must go back into history and convince the American people that anti-communism is wrong and destruction of "peace." The organizers of this disinformation campaign have plenty of accomplices in the free world, as the campaign to rehabilitate Stalin's atomic spies makes clear.

Nixon Helped OPEC To Dominance

WASHINGTON — In an earlier column, I blamed Richard Nixon for the oil price explosion — a catastrophe that has brought economic devastation to the West, a scandal that far surpasses Watergate infamy. I call it Oilgate.

The dimensions of this scandal are truly staggering. The hyper-inflation in oil prices drained hundreds of billions of dollars out of the Western economy. The human damage can be measured in millions of lost dollars, thousands of businesses ruined, less money for most people to spend.

High oil costs have also brought on the looming crises of international debt default and Third World disintegration. Much of our current future financial danger, in other words, is traceable to the oil calamity.

Yet there was no respectable reason for oil prices to skyrocket, no pattern of necessity at all. Nixon simply wanted to avoid confrontations by giving in to poll pressures and postponing the inconvenient consequences to the next president's term.

VIEWPOINT U.S. Policy Differences

By Susan Ruel
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — When Roman Catholic Archbishop John Quinn issued a pastoral letter criticizing American policy in Central America recently, there was less than a solid chorus of approval from the San Francisco area's large Hispanic community.

A third of the mail the church received took issue with Quinn's criticism and much of it, church officials said, came from the region's 140,000 immigrants from the country where the U.S.-backed fighting is heaviest — El Salvador.

Quinn recommended stopping all U.S. military action in Central America and granting political refugee status for the 30,000 to 80,000 Salvadorans who have moved to San Francisco Bay area since 1979.

Catholic Social Services and an organization called Sanctuary to which 25 area churches belong are helping provide food, shelter, and immigration advice to the burgeoning Salvadoran community, many of whom are illegal aliens.

San Francisco is the only major American city the majority of whose Latinos are from Central America, Quinn's letter stated. Other sizable minorities include 90,000 to 150,000 Nicaraguans, and 5,000 to 10,000 Guatemalans, with smaller groups of Hondurans and Panamanians.

Mamerto Sigaran, a Salvadoran priest who came to the United States two years ago, said the attraction of the San Francisco Bay area for Salvadoran refugees can be explained by "a little refrain in their mind: 'The further north you go, the less likely you'll meet Hispanics, so you'll have a better opportunity.'"

San Francisco is such a popular city in El Salvador that a major newspaper there offers a column called "News from San Francisco."

Eileen Purcell of Catholic Social Services said Salvadorans come to San Francisco "to search for friends and relatives" and to avoid Immigration and Naturalization Service raids in Texas and Los Angeles, whose offices are perceived as more strict than the local INS office.

The problems these refugees face, said Ms. Purcell, who was part of a six-person church delegation which visited El Salvador last July, "are the same as those of poor people anywhere, compounded by fear of deportation."

Pedro Cesarez, a former Salvadoran immigration official who is an assistant manager for a chain store in San Francisco, said he would like to go home with his two children as soon as possible.

Cesarez, who came here after receiving death threats three years ago and has been separated from his wife for seven months since she went home to tend an ailing relative, said conditions are much more favorable for him in El Salvador.

"In the U.S. if I get sick, I don't have any help from anybody. They don't give you anything free," Cesarez said. "In my country, you go to the hospital, and you don't pay anything. I don't like to stay here."

Cesarez said he supports Quinn's position on U.S. involvement.

Arthur Shanks, deputy district director of the San Francisco bureau of INS, said his office deported 95 Salvadorans between January and September of this year, and 22 between July and December last year.

"A federal court order requires INS to 'notify people we detain of their rights to an attorney and to apply for asylum,'" Shanks said.

Ms. Purcell, who works with the refugees, said that since 1980, Salvadorans have made up 14 percent of all those seeking political asylum in the United States. Fewer than one in 200 of Salvadoran applications were approved, she said, compared to a 35 percent success rate for all nationalities applying for political asylum.

DICK WEST Let's Hear It For Socialism

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Like many another product of the free enterprise system, I have long been vaguely discomfited by socialism, without exactly knowing why.

Now, at last, I may have found the reason for my unease.

Reports from Athens tell us the socialist government of Greece has moved to ban plate-smashing in nightclubs.

The socialists are said to regard this time-honored form of critical acclaim as wasteful. And they may be right. But if, after a particularly enjoyable floor show, a patron of the arts can't show his appreciation by breaking a bit of pottery, what's the point of going out in the first place?

One might as well stay home and watch the late show on television. Although in socialist countries, smashing teecup screens probably is frowned upon, too.

A good nightclub act in Greece, I understand, can inspire as many as 4,000 or 5,000 broken plates in a single evening. In the United States, that would be the equivalent of a standing ovation.

With Dolly Parton on stage, the audience might even shatter a few cups and saucers. In any event, platter clatter must give new meaning to the old exhortation, "Let's hear it for..."

"If people feel like spending their money on breaking plates, why should the government want to stop them?" one Greek nightclub owner was quoted as carping.

Why, indeed! Certainly that type of applause seems more genuine than clapping, stomping and whistling, which don't cost anything.

Imagine a demand for an encore being transmitted by the sound of ceramic shattering. If that doesn't bring a few curial calls, nothing will.

If restaurant customers got into the habit of hurling tasteless entrees across the table, it might result in some improvement in the cuisine. However, punching out on the waiter or cook will get your point across quite nicely, thank you.

Plate-smashing and socialism being incompatible, a political scientist is entitled to wonder where that system of government might strike next.

Should Greek leaders be unable to break the crockery-breaking tradition, will they then decree that all restaurants in the country use only Tupperware?

And what of the custom of throwing glasses into the fireplace after drinking a toast?

Plastic glasses undoubtedly would stand a better chance of surviving that sort of revelry. But wouldn't slipping champagne from unbreakable goblets detract from the spirit of the occasion?

Purely from a governmental standpoint, socialism perhaps has something to recommend it. But when any regime begins to drain cafe society of its color, and otherwise take some of the fun out of life, it may be time to bring back the Tories.

Arab oil.

On the foreign front, Nixon made one decision after another that destroyed American dominance of world oil. This was a sophisticated system that had operated for decades under the control of the great multinational oil companies. Most of them — Exxon, Gulf, Mobil, SoCal and Texaco — were rooted in America.

They had a legitimate title to the oil they owned under long-term contracts. After all, they had discovered the oil, drilled for it, developed it, refined it, distributed it and marketed it. They had also taken all the risks.

The OPEC governments, which had played no active role whatever, were collecting three-fourths of the profits — hardly the exploitation that Arab militants liked to fulminate about.

Meanwhile, the whole world benefitted from the system, which provided all the oil the world needed at around $1.20 for a 42-gallon barrel of crude. The greatest beneficiary was the Third World, which was using cheap oil to rise out of destitution.

As the protector of the Western family of industrial nations since World War II, the United States had always interceded if any government laid hands on the oil companies or unilaterally tore up agreements upon which the West depended for oil.

Washington was fully justified in using every lawful means to see that those agreements were kept and to block any coalition that tried to contrive fake shortages to drive up prices. I am not talking here about the use of military force — only the use of those economic, commercial and diplomatic sanctions that are traditionally used against those who violate their commercial agreements.

Nixon should have used the foreign policy tools available to him to maintain oil stability and protect oil security. Instead he used his foreign policy tools against stability. He reversed the oil policies of his predecessors in the White House without bothering to study why the existing oil order was essential to the welfare of the Western world.

Seminole, Rams In 2 Blockbusters

The biggest basketball game of this young season will be at Lake Mary High School tonight at 8 (junior varsity at 6:15) when coach Bill Moore's Lady Rams host coach Ron Merthie Fighting Seminoles.

The game will touch off two nights of great basketball action as the boys will follow suit Tuesday. The girls split two games last year and both squads have all their stars back from last year.

Seminole has a quicker attack, featuring the strong inside attack of 6-2 Dleide Hillery and the outside firepower of guards Mona Benton and Maxine Campbell.

Lake Mary relies on the 6-2 "Glass Towers" — Laura and Peggy — and plays a slower-paced game. Point guard Lisa Gregory is the steady influence while the outside gunnery is done by junior Kim Averill and senior Michelle Swartz.

Give the Seminoles the edge in speed, but the Rams are better balanced and play under more control.

Two other games dot the girls' schedule tonight as Lyman travels to Lake Howell and Apopka visits Lake Brantley.

Tuesday's boys' matchup will be another one of quickness and inside strength, although the roles will be reversed. Coach Chris Marlette's Seminoles return all but two players from a 22-win season last winter. Willie Mitchell, a 6-3 all-state prospect, is devastating with his turnaround jumper and quick step inside.

Mitchell and his half of the Sanford program tuned up for Tuesday's game by dropping the other half in the Orange-Black intrasquad game Friday afternoon by a 59-50 count.

The winners were coached by this sports writer while the losers suffered under the misguided direction of that fellow who works for the day-old advertising supplement in Sanford.

Lake Mary, meanwhile, has good quickness with Fred Miller and Darryl Merthie along with a good shooting eye in 6-3 Billy Dunn.

Lost amid the jubilation of the Florida Gators 53-14 victory over Florida State was the news that bad news from the NCAA is coming for coach Charley Pell and his juniors, sophomores, freshmen and future Gators.

The word is that Florida will be given a three-year probation by the NCAA for wrongdoings in its football program which has been under scrutiny for a while now. Along with the three years, Florida will not be able to be on television, will not be able to go to a bowl and will have its yearly scholarship reduced by 10.

Florida has already been told its violations exceed that of Clemson, which received a two-year slap from the NCAA.

Pell, as most you know, was the culprit at Clemson before fleeing to greener pastures at Gainesville.

Charley is about as south geographically as he can get. Rumors have him motoring to the University of Cuba after the Gainesville faithful grow tired of the NCAA sanctions.

Sounds like "Year of the Gator" will have to wait a few more years later.

Pass-Happy 49ers Find Run In Time To Bop Buccaneers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco's running game, the type coach Bill Walsh visualized way back in training camp, finally has come together, and maybe in the nick of time to win the usually pass-happy 49ers a spot in the NFC playoffs.

Ever since Walsh became the 49ers' head coach and general manager, he has been trying to find a pair of runners to balance the offense.

Pro Football

In Wendell Tyler and Roger Craig, it looks like at long last he has solved the problem. You would think so, at least, to watch the 49ers Sunday in their 35-21 victory over the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

Tyler carried the ball 16 times for 102 yards and Craig 15 for 71 yards, including three touchdowns, to key the victory the 49ers had to have to stay alive in the NFC West. Now they are 8-6 and tied for first in the division race with the Los Angeles Rams, who could have put a lock on things with a victory over the Philadelphia Eagles. But the Rams bowed to Philadelphia to slip into a tie with the 49ers.

After Sunday's play, both the 49ers and Rams are 7-4 against conference rivals but in division play, Los Angeles has an edge 4-1 to 4-2.

All five San Francisco touchdowns against the Bucs came on runs, making it two weeks in a row the 49ers have failed to score a touchdown on a pass. One of the TDs against the Bucs was scored by Joe Montana, who has 21 TD passes, when he ran 12 yards. Bill Ring scored the other San Francisco TD on a 3-yard run.

Craig's touchdowns covered 14, 9 and 1 yards. It easily was his best game of the season, which is his first as a pro. He was San Francisco's first-round draft choice last spring.

"I can't remember when we ever rushed for five touchdowns," Walsh said of Sunday's play. In all, the 49ers ran the ball 40 times for 227 yards while Montana had 21 completions in 31 attempts for 227 yards.

After the Bears beat the 49ers last week, some Chicago players claimed the San Francisco offense was predictable. Not so coach John McKay of the Bucs, who isn't exactly a Bears fan.

Craig's first two touchdowns came in the second quarter and gave the 49ers a 14-7 lead, which became 21-7 at the start of the second half when Montana scrambled 12 yards for a touchdown. Ring also scored in the third quarter and Craig got his third TD in the final period.

All three Tampa Bay TDs came on passes by Jack Thompson. He threw 9 yards to Theo Bell in the second quarter, 74 yards to Kevin House in the third and 3 yards to Melvin Carver in the fourth. In all, Thompson completed 25 of 46 passes for 337 yards. Six of them went to House, who had 156 reception yards in a fine individual performance.

Flawless Gators Flatten FSU

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Florida's lopsided 53-14 whipping of rival Florida State left fans shaking their heads and asking questions.

Are the Gators that good? Are the Seminoles that bad? Iowa and North Carolina surely would like to know.

The Hawkeyes play 11th-ranked Florida, 8-2-1, in the Gator Bowl on Dec. 30 in Jacksonville. The Tar Heels meet Florida State, 6-5, in the Peach Bowl in Atlanta that same afternoon.

Saturday's shocking final score certainly gives Iowa and North Carolina something to chew on.

"It was a surprising win," said Florida Coach Charley Pell, who has won his last three meetings with Florida State. "It was one of the great victories we've been associated with at the University of Florida."

For Florida State, it was literally a bad dream.

"I'm embarrassed," said Florida State Coach Bobby Bowden. "We're lucky it wasn't a hundred."

Said Seminole cornerback Steve Bloodworth, "It was like a nightmare to me. I kept wondering when I'd wake up and find out we really weren't being beaten so bad."

College Football

Florida was nearly flawless, running up more than 500 yards in total offense. Wayne Peace threw for 190 yards and became the top all-time Southeastern Conference quarterback with 616 completions. Four running backs — Neal Anderson, Lorenzo Hampton, Joe Henderson and John L. Williams — each rushed for more than 50 yards.

When Florida's offense sputtered, walk-on Bobby Raymond was there to kick six field goals, which set a school record and tied an NCAA mark.

The Gator defense was equally impressive, holding the Seminoles 20 points below their scoring average. Florida State's second and final touchdown came against Florida reserves with 4:45 left in the game.

Pell would like to bottle the magic the Gators displayed Saturday before a Florida Field record crowd of 74,113.

"I wish I knew," said Pell when asked what his club did special against the Seminoles. "We'd do it more often."

To Florida safety Tony Lilly, it was simple.

"There was no secret," said the senior. "It was just a matter of every player on the team saying, 'I'm going to beat the man in front of me.'"

"We were looking for respect. National respect. The game was on national TV, and we wanted people all over the nation to see us."

The Seminoles hope no one was looking.

Raymond kicked field goals of 33, 33, 20, 46, 42 and 31 yards to tie an NCAA single-game field goal record and eclipse the school record of five set by Brian Clark in 1981.

In all, six Seminole turnovers — two fumbles and four interceptions — led directly to Gator scores.

Quarterback Kelly Lowrey, making his first appearance in nearly a month after knee surgery, accounted for Florida State's first score with a 33-yard touchdown pass to Jessie Hester. Junior Greg Allen ran 32 yards for the other Seminole touchdown in the final period.

It was the most lopsided victory for the Gators over the Seminoles since a 49-0 win in 1973.

The Gators jumped on top 10-0 in the first quarter, lengthened the advantage to 20-6 at halftime and scored 20 unanswered points in the third quarter to put the game away.

Florida took the opening kickoff and drove to the Florida State 1 before a field goal try was thwarted by a strong Seminole rush.

The rest of the Gators' afternoon was more successful.

Allen fumbled on the Seminoles' third offensive play and Peace snatched five from the 1 for his first touchdown five plays later. A second fumble by Allen led to Raymond's first field goal, the 33-yarder with 36 seconds left in the first quarter.

Lowrey replaced starting quarterback Bob Davis for the Seminoles early in the second quarter and promptly hit Hester with a scoring pass to keep Florida State close.

But Raymond added another 33-yard field goal, and after linebacker Wilber Marshall picked off a Lowrey pass at the Seminole 35, Peace directed the Gators to the 5 and then scored on a keeper.

Ricky Eason intercepted another Lowrey pass 4:10 before intermission and Raymond kicked a 20-yard field goal to give the Gators their 23-6 halftime lead.

The score was 46-6 before the Seminoles scored again on Allen's run with 4:45 to play.

Jacobs, Falcons Control Raiders

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Seminole Community College's Raiders dug themselves a big hole Saturday night and, although they put on a furious comeback, couldn't climb out of it in time to overcome the Florida College Falcons who handed SCC its second straight defeat, 80-74, at the SCC Health Center.

Florida College led by as many as 21 points in the second half.

J.C. Basketball

but SCC rallied to within a point before Donald Jacobs took over and led the Falcons to victory. Jacobs, a 6-5 forward, scored seven of his game-high 30 points in the final three minutes of the game after the Raiders had shaved the Falcons' lead to one, 68-67.

A frigid shooting night and Florida College's domination inside were the biggest factors in the Raiders' loss. SCC shot a meager 41 percent (30 of 73) from the floor while Florida College blasted the nets for 63 percent (31 of 49), most coming on layups or short jumpers.

SCC, 6-4, hosts Lake Sumter Community College Tuesday night at 7:30 and plays in the Brevard CC Tournament on Friday and Saturday. Florida College upped its record to 7-4.

The Raiders, still flat after a loss to the Eckert junior varsity on Friday night, stumbled out of the blocks Saturday and Florida College built a 10-point lead, 23-13, midway through the first half. The Falcons took a 11-point lead, 42-31, by halftime.

The Falcons connected on 18 of 27 shots from the floor in the first half compared to 13 of 32 for the Raiders. The Falcons did most of the damage inside, where 12 of its 18 field goals were made.

SCC's shooting went from cold to below freezing in the opening moments of the second half. SCC missed its first five shots and seven of its first 10. Meanwhile, Florida College continued to sizzle, connecting on five of its first seven shots and the Falcons built a 21-point lead, 56-35, at 16:05 in the second half.

With Florida College leading, 57-37, the Raiders caught fire and reeled off 10 straight points to cut the Falcons' lead in half, 57-47, with 10:55 left to play. SCC made its second surge with eight minutes left and Florida College holding a 62-52 lead.

A layup by Jimmy Payton with 7:47 remaining cut the Falcons' lead under 10, 62-54, for the first time since late in the first half. With 4:52 remaining, Payton converted a pair of free throws to cut Florida College's lead to two points, 64-62.

Former Oak Ridge standout Fred Callaway put Florida College up by four points, but Bernard Merthie came back to hit a layup and was fouled in the process. Merthie's free throw pulled the Raiders to within one point, 66-65, with 4:22 remaining.

With Florida College still clinging to a one-point lead, 68-67, Jacobs rose to the occasion. Jacobs scored five straight points to put the Falcons back up by six, 73-67, with 2:20 left in the game. SCC pulled to within three points with 1:54 remaining, but could get no closer.

Jacobs hit 12 of 16 shots from the floor and 6 of 8 from the free throw line. Behind his 30 points for Florida College, Greg Gillman and Tom Deplula had 12 points apiece and Callaway added 11.

Delvin Everett led SCC with 20 points. Payton added 14. Luis Phelps 15 and Merthie 12. Lenny Grace, who hit 7 of 10 shots Friday night, was 0 for 8 from the floor Saturday.

FLORIDA COLLEGE (80) — Callaway 5-7 1-4 11, Jacobs 12-16 6-8 30, Smith 3-5 0-0 6, Gillman 2-6 8-10 12, Wagner 1-4 3-5 5, Deplula 6-9 0-2 12, Newton 1-1 0-0 2, Wiggs 1-1 0-0 2. Totals: 31-49 (63%) 18-28 (64%) 80.

It proved to be three rainy nights in Georgia for the SCC women's basketball team. The Lady Raiders, who lost to Brunswick Junior College Thursday night, dropped games Friday and Saturday to fall to 4-8 for the season.

On Friday, SCC blew a 40-33 halftime lead en route to a 72-68 setback to Douglas. Juana Coletti tossed in 17 points and Pam Lee totaled 16 for the Lady Raiders. Pam Winterheimer added eight.

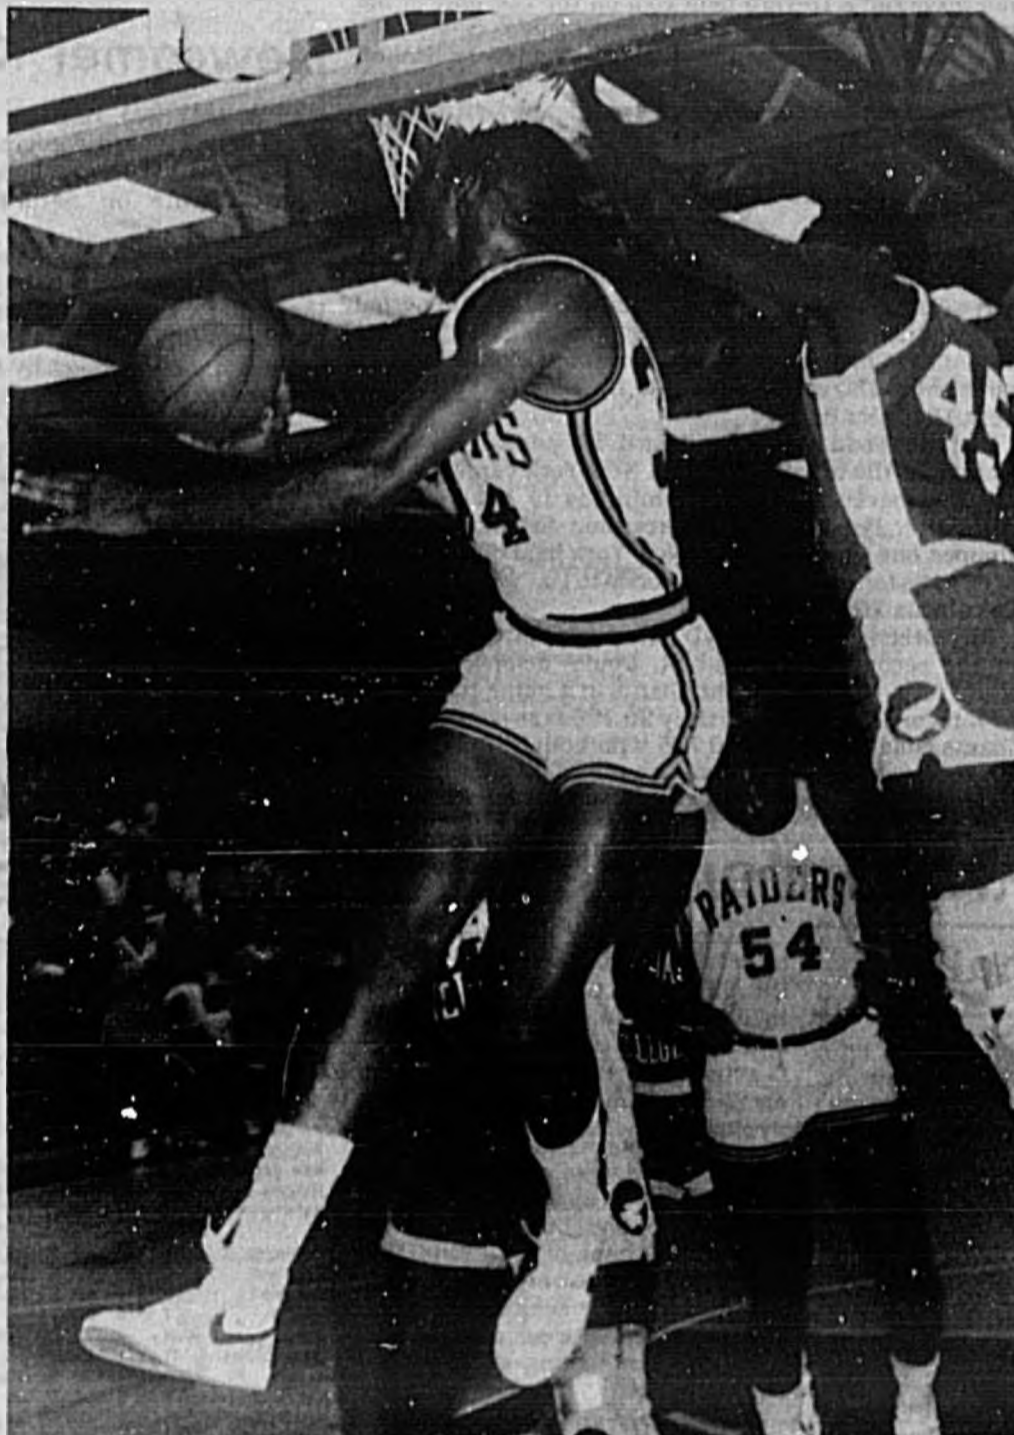

On Saturday, Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College hammered SCC, 77-56. Coletti again led the way with 12 points while Kim Ross added a dozen, too. Carolyn Brinkley tallied nine while Val Roessler hauled down 11 rebounds.

Abraham Baldwin opened up a 28-23 halftime lead and then blew away the Lady Raiders in the second half.

SCC tries to snap its losing streak Tuesday when it hosts Edison at 5 p.m. at the SCC Health Center.

SCC forward Delvin Everett comes from behind the basket to drop in two points as Florida College forward Tom Deplula arrives too late. Everett accounted for 20 points but the Raiders fell short in a furious second-half comeback to lose, 80-74. Florida College, which SCC beat earlier this year, is the defending state champion. The Raiders, who have lost two straight, try to get on the winning trail again Tuesday against Sumter J.C. Tipoff is 7:30 p.m. at the SCC Health Center.

Leesburg Shoots Down Hawks For Title

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Both Lake Brantley and Lake Howell came out of the Hardee's Patriot Invitational Basketball Tournament with 1-1 records this past weekend as the Patriots atoned for Friday's poor showing by hammering Wy

"do we play any" more basketball Tech while Lake Howell lost the title game to Leesburg.

Sharpshooting Eric Trombo popped for 16 points and "Bad Leroy" Brown added 12 as Brantley rolled to a 38-28 halftime lead en route to an easy 78-48 victory over the visiting O-2 Eatonville five.

In Saturday's championship game, Lake Howell fell behind, 23-17, at halftime and never could catch up, losing, 44-35, to the 3A Yellow Jackets.

On Friday, sophomore Charles Casey was the catalyst as Leesburg disposed of Lake Brantley. Casey, however, was in quick foul trouble Saturday and relinquished his hero's role to tournament MVP Andre Graham, who pumped in 25 points as the Yellow Jackets improved to 2-0 for the season. Casey finished with just four points, but another sophomore — 6-3 center John Cannon — chipped in 12 points to hold off the Hawks.

No Silver Hawk reached double figures. Crockett Bohannon led the attack with eight points while Eric Brooks totaled six. Allen Banyacski, who scored 15 points Friday, had just one Saturday.

Johnson Girls Bury Lions
In other action Saturday night, Tammy Johnson poured in 22 points and Mary Johnson added 21 as Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks hammered Oviedo's Lady Lions, 88-41, at Oviedo High. The Lady Hawks improved to 6-1 for the season while Oviedo fell to 1-3.

Janene Brown added 13 points for Lake Howell which built a 33-point lead by halftime, 58-25, and cruised the rest of the way with all of its players seeing plenty of action. Fayette Robinson, playing her first game of the season, led Oviedo with 14 points and Mary Lokers added 11.

Oviedo coach John Thomas had said that the Lady Lions needed some outside shooting to go with its inside strength. Robinson and Lokers did the job inside Saturday night, but the outside shooting was virtually non-existent. The Lions top two outside shooters, Natalie Barth and Stephanie Nelson, had only five points between them, all by Nelson.

The Lady Hawks are back in action tonight against Lyman at Lake Howell High. Oviedo hosts Orlando Colonial Tuesday night.

Oviedo Grapplers Rip Wymore

Oviedo's wrestling team overpowered undermanned Wymore Tech, 49-18, Saturday for its fourth straight victory of the young season.

The Lions had the victory safely secured before any matches took place as Wymore forfeited in the first five weight divisions.

The Lions will try to make it five in a row Tuesday when they travel to St. Cloud.

Lyman Girls Kick Seminoles

In soccer action Saturday night, Seminole's first-year kickers held powerful Lyman scoreless for the first 28 minutes before falling to the Lady Greyhounds, 11-0, at Lyman High School.

"Holding them (Lyman) scoreless that long was quite an accomplishment," said Seminole coach Suzy Reno. "(Goalie) Sherri Rumber did a great job. She stopped 19 shots, but they were just too strong in the second half."

Lyman held a 3-0 halftime edge before blowing open the game in the final 40 minutes. Sophomore Alyson Barnes kicked in four goals to led the Greyhounds while Diana and Dawn Boyesen, Karen Abernethy, Nancy VanVoohis, Sheila Mandy, Camela Terry and Lisa Tooke had one apiece.

Woman's Club To Sponsor Children's Christmas Party

The Sabal Point Woman's Club will sponsor a children's Christmas party for all Sabal Point children on Saturday, Dec. 10. The party will be held in the Sabal Point "tot lot," starting at 2:00 p.m.

Club members will serve punch, homemade Christmas cookies and candy canes. Children will have a chance to meet Santa.

Parents interested in having their children attend the party are requested to purchase a gift (under $5) for their own child, wrap it in Christmas paper, write child's full name on it, then drop it off at the home of a club member. The gift will be given to Santa to give to the child. For more information and drop-off sites, call 862-1634, or 788-1950.

The Sweetwater Oaks Garden Club will hold a gala, "Christmas Tree Lighting Ceremony" on Tuesday, Dec. 6, starting at 7:30 p.m. Special guest for the ceremony will include Florida State Representative Art Grindie (who will speak on the "Joys of Christmas"). A seasonal array of Christmas carols will be sung by the Lake Brantley High School Choir.

Festivities begin with the official lighting of the tree, located at the gazebo adjacent to the Sweetwater Oaks entrance on Wekiva Springs Road.

Karen Warner

All area residents and guests are invited to come out and join in on the fun.

During the week of Dec. 5, residents of Sabal Point can catch a glimpse of the Sabal Point Garden Club members busily decorating the new 23-foot holiday cedar tree that the club is donating as a living contribution to the community.

On Thursday, Dec. 8, a tree lighting and dedication ceremony will take place for the entire community. According to club member Marsha VanEas, the lighting of the tree is to signify the "holiday spirit" of the Sabal Point community.

The Longwood Woman's Club will celebrate the season with a family covered dish Christmas party on Tuesday, Dec. 13. Christmas music and entertainment will be provided by Merle Kent, Ida Cox, Louise Buffalo and Kevin Fowler.

Hostesses for the party will be Marsha Watt, chairman, Aldia Milwee, Eula Scott, and Mary Monas. The party will be held at the clubhouse, at 150 West Church St., starting at 6:30 p.m.

The South Seminole Garden Club will host a Christmas Party for members on Dec. 19, at 12 noon. The party will be a covered dish luncheon hosted by Kay Holms and Santa's helpers.

The party will be held at the Longwood Woman's Club building on West Church Street. Entertainment and games will be enjoyed.

The Longwood Woman's Club's recent Craft Bazaar and White Elephant Sale was "highly successful" according to club president Elda Nichols. "Saturday was great, but on Sunday the rain and windstorm hit and we had to close up," she said.

According to Elda, area children loved the fish pond game the club set up, and the popcorn machine really brought people over.

Items left over from the Bazaar were donated by the club to the Humane Society and the First Pentecostal Church Thrift Shop. The club wishes to thank all those folks who came out and purchased items and Elda would like to thank all the members who worked so hard to make the bazaar a success.

Yard Of The Month

The home and grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Revere, 311 Krider Road, Sanora, has been selected by the Sanora Homeowners Association for the Yard of the Month award. A spokesman said the selection was made due to the overall neatness with lots of color for this time of year.

Loved Ones Must Learn To Let Go Of Grief To Live

DEAR Abby Two years ago I lost my wonderful wife to cancer. "Angie" was 23, and we had been married for only a year. The love we shared was beyond description. I can't imagine myself loving another the way I loved Angie.

Dear Abby

However, time has a way of changing things, and I know there is a God who sees, understands and perhaps may have plans for my future, so I keep my trust in him.

My problem is my mother-in-law. Angie was Mom's only daughter, and during her struggle with cancer, Mom and I developed a very close mother-son relationship. Now that Angie is gone, Mom considers me "all she has left" of her daughter.

I understand her feelings, Abby, but my life must go on. Unfortunately, Mom has grown so dependent on me that I have no opportunity to get interested in anyone else. Friends have offered to fix me up with some nice women, but I don't dare to accept because Mom would be devastated if I started to date. And I hate to think of what would happen if I were to marry again.

So how do I get out of this trap?

ALONE AND LONELY

DEAR ALONE: Your mother-in-law needs to learn how to "let go." First she must let go of her grief so she can let go of you. You could help her by recommending Compassionate Friends, a national support group of parents who have learned how to deal with life's cruellest blow — losing a child. The address is P.O. Box 1347, Oak Brook, Ill. 60521.

You must get on with your life, my friend. Mom may need individual therapy to help her work through her grief, and you need to resume a normal life without feeling trapped or guilty. Good luck and God bless you. The Lord never gives us a heavier load than we can carry.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this for the whole neighborhood. A friendly neighbor of ours just got back from spending a year in a tuberculosis hospital.

She visited my home yesterday, and after she left I sterilized everything she had touched. She hugged my children, and now I'm worried that they might have caught the TB bug from her. Is there any danger? Please hurry your answer.

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: No TB patient is discharged while he or she is contagious. You are far safer in the company of former TB patients than people who have never been tested for it. A discharged TB patient knows that he is "negative" (free of infectious germs). And unless a person has periodic tests, he can never be positive that he is negative.

Nuclear Freeze Proponents Change Tactics

By Jull Cragg
ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The nuclear arms freeze movement is making a move to circumvent President Reagan next year by attacking spending for specific weapons in Congress.

Reagan's only means of preventing congressional suspension of the weapons funds would be to veto the entire defense appropriations bill, said Randy Forsberg, director of the Institute for Defense and Disarmament in Boston.

"It's a way that Congress can take action, no matter what the president does," said Miss Forsberg.

About 550 movement leaders Sunday voted to press Congress to suspend funds for testing nuclear warheads and for testing and deploying ballistic missiles, provided the Soviet Union does the same.

Randall Kehler, national coordinator of the Freeze Campaign, called the activities "the most easily verifiable aspects of a nuclear weapons freeze."

"This is the single most significant step ever taken to halt the threat of nuclear war," he said. "Testing and deployment of these nuclear weapons can easily be verified right now without any complicated negotiations."

Miss Forsberg said the movement hopes to gain strength for its new tactic from more traditional arms control groups, such as the Union of Concerned Scientists and the Arms Control Association, who have been wary of a freeze.

"I think we have a good chance of this being passed in Congress," Miss Forsberg said. "It's going to show us who our real friends are."

The resolution says: "The Campaign will press Congress to enact parts of a comprehensive freeze, such as suspending funds for the testing of nuclear warheads and for the testing and deployment of ballistic missiles, provided the Soviet Union halts the same activities. It is widely recognized that these activities are currently being monitored by both countries with high confidence."

The conference also affirmed its goal of a bilateral freeze on the testing, production and deployment of nuclear weapons as a first step toward reductions in Soviet and U.S. nuclear arsenals.

The movement's leaders voted to continue to press Reagan to himself initiate an immediate halt in testing nuclear warheads and testing and deploying ballistic missiles, provided that the Soviets do the same.

As its legislative strategy, the conference agreed "in light of the president's failure to pursue a bilateral nuclear freeze" to oppose funding for the testing, production and deployment of particular weapon systems, such as the MX, Trident II, cruise and Pershing II missiles and anti-ballistic missiles and anti-satellite systems.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Could Cancer Cause Pain In Underarm?

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have been troubled with fibrocystic disease of the breasts for almost four years. I am 30 years old. For the last six months I have had fleeting pain under my arms, but no swelling. I have had my annual physical and my doctor says it's nothing to worry about.

results obtained from the longer effort.

The pain is not constant. It almost feels like it's coming from a cyst. Is this normal, in your opinion? I have read that if your lymph nodes are cancerous, your survival rate drops. Please tell me what could be causing this new pain.

DEAR DR. LAMB — When I was 20 I had a very painful inflammation and acute swelling of the right testicle. The physician prescribed rest with ice packs until swelling ceased.

After the swelling went down the right testicle became soft and much smaller than the left one and was sensitive to touch.

Usually, lymph nodes from early cancer are not painful. In a way it is too bad that cancer of the breast isn't painful from the start of the first abnormal cell; that way those cancerous cells could be found earlier.

Now I'm in my 50s, but still experience some discomfort. What was the probable cause and is there any treatment that could now be used to reverse any debilitation or discomfort?

DEAR READER — Mumps can cause such inflammation, even if there are no other signs of mumps. But other viruses also can cause similar findings.

I cannot tell you what your fleeting pain is, but you should know that pain can be referred along nerves to distant areas from the real problem. It may be related to your fibrocystic disease. Or it may not be related to your breasts at all.

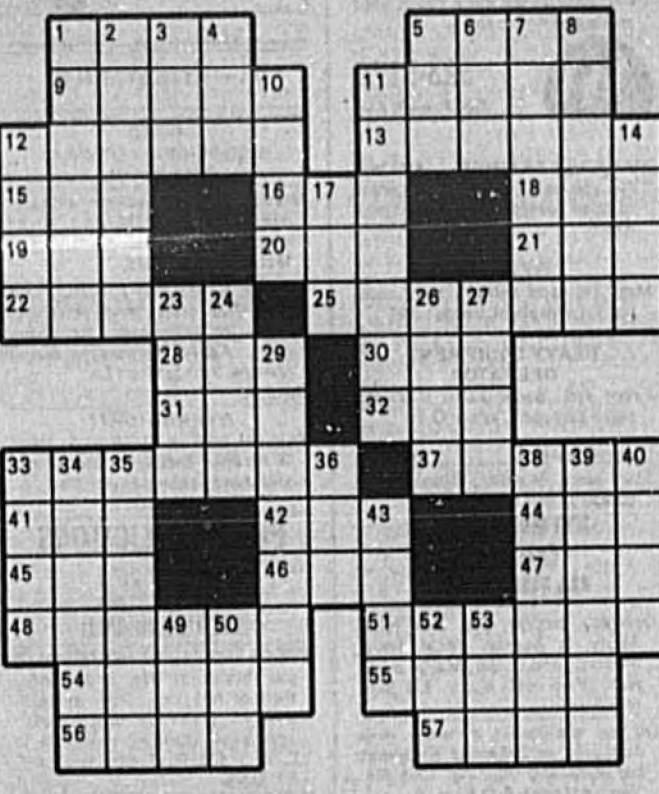

You could have had a bacterial inflammation of the tubules near the body of the testicle, called epididymitis, in which case you might have been given antibiotics.

Fibrocystic disease occurs mostly in young women in the childbearing years. Breast cancer occurs most often, but not always, in women after menopause.

Atrophy may occur from the viral action directly on the body of the testicle or from lack of circulation to the testicle caused by the acute swelling. Now, more than 30 years later, there is not much that can or needs to be done. If one testicle becomes atrophic, the other testicle usually enlarges to compensate for any loss of function. Compensatory enlargement may also occur after surgical removal of one.

There are studies that show fibrocystic disease may improve or disappear in women who stop all caffeine as found in coffee, tea and colas, and also stop smoking entirely. You may need to stay on such a program for at least a year. Short-term efforts may not provide the same ruffed high, led a trump to dummy's ace, ruffed the last low club, led another trump to dummy and one back to his own hand, and led a heart. West played the jack to dummy's king. Now South thought awhile and cashed the last trump and the king of clubs to come to a four-card ending in which he held K-x of diamonds and Q-x of hearts.

Oswald: "West was stone-cold dead since if he came down to two diamonds, South would lead a diamond to the king, while if he came down to one heart to hold three diamonds, a low heart play would also hold him to just two tricks. Did you point out to South that he had tried to chuck the contract?"

Jim: "He was so happy and proud when he described his triumph that I didn't have the heart to tell him that when he led that low heart, West could have hopped up with the ace and led a heart back to leave South with two diamond losers, but that a diamond lead to the queen instead of that heart lead would have left West with no way to save the rubber."
