Lounge application approved

LONGWOOD — The Longwood City Commission approved the application for the Plus Three Lounge to open for business in the TG and Y Plaza, located at the intersection of U.S. Highway 17-92 and State Road 434.

Controversy began to stir when the commission rejected the lounge request this summer.

"The city commission rejected their application at that time," acting City Administrator Don Terry said, "but they have reapplied."

Despite protests of various church groups and residents in the immediate area, the commission approved the application at Monday night's meeting by a 5-to-3 margin.

"This was the new board that heard the case this time," Terry said.

Commissioners Gary Hester and Paul Lovestrand were seated on the commission in September. They ousted former Mayor Gene Farach and former Deputy Mayor Jeff Morton, who had both opposed the Plus Three request.

Price war cuts gasoline to 97.9

HAGERSTOWN, Ind. — The Persian Gulf crisis hasn't inflated everyone's gasoline prices.

Motorists in eastern Indiana are swarming to three service stations in Hagerstown for gasoline prices as low as 97.9 cents a gallon, thanks to a competition between two companies.

The Swiftly Gas & Oil Co. is selling unleaded regular for 97.9 cents a gallon and so is one of the Gas America Services stations.

"We've had people coming from 25 and 30 miles away," Swiftly's manager said.

Lake Mary lights up as best decorated homes are chosen

By LACY DOMEN Herald People Editor

LAKE MARY — Lake Mary homeowners vying for the Community Improvement Association's holiday title "Best Decorated House" have hung decorations and strung lights until the three top winners were announced yesterday. The top two winners even worked on displays together.

"It's a new tradition. CIA board members, their children, spouses and grandchildren rode around looking for the top three picks," CIA President Randy Morris said.

Although thieves whisked away a yard display of penguins and clowns, votes unanimously favored Jim and Dorothy Nipper's Main Road home.

"It was a human tragedy somebody stole some of their stuff. Some of the judges saw the display before the theft, and some saw it after. They still won," Morris said.

Dorothy said the couple spent some time mourning the loss, but said the tradition of unusual holiday displays would continue at the Nippers.

"We've done this for many years and we'll have even more next year. It's great. It's nice to have been chosen number one in spite of our loss. It's not going to get our spirits down," she said.

"But spirits got a lift yesterday when Weldon Road residents Pam Maxwell and Dusty Brooks drove up to the Nippers home with the missing clowns in tow. Brooks and Maxwell found the clowns in a field across from their home. They had admired the Nipper's display and had observed the sign in the Nipper yard explaining the theft.

"They drove up and asked if we were missing some clowns like these," Nipper said. "We touched them up a little, and they're right back where they were."

The penguins are still missing, but Dorothy said she may search for them later today in the same field where the clowns were found.

Second place winners, Kenneth and Charlotte Arthur, are Main Road neighbors of the Nippers. The two couples collaborated on

County proposes top boss

'Take charge' manager mulls off-rejected job

By J. MARK BARFIELD Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Now the wait begins. Seminole County commissioners have failed in two previous attempts during the last 13 months to hire a new county manager despite unanimous enthusiasm for their choices. Both candidates backed down after making initial positive comments about working for the county.

Now comes Ron Rabun, the "take charge" city manager of Clearwater, Fla. Commissioners unanimously agreed Tuesday to offer Rabun the job, which will pay between $80,000 and $100,000 annually. Rabun was also the majority favorite of the county's executive review committee, comprised of business leaders, homeowner's representatives and chaired by Volusia County's personnel director.

Ron Rabun

Four of the seven committee members ranked Rabun at the top of their list. He was ranked second behind other candidates by two other panel members.

And Rabun said Tuesday he saw no obstacles to his acceptance.

"Mostly, they are largely technical issues remaining," Rabun said Tuesday afternoon. "I think the salary will be OK. We'll see in a few days. But I don't see anything that could be a deal-breaker."

Commissioners were hopeful they have selected a qualified manager — one who will take the job.

"I feel real comfortable because of the fact he has been asked by several different people in several different ways about the seriousness of his interest in the position," said commission chairman Fred Streetman. "I sat down with him and gained his assurance that barring any terms that can't be reached in the contract, he is serious about accepting the job."

Santa unmasked: he works in Christmas

By LAURA L. SULLIVAN Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Every year, the Sanford Post Office handles about 100 letters that carry no zip code, often bear no postage, and whose envelopes show the same address scrawled by hands just learning to write: The North Pole.

Sanford Postmaster Fred Rader said the Christmas season normally brings about 100 letters to Santa Claus to the Sanford branch of the Post Office, although he said he has seen few this year.

In Lake Mary, newly appointed Postmaster Robert Borak said he has seen no letters to St. Nick since he assumed his post earlier this month. But, he says, he has instructions to send any correspondence to Santa to a central location designated by the Post Office.

From Sanford and Lake Mary, letters to Santa are shipped to a destination much warmer than the North Pole. All such letters are sent to the Post Office in Christmas, Fla., located in east Orange County.

In Christmas, where the Post Office is swamped this time of year with hordes of people who want the "Christmas" postmark on their stacks of Christmas cards, the letters are placed in the box of Jack James.

James, 66, has been playing Santa for 22 years. He reads and responds to every letter — footing the bill for stationery and postage.

He said postage costs him about $250 a year, plus another $200 for a batch of 6,000 cards.

This year he has received 1,400 letters from across the United States and from as far away as Estonia. Most of the letters, however, are from Sanford, Longwood, Casselberry, Apopka and Orlando, he said. He answers them all.

Workplace not so merry for employees: report

By DAVID E. ANDERSON United Press International

WASHINGTON — Calling the lack of civil liberties in the workplace a "national scandal," the American Civil Liberties Union called for a Bill of Rights for Employees to protect workers exercising their constitutional rights.

According to a report prepared by Lewis Maltby, coordinator of a special task force to examine workers' rights, the fundamental values protected by the Constitution's Bill of Rights virtually stop at the factory gate and office lobby.

From the basic right of freedom of speech to the more sophisticated right to due process, the ACLU study found that American workers enjoy virtually none of the protections that are taken for granted in daily life.

"There is a crisis in the workplace of a magnitude unseen in many decades," Maltby said Tuesday.

While the report said that organized labor and unions provide some protection for workers, it also noted that only 16 percent of American workers now belong to a union and most existing labor agreements do not include adequate protections.

According to the report:

Cuban refugees rescued

MIAMI — A total of 28 Cuban refugees on boats were either rescued by the Coast Guard or made it to the United States on their own Tuesday, the year's largest one-day total.

The first group of eight was spotted at about 11:45 a.m. Tuesday in a 12-foot boat made of wood and fiberglass. There were six men, one woman and one child aboard. The vessel was found about 5 miles south of the Seven Mile Bridge.

The second group of 13 refugees was found about 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, 3 miles east of the bridge.

That 20-foot wooden vessel, which had a makeshift sail, was carrying seven men, two women and four children.

Two more Cuban men were rescued from a small dinghy shortly after the second group was found. The two refugees were spotted by a motorboat 17 miles southwest of Key West.

The fourth group, three Cuban men, arrived at Key West about 6:15 p.m. on a 31-foot fishing vessel and contacted the Coast Guard to request political asylum. The three men were turned over to immigration authorities.

So far this year, the Coast Guard has rescued 428 Cubans, compared with 391 last year.

State water management proposed

CLEARWATER — Two state lawmakers have proposed creating a statewide water management authority that would emphasize conservation and making saltwater drinkable.

Major parts of the plan include charging fees on water usage, financially rewarding those who conserve and an intrastate pipeline to carry water from one end of Florida to the other, said R. Z. "Sandy" Safley, R-Clearwater.

Formulating a statewide water policy is long overdue, said Safley and Jeff Huentink, R-St. Petersburg. Too many regional water districts and state agencies are making decisions about the critical resource, they said.

Water is expected to be a major issue facing the Legislature when it convenes for its two-month session March 5.

Auditors pose Lottery inquiry

TALLAHASSEE — State auditors are asking Lottery Secretary Rebecca Paul to justify spending more than $3,568 to send 13,000 Christmas cards bearing the Lottery's pink flamingo logo to lottery retailers.

Comptroller Gerald Lewis delayed payment Tuesday of an invoice from the printer for the cards, which lottery employees hand-delivered to retailers this month. The Lottery is the only department in state government sending greeting cards.

Lewis said the expense was poorly timed, coming as state government braces for $270 million in budget cuts, the second round of cuts this fiscal year. He also asked why the department's card list increased from 2,000 cards two years ago at a cost of $728.

The cards say, "Holiday Cheer and a lucky new year."

'Geraldo' is criminal inspiration

PALM BAY — A young woman charged with robbing a Palm Bay bank said she and her boyfriend were inspired by bank robbers featured on the "Geraldo" television show.

According to police reports, the woman wrote a note demanding money, presented it to a teller and left the First Union National Bank with $2,200. A witness identified the getaway car as the suspect's mother's.

Kathleen Meka, 19, surrendered to Orange County sheriff's officials over the weekend and was being held without bond. The whereabouts of her 26-year-old boyfriend are unknown.

Meka told investigators that she and her boyfriend were watching a Dec. 12 episode of the controversial television program starring Geraldo Rivera. The show that day featured bank robbers and embezzlers. Her boyfriend remarked how easy it would be to pull a bank job.

"She is a victim," asserted her lawyer, Joel Remland. "She's 19, easily influenced, and here she is being coerced by her boyfriend because of this irresponsible, sensational, yellow journalism."

Florida joins suit over drug marketing

TALLAHASSEE — Florida joined 21 other states Tuesday in a lawsuit accusing two drug companies of illegally driving up the costs of a new treatment for schizophrenia. Attorney General Bob Butterworth announced.

Civil complaints were filed in U.S. District Court in New York against Sandoz Pharmaceuticals Corp., manufacturer of the drug Clozaril, and Caremark Inc., the drug's U.S. distributor, Butterworth said.

The civil complaints allege the companies violated state and federal antitrust laws by linking drug sales to the sale of blood testing and other services.

The suits seek and end to the marketing arrangement and triple the amount of damages the states assert the arrangement caused. Florida is also seeking $1 million in damages for each violation of state antitrust law.

Second budget freeze ordered

Chiles aides say 'turkeys' to be sliced during $270 million cuts

By MICHAEL BOLINE
United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. Bob Martinez and the Cabinet ordered Tuesday the second freeze of the fiscal year on hiring, travel and purchasing for state government, pending $270 million in budget cuts next month.

Martinez and the Cabinet also ignored protests by legislative leaders and voted to let school districts dip into special-purpose accounts to spare basic education programs from budget cuts.

Additionally, aides to Gov.-elect Lawton Chiles signaled the incoming administration's intent to cut special interest programs, called "turkeys," to ease the pain of the impending budget cuts on vital state services.

Chiles budget aide Doug Cook warned the new governor is still likely to target ongoing programs for budget cuts. Collections of the sales and corporate taxes that comprise the primary funding source of such recurring programs have fallen off dramatically because of the lagging economy.

Barring meaningful budget reform, Cook said, "We'll be back here again on a quarterly basis" making additional spending cuts.

"Therefore, our highest priority is to reduce recurring programs," Cook said.

Martinez and the Cabinet also froze hiring, travel and purchasing in advance of the $262 million in budget cuts they ordered in October for the $27 billion budget for the fiscal year ending June 30.

A vote on the new round of cuts, expected to amount to about $270 million, is scheduled for Jan. 10, two days after Chiles assumes office.

Florida TaxWatch, a non-partisan government watchdog, has estimated the price tag for various "turkeys" in the state budget at more than $300 million. It is unknown how much of that money remains unspent and therefore could be subject to cuts.

Chiles intends to cut those projects wherever possible, spokesman Rob Anderson said.

House Speaker T.K. Wetherell said cutting the projects won't make the state's general revenues any more recession-resistant.

But it would help the state through the immediate crisis, said Anderson.

Last spring, the Legislature voted to raise $1.5 billion through a variety of new taxes, including higher gasoline levies and fees for motorists. But most of that new money has been offset by the losses to general revenues.

The public schools' share of the cuts amounts to about $170 million. Meanwhile, educators have complained, millions of dollars that could help offset cuts to school budgets are unused in special "categorical" accounts.

Martinez and the Cabinet voted unanimously to let local school boards shift up to 5 percent of the available categorical money, or about $3 million, to use as they see fit.

School district officials had likened the situation to having money in the bank, but being prohibited from spending it on anything other than house-related expenses when the family car is what needs fixing.

"We're into extraordinary circumstances and they have taken extraordinary action," said David Voss, spokesman for Commissioner of Education Betty Castor.

The Legislature has set up about 50 such categorical accounts since 1973 to finance special programs including pre-school education.

Judge pleads no contest to sex charges

United Press International

TAMPA — A former Tampa judge pleaded no contest Tuesday to charges of distributing cocaine to teenage girls in exchange for sex, after a court ruled police had legally obtained a homemade video of the encounters.

Circuit Judge Manuel Menendez scheduled sentencing for ex-Circuit Court Judge Louis Tidwell, 52, on 29 felony charges stemming from the sexual liaisons for Jan. 29.

Circuit Judge Manuel Menendez rejected defense claims that police invaded Tidwell's privacy when they obtained a search warrant for his residence where they discovered the videotape.

State prosecutors said the tape showed Tidwell smoking crack cocaine and engaging in sex with two girls aged 14 and 15 between 1987-89. Tidwell was arrested Oct. 18, 1989, and removed from the bench.

Defense attorney Bob Polli said Tidwell pleaded no contest in order to "reserve the right to appeal and avoid the embarrassment of a trial."

Poll said Judge Menendez's decision to allow Tidwell to take the case to an appellate court, which is an unusual procedure, was granted "because the reasons for the appeal are not frivolous."

The appeal would not affect the original sentencing, Polli insisted there was no physical or psychological damage to the victims and that the girls consented to the sexual relations.

"She lied about her age and accepted money," Polli said. "The facts of the case are horrible. He's pleading no contest to facts on the video."

Prosecutors said their case was not solely based on the video and included the testimony of witnesses against Tidwell.

Mars exploration on tap for NASA

United Press International

WASHINGTON — NASA Administrator Richard Truly announced Tuesday he would implement two recommendations made by a White House panel appointed to study the future of the space agency.

Truly said he would create a new Office of Exploration and create the position of associate administrator to oversee the office, which will initially develop options to return to the moon and explore Mars.

In addition, Truly said he would create a new Office of Human Resources to ensure that NASA has all necessary personnel.

Both moves were recommended by the 12-member Advisory Committee on the Future of the U.S. Space program, which was formed in July to study the nation's space program and issued its final report Dec. 10.

The report makes a range of recommendations for NASA, which has come under fire due to a streak of problems, including the defective Hubble Space Telescope and the grounding of the space shuttle by fuel leaks.

In a holiday message to employees, Truly pledged to "move out aggressively across the board" on all of the panel's recommendations, including the recommendation to develop a new rocket to take over many of the space shuttle's duties.

Truly appointed Donald Puddy, director of flight crew operations at the Johnson Space Center in Houston, to lead a team to determine how best to implement the recommendations.

'Extra-absorbent' diaper won't let baby absorb robbers' bullet

United Press International

TAMPA — A woman claims an extra-thick diaper may have saved her 10-month-old baby from a masked gunman's bullet.

Grace Ford, 20, said two masked robbers burst into her house in Riverview late Sunday and demanded money. She was sitting in a front room with her baby, Brandi, who was in a playpen.

When Elka, the family's Rotweiler dog, began barking at the intruders, one fired three shots at the animal, according to sheriff's deputies.

All three shots missed the dog but one apparently put a hole in Brandi's diaper.

Ford said that when she picked up the crying infant, she found a bullet hole in the diaper. The bullet could not be found.

"There was about an inch left to the diaper that it didn't pierce," Ford said. "They were extra thick."

"She cried when the shots were fired, but when I picked her up she was fine," Ford said of her daughter.

Ford said her 16-year-old slater, Cynthia Phillips, answered a knock on the door and the two men pushed it open.

"They yelled, 'Freeze, police,'" Ford said. That was when they shot at Elka.

The robbers pushed Ford, her sister and daughter from room to room and took about $5,000 in jewelry.

Neighbors heard the shots and summoned sheriff's deputies, but the gunmen escaped in a car that had been waiting in a nearby cemetery, according to investigators.

The gunmen were described as Caucasian, 18 to 20 years old, and of medium height and weight. One wore a ski mask and jogging pants with the letters "UF" on the side. The other wore a white shirt with a baseball cap.

Few addicted babies sought for treatment

United Press International

Sheer racism, not to mention the color of money, is thwarting efforts to track and treat the escalating numbers of infants born to drug-addicted mothers, a leading expert in perinatal addiction warned Tuesday.

Research and interviews indicate many physicians are reluctant to report or even look for drug-abuse among pregnant women who are white and of a similar social standing, said Dr. Ira Chasnoff, president of the National Association for Perinatal Addiction Research and Education.

"It's not just the racial issues, it's the social class issues," Chasnoff told a group of health care professionals in San Antonio.

POLICE BRIEFS

Robbery suspect nabbed

SANFORD — City police who Tuesday afternoon caught a suspect in a Dec. 13 robbery, said they found cocaine in the man's pocket.

Raymond O'Neal Curry Jr., 23, 52 William Clark Court, Sanford, is charged with armed robbery, aggravated battery and possession of cocaine. He was arrested near his house.

Police said that during the robbery the victim was hit in the face with a bottle and robbed after the suspect allegedly offered to sell him a television for $20.

Arrest made in burglary

SANFORD — A second suspect has been charged with armed burglary and grand theft in connection with the theft of guns from a burglarized house at 407 Willow Ave., Sanford, in September.

Sanford police arrested Jeffery Scot Pruth, 21, 612 Mellonville Ave., Sanford, at 8:05 p.m. Tuesday after questioning at the police station. Monday police arrested Paul Strickland, 19, of Sanford, in connection with the same case.

Man wounded in shotgun blast

SANFORD — A 21-year-old Lake Monroe man wounded by a shotgun blast to the eye, neck and upper torso last night in Lake Monroe, has been transferred to Shands Hospital in Gainesville.

A spokesman for Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford said today that shortly after he was wounded, Eric Eugene Menefee, 1280 Dunbar Ave., Lake Monroe, was brought to the emergency room there. But, possibly because of the injury to his eye, he was almost immediately airlifted to Gainesville.

Menefee was involved in a shootout outside his house at about 6 p.m. Tuesday, which was part of an on-going feud, Seminole County Sheriff's Sgt. Billy Lee said.

According to a sheriff's report an 18-year-old man and a boy arrived at Menefee's house to continue an argument. As the two youths drove away, Menefee allegedly fired pistol shots at their car. Shotgun fire was returned from the car and Menefee was wounded, Lee said. The youths were not wounded. Deputies have the name of a possible suspect, but no arrest was reported this morning.

Asteroid to cross star over Florida

United Press International

GAINESVILLE — The heavens will wink at Florida in a rare astronomical event that may provide more clues to the formation of the solar system, a university astronomer said Tuesday.

In the early evening of Jan. 3, a star will be blocked by Vesta, one of the largest asteroids and a big chunk of rock and metal left over from the formation of the solar system, said Billy Cooke, a University of Florida astronomer.

Florida is one of only a few states along a narrow path in which Vesta will be visible as it crosses in front of a star, causing an event called an occultation, Cooke said.

As long as clouds don't obscure the view, amateur astronomers will be able to see the occultation with a telescope

“We just lucked out with this asteroid because Florida is a lousy place for astronomical viewing, being at sea level and having late afternoon and evening thundershowers.”

—Astronomer Billy Cooke

or pair of binoculars, he said. “We just lucked out with this asteroid because Florida is a lousy place for astronomical viewing, being at sea level and having late afternoon and evening thundershowers,” he said.

Florida could be the best place in the United States to view the occultation because it has a better chance of having clear skies this time of year than the northern states along the view path, Cooke said.

Florida astronomers usually travel to other places to watch eclipses and other astronomical occurrences, but this time the professionals will be coming to Florida, he said.

The line of vision for the 345-mile wide asteroid extends through Wisconsin, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia and Florida. Residents in Lake City, Gainesville, Orlando and Miami are in the center of the view path, he said.

Vesta will move in front of the star, called SAO 093228, at about 7:25 p.m. EST, block out its light for a little more than two minutes and then the star will reappear from behind Vesta, he said.

It will be visible about one-third of the way up in the eastern sky, he said. Amateur astronomers can play an important role in giving scientists valuable information about Vesta and other asteroids, Cooke said.

“Asteroids have remained largely a mystery to science,” he said. “The only way we can tell anything about their size and shape and precisely nail down their orbit is through occultations like this one.”

By using instruments to measure the length of time the star disappears from many locations can help professionals construct the size and shape of the asteroid, he said.

The last asteroid passing in front of a star to be visible in Florida was the 480-mile wide Pallas in 1983, Cooke said.

Pallas and Vesta are among thousands of asteroids located between Mars and Jupiter, he said.

Mother killed for presents

United Press International

CHICAGO — An 8-year-old girl returned home from school and found her mother stabbed to death under the family's Christmas tree by an assailant who police said stole their presents to sell for drugs.

Police later arrested a 28-year-old man who was trying to sell items identified as those stolen from the apartment of Inez Williams, 37, said Police Cmdr. William Callaghan.

Charges of murder, home invasion and burglary were pending Tuesday night.

Callaghan said the girl discovered her mother's body under the tree when she returned home from school at about 2:30 p.m.

Williams, clad in a slip, was stabbed numerous times in the back and neck and had a sock stuffed in her mouth, he said. A 2-year-old girl for whom Williams was babysitting was wounded and reported in fair

Cuba losing It's U.S. surrogate

Czechoslovakia, whose relations with Cuba have been deteriorating for more than a year, announced Tuesday that it would no longer represent the Cuban Interests Section in Washington.

The announcement, made in Prague by the Foreign Ministry, said Czechoslovakia would discontinue its relationship with the Cuban Interests Section by March 31 — giving Cuba a little more than three months to find another country to handle its Washington business.

The Interests Section technically operates as part of the Czechoslovak Embassy in Washington, although it works out of the old Cuban Embassy building in northwest Washington and acts autonomously. Such representation is necessary because Cuba and the United States don't have diplomatic relations.

In Havana, the U.S. Interests Section works out of the old U.S. Embassy, but officially it's represented by the Swiss government.

The human rights organization Freedom House and the Cuban American National Foundation have been lobbying the government of President Vaclav Havel hard this year to drop its representation of Cuba as a symbolic gesture.

Czechoslovakia selected a March 31 cutoff so Cuba could “adopt an appropriate solution without jeopardizing its interests in the United States,” according to the government statement.

“We still haven't heard anything from Havana,” said a spokeswoman at the Cuban Interests Section, but it is expected that Cuba will look for another country to represent it.

Officials at the Embassy of Czechoslovakia in Washington said they also hadn't received any details about the end of the Interests Section relationship.

Relations between Cuba and Czechoslovakia have worsened as Cuba's one-time socialist comrade has pursued Western-style political and economic reforms.

Earlier this year, it appeared that Czechoslovakia was on the verge of dropping its representation, but some Czechoslovak officials said the United States had asked them to preserve the link because breaking off the relationship might jeopardize the U.S. Interests Section in Havana.

The Bennett fiasco

George Bush suffered a needless embarrassment when William Bennett abruptly rejected the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee, a position he accepted with much fanfare last month.

Unless Bennett is pulling his punches, which he seldom does, his decision was taken on the advice of White House counsel Boyden Gray and two other attorneys to avoid the "appearance of impropriety" regarding tougher federal ethical standards that take effect Jan. 1. Under those standards, a person going from a government job to the private sector must refrain from lobbying his former colleagues for at least one year.

Because the RNC is not a government job, it could be argued that this proviso does not technically affect Bennett. From a political standpoint, however, he and the Republican Party could be hobbled by nagging ethical conflict-of-interest questions. Or to paraphrase one anxious administration staffer: "It could be a toothache that never goes away."

Having already signed a lucrative contract with Simon & Schuster to write two books during the next two years, Bennett, who is not a wealthy man, was given the choice of returning his advance payment or rejecting the RNC.

Clearly it should have never come to this. The time to have thoroughly considered potential ethical and legal problems was back in November — before Bennett was offered and accepted the job — not within the last few days. Yet, he allegedly was given assurances by an aide of White House Chief of Staff John Sununu several weeks ago that there would be no problem with his writing books and working full-time to reinvigorate the GOP.

The chief of staff is responsible for maintaining an orderly flow of information to the Oval Office and ensuring that recommendations are made only after all pertinent data and contingencies have been assessed. The Bennett fiasco would suggest that Sununu flunked this test.

Now the administration and Republican Party confront the challenge of finding a politically astute and tenacious leader for the national committee who will improve the GOP's odds of regrouping and rebounding in 1992. With Lee Atwater sidelined by a brain tumor and Bill Bennett out of the picture, the field has narrowed considerably.

Loss and opportunity

The resignation of Education Secretary Lauro Cavazos was neither unexpected nor, altogether, unwelcome.

During the course of his low-key tenure as the nation's school chief, Cavazos suffered greatly by comparison with his dynamic predecessor, William Bennett. The contrast has become even more pronounced of late as Mr. Bush's critics demand to know when he is going to honor his pledge to be the "education president."

Cavazos was appointed by Ronald Reagan in 1988 to succeed Bennett and then held over in the post by President Bush. The soft-spoken former president of Texas Tech University spent much of his time on the job defending his lack of passion for educational reform. In discussing the most recent Nation's Report Card, for example, Cavazos had difficulty explaining why he considered it "a compendium of disappointment."

Although Cavazos periodically called for parental choice, his appeals were ignored for the most part. Apart from scolding Hispanic parents for not paying closer attention to their children's schooling, he seldom said anything that got anyone's attention, let alone roused the complacent educational establishment.

Bennett never had that problem. He understood that the education secretary's primary responsibility is to exhort and, if necessary, hector the public schools to do a better job. Similarly, the school chief should aggressively promote the President's education program.

On the right to mention bare legs

The election of Mary Robinson as president of Ireland detonated no sexist barriers. She's following in the footsteps of Indira Gandhi, Golda Meir and the recently deposed (thank God) Margaret Thatcher. But her liberal views on abortion, divorce and contraception in a religiously conservative country raised eyebrows higher than the hemline on her dress. A photograph with her family revealed two audaciously displayed legs. During a TV public-affairs program in Philadelphia, where I do weekly quizotic battle, I took judicial notice of Mrs. Robinson's well-tapered assets, having already hailed her political superiority. My collegial panelist, Carol Saline (a senior editor at Philadelphia magazine), took jocular umbrage. "Why mention her legs at all?" she re-monstrated with me. Hey, I'm with Plato. It's just a question of "beholding beauty with the eye of the mind."

I shrugged off this passing reunion with Oedipal memories (my erudite and lovingly Christian mother had a most gorgeous pair of legs), but two days later, I happened to catch Lesley Stahl and Charles Kurall hosting the CBS late-night news show, "America Tonight." Stahl's eye-dazzling red dress was hiked up above her knees to reveal a stunning pair of legs. Her audaciousness evoked a Robert Herrick doggerel (check out the eloquent last line): Her legs were such Diana shows. When tucked up she a-hunting goes; With buskins shortened to desecry The happy dawning of her thigh. Kurall's legs were fully covered. But uncovered and glistening for everyone to observe was his egg-smooth dome.

And now this announcement from Ovid: "Ugly is a field without grass, a plant without leaves, or a head without hair." Don't roll your eyes at me. That's an Ovidian judgment. Here comes mine, followed by a world of trouble: I would like to make a case for the constitutional — nay, God-given — right to admire beautiful legs. I realize that everybody isn't perfectly endowed. And I don't think a passing assessment of the merits of a woman's legs keeps me from making an unbiased judgment of her intellectual ability or political astuteness. Which proves that legs, like bald heads (which are paraded on television atop the craniums of Terry Bradshaw, Joe Garagiola and Lou Gossett), ain't always relevant anyway.

"So, why mention them?" some of my exasperated feminist and womanist friends will inquire. Cuz when you've got it — and flaunt it — we have a right to notice it! Besides, I didn't design these high-style short skirts that ride somewhere around a woman's neck. In my family, I've been blessed with seven of America's most magnificent women — my mother, my three sisters, my wife and my two daughters. Some of them have beautiful legs. The others are merely beautiful. But all of them are bright, educated and accomplished.

So the issue, cherished cherubs, is not physical endowment, but the values in our society that exalt it. We live in a videoocracy where televized good looks are sought. And here's the rub: Some person who looks like death warmed over sits behind a desk deciding that job applicants for on-camera positions must look like Mr. or Miss America.

Thirty years ago, I wrote a column, "Why Negro Men Like Big Legs."

Gephardt: 'I told you so, Bush'

By ROBERT SHEPARD
 United Press International

WASHINGTON — Rep. Richard Gephardt, the House Democratic leader and a frequent critic of the Bush administration, is enjoying the opportunity to say a big "I told you so" to President Bush over the matter of aid to the Soviet Union.

Gephardt, who has his own presidential ambitions, was fairly low-key when he issued a statement commending the president for changing his position, but he clearly enjoyed the vindication that came nine months after making his own proposal for aid to the Soviets.

In March, when the Missouri Democrat suggested an aid program the administration jumped all over him.

"It's hard to figure out what he's up to," said White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater, who went on to deride Gephardt as "the Maxwell Smart of politics."

What Gephardt said in March was that the United States should launch a bold policy of investment and trade to help bolster the efforts of Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev to reform the Soviet economy.

"We should waive trade restrictions such as Jackson-Vanik ... relax restrictions on high-tech exports, and encourage private investment in the Soviet Union. We provide Export-Import Bank loans and OPIC assistance to China, why not to the Soviet Union," he said in a speech.

The administration said a loud "No" to the idea then, but last week Bush declared the Soviet Union is facing "tough times," and he announced an assistance package that will provide up to $1 billion in agriculture export credits to ease Moscow's food shortage.

The aid package is the largest ever offered any country. Under the program, the United States will guarantee payments up to $1 billion for Soviet purchases of U.S. farm products.

Bush also proposed that the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund provide the Soviets access to their economic and financial expertise, and said he has decided to establish a public-private medical assistance task force to help Moscow deal with its "acute, immediate shortages of pharmaceutical and basic medical supplies."

"It is very much in the national interest of the United States to see the Soviet Union succeed in their efforts to reform politically and to move to a free market economic system," Bush said.

Gephardt thought so too, back in March. "Stability, democracy and a market economy in the Soviet Union are in America's strong self-interest," he said at the time.

Commenting on Bush's action last week, Gephardt said, "Nine months ago when I made the recommendation which the president has adopted, the administration's reaction was, 'Why?' This afternoon, they said, 'Why not?' Today, I say well done."

Gephardt said it was not possible for the administration "to sustain a policy of passivity toward the reforms being made in the Soviet Union or the privatization being experienced by the Soviet people. America cannot stand on the sidelines as the Cold War era ends and the Soviet Union struggles to find its future."

Not surprisingly, the administration did not credit Gephardt with any foresight. Gephardt's complaints about administration policies have ruffled Bush's feathers more than once and there is no love lost between the two. But in the world of Washington politics a good "I told you so" can sometimes be a satisfying experience.

Gephardt, who has his own presidential ambitions, was fairly low-key when he issued a statement commending the president for changing his position.

Santa arrives early in Arctic Village

By JEFF BERLINER
United Press International

ARCTIC VILLAGE, Alaska — Santa Claus and a band of Air Force elves descended on America's northernmost Indian settlement to celebrate Christmas two weeks early, passing out presents to every child, giving the village a washing machine and feasting on caribou.

Athabaskan Indian children in this remote outpost 120 miles north of the Arctic Circle greeted Santa as he emerged from the belly of a C-130 Air Force cargo plane in 25-below-zero weather at dawn — about noon.

This far above the Arctic Circle at this time of year, the sun never rises, but offers a few hours of not-very-bright daylight. The sun set Dec. 7 and rises again Jan. 4. And the temperature never did get higher than about 15-below-zero — but that's the warmest it's been here in weeks.

Kids, oblivious to conditions that are normal for them, couldn't wait for Santa to make the frigid mile-long snowmobile trip to the village for a Christmas party in the warm school gym.

So many of Arctic Village's 125 adults and children hopped on their winter vehicles — snowmobiles, or "snowmachines" as they're called in Alaska — to greet Santa at the snow-covered airstrip.

Santa obliged the eager bundled-up children by staying outside at the plane to talk and be jolly for a while before hitching a snowmobile ride to one of the most unusual Christmas parties this side of the North Pole.

The early Christmas celebrated Monday in Arctic Village is a 24-year tradition linking a small Air Force squadron based in Anchorage with this isolated settlement nearly 600 miles to the north in the foothills of the Brooks Range, the farthest north village of the most northern band of Indians in America, the Gwich'in Athabascans.

The 17th Tactical Airlift Squadron, 105 men based at Elmendorf Air Force Base, answered a plea for help in 1967 when forest fires drove away migrating caribou — Arctic Village's chief source of food. Every year since then, the squadron raises money to buy Christmas presents and a dozen airmen — with one as Santa — fly to Arctic Village to celebrate Christmas and feast on caribou and other native foods.

This year, cook Margaret Tritt prepared Indian fried bread, fried caribou, salted caribou dumpling, caribou stew, salmon, whitefish, local cranberry salad and other foods.

Arctic Villagers call themselves "caribou people" and Sarah James said 75 percent of their diet is the caribou they hunt.

The village has 36 school children ranging from pre-school to grade 10, and younger ones serenaded their visitors with "Merry Christmas and Happy New Year" in the Gwich'in language.

The C-130 pilot, Capt. Todd Woodhouse of Mendham, N.J., put on a magic show that genuinely distracted the kids from the presents waiting to be handed out.

Staff Sgt. Carl Warrings, concealed in a well-padded Santa outfit that convinced younger kids and kept Warrings warm, passed out gifts to every child by name and said later, "I had a blast."

Every year the squadron gets a list of all children under 16 and what they want for Christmas.

"I'm so happy," said Cindy Gilbert, 6, who got the Cabbage Patch doll she wanted.

"A watch — great, huh?" said Mike Lee, 10.

"I got a Walkman," said Aubray Brown, 7. Her sister, Shandal, 9, got two New Kids on the Block cassettes she wanted.

Alisha Gilbert, 5, worried she wouldn't get anything for misbehaving but she got the Barbie doll she wanted.

Jerrald John, 4, got the socks, gloves, long underwear and hat his mom said he needed.

Annie James, 9, examined her electronic keyboard and said, "I'm just learning."

Manager

be the best Christmas present we've had in a long time," Sturman said.

Even a call to acting county manager Bob McMillan this morning was answered with concern. When asked if Rabun is still a pending county manager, McMillan's first response was, "Why? What have you heard?" He wasn't joking.

McMillan said Rabun was scheduled to meet with him this morning to discuss contract terms.

It has been an uphill effort for the commission since former county manager Ken Hooper was forced to resign Oct. 24, 1988.

On April 12, commissioners and the selection panel unanimously agreed to hire Greg Fehrenbach, a dynamic city administrator of New Brunswick, N.J. Negotiations followed for nearly a week. But on April 18, Fehrenbach notified county officials he had decided he had not fully considered the implications of leaving his present post. He said he didn't want to leave his city "in the lurch."

Stunned, commissioners regrouped and interviewed another batch of candidates June 5, and with only slight reservations, offered the position to Michael Bryant, a quiet but strong leader serving as county manager from Hall County, Ga. Commissioners were enthusiastic about Bryant, saying he may bring innovative ideas about economic development and new revenues to the county.

Dave Farr, executive director of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce and panel chairman, commented then, "I think we have the best now. Maybe not better than before, but we won't get any better in the future."

Initially, Bryant led commissioners to believe he would accept the job. But only two days later, Bryant notified the county he declined the position because of family problems. Bryant later resumed negotiations with the county, but failed to come to an agreement.

County officials have said Bryant has since expressed interest in the job, but commissioners said last month they had no interest in anyone who turned them down before.

Rabun impressed commissioners with his experience and "can-do" attitude. Since 1988, he has been manager of Clearwater, a city of 105,000 that is almost completely fully developed. The city completed its comprehensive growth plan about a year ago which was accepted by the state which commissioners said will give him familiarity of the county's own growth plan which will be sent to the state in April.

"He'll be able to hit the ground running," said commissioner Bob Sturman.

Rabun has also weathered a public firestorm that developed into a political controversy over a tax increase while he was county administrator of Manatee County, Fla. from 1985 to 1988.

Rabun said the 20 percent tax increase was unavoidable because it was primarily demanded for expenses for the sheriff and other constitutional officers.

Despite his efforts to reduce the increase, Rabun said the proposal led to a political upheaval and suggestions of dissolving the manager form of government in that county. His top executives began leaving and finally, Rabun said he resigned, too.

Commissioners repeatedly quizzed Rabun on his ability to present a budget that included increased costs for residents, a likely scenario under the county's current $185 million deficit situation.

"If I was interested in less heat, I would stay in Clearwater," Rabun answered. "It's easier."

"In my last job, the commission didn't seem committed to professionalism," Rabun said later. "Seminole County, while a political situation, I don't see an overall attack on the county manager kind of government."

dusty to spy on employees and report their actions to management and many companies have installed hidden cameras to watch their employees.

Equally alarming, according to the report, is a growing tendency of companies to seek to control the behavior and actions of workers when they are not at work or are at home.

"The first example of this Big Brother-type expansionism was urine testing for illicit drugs," it said.

"Almost half of American employers require their employees to submit to urine tests, despite the undisputed fact that urine testing does not measure impairment and despite all available evidence indicating that most people's use of legal or illegal drugs on their own time does not render them drug dependent or affect their work," the report said.

"Now, many employers are refusing to hire people who acknowledge using tobacco in their own homes and even terminating current employees who refuse to quit smoking," it said.

Fed cuts discount rate

WASHINGTON — The Federal Reserve Board announced it is cutting its benchmark discount interest rate by 0.5 percentage points to 6.5 percent effective Wednesday, apparently to bolster the sagging economy.

Other interest rates are expected to fall as a result of the Fed's decision, on Tuesday making it easier to borrow money for everything from automobiles to homes and businesses.

The discount rate, the rate the Fed charges on loans to financial institutions, is considered a symbolic tool of monetary policy that serves as the central bank's primary indicator of credit conditions.

The Fed last changed the discount rate Feb. 24, 1989, when it was increased to 7 percent from 6.5 percent.

As a prelude to the lowering of the discount rate, the Fed recently acted to lower the interest rates on inter-bank loans. That decision was also seen as the Fed signaling its approval of the federal budget agreement.

Rains flood Kentucky

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Kentucky runneth over. Creeks were out of their banks in rural areas Tuesday; basements were flooding in towns and cities. Roads everywhere were underwater.

The rain was expected to stop before sunrise Wednesday, but some rivers will keep rising.

The South Fork of the Kentucky River, for example, was expected to rise by more than 15 feet from Tuesday morning to Wednesday morning. At Booneville, it was expected to crest 4 feet above flood level at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Many parts of the state had received more than 3 inches of rain since Monday morning. The forecast called for a chance of rain again Friday and Saturday.

The National Weather Service issued a raft of flash flood warnings across the state Tuesday, but relatively little damage was reported.

Officials said it could be worse by Wednesday morning.

Seven die in bus crash

PARK CITY, Utah — Seven passengers were killed and 41 other people were injured when a Chicago-bound Greyhound bus was broadsided and overturned by a big-rig truck in a blizzard near the Wyoming border, officials said.

The accident occurred about 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at Echo Junction on Interstate 80, near the Wyoming state line about 40 miles east of the resort town of Park City, where a winter storm was already raging.

Gary Whitney, a Utah Highway Patrol public information officer, said there were seven confirmed deaths and 16 people hospitalized. A total of 41 people were treated for injuries. He said it appeared all the fatalities were bus passengers.

Greyhound spokesman George Gravley said the Chicago-bound bus was carrying 43 passengers when it was hit and overturned.

High cholesterol may not be destiny

WASHINGTON — Children with high levels of cholesterol may not be destined to grow into adults with worrisome levels of the artery-clogging substance, researchers reported Tuesday.

A study of 2,367 Iowa school children found about three-quarters of the girls and about half of the boys who had high blood cholesterol levels between ages 8 and 18 had normal cholesterol counts as young adults.

Reserves help get mail to troops

By CAROL ROSENBERG
Knight-Ridder Newspapers

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia — One Christmas gift had bounced around so much in its trans-Atlantic journey that it arrived at the U.S. Army's mail sorting center vibrating and buzzing.

The Customs declaration form glued on the package provided the explanation: A battery-powered electric razor was inside.

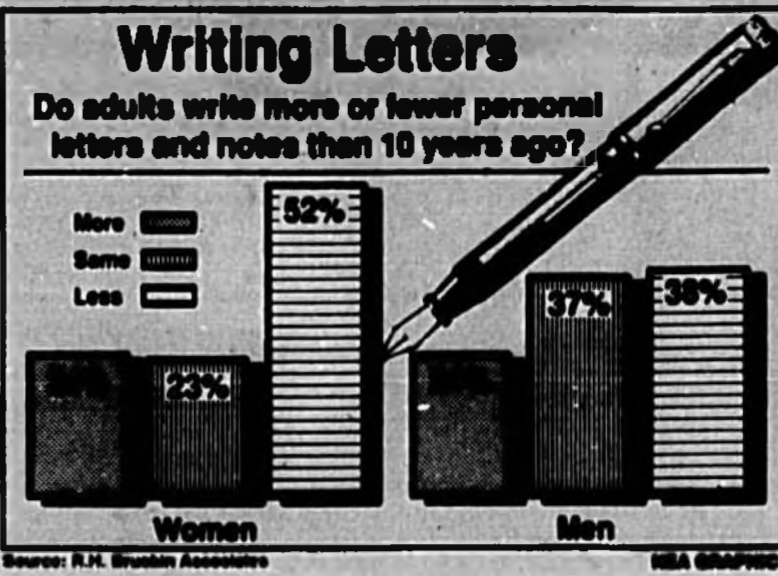

Another box bearing a radio suffered the same fate. When Air Force Sgt. Brian Johnson, 24, of Daytona Beach, Fla., came across it in the sorting bin, he could hear static music inside.

Here at the U.S. Army's first-stop mail sorting center not far from the tarmac of the Dhahran air base, a team of soldiers is waging a much more pleasant war than the one that may face the troops arrayed against Saddam Hussein.

Some 168 U.S. soldiers, among them members of the mobilized 351st Postal Reserve Unit from Tallahassee, Fla., are moving some 700,000 pounds of mail a day to sorting substations around Saudi Arabia.

The soldier-sorters have sent hundreds of aluminum Christmas trees on their way, and countless tons of cards bearing season's greetings in red, white and green envelopes.

There have also been thousands of pounds of cookies in tins; a guitar sent only in its case with a shipping label slapped on it; and four car tires redirected by the U.S. Postal Service to a soldier who had

In an age of telephones, faxes and modems it's not surprising that letter-writing is in serious decline. Almost 40 percent of men and over half of the women questioned said they wrote fewer letters than 10 years ago.

dutifully filled out a change-of-address form before he packed off to the Persian Gulf.

"I've personally seen two golf clubs — sand wedges — and a couple of fishing poles come through. I don't know what they're going to do with those in the desert," said Johnson, an Air Force computer operator now on assignment to the postal corps.

Working out of the back of a half-dozen trailers, amid the din of landing and departing aircraft, the sorters are coping with a flood of mail, including hundreds of letters and packages with incomplete or just plain wrong addresses that are stumping the men and women who work in the "Locator" division.

Capt. Stan Richeson, 36, is the on-the-ground commander. A reservist called up from work as a pharmaceutical salesman in Tallahassee, he said the mail peaked about 10 days ago when more than 700 tons of mostly Christmas packages and cards arrived in a single day.

Now, his soldiers — driving flatbed trucks — meet the mail at military aircraft and get it sorted and out to field post offices in "less than 24 hours. It's a fairly efficient operation," he said.

Still, he estimated it takes 12 days for a letter dropped in a post box anywhere in America to be delivered to a soldier somewhere in Saudi Arabia.

Iraq blasts EC, beefs up forces

By LEE STORES
United Press International

Iraq lashed out Wednesday at the 12-nation European Community for refusing to meet with Iraqi Foreign Minister Tariq Aziz, and Egyptian news reports said Iraq was bolstering its forces in Kuwait with troops moved from the border with Syria.

Reports of the Iraqi buildup in Kuwait surfaced shortly before Defense Secretary Dick Cheney and Colin Powell, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, were due to arrive in Saudi Arabia to meet with U.S. troops and military strategists.

Egypt's Middle East News Agency reported Wednesday that Iraq had withdrawn large numbers of its troops deployed along its border with Syria to bolster its troops in Kuwait.

In a dispatch from the Syrian capital of Damascus, MENA quoted sources in the border region as saying, "armored Iraqi troops, tanks and artillery units had been withdrawn to occupied Kuwait."

Regional observers said the unconfirmed Iraqi reinforcement of its 430,000-strong force in Kuwait and southern Iraq was an apparent sign Baghdad was preparing for a U.S.-led attack after the Jan. 15 deadline set by the U.N. Security Council for Iraq's withdrawal from the oil-rich emirate.

Earlier Wednesday, Iraq issued a statement condemning the European Community for its refusal to meet with Aziz before the Iraqi Foreign Minister had held talks in Washington with President Bush.

Plans for the Aziz-Bush talks and a reciprocal meeting in Baghdad between Secretary of State James Baker and Iraqi President Saddam Hussein have been put on hold.

Bush: Not another Vietnam

By HELEN THOMAS
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON — President Bush, bracing for the possibility of military action to force Iraq from Kuwait, reiterated that any conflict in the Persian Gulf region will not become another Vietnam.

In opening remarks to a newsconference of regional editors Tuesday, Bush said he favored a "peaceful settlement" to the crisis, but noted the fast approaching U.N.-mandated Jan. 15 deadline authorizing force to remove Iraq from Kuwait.

Bush said that he has "looked into it" enough to be totally confident to tell the American people that this is not another Vietnam."

He said his advisers have predicted "all kinds of ranges on how quickly this guy (Iraqi President Saddam Hussein) would fold, but none that I know of are predicting anything like the long drawn out bitter experience of Vietnam."

After years of indirect involvement, the United States committed combat troops in 1965 to battle communist forces in Vietnam. At its height in 1968, more than 540,000 U.S. soldiers were deployed in Southeast Asia. Before the final withdrawal of troops in 1973, more than 58,000 Americans had died.

Vietnam not only produced battlefield casualties, but also inflicted deep political and social wounds at home, creating some of the most bitter divisions in America since the Civil War.

"The agony of Vietnam is still with us," Bush said. "People remember a protracted war. They remember a war where individuals were asked to fight with one hand tied behind their back in essence. This will not be, in my view, that kind of confrontation."

The president said that he believed he has the support of the American people but it would erode if the United States got into a prolonged war in the Gulf. "I don't want a war as an option. I want peace," Bush said.

Arrest in Evers probe shows how Mississippi has changed

By FRED BRINN
Knight-Ridder Newspapers

JACKSON, Miss. — The district attorney spoke Tuesday of new evidence that led to the resurrection of murder charges against a militant racist for the 1963 assassination of Medgar Evers, one of the civil rights era's most infamous crimes.

But probably more important than a few new witnesses has been the metamorphosis of Mississippi from a place crippled by bitter and sometimes violent racial divisions to a more tolerant society where a new trial may have a different outcome.

In the hateful atmosphere of 1964 Mississippi, it was considered shocking that the two murder trials of Byron De La Beckwith ended in hung juries rather than an outright acquittal.

In those times, many white Mississippians regarded Beckwith as nearly a hero. While awaiting trial in a county jail, Beckwith was allowed to keep his gun collection in his jail cell, along with his color TV. Ross Barnett, governor at the time, stopped by the courtroom to shake hands and visit during the first trial, even as evidence was linking Beckwith to a murder that shocked the nation and painted Mississippi as a backwater of racial intolerance.

"Those were strange, terribly destructive times in our community," remembered John Fox III, an assistant prosecutor in the 1964 trials. "I'm glad to say Mississippi has changed."

Beckwith must now stand trial in a Mississippi where his style of open racism, of ranting against blacks, Jews, Hispanics and immigrants has lost its constituency.

"Mississippi is different place. Nobody listens to that stuff anymore," said C.C. Bryant, a longtime civil rights activist and a close friend of Medgar Evers. "The white community thinks his ideas are all obsolete."

"Maybe now, Medgar will get justice," Bryant said. In 1963, Evers was Mississippi's most prominent civil rights activist, starting to establish a national reputation. The 38-year-old state field secretary for the NAACP had been an agitator for civil rights since 1954 when he futilely attempted to enroll in the segregated University of Mississippi law school.

On June 12, 1963, as Evers emerged from his car in the driveway of his little frame home in west Jackson, a single 30.06 rifle slug ripped through his back. Evers fell dying with a bundle of "Jim Crow Must Go" T-shirts in his arms.

In a thicket across Missouri Street from Evers' home, police found a 1917 Enfield rifle, equipped with a scope. Both rifle and scope belonged to Beckwith, and the FBI matched a fresh fingerprint on the scope to the right index finger of the Greenwood salesman.

In the 1964 trials, prosecutors introduced witnesses who placed Beckwith in Jackson two days before the murder, asking directions to Evers' home.

Young ANC members want change

By RICK LYMAN
Knight-Ridder Newspapers

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — The gathering of 1,600 leaders of the African National Congress, which ended Sunday, highlighted two fundamental issues that seem likely to dominate the faltering reform process in South Africa.

The first is that negotiations between ANC Deputy President Nelson Mandela and South African President F.W. de Klerk cannot lead to a lasting, peaceful settlement without the support of millions of poor blacks who, the conference revealed, remain highly skeptical of the whole process.

The second is that even though Mandela and de Klerk use the same kind of language, talking grandly of non-racial democracy and future reconciliation, their constituents realize full well that they are actually fighting for entirely different things.

Mandela forcefully made those points in a speech to 50,000 ANC supporters gathered at a Soweto stadium Sunday to welcome ANC President Oliver Tambo from three decades of exile.

"The government's aim is to reform apartheid out of existence while carrying over into the future accumulated privileges and advantages of the white monopoly on power," said Mandela. "The ANC, on the other hand, seeks to attain the total eradication of apartheid and overcome as quickly as possible its ravages on our people."

De Klerk's National Party, representing a constituency of generally well-to-do whites and a business community dominated by wealthy whites, is struggling to find a formula to share power with South Africa's black majority while surrendering as few white privileges as possible.

Mandela's ANC, representing a much greater constituency, is trying to wrest power from South Africa's white rulers in a way that frees them to transfer a generous portion of the nation's wealth to the very people who have so long been unjustly denied it.

The problem, Mandela said, is that "there is no meeting of minds between us on the real meaning of democracy."

It may well be that this ANC conference — and the key issues that it highlighted — will be seen as one of the major crossroads in South Africa's faltering march toward reform and reconciliation.

New report: decrease in drug use

By THOMAS FERRARO
United Press International

WASHINGTON — A federal study to be released by President Bush on Wednesday shows a decline for the first time in the number of frequent cocaine users in the United States, sources said.

Government sources also said Tuesday that the survey by the National Institute on Drug Abuse found that overall drug use continues to fall as it has done so since 1985.

The figures will likely be used by Bush to buttress his contention that although it is premature to declare victory in the war on drugs, progress is being made.

Numerous big cities, however, continue to experience a rise in drug-related homicides. Police say many of the murders can be traced to battles between rival narcotic gangs.

Regardless, a federal source said the new study "confirms the trend we've noticed in reports from hospitals and medical examiners. In most metropolitan areas, drug use is no longer spiraling out of control. It's beginning to ebb."

"The big news is that frequent use of cocaine is down," the source said. Frequent use is defined as consuming cocaine more than once a week.

Sources declined to release specific figures in the new National Household Survey on Drug Abuse, but said they show a decline in both frequent cocaine use and overall casual drug use.

Previous NIDA studies found that from 1985 to 1988, the number of frequent cocaine users climbed from 647,000 to 862,000, and the number of casual drug users dropped from 23 million to 14.5 million.

Bush's national anti-drug strategy, now completing its second year, devotes about two-thirds of its $10 billion budget on law enforcement and interdiction. The remaining funds go to treatment and education.

In response to critics, the administration is expected to devote more resources to education and treatment in its revised strategy, which will be submitted to Congress in February.

Environmental groups push fuel policy

WASHINGTON — Energy efficiency and fuel conservation must be at the heart of any effective U.S. energy strategy, 16 major environmental and public policy groups stressed Tuesday.

The environmentalists outlined their energy strategy goals at a press conference here three days before President Bush is scheduled to begin choosing options for his long-promised plan to boost U.S. energy independence.

Bush's energy strategy meeting with top aides and Cabinet officials originally was set for Tuesday. It was postponed after a preliminary session last week erupted in strong criticism of Energy Secretary James D. Watkins' conservation proposals by White House Chief of Staff John Sununu, chief economic adviser Michael J. Boskin and Budget Director Richard Darman.

"We are here today to say that the cornerstone of a long-term, comprehensive energy policy must be energy efficiency," emphasized Sen. Timothy W. Wirth, D-Colo., an influential member of the Senate Energy Committee and chairman of the Alliance to Save Energy, a broad-based coalition of business, consumer, governmental and environmental groups.

Burning fuel more efficiently is the best way to reduce U.S. dependence on foreign oil, to slow global warming and to spur economic efficiency, Wirth and others said.

In a letter dated Dec. 7 and unveiled Tuesday, the groups urged Bush to improve energy efficiency by 3 percent per year by the end of the decade; increase use of renewable fuels by 20 percent; increase fuel efficiency of new light vehicles by 60 percent; and cut energy use in buildings by 25 percent.

The groups also called for stabilizing electricity demand within five years; for doubling federal spending on conservation and renewable fuels research within three years; and keeping the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge off limits to oil exploration.

HIGH SCHOOL HOOPS

Orangewood Christian falls

APOPKA — Jimmy Dorsey capped a nine point fourth quarter by hitting the winning shot with 0:03 left to give South Sumter a 68-66 triumph over Orangewood Christian in the "Finest Four" Classic.

Mike Tadlock led South Sumter with 20 points followed by Dorsey (17) and Ronald Jones (12). South Sumter will face Lake Highland, which upset Apopka Monday, in the Finals Thursday.

The Rams will play Apopka in the consolation game today at 6:30 p.m.

Doing the damage for Orangewood Christian were Daniel Parke (33 points, 14 of 28 from the floor, six assists) and Tim Seneff (22 points, 8 of 14 from the floor, 10 rebounds).

Table with 2 columns: Team Name and Score. Rows include Orangewood Christian (66), South Sumter (68), and various player statistics.

PRO BASEBALL

Orlando a finalist

NEW YORK — The National League Tuesday named six finalists for its two expansion baseball teams in 1993.

The six cities are: Buffalo, N.Y.; Denver; Miami; Orlando, Fla.; St. Petersburg-Tampa, Fla.; Washington. The two winning bids will be announced before Sept. 30.

The new franchises will pay $65 million each to join the NL. They will not be able to share in the league's television revenues for at least two seasons.

The expansion timetable calls for minor-league play to begin in 1992 with the player allocation draft in November 1992.

Of the six finalists, only Washington, a longtime member of the AL before the franchise moved to Minnesota, previously had a major-league team.

COLLEGE HOOPS

Knights go to 5-1

ORLANDO — Sinua Phillips stole the ball and drove for a layup to put Central Florida ahead for good at 52-51 with 1:34 left in the game and the Knights went on to beat North Carolina-Asheville 91-78 Tuesday.

Phillips led Central Florida (5-1) with 19 points. Ken Leeks had 18 points while Denny Hinson, Anthony Haynes and Tommy Tormohlen added 13.

Darryl Sanders scored 25 of his 30 points for the Bulldogs (3-5) in the first half. Brent Keck added 10 points and pulled down eight rebounds. Robert Watson had 10 rebounds for N.C.-Asheville.

The 5-1 start for Central Florida is their best start since the 1981-82 season when they started 5-0.

PRO BASKETBALL

FSU upsets South Florida

TALLAHASSEE — Douglas Edwards scored a career-high 26 points as Florida State defeated South Florida 80-72 Tuesday night, handing the Bulls their first loss of the season.

Edwards, a 6-foot-9 sophomore, also led Florida State (4-2) with nine rebounds and five assists.

Michael Polite chipped in with 14 points, Aubry Boyd 13, and Chuck Graham and Rodney Dobard scored 10 points each.

Marvin Taylor led South Florida (5-1) with 22 points. Gary Alexander added 15 and Radenko Dobras had 14, including 12 in the second half for the Bulls.

Sonics soar by Magic

SEATTLE — Derrick McKey scored eight of his 33 points in the final four minutes on Tuesday night, helping the Seattle SuperSonics to a 122-105 victory over the Orlando Magic in a game delayed by an hour by a six-inch snowstorm.

A late afternoon snowstorm snarled Seattle traffic, preventing players and fans from arriving at the game. The games official attendance was 10,400 because of tickets sold, but only 1,568 actually were at the arena.

Sedale Threatt added 22 points, Eddie Johnson 21 and Shawn Kemp 20 for the Sonics.

Terry Calledge led Orlando with 30 points. Scott Skiles had 24 and Anderson 21.

Burger King kicks off

Six state champs highlight field

By TOMY BOGARDON
Herald Sports Editor

LAKE MARY — Since girls' soccer became a recognized high school varsity sport in Florida in 1981, 11 state champions have been crowned (one each the first seven years when all the soccer-playing schools were lumped together in one class and two the last two years).

When the Burger King Girls Soccer Classic kicks off this afternoon at Lake Mary and Lyman high schools, there will be six former state champions in the field, including the schools that won the last four.

Lake Brantley, the defending Class 4A state champ, has a first-round bye but Fort Lauderdale's St. Thomas Aquinas, the defending Class 3A champ, opens against Dr. Phillips in a 4 p.m. at Lake Mary's Don T. Reynolds Stadium.

Tournament host Lake Mary, the Class 4A titleist in 1989, plays Eau Gallie at 6 p.m. while Bishop Moore, Class 3A state champ in 1989, plays at 2 p.m. against Melbourne, which won the single class state championship in 1987. Both games will be at Lake Mary.

Finally, Lyman, the 1985 single-class champ, plays at home against Boone at 6 p.m. In other first-round games to be played at Lyman, Lake Howell faces Tampa-Berkley Prep at 2 p.m. and Winter Park plays Deltona at 4 p.m.

At Lake Mary, West Orange and Tallahassee-Lincoln play at 6 p.m.

"When we add teams like St. Thomas, Berkley Prep and Lincoln, it adds a little more variety," said Lake Mary Coach Bill Elisele. "In every first round match, the local team is playing someone they don't have on the regular season. We always try to do it that way."

Action will continue on Thursday at both sites with consolation and winners' bracket contests.

At Lyman, the losers of the Lake Howell-Berkley Prep and Lyman-Boone games play at 4 p.m. while the winners of those two games play at 6 p.m. Defending tournament champion Lake Brantley plays the winner of the Winter Park-Deltona contest at 8 p.m.

At Lake Mary, the losers of the Bishop Moore-Melbourne and West Orange-Lincoln contests play at 2 p.m. Thursday while the winners of those two games play at 6 p.m. The losers of the Lake Mary-Eau Gallie and St. Thomas-Dr. Phillips games play at 4 p.m. with the winners facing off at 8 p.m.

On Friday, all the action moves to Lake Mary. At 10 a.m. and noon will be the semifinals of the consolation bracket followed by the losers of Thursday night's 6 and 8 p.m. games playing at 2 and 4 p.m. The four remaining undefeated teams play in the semifinals at 6 and 8 p.m.

Five games are scheduled for Saturday. The consolation bracket final is scheduled for 10 a.m. with the seventh and eighth place game set for noon. The game to decide fifth and sixth place will be at 4 p.m. while the third and fourth place game is to kick off at 6 p.m. The championship game is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Admission is $3 per day for adults, $2 for students.

Patriots, Hawks advance in Classic

By DEAN SMITH
Herald sports writer

SANFORD — It was a 50-50 day for Seminole County teams as Lake Brantley and Lake Howell posted wins but Lyman and Oviedo fell in the opening round of the 1990 Central Florida Classic at Seminole Community College Tuesday night.

The Silver Hawks crushed University 70-40 and the Patriots outlasted Bishop Moore 63-48, but Lyman was unable to hold off defending classic champion West Orange, dropping a 68-56 decision, while Oviedo gave away a big early lead in succumbing to Winter Park 87-83.

Today at SCC's Health and Physical Education Center, Lyman takes on University at 4 p.m., Bishop Moore faces Oviedo at 5:30 p.m., Seminole plays West Orange at 7 p.m. and Lake Mary battles Winter Park at 8:30 p.m. Seminole and Lake Mary had first-round byes.

Thanks to second-round byes, Lake Howell and Lake Brantley advanced directly to the semifinals with their wins. The Silver Hawks will play the Seminole-West Orange winner and Lake Brantley will face the Lake Mary-Winter Park winner Thursday.

Joah Kohn scored a game-high 24 points and Malik Evans came off the bench to add 16 as Lake Howell outscored University 48-24 in the middle two quarters to turn a close game into a rout. Kohn nailed five 3-pointers, including three straight in the third quarter, as the Silver Hawks won their fourth game in a row.

University, in its first year of existence, was paced by Mike Jefferson and David Santana with 12 and 11 points, respectively.

Trevia Certo scored 18 of his game-high 27 points in the first half as the Patriots took control of the game early in the second quarter and held off the game Hornets. Also scoring in double figures for Lake Brantley was Anthony Washington with 10.

Sheridan Washington and Andrew Buckley scored in double figures for Bishop Moore with 14 and 11, respectively.

Lyman led West Orange 14-11 after the first period and scored the first bucket of the second quarter but then went over three minutes without scoring while the Warriors scored 13 unanswered points to take a 24-16 lead that the Greyhounds were unable to overcome.

Jet-quick senior guard Quentin Smith scored 18 points to pace a quartet of West Orange players into double figures. Also in doubles were Dennis Rilko (14), Scott McCaffrey (11) and Jason Shaw (10).

Charlie Francis and Brian Grayson both had super games for Lyman with Francis scoring 14 points and Grayson adding 11.

Oviedo looked like it was on its way to a blowout victory when it took a 25-9 lead with 1:05 to play in the first quarter. Despite a modest run by the Wildcats, the Lions still appeared to be in control of the game when they took a 47-38 lead into the lockerroom at halftime.

But Winter Park, behind Terrence Foy and Williams Brooks, started the third stanza like a house on fire, outscoring Oviedo 14-4 to go up 52-31 with 5:28 left in the period. After Simon Harper hit a free throw to tie the game, the Wildcats went on a 9-0 run to take a 61-52 lead. The Lions were able to get as close as three points late in the game but Winter Park hung on.

Akiva Wilson and Riley McKenzie (21 points each), Brooks (19) and Foy (14) hit double digits in scoring as the Wildcats improved to 5-3 on the season.

Harper led Oviedo with 20 points. Also contributing were Forrest Rogers (17) and Dan Hargrave (11).

Goalkeeper helps Wolves thwart Rams

From staff reports

DELTONA — Goalie Randy Landers made several saves on shots from point-blanks range to preserve Deltona's 2-1 win over the Lake Mary Rams in a boys' soccer match played at Deltona High School.

The victory keeps the Wolves perfect at 9-0. Lake Mary falls to 4-2-1.

Deltona jumped on top of Lake Mary five minutes into the match when Pete Aromando scored on an assist from Pete Quinlivan. Frank Ferrantino made it 2-0 with his unassisted goal in the 30th minute.

A couple of minutes after Landers robbed the Rams twice within seconds, Brian Coduto got Lake Mary on the board when he scored with six minutes left to play. Eric Davis getting credit for the assist.

Justin Walker created a potential game-tying opportunity for the Rams when he played a ball square to an onrushing Josh Arnold. But his shot from in close was parried by Landers.

Lake Mary outshot Deltona 12-6, including 6-0 in the second half.

Landers made six saves while Jason Redditt made five, all in the first half. Kevin Tyll, who replaced Redditt at halftime, did not have to make a save. Each team had four corner kicks.

"We played real well in the second half," said Lake Mary Coach Larry McCorkle. "I'm not excited to lose a match, but I'm really delighted with our second-half effort."

Deltona is one of the top four teams we'll see all year. They're for real."

Next up for Lake Mary will be a 2 p.m. game at Bishop Moore on Saturday.

In junior varsity action Tuesday, Lake Mary beat Deltona 3-1.

Tribe tops Mainland

SANFORD — Jennifer Benge scored goals on a direct kick and a penalty kick to help Seminole top Mainland 5-1 in a girls' soccer match played Monday afternoon at Seminole High School's Thomas E. Whigham Stadium.

Dawn Burks scored the Tribe's goal on an assist from Chell Hathaway four minutes into the game. A Mainland own goal made it 2-0. After Sabrina Reall tucked in a rebound to up the lead to 3-0, Benge scored her goals to ice the game.

"It was a whole team effort," said Seminole Coach Suzy Reno. "It was a good finish to the year. It's nice to end on a winning note."

Now 7-6-0, Seminole won't play again until Jan. 3, hosting DeLand in a Serr Inole Athletic Conference match.

Thermocarbon caps championship season with blowout

From staff reports

SANFORD — The Sanford Recreation Department Women's Fall Slowpitch Softball League came to a close Tuesday night with Thermocarbon, Seko Air Freight and Harcar picking up victories at Pinehurst Park.

League champion Thermocarbon was the only team to actually play, beating Jones & Associates 18-2. Seko and Harcar picked up 7-0 forfeit wins over Dick Joyce Well Drilling and Sanford Auto Auction, respectively. League runners-up Electone had already finished its season.

Contributing to the Thermocarbon 23-hit attack were Teresa Walburger (home run, two doubles, single, three runs scored), Linda Lewis (triple, two singles, two runs scored), Debbie Leigh (double, two singles, two runs scored), Sharon Paulk (double, two singles, three runs scored) and Ruth Tempesta (three singles, four runs scored).

Also contributing were Dinah Allen (two singles, two runs scored), Denise Levinson (two singles, run scored), Jackie Suggs and Sue Sojka (one triple each) and Michelle Widener (double, run scored).

Providing the offense for Jones & Associates Sheila Haynes (three singles), Linda Curtis (two singles, run scored), Karen Calhoun (two singles), Peggy Pulliam and Sandy Otto (one double each), Cathy Carter (single, run scored) and Judy Mullins (single).

B-Bowl will be explosive

By Mal. ADDS B. HOOPLE
Wizard of Odds

Egad, friends! The Blockbuster Bowl will really be the "blockbuster" of the early round of bowl games in college football. It matches Florida State and Penn State. Here's the rundown on the December bowl games:
ALPHA BOWL: Arizona (7-4) vs. Syracuse (6-4-2), Honolulu, Tuesday, Dec. 25, 3:30 p.m. EST, ABC-TV.
 Arizona's Wildcats finished in the middle of the Pac-10 standings. The highlight of their season was a 35-20 win over Southern Cal. Syracuse played a much tougher schedule, including four bowl teams. So, look for QB Marvin Graves and receiver Rob Carpenter to lead the Orangemen to a 27-21 victory.

LIBERTY BOWL: Ohio State (7-3-1) vs. Air Force (6-5), Memphis, Tenn., Thursday, Dec. 27, 8 p.m. EST, ESPN.

Ohio State's Buckeyes just missed going to the Rose Bowl as the Big Ten representative. Air Force won the Commander's Trophy with victories over the service academies, Army and Navy. However, the USAF is no match for Ohio State. Give it to the Bucks. 31-20.

ALL-AMERICAN BOWL: North Carolina State (6-5) vs. Southern Mississippi (8-3), Birmingham, Ala., Friday, Dec. 28, 7:30 p.m. EST, ESPN.

Southern Miss handed Louisville (9-1-1) its lone defeat, 25-13. They also beat SEC powers Alabama and Auburn. Dick Sheridan's Wolfpack will be the Golden Eagles' ninth victim: Make it Southern Mississippi, 24-14.

BLOCKBUSTER BOWL: Florida State (9-2) vs. Penn State (9-2), Miami, Friday, Dec. 28, 8 p.m. EST, Raycom-TV.

Here are two evenly-matched teams with super coaches. In 25 years at Penn State, Joe Paterno is 229-89-3. His bowl record is a gaudy 13-6-1. Bobby Bowden of FSU has 204 wins in his career, second only to Paterno as the biggest winner among active Division I-A coaches.

Passett dodges crash in Late Model win

Special to the Herald

NEW SMYRNA BEACH — Driving his Ace Salvage Yard "Junkyard Dog" Special, John Passett took advantage of a tangle between the lead duo to blast up to the point at the midway point and go on to victory in the 25-lap FASCAR-sanctioned Late Model feature on Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway.

With a good field of Late Models from three different states invading the tricky high-banked, half-mile oval, veteran John Kennedy of Kannapolis, N.C., stayed out of trouble and managed a strong runner-up finish over Kenny Watson and early leader Ronnie Burkett, who stayed up front until he tangled with Brad Heath on lap 13.

Celebrating his 30th birthday and the acquisition of a major sponsor (World Trade Connection of Germany), Gary Salvatore drove his new Pontiac Sunbird open-wheel machine to victory in the Florida Modified heat and feature.

Rick Johns, undefeated so far this season, won the Sportsman final.

The hotly-disputed 30-lap special for the Bomber division went to Sanford's John Ripley. "I figured that if I dominate the Bomber division, somebody will get tired of seeing me win all the time and maybe they'll sponsor my Limited Late Model," said Ripley, who scored his third win in a row.

Early leader Barbara Pierce held on to finish second, followed by Michael Wright, Randy Johnson and Henry Clark.

Jeff Burkett beat Marc Kinley across the finish line by a fender to win the Limited Late Model final. But once across the stripe, the pair tangled and Burkett ended up in the wall with a heavily damaged race car.

For 14 of the 15-lap Mint Stock feature, young Dwane Cochran, using up a lot of race track, led the tight five-car lead pack. But with one lap to go, newcomer Richard Elkins Jr., in a Toyota, dove inside of Cochran and went on to win. It was the first time in several years that a Pinto did not make it to victory lane.

Cochran was second but his mother, Mona, jumped in the car later and won the Powder Puff Derby. Dwane Cochran was followed by Bobby Sears, 1990 Lakeland Interstate Speedway Track champion David Seeright and Jerry Symons.

at Orlando SpeedWorld
 ORLANDO — Pete Orr avoided numerous spins and wrecks to earn his third FASCAR-sanctioned Late Model feature win in a row on Friday night at Orlando SpeedWorld.

The race was only half a lap old when NASCAR All-American Challenge Series regular Mike Cope and race car bodies/ski boat manufacturer Bob Ackerbloom tangled, scattering the field. Both were able to continue after minor repairs.

Ed Meredith grabbed the early lead, but the caution was out again on lap three after Cope and Pete Starr crossed paths, Starr getting knocked out and Cope's Doston Construction Buick suffering more damage.

Still on the point, Meredith was being worked over by Orr when the tangle flag flew on lap nine for a multi-car crash in turn two, the cars of Kenny Watson, Perry Lovelady, Ricky Martahall, John Kennedy and Dave McCabe either being eliminated or badly damaged.

Orr out-dragged Meredith on the restart and took over the top spot. But on lap 13, Cope and Ackerbloom tangled again. Once back underway, the race belonged to Orr as he streaked to a full straightaway advantage in the "Horsen Around" Farms Firebird.

Meredith took second while Cope, his car looking like it had been in a Demolition Derby, drove like a mad man to come back up to third place at the finish. Watson and Kennedy rounded out the top five.

Veteran Wayne Marshall made a nearly impossible three-car wide move on the white flag lap to win the wild Limited Late Model feature.

Before the race was underway, outside front row starter "Tank" Tucker lost control coming down for the green and smacked the wall, taking himself out of contention.

On lap 12, fans witnessed a horrifying crash as four cars tried to enter the first turn side by side. Jeff Moyer ran over a wheel and went airborne, crashing violently into the outside retaining wall, taking Jacob Warren and Scott Bramlett with him. Although his car was destroyed, Moyer was only shaken up.

Following Marshall across the stripe were Von Crews, Mike Todd, Chuck Stanley and Mike Kubanek.

John Ripley of Sanford took the top spot from early leader Dwayne Waddell and went on to score another victory in the special 30-lap event for the Bomber division. Defending champion Barbara Pierce made a late-race charge to claim second over Waddell, Darren Gould and veteran George McKlassick.

Second-generation pilot Raymond Lovelady was a first-time winner in the Florida Modified division, holding off determined former Late Model driver Ron McReary, who was making his first start in Herman Korpi's open-wheel machine.

Bobby Sears led all the way to win his second feature of the year in the Mini Stock division while Rick Johns passed early leader John Potts to score win No. 3 in the Sportsman class.

Lori Loomis drove Rick John's Sportsman mount to victory in the added Powder Puff Derby for the Ladies, holding off hard-charging Enduro driver Debbie Santo.

Fan Participation race winners were Dennis Blankenship in a Pontiac Trans-Am and John Davis in a Ford Pinto.

IN BRIEF

Lodge hosted party

South Seminole Masonic Lodge 364 in Casselberry hosted a Christmas party December 8 for 75 needy children from the area. The children, aged 2 months to 18 years, received gifts and stuffed stockings from Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus. The children were also entertained by clowns and by caroling performed by Jobs Daughter and DeMolay Youth. Refreshments were provided and served by several appendant bodies, including Eastern Star, Amaranth and the DeMolay Parent's Club. This is the fourth consecutive year the lodge has hosted a party for the special kids.

Library to close for holidays

All branches of the Seminole County Public Library System will close Monday, December 24 at 5 p.m. and reopen Wednesday, December 26 at 10 a.m. Libraries will close at 5 p.m. Monday, December 31 and reopen Wednesday, January 2 at 10 a.m.

Women donate to charity

This holiday season, the Junior Woman's Club of Sanford will be making donations to 10 area non-profit organizations. The presentation will be December 20, 7:30 p.m. at the Woman's Club clubhouse on Oak Avenue in Sanford. These deserving organizations will be receiving the proceeds from the 10th Annual Kasino Klassics fundraiser which was held in March.

The recipients are: Camp Challenge, Central Florida Zoological Park, Children's Wish Foundation, Christian Sharing Center, Florida Methodist Children's Home, Safe House of Seminole, Seminole Children's Village, Seminole Work Opportunity Program, Sunshine Connection and Thomas Whigham Aids Superchallenge.

Try Santa's favorite dishes

By JOAN KING
Herald correspondent

SANFORD — 'Twas the night before Christmas in old Sanford town...when Santa was so busy, he lost a few pounds.

The elves were all working back at the North Pole and Mama Claus was making shrimp boats with stuffing and kneading some dough. A large table was laden with goodies delight, all set aside for Santa after he finished his shifts at the stores tonight.

All day long his picture was taken with little girls and boys who all wanted the best in dolls, wagons and toys.

The weary old man made the way to his condo. Up the stairs he climbed for a nap in his bed as visions of sauteed mushrooms danced in his head. He could see in his mind, the mushroom caps with melted Swiss cheese flowing on top, just like the Alps where he would make a Christmas toy stop.

Santa would need much nourishment this night, so Mama Claus cooked his favorite delights.

He'll feed on creamed onions, all pearly and smooth, mashed taters and rutabagas where the butter will ooze. He'll sprinkle black pepper so finely conceal and end the meal with desert that is very nice.

When he flies to the North Pole to pick up his sack, he will have in his tuck a hearty hot snack. Mushroom and cheese subs for all of his elves and hot cod fish cakes for himself.

Santa's big night will be jolly and bright. He'll end his long trip in Sanford by morn while Mama Claus keeps his coffee pot warm and reads in the paper of his most wonderful Christmas caper.

'Twas only last nite when the Herald did call to get the full story once and for all. She told the writer with such glee, Merry Christmas...from Santa and me.

CREAMED PEARL ONIONS

1 jar boiled pearl onions (retain fluid for thickening)

1/2 cup Half and Half

Pepper

Butter (dot)

Cornstarch (with enough fluid to make a thickening agent).

Heat onions in Half and Half, add butter and pepper, then thicken with cornstarch and liquid.

NEW ENGLAND CODFISH

1 lb. box dried and salted codfish

Homemade mashed potatoes (about 4 lbs.)

Soak cod in boiling water which has been removed from the heat. Drain and repeat the process about three times to remove salt. Mix drained cod with potatoes and three whole eggs. Must mix well. Form into cakes. Dip into plain flour and pan fry until golden brown.

Santa's favorite tuck snack. New Englanders eat this with Boston baked beans. Goes well with cole slaw.

SHRIMP BOATS AND STUFFING

2 doz. jumbo shrimp, fresh

3 med. eggplants, split lengthwise

1 green tomato cut into 1-inch cubes

1 med. green pepper cut into 1-inch cubes

1/2 stalk celery, finely diced

1/4 small onion, minced

1 whole egg

1/2 loaf white hard and dry bread or 4 sub rolls

4 Tbsp. poultry seasoning, may need more

6 slices Provolone cheese

Romano cheese, freshly grated

Salt and pepper to taste

Soak bread in boiling hot water until soft all the way through. Drain in colander or strainer and squeeze gently to expel water from bread.

Saute celery, onion, green tomato and pepper and the meat from the eggplant. When cutting out the eggplant, leave a 1-inch rim all around the skin. When the veggies are tender, set aside to cool. Squeeze the water out of the bread and place in a bowl, add egg and spices. Mix together well and add cooled veggies.

Drop fresh shrimp into a pan of boiling water and immediately remove when they turn pink. Shuck shrimp immediately. Don't be concerned about the black vein as it won't harm you. Cut up six shrimp and add to stuffing mixture. Mix well and stuff the six halves of eggplant to overflowing. Stick three shrimp with tails up into each stuffed eggplant and top with freshly grated Romano cheese and one slice of provolone. Bake at 300° for one hour. One per person.

MASHED TATERS AND RUTABAGAS

4 to 6 potatoes, pared and cubed

1 medium rutabaga, pared and cubed

Salt and pepper to taste

1 stick butter

Dash poultry seasoning

Start rutabaga in salted cold water and boil for 20 minutes, then add potatoes. Cook an additional 20 minutes. Drain and mash together with butter, salt and pepper and poultry seasoning. Add Half and Half if more liquid is needed.

After a long night, Santa eats well.

MUSHROOM AND CHEESE SUBS

1 lb. whole fresh button mushrooms

12 slices Swiss or provolone cheese

6 fresh sub rolls split above center and 1/4 through the roll. Leave a hinge.

2 cloves fresh garlic, minced

Olive oil

Saute clean mushrooms and garlic in olive oil. Spoon into sub rolls and cover with cheese. No spice necessary.

CHEESE BLINTZES

2 ozs. cottage cheese (lg. curd drained)

2 ozs. cream cheese

1 egg yolk

2 tsp. white sugar (granulated)

1/2 tsp. cinnamon

1 tsp. vanilla extract

Mix all ingredients together and set aside.

Crepes

1/2 cup flour (sifted)

2 tsp. light brown sugar

1 Tbsp. softened butter

1 tsp. allspice

1 Tbs. rum extract or Peppermint Schnapps

1 egg white, whipped and folded into batter

1/2 cup Half and Half or light cream

Olive oil to grease pan.

Mix all ingredients until smooth and a thin batter. Pour into lightly greased hot 6-inch skillet and brown lightly on one side. Set on paper towels, brown side up. Place a heaping teaspoonful of cheese mixture on center of each crepe and roll up loosely. Tuck in ends and brown lightly. Arrange on serving platter and dust with powdered sugar. Serve with a dollop of sour cream on top. May be served hot or cold. Very rich and filling. May be an entree or dessert. Makes 6 blintzes.

Unknown voice from past unsettles man

DEAR ABBY: About six weeks ago, I came home from the office and my wife told me that a woman had phoned saying she had some important information about my father. The woman said she lived about 100 miles from here, and she left her telephone number.

Abby, my father died at a young age, leaving my mother with small children to raise. Mother never remarried. Fortunately, she was able to support herself and raise us.

My wife persuaded me to return the call. The woman (I'll call her Diane) asked permission to come to my home the following weekend. I refused, agreeing instead to meet her at a local coffee shop.

Abby, Diane is an adoptee who recently located and met her birth mother. She told me that my father was also her father, which makes her my half-sister! She said her mother had told her that she and my father had been lovers for the last two years of his life. She said her mother never told her lover (Dad) that she was pregnant, and she (Diane) was given up for adoption when she was 5 days old!

I told her that I did not take any stock in secondhand information — that I needed concrete proof in writing. She had none. However, she described my father's physical appearance accurately, knew the names of his friends, the branch of service he had been in, and she correctly detailed the circumstances of his accidental death, which occurred some years ago. I asked Diane what she wanted of me and my family. She said, "Nothing I just want to know something about my family, and perhaps see some photographs of my blood relatives."

Abby, I was prepared to meet a kook or a con artist. Instead, I found her to be a very gentle, decent person. Now I am totally confused about what to do. At this point, I don't want to tell anyone else. (I am thankful she didn't contact my mother.)

ADVICE

At the end of our meeting, she said, "'Our' father has been dead for a long time. Whom would we be hurting by knowing each other?"

Abby, I am wondering if there is some kind of physical test that could either prove or disprove these allegations? If this woman is really my half-sister, is there any way to verify it?

NO NAME OR CITY, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: Ask your physician to recommend a genetic testing specialist. Both you and Diane would be required to submit to physical tests. (Blood samples, for example.)

I agree with Diane. Whom would you be hurting if you know the truth about your blood relationship? There is nothing to be ashamed of. And whether you wish to disclose this new discovery to other family members would be up to you.

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter from "Puzzled," the man who asked whether he should give his deceased wife's belongings to his soon-to-be new wife. He was concerned about how his three daughters-in-law would feel about it. (He had three sons — no daughters.)

I related to that problem, because a few years ago, I was a daughter-in-law in just that situation. My advice to that man would be to first speak to his sons. There may be some pieces of jewelry or clothing they had given to their mother that for sentimental reasons they would want their wives or daughters to have.

I know from personal experience that it can be very painful for sons to see their father's new wife wearing things that once belonged to their deceased mother.

ANOTHER VIEW

DEAR ABBY: Many years ago, I wrote to you about a problem I was having with my fiancé. Whenever he lost his temper, he would curse. He never used obscenities; he would curse taking the name of the Lord in vain, such as, "Oh, God d--- it!"

(Problems? Write to Dear Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dear Abby, P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. All correspondence is confidential.)

Term board-certified physician explained

DEAR DR. GOTT: I am an avid and grateful follower of yours and commend you on your simplicity of explanations. For those of us with no medical background, that is a plus. Can you explain the difference between a board-certified physician and one who is not board certified?

DEAR READER: Thank you for your compliments. Years ago, a doctor could open a practice after having completed a year of post-graduate (internship) training that follows four years of medical school. However, as medical information has burgeoned and today's doctor must know far more than did his predecessors, most MDs choose specialization. This requires two to eight years of additional post-graduate training (residency). At the conclusion of this training, if it is approved by the proper authorities and the doctor completes it in good standing, the new specialist is entitled to sit for exams. If the physician passes the exams (usually written and oral), he (or she) is certified by the specialty board, which is made up of more experienced practitioners in that specialty. Thus, board certification is an accurate indicator of whether an MD is skilled in a particular specialty. Of course, these skills have to be honed during practice; experience is still the best teacher. Board certification is, in general, a valid criterion of competency. Many boards require their members to maintain certification by re-taking exams at periodic intervals. This certification has become increasingly important: for obtaining admitting privileges in hospitals, for reimbursement (many insurers pay higher fees to board-certified practitioners) and as a proof of expertise.

Not all good doctors are specialty certified, however — and certification is not necessarily a guarantee of excellence. There are many uncertified, extremely capable physicians in practice today. They may have failed their boards, for one reason or another, or they may have chosen (in an earlier era) not to take their boards. Being certified is not a prerequisite to practice medicine.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
For the last 20 years, a search for interesting hands from World Championships has almost inevitably brought up the name of Gabriel Chagas. This year he and Marcelo Branco won the World Open Pairs event, by the largest margin ever. Part of the reason is the deceptive bidding employed by Chagas in today's deal, leading to a top score. In the Chagas-Branco bidding methods, three diamonds by Chagas was a long-suit game-try, and Branco liked his prime cards in what he thought were both of his partner's suits well enough to jump to game. When West led the queen of diamonds, declarer Chagas won dummy's ace and played A-Q of hearts, then A-K of clubs. He played a heart to the king in dummy and ruffed a club. Then he played one more heart. Meanwhile poor West had to make four discards. He had thrown a diamond and two spades, but what could he now throw on this heart? Trusting the bidding, he let go one more spade. Chagas played ace and a spade. The king popped up and declarer had gotten a top board in the open-pair competition. Note well that this deceptive bidding on the part of declarer was perfectly proper. His partner obviously trusted the diamond bid when he bid four hearts. But Chagas might do well to change his tactics now that they are getting so much publicity. Future defenders will be wary.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
Dec. 20, 1990

Make an effort to try to keep the channels open in the year ahead to persons for whom you've done favors in the past. They're desirous of reciprocating, but they might need little reminders.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're likely to be more focused on the big picture today than you will be on its significant details. In order to function effectively and successfully, you must be cognizant of both. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you to understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail #2 to Matchmaker, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You'd be wise not to try to keep up with friends today who are in a position to spend more than you can. If you find yourself pressed, you might use funds that are earmarked for something else.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You might be unduly influenced today by an associate who has faulty judgment but good salesmanship abilities. If you let this person help formulate your decisions, you may regret it later.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Matters which are of significance to you might not be of equal importance to your friends today. Try to keep this in mind if you start feeling inclinations to dominate the conversation.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Guard against inclinations today to overindulge mentally, physically or financially. If you participate in something fun, don't pack all of your good living into one experience.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Persons with whom you'll be involved today will be aware of your recent accomplishments, so it won't behoove you to toot your own horn. The music you play could consist of too many sour notes.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Enthusiasm and optimism are attitudes we should all strive to maintain. However, today be certain your rose colored outlook is founded upon a feasible foundation.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your generous nature could be easily imposed upon today if you're unguarded. One who is a taker will be aware of this and might try to manipulate you to his/her advantage.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your position with others might not be as strong as you lead yourself to believe today. Be very careful you don't put more reliance on allies than they warrant.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Unfortunately, problems with which you have to contend at this time will not automatically take care of themselves. What you sweep under the rug today could create a dust cloud later.

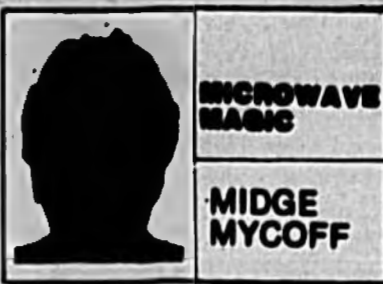

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You'll feel more comfortable today associating with intimate friends. Why expose yourself to a large crowd that could bore you when you could be with a few pals who adore you?

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Usually you're a pretty good judge of character, but today you might be rather gullible and be taken in by what others pretend to be instead of what they actually are.

Homemade candy is always a well-received holiday gift

The holiday season is an exciting time of the year. It is also hectic and often the things we want to do are time consuming. By using your microwave for preparing foods for gift-giving you will save time and have something extra-special to give. The ease of preparation, time savings, and wonderful results will make you wonder how you ever got along without your microwave.

MICROWAVE MAGIC
MIDGE MYCOFF

1 cup of any of the following: roasted salted nuts, (unblanched almonds, peanuts, walnuts, pecans), raisins, or broken red and green hard candy (cane).
If candy coating is in a solid piece, break into squares. Place in a single layer in a 2-qt. casserole. Microwave on 50% power, 3-5 minutes, until pieces are soft, stirring after 3 minutes. Add nuts or candy. Stir until candy coating is smooth and completely melted. Spread on wax paper to 1/4-inch thick. Cool until hard, then break into pieces.

1/2 C. chopped almonds
Mix together butter, sugar, water, and corn syrup in a 2-qt. glass batter bowl. Microwave on 100% power 4 minutes, stirring once. Stir, scraping sides of bowl to dissolve all sugar. Insert microwave candy thermometer. Microwave on 100% power, 8-10 minutes or until mixture reaches 300°F (hard crack stage). Stir whenever necessary to prevent boil-over. Stir in slivered almonds. Pour onto ungreased metal baking sheet. Sprinkle with chocolate pieces. Let stand until chocolate is softened; spread evenly over toffee. Sprinkle with chopped almonds, pressing them into the chocolate. Refrigerate to set chocolate. Break into pieces.

(Midge Mycoff is a certified home economist and coordinator of the Single Parent Displaced Homemakers Program at Seminole Community College. Send questions about microwave cooking to her at the Sanford Herald, 300 N. French Ave., Sanford, 32771 or phone: 323-1486, ext. 360.)

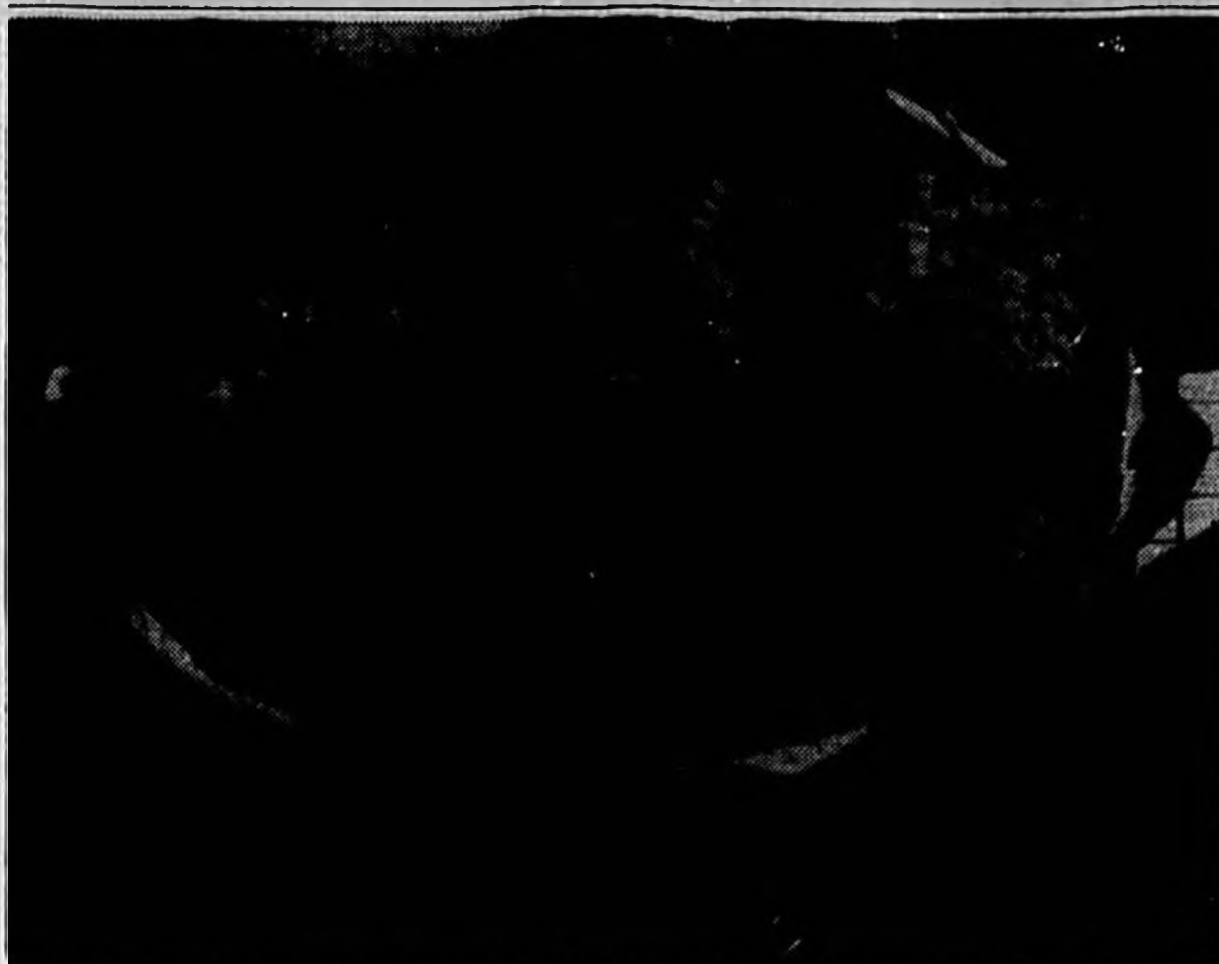

This is an old favorite made with modern convenience.

Ruby Date Bars are easy-to-make treats for Christmas giving.

Christmas treats easy to make

By AILEEN CLAWNE
NEA Food Editor

In many households around the country, antique tin cookie-cutters appear like magic harbingers of Christmas sweets.

Turning out an array of homemade treats such as marzipan, hand-colored sugar cookies, rum balls and other confections sets a traditional holiday mood. Young children will love polishing off the leftover batter from the pan. Older kids can experiment in the kitchen, perhaps reviving a favorite recipe for family and friends.

Since it is a time of giving, consider making an extra or special batch of items such as date bars, mini-cheesecakes or peanut butter fudge. Wrap a few in colorful cellophane and tie with a bright ribbon to take as hostess gifts or to a church bazaar or school party.

Begin early so you will not fall into the trap of one busy businesswoman. She promised to make her family's favorite cookies but, hurried by the holidays, started too late. The result: She arrived at her mother's home toting uncooked batter.

RUBY DATE BARS
3 cups (12 ounces) fresh or frozen cranberries, chopped
1 package (8 ounces) chopped pitted dates

1 1/2 cups water
1/2 cup granulated sugar
grated rind of 1 lemon
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
1/4 cup vegetable shortening
1 cup firmly packed light-brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 1/2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour

1 1/4 cups quick-cooking oats
In large saucepan, place cranberries, dates, water, granulated sugar, lemon rind and juice. Bring mixture to a boil, over high heat, stirring frequently. Reduce heat; simmer, stirring occasionally, until most of liquid is evaporated, about 8 minutes. Cool thoroughly.

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Grease 13-by-9-by-2 inch baking pan. In large electric mixing bowl, beat butter, shortening and brown sugar until light and fluffy. Add cinnamon, salt and baking soda. Blend in flour, about 1/2 cup at a time. Blend in oats. (Mixture will look crumbly.)

Set 2 cups of oat mixture aside for topping; press remainder evenly over baking pan. Spread evenly with cranberry filling; sprinkle with remaining oat mixture. Bake 25 to 27 minutes or until topping is lightly-browned. Cool on wire rack. Cut into bars, about 2-by-1 1/2 inches. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 32 bars.

TOFFEE BARS
1/2 cup margarine or butter
1 cup oats
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/2 cup unsifted flour
1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts
1/4 teaspoon baking soda
1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk (NOT evaporated milk)
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1 (8-ounce) package semi-sweet chocolate chips

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In large saucepan, melt 6 tablespoons margarine; stir in oats, brown sugar, flour, nuts and baking soda. Pat firmly onto bottom of greased 13-by-9 inch baking pan; bake 10 to 15 minutes, or until slightly golden.

Meanwhile, in medium saucepan, combine remaining margarine and sweetened condensed milk. Over medium heat, cook and stir until mixture thickens slightly, about 15 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in vanilla. Pour over crust; return to oven and bake 10 to 15 minutes longer, or until golden brown.

Remove from oven; immediately sprinkle chips on top. Let stand 1 minute; spread while still warm. Cool to room temperature; chill. Cut into bars. Store tightly covered at room temperature.

For gifts, wrap in paper, then Christmas wrap and tie with ribbon. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 48 bars.

PETITE CHEESECAKES
1 1/4 cups graham cracker crumbs

1/2 cup melted butter
1 tablespoon sugar
1 pound cream cheese
2 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 can whole-berry cranberry sauce

Combine graham cracker crumbs, melted butter and sugar in medium bowl. Mix. Put mixture into cupcake pans lined with cupcake papers.

Mix cream cheese, eggs, sugar, vanilla and lemon rind in large bowl. Pour over graham cracker crumb mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes. Let cool. Top each cupcake with whole-berry cranberry sauce. Wrap in paper and refrigerate. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 40 cheesecakes.

FORCUPINES
1 cup creamy peanut butter
1/2 cup condensed milk, undiluted
1/4 cup unsifted confectioners' sugar
1/2 cup finely chopped cocktail peanuts

In a bowl combine creamy peanut butter, condensed milk and confectioners' sugar. Mix thoroughly until well blended. (Mixture will stiffen.) Divide into 24 equal pieces. Roll each piece into a ball about 1 1/4 inches in diameter. As balls are shaped, roll in chopped cocktail peanuts. Chill. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 2-dozen pieces.

PEANUT BUTTER FUDGE
1 (12-ounce) package peanut butter flavored chips
1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk (NOT evaporated milk)
1 cup chopped peanuts
In heavy saucepan over low heat, melt chips with sweetened condensed milk; stir occasionally. Remove from heat; stir in peanuts. Spread evenly into wax paper-lined 9-inch square pan. Chill 2 hours or until firm. Turn fudge onto cutting board; peel off paper and cut into squares. Store covered at room temperature. This kitchen-tested recipe makes about 2 pounds of fudge.

Remove from oven; immediately sprinkle chips on top. Let stand 1 minute; spread while still warm. Cool to room temperature; chill. Cut into bars. Store tightly covered at room temperature.

Soviets deny sweepstakes agreement

By PAULA BITTRICK
United Press International

HOUSTON — A company sponsoring a sweepstakes to win a trip to the Soviet space station Mir maintained the contest was valid Tuesday despite Soviet reports questioning the agreement.

Prosecutors with the Harris County district attorney's consumer fraud division late Tuesday said grand jurors will be asked to determine whether the contest violates Texas lottery laws.

The founders of the Houston-based Space Travel Services Corp. said they will survive the inquiry and prove their contest is legal.

Space Travel Services Corp. announced Monday the company had a contract to send an American on a week-long all-expenses-paid trip to the Soviet space station Mir.

The company said it was holding a sweepstakes to find the lucky winner and hopeful "cosmonauts" could enter the contest by spending $2.99 to call a 800 telephone number.

However, the official Soviet news agency Tass moved a story Tuesday saying Soviet officials had "denied" the reports that a U.S. citizen might fly on a Soviet rocket.

Soviet space officials reached in Moscow Tuesday said they could confirm negotiations had been held with an American company but they were not sure if a contract had been signed. An official at the Soviet space agency Glavkosmos referred questions to the Energia enterprise.

Vladimir Zenkin, deputy commercial manager for Energia, told United Press International "there have been negotiations with the Americans," but he did not know if a contract had been signed. He said all other questions would have to be answered by his supervisor.

OLD FASHIONED VALUES AT KNIGHT'S SHOE STORE

Take a walk down town this Christmas, and you'll find Knight's Shoe Store. Knight's is Sanford's only family owned and operated family shoe store.

Formerly Ivey's Shoe Store, opened in 1953, Don Knight bought the shoe store from his former employer, in 1989.

Knight's carries name brand shoes such as Hushpuppies, Naturalizer and Old Main Trotters for women and Freeman, Hushpuppies and French Shriner for men.

For children, Knight's offers Hushpuppies and Child Stride. There is a wide selection of athletic shoes for the entire family. Nurses can find professional shoes such as Soft Spots, Nursamate and Clinic. The ever-popular Acme and Dingo boots are also available at Knight's.

Knight's suggests Daniel Greene house slippers for men and women for Christmas this year. There are also purses, hose, evening shoes and socks for stocking stuffers.

For that "hard-to-buy-for" or "hard-to-fit" person on your list, Knight's has gift certificates.

You can always charge your gift on VISA or MasterCard and during the holiday season, Knight's will gift wrap your purchase free.

THE BEST

What is it that sets one person, one team, one company apart?
It's the desire to be the best. At First Union we could offer the standard services, but we prefer to add more options and more service than you'll get from any other bank. Because we want to be the best. Talk to us. There is a difference in banking at First Union.

Hillhaven Named Official North Pole Substation

Last week, Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith signed a proclamation naming Hillhaven Health Care Center, for the third year as an official North Pole Substation. Residents of Hillhaven have been specially trained to take orders for Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus on their Ho-Ho Hotline.

Children of all ages can call Hillhaven December 17th through December 24th at 324-4146, talk to Mr. or Mrs. Claus and place their orders for Christmas.

Sheryl Joseph, Activity Director for Hillhaven, has coordinated the Ho-Ho-Hotline for two years. All orders go directly to the North Pole for processing in time for Christmas.

Then, after Christmas, on December 26th and 27th the kids can call back to thank Santa for all their goodies.

The Ho-Ho-Hotline is done as a public service by Hillhaven Health Care Center and there is no charge for the call beyond normal operating charges.

ORIENT IV RESTAURANT, ATIELS CUSTOM APPAREL TO DEBUT IN HEATHROW SHOPS

Heathrow Shops, the stylish pavilion known and appreciated for casual, comfortable shopping and relaxation, is brimming with activity this holiday season as the final stages of construction and decoration are being completed for exciting new shops opening in January.

Located just west of I-4 on Lake Mary Boulevard, Heathrow Shops are known for specializing in preferred treatment for their customers and visitors.

The Orient IV at Heathrow, a Central Florida tradition featuring Chinese and American cuisine since 1974, will reopen January 2 in Heathrow Shops. Host "Fred," widely known after 15 years as a restaurateur in Altamonte Springs, promises authentic Chinese cuisine, American favorites, and plenty of new creations for the 1990's. Adopting the slogan, "a fine meal is an unforgettable experience," Orient IV offers a complete menu and full bar at moderate prices; lunch for about $4, dinners around $8. Take-out orders are available, and Orient IV will even send you a menu by facsimile; just send your request by FAX to 333-4185. Reservations will be available by phoning 333-3388.

Also opening in January will be Atiels Fashion Design, an innovative women's apparel boutique specializing in the custom design and creation of fashions for the individual.

Already newly opened for the holiday season is Magnolia Floral Design, a new shop featuring custom arrangements and home decorating with flowers. Magnolia Design offers unusual and tropical greens, flowers and bulbs, and takes pride in its collection of plush animals representing endangered species, a portion of the proceeds of which benefit the World Wildlife Fund. Worldwide floral delivery services are available, with telephone orders accepted at 333-9865 or 800-233-6587.

An established favorite in Heathrow Shops is the Pasta Lovers Trattoria, the casual Italian restaurant that features a vast variety of delicious pasta entrees; generous portions served in deep bowls to assure perfect taste. This trattoria, including a full bar and lounge with an excellent selection of Italian beverages, offers luncheons from $4.25 and dinners from $6.75...the perfect respite in your busy shopping season.

Fifty Feet Of Feet

ALC Western Wear has it all - boots, hats, moccasins, mens and women's shirts and jeans, skirts, prarie slaps, dusters, belts, buckles, bolos, and accessories. In fact they have so many men's and women's boots that they've got shelf after shelf of boots lined up against the wall.

Marv and Penny Grimm are the owners. They say they're unique in that there one of a few shops where a lady can outfit herself from head to toe as well as a man.

Marv and Penny opened up nine years ago at Fleaworld. They were a small hat shop with $450 worth of merchandise. In 1987 they moved to the Peddlers market until the market closed without notice. The Grimms moved their entire stock to their next shop at Lake Kathryn Plaza in Casselberry. Finally in Dec. of 89 the Grimms made their final move. To their present location (706 N. Hwy. 17-92 Longwood). Penny recalled "we moved the day after Christmas and opened two days later. Even the customers stopped to help us set up. We couldn't have done it without them!"

If your looking for name brands, ALC has them. Some of the brands they stock are Tony Lama, Laredo, Dingo, J. Chisholm, Stetson, Bailey, Roper, Rockmount, Kenny Rogers, Wrangler, and many more.

Marv and Penny feel their shops (Flea World and Hwy 17-92) are so successful because they love what they do. It's a warm friendly atmosphere. They're on a first name basis with their customers which they say is great. They always have a fresh pot of coffee and during the Christmas season you can stop in for egg nog and cookies.

The shop does not run sales, they feel if you've put it on sale it was probably less expensive to begin with. ALC has something for every ones tastes and pocketbook. So call 834-4848 or stop by at 706 N. Hwy. 17-92 in Longwood. The coffee is always fresh!

CHRISTMAS KOTTAGE

Fibber Magees Tradition Comes To Lake Mary

Larry & Carol Lane

Fibber Magees Kountry Shoppe and Christmas Kottage, a landmark on East Colonial Drive since March of 1982, now has a second store open in Lake Mary Centre, for the holiday season. Owners Larry and Carol Lane, who themselves recently moved to Lake Mary, thought this area was ideal for continuing a "tradition." Though the Lake Mary store is only now open for the Christmas shopping season, there are plans for future expansion into this area.

Larry and Carol, originally natives of Indiana, have been in the home furnishings business since 1977. Larry builds custom cabinets and other furniture. Carol is a floral design technologist. Originally, involved in craft shows with furniture and gift baskets, they decided to open a country store to showcase their furniture and accessories. They later decided to include gift items because they felt the two concepts went "hand-in-hand."

Larry says what makes Fibber Magees unique is that it is almost like a local attraction, that you return to time and time again. "There are more gift items than you can see in one visit."

The East Colonial Drive store has seasonal display with items unique to the time of the year.

Both stores will be holding a "After Christmas Sale before Santa comes", beginning Sunday, December 23. All Christmas items will be marked down for great savings before Christmas.

If you've never been to Fibber Magees, why not start a new tradition this year.

NAPA AutoCare Center

We Install Quality NAPA Parts

NAPA AUTO CARE CENTERS / SANFORD AUTO PARTS

A LITTLE HISTORY

Sanford Auto Parts, Inc. 115 West First Street, Downtown Sanford, was founded by F.D. Scott in 1945. Sanford Auto Parts was originally located in the Welaka Building and was called Orlando Parts & Gear. It was renamed by Mr. Scott in 1945 to Sanford Auto Parts when he became a National Automotive Parts Association (NAPA) jobber. When the old Princess Theater across the street came up for sale Mr. Scott purchased it and moved in. Sanford Auto Parts has been at 115 West First Street ever since. Ralph Larson joined the business as manager in August 1971 after 20 years in the United States Air Force. He purchased the company in July 1973 when Mr. Scott retired. Sanford Auto Parts has become known as "your one stop" store in Downtown Sanford for your automotive and industrial needs.

COMING IN 1991

NAPA AUTO CARE CENTERS

What are "NAPA Auto Care Centers"? Independently owned repair facilities that perform high quality service. Install quality parts backed by NAPA's National Warranty Program.

The motorist wants quality parts and quality service for his car. So it's only logical that he comes to a NAPA Autocare Center for his vehicle maintenance and repair. Why? Because of the NAPA reputation and the reputation of our traditional customers. In 1990, these two reputations once again join together, forming the marketing partnership known as the NAPA Auto Care Program.

Throughout the country hundreds of Auto Care Centers are coming into being and serviced by over 6700 NAPA Auto Part Stores like Sanford Auto Parts.

The following outstanding independent facilities are coming into the NAPA Autocare Program in the Sanford area.

Take The Guesswork Out Of Appliance Buying

Ed Milcarsky's Appliance Centre is located at 461 E. Hwy. 17-92 in Longwood.

Ask your neighbor — where's the best place to go for a major appliance purchase — chances are they'll say Ed Milcarsky's. Not only are you guaranteed the lowest prices but the best selection and service after the sale.

The showroom is unlike any other in Central Florida. Not only are you able to see the appliances — some are hooked up live and in Natural Kitchen settings so you can better visualize how they'll look in your home.

Ed Milcarsky has been in the appliance business since 1952 and is known locally as Mister Appliance. Feel free to call him on any appliance problems or installation. The appliance does not need to have been purchased from his store. Knowledge and a friendly way of dispensing it has been what has made Ed Milcarsky's a familiar name among families in the Central Florida area.

Ed is an authorized dealer for General Electric, Kitchen Aid, Jenn-Air, Sub Zero, Thermador, Dacor as well as Scottman and U-Line Ice Makers. There is also a full operating kitchen. You can see, touch and operate the appliances.

Ed believes that you should spend your money wisely — buy better quality at a reasonable price.

If you want to take the guesswork out of appliance buying, make Ed Milcarsky's Appliance Centre a must stop. Stop by today, at 461 E. Highway 434 in Longwood or call 830-6800.

Happy Holidays!
