Winter Springs woman abducted, thrown in trunk

A Winter Springs woman was abducted Wednesday and locked in her own vehicle trunk.

The 22-year-old victim tells authorities she was attacked by a man who was hiding inside her car, who forced her into the trunk and then reportedly drove around with her locked inside before leaving the car in a wooded area near Temple Way and Shore Road in Winter Springs.

The woman says it all began around 11 a.m., Jan. 7. She says she went to the Great Clips hair salon at Tusawilla and Red Bug Lake roads to get a haircut. She says the wait was too long so she went back to her car in the parking lot. She says once she was inside her car, a man hiding in the back seat attacked her and forced her into the trunk. She says she was in the trunk until the early afternoon when a family member called her cell phone. The family member was concerned because she hadn't shown up for work. The victim says when the cell phone rang it awakened her and she told the family member what had happened.

The family member called Winter Springs police and an officer made contact with the victim and instructed her how to get out the trunk. The victim got out, walked to the intersection of Temple Way and Shore Road, and informed police of her location.

According to investigators, she suffered cuts and bruises, including visible injuries to her face.

She describes her attacker as a white male, in his late 20's to early 30's, who was wearing a blue, stocking-type cap that fit snugly around his head. She also said he was wearing a heavy, dark-colored jacket.

Anybody with information about this case is asked to call the Seminole County Sheriff's Office at 407-665-6600, or Crime Line at 1-800-423-TIPS.

Thieves 'smash and grab' for jewels at mall

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — An armed robbery Thursday at Mayor's Jewelry Store at the Seminole Towne Center resulted in the loss of several thousand dollars in jewelry.

The robbery was reported at approximately 11 a.m.

Sanford police said five Hispanic or Caucasian males, wearing dark clothing and ski masks entered the store and broke some of the jewelry cases with a hammer and sledge hammer. The hammers were located on the floor of the store after the five escaped. A witness said the men were speaking to each other in Spanish, and that one of them apparently had a handgun.

Although the metal roll up gates were down at the entrance to the store, police believe entry was made from the back corridor door, and it is believed that is the same door through which the men made their escape.

A number of police officers and security personnel attempted to track the five men down, but were unsuccessful.

During the investigation, police were informed that a Voyager van was found on the east parking area with the ignition punched and the motor still running. Also, the vehicle's sliding side door was open. At the time the vehicle was located, no one had reported it as stolen. Several items, possibly used in the robbery were found inside the vehicle. Crime scene investigators processed the vehicle.

There was no immediate indication of what was taken in the robbery, but it was revealed that possibly 60 or more Rolex watches were taken.

Charges which will be placed against the perpetrators are expected to be robbery with a firearm, and grand larceny of more than $100,000.

The robbery continues under investigation by Sanford police.

CITY BATTY FOR NIGHT-FLYING MAMMALS

By Christopher Patton
Managing Editor

SANFORD — There's a new attempt to reduce the pesky midge population along Lake Monroe and no it's not a retreat of years ago when martin bishous used the lakefront.

For decades, Sanford has been searching for ways to control the proliferation of the midge, or blind insect, in the summer. The small, irritable flies lay its eggs in the lake and their larvae throughout downtown Sanford.

film on many building exteriors costing businesses lost profits and the city potential development.

The city's downfall in the martin bird ploy was the non-biting midges were out at night while the birds flew by day. Enter Sanford's newest tactic of encouraging bats to Lake Monroe. The Sanford Historic Trust recently donated a $350 bat house to Sanford and coordinated with the city on the best location for the house.

Last week, city employees installed the bat house behind the Sanford Museum at 220 E. First St. The newest addition to Sanford's lakefront will hopefully mitigate two problems, said James Kuhn, president of Sanford Historic Trust.

"I've noticed this terrible smell all summer," said Kuhn, a resident of Sanford's historic district on Palmisto Avenue, "and this was actually the first time the smell had been in the area."

Iraqi Diary: Rumors regarding Saddam's capture

Editor's note: Staff Sgt. Charles C. Carlson III, son of Sanford historian Charles C. Carlson II, is deployed in Baghdad as part of the 549th Military Police Company. He is providing the Herald with a journal of his experiences.

4 Jan. 2004 Remember that plastic mannequin leg we found several weeks back, the one that we had on the back of the humvee until they made us take it off, well, it is now the center piece in the room where my soldiers live. That thing will probably end up back at Fort Stewart as some kind of monument.

Our platoon made some kind of cabbage, pepperoni, and macaroni soup on our fire pit last night and it tasted pretty good. It was cold outside last night and the smell of the wood burning and that big pot of soup reminded me of the Civil War (Although I wasn't ever in the Civil War). My canteen cup is now my pen and pencil holder on my makeshift desk, which is made out of four MRE boxes with an electrical fuse box door laid across for the top.

Our Internet guy, Dana, who ran our computer service, was fired for embezzlement. His father fired him, as his father owns the computer business that furnishes us Internet service.

I forgot to mention in my last e-mail that I in the boxes from the Herald, there was a brand new wallet for me from Mr. Jones of Sanford, and inside was a $20 bill. So I thank Mr. Jones for that. I put the money to good use. I bought Internet time for my soldiers so they could send some e-mails home. It costs $4 an hour to use the Internet, but it actually works better than the mail system and is certainly faster.

Remember how I complained about the 130 degree heat? Well now it is shivering cold at night in the warehouse where we live, I have to sleep under my blanket. Make no mistake, I will take the cold over that desert heat.

We have made our living area better. We now have doors to our areas. I have made two rooms for my place. You come in and close the flap, a poncho liner, behind you and then you have to go through another flap to get into my office and living room. If I stay here long enough and can put enough flaps of canvas I can turn my area into a four room place. With all the talk about us coming back to Iraq I may as well rent myself an apartment in Baghdad since we aren't allowed to live in the USA anymore as the result of back-to-back deployments.

We now have tower duty on tower 5 and 6. The 3rd Platoon is escorting the Regimental Commander around. Tower duty is boring. We do 0700 until 1900 hours and then 2nd Platoon has the duty from 1900 until 0700 hours.

5 Jan. 2004 I heard some stuff about Saddam Hussein's capture. Remember how I wrote a couple of months back about how they thought they had him cornered in the hotel area of Baghdad? We were involved with that hunt.

Airport numbers flat for 2003

But officials optimistic about domestic gains

By Dan Ping

SANFORD — After four consecutive years of growth, passenger counts at Orlando Sanford International Airport remained flat for 2003.

Airport officials remain upbeat about the facilities growth despite a 1 percent decrease in the number of passengers who traveled through Sanford last year. Combined domestic and international statistics indicate 1.253 million people used the airport in 2003 as compared to 1.263 million passengers in 2002.

"2003 was a challenge for us," said Victor White, vice president of the Sanford Airport Authority. "The first six months of the year

Authorities arrest man for fraud

LAKE MARY — Lake Mary police helped bring down a man Thursday suspected of defrauding more than 50 Floridians.

The operation began when Lake Mary officers fielded a call Tuesday from an area bank that suspected a man had deposited a couple fraudulent checks, said Lake Mary police Chief Richard Beary. Southern Community Bank, 175 Timacuan Blvd., Lake Mary, questioned several Ford Motor Credit checks totaling more than $20,000 that were deposited by a Keith Alan Wright — an alias for 39-year-old Rodney Todd Wright. The next morning, the man tried to cash another fraudulent check at the Southern Community Bank branch in Longwood, 2491 W. State Road 434.

"The man was trying to cash a check — treating the waters to see if those others had cleared," Beary said. "We had that Coaching change: With the end of the college bowl games, it's time for the BCS debate to begin in earnest.

No, not the Bowl Championship Series. We all know a room full of computers is a flawed way to pick a national champion. The BCS — Begin the Coaching Shifts — starts late in the regular season and continues until late January on the college level. Case in point is the University of Central Florida's firing of head football coach Mike Kruczek. The Golden Knights replaced their long-time coach with George O'Leary, the NCAA 2000 National Coach of the Year.

Around the Clock

by Dan Ping

Yeah, all of this is old, old news I know, so here's something I betcha didn't know: O'Leary has tapped Seminole High School's head football coach for a spot on his staff. Word Around the Clock is that Jim Bernhardt submitted his resignation to Seminole High Athletic Director Mike Powers Friday morning in anticipation of being named UCF's director of football operations or some such title. Sweet! It's not everyday that high school coaches are asked to join the staff of an emerging Division I football program.

Best of luck to Coach Bernhardt as he steps up to the next level.

Just plain dumb: It's official. I'm placing a 1-year ban on myself from using the term "Wrongwood" to describe the city of Longwood. After the dumb mistake I made, I'm not licensed to use the term.

In my Year in Review column last week I wrongly wrote that Longwood Commissioner Mike Holt led the charge for a "no confidence" vote on Mayor Dan Anderson. Not so. It was actually Commissioner Brian Sackett who led that campaign, though Holt did second the motion.

How did I make such a glaring error? Quite frankly, I'm not sure. I wrote most of the column while vacationing in East Tennessee, so I'm blaming it on the intoxicating combination of thin mountain air and moonshine, or, Tennessee spring water.

Whatever the case, I understand Holt has vowed to lead a "no confidence" campaign against hillbilly editors who write smart-aleck columns. Hmmm. Maybe that explains why Orlando Sentinel editor Tim Franklin high-tailed it to Baltimore earlier this week.

Black and white confidence? Several of Seminole County's top shakers gathered at the Hamilton Inn at Colonial Town Center for a round-table discussion about economic development.

Sponsored by the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce, the meeting was requested by state Rep. Jennifer Carroll and members of the Clay County Chamber of Commerce. Carroll and her business buddies would like to see their region south of Jacksonville prosper like Seminole County has, and to that end wanted to pick the brains of some of those who helped create the I-4 High-Tech Corridor.

Many of the local folks talked about the importance of partnerships, good schools and visionary leaders as keys to Seminole County's success. All agreed these were important, but one participant noted that maybe a little divine — or not so divine — intervention played a role.

In the 1960s, Sanford's billionaire businessman Jeno Paulucci was building his Heathrow office park and residential community on the west side of Interstate 4. There were those in the community (probably a moonshine sipping editor) who figured Jeno had eaten a bad pizza roll and was promoting a pipe dream. Some even started calling the project "Deathrow." In the end, Jeno proved them wrong and landed a whopper — the North American headquarters of AAA — that helped attract other major companies to the area.

During negotiations, so the story goes, the suits at AAA were concerned about the drive time to Orlando International Airport. There was no GreeneWay to provide easy access to the airport, and AAA was considering a site west of Orlando, so drive time to OIA was crucial. Paulucci suggested AAA simultaneously send drivers to the airport from the two prospective sites. At the designated time, both cars left the starting position. As luck — or something — would have it, a semi truck broke down in West Orlando, delaying traffic for 20 minutes. The driver from Seminole County arrived at the airport first, of course, and Deathrow became Heathrow.

No one at Thursday's meeting would confirm it, but from the knowing laughter many suspect Jeno had something to do with that truck breaking down. Whether he did or not, doesn't matter. The I-4 High-Tech Corridor was born and Jeno created another business success story to add his legend. Sweet!

account flagged so they called us and as the sheriff's office and our people were pulling up he fled."

A brief vehicle chase ensued south on Interstate 4 until Seminole County authorities broke it off and let a sheriff's office helicopter follow the man close to the Orlando International Airport.

As officers broke off the chase in the Seminole County, they noticed him throwing out documents, checks and receipts from his vehicle window.

"We picked up all those documents and what we found was that he had worked for Courtesy Acura," Beary said. "And what he had was copies of everybody's sales receipt, which had their credit rating and social security numbers so what he was doing was applying for credit cards in other people's names."

Since Wright's capture, Beary said investigators have been "inundated with victims" who suspect Wright has stolen their identity and had identified 11 victims as of Thursday. He said 68 names appear on the paperwork Wright threw out the window while being chased.

Police may have been one step to slow to capture Wright at the Longwood bank Wednesday, but they surely wouldn't let him slip away from Central Florida.

"Mr. Wright made the wrong decision staying here in Central Florida," Beary said. "We knew we were a step behind him the day before, and we closed the gap on him real quick yesterday. We had everybody in Central Florida looking for him."

When Wright ordered room service Thursday at the Hyatt at Orlando International Airport, airport police made their move to arrest him.

"He called for room service, but the room service wasn't exactly what he expected," Beary said. "It was us."

Wright is currently being held in the Orange County Jail without bond. He is also wanted in Brevard County on four charges that include credit card fraud. Lake Mary police are charging Wright with grand theft, credit card fraud, uttering counterfeit checks, identity theft and possible exploitation of the elderly.

"(A lot) of these people were citizens and he knew that because their date of birth was on the credit forms," Beary said.

Lake Mary police are advising customers of Courtesy Acura during the past few years to check their credit card statements. If there are improper charges on the statements, they are to call the police department at 407-585-1375.

"All the documents of names that we recovered, we will be sending them letters," Beary said.

The Birds are Here

Parents need to be involved in their children's education

It's that time of year again. The snow birds are arriving in large numbers. For many of them, they spent the holidays up North with their families, then head for Florida immediately after New Year's for warmer weather. There is nothing wrong with that — many of us, if we lived where there is cold weather and snow to shovel, would probably do the same thing if we could afford it.

Nick Pfeiffauf

Just look around at the license plates on vehicles parked downtown, at our shopping centers, or moving down the highways. As should be expected, most of the vehicles coming down here on I-95 are from the eastern states, especially New England, and the rest, from the Central States, are coming here on I-75. Many others are flying to Central Florida and obtaining rental cars.

En route, they are filling up the motels, and once they arrive, they are staying at our area hotels, motels, campgrounds and condos. Some are staying with relatives.

Persons staying in hotels and motels in our county, pay an extra tourist tax (bed tax). The money goes to the Seminole County Convention and Visitors Bureau. The money is used to promote Seminole County as a tourist destination. February and March, when most of the snowbirds are here, have traditionally seen the highest amount of tax money coming in. Most recently, the money has been used to promote sporting events and attract major conventions.

This is an excellent area in which to spend the winter, as the Sanford area is almost in the center to most of the attractions, Disney World, Universal, Seaworld, Daytona Beach with its beaches and speedway, Cape Kennedy, and over to the west, Bush Gardens and another coast of beaches.

While our highways are getting more crowded, and there are fewer parking places than at other times of the year, this is a boon for our economy. Taxes received from hotel/motel occupancy help in many ways. The money spent for food, clothing and other necessities also adds to our prosperity.

Some Central Florida residents dislike this time of year, and would like to see the northerners stay home, out of our communities. One suggestion I heard a number of years ago was to make all of the highways going over Florida's state line, one-way-only, to the north. But aren't many of us doing exactly what our northern folks do?

First of all, there are the families who take the children up north in the winter time. Many youngsters have never seen snow, and a few days in that white stuff is often most enjoyable, especially for the small fry who make snowballs and build snowmen.

Then too, what happens in the summer when our days are scorching hot? We head up north for a vacation. I don't know about you, but in the church I belong to, there are dozens of folks who head up to North Carolina during the summer, many of them in the area around Asheville, Boone, and Henderson. I know a number of families who maintain summer homes up there, often next door to others from Central Florida. Then, when they return, I hear them talking: "Haven't seen you since we were in North Carolina". No one up there complains. We are adding to their economy.

Another complaint about snow birds down here is that many of them drive too slowly. Some people say they hit I-4 at a rousing speed of 40 miles per hour. Well, don't we do the same up north? Driving through mountains is often difficult for those of us in the flat lands, and we too are apt to be driving more slowly than those behind us may wish. And for folks pulling a camper or driving a motor home, it's often worse.

Now, don't take me wrong. My use of the term "snow birds" is not meant in any derogatory manner. We have called our northern visitors in the wintertime that for decades, and they often refer to themselves as such, so if you are offended by the title - please accept my apology.

Has anyone heard how the folks up north refer to us when we head that way in the summertime? Sanford has been labeled "The Friendly City". As such, it behooves each of us to be courteous to all of our visitors. We know from experience at the Golden Age Games that people from other parts of the nation judge us by the way we conduct ourselves. If we act friendly and treat them as guests, they want to return. People often stop and ask such questions as how to get to the Autotrain, where motels are located, or where to eat. It doesn't take much effort to answer them courteously. Believe me, they will appreciate it, just as we do when we ask similar questions during our northern vacations.

Then too, many of our present residents have moved here because we were friendly to them when they first visited us. So again, it's to our benefit.

Dean's tough talk about business is right on the mark

If his conservative critics (and Joe Lieberman) are to be believed, Howard Dean is an out-of-touch lefty, a peacenik, a tax-and-spend liberal who believes in the nanny state. And if Dean becomes the Democratic nominee, President Bush will happily join the chorus to caricature him as an icon of the left-wing fringe.

Cynthia Tucker

Dean may deserve some of the criticism. His careless rhetoric — he has hammered Bill Clinton and other Democratic centrists, for example, as "the Republican wing of the Democratic Party" — has given his rivals handy ammunition.

wherein big investors pocketed extra profits by bilking small investors. That hits average Americans where it hurts, since most of us who own stock tend to buy it through mutual funds.

Remember Enron, in which longtime employees were left jobless and drained of their retirement

Oddly, however, working-class America seems less than outraged by the antics of the rich and felonious. Despite the widespread evidence of a corporate class of thieves and con artists (an international class, it seems, from reports about misdeeds at the Italian company Parmalat), average Americans seem much more upset by illegal immigrants and impoverished single mothers than they do by shameless corporate fraud.

What has happened to populism in this country? Why do struggling working-class Americans, believing they have been victimized, blame the hapless poor rather than the scheming rich?

Perhaps the disconnect can be explained, partly, by the relative affluence of the news media. While journalists of two generations ago were ink-stained wretches who barely made a living, today's journalists are usually college-educated and comfortably middle-class.

That's especially true of the Washington-based journalists who cover the White House and presidential campaigns. Most earn salaries well above the average household income of about $42,000 a year. They send their children to the same prep schools and colleges attended by the children of corporate executives; they don't relate to laid-off textile workers. So when the Washington press corps writes about Dean's criticism of business excesses, their reports are tinged with skepticism.

Or there may be another explanation: the singular success of conservative efforts to kill off populist instincts. For 20 years, a network of right-wing pundits, including talk-show hosts such as Rush Limbaugh, have decried the poor as lazy and irresponsible while lauding the rich as deserving and hardworking. The result? Even laid-off factory workers are prepared to support lavish tax cuts for the wealthy while denouncing critics of corporate excess as pandering to class warfare.

There is a nefarious class warfare under way in the country, but it is directed against the poor and working classes. Just a few days ago, The Associated Press reported that the U.S. Labor Department is telling businesses how to dodge paying low-income workers the overtime for which they are expected to become eligible later this year. Among the suggestions was raising workers' salaries to a new $22,100 yearly threshold, which would make them ineligible for overtime, or cutting their hourly wages, so that added overtime would keep their annual wages at the same rate.

You can't blame Howard Dean for thinking working-class Americans would be upset about that.

From Ho Chi Minh to Baghdad: It's still the same old story

The War Remnants Museum on Vo Van Tan Street in the middle of this clogged city has not really changed in the dozen years since I first saw it. The courtyard is jammed with American weapons, even tanks and jet fighter planes, and with horrific photographs of broken and burned people, dead and alive, Vietnamese and American.

Richard Reeves

The walls are still hung with drawings of war by schoolchildren. They look the same as always at first glance: U.S. planes dropping bombs on burning villages and villagers. But then you notice something different in the newer ones. The women and girls screaming, bleeding and dying on the ground are wearing head scarves instead of the conical hats of local farmers. The captions repeat a single phrase: "War in Iraq, 2003."

There is also a new entry display. The first thing you see is a blown-up quote from "In Retrospect: The Tragedy and Lessons of Vietnam," the 1995 book by former U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara: "We were wrong, terribly wrong. We owe it to future generations to explain why."

"It's still the same old story ..." was the entry before mine in the new 2004 visitors book. The line from "As Time Goes By" — the song tinkled in "Casablanca" — was written by an Italian whose name I couldn't quite decipher. Others, in Western languages, said the same thing in other words. One, on Aug. 20 in the 2003 book, noted the more than 40 deaths that day in the bombing of the United Nations headquarters in Baghdad and bombings around the corner in Under that, in Vietnamese, it says: "The following figures represent part of those wrongdoings. In the Vietnam war, the U.S. government mobilized 6.5 million young people ... 7,850,000 tons of bombs were dropped on Vietnam, along with 75 million liters of defoliants sprayed over croplands ... nearly 3 million Vietnamese were killed, and over 4 million injured. Over 58,000 American Army men died in the war."

Those numbers alone show that whatever we end up doing in Iraq, our new war is not Vietnam — at least militarily. That was an 11-year struggle against a determined and patient national army resupplied by communist neighbors and allies.

The war fought by the Vietnamese was both an ongoing civil war and a war of independence in a country that had been fighting for as long as anyone could remember against outsiders, the Chinese, the French, the Americans, the Chinese again. The North Vietnamese had a well-trained and flexible army, well supplied. They also fought with U.S. weaponry and ammunition, the stuff captured or left behind on a thousand battlefields in the jungles and deltas.

In retrospect, it seems obvious we could never have prevailed in our crusade here. The Vietnamese had been there forever and would be there forever. One way or another, we were going to go home, leaving Vietnam to the Vietnamese. No matter what our intentions, the same thing will happen in Iraq — because politically the American campaigns in Vietnam and Iraq are pretty much the same old story.

When will we learn? Never, probably. The center of this city the French colonialists called Saigon has changed so much that you can barely see the Saigon River from the ninth-floor bar of the Caravelle Hotel. The view is blocked now by bank and office skyscrapers built here in the last 10 years by outsiders eager to sell capitalism to the communists who still run the politics of Vietnam from Hanoi, hundreds of miles to the north. In the end, it seems, dollars, euros, yen and yuan will conquer as surely as millions of our soldiers could not.

The Caravelle, which has its own 30-story annex now, is where foreign journalists gathered before the Americans went home in 1975. The bar is also the place where a young American congressman named John F. Kennedy watched rifle and mortar fire in the trees across the river. That was in 1951. He asked his companion then, a young Foreign Service officer named Edmund Gullion, what was going to happen in Vietnam.

"They will drive the French out," said Gullion. "Then we will come in, and they'll beat us, too."

Within 10 years — after the French had indeed been driven out in 1954 — President John F. Kennedy was sending American troops in, confident we could save Vietnam from itself.

We couldn't do it then. Even if you want to believe our motives in Iraq are generous and noble, it will be interesting to see, in retrospect, how President Bush and his secretary of defense, Donald Rumsfeld, will explain their decisions to future generations.

Central Florida Zoo seeks volunteers

The Central Florida Zoo is seeking dedicated people to participate in its docent training program. Volunteer teachers referred to as docents, are an integral part of the zoo staff. Providing education for children and adults about conservation of animals and the environment, docents participate in an array of activities. In 2003, zoo volunteers served more than 22,000 hours, reaching thousands of people through tours, animal encounters and community outreach programs. A docent training course is being offered with two classes running concurrently on Wednesday, March 3, and Saturday, March 6, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Anyone 18 or older is eligible to participate in the seven-week program. The cost is $40, which includes class materials and a Central Florida Zoo T-shirt. Volunteers able to work during the day to assist school children are especially in demand. No teaching experience is necessary. Applications are due by Feb. 20 and are available on-line at www.centralfloridazoo.org or by calling. A volunteer orientation will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 25. Course graduation will qualify each volunteer to conduct zoo tours, participate in school outreach programs, provide exhibit interpretation, and more. Also, each docent will be offered a three-week Animal Handling Class, to learn how to handle species of reptiles, birds, mammals, and invertebrates for outreach programs and animals' encounters. For more information, call 407-323-4450, ext. 120 or log on to the zoo's Web site at www.centralfloridazoo.org.

Dr. E.D. Brownlee enters 36th year as pastor

Edwin Darnell Brownlee, D.D., began his 36th year as pastor of First Presbyterian Church the previous Sunday morning. This was the longest pastorate in the Presbyterian Synod of Florida.

During his long service, Dr. Brownlee had preached 5,180 sermons, conducted 140 funerals and 535 weddings.

When Brownlee began his pastorate, there were 135 on the roll of the church. Present membership was 932.

During the previous 35 years, 854 members were received by confirmation of faith and 975 by letter of transfer.

Brownlee's assistant, Rev. Douglas E. Charles, had arrived in June and according to Brownlee he had endeared himself to the congregation and the entire community. During Brownlee's illness in

DeLoris Stanton Forbes pens her 43rd book, 'The Perils of Marie'

By Nick Pfohluff
Staff Writer

SANFORD — DeLoris Stanton Forbes lives and works in Sanford. Her work involves sitting at her computer turning out books that have received accolades throughout the nation. Her latest book, The Perils of Marie Louise is the 43rd she has had published.

Her first 40 books were published by Doubleday, but the writing stopped for a period of time when she and her husband moved to the French/Dutch Island of St. Martin/St. Maarten, where they owned and operated a guest house and three gift shops, catering to tourists.

In 1986, she moved back to the U.S. and settled in Sanford. Eventually, she began to write again, and in her spare time she volunteered in the Sanford Habitat for Humanity boutique.

She has since penned over a dozen short stories for Alfred Hitchcock's Mystery Magazine, as well as two recent books, "One Man Died on Base," published by Five Star, and "When the Hearse Goes By" published by Universe.

When asked where she gets her ideas for her books, she responded, "from living. I see things, and I imagine things, and they just stick with me."

The latest book, "The Perils of Marie Louise" she said came to her possibly when she was a child and her mother took her to see a movie about the Perils of Pauline.

"I'll never forget it," she said, "and over the years, the character became more and more realistic, and it resulted in this book."

Another heroine in her past was in a newspaper cartoon "Jane Ardin" who was a newspaper reporter and writer. Brenda Starr was also an early comic strip newspaper reporter. Early in her life, she put her writing skills to work professionally, and became a newspaper reporter, with jobs in Oklahoma, Louisiana and Massachusetts. During that time, she often wrote articles at her kitchen table while tending to her three children.

She has been anthologized at least half a dozen times and honored by a best mystery novel of the year scroll for 1963 for her novel "Grieve for the Past" by Stanton Forbes, one of her former pen names. She also has written under the name Tobias Wells.

Several times during an interview, she reiterated her success in her chosen field.

"I just love writing" she said, and with 43 books plus dozens of articles to her name, she has proven this is a very strong love.

Crooms classes celebrate reunions

Crooms Academy classes reunion attendees began on Friday to celebrate the fifth year of "Achievements and Service" to the various communities in which the alumni live. Fifty years of legacy was celebrated by the class of 1953 as they began their three day event with a Teachers Appreciation Luncheon held at the Best Western Marina Hotel. Speaker for the occasion was Dr. Connie Collins, principal of Crooms Academy of Information Technology.

Collins gave a brief update on the current Crooms Academy. She informed the reunioners that Crooms is at the top of academic performance. It has a strong learning environment where the students are reaching the level they need to be at advance placement in many classes. There are goals set to keep a strong education program.

Collins said that Crooms is working to meet the high expectation of the alumni, community and board of education.

Support is needed for the success of athletes at Crooms Academy of Information Technology.

To continue the afternoon luncheon, Lemuel Stallworth introduced classmate, the Honorable Aicee Hastings, U.S. House of Representatives and 1953 Crooms Academy alumni, who gave and spoke words of appreciation to the teachers and administrators, retiree Madelyn Young, Dr. Barbara Kirby Bentley and Collins. Musical renditions were by Sylvia H. Stallworth and Betty R. Washington.

The class of 1953 gathered to sing their Alma Mater as they prepared to enjoy the weekend's reunion activities.

Classes of 1963 and 1966 hold reunions

"Celebrating the Legacy of Crooms Academy" with excellence in education since 1926 was the theme.

Friday evening, once again, the class entered the realm of the extraordinary to "celebrate the Past, making a Difference in the Present, and Planning for

Geneva community groups helping history stay alive

Having spent the past week with my trusty calendar/planner (planning out the year is a minimum week-long process), I feel the need to let readers know a few events for which they might want to plan ahead.

Geneva's history is a rich, interesting, and unique one, but one that has been almost totally bulldozed from sight with the removal of all buildings that might remind one of the past. Out East Osceola Road, however, there stands one monument to a time — and an industry — gone by.

Just beyond the old fish camp and before the road dead ends at the river, a small brick structure hides off to the left of the road, slowly succumbing to the effects of time and climbing vines that will eventually crumble what is left. The lonely relic is a bank vault that was once hidden inside a stately office building belonging to the Osceola Cypress Mill.

Says Mary (Riley) Henderson of the days when Osceola was booming, "Our town was small and kinda' isolated but we didn't lack anything, you know; we were kinda' modern for those days. A paved road brought you in, and you went out the same way you came in.

"At the end of the road you came face to face with the Big Mill (The Industrial Park), a sawmill, planing mill, lumber yard and some small shops that kept things in running order. There were two big engines, No. 10 and No. 50. No. 50 had its own name, "Summersill," because he was the driver. It went on the East Coast Railroad Lines to far away places like Okeechobee to pick up logs from the cypress swamps.

"No. 10 stayed on local tracks and moved the logs around. They were dumped into a log pond on the St. Johns Rivers and then were run through the saw mill and planing mill, then to lumber yard to drier. A funny little machine called a Ross Carrier moved the lumber around to different places.

"Turning around and coming back out from the mill, first on the right was the business area (the office complex). It was one building with about four offices in it, plus the bank. The bank was a big brick vault where they kept coupons that were used for money, plus some real money too. It got robbed once! What great excitement! The old vault is still standing there as a silent reminder of bygone days."

In order to ensure that the vault continues to stand instead of crumble, an enterprising gentleman named Todd Mondok is putting together a work day (and work crew) to clean up the vault area.

Scheduled for Jan. 17 and 18, the plan is to cut back the overgrowth and clear the area so that it might be treated with a little more respect. Needed are willing workers, loppers, machetes, a chain saw, lawn mower, ladders, shovels, gloves and garbage bags. Anyone with bricklaying skills would be of great value as well.

To offer information and/or assistance, please use the contact information for Stetson's Corner below.

Because so much of Geneva's history is no longer actually standing, and so that history will not be forgotten, the Geneva Historical and Genealogical Society offers an annual pancake breakfast and historical tour known as "Facts, Tracks, and Flapjacks."

Happening the morning of Feb. 7, the event features a family-style breakfast of pancakes, sausage, orange juice and coffee for a $3 donation. Breakfast is served from 8 to 11 a.m. at the Geneva Community Center on First Street.

Leaving from the community center at 8:30 and 10:30 a.m. are two narrated bus tours offered for $6 per person. The tours have been an overwhelming success in years past and do require pre-registration.

Said one of last year's riders: "I now feel like I am walking on hallowed ground when I walk around the lake."

To register, call 407-349-9982 and leave your name, phone number, number of people in your party and the Future". Dressed in the African tribal attire they gathered for an evening for remembering and catching up on the old and latest news with friends and classmates. The chatting and chewing was most enjoyable.

Saturday morning they gathered with the class of 1931-49 to tour the beautiful Crooms Academy, of Information Technology which offers the students electives in the school curriculum in the field of information technology. The first graduating class will be held in May of 2004. Students will graduate with a regular high school diploma, plus certification where they will be able to receive a job in their chosen field of technology.

The Extraordinary Prom was held aboard the chartered Rivership Romance, and for four hours, Crooms alumni and guests danced and dined as they cruised down the St. Johns River in the moonlight with special entertainment by Sanford's own (Arthea Franklin) Cynthia Cassanove Brown. Yes, memories returned to the year of 1963, just 40 years ago.

Classes assembled Sunday morning for the 11 a.m. Worship Service at the New Bethel Missionary Baptist Church where the Rev. William F. Lewis is pastor, and is a member of Crooms Academy Class of 1953.

The processional of clergy, New Bethel Male Chorus, Crooms Academy, Crooms High School classes, marched to the ever familiar tune of "God of our Fathers."

Crooms Reunion Praise Team Rebecca Brown ('62), Betty R. Washington ('53), Jerilene Anderson (guest) led the devotion. With the spirit at a high level, Ruby Doe Williams ('53) led the responsive reading. Ronald Nathan and Ingrid Nathan ('66) blessed the audience with a saxophone and piano duet medley.

Elder Eva Scott Phillips ('64) gave the altar call with the prayer for the mission offering given by Evangelist Ella Flagler Woodward ('66). Deacon Lemuel Stallworth ('53) acknowledged the classes, teachers and school administrators.

Male Chorus.

Various classes continued to be part of the worship service thorough giving, with Wilbur E. Hawkins ('66), Freddie L. Barrington ('63), Dorothy K. Baker ('53) and Claude Glover ('63).

Memorial for the deceased teachers and classmates were memorialized by Betty R. Washington ('53), Gloria Y.H. Smith ('63) and Ruth Ann H. Walker ('66). Rev. Terry McKinney ('63) presented the morning's messenger, the Rev. Rufus Boykin, Jr. ('63) pastor of the St. Paul M.B. Church, Holly Hill. Pastor Boykin spoke from 1 Corinthians 13:11, "It's hard to say goodbye to yesterday." He reminded us that it is hard for some to reach maturity when you always refer to yesterday, and when we don't want to leave yesterday and face the progressing world.

After the worship service, classes joined in their various fellowship dinners.

Crooms Academy Classes of 1931-49 gather for five-day reunion

Crooms Academy classes were sharing memories of the past with glee in 2003.

Friday's Vesper Service was held at Zion Hope M.B. Church where the Rev. Michael Griffin is pastor. Dr. Elmer Jenkins ('47) presided. At the piano and console was Evelyn R. Clark ('42) Earl E. Minott ('48), with trumpeter Rivers D. McCreary ('42).

As the classes marched in to the tune of "God of our Fathers", our memories went back to that graduation day. Voices were blended in as the congregation sang "Lift Every Voice and Sing". The prayer was given by Rev. Griffin and scripture was read by the Rev. James C. Dickey ('49). Musical renditions were by special guests Richard Grey, Yolanda Collins and Ms. Clark. Classmates Willie Metz ('43) and Marie Blake Manley ('49) lifted the offering. After the selection of "Praise is what I Do" the Rev. Dr. W. Frank Williams ('57) rose to bring the message of the hour with his words of praise, grace and thanks for our many blessings. The spirit was indeed high.

Katheryn J. Alexander ('47) led the hour of memorial to the deceased with music by Yolanda Collins, torch holders Johnny Joseph ('46) Annie S. O'Neill ('45), Violet J. Crawford ('35) Earthelean I. Williams ('46) and Inez K. Bailey ('48).

After brief remarks and announcements from Chairman Alder M. Craig ('47) the audience stood and sang the alma mater. The Rev. Dr. W. Frank Williams pastors the Mt. Zion Baptist Church of Sanford.

To continue the sharing of memories of the past with glee, the classes of 1931-49 toured the alma mater, dear ole Crooms, now the Crooms Academy of Information Technology campus.

The evening's banquet was held at the Woman's Club and brought many fond memories of the years at Crooms Academy. Moments to remember were given by Alfreda Wallace from the 1981 Steering Committee from Midway Elementary to Crooms Academy by Inez K. Bailey ('48). Special recognition was given to Juanita G. Harold and Edward Blacksheare, the first reunion committee, Johnny Joseph, Evelyn Clark, Alfreda Wallace, Earthelean P. Williams, Earl E. Minott and Minnie Roux for their vision.

Sunday, Dec. 28, a chartered bus carried the reunionees to Kennedy Space Center for an educational tour, then for the afternoon lunch. They dined at the famous seafood diner Dixie Crossroads in Titusville.

Monday morning they cruised aboard the Rivership Romance for a sightseeing pleasurable trip down the beautiful and historical St. Johns River, where guests were served lunch, danced, and enjoyed a fun cruise.

The fun continued throughout the evening with a big class party at the Elks Lodge with music, food, and a whole lot of the latest dances.

Tuesday at noon was the Ole Fashioned Hot Fish with all of the fixings at the Elks Lodge, the last 2003 gathering of the 1931-49 classes reunion. A lot of friendly goodbyes and prizes were awarded the winners of the Crooms Academy quiz contest.

Class reunionees came from across the United States to enjoy family, friends and Crooms classmates. They were from Washington, D.C., New York City, California, Washington state, Georgia, Maryland, Michigan, Rochester, Newark, New Jersey, North Carolina, Ohio, Philadelphia and Texas.

We salute all of Crooms Academy Class presidents, reunion chairmen and committee members for the success of their reunion of 2003.

As they united to reminisce, fellowship and enjoy the past and look forward to the future. We as alumni will sing and praise our alma mater. We will honor and support the dear old orange and maroon.

the fall, Rev. Charles had assumed the full duties of the church for three months.

The original plot of land at Oak Avenue and Third Street had been purchased in 1912 and had been expanded to four lots. The church plant and furniture were paid for as was the pastor's home at 900 Palmetto Ave. A chapel had been built and furnished on a lot purchased on Beardall Avenue. It also had no debt.

Dr. Lacy Moffett, missionary to China for 40 years would speak at the Beardall Chapel Thursday evening at 8 p.m. and to the congregation at the Sunday morning service.

Talbot becomes mayor of Oviedo

Frank W. Talbot had been chosen as mayor of Oviedo at a meeting of the newly elected council the previous Monday evening. Upon his recommendation, George Kelsey was appointed as town Marshall.

At the meeting of the new council, R.W. Estes was elected as council president, Milton Gore as Vice President. Other members were Charles T. Niblack, Merritt Staley and M.L. Gary.

Mr. Estes appointed various committees with a request for special attention to traffic and street problems due to the heavy traffic passing through Oviedo because of the Cheney Highway being closed. T.L. Lingo, town clerk, served as secretary to the council.

Well, the word from a good source is that he was actually being held by the Kurds at that time and the U.S. allegedly knew it. But somehow a little information started leaking out that the Kurds had him so we had to send our psyops guys out to stop the leak while we pretended to look for him in Baghdad.

Allegedly, according to the story that is circulating here, he was held in that so-called "spider hole" and was drugged by the Kurds and the U.S. knew it. The rumor is that we were just waiting to deal with the Kurds and use him as a trump card. So I guess we played our "Ace in the hole," maybe to distract from that Halliburton overcharging scandal that was starting to hit the news.

One of the soldiers who was involved with looking for Saddam said he felt like a 2-year-old looking for Easter Eggs — look under this rock, look under that Styrofoam lid, and so on, when all the time the Kurds had him. I thought it seemed kind of phony when we were looking for him in Baghdad, it just didn't seem like we were all that serious with the hunt. Now this is the story being passed among the soldiers. As to its merit, I do not know, but one thing for sure, it has as much merit as the "weapons of mass destruction" allegation that got us into this mess.

I was talking with a soldier from an engineer outfit upon the Syrian border. He said his friend had his leg blown off during an attack. Then they had his friend's picture in a magazine or a newspaper and quoted him saying that he supported the war and President Bush. His friend is angry and claims that he never made those statements. The guy I was talking to was mad as hell because he liked his buddy and knew his buddy would not say stuff like that, especially after getting his leg blown off. It is not the first time the news has misquoted soldiers over here or put words in their mouths. But there's nothing you can do about it.

We went back to patrolling the streets and stopping to check on the Iraqi police stations. They are pretty much running on their own now but we still have to supervise them to make sure they are doing things right. Most of the stations are still lacking some basic necessities and decent vehicles. I hear that new vehicles are coming, I think from Japan, but they have not arrived yet. I looked in a first aid box in one of the stations and the only thing in the box was a bottle of aspirin. The Iraqi commanders of the stations that I check seem to take their job seriously and are courteous to me when I drop in to inspect them.

The streets in East Baghdad are still as filthy as ever, the traffic is still bad and we get into traffic jams at almost any major intersection. We are always on alert for things along our route and always fear crowds of people when they are gathered up in large groups beside the road.

We still have to fear that tunnel that we go through several times a week. We have feared that tunnel ever since a patrol was attacked while inside it. What makes the tunnel bad is that we usually get trapped in slow moving traffic while going through it and often end up sitting still for several minutes. There are two lanes going each way through it, so we try to put a humvee in both lanes to keep traffic behind us so nobody can come up beside us with a car bomb. Upon entering the tunnel our gunners in the turret scan the area above the entrance. There is a busy road going over the top of the tunnel and it is a good spot for somebody to drop a grenade on top of us.

I put my soldiers in for a medal for their participation in the bombing of the Al Jamilla police station back on 9 Oct., but my request was downgraded to a paper certificate of appreciation. It made me mad because my soldiers were first to respond to that bombing. They waded through blood and body parts, then had to face off a thousand angry Iraqis that were throwing rocks and glass at us. It was a high risk situation of uncertainty and my troops held their ground and performed their duty in an excellent manner. I think at least an Army Commendation Medal should have been awarded, but instead they just got a piece of paper. They should have received a Bronze Star, after all there were 12 of us facing a 1,000 Iraqis.

Something is up here at Camp Marlboro! I have been instructed to begin an inventory and accountability of our equipment, weapons and everything. Today they brought in some empty conex boxes, those big metal shipping containers and sat them down in our area. Also we have been told to begin maintenance and thorough inspections of each of our vehicles and report anything that needs to be fixed. This isn't routine stuff. This is out of the ordinary, like we are preparing to relocate or move some place.

Bat House

bat specialist from Osteen-based Fly By Night Inc., the home was one of the largest residential bat infestations in Central Florida estimated to be about 5,000 of the furry, nocturnal mammals.

"There's a couple houses (in Sanford) that have a lot of bats in them," she said.

Part of Sanford Historic Trust's mission is to promote and protect historic structures, Kuhn said, and the new bat house will hopefully be the first step in moving the bats from historic district of Sanford to Lake Monroe.

The bat house is slightly larger than a mailbox and sits about 20 feet high atop a pole. It will house between 600 to 700 bats, which eat their body weight in insects each night.

"All bats eat insects and if it flies at night it's fair game so midges are definitely part of their diet," Finn said. "Since bats have been living in buildings in that area we thought this would be a good answer to bats in building and add something to the midge control."

There's no guarantee the bats will stake claim to the new house, but Finn expects within the year bats will find the home to their liking.

"The houses are normally occupied in the winter so it's very possible we might start seeing bats in the next month or two," she said.

If Sanford is serious about attracting bats to Lake Monroe for midge control, Kuhn and Finn both say more than a single bat house will be needed.

"They need a lot more than the one they've got up," Finn said. "Sometimes it's good to start small with just a couple houses and wait for the bats to start moving. I would suggest — remember how the city of Sanford used to have the martin boxes — doing something like that of putting a large number of them around the (lake)."

Kuhn added, "We would like to see the city put up more. We decided we would be the first, but with Riverwalk coming, we thought it would be good environmental way to control the midges."

"The Road To A Crowned Miss America Begins Here"

Airport

where way down, but we made it all back up in the final six months."

Two factors led to the slow down in early 2003, White said. First, Orlando Sanford International Airport (OSIA) finally experienced some of the volatility in the airline industry. Pan Am, at one time the airport's largest domestic carrier, halted all flights for about 45 days. When the airline did resume flights, it cut back on the number of destinations.

Second, Vacation Express made a business decision in January to shift its hub from Sanford to Atlanta. At the time of the move, White said Vacation Express accounted for 26.4 percent of all domestic and international passenger traffic.

"When you combine the loss of Vacation Express with Pan Am's decision to ground its flights for a period of time, it's easy to see why our numbers were so much lower," White said.

The turnaround began in June as international flights increased. Part of the increase was cyclical because the summer months are traditionally the airport's busy time. In addition, improved monetary exchange rates for the European, particularly the British, inticed more international travelers.

"We expect the (United Kingdom) numbers to continue to go up," said Larry Gouldthorpe, president of OSI/OSD the company charged with daily operation of the airport. "The news keeps getting juicer and juicer, particularly with the soft dollar and strong pound."

Bookings for next summer are very strong, Gouldthorpe said, and should help boost passenger counts to record numbers.

While encouraged by the international numbers, airport officials are most enthusiastic about the gains in domestic service during 2003.

For instance, during December nearly 60,000 domestic passengers traveled through the Sanford airport, and 81 percent increase over December 2002.

For their year domestic travel is up 15 percent over 2002. Those increases are spread evenly among three carriers — Pan Am, Trans Meridian Airlines and Southeast Airlines. In the past, Pan Am was far and away the biggest domestic carrier in Sanford, meaning the airport's domestic service fortunes were directly tied to the airline's success. The emergence of Trans Meridian, with flights to Las Vegas, Chicago and Oklahoma City, and Southeast has helped stabilize OSIA's domestic offerings.

"We don't have all of our eggs in one basket, so to speak," Gouldthorpe said.

In December, Trans Meridian provided service to 25,000 passengers; Southeast serviced 20,000 passengers; and 15,000 traveling through Sanford with Pan Am.

"We've experienced tremendous growth in the last six months of the year," White said. As for continued success in 2004, "There are always unknowns that could affect us, but we anticipate that growth continuing throughout next year."

“We expect the (United Kingdom) numbers to continue to go up. The news keeps getting juicer and juicer, particularly with the soft dollar and strong pound.”

Raiders get back on track

By Craig Johnson
Special to the Herald

SANFORD — Ah, it's good to be home.

With controversy and whispered rumors swirling about their heads, the Seminole Community College men's basketball team rallied together and made a return to the home court a good one, winning an exciting overtime battle with Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College, 87-83, in overtime Tuesday night at the SCC Health and Physical Education Center.

The Raiders were playing their first home game since defeating Manatee Community College on December 2nd, a stretch of four week and seven games, and the team and its coaches seemed more than thankful to finally be back on the home hardwood.

But the return was not without its problems. Thinking that a couple of players might have finally gained eligibility, a ruling from the administration put a hold on the additions, at least for the time being, forcing the team to dress only nine players for the battle with the very good Tifton, Georgia-based Stallions, who came into the game with a 10-5 record.

Also, their evidently has been some whispers about head coach Stan Cromartie's tenure with the team after the recent seven-game losing streak. This despite many of the losses coming against teams either nationally ranked or very near the top 25 in the country, including No. 14 nationally-ranked Chipola College (16-2) and No. 16 Okaloosa-Walton Community College (13-2) in Ocala last weekend, and the Raiders playing with 12 freshmen on its 13-man roster after graduating the top seven players off a 20-win team that included Florida Junior College Player of the Year, J.D. Bracy.

But all of the distractions just seemed to bring the team closer together as they played one of their best games of the season and look like they might be ready to be heard from in the Mid-Florida Conference race which begins on Wednesday.

Freshman Travis "TJ" Jones got the Raiders off and running with an easy lay up, but ABAC began to show why they are a 10-5 team beating the press and getting an easy shot as the Stallions built a 27-22 lead.

But SCC, getting a spark from freshman Thomas Williams off the bench, went on a 14-5 run over the final five minutes of the half to take a 36-32 lead into the lockerroom at halftime. A beautiful inbound pass from Williams to fellow freshman Kermanie Samuels cut the lead to one, 27-26, and really got the rally started and six of the final eight points would come from the free throw line as the hosts were 8-for-10 from the charity stripe in the first half. ABAC helped the Raiders out by shooting a mere 5-for-15 from the foul line in the opening 20 minutes. See SCC, Page 15

bleheader against Citrus Heights with a 62-30 win Tuesday, while the boys team opened defense of their 2003

State Championship by winning the nightcap 62-32. In the girls game, Brittany

The week did not exactly get off to a good start for what has been the top two boys basketball teams in Seminole County as both Oviedo and Winter Springs fell to Volusia County squads.

In fact, returning to the home court has not been a blessing for the Bears as they had lost two times in a row on the home wood heading into a monster matchup on Friday with the Lions.

After returning from South Florida with its second tournament championship and an 11-1 record, the Bears got the week off to a bad start by dropping a 45-43 decision to Winter Park in the County Pride Shootout at Winter Springs.

Jeremiah Rivers, the sophomore son of former Magic coach Doc Rivers, led the balanced Wildcats (10-3) with 13 points to offset a game-high 14 points from the Bears' Brett Hodges.

Jared Benton and Mike Kuhl chipped in with 13 and 10 points, respectively. Oviedo, on the other hand, looked to be okay as the Lions survived a scare from Timber Creek (8-3), 78-69, in overtime to improve to 10-1 behind 27 points from Pat Kiscaden.

Another team that has gotten off to a fast start, including a win over Winter Springs, Lake Howell, defeated West Orange, 59-48, but The Master's Academy fell to University, 60-48.

The Winter Springs girls, however, did just fine on the home floor, as Alyssa Eily scored 16 points and Annie Hite 13 in a 63-32 blasting of Deltona.

On Tuesday, Winter Springs tasted defeat again as powerful DeLand (9-1) edged the Bears, 64-60, with the 'twin towers', 6-foot-9 Keith Brumbaugh getting 26 points, 6 rebounds, 6 steals and 6 assists and 6-foot-8 Stetson signee David Kilgore getting 12 points and 12 rebounds.

Kuhl led Winter Springs with 20 points, while Benton added 15.

Things did not go as well for Oviedo in overtime on Monday as the Lions were edged by Spruce Creek (8-3), 61-60, despite 16 points each from Davila and It's been a mixed bag for Winter Springs basketball this week as Mike Kuhl (above) drives between DeLand's 'twin-towers', 6-foot-9 Keith Brumbaugh (No. 50) and 6-foot-8 Stetson signee David Kilgore (No. 32) for two of his 20 points, but the Bears boys fell to the Bulldogs, 64-61. The girls, however, picked up a monster win, crushing Deltona, 63-32, with Alyssa Eily scoring 16 points and shooting guard Annie Hite (right) netting 13. Rollins signee Natalie Wilmers and Tennessee State signee Sara Nuxol chipped in with nine and eight points, respectively.

Local boxer on his way to top

Special to the Herald

Candido Philip Lopez is an amateur boxer on his way to the top.

The 17-year-old from Deltona won the 119-pound Bantamweight Open Class at the Florida State Championships sanctioned by the United States Amateur Boxing (U.S.A. Boxing) held in Palm Bay on November 7-8, 2003.

By winning the Florida State championship, Candido Philip Lopez, who uses his whole name in honor of his father, former boxer Philip Lopez, has qualified for the Eastern Trials Tournament to be held in Bushkill, Pennsylvania, January 27-31.

The Gold Medalist in each weight class of that tournament will earn qualifying spots for the Olympic Team Trials in February.

Lopez, who trains at the Facility Boxing Gym in the Sanford Plaza (2921 Orlando Drive, 17-92 South) under the authority of trainer Philip Ford and head coach Todd Drespling, is no stranger to big tournaments, having reached the finals of the Southeast Regional Tournament which was held the first week of December 9 in Davie.

But where that tournament included five other states besides Florida, the Eastern Trials will include champions from 30 states as well as the U.S. Marine Corps.

Tobias averaged 7.7 minutes, 2.0 points and 1.2 rebounds in his six games with the Sooners this season, helping them to a 10-0 start and a No. 7 nationally ranking heading into a Sunday matchup with No. Connecticut.

Tobias also helped the Panthers capture Class 6A state titles in 2002 and 2001.

During his senior year, the 6-foot-4 guard averaged 19 points, eight rebounds per game, three assists per game, and four steals per game and was named the Most Valuable Player at the State Tournament after Dillard defeated nationally-ranked Edgewater and All-American guard Darius Washington Jr. in the Championship Game.

First annual Little New Smyrna 500 a huge success

From Staff Reports

The New Smyrna Quarter Midget Racing Association hosted its biggest racing event since its inaugural race three years ago with the running of the first annual Little New Smyrna 500 January 1st and 2nd.

With a car count of over 170 quarter midgets, many of the attendees were from the east coast clubs. The two-day event went off without a hitch. The weather couldn't have been any better with the highs in the low 80's, sunny with a light breeze.

The final day concluded with a trophy presentation where 4-foot trophies and savings bond certificates were given out to the top finishers.

Many of the competitors raced both the Tangerine (at the Mid-Florida QMRA track outside Apopka) and the Little 500, therefore had packed in a full week of racing.

Among those doing extremely well was Sanford's Cory Drier, who won the Jr. Honda B Main and was the runner-up in the Jr. Honda A Main.

NSQMRA Board of Directors would like to thank KOHLER/STERLING for sponsoring the wonderful trophies and savings bonds, the members for their help and support, and the quarter midget families for attending. We hope to see you all again next year!

The NSQMRA also announced that there will be a General Membership meeting for all Region 13 members at 3:30 p.m. Sunday, January 18th at Otters Restaurant, 4380 Carraway Place, Sanford (407-323-3991).

To get to the restaurant take exit 104 (Featherlite Trailers) off I-4 and go west on Orange Blvd. Make a right on Kastner and follow the signs toward the marina and Otters.

The board wants involvement from the public as a voice at the National Meeting. Rule changes proposals include: Realigning the classes, Changing the minimum weights of several classes, tail cone rule, Racing rule changes, Honda claiming rule changes and adding a 160 MOD or Heavy 200 class.

The board will also be taking nominations for the open position of Region 13 Treasurer at this meeting. If you need more information or would like a complete list of the Rule Change Proposals please email Curt Sullivan, Regional Director, at CSullivan@qfci.com

WALTRIP STAYS QUICK IN NEXTEL TESTING

Michael Waltrip finished the first NASCAR NEXTEL Cup Series test session the same way he finished last year's Daytona 500 - at the top of the score sheet.

Waltrip, the two-time and defending Daytona 500 champion, capped off the final day of odd-numbered NEXTEL Cup Series testing for the Feb. 15 "Great American Race" as the fastest driver with a speed of 187.731 mph.

"We have had a terrific test even though it got off to a rocky start when we crashed one of our cars on Tuesday, but it just shows you how prepared this team was and is," Waltrip said. "They had two cars here that were going to be strong, but we'll go home and fix the other one and go to Talladega with it.

"We still have a lot of stuff we are scratching our heads about, trying to diagnose what the data on the computer says combined with what the stop watch says and how it feels to me. We take in so much it takes a while to dissect exactly what changes were good and what package to come back to Daytona with in a few weeks."

In the late afternoon, teams were permitted to draft. Among the drivers drafting were Mark Martin, Brendan Gaughan, Matt Kenseth, Ricky Craven and Ward Burton.

Drivers, Fans Chat During FanFest: Wednesday night's inaugural NASCAR Preseason Thunder FanFest, held outside of the historic Daytona International Speedway in the Daytona Club, was highlighted by fan forums that featured question and answer sessions between fans and drivers who were participating in the first NASCAR NEXTEL Cup Series test session.

Also included in the FanFest were DAYTONA USA's Pit Stop Challenge, show cars and silent auction of autographed items.

"It surprised me how many people were there," Mayfield said during his Thursday morning interview session with the media. "I couldn't believe it. It was pretty cool to go in and sit on the stage and answer questions so the fans could get to know you. I think that was pretty neat."

The next NASCAR Preseason Thunder FanFest is scheduled for today (Saturday, Jan. 10) with NASCAR Craftsman Truck Series drivers in the Daytona Club. Admission is $5 and can be purchased at the gate.

Proceeds from the NASCAR Preseason Thunder Fan Fest will benefit Victory Junction Gang Camp, NASCAR Wives Auxiliary, Speediatrics and Brenners Children's Hospital.

To purchase tickets to Preseason Thunder Fan Fest, call the Speedway ticket office at (386) 253-RACE.

The remainder of NASCAR Preseason Thunder annual testing sessions at Daytona International Speedway are as follows:

* Jan. 10-12: NASCAR Craftsman Truck
 * Jan. 13-15: NASCAR NEXTEL Cup (even owner's points)
 * Jan. 17-18: NASCAR Busch Series (odd owner's points)

SCC

SCC maintained a slim lead for most of the second half, but turnovers and a reversal of fortunes from the free throw line kept the visitors in the game.

The Raiders were only 6-of-12 from the line in the second half, while the Stallions came alive, converting 8-of-10. SCC also found its two big men, 6-foot-9 Nic Rollins, who had his father, former NBA star and coach Wayne "Tree" Rollins in the stands watching, and the 6-foot-11 Samuel in deep foul trouble.

This allowed ABAC's center, Nicklaus Brabham, to go on a tear as the 6-foot-8 sophomore scored five straight points to give the Stallions their biggest lead of the night, 53-51.

The young Raiders were not quite ready to fold though, and went a 12-3 run keyed by a shot clock buster by Jones, a dish from Johnson to Jones for a fast break lay up and a "three" from SCC's only sophomore, Rushawn "Long Range" Johnson, to put the hosts up 63-59 with a little over two minutes to play.

But the Raiders did not do a good job of protecting the ball as they tried to kill the clock and ABAC hit a pair of three-pointers to close the gap and finished off a 10-6 run with a layup from Warren Beaulah with 24-seconds left in the game knotting it at 69 apiece and forcing overtime.

In overtime, outside shooting from Jones and clutch free throw shooting by Williams, who finished 3-of-5 from the field and an impressive 9-for-12 from the foul line, allowed SCC to build a lead and then Vince Mosley, who had spent a good portion of the game on the bench in foul trouble, stepped up with an offensive rebound for a basket and two other layups for six points in the extra period that allowed the Raiders to stave off the Stallions.

Jones was the game's high scorer with 30 points (18 in the second half), making 10-of-21 from the field and 8-for-10 from the line. But the points were the furthest thing from his mind.

"All I was worried about was the win," said Jones, who hails from Orlando. "I listen to what the Coach says and that's what I did."

Williams ended with a season-high 15 points and Mosley and Johnson also finished in double figures with 12 and 10 points, respectively. Samuel also had a big night with nine points and 12 rebounds, while point guards Aaron Ball and Lake Howell's Joey Forester did a good job of running the offense and William Graham (eight points) provided a much needed spark off the bench.

Beaulah led ABAC with 21 points. The Raiders will be at home again tonight (Saturday) at 7:30 p.m. against IMG-Pendleton, a prep school from St. Petersburg that showcases two University of Kentucky signees.

Things then really heat up on the local hardwood next week as coach Lisa Nuxol's women (11-5) open Mid-Florida Conference play by hosting nationally-ranked and defending conference champion Daytona Beach Community College on Monday at 7 p.m.

On Wednesday, then men open MFC play but hosting St. Johns River Community College from Palatka at 7:30 p.m. The Vikings are led by a pair of former Seminole High School stars in Marcus Robinson and Joey Gunter, who will be making a return to Sanford.

The week will wrap up with the first women-men doubleheader on Saturday with the Raiders hosting Santa Fe Community College from Gainesville. In a starting time change from past seasons, the women will tip off at 5:30 p.m. and the men at 8 p.m.

As always, however, admission to all home games is free to the public.

UCF women dealt first loss in A-Sun

Special to the Herald

Sophomore Monica Thomas scored a team-high 15 points, including two three-pointers in the extra session, to give Georgia State a 62-58 overtime victory against host UCF in Atlantic Sun women's basketball action at UCF Arena on Thursday night.

With the win GSU remained undefeated at 4-0 for sole possession of first place in the conference, while UCF dropped to 3-1.

Georgia State's April Clyburn opened up scoring in the first half, but UCF (4-7) jumped out on a 7-0 run that included five points by junior center Takira Allen. The Lady Panthers closed the Golden Knights advantage to 13-12 at the 10:40 mark before Yvette Tisdale tied the game at 18 on a short jumper just under two minutes later.

GSU (7-4) took advantage of extra point plays as the clock ticked down to intermission and earned a 26-24 favor before junior center Ali Roberts hit a layup with 1:39 to knot the game at 26 all. The scoreboard read the same at the buzzer.

UCF's Celeste Hudson, the former Lyman High School star, scored the first bucket of the second period before it was negated by Thomas' jumper. The two squads exchanged baskets remaining within two points of one another. A shot by Allen at 11:38 sparked a run by the Golden Knight offense that saw them pull away six points just a minute later.

Reigning A-Sun Player of the Week Patechia Hartman tied the game again at 50 with under four minutes to play. UCF was on top 53-52 when Tisdale hit two foul shots with 44 seconds left, then with 17 seconds on the clock sophomore guard LaShay King made the first of two free throws to send the contest into the extra session.

Thomas opened the overtime period with the two treys as the Lady Panthers outscored UCF by an 8-4 margin.

Allen led all players with a career-high 22 points and Hudson contributed 13 before she fouled out with 6:28 remaining in the second period. In addition to Thomas, Tisdale (13 points) and Holly Coates (11 points) were also in double figures for the visitors. Tisdale also had a game-high nine rebounds.

The Golden Knights return to action today (Saturday) when they host Mercer for a 2 p.m. tipoff at UCF Arena.

ranked as the #132 player in the country by hoopscooponline.com.

Tobias had 12 points and two steals in the Florida vs. Georgia All Star Game and had 32 points in the Broward County vs. Dade County All Star Game.

He also attended the Nike All-American Camp and Played AAU Ball for Coast to Coast and Team Break-Down.

As a junior, Tobias averaged 17 points, five rebounds, three assists and two steals per game and was named to the 2nd Team All State 6A and All Broward County First Team.

At SCC Tobias will be reunited with Dillard teammates Kevin Thomas and Vince Mosley and while he must sit out until next fall, his involvement in practice each day should help the Raiders get stronger as they head into conference play and give the team a tremendous nucleus for the 2004-2005 season.

at the end of the third period. Taja Scott scored eight points for Liberty Christian, while Shellie Knowles, Kim Slate, Shawna Kealoha and Katie Syner added six points each.

"Our girls have vastly improved from last year as their ball handling skills are far above the competition's," said Coach Ron Williams. "They are running the floor very well and we scored a lot of points in transition as a result of their hustle. I think we will go undefeated in our conference once again and make a good showing at the state playoffs."

The boys, who have four starters and eight players back from the State Championship squad, led just 13-5 at the end of the first period, but after Citrus Heights scored the first basket of the second period, Liberty Christian reeled off 10 unanswered points.

Mark Tavanyar, the MVP of last year's State Tournament, scored 11 of the team's 13 points in the first period, while Joseph Stephen scored eight of the Patriots' 14 second-period points. Stephen finished the night with 18 points and Tavanyar was in double-figures with 17.

Jason Jenkins added eight points for the Patriots, while Jason Williams, Dave Barnes and John Tavanyar added four each. Lincoln Gager rounded out the scoring with two points.

"It's always good to have the first game be a win," said coach Bill Simpson.

The two teams travel to Citrus Heights Tuesday before hosting Soul's Harbor Wednesday.

The girls play at 2 p.m., while the boys play at 3:30 p.m. in a game between the Divisional Tournaments finalists from 2003. The gym is located at the school campus behind the Palmetto Avenue Baptist Church.

The Liberty Christian boys are coming off an amazing season in which they went 12-0 in the regular season, then went 6-1 in the postseason to finish 18-1 overall and the Conference, South Florida Christian Division and Florida Christian League State championships.

The playoffs began with Divisional Tournament at Liberty Christian on February 20-21, 2003, and the hosts handily dispatched Deltona

Christian School before winning a tough battle with Soul's Harbor Christian School from Belleview in the final.

The Florida Christian League State Tournament (double elimination) was held at Mill Creek Christian School in St. Augustine, February 27 thru March 1st.

In the first round, Liberty destroyed West Meadows Christian School from Jacksonville, 52-8, and then the Patriots got their first ever win over Nassau Christian from Yulee, the No. 1 seed from the Northern Division, by four points.

"Nassau had eliminated us from the tournament the year before with a four-point win," said Simpson. "Over the years Nassau has eliminated Liberty so many times that this was a huge win. It was almost as big as the championship game."

The big win may have taken something out of Liberty as the Patriots lost to Success Christian Academy from Jacksonville, which had to win a play-in game to qualify, in a close game.

Liberty found themselves trailing the five-time defending state champions by 21 at the half, but battled back to lose by a single point, 53-52.

"Success was a very athletic team and used high pressure and shot the ball extremely well to take the big first half lead," said Simpson. "At half-time I told the team to take it one possession at a time and try to gain some respect back for yourselves. And they did, but fell just one shot short of an amazing comeback."

"We left that game believing that we could win because we had come back from that 21 point deficit."

Forced to battle back out of the Lower's Bracket, the Patriots edged host Mill Creek Christian School, which had upset Nassau earlier in the day, by four points in a low-scoring, defensive struggle.

"Mill Creek tried to hold the ball to keep the score low," said Simpson. "They ran as much time off the clock as they could on each possession as the could, but in the end our rebounding and defensive pressure spelled the difference."

That victory put Liberty into the winner-take-all Championship Game against Success.

Liberty had played Mill Creek at 3:15 p.m. and then had to turn around and play a fresh Success team at 6 p.m.

"In the locker room before the game we were real relaxed and calm," said Simpson. "I just tried to get all of the guys to laugh and have a good time. I really didn't think we had enough energy to win. But in the locker room you could hear Success next door chanting 'they're scared' and our boys started chanting 'We're ready! We're ready!'"

And that they were. From the opening tip Liberty never trailed Success.

The Patriots ended the first quarter of play up 10-3 and continued playing inspired ball, at one point leading 20-5.

It was then that Success called time out and mounted a run. As the half closed Success managed to get back in the game down just four, 28 to 24.

"At half-time we made a few minor adjustments, and I asked them if they were ready to finish the game," said Simpson.

Liberty came back out with the same intensity that had gotten the Patriots the lead and they outscored Success 17 to 11 in the third quarter giving them a 10 point lead, 45-35.

In the fourth Liberty just blew the lid off, outscoring Success 29 to 15 finishing the game with a 24-point victory, 74-50.

This was Liberty's first state championship in basketball. It was also Liberty's first win against Success.

Sophomore Mark Tavanyar, who averaged 18.2 points per game in the state tournament, was the MVP for the State Tournament.

The team was made up of junior Jason William (resident of Lake Mary), sophomore Mark Tavanyar (resident of Lake Mary), senior Trevor Tart (resident of Osteen), junior Ryan LaRose (resident of Sanford), junior Joe Stephen (resident of Lake Mary), senior Nate Zacharias (resident of Deltona), freshman Austin Gager (resident of Sanford), 7th grader Lincoln Gager (resident of Deltona), freshman John Tavanyar (resident of Lake Mary), 8th grader Chad Williams (resident of Winter Springs), and sophomore Dave Barnes Jr. (resident of Sanford).

Bill Simpson (resident of Sanford) was the head coach with Scott Todd (resident of Sanford) serving as assistant coach.

Boxing

"He has got to go through them all, but he'll do fine," Coach Ford said. "Candido Lopez is one of the most courageous and disciplined fighters I've ever been blessed to train."

Candido Philip Lopez has made a name for himself quickly in boxing as in 2002 he won the Novice Division Golden Gloves and Sunshine State Games Novice Division 119-pound titles for boxers with less than 10 bouts and is now the first boxer from Deltona to win a State Open U.S.A. Boxing Championship and advance to regional competition.

But being an amateur and still attending Deltona High School, Lopez is in need of financial help to keep advancing toward the top of the amateur boxing ranks and to realize his dream of making the 2004 or 2008 Olympic Games.

Any help would be greatly appreciated and interested parties are asked to contact Facility Boxing at 407-322-1141.

Ace Hardware celebrates 25th year

Sanford Ace Hardware Inc. celebrates 25th year

SANFORD — What began as a dream for Bob and Inez Parsell in 1978, has become one of the region's most successful independent hardware businesses.

The Parsells own the Ace Hardware franchise in Sanford, Longwood, Casselberry and Oviedo and just recently celebrated their 25th year in business.

"We are the largest independent neighborhood hardware company in Central Florida," Bob Parsell said. "In addition, the Sanford store has the highest sales volume of any independent neighborhood hardware facility in Central Florida."

The company's acquisition of Nelson Ace Hardware in Oviedo is the Parsells most recent expansion of their company that began in 1978 with a 2,300-square-foot facility on Park Drive in Sanford.

Tom Wallace of Suniland Corporation congratulates Sanford Ace Hardware owner Bob Parsell on 25 years of business. Ace and Suniland have had a long-term business association.

"Nelson and Company wanted to get out of the retail business and concentrate more on real estate," Parsell said. "We're always looking for good business opportunities. We felt that with the growth of the Oviedo area, this would be a great location. This rounds out our presence in Seminole County."

While the ownership of the store is changing, Oviedo customers won't notice any dramatic changes.

"The store has a good management team in place," Parsell said. "About the only thing we have done is add some inventory and change the pricing structure a bit. Cathy and Gary Gay manage that store and they are well established in the community."

Involvement in the community is important to Parsell. He is the past president of the Sanford/Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and served two years as the president of Sanford Main Street Inc.

"We try to get involved in all of the communities where our stores are located, especially in Sanford," Parsell said. "Sanford is very special to Inez and me. The residents of

The keys to success: People and product

SANFORD — Twenty-five years in business. That's how long Ace has been the place in Sanford and Seminole County. Owners Bob and Inez Parsell have been such an active part of the community that it's hard to imagine Sanford without them.

But in 1978, there were no assurances the Parsells would reach the 25-year milestone.

"Our banker told us that every hardware store that had come to Sanford had gone bankrupt," Bob said. "I guess we were just to hard-headed to listen."

What does Parsell see as the reason for his success? People and products.

"We try to have the products that the people want and the employees to help them find it," Parsell said.

About 15 years ago, Parsell had to make a decision about how to compete with the growing Wal-Mart presence.

"For years and years, most hardware stores were general stores," Parsell said. "They had a little bit of everything."

"When Wal-Mart came to town, we had to decide what we were going to be because we could not compete on Sanford have embraced us, and we feel like Sanford is our hometown. Both of us left our hometowns when we were young, and we've moved around quite a bit working for large corporations. It's nice to settle down in one place. Sanford is a great place to live and own a business."

History

Parsell's devotion to community is part of his company's business philosophy.

"We are committed to having the inventory people want and the people to show them how to use that inventory," Parsell said.

That philosophy has allowed Parsell's Ace Hardware stores not only to compete but thrive against the "big box" national hardware chains.

"We've never looked at them as a threat," Parsell said. "In fact, our business has grown right along with them.

"Our basic business — our bread and butter, so to speak — is repair and maintenance for local home owners," Parsell added. "You've got a lot invested in your home, so you want to take care of it. We can help you do that. We have the inventory you need, and we have a high level of customer service. If you've got questions about how to do a home repair job, our employees have the experience and knowledge to help you get the job done right."

Parsell notes that his employees are a big reason for Ace's success, and he recently reorganized the duties of the company's officers and stockholders.

Parsell is the CEO of the company and he has named John Pezold as the company's president. Pezold is a hometown Sanford boy who has worked for Parsell for 20 years.

"John started working for us when he was 22 years old," Parsell said. "He was born and reared in Sanford. In fact, his first real job was with Dot Powell at Powell's Office Supply."

Inez Parsell is the secretary/treasurer and Greg Parsell is the vice president of operations.

Ben Kelly, who has 16 years of service at Ace, is the vice president of Longwood operations.

"Ben has been a valuable employee for many years," Parsell said. "He started as a minimum wage clerk. Come to think of it, we all started at minimum wage as we began to grow the business."

Sanford Ace Hardware Inc. began in 1978 in the 2500 block of Park Avenue in Sanford (where the laundry is now located).

In 1981, the company opened a 2,800-square-foot facility in Longwood on State Road 427, and eventually built a 5,000-square-foot facility on State Road 434 in 1985.

Central Florida Regional Hospital got it going again.*

Endoscopic Vein Harvesting Now Available At Central Florida Regional Hospital... Less Pain, Faster Recovery.

 Open heart surgery commonly uses veins from the legs to bypass the heart's arteries that are blocked. Traditionally, these veins are removed by "open vein harvesting" requiring a long incision running the length of the patient's leg. When this method is used, pain from the leg incision following surgery often causes more discomfort than the patient's chest incision.

 Now, a new method called "Endoscopic Vein Harvesting" is available requiring only one or two small incisions in the leg to remove the vein. Patients using the new method have been able to walk quicker and experienced faster recovery following surgery. This new procedure is currently only available in Central Florida at Central Florida Regional Hospital.

History

The Sanford operations moved to 25th Street in 1983. That building now serves as the company's warehouse facility. In 1991, the Sanford operations were expanded with the construction of the store's current facility.

In 1993, Parsell purchased the Ace Hardware store in Casselberry when the owner retired.

The purchase of Nelson Ace Hardware in Oviedo was completed in August 2001.

The company employs more than 50 people at its four locations and operates more than 40,000 square feet of retail space.

"We're just a living example of the American Dream," Parsell said. "We borrowed some money to get started and went into business with a dream. It's been everything we've hoped for."

"Bob Parsell has been one of our most helpful supporters. I have great respect for both he and his wife. They are both totally committed to Sanford and Seminole County."

the big ticket items like gas grills and lawn mowers. We decided we would become the place for repair and maintenance items. We also decided we would provide the customer service to help people with finding those items to complete their home projects."

It took time, but residents finally learned that Ace was the place to go for those hard to find fasteners or home repair items.

"People would tell us, 'I've been all over town trying to find this part and you guys have it,'" Parsell said. "Now they come here first."

Parsell said his stores have also added niche products like pet supplies and marine items that have helped him attract new customers.

In the end, Parsell said the people in the community are the biggest reason for his success.

"The people have been wonderful and have treated us very, very well over the years," Parsell said. "There is a real sense of community here in Sanford, and that's one of the main reasons we love it here so much."

"I'm amazed at the tremendous level of service Bob's business offers its customers. The only thing more amazing is the level of service Bob gives back to the community."
