After hours meeting set

SANFORD — The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce will be holding its Business After Hours Meeting this Thursday. This month's meeting is at Howell Place, 200 W. Airport Boulevard.

Donna Pratt, Howell Place marketing director is hosting the meeting, with a wide variety of food, beverages, door prizes and gifts for those attending the event.

Chamber manager Dave Farr expects a good turnout. "The Business After Hours event is really popular with our members," he said. "Two months ago we had a turnout of 150 people when we met at First Union Bank. Last month's meeting was slightly down because of the rain that fell when we met at Fun World, but generally if the weather permits, we have exceptional attendance." The monthly meetings have been conducted for the past four years.

All members and prospective members are invited to attend the function, exchange their business cards and share the benefits of their individual businesses.

The event will take place Thursday, July 18, from 5 until 7 p.m. at Howell Place, 200 W. Airport Boulevard.

Helicopter project grounded

SANFORD — Even if the state agrees to help Seminole County to buy an "air ambulance" helicopter, the county won't have anyone to fly it this year.

Seminole County commissioners agreed with County Manager Ron Rabun's proposal Monday not to hire a five-man helicopter support team of pilots and mechanics. The crews would cost about $250,000 for the county fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

In April, commissioners agreed to ask the state for a $775,000 grant to buy the $1 million helicopter and using $450,000 pledged by Heathrow and International Business Center developers to buy the helicopter. Public Safety Director Gary Kaiser said he expects to learn if the county was approved for the grant later this summer.

Kaiser has sought the helicopter for two budget years now and has gained the support of the League of Women Voters. Kaiser said a helicopter would be able to zip a Geneva drowning victim to Orlando Regional Medical Center in about 15 minutes, compared to about 50 minutes by ground ambulance.

Kaiser said the 50-minute time was dangerously close to the end of the "Golden Hour" when trauma victims respond best to emergency room care.

Kaiser said county budget officials, including Rabun, nixed the staffing saying there was too little money available this year.

School tax may drop

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — As the Seminole County school district tightens its budget belt under reduced revenues from state and federal sources, the school tax rate for Seminole County residents will probably decrease, a top official said today.

Mary Chambers, the district's assistant superintendent for business and finance, said taxpayers will see a decrease of about .08 mills on their next tax bill assuming that the property assessment remains the same.

Chambers said that the tax bill would decrease about $6 per year on a $100,000 home in Seminole County in light of this year's budget.

Bill Suber, Seminole County property appraiser, said the value of the county's property rolls increased about 10 percent over the last year. "That's due mostly to new construction and reassessments," he said.

The school board was not expected to receive a draft of the new $312 million budget (for the fiscal year beginning in October) until a 1 p.m. work session. Of that total, $206 million is for the day-to-day operation of the school district. Of the total $296 million budget, $201 million has been assigned for operating expenses.

"We'll be working on this right up until meeting time," Chambers said this morning.

This new budget promises to be the tightest in school board history, according to top officials.

"Relatively speaking, we have even less to work with than we did last year," Supt. Robert Hughes said last week.

Last year the operating budget for the district was $201 million, but district officials say that inflation has eaten up the difference.

"It's not near enough," Chambers said.

Cuts in funding from the state and federal sources have forced the school district to look inward for money. Cuts will come from all departments, though Hughes maintains that students will not suffer.

"We are committed to make sure that the students get the best education possible," Hughes said.

The school district is presently in a hiring freeze. Except for positions at Heathrow Element. See Schools, Page 5A

Gunfight scatters neighbors

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — A long-standing feud between neighbors exploded into a hail of bullets Monday afternoon along Dunbar Avenue in the Bookertown community west of here.

In what one witness described as a "Jessie James shootout," one man stood in front of his home firing at two other men who were shooting at him, one firing two handguns, according to sheriff's reports.

Numerous bullets hit homes and cars as neighbors and relatives watched in terror or dove for cover, but no one was reported injured.

Three men were arrested and a fourth was still being sought this morning for questioning.

"It was very, very frightening," said Katie Robinson, who witnessed the shootout from her home. "I was afraid to go out of my house, so I was watching the whole thing from my bedroom. I knew my nephew was out there and I didn't want him to get gunned down," she said.

SCC and Lake Mary again discuss traffic

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — A special joint work session will be held tonight at the Lake Mary City Hall. The subject of discussion is traffic problems at Seminole Community College.

The meeting between the City Commissioners and staff was requested by the college's Board of Trustees during their meeting held last week. The work session is to consider traffic circulation options for Broadmoor Road and the college area, called the Southeast Quad area.

Mayor Randy Morris said, "There are a variety of issues to be brought up during the meeting. The college's board and their staff designers have requested the gathering in order to seek some solution to the serious traffic problems of people going to and from the college."

As the meeting is a work session no public participation is planned. "We can't make any decisions at this meeting," Morris said, "but we hope we can come up with some good suggestions toward solving the problem."

During the past several months of City Commission meetings, questions have been brought up regarding closing of a portion of Main Road, which some residents believed would tend to increase the traffic problems already evident on Broadmoor.

Other discussions in recent times have approached the possibility of creating a roadway from the college north to Lake Mary Boulevard, along what is known as Hospital Road. Hospital is not actually a roadway, rather it is a right-of-way for power lines.

No specific list of possible solutions to the traffic problems were given prior to the meeting, with the exception of the Broadmoor Road issue.

The workshop will be held in the commission meeting room of the Lake Mary City Hall beginning at 7:30 tonight.

County commissioners accept tax on utilities

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County commissioners will include about $6.5 million from a proposed tax on unincorporated residents' utility bills in their annual budget and use the new money to lower property taxes.

But commissioner Larry Furlong objected to using the proposed 10 percent tax on electricity, water and other utility services, saying it still amounted to a 100 percent increase in the amount of money many taxpayers will pay the county.

This amounts to a huge increase, Furlong said. Furlong suggested eliminating the $6.5 million and leaving the unincorporated tax at the same level or lower than it was last year, $3.13 per $1,000 of taxable property. The discussions came during the first day of commissioners' week-long review of County Manager Ron Rabun's proposed $251.3 million spending plan for the 1991-1992 year, beginning Oct. 1.

Rabun has proposed a 7 percent increase in the countywide tax, to about $5.92. The rate includes 23 cents for the voter-approved $20 million revenue bond refund bond purchase program. Rabun has proposed a slight decrease in the tax paid by unincorporated residents from $3.10 to about $2.97 with use of the utility tax.

Without the utility tax, Rabun said the unincorporated property tax would have to increase to about $6.50. See Tax, Page 5A

LONGWOOD — Two Police Officers were honored during the Longwood City Commission meeting Monday night for their dedication and efforts in public safety work.

Officer Robert Ladoczky and Officer Charles Kochanowski were each presented with certificates of recognition by Mayor Hank Hardy on behalf of the commission and city.

Officer Ladoczky was commended for his work in an incident that occurred June 24, 1991. The incident involved the burglary of a business. The officer was recognized for his apprehension of the burglars and recovery of the items stolen from the business establishment. His actions resulted in three felony arrests for burglary and grand theft. During Ladoczky's questioning of the previous apprehended, one reportedly admitted to the burglary.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

New Goodwill CEO faces critics

Staff and Wire Report

ORLANDO - Attempting to stem the tide of criticism aimed at spending of charity funds and poor management, Goodwill Industries of Central Florida has recently appointed Richard L. Coleman president and chairman of the board. The non-profit provider of vocational rehabilitation services for people with disabilities and other special needs maintains Seminole County thrift stores in Sanford and Longwood.

Mr. Coleman comes to us as the result of an extensive search conducted by the GICF board of directors, says Frank Stansberry, chairman of the agency's voluntary board of directors. "We were impressed with his credentials and experience and are confident he will lead the agency with energy and vision in the years to come."

Coleman joined Goodwill Industries shortly after receiving his Masters degree in Education from the University of North Carolina in 1972. After working with the agency in Winston Salem, N.C. and Sarasota, Coleman was appointed president in Huntington, W.Va. Coleman was instrumental in convincing the state to restore $1.7 million in funds for rehabilitative services that had been cut from the budget.

When asked about his move to Central Florida, Coleman, who will live in Winter Park, remarked, "Goodwill Industries of Central Florida, Inc., has a proven track record in the communities it serves and has excellent potential for further growth."

One of Coleman's first challenges will be to address recent criticism of Goodwill. Critics say the organization spends charity funds improperly, is poorly managed and suffers from dissension in the ranks.

The latest allegation is that its two top executives spent $4,000 on companions attending a convention in Hawaii last year. The trip by Stansberry, then-Director Dennis Brice and Marketing Director Lanelle Tanner cost more than $10,000, including air fare. More than $4,000 went for companions of Brice and Stansberry, sources said.

The $4,000 expenditure was "totally improper and certainly unethical," said Gary Earl of the Seminole County Private Industry Council.

He is involved in an audit of the organization initiated after state and local officials threatened to cut off $420,000 in annual grants for job training and placement if the charity does not improve its practices.

Brice took his girlfriend and two sons to the Princess Kaiulani Hotel in Honolulu with him while he attended the conference with Stansberry and Ms. Tanner. Stansberry stayed at the same hotel with his wife.

The chairman called the Hawaii trip appropriate, saying that Goodwill executives routinely bring spouses and children to the charity's conventions. "Frankly, I wasn't all that concerned about it," said Stansberry, a manager of the American Adventure pavilion at Walt Disney World's Epcot Center.

Advocates for the disabled and a national organization that monitors charities say the money spent on the companions should have gone to help Goodwill clients. Goodwill relies on tax dollars and donations of money, clothes and household goods to operate seven Orlando-area thrift stores.

Coleman, said he would never ask the charity to pay for his family to attend a convention.

Summit airs Everglades cleanup details

WEST PALM BEACH - An "Everglades Summit" to air details of a tentative agreement to clean up the vast river of grass turned into a forum for sugar growers and environmentalists to vent their criticisms.

Caught in the middle of Monday's discussion was Gov. Lawton Chiles, who pledged his support for the settlement that ended a 2 1/2-year court fight between the state and federal government over pollution of the vast wetlands.

"We've spent $6 million dollars trying to fight this lawsuit," Chiles said. "I think it's time we move forward and start working on a solution to the problem. This is a reasonable solution."

But the plan to build a huge artificial marsh to get rid of the phosphate-laden runoff into the wetlands got a stinging reception from representatives of the sugar industry.

State officials spent $161,000 on trips

TALLAHASSEE - Even though tax shortfalls last year resulted in orders that travel be limited to only the most essential, top state officials took more than $161,000 worth of trips, a newspaper reported.

Taking expensive trips when the state is hurting financially sends the wrong message to taxpayers and the rank-and-file staff workers, said the director of a business-backed government watchdog group.

"It clearly does not set the best example," Dominic Calabro, executive president of Florida TaxWatch Inc., said Monday. "Although many could be justified as legitimate expenses ... it's not good judgment to take these trips, particularly during tough times."

Gov. Lawton Chiles, Lt. Gov. Buddy MacKay, the six Cabinet members and 17 agency heads spent more than $161,000 traveling throughout Florida and the country during the past fiscal year, which ended June 30.

Haitians can't be deported immediately

MIAMI - Four Haitian stowaways chained and caged aboard a freighter over the weekend cannot be deported immediately, a federal judge ruled.

U.S. District Judge Kenneth Ryskamp issued a temporary restraining order Monday against the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service at the request of advocates for the Haitians.

Ryskamp said his order will stand until a full hearing scheduled for July 22.

The treatment of the would-be immigrants generated a hot debate in Miami after they were filmed in port last week chained to the deck of a freighter or confined to a metal cage.

Four Haitian men and a teen-ager were confined aboard the Honduran-flagged Arawak-Sun II to be returned to their homeland, but one later escaped while being loaded into an INS van.

Record store owner arrested

PORT LAUDERDALE - The record store owner convicted of obscenity charges last fall for selling a 2 Live Crew album was arrested on a federal drug charge, an FBI official said.

Charles Freeman, 33, surrendered without incident at his home here Monday, according to William Gavin, special agent in charge of the Miami FBI office.

A Tallahassee federal grand jury indicted Freeman on a conspiracy count last week. The indictment accuses him of arranging to ship crack cocaine to Tallahassee, where it was redistributed throughout North Florida and elsewhere.

System frustrating to juvenile judges

By JACQUE HALLIFAX Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE - The frustration of the people who prosecute, defend and judge juvenile delinquents came through loud and clear in a survey conducted by the Commission on Juvenile Justice.

"Juveniles commit over 30 percent of all murders, rapes, arson and robberies in Florida," one judge wrote. "Yet there are less than 500 beds available in secure facilities."

"This is a travesty," Donna Sessions Waters, a commission attorney, said Monday that the survey was not designed to be scientific but to open a dialogue.

"Juvenile court personnel feel that they are fighting a losing battle for our children and that the general public and the powers that be in Tallahassee neither know nor care about them," she wrote in a staff analysis.

"An underlying theme in the responses was that outsiders ... would not believe the situation," Ms. Waters sent out 120 sur-

Foster parents: Discrimination

WEST PALM BEACH - A white couple's lawsuit over removal of two black foster children from their home points to a growing national controversy over racial matching in foster homes, state officials said.

State challenges federal headcount U.S. Census figures missed 5 million, state officials say

By BILL BERGSTROM Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE - Florida's population gains give it a strong stake in challenging a federal decision to stick with the 1990 U.S. Census headcount that missed more than 5 million people, state officials said.

Officials in Florida and other states said they would go to court after U.S. Commerce Secretary Robert Moebacher's announcement Monday that his department would not adjust the count to make up for those overlooked, especially among black and Hispanic populations. If the count doesn't keep pace with actual population, neither will federal funds keyed to population, for education, welfare, highway, mass transit, Medicaid, wildlife and other programs.

"To rely on a census count that is inaccurate and will not be fully updated regularly is Washington's way of turning its back on Florida taxpayers," Republican U.S. Sen. Connie Mack said.

Estimates of the undercount in Florida range from 340,000 to 720,000, "primarily black and Hispanic people who were left out," said Gail Andrews, an aide to state Senate President Gwen Margolis, D-North Miami Beach. Gov. Lawton Chiles has estimated that each person missed costs the state about $300.

Margolis had written to the U.S. Commerce Department challenging the count. "Our understanding is that the procedure now is to go to court," Andrews said.

Florida, along with other states and cities, joined a suit New York City filed in U.S. District Court in New York seeking to force the government to use statistical adjustments to avoid undercounting minorities.

The 1990 census put Florida's population at 12,937,928. Proposed corrections released by the Census Bureau in June, the adjustments Moebacher decided not to use, would have boosted it 2.6 percent to 13,278,000.

"Florida grew by some 3 million people between 1980 and 1990," Democratic Sen. Bob Graham said.

The bureau also released census counts, corrected figures, and increases the adjustments would have produced for these Florida cities:

- Jacksonville: census 835,230, corrected 659,000, 3.6 percent. - Orlando: census 164,693, corrected 170,000, 3.1 percent. - Miami: census 358,548, corrected 378,000, 4.6 percent.

Minority scholars oppose Supreme Court nominee

Associated Press

GAINESVILLE - U.S. Supreme Court nominee Clarence Thomas does not reflect the views of more than 80 percent of the minority high school scholars visiting the University of Florida.

The students ranked social problems, such as the homeless and the lack of day care, as the No. 1 issue facing the country. AIDS and medical care was second, while world peace was the least pressing problem.

Earlier this month, President Bush nominated Thomas, a black conservative, to the high court, just days after longtime Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall announced his retirement.

Of the 89 minority students, almost all of whom were black, 62 percent said they opposed Thomas' views, while 38 percent supported his outlook. Those responding were among 130 students UF admissions officials invited to campus as part of a recruiting effort.

POLICE

Six vehicles broken into

Six cars, vans and trucks were broken into sometime Saturday night or early Sunday morning. They were all parked in the lot at the I-4 Industrial Park, west of Sanford. In each case, sheriff's deputies reported entry was made by breaking one of the windows in order to open the doors.

The vehicles were the property of employees at the industrial park. Because all but one of the owners, Jesse Sibley, of Orange City, were working out of town at the time, the items that may be missing from the vehicles were not immediately identified.

Other owners included Benjamin Shaddrick, of 420 Evergreen Avenue, Longwood; C.T. Hargrove, 300 S. Maple, Sanford; Victor Palmer of Deland; Mike E. Jones of Orlando; and Lonnie Groce, 408 Hanson Parkway, Sanford.

The Seminole County Sheriff's office is conducting an investigation into the incident.

Man nabbed in canoe.

Seminole County Sheriff's officers were called to the Wekiva River area Sunday, to investigate a problem with a group of boaters. When they arrived, they reported seeing several men in a canoe, splashing other boaters and throwing beer cans in the river. Officers called them to come ashore at the Wekiva Marina. When they landed, officers arrested Christopher T. Sweeting, 22, of Orlando. During the time the arrest was underway, Sweeting apparently punched one of the other men in the boat, and threatened the officer. As he was being put into the police vehicle, he damaged a portion of the rear seat causing an estimated $500 damage. In all, he has been charged with resisting arrest with violence, making threats against a police officer, battery on a law enforcement officer, battery, and criminal mischief. He was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

Speeder arrested

Florida Highway Patrol officers conducted a radar check on a maroon Honda, seen driving at a high rate of speed on Interstate-4 Sunday. When the check indicated it was traveling 83 mph, officers gave chase. The vehicle exited at the Lake Mary interchange, headed toward Heathrow, and stopped at a shopping plaza. By the time the FHP officer arrived, the Honda was parked in a handicapped parking place near Eckerd's Drugs. The driver was seen running from the car. With the aid of an additional trooper, Daniel E. Noos, 30, of Cincinnati, Ohio was finally stopped. He has been charged with fleeing and eluding a police officer, resisting arrest without violence, unlawful speeding, and because of where he stopped his car, he was charged with improper parking.

Drug arrest made

Officers of the City/County Bureau of Investigation were executing a search warrant at 200 Maple Ave. in Sanford Friday evening, when a man identified as Ronald Glenn Deviney, 23, 1016 W. Gaucho Circle, Deltona, drove up. Deviney reportedly was seeking the owner of the home. When he attempted to leave, officers stopped him and conducted a search of the man as well as his truck. As a result of items found in his pockets as well as in the cab of the vehicle, he was charged with possession of cocaine and possession of drug paraphernalia. Deviney was arrested and taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

Stolen truck found in Sanford

A 1982 Ford pickup truck was reported stolen this past weekend, and a second one was reported entered. The stolen truck, the property of Ben Futrell, 101 N. Elliott St., Sanford, was reportedly taken from a fenced in and locked area at Futrell's Custom Pools, 4061 W. First St. in Sanford, sometime Saturday night or early Sunday morning.

The truck that was entered, was the property of Terry D. Futrell, 116 Larkwood Dr., Longwood. According to the Seminole County Sheriff's deputy who responded to the call, the second vehicle had only the keys removed, with nothing else determined to have been damaged or stolen.

Deputies later found Ben Futrell's truck in a parking lot at 1407 West 13th St., in Sanford. A number of items including a tool box and a jacket were reported missing.

The Seminole County Sheriff's department is conducting an investigation into the case.

DUI arrests

The following persons have been charged with driving under the influence of alcohol:

● Isabel Christina Collazo, 1401 Cedar Creek Circle, Sanford, was charged with DUI after her vehicle was stopped by Lake Mary Police Sunday, on Lake Mary Boulevard. According to police reports, she refused to undergo any of the tests. She was booked at the Lake Mary Police station then transferred to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

● Larry Duane Kiser, 32, 153 El Dorado Drive, DeBary, was charged with DUI by Seminole County Sheriff's officers when his vehicle was stopped on Highway 17-92 near Lake Mary Boulevard shortly after midnight Sunday morning. He was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

Public Works budget takes a cut-back

By NICK PFEIFER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Over a half million dollars was trimmed from the Public Works Department budget request for the fiscal year 1991-92. The final amount set during city budget hearings is $174,000 less than this year's budget.

Of the total cut-backs from the department requests, $498,800 was cut from the maintenance division, $114,000 was eliminated from the street division, and $19,000 lowered from grounds maintenance requests. Both administration and fleet maintenance budget requests were approved as requested.

Public Works Director Jerry Herman said, "Many of the amount deducted from our request was transferred to another area, such as LOGT, (local option gas tax)."

In the maintenance division, two of the largest items completely eliminated was over $12,000 requested for street light signals, and $11,161 for motor vehicle replacement. The street light matter is part of the agreement for street light maintenance and operation made through an agreement with Seminole County, Herman said. "This will still be in operation, but the money will come from the LOGT." The other item was for the expected replacement of a 1979 pick-up work truck.

In the street division, the largest item not receiving approval was slightly over $111,000 requested for the replacement of street equipment. In several cases, the replacements were sought because existing machines are undersized or worn out. "Some of this will come from LOGT," Herman said, "and we'll just have to continue using some of the other pieces of equipment." He added, "Maybe in the future, if the money picture improves, we'll be able to get some of the additional or larger equipment."

Four thousand dollars was trimmed from the grounds maintenance department request for various chemicals and ground supplies. Almost all of the other items were approved as requested.

"The overall department will be in good shape financially," Herman said. "We will still continue to undertake all of the projects we have going, and probably even do more toward improving our storm water problems."

Herman said one item drew interest during the discussion. "We were looking toward replacing the old air conditioning system in the city hall," he said.

"The system has been in use since the early 70's, and would cost in the neighborhood of about $300,000 to replace." He said, "The commissioners agreed they would take the item out of the requests and try to bear up as best they could during the rest of the hot summer months."

Final approval by the city commission is scheduled during its two regular meetings in September. No further changes in the Public Works budget are expected during final hearings.

Terror wins

In a deal fraught with risks, the Colombian government has extended lenient treatment to the world's most powerful cocaine barons in exchange for a respite from the surge of narco-terrorism that has shattered the country.

Even if the government's concessions turn out to be a step forward in the short term, they are almost certain to be two steps backward over the long term.

Pablo Escobar, the billionaire boss of the Medellin cartel, surrendered to Colombian authorities after a seven-year manhunt. In return, he was promised a short sentence in a ranch-style compound and a guarantee against extradition to the United States. He is wanted in this country on murder and drug-trafficking charges.

Escobar, who is believed to have masterminded the bombing of a Colombian jetliner that claimed 107 lives, will serve his time in a comfortable mountaintop retreat with a panoramic view of the Medellin Valley.

He turned himself in only after the democratically elected Constituent Assembly rewrote the constitution to prohibit the extradition of native Colombians.

The possibility of extradition to the United States to stand trial has been a principal worry of Colombia's drug kingpins. Approximately 50 major traffickers have been turned over to American authorities and confined in U.S. prisons.

Three of Escobar's most notorious associates, known collectively as the Ochoa brothers, surrendered to Colombian officials several months ago. American authorities believe they are continuing to engage in cocaine operations while under what amounts to house arrest. In fact, Colombia's cocaine production now stands at a record high.

It is conceivable that Bogota's lenient terms may ease, at least for a time, the assassinations and other violence fomented by Colombia's drug lords. But it is very unlikely to curb the cocaine trade, which springs from an elaborate international network spread across much of Latin America.

Nor are the government's concessionary policies likely to instill respect for the country's frail and ineffective judicial system, which has been no match for Colombia's potent and ruthless drug dealers.

Fundamental reform of the court system is needed to insulate judges from intimidation and corruption and to provide them the resources they need to enforce the law effectively. With extraditions now ruled out, the court system has become the government's prime authority to control cocaine operations.

The Bush administration has no effective leverage to counter the Constituent Assembly's decision on extraditions. To reduce American aid in response to the assembly's action, which was popular among terrorized Colombians, would merely stir nationalistic opposition to further cooperation with Washington in the anti-drug effort.

Despite the popularity of the government's leniency toward narcotics traffickers, any celebration is premature, to say the least.

In Bogota, the newspaper El Espectador, whose publisher and five other employees were murdered by Escobar's henchmen, aptly summed up the current situation in a banner headline: "Terror Has Won."

Thomas may not be what he seems

Not to suggest that Supreme Court nominee Clarence Thomas is a Superman or superjudge or superanything, but when he heads up to Capitol Hill to have his bona fides examined by the Senate, he really ought to wear an undershirt with a big "S" on it.

It would stand for "Surprise." Because that's what Clarence Thomas is going to be once he is sworn in. I have studied up on this man and I am convinced of it: When Thomas starts handing down opinions, liberals, conservatives, blacks, whites, George Bush and William Rehnquist are in for a jolt.

Thomas is portrayed by all — including himself — as a staunch conservative. I think he would be more appropriately described as an individualist. Washington Post reporter Juan Williams, an astute and perceptive journalist, interviewed Thomas off and on for five years and concluded in a 1987 magazine profile that he was "ideologically sui generis," one of a kind.

His background is familiar by now: Born into abject poverty in rural Georgia; raised by a stern, proud grandfather who preached self-sufficiency; schooled by Irish Catholic nuns; educated at Holy Cross and Yale Law School. From this life of struggle and perseverance emerged a human being of fierce pride and a deep belief in "natural law."

Rooted in Greek philosophy, this doctrine holds that a universal order dictates standards of right conduct. From it evolved the doctrine of natural rights, which holds that we are born with basic rights that government cannot abridge.

Natural Law. Thomas said in a 1987 speech, is the bedrock to which our political system is bolted. "According to our higher law tradition," he said, "men must acknowledge each other's freedom and govern only by the consent of others. All our political institutions presuppose this truth.... This approach allows us to reassert the primacy of the individual and establishes our inherent equality as a God-given right."

How could it be more clear? In the deepest recesses of his soul, Thomas believes in a higher law. This ought to stun the strict constructionists of the Reagan-Mcree-Bork mold who think the Constitution is a static instrument whose words are engraved in granite and mean nothing more than what they say.

In his soul, Thomas believes in the supremacy of the individual and that government should stay out of our lives. This will come as a nice shock to Chief Justice Rehnquist, a congenial statismat who seems never to have met a bureaucratic dictum that he didn't like.

In his soul, Thomas believes he is the equal of any other human being on Earth and expects to be treated as such. Civil rights belong to people, not skin colors. Thus, affirmative action plans are redundant and divisive. As the head of the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission for the Reagan administration, Thomas favored enforcement of "equal rights for all Americans." And, he told a reporter, "I believe in compensation for actual victims, not for people whose only claim to victimization is that they are members of a historically oppressed group."

Liberals know that Thomas holds these views, but they are still likely to be shocked by the rigidity of his conviction.

On transcending ethnic goals

The gripping drama being played out in Yugoslavia will not be resolved anytime soon, no matter what interim solution may be temporarily imposed or stitched together. To which an American citizen might logically reply, "So what? What's it to me?"

The answer is that Yugoslavia is not unique, but indicative of a worldwide condition that is a combination of good news and bad. Unless satisfactory ways are found to deal with that condition, it could prove fatal to its own positive aspects. It could also produce a world made safer for war than for peace, a world in which the United States would find itself inevitably required to decide repeatedly whether to stand back or plunge in militarily.

The condition is ethnic particularism, the belief that true virtue and security are to be found most readily in the tribe, the group, the race or the religion. It is on view in Northern Ireland and Lebanon, in India and in South Africa. It has re-emerged with renewed vigor in the wake of Soviet imperialism's collapse abroad and communism's collapse at home. Submerged nationalities, freed from imperial hegemony, clamor for self-determination, for freedom now.

From that demand can arise liberty, mankind's age-old hope. That is the good news. From it too often arises the tyranny of the majority and small-bore totalitarianism. That is bad news. From it can also rise endless wars arising from petty, provincial differences. That is the lesson of history.

It is not particularly helpful to discuss Yugoslavia's specific situation only in analogous terms, of course. The sources of its disunion are particular to itself and its past. The desire of Croatians and Slovenes, Serbs and Albanians to live free of the dominion of other peoples is understandable, and particularly to Americans, so many of whom live here precisely because of that impetus, this impulse is at work on almost every continent, including North America. In Canada, Quebec inches inexorably toward separation. Even here, passionate spokesmen for various minority groups decry the melting pot theory and demand what amounts to singly similar people in that region is as maddeningly complex — and pointless — as it is in the Middle East. The trick is not to explain what exists but to learn to work around, contain or rechannel it in positive directions. Democracy can help, so, too, can tolerance of diversity.

But Central Europe has not had much practice at either since the arrival first of the German and then the Soviet overlords. Freed at last to rediscover its ethnicity rather than bow to the imposed universality of Marxism-Leninism, each national and ethnic bloc has taken up the old animosities with startling alacrity. Yugoslavia is merely an extreme example of a situation that today affects nations as dissimilar as Czechoslovakia and Romania.

To restate the obvious, this impulse is at work on almost every continent, including North America. In Canada, Quebec inches inexorably toward separation. Even here, passionate spokesmen for various minority groups decry the melting pot theory and demand what amounts to separate enclaves of ethnic identity. Worldwide, nationalism demands for itself the right to subdivide and subdivide yet again into smaller units of indivisible sameness.

Perhaps all this is inevitable, an irresistible force that should be welcomed rather than opposed, but I don't think so. Virtually every force besides politics that matters in this world, from the environment to economics, transcends the boundary lines of tribe or nation. Virtually every political concept that liberates mankind, rather than particular blocs of mankind, has a broader view of humanity than that apparent from a border crossing or encompassed by a sect's orthodoxy. If we are not able to work together despite national, racial and ethnic differences, the world's future is indescribably bleak.

On the economic front alone, the ability of people acting politically to affect the activities of vast transnational corporations, which have no national allegiances, is in direct proportion to their nation's heft and power.

Obviously, what I or anyone else thinks will little affect the forces at work today. Humpty Dumpty will not be put back together again, and should not be even if he could. What needs urgent attention is the creation of a new framework for cooperation across national and ethnic lines. Self-determination, the hope of nations, must not become another way of saying chaos, the scourge of mankind.

Mexican diplomat has customs clash

WASHINGTON — The Mexican ambassador to the United States, Gustavo Petricoli, has lodged a steaming complaint with the State Department, because, by his own account, he was stopped at Dulles Airport outside Washington and told by a U.S. Customs worker that he had no right to be in the country.

The verbal fistcuffs between the ambassador and the Customs inspector took place on June 25 as Petricoli was standing in a line of passengers waiting to board a plane to Frankfurt.

He had already checked his bags and passed through security when a Customs inspector took him out of line and "in a brusque and aggressive manner, and loud voice, asked the ambassador to show him his passport," according to the account the Mexican Embassy gave the State Department.

The report, obtained by our associate Dean Boyd, said the Customs inspector looked at the diplomatic passport, told Petricoli he did not have the necessary visa and "had no right to be in the United States."

It went downhill from there. Petricoli said he was the Mexican ambassador and showed State Department diplomatic credentials which say, in diplomatic terms, that nobody had better mess with the bearer. The Customs inspector seemed unimpressed and demanded to know how much money Petricoli was carrying out of the country. Petricoli dug in his heels and refused to answer, so the inspector threatened to search him. Then the ambassador demanded to speak to the inspector's boss because he wanted the incident reported all the way to the top — to Carol Hallett, the head of the U.S. Customs Service. According to the Mexican account, "The agent indicated that he did not know of any Ms. Hallett."

When the inspector refused to give his name, Petricoli made a mental note of his badge number. Then the inspector wisely let the ruffled diplomat get on his plane before it took off without him. The Mexican Embassy later wrote that the ambassador was "insulted" and "mistreated" and "placed in an embarrassing situation which was humiliating and violated the spirit of the Vienna Convention of Diplomatic Relations."

The Mexican Embassy won't let the incident die and has demanded an investigation. An embassy spokesman told us Petricoli has received expressions of regret from the State Department and Hallett, and assurances that the U.S. government will get to the bottom of the incident.

But Customs isn't showing much remorse. A spokesman for the agency said their investigation showed that the incident at Dulles was "entirely appropriate" and "routine." Asked about the specific allegations in the complaint, the Customs spokesman said, "We found them not to be true."

William Green, the head Customs official at Dulles Airport, told us that Petricoli may not have heard the announcement that some passengers leaving the country could be subject to random searches. The point is to target people who may be leaving with wads of money.

Green said that witnesses who were questioned said his inspector acted "professionally." The witnesses he cited were another Customs employee and some flight attendants. And Green admitted that they may not have seen the whole imbroglio. Apparently, none of the passengers in line with Petricoli were questioned.

The Mexican Embassy won't let the incident die.

NATIONAL BRIEFS

Chicago phones reject coins

CHICAGO — Pay phones in two drug-ravaged neighborhoods no longer take coins at night as Illinois Bell tries to disconnect dealers from their buyers.

"Illinois Bell is trying to take the phones out of the hands of criminals and make them available to our customers when they need them," said Sam Foster, the company's public communications manager.

Foster said Monday that for the next three months, between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m., more than 50 phones in the two neighborhoods will work only for emergency, operator-assisted or credit card calls.

"We don't think many drug dealers will want to use those options because then there will be records of their calls," said Illinois Bell spokesman Geoff Potter.

CDC says voluntary AIDS testing OK

ATLANTA — Voluntary AIDS tests for doctors and dentists are enough to protect the public because the risk of infecting patients is "overblown," a federal health official says.

Guidelines issued Monday by the federal Centers for Disease Control recommend health workers who practice "exposure-prone" procedures learn whether they carry the AIDS virus and stop performing such procedures if they do.

The guidelines are similar to ones earlier adopted by the American Medical Association and American Dental Association.

Exposure-prone procedures are defined as those where the health worker could, if injured, bleed into an opening in a patient. Examples include abdominal, gynecological or heart surgery, tooth extractions and root canals — but not simple fillings, teeth cleaning or injections.

The recommendations come at a time of resurgent AIDS fears, following the case of a Florida dentist believed to have infected five patients before dying of AIDS. The five are the only documented cases of doctor-to-patient infection.

Episcopalians sidestep gay issue

PHOENIX — The bishops of the Episcopal Church have sidestepped the issue of whether homosexuals can become priests, saying that to take a position now would tear the church apart.

Instead, the bishops adopted a vaguely worded compromise at their convention Monday that leaves intact the denomination's current, sometimes unheeded, policy barring the ordination of gay priests.

The compromise also says that "sexual expression is appropriate only" within heterosexual marriage, but acknowledges that a "discontinuity" exists between that position and the lifestyles of many church members.

The bishops also asked that the issues be studied and reported back on at the group's next convention.

New call for insurance regulation

WASHINGTON — New Jersey officials' takeover of Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co. is prompting a renewed call for federal regulation of the insurance industry.

"This is a disaster waiting to happen for the American economy," said Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, who chairs the Senate Judiciary antitrust subcommittee. "There is no more powerful force in the economy than the insurance industry, which controls over $2 trillion in assets."

The states are incapable of regulating the giant industry, Metzenbaum contended Monday.

Out With The New, In With The Old

From the minute you walk through the door, you know there is something different about THIS antique shop. Actually, the charm starts on the front porch, an absolute necessity for old Southern homes. The difference is that all the furnishings, from the rocking chairs on the porch to the claw foot bathtub, are for sale.

The 1930's era house, that is the home to Sanford Antiques, is charming on its own. From the wood floors to the elaborate ceiling trim to the porcelain bathroom fixtures to the small but workable kitchen, the house represents a style of living many people are looking to duplicate in these days of fast-paced high-technology.

Sanford Antiques is owned by Joan McDaniels, a long-time Sanford resident, and managed by Rosanna Takash. Several dealers contribute to the wide variety of treasures to be found. There are items available from all over the world. Besides furniture, there are fabrics, books, postcards, vintage clothing, kitchen utensils, rugs, lamps and lighting fixtures, china, depression glass, frames and framed art, photographs, toys and a wood stove.

Feature items at this time include Deco furnishings, East Lake Victorian pieces and 60's items. And because there are several dealers involved, the variety of antiques and collectibles changes on a daily basis as new pieces are added, so stop in often. If there is something in particular you are looking for feel free to ask. One of the dealers could probably find it for you. Sanford Antiques is open Tuesday through Saturday, with Monday set aside for hunting new treasures. The hours are 11:00 AM to 4:00 PM, or by appointment. Sanford Antiques is located on First Street, 2 blocks west of French Avenue (17-92) on the right hand side. The telephone number is 321-2035 or 321-0013 for an appointment. Joan, Rosanne & Banjo (official Sanford Antiques mascot) welcome you anytime.

IN BRIEF

SOFTBALL

Help needed

FIVE POINTS — The Seminole Softball Association Hawks, a 12-and-Under Division girls slowpitch softball team, will be traveling to national tournaments in South Carolina (July 24-28) and Texas (August 1-4) in the near future and your help is needed.
 Funds are limited so the team is looking for community support. If you would like to make a donation or become a sponsor, please contact Pam Barney at 695-7519.

Special camp scheduled

SANFORD — Wes Rinker's Florida Baseball Schools has scheduled a special one-week camp open only to Sanford youth ages 7 to 17.
 The camp, which will run July 22-28, will cost $35 for the entire week. Daily sessions, stressing baseball fundamentals with an emphasis on correct throwing, will be conducted between 8 a.m. and noon at Sanford Memorial Stadium.
 Interested parties can register via mail by sending a check to the Florida Baseball Schools, 540 Lake Bingham Road, Lake Mary, 32748.
 For more information, contact Charlie Lytle at 322-8807.

Darling-Burke traded

NEW YORK — The New York Mets on Monday traded right-handed pitcher Ron Darling and a minor leaguer to the Montreal Expos for right-handed reliever Tim Burke.
 Darling, 30, was 5-6 with a 3.87 ERA in 17 starts. In a 2-1 loss to San Diego Sunday, Darling gave up two runs on four hits in seven innings. The Mets also included in the deal left-handed reliever Mike Thomas, who had a 2.41 ERA and 15 saves at Class A Columbia of the South Atlantic League.
 Burke, 32, was 3-4 with 4.11 ERA and five saves in 37 appearances for the Expos.
 Darling was the senior Met in terms of continuous tenure, having joined the team in September 1983. He is 99-70 lifetime.

BASKETBALL

SCC co-ed camp

SANFORD — Openings are still available for the third week of the 1991 Bill Payne/Seminole Community College Basketball Camp.
 The camp, for both boys and girls ages 7-14, will take place July 22-25 in the air-conditioned SCC Health and Physical Education Center from 2 to 5 p.m. daily.
 The camp is geared for players who are interested in learning to play the game with an emphasis on fundamentals. Each camper will receive a certificate of participation while individual awards will be given for the Most Valuable Player of the Camp, Best Free Throw Shooter, best attitude, as well as three-on-three and five-on-five competition winners.
 The campers are broken into two groups, based on age and ability.
 Cost is $45 and includes insurance, instruction, camp T-shirt and awards.
 For more information, call (407) 323-1450, extension 210, Monday through Friday.

FOOTBALL

Quick quits

PHILADELPHIA — Mike Quick showed he could catch footballs with one hand but ultimately realized that he didn't have the two healthy legs needed to carry on his NFL career.
 The fourth-leading receiver in Philadelphia Eagles history announced his retirement on Monday, closing the book on a nine-year performance that earned five Pro Bowls.
 Hobbled by injury in each of the past three seasons, Quick found himself discussing his failed rehab efforts Monday at Veterans Stadium while the Eagles began training camp without him in nearby West Chester.
 "I have no other choice," said Quick, 32. "I can't go to training camp and work now because of my physical condition. So I have to move on."

VOLLEYBALL

SCC to host youth camp

SANFORD — Seminole Community College Women's Athletics Coach Ileana Gallagher will hold a Volleyball Camp for Middle School thru High School students July 29 to August 1.
 Time of the camp will be from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day with a one-hour break for lunch.
 Cost is $70 without meals and $80 with meals.
 For more information, contact the College at (407) 323-1450, extensions 210 or 380.

Babe Ruth stars garner state runners-up honors

The arms have it

Curtis Peterson (above) and Todd Braden (right) both picked up a win and save yesterday as the Sanford Babe Ruth All-Stars rallied out of the loser's bracket to finish as the state runners-up in the 1991 Class "A" Babe Ruth State Championships at Sarasota. The hard-throwing duo combined for a 3-1 record, with two saves, as Sanford finished 5-2 in the tournament. Sanford won three consecutive games to win the loser's bracket but dropped an 11-2 decision to Tallahassee in the finals.

SARASOTA — It took 18 years but Sanford is back on the youth baseball map.

The Sanford Babe Ruth All-Stars fought through injuries, the loser's bracket, and close contests, but they couldn't get past the Tallahassee All-Stars, as they finished as runners-up in the 1991 Florida Class "A" Babe Ruth State Championship at Sarasota.

The local stars, in their first year of Babe Ruth play, had won three straight games in the loser's bracket to earn the right to play the Capital City Stars in the finals but, with just a 56-minute rest between games, did not have enough left as they dropped an 11-2 decision to the new state champions.

Sanford would have had to have beaten Tallahassee twice to claim the title.

It was 18-years ago, in 1973, that both the Sanford Junior and Senior Major All-Star teams had finished as state runners-up. The only other time a Sanford contingent had finished in the final two was back in 1983 when the Little Major All-Stars were also state runners-up.

The 13-15 year-old stars finished with an impressive 5-2 record in the tournament, with both of the losses coming at the hands of Tallahassee.

"I'm very proud of the kids," said manager Otis Raines, who had led the Knights of Columbus Cardinals to the City Championship this season. "It was an experience all by itself. Our kids played hard and left the field with their heads up."

The team was scheduled to leave Sarasota at 9 a.m. today and return to the Sanford City Hall where they will present the runners-up plaque to the Recreation Department.

Tallahassee scored six runs in the third inning to break the championship contest wide open. Three hits, two hit batsmen, two walks, and an error contributed to the big inning.

But just advancing to the final game of the tournament showed the heart and determination of the 15-member squad, who lost hot-hitting catcher Ray June to an injury after just two games into the tourney.

"Ray scored six runs and had four hits in the first two games when he bruised his lower leg," said Raines. "It was a big loss. But it wasn't the only loss. Demetrius (Jackson) the first game starting pitcher and one of the team's better hitters came up with a bad back and Todd (ace pitcher Braden) had a sore arm."

Sanford routed the Sarasota Americans 11-4 to gain a berth in the final showdown with Tallahassee. They had put the other Sarasota entry, the Nationals, in the loser's bracket earlier on Friday with a 10-0 drubbing. Three-run outbursts in the third and the fifth innings keyed the victory.

Braden came back from the sore arm to throw six innings to pick up the win. He struck out seven and walked seven. Curtis Peterson worked the final inning.

In the third inning, Quentin Hunt led off with a walk, stole second, and was replaced by Jackson, who scored on Peterson's single. Don Hunt then walked and both runners advanced on a passed ball. Andre Rawlings took four balls to load the bases and catcher Deon Daniels laced a single to drive in two runs.

Tarrus Davis knocked in Rawlings and Eric Ingram with a triple in the fifth. He came in a sacrifice fly by Daniels, who had three hits in the game.

After their first loss to Tallahassee, Sanford responded

Small group puts on big show at Track Series

RANA L. GASH
 Herald Correspondent

LAKE MARY — Monday's summer track meet at Lake Mary High School brought a handful of competitors that stretched the length of the events.

It is questionable as to whether or not this group of runners were equipped with hearts, energizer batteries, or both. They kept "going and going and going."
 There were no field events because of the wet field, but most of the runners entered and completed each race. Even 3-year-old Jordan Legault put on a show of tremendous endurance. Jordan finished second in the 50 yard dash and the 100 yd. dash, first in the 220, and, with tear filled eyes and weary legs, an agonizing first for the 5-and under boys 440.
 His determination helped push Jenny and Jason Byrd to their limit as well. Jason Byrd, a competitor in the 11-14 year old age group, may soon become a household name in the sport of track and field. Sprints, middle-distance, or long-distance, it doesn't matter. He put winning on his mind and in his legs.
 He ran away with five events and took a close second in another. Jason managed to win the 50 yd. dash, the 100 yd. dash, the mile run in classic style, the 440 yd. dash, and the 880 run. Each event was run back to back. Somewhere in there he eased in a second in the 220.
 Jenny Byrd, in the 9-10 year old age group, does everything with a smile. No, not some things, but everything! She placed third in the 50 yd. dash, the 100 yd. dash, and the mile, finished first in the 440 and the 880, and fifth in the 220. Jenny came down the last 40 meters of each race with her knees lifting, arms pumping, and eyes focusing on the white line. Once her feet crossed the line, she put a big smile on her face and says, "I'm almost done!" What does the word tired mean?

These runners act as if they never heard the term. Parents gave it all they had for their children by cheering and competing. It soon became hard to tell who was enjoying the meet the most. The results are listed below according to age groups.

5-and Under Boys:
 Michael Gibson won the 50 in 11.2 seconds followed by Jordan LeGault with a 12.2. Gibson came across the 100 yd. dash in 25.5 while LeGault finished in 26.7 seconds. LeGault also won the 440 in 2:52.3 and 220 in 68.0.

6 and 7 Boys:
 L. Escape ran a 9.5 50 and a 18.5 100 to win both events.

6 and 7 Girls:
 Anna Stachow won the 50 in 8.9 seconds, G. Fleming finished first in the 100 yd. dash in 18.3 and first in the mile in 8:51.0. Jenny Byrd finished first in the 440 in 80.6 seconds and the 880 in 3:14.

9 and 10 Boys:
 D. Vellon won the 50 with a 9.2, the 100 in 16.4 seconds, the 880 in 3:25.3, and the 220 in 36.9 seconds. Martin was the mile winner with a time of 6:33.8. Stachow won the 440 with a 91.4 and completed the two mile.

9 and 10 Girls:
 Brook Fleming ran away with the 50 in 7.8 seconds and the 100 in 16.6. K. Dedelow won the 220 in 35.2 seconds.

11-14 Boys:
 Jason Byrd won the 50 in 7.8 seconds, C. Corell burned the field in the 100 with a 13.4, and C. King won the 220 in 32.5 seconds. Byrd finished first in the mile with a 5:54.8, the 440 with a 73.8, and the 880 in 2:56.5.

11-14 Girls:
 N. Sharif won the 220 with a 32.9.

15-18 Boys:
 J. Lane finished first in the 50, 6.7 and the 100, 13.9. Livingston won the mile in 6:48.2 and the 440 in 70.9. The 220 was won by McIney was first in the 220 with a 26.9.

15-18 Girls:
 Bonck 7:14.3.

30-39 Men:
 Stachow fascinated competitors and fans with his beautiful stride and speed. He won the mile in 4:55.1, the 440 in 64.6 seconds, and the two mile.

40-49 Men:
 R. Pendle won the 50 and the 100 with times of 6.1 and 12.9. Herbst won the mile in 6:48.4. Vellon won both the 440, 69.6, and the 880 in 3:01.

40-49 Women:
 J. Kelley came across the line first in the 440 with a 95.1 and in the 220 with a 41.7.

50-Over:
 Lionel Bonck was the only competitor for his age group. He completed the two mile run in 16:30.

King, DiTore lead Oviedo to Senior title

From Staff Reports

OVIDEO — The Oviedo Senior League All-Stars completed their march through the District 14-Area 3 Tournament with a 15-0 whitewashing of the Eustis All-Stars.
 Brian King tossed a two-hitter and Rich DiTore Jr. drove in four runs with a pair of doubles as Oviedo finished the tournament with a 4-0 record.
 The winners of manager Tom Ferguson and coach Pat Metcalf outscored their four opponents 73-3 and did not allow a run in their last three games, winning by a combined 53-0. Oviedo's pitchers have allowed only six hits total.
 King's two-hitter was his second win of the tournament. He struck out nine and walked four. The nearest Eustis came to scoring was in the fifth when, with the bases loaded and only one out, the winners turned a 5-2-3 double play to end the inning and the threat.

 "We've been getting outstanding pitching," said Oviedo spokesman Rich DiTore Sr. "We've only had to use three pitchers (King, Kevin Stephenson and Todd Bellhorn) in the four games. We haven't had to go to the bull pen yet. It's great."
 The Senior's will now advance to the District 14 Tournament at Altamonte Springs' Eastmonte Park. When and who they will play is still up in the air as the Area 1 Tournament was still undecided. Winter Garden and Ocoee were playing for the right to join Oviedo, the Altamonte Springs Americans and the Deltona Americans as the final four combatants.
 Oviedo broke open a 0-0 game with six runs in the bottom of the third inning. Mike Ruglenius led off and reached on an error. Bellhorn with two dramatic wins over both Miami teams on Sunday to make it to the semifinals. The first was a 1-0, 10-inning marathon over the Miami S.K. All-Stars that featured a spectacular pitching performance by Daniels. He lasted nine innings before giving way to Peterson, who notched the win. Daniels also scored the winning run on a single by Eric Roberts. In their second contest of the day, against the Miami L.A. All-Stars, Sanford posted two runs in the third, fourth, and sixth innings and held off a furious comeback effort for a 6-5 win. Roberts hurled six innings of three-hit baseball for the victory. Braden struck out two in the seventh to grab the save. Davis, Roberts, and Daniels each had two singles. Craig Merkeron was the defensive star in the two wins saving several errors with excellent stops of bad throws at first base. Other team members included George Beasley, Charlie Farmer and Willie Williams. Assisting Raines as coaches were Anthony Freeman, Tom Kiger, Kenny Daniels and Brian Nazar. "We laid a good foundation for the future," commented Raines. "We were very impressed with the Babe Ruth Organization. To come in runners-up in our first state tournament is good. We just ran out of gas."

Rich DiTore drove in four runs with a pair of doubles as Oviedo crushed Eustis 15-0 to win the Area 3 title.

Bruising may call for blood testing

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 73-year-old woman, about 10 pounds overweight. My problem is bleeding just under the skin on my arms from my elbows on down and from my knees to my ankles. Any minor bump or scratch causes immediate redness. My skin is like tissue paper, peels very easily and is slow to heal. My only medication is Norpramin, which I take for long-standing depression. Is my system low in vitamins?

DEAR READER: As we age and our skin becomes thinner and less elastic, we bruise more easily. This is a common, harmless annoyance that comes with advancing years.

However, disorders in blood coagulation also cause easy bruising. Therefore, I suggest you discuss this with your family physician, who will probably order a CBC (complete blood count) to rule out abnormalities in the cells, a platelet count (to make sure you have enough of these tiny cells to form a clot) and a measure of certain proteins in your bloodstream; these proteins, such as prothrombin, are essential for normal blood coagulation.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm an 85-year-old widow with a dropped bladder. My doctor has recommended a hysterectomy. I don't want the surgery but do want your opinion.

DEAR READER: A dropped bladder (cystocele) can lead to urinary difficulties, such as incontinence. In younger women, surgery to remove the uterus and reposition the bladder is a standard method of solving the problem.

Obviously, major surgery in an 85-year-old woman should be avoided if possible because operative complications are more common in the elderly. While I won't presume to outguess your doctor, I share your concern. Therefore, I advise you to see a gynecologist to obtain a pessary. These devices have been used for centuries to help women with cystocele. Modern pessaries are plastic rings that are inserted into the vagina to hold up the bladder and relieve symptoms.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

We continue our look at deals from Bill Root's book "How to Play a Bridge Hand." Every day you may test yourself by covering the East-West cards and selecting your line of play before reading on. Today's contract is three no-trump, West leading the spade four.

Start by counting your top tricks. Here you have six: one spade, three hearts and two diamonds. The extra tricks you need will obviously come from the club suit. Everything looks rosy, but if the opponents can get one club and four spade tricks, they will defeat you.

Consider the spade suit and its possible distributions. If the opponents' cards are dividing 4-3, you are always safe. The opponents will get at most one club trick and three spade tricks. You need fear only a 5-2 split.

Given that the suit is 5-2 and West has led from length, how will the honors divide? West won't have the K-Q-J (he would have led the king). So East will have a doubleton honor.

If that is so and you duck the first trick, East will win with his honor and return his second spade. Then if West has the club ace, you will go down, since he will cash three more spade tricks. The answer is to win the first trick with dummy's spade ace.

You continue with a club. What can West do when in with the ace? If he leads a low spade, East will win the trick but won't have another spade to play. If West cashes the spade king, swallowing his partner's queen, your nine becomes a second stopper.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
July 17, 1991

You will be on a track toward success in the year ahead regarding financially meaningful matters. Your train might have to make a few stops on the way, but it will eventually reach its destination.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you have to negotiate a matter today to get something you're entitled to, don't make needless concessions. If you feel you're right, hold to your bottom line. Cancer, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for Cancer's Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your ability to comprehend new information could be a bit better than that of your co-workers today. If there is something you have to repeat in order for them to grasp it, be patient.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Owing to unusual conditions, this could turn out to be a profitable day for you. Be on the lookout for a financial opportunity that might come through a friend who holds you in high esteem.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You are in a lucky cycle for the fulfillment of your hopes and expectations. However, you could still have some self-doubts with which to contend.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Something in which you are presently involved has much greater potential than you first believed. There is a possibility you will begin to perceive its true worth today.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Having to deal with middle management or intermediaries today may leave you with results that aren't very fruitful. However, involvements with individuals who call the shots could turn out lucky.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It looks like you may be more fortunate today in a situation where you play a secondary role than where you are the initiator. It's results, not the limelight, that count.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)

If you are presently working on a plan that's a bit unusual and complicated, it's best not to discuss it with friends - if it's out of their league. Their input could prove counterproductive.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Where you previously had difficulty getting others to comply, you may find willing cooperation today. In fact, it will come from the very people who rejected your recent request.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you have thoughtfully arrived at a particular plan of action, stay the course today. Some obstructions are likely, but victory is within your grasp.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Take pride in your work today, even if those you labor with do not. A surprise form of compensation could be in the offing - if the job is well done.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) In a joint venture today, it might be up to you to sort things out that were fouled up by others. It can be handled in a way so that they won't make the same mistake twice.
