Frank Morgan Plays Romantic Role In New Film, "Port of Seven Seas"

Trite is the phrase "nothing is torn from the arms of a new under the sun," but Hollywood sent the theatregoers something new when they produced "Port of Seven Seas," coming to the Ritz Theatre Thursday and Friday.

Starring Wallace Beery, and with a splendid cast including Frank Morgan, Maureen O'Sullivan, John Beal, and Jessie Ralph, the picture presents an entirely novel theme.

As the gruff, but understanding father and owner of a waterfront tavern, Beery is outstanding as usual, and his dramatic work with Frank Morgan is equally as enjoyable, as their comedy.

Romance is supplied by Miss O'Sullivan, who rushed back from London where she appeared in "A Yank at Oxford" with Robert Taylor, who was last seen in "Double Wedding" and Frank Morgan. No, that's not a mistake. Morgan does something entirely new in screen characterization and turns romantic time on an "Opera" sequence and dramatic with outstanding results.

The story concerns a boy who sweetheart by the lure of his own. He promises to return and marry her in three years. In leaving he also breaks his father's heart. In the meantime, another suitor, twice the girl's age, asks for her hand. At first she refuses, then agrees to marry him when she sees the happiness it will bring. She's still in love with the boy, but feels they'll never be happy if his love for adventure is greater than his devotion for her.

He returns to find the girl married. He demands that she leave her husband and go with him. His father makes him see that it would be impossible to break the old man's happiness, so the boy returns to his first love, the sea.

STAND-IN ROOM ONLY.
A "stand-in" for a theatre That novel technique in the production was tried for the first time on an "Opera" sequence and dramatic with outstanding results.

"The Rage of Paris" Features Debut Of French Star, Danielle Darrieux

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, JR. and Danielle Darrieux in a scene from Universal's "The Rage of Paris."

Danielle Darrieux, France's eye-filling, gams and remains to be seen—but no doubt will conquer. There need be no hesitation in adding the dainty, winsome, peering, prancing Parisian who flashes through every feminine mood in the space of a couple of hours will sway the entire country. Universal's fair victor is supple and her first American film, "The Rage of Paris" is a gorgeous comedy romance.

And why should it not be. Look what it has in the way of a cast. It stars Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in co-starring with Danielle. Mischa Auer, looking his most delicious and in a comedy writer, Helen Broderick is teamed with him as a worldly-wise, cynical, whose advice gets Mike Darrieux into all sorts of tangled trails. Then there is Louis Hayward, one of the more interesting Hollywood leading men, as the third side of the romantic triangle and such dextrous veterans as Charles Coleman, Sammie Hines, Nella Walker and Harry Davenport appear in fetching character portrayals.

The film star has all the verve that popular novelists and travelers' agencies herald to French beauty. She can say more with her eyes than the average star can say in a page of dialogue. She is a creature of moods, turning from grave to gay in the flash of an eyelid, and speaking French again in the cutest French accent. She is typically beautiful but not afraid to make gestures and play scenes in a full of rich, elegant that would not be out of place in the most sophisticated of Parisian circles.

Her "Rage of Paris" portrays a sensational "Dance of Attorneys" in "Hollywood Mystery," the "Rage of Paris" picture coming Saturday night at the Ritz Theatre. "Hollywood Mystery" is the first of a series of films that will be shown at the Ritz Theatre, Saturday and Sunday.

MICKEY ROONEY and Judy Garland in the latest of the Judge Hardy series "Love Finds Andy Hardy."

Mickey Rooney Named "Speed Demon"

Mickey Rooney has a reputation to the name, "Speed Demon." The boy actor's latest interest is a racing car which he expects to do better than a hundred miles an hour.

Mickey recently purchased an old flier. With the help of fellow-actor Dan Quigg, who appears with him in "Love Finds Andy Hardy," coming to the Ritz Theatre, he hopped up the motor and straddled the body so that the car did not touch the ground for hours on a first run.

They are now working on the car for the speed record which they feel they will do better than a hundred miles per hour. The youthful player has been driving the car, with a speed of 100 miles per hour in the coming test.

Louis Stone, Judy Garland, Cecilia Parker and Fay Holden have featured roles in "Love Finds Andy Hardy," which was directed by George C. Seaton.

BUDDY ROGERS and Claire Luce, two of the stars who appear in the musical spectacle "Let's Make A Night of It," a Universal release.

HE WON'T TATTLE!

Madge Murphy is the latest of actor-writers to turn down offers to write Hollywood gossip from the "inside." The young actor is associate editor of one Hollywood publication but, like the others in his position, doesn't of his double-threat position. Murphy is in "My Bill."

Because Maureen O'Sullivan decorated the interior of the portable dressing-room she used during filming of "Port of Seven Seas," the actress refused to accept a new one from the

Miami Advertising Contract Awarded

MIAMI, July 22.—(P)—The city commission, at a meeting yesterday called to study tax equalization, disregarded a call for competitive proposals and adopted yesterday a surprise resolution renewing the city's $30,000 publicity contract with Carl Byoir and associates for another year.

Norman L. Graves, chairman of the publicity advisory board, said various organizations had been asked to submit plans at a meeting tomorrow but added there was no use holding that meeting now. He said several organizations, including the Hamilton M. Wright group of New York, had prepared prospectuses in response to the board's invitation.

Byoir first secured the city contract three years ago. Headquarters of the organization are in New York.

Late Reports Give O'Daniels Big Majority

Flour Salesman, Novice Politician, Hits At Reports He Will Begin Dictatorship

Opponents Jibed At His Methods

Campaign For Governor Conducted With Band Of Hillbillies

DALLAS, July 25.—(AP)—W. Lee O'Daniel, the novice politician who made the shambles of Texas a political precedent, assured the public he would be "regular fellow" as governor and scoffed at possibility of dictatorship. Latest reports gave him a clear majority over eleven opponents for Democratic nomination.

O'Daniel, a flour salesman, mounted a sound truck with a hill billy band and struck out after "those professional politicians." Others scoffed at his methods but he won without need for a run-off.

Two potent members of Congress, Representatives Maury Maverick and Morgan Sanders, apparently test him for renomination.

Maverick, who in two terms held his name high in the House of Representatives, was booted out by Paul J. Kilgay, San Antonio attorney, who compiled an impressive record as a county prosecutor. Maverick declined to comment when almost complete returns showed him trailing Kilgay by 889 votes. Only a few ballots had not been counted.

Blocky, bespectacled Maverick, full of oratorical fire, contended Kilgay had the support of Maj. C. K. Quin's political machine. Reports were persistent that a recount would be demanded. The New Deal was not an issue, although Maverick was a known Administration man and Kilgay said he would favor the Administration but "never be known as a rubber stamp congressman."

Representative W. D. MacFarlane, who only two weeks ago was referred to by President Roosevelt on a train trip through Texas as "my old friend Congressman MacFarlane," ran behind Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls. He polled 22,186 to MacFarlane's 20,147. Gossett ran against MacFarlane in 1934.

O'Daniel, whose mountain music deriding professional politicians swept the plains of Texas like a prairie fire.

"I chose the Ten Commandments as a platform because I thought they would make a good one," said the affable, 46-year-old flour jobber.

The strange medley of hill billy tunes and rousing attacks on professional politicians plus appeals for higher and more liberalized pensions deflected veterans of Texas campaigns. Evidently it appealed tremendously to thousands of voters.

O'Daniel spread his political grass fire over Texas from a platform equipped with several hundred miles of miles daily in this largest state of the union.

When he has approached a town where O'Daniel was to speak it passed outside the city limits. The entertainers piled out, mounted to the platform and affixed flags and pennants. Then with the orchestra members at their stations, the band wheeled majestically down Main street, rolling chairs following in the usual course.

O'Daniel's appearance on the platform invariably was hailed as a popular stage performance. The orchestra struck up popular tunes, such as "Ten Commandments in Politics Now." Another was "My Old Friend MacFarlane." "My Old Friend MacFarlane,"

EYES OF TEXAS ARE UPON HIM

Pirat returns to the Texas election bureau in the Democratic gubernatorial primary showed W. Lee O'Daniel, the flour merchant who made headline music a political issue, to be well in the lead. Here he's shown studying a map of the Lone Star State at Fort Worth.

Lehman, Leonardy Rotarians To Attend Caucus Of House Nominees

Seminole County's representative, H. J. Lehman, Monday reported, an enjoyable two days of fun prior to the caucus at Moon Lake which resulted in the selection of G. Pierce Wood of Liberty county as Speaker of the next House session.

Mr. Lehman, who was accompanied by John G. Leonardy, Seminole's other representative, and John Lindsey, Dade representative, stated that although he voted for LeRoy Collins, prominent Leon county representative, he was well satisfied with the selection of the Liberty county candidate.

Rotarians To Beautify Plot In New Park

More than 2,200 plants are needed, Mrs. Endor Curlett told the Rotary Club at its regular weekly luncheon Monday for the beautification of the Fort Mellon Park. Previously in the meeting, the club had voted unanimously to sponsor a section of the park and to contribute necessary plants for its beautification.

A President George Rollins appointed the Community Service Committee, composed of Martin Brian, James Ingley, and Ed Stone, to make arrangements for the club's contribution to the park.

Mr. Rollins, who presided over the meeting, reported on the recent district assembly of the Rotary clubs of Florida and characterized it as one of the most interesting and instructive conventions he had ever attended.

Mr. Rollins also invited the directors of the club and committee chairman to a meeting at his home at 8:00 o'clock Tuesday night.

Declaring that the plans for the park had been drawn by Herbert L. Flint, noted landscape architect, Mrs. Curlett, who was introduced to the club by Dr. R. W. Ruprecht, chairman of the program committee, stated that the park will belong to everybody in Seminole County and that everybody should contribute to its beautification.

Calling attention to the list of plants published recently in The Herald, Mrs. Curlett, who is chairman of the Beautification Committee of the Garden Club, suggested that a plaque containing the names of the donors be placed in the park.

Damage was conservatively put at more than $3,000,000. The tobacco crop loss in Connecticut was reported as $1,000,000 and similarly heavy tolls were exacted of crops in Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

The textile mills were shut down in many towns, throwing thousands of persons temporarily out of work. Hundreds of families were homeless in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and New York.

Shrieks from the whole crowd almost drowned the noise of the plane tipping through the netting of the stand and of the explosion of the gasoline tanks when the ship hit the ground. The plane caught fire immediately. The crowd ran in every direction but some were powerless to escape, and some of those in the path of the propellers were decapitated.

Some of the injured, soaked with the spray of burning gasoline shrieked in desperation and pain. The body of the pilot was destroyed by the flames.

Continued downpours were forecast in North Carolina, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and adjacent states but little immediate danger of widespread floods was seen.

The south's chief fear was for cotton crop since boll weevil fattens on rainy weather.

Rail Fare Rises For Eastern Railroads

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP)—It will cost a half-cent a mile more to ride the coaches of eastern railroads today than it did heretofore.

An increase in the coach fares from two to 2.5 cents a mile went into effect at midnight last night for an experimental period of 18 months.

The Interstate Commerce Commission agreed in June to allow the increase, reporting that the roads needed more revenue badly. The carriers estimated the new rate would bring them an additional

Gov. Winship Is Shot At By Radical White Reviewing Parade During Celebration

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, July 25.—(AP)—Macon General Blanton Winship, governor of Puerto Rico, received an assassin's bullet at Ponce today while reviewing a parade celebrating the 45th anniversary of the landing of American troops in the Spanish American war.

Police immediately detained five among the large crowds watching the celebration of the 45th anniversary of the landing of American troops in the Spanish American war.

One man was killed by police and a number injured.

Police also made arrests. They said the first shot was fired by a member of the nationalist party, a group demanding independence for the United States, in the possession of a gun.

Columbia Plane Crash Victims To Be Paid Expenses

BUCAROTA, Columbia, July 25.—(AP)—The government announced today it would pay the funeral expenses of 31 persons killed at a military review yesterday when a stunt airplane lurched into a crowd of spectators. The state decided also to pay the medical expense of the 150 persons injured, many of them gravely.

President Alfonso Lopez, although he was in the stand fronted by the falling plane, visited various hospitals where the injured lay.

The plane piloted by Lieut. Alcala was doing acrobatic stunts 90 feet from the ground when it attempted to pass between the grandstand occupied by the President and President-elect Eduardo Santos, and the diplomatic stand.

A tip of the wing hit the stand occupied by diplomats and they struck the presidential stand.

The wildly cheering crowd crashed and cut through bystanders like a scythe.

The inauguration was being viewed by more than 50,000 people.

The steps of the stand from which President Lopez was viewing the review to which Peru, Bolivia, Ecuador and Venezuela had sent sports delegations were brushed off.

Shrieks from the whole crowd almost drowned the noise of the plane tipping through the netting of the stand and of the explosion of the gasoline tanks when the ship hit the ground. The plane caught fire immediately. The crowd ran in every direction but some were powerless to escape, and some of those in the path of the propellers were decapitated.

Orlando Fisherman Gets Cramps In Lake

A fishing trip which might have ended in tragedy was the experience of two Orlando fishermen in Lake Monroe Saturday night, according to reports of the Sanford Outboard Association.

Dorsey Hockady and Pat Sweetman of Orlando put in their boat near here Saturday night and for a trip down the river to Lemon Bluff where they planned to spend the weekend. The outboard motor broke down in the lake and Sweetman attempted to swim to shore since they had no raft.

He took a cramp in the water and took refuge on a nearby channel marker where he remained until early Sunday morning when he was picked by a fisherman. The broken down craft and its occupant was later found and returned to Sanford by a party composed of Henry English, Bill Johns, Earnest Lundberg, Dwight Smith, and James Cowan.

AUDREY WURDEMANN

Evidently our modern dictators subscribe to the age old doctrine that "Too many cooks spoil the broth."

While the Japs are losing no love on the Russian Bear, old brains no doubt would like to bring them to death.

Lohmann is Off—headless. Well, not exactly off, but at the same time he'll have a lot of New Englanders crazy to come to Florida next winter.

Now that "Wrong Way" Corrigan has hooked passage on an American liner for New York City, if he doesn't wind up in Singapore, it'll probably be because the captain put him in front.

Was breeds war. Already involved with the Chinese up to their necks, the Japs seem about to come into open conflict with the Russians. A fellow, or a country, with a chip on his shoulder, can always find someone to knock it off.

Corrigan's attempt to fly to California by way of Ireland reminds us of how many times in this day and age we find people seeking the right objectives by the wrong methods. We have no complaint against where they are trying to go, but we dislike the questionable way they have of trying to get there.

Just to think it was only ten years ago this summer that a man named Herbert Hoover was going around the country gathering votes by promising the people two chickens in every pot, and the Brown Derby was driven by Democrats whose fathers fought with Lee at Appomattox and the ranks of Hoovercraft. Not one of them will admit now, however, that they once voted for Hoover.

Tax Revision

The designation of G. Pierce Wood of Liberty county as Speaker of the House for the 1939 session lends support to the belief that the State's tax structure will undergo some extensive revision within the next few years.

Because of this and the probability that at least part of this program will be enacted, it is important for the average citizen to understand just what revision of the Florida tax laws is contemplated and to what extent the changes will affect them.

Another phase of the program, consisting primarily of a sales tax, has not yet met with much success, though the fact should not be lost sight of that Mr. Wood "fought his heart out for the sales tax in the 1935 session of the Legislature."

Mr. Wood says that he will work against the sales tax in the next session of the Legislature "knowing that to do anything really constructive we should go back to the Constitution."

Thus the program embraces a reduction in the tax on real estate, even to the point of its complete elimination on vacant lots, idle acreage, and other non-income producing properties, without the embarrassing necessity of reducing the cost of government.

Serious Mistakes

Japan seems to be piling mistake upon mistake in its futile efforts to gain a place among the leading nations of the world.

Then she scraped the "5-5-3 naval treaty" under which she was allowed only three ships as compared with five each for the United States and England.

And now she has undertaken to drive the Russians out of a disputed island on the Manchukoo border. With her armies already fully occupied by the Chinese dragon, the Japanese general staff looks for more worlds to conquer.

As a result of these mistakes, Japan has had to cancel the Olympic games and the International Exposition which was to have been held in Tokio in 1940.

FAME BY ACCIDENT... It took a snow storm in July to start Zaddock Thompson, noted Vermont naturalist and historian on his road to success.

In 1819 he began publishing an almanac to earn his way through the University of Vermont. His almanac was read casually by the stolid Vermont farmers, and for a time Thompson had a hard time making his publication realize a profit.

One day while delivering copy for his almanac to the printer, he was informed that he had omitted a weather prediction for a day in July. Absently he replied, "Snow about this time."

When the copies were off the press Thompson was horrified to read such a disastrous forecast. Obviously his almanac was doomed to be ridiculed out of circulation.

Thompson's almanac was the talk of the state. Demands increased for copies of it. Surely, a man who could make such a prediction was a true prophet. His reputation was established.
