

Sanford Being Considered For Defense Exhibit

Sanford may become the Florida headquarters for a permanent exhibit showing items on which Florida business men bid for defense contracts, the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce has been informed by Capt. R. S. Hetherington, small business specialist of the Florida military district.

Roughly 50 by 100 feet of floor space would be needed for the exhibit which would have to be staffed and financed locally, according to Chamber of Commerce Manager Forrest Breckenridge.

The exhibit with its change in displays would make Sanford a mecca for Florida business men, Capt. Hetherington suggested. He said Sanford is being considered as a possible location for the exhibit because of its central location in the Florida peninsula.

Senator Byrd Hits FEPC Decree Of President Truman

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Senator Byrd (D-Va.) today denounced President Truman's new Civil Rights order as a step in a program aimed at "destroying all the authority of the states."

Byrd's criticism was directed at yesterday's presidential executive order creating a committee to eliminate any racial or religious discrimination in defense production under government contract.

The Virginia senator already on record against another term for Mr. Truman told reporters the new order is "an additional reason for the opposition of those who want to preserve our form of government."

The executive order, Byrd said, is "right in line with what the President has been trying to do through legislation." He added: "Having been unable to get his Civil Rights bills passed by Congress, he now has gone as far as could be by executive order."

A leader of the Southern opposition to the President's Civil Rights program, Byrd said he has little chance for enactment of the legislation at the next session of Congress convening in January.

But if the President should be re-elected, Byrd declared, he would support a mandate for Civil Rights in 1948.

He said the South's opposition to Mr. Truman's program is "not a matter of Civil Rights, but a matter of destroying all the authority of the states." He added that the controversy "transcends the racial issue."

Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.) said earlier that if the FEPC order is used by Mr. Truman to enforce "in a political way" it may interfere with defense production.

Citrus Wages

The scale proposed for lemons is 1/16 cents per field box. It proposed pay for truck drivers to $1.05 an hour with no overtime.

A scale of 95 cents an hour was proposed for waiting-time, time spent by pickers or piece work employees at the grove but not in picking.

For both orange and grapefruit pickers, the committee recommended a three cent differential for clipping.

Concurring with Roberts in the majority report were C. B. Nichols and Evidon, both industry members. Dissenting were Paul Chapman of the AFL, and S. E. Sims of the OIU. Roberts served as public representative on the committee.

The majority report followed the recommendations of industry representatives in two instances. Recommendations of industry and public representatives were ignored. All of labor's recommendations were ignored.

Lions On Parade

Plenty of fun was provided for onlookers at the Christmas parade last Wednesday by a Lions Club Trio which included a "real live lion, in the person of Jack Stemper, grocer, at left, a real Sanford beauty "modeled" by Al Skinner, produce merchant and a gr. '50s' banner carrier, right, who was none other than John Ivey, merchant and city commissioner.

British-Egyptian Riots Flare Up. Report 20 Killed

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 4.—(AP)—British troops clashed with Egyptian police and civilians today in the second day of bloody fighting in the Suez Canal zone. A British communique said there were unconfirmed reports that 20 Egyptians were killed. An Egyptian official said eight Egyptians were killed and eight were wounded.

The British version of today's fighting said three British Bren gun carriers were attacked by noise and armed civilians at the edge of the city near a filtration plant. One British officer and a non-com were wounded.

A spokesman for the Egyptian governor of Suez, Ibrahim Zaki El Khouli, said eight Egyptians were killed and eight wounded in a one-hour battle that ended about 4 P.M.

The governor said all was quiet after the battle and that strenuous efforts were being made to restore order.

Today's fighting came on the heels of yesterday's flare-up in which 50 persons were killed, according to the Cairo newspaper Al Balagh. Both Egyptian and British sources said the day provided the highest casualties since the Anglo-Egyptian rift of Oct. 15 but differed on the total of dead and wounded.

Al Balagh quoted the Egyptian governor of Suez as saying a "total of 16 dead yesterday. These included four Egyptians, eight British-led Mauritian troops, two British troopers and a British major missing and "presumably dead."

Applications For Gambling Stamps Dwindle To Six

JACKSONVILLE, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Applications for the 225 gambling occupational tax stamps to be sold today after yesterday's debut of more than a hundred, the Collector of Internal Revenue reported today.

Officials said 26 to 30 incomplete applications had been returned to the collector but would probably be sold today after yesterday's debut of more than a hundred, the Collector of Internal Revenue reported today.

American Plane

(Continued from Page One) blankets and maps which both the Soviet news agency Tass and a Hungarian note claimed were to be dropped to underground groups inside the Soviet Union and her East European allies.

All such planes have to carry five heavy blankets per person, parachutes for each member of the crew, plus two additional ones which can be dropped for use and a portable radio transmitter in sending SOS signals in case of an accident, Abbott said.

Abbott was reluctant to say whether he expected the U. S. request to be fulfilled by the Hungarian government. Some diplomatic sources believe the four Americans will be set free in a relatively short time. They based their opinion on the fact that the Hungarian charges did not accuse the crew members themselves of subversive aims.

The Hungarian note charged that the plane was to land at Belgrade, Yugoslavia, and then was to be used with the "criminal aim of helping spies to come to Hungarian territory."

Lions Meeting

The district forester pointed out that lack of fire control costs between 5 and 10 million dollars a year in timber damage. In addition, he said, the fires take off valuable cover that protects wildlife and aids in the preservation of underground streams.

Seminole County will get a fire tower and fire fighting equipment consisting of a tank truck, fire suppression plow, tractor and transport as soon as State funds are available, he said. The County has already approved an agreement with the State Forest Service to shoulder what will amount to about a third of the cost by having three cents per acre per year for protection of Seminole's 126,000 acres of timber land, according to Mr. Molpus.

Mr. Molpus said it was doubtful funds would be available from the appropriation to the State Forest Service before the next session of the Legislature in April of 1946 for the inauguration of a fire control unit in Seminole County.

He said the State Forest Service is planning to purchase a tank truck, fire suppression plow, tractor and transport as soon as State funds are available.

Shippers Ask For Groves Run Over Florida Borders

LAKELAND, Dec. 4.—(AP)—About 170 small independent citrus growers swamped a federal control committee meeting here today to ask permission to truck "grove-run" fruit across the state line.

The committee did not take immediate action on the request, presented by Barney J. Cohen of Orlando, President of the Florida Independent Growers Association. The meeting continued this afternoon.

The federal citrus marketing agreement which the committee administer requires fruit going into interstate commerce to be graded and sized.

Cohen said his group would move only ripe fruit that met all quality requirements, but wanted to truck it direct from the grove without the expense of separating it by grade and size. Cohen's group has been trying for several years to get approval for interstate trucking of this "grove-run" fruit.

Cohen said many members of the association have been selling oranges at 40 to 70 cents a box. He quoted the average on northern auction markets yesterday as $2.52 a box, which includes packing, handling and shipping costs.

He produced letters from several truckers who said they would be willing to pay $1.50 a box for oranges on the tree if they could truck them directly from the grove. Cohen said between 600 and 1,000 truckers were ready to move if the restrictions were lifted.

The appearance of the crowd of small growers caused the committee to transfer their meeting from the Florida Citrus Commission to the larger city auditorium.

Georgia Welfare Rolls Are Closed Again To Public

ATLANTA, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Georgia welfare rolls, open to the public since Oct. 23, are confidential again until state laws meet the requirements of federal legislation.

State Welfare Director Ann Kemper, who ordered the rolls opened to the public, yesterday had them closed because Georgia laws do not specifically prohibit use of the lists for political or commercial purposes, Kemper said.

We must postpone the opening of the rolls to the public until our state law can be amended by the General Assembly," Kemper said.

A Georgia law of 1937 requires county welfare offices to keep lists of all relief recipients available for public inspection.

The lists were made secret by federal law after the late Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia and other governors began publishing the lists.

Georgia's 1951 legislature asked Congress to repeal the Secrecy Act, and Indiana defied federal authorities and made its lists public.

The new federal tax bill carried an amendment permitting publication of the rolls, providing a state law barred political or commercial use of the lists.

Kemper's Oct. 23 regulation opening the rolls required that all persons inspecting them sign an affidavit that the names would not be used for political or commercial purposes.

Korean War

SEoul, Korea, Dec. 4.—(AP)—British and American Marines ripped through Red defenses 130 miles behind the front in the most powerful hit-and-run commando raid of the Korean War, the Allies announced.

The Anglo-American force stormed ashore on the east coast Sunday night under cover of heavy naval gunfire. The troops shot up Communist communications and transport midway between the Soviet frontier and the front.

The announcement was withheld until, presumably, the raiders had withdrawn. U. N. Naval headquarters listed two British Commandos as wounded. No U. S. Marine casualties were reported.

Another Denver Area Air Crash Claims 3 Lives

DERBY, Colo., Dec. 4.—(AP)—A United Air Lines DC-3 training plane crashed on the Federal Reservation of the Rocky Mountain Arsenal today, killing all three men aboard.

They were a pilot-captain and two student pilots receiving training. The plane had taken off from Stapleton Municipal Airport at Denver about 8:30 A. M., EST, and crashed an hour later.

This was only 20 hours after a B-29 bomber from Lowry Air Force base plunged into an exclusive Denver residential area, killing eight airmen.

Today's crash was about five miles northeast of Denver. The weather was clear and mild.

United Air Lines identified the victims as J. D. Koehler, the instructor; Lawrence G. Wilson, 28, of Boulder, Colo., and Wayne C. Moon, 21, of Cerrito, Calif. No address for Koehler was immediately available.

The plane was one of several which the air line sends off at hourly intervals for training of future pilots and co-pilots.

Generating Plant On Flat Car Aids Power Company

A new and unique generating plant, mounted on a railroad flat-car, was christened and started on its first assignment by Florida Power & Light Company last week. It is one of two such plants designed by Florida Power & Light engineers for emergency and seasonal use wherever needed on its state-wide system.

Augmenting the utility's fleet of nine smaller generating units mounted on highway trailers, the railway plants can also be quickly moved into an area as an emergency source of power.

Designed for continuous operation if necessary, they will normally supplement power supply facilities wherever they can be used to best advantage on the Company's system.

Mounted on special 74-foot flat-cars, the railway plants are nearly twice as long as the standard 40-foot boxcar. Each contains a 1700-horsepower Diesel engine and a 700-kilowatt generator.

They are completely self-contained, including transformers, switchboards, fuel tanks and even living quarters for the plant crew.

U.S. Budget Calls For 143 Unit Air Wing

Defense Secretary Lovett Discloses 53 Air Force Unit Increase For 1952

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Defense Secretary Robert Lovett said today the budget plans for next year call for an air force of 143 wings. The present force is about 90 wings.

Of the new force, 120 would be combat units (bombers, fighters, reconnaissance and other types) and 17 troop carrier wings for airlifting ground combat and paratroop units.

In answer to news conference questions, Lovett said that purely as a basis for preliminary estimates, the National Security Council and the Defense Department had used a $45,000,000,000 figure as a starting point for working on the 1952 fiscal year budget.

But he emphasized that actually there is yet no fixed floor or ceiling on the military budget request to Congress which still must have final approval by the White House and budget bureau.

In answer to other questions, Lovett said:

1. At the home meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) nations, which he attended, it was decided to defer the much-debated question of raising a supreme commander for the North Atlantic Ocean until the next session in Lisbon in February.

2. Most of the shipments to Europe so far have been out of stocks and are being sent in to maintain the European defense force of the NATO countries.

3. Asked whether Western European forces would be given equipment priority in troops in the United States, he said that depends on allocations decided on by the joint chiefs of staff. But, he added, to accelerate Eisenhower's force in 1952 there will be an exercise of allocation controls.

4. The bite on the civilian economy by the military requirements is not being felt now to the extent it will be by the middle of 1952. (Continued on Page Eight)

Commiss List Five Neutrals "Acceptable"

Truce Talks Stalled As Reds Continue Silence To Other U. N. Questions

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Allied negotiators asked questions for two hours and a half at an Alices-in-Wonderland sort of Korean truce session today—and got the answer to just one question.

The Reds defined what they meant by neutral countries and gave examples: Communist Czechoslovakia and Poland, or non-Communist Switzerland, Sweden and Denmark.

But the communists and U.N. Spokesman, Col. Howard Levie, cautioned that no country was selected this was just an exploratory phase.

The Allies have not accepted the Reds' neutral supervision idea. The U.N. Command wants free-roving Allied-Red joint teams.

The Communist subcommittee members named only Poland, Czechoslovakia and Denmark. Under questioning from the U.N. they agreed Switzerland, Sweden and Denmark were all right, too.

But the Allied questioning on other points was not successful. The communists said "The Communists repeatedly gave evasive answers or refused to answer."

The communists' own neutral teams to supervise the truce reached, and only at "ports of entry."

Ally subcommittee members at Panmunjom asked 30 times what the Reds meant by "ports of entry." They did not get an answer, the Reds said they already had answered clearly.

Subcommittee members scheduled another meeting for 11 A.M. Thursday (10 P.M. Washington, EST) to try again. It will be their third such session. Their jobs so far work out means of making a cease-fire effective and supervising an armistice.

Nathan Denies Tax Talk With Lamar Caude

Many Approached Him On Tax Matters, He Says. Were Told To Hire A Lawyer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Charles A. Oliphant resigned today as chief counsel of the scandal-hit Internal Revenue Bureau, announcing his resignation, Oliphant made public a letter to President Truman in which he said he had been the target of attacks, vilification, rumor and innuendo beyond the point of human endurance.

Oliphant told reporters his resignation was voluntary and had been accepted by the White House effective immediately.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Frank Nathan, accused of an $800,000 "tax fix" scandal, yesterday denied he had any contact with Lamar Caude, but he said he was "pretty positive" he never talked with the now-arrested Assistant Attorney General about any matters.

"Lots of people" however, approached him about tax matters, Nathan declared. He added, "I told them to hire a lawyer."

Nathan, who says his main business is "bookkeeping," spent for two hours with members of a House Ways and Means Committee about his finances.

The group requested for lunch until 2:15 P. M. EST, without asking him about the sensational story told by Abraham Telford, Chicago lawyer.

Telford, who has big real estate holdings, and has sometimes represented Caude's interests in legal matters, told the subcommittee yesterday that Nathan and Bert K. Nester, a Hollywood, Fla., business man, sought $800,000 from him. They mentioned that figure, Telford said, under threat he would have "tax troubles" and might go to jail if he did not return their services.

Telford said Nathan and Nester represented themselves as connected with a Washington "scheme" which looked for "soft touches."

At the opening of today's hearings, Chairman King (D-Calif.) read a statement saying there was no evidence that such government officials took part in an unscrupulous "bookkeeping" scheme.

"Lacking such testimony, we assume they did not," King said.

All the officials named have made denials.

Rep. Byrnes (R-Mo.) and King spoke for himself and not for the full committee. Byrnes and King (Continued on Page Eight)

Sanford Kiwanis Club Celebrates 38th Anniversary Of Its Founding

The Kiwanis Club celebrated its 38th birthday in Sanford with a ball and supper and entertainment last night at McKinley Hall, and certificates of appreciation were presented to past presidents, and officers and representatives by Joel Field, club president, who served as toastmaster.

Letters of congratulation to the club from Claude B. Hillman, president, and Pete Peterson, secretary of Kiwanis International, were read by Ralph A. Smith, immediate past president of the club.

The 38 candles on the big three layer—Kiwanis—birthday cake, baked especially for the occasion by Mrs. M. D. Gatchel, were lit by 11-year-old Albert Pinkney Connelly, III, grandson of the late A. P. Connelly, first president of the Sanford Kiwanis Club. Albert's father, A. P. Connelly II, assisted Edward F. Lane, a charter member of the club, to cut the first pieces of the cake.

Following the dinner, served cafeteria style by Mrs. Gatchel, to the Kiwanians, their wives and guests, new members of the club were called upon to serve the cake. These included Forrest E. Breckenridge, Ted Williams, John Pierson, J. C. Davis, Ralph A. Cowan and D. L. Harper.

President Field, in presenting certificates of appreciation to past presidents of the club, pointed out that it had been organized on Dec. 5, 1913, in appreciation of the work of the initial president of the club, A. P. Connelly, Mr. Field presented a certificate of appreciation to the grandsons.

"We shall always respect his memory," said Mr. Field, as he told of the achievements of Mr. Connelly, and pointed out that he was wearing the Kiwanis president's pin which had been worn by Mr. Connelly and other presidents of the club.

Judge James G. Sharon was the first past president to receive the certificate personally. G. V. Horace, Rotarian and Atlantic Coast Line superintendent, was presented the certificate of the late T. E. Dumas, president of Sanford Kiwanis in 1921, and former A.C.L. superintendent.

The next certificate for the Rev. E. D. Brownlie, president of the club in 1923, who was unable to be present, was received by Dr. H. H. McCaslin.

Edward F. Lane, club president in 1929, and a past lieutenant governor, declared that it had indeed been a great honor to have been a charter member.

Charge Against Danbury Doctor Is Dismissed

Court Holds Misuse Of Drugs Was Not Proved By State

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Superior Court Judge Kenneth Wayne today dismissed the manslaughter charge against Dr. Donald E. Gibson, Danbury, physician.

Judge Wayne agreed with a defense contention that the state had failed to produce proof of a guilty connection between the doctor, 50-year-old Dr. Gibson and the death of 7-year-old Elizabeth M. Ayres 7-year-old spinner, whose case he inherited.

Gibson had been charged by a grand jury with causing Miss Ayres' death by the "reckless and negligent" administration of drugs.

"If the charges against the state's contention as to how Miss Ayres died," said Judge Wayne at sentencing dismissal of the charges, "this would not be a case of manslaughter but a case of murder."

David Goldstein, Gibson's counsel, moved for dismissal of the charges as soon as the final state witness, a Yale pharmacologist, had testified to the testimony of certain drugs allegedly administered to Miss Ayres by Dr. Gibson during her illness.

He contended that much of the case had been built on "speculation."

Ruled the court: "Speculation is not proof."

The court added that it is "second" that under the law cases must be proved on testimony of witnesses and "not on the speculation."

State Official Lauds Sanford Safety Record

Sanford has made appreciable progress in 1951 over 1950 in all phases of traffic safety activities, but still has to improve to bring itself up with the national standard, executive secretary of Governor Warren's Safety Committee, yesterday at a meeting of Council and City officials at the City Hall.

Mr. Hambro made several suggestions for safety improvement in Sanford as follows:

1. Sanford needs to re-activate its Safety Council.

2. Sanford needs to increase the size of its police force to meet the minimum standards of other cities of its size. There are 13 policemen on the staff while 18 is the recommended number.

3. Police accident records and reports were 60 per cent below the minimum standard of completeness.

4. This leads to another deficiency in Sanford. Policemen need more training. Sanforians need report a single policeman or recruit given special traffic training during 1950.

5. Sanford needs re-align parking angles on the corner of First Street and Magnolia Avenue. Mr. Hambro stated this is a big bottle neck in Sanford. He recommended 30 degree angle parking in place of the present 50 degree. And said parallel parking is even better.

"The day is not too far off when we will see downtown districts restricting all street parking," Mr. Hambro added.

Pointing to Sanford's progress in the past year, Mr. Hambro commented, "Sanford rose in every department of safety activities excepting one from 1949 to 1950."

The one phase of safety which Sanford fell down was in accident recording.

J. L. Hobby Offers Candidacy For County Sheriff

J. L. (Luther) Hobby of Lake Mary today announced his candidacy for the office of Sheriff of Seminole County subject to the approval of the primary of next year.

Mr. Hobby was born on a farm near Ashburn, Ga., and is a graduate of the Ashburn High School in 1911.

Mr. Hobby had entered Middle Georgia College on a football scholarship and played tackle on the Southeastern State's football championship for small colleges. Mr. Hobby also played center on the basketball team which won the conference championship in 1936 and was chosen center of the "All Tournament Team."

He later attended North Georgia Military College where he received military training in the Southeastern States' Training Camp. He came to Florida in 1936 and was employed by the Bell Baking Company until 1940 at which time he began work with the V. L. Road as a promotional fireman. He was later promoted to locomotive engineer which is his present occupation.

Married to the former Miss Grace Hunkins of Lake Mary, Mr. Hobby owns his home in Lake Mary and has one daughter, Mary Grace.

Mr. Hobby stated today that "he has been deeply disturbed during the past few years by many deplorable conditions existing in Seminole County." He asserted, "I elected to the high office of Sheriff. I will enforce the laws regardless of my personal opinion and regardless of the persons involved. If the people do not like the laws, it is up to them to have them changed by their duly elected representatives."

Stepinac Given Freedom After 5 Years In Prison

BEGRAD, Yugoslavia, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Communist Yugoslav police gave Alojzije Stepinac his conditional freedom, making it clear he could not work without approval of the prime minister of Yugoslavia.

The official news agency Tanjug announced the spiritual leader of Yugoslavia's seven million Catholics would live in a parish house at his native village of Krasko, near the Croatian capital of Zagreb.

Mgr. Stepinac was sentenced five years ago to 10 years in prison for the charges of wartime collaboration with the Axis and postwar plotting to overthrow the regime of Premier Marshal Tito.

The 73-year-old Archbishop had spent the five years in a small two-room cell in Croatia's Lepoglava Prison.

The official statement referred to him as the "former archbishop."

"Alojzije Stepinac, former Archbishop of the Catholic Church in Yugoslavia, has been conditionally released," the statement said.

"That decision has been taken by the Croatian minister of the interior, Ivan Kuznjak, and was based on Articles 87 and 88 of the law on punishment, security and educational correctional measures."

"Stepinac will reside in his native town, Krasko, near Zagreb. He has decided to live in residence in the local parish house."

At his trial, the Archbishop reportedly told the three-man Council.

The official statement said that Stepinac's release was conditional and that he would not be allowed to perform his duties as a bishop.

The statement also said that Stepinac's release was a result of the government's decision to grant him conditional freedom.

State Patrolman Is Back On Duty After Big Raucous

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The Florida Highway Patrol's Frank Sexton, two county commissioner and a group of Alachua county political leaders apparently had come to an end today. Patrol Sgt. W. W. (Doc) Townsend was taken on duty here.

Townsend reported for duty under Lieut. C. M. Hancock today and said that "All I know is, I'm here." He received orders in Gainesville yesterday to report for work here this morning and to get off his working day with a 6:30 A.M. accident investigation.

The Corporal, who had made his home here for more than nine years, became the center of a controversy between the county group and Patrol Director H. N. Kirkman when Kirkman issued orders to transfer Townsend to the state weights section in Jacksonville.

The group, including State Attorney T. E. Duncan, Sheriff Frank Sexton, two county commissioners and a group of Alachua county political leaders, demanded first of Kirkman that Townsend be returned and, that failing, went to the State Capitol to secure a reversal of the order.

The controversy reached a climax here last Monday when Kirkman went on "the carpet" before the group in the Alachua county courthouse. Subjected there to an intensive inquiry by Duncan, he finally walked out in a huff.

Kirkman later returned to the courtroom where the group awaited him. However, two hours later and, following a further session from which newsmen were barred, the group announced that they had been able to reach a compromise with him.

Townsend's return here presumably is a result of the compromise.

500 More Bodies Are Discovered In Wake Of Volcano

MANILA, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The Philippine navy yesterday found and recovered more than 500 bodies from the ash-strewn slopes of Hiloik volcano on the Southern Philippines.

The volcano erupted twice yesterday. It still spouted smoke and flames today.

Gov. Paolencio Yaquina of Eastern Samar province, who came from nearby Mindanao Island to take charge of rescue and evacuation, estimated that 2,000 may have died in yesterday's first eruption, which witnesses have called an atomic-like blast.

Neither the Governor's estimate nor the news service's figure had confirmation.

Red Cross headquarters in Manila said tonight the Philippine army had recovered in the bodies.

A Red Cross director of disaster relief, Dr. Joaquin Canuto, radioed headquarters that the dead were being cremated or buried as fast as they were found.

He said injured were being sent from the stricken northern section of Camiguin to Mahoning on the southern coast of the island for treatment for scalds and burns.

Volcanic heat began subiding and rescue workers were able to retrieve deeper into the ash and lava area.

The Philippine News Service said 10,000 of Camiguin's 45,000 residents had been evacuated to safer areas.

Constabulary and volunteers stood guard in the hard hit area to maintain order and prevent looting.

Manila Times correspondent Benigno Aquino quoted Philippine air force Capt. Pedro Lopez, 29, as saying that rescue work from houses and gray soil in a nine square mile area on the volcano slopes.

"Coastal areas still are nearly deserted, the area of the volcano (Continued on Page Four)

Attorney General To Keep Close Tab On Racket Phones

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Attorney General Richard E. Vinson today said he will maintain a close and constant check on the use of telephones by all Floridians who buy the new $50 federal gambling stamps.

"The fact that 176 have come out boldly and registered is at least support for the conclusion many of us hold that the gamblers will try to open up during the year," Vinson said. "It is a warning to all law enforcement officers in the state to be on the alert."

Although state law permits the removal of telephones used for illegal purposes, Vinson said the purchase of a gambling tax stamp under the new federal law could not be regarded as prima facie evidence that a person's telephone was being used illegally.

"But, telephone service is vital to the operations of an illegal gambler and the fact a person has registered with the federal government as a gambler will make his use of telephone service subject to close investigation. A person doesn't pay out $50 for nothing," Vinson said.

The only law enforcement authority the Florida Attorney General has is to prevent use of telephones.

Fatty Substances Might Not Be Cause Of High Blood Pressure

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Tests indicating that a fatty substance long suspected of causing arterial hardening may not be guilty after all were reported today in the American Medical Association.

The substance is cholesterol. It is present in animal fats, egg yolk, cream and many other fatty foods.

A three-year study of 211 persons having abnormal amounts of fat in their blood was made by Dr. Rex M. Alvord, of Tooele, Utah. He reported that when they were fed high amounts of fat and cholesterol, the cholesterol and fat content of their blood dropped sharply.

When they were fed diets low in cholesterol and fat, the percentage of fat in their blood increased to abnormal proportions.

This is exactly opposite what other researchers have been finding. The other researchers have been restricting cholesterol in the diet to lower the blood cholesterol level, because cholesterol is supposed to figure in the makeup of a substance that accumulates on the inside walls of arteries and later hardens to reduce arterial capacity. This reduction of capacity presumably increases blood pressure because more is needed to pump blood through them.

Another surprising feature of the tests, Dr. Alvord, said was that although the 211 persons came from families in which 100 individuals had died from arterial disease, only two of them were found to have that kind of blood vessel trouble and only one had high blood pressure.

Another puzzling angle was that when nine persons were given choline, the amount of fat in their blood increased. Two of the nine before being given this substance had normal amounts of cholesterol in their blood. Since then their cholesterol level has remained high, Dr. Alvord said.

The peculiar thing about this is that choline is one of the B vitamins and frequently is recommended to increase blood pressure because more is needed.

Investigation May Be Launched Into Peculiar Deaths

EXETER, N. H., Dec. 5.—(AP)—County Sheriff John M. Grant says that "if competent medical authority recommends it," he will examine the bodies of wealthy Mrs. Sarah A. Rollins, 61, and her nurse, Mrs. Irene Copeland, 41, in an investigation of their deaths.

Grant made that statement in a news conference yesterday shortly after Lloyd H. Skilling, 49, longtime Somersetworth estate owner, pleaded innocent of homicide and other charges resulting in a $243,000 fine in Mrs. Rollins' estate.

Mrs. Copeland, a Somersetworth district nurse, was found dead in a "lovers' lane" in Dover, May 16, 1950. Garza from her medical kit had been scattered over the ground. A half-filled bottle of whiskey was nearby. Medical officials attributed her death to excessive intake of alcohol and some derivatives of barbiturates. They said death was accidental.

Authorities said Mrs. Copeland was a friend of Mrs. Rollins and would have been an important witness in the investigation.

Christmas Marks The Return Of Ebenezer Scrooge Legend

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—Once upon a time Charles Dickens wrote a famous Christmas carol about an old shilling-squeezer named Ebenezer Scrooge and how he caught the holiday spirit.

Did you ever wonder what happened after that? Well . . .

A well-dressed fat man, his arms full of gaily-wrapped packages, stood by a bus sign.

Oddly he watched a red-and-white street corner Santa Claus soliciting donations. A seedy old man in a worn brown coat came by.

"Anything for the unfortunate?" cried the Santa, ringing his bell. "Anything for the poor unfortunates?"

The seedy old man paused, fumbled through his pockets, pulled out a worn quarter and put it in the hand of Santa Claus.

"Christmas!" he jeered. "Bah, humbug!"

He wrapped his worn brown coat tighter around his throat, and walked on. Then he saw the fat, well-dressed man. He held out his hand and said whinily:

"Can you stake a fellow to a bitter? I haven't eaten for two days!"

"But I just saw you give a quarter to that Santa Claus," said the fat man. "If I give you another quarter, will you give that one away, too?"

"I probably will—it's the old Christmas spirit in me," agreed the seedy character. "I don't care to help myself. The Christmas spirit is a curse with me—it runs in my family."

The fat man said he didn't understand. The seedy man said he'd be glad to explain—in return for a meal.

"But you'll have to go to the restaurant with me," he added dependently. "Giving me money is no good—I'll just give it away myself, and go hungry."

The two went into a cafeteria, and the seedy man ate greedily. Over a steaming cup of coffee he then relaxed and told the following tale:

"My great-great uncle was a prominent English merchant. He had loads of money, but he was such an old skinflint the family looked forward to inheriting it soon, figuring he would die of his own meanness.

"One Christmas Eve his nephew—my great uncle, that was—went in to wish him the compliments of the season, and the old scoundrel grumbled. Every slight he gave about with Merry Christmas on his lips should be buried with a stake of holly through his heart."

"A real miser," murmured the fat man.

"Yes, indeed," said the seedy man. "But that night the old miser went balmy in the head or something. He began to have hallucinations—to repent."

"That was nice."

"You may think so. But he began to get the idea he was Santa Claus. He was infected with Christmas. He raised all his clerks' salaries. He began donating to orphan asylums and blind homes. When he died and they opened his will—he was flat broke."

"Yes, but—" said the fat man.

"That started the family curse," continued the seedy man. "My great uncle buckled down and penny-pinched his way to a fortune. What happened? When he got sick, he went balmy one Christmas, too. He started giving everything away, and didn't quit until he had.

"The same thing with my uncle. And me? Five years ago, after a lifetime of scrimping, I had $500,000. Then the peace-and-good-will bug hit me. After that it was Christmas every day in the year with me. It still is—and I'm stone broke."

The fat man began to feel uneasy. He gave his seedy companion a dollar bill, and said he had to be getting home.

As he left the cafeteria a bum stepped up and held out his hand hopefully. The fat man merely looked the other way. The seedy man in the brown coat hesitated, then dolefully pulled out his dollar bill. He gave it to the bum.

"Thank you—and Merry Christmas!" said the bum.

"Christmas!" snarled the seedy old man in brown. "Bah, humbug!"

As he stamped off angrily, the fat man called after him:

"Say, by the way, what is your name?"

And the answer came floating back to him through the night:

"Scrooge, Ebenezer Scrooge, the third. Bah, humbug!"

HOLLYWOOD By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 4—(AP)—Here is news destined to make the middle-age Jackie Coogan a playing a character role in a Western movie.

Yes, Jackie, the shaggy little gamlin who cavorted with Charlie Chaplin in "The Kid" is playing the heavy in a horse opera. What's more, he looks the part, too. He's got a bald head, black mustache and grizzled face. So effective is the makeup (the head of skin is his) that his own brother didn't recognize him on the set.

"Has anybody seen Jackie Coogan?" inquired Robert, himself once a child actor. Jackie was standing right beside him. (This sounds like a variation of the "Gatemans Didn't Recognize Him" story, but it's true.)

This is Jackie's first character part, and I asked him how it all happened.

"This was right out of left field," he remarked. "Ron Ormond (the producer) showed me the script of 'Outlaw Women' and asked me if I could find a part in it that I liked. I picked the heavy. Then he admitted that was the part he had hoped I would take."

I suggested that the role might open up a whole new career.

"Oh no, not that!" he exclaimed. "Don't make it sound like a comeback. Every time a guy has been out of work for three months, they say he's making a comeback. If that's true, I've had dozens."

Jackie is observing his 35th year in the movies, which is not bad for a guy who is 37 years old. He started in 1910 at the age of 10 months. When he played in "The Kid" (1920) with the turned-around cap, he became the most famous child star of the silent era. The only moppet equalling his fame in later years was Shirley Temple.

By the time he was 21, Jackie had earned $4,700,000, but he didn't have a penny of it left. Because of his experience, the state passed a law requiring court approval of child actor contracts, with provision for savings funds. To Jackie, this was like shutting the barn door after the horse had strayed.

Naturally enough, Jackie's fame in his adult years has never approached that of his childhood. He has continued his acting career, with occasional ventures into other fields. His longest abclub in 1927, was unable to be present but sent messages of congratulation.

Mr. Field told of the service to the club of two late presidents, Sherman Lloyd in 1928, and Jno. D. Jenkins, in 1929.

Next to receive a certificate was the 1930 president, and past lieutenant governor, Fred R. Wilson, who told some of his experience in those capacities. Mr. Field recalled that the president in 1931 was A. C. Fort, in 1932, the late W. B. Zachry, in 1933 Howard Overlin, and 1934, C. R. Massouf.

Sanford P. Doudney, president in 1935, drew a laugh when he told how the club then raised funds by charging for full dinners and serving only sandwiches or soup. Walter Coleman, former mayor, was mentioned as the president in 1936.

Howard C. Long, president in 1937, joked about Mr. Doudney's "where the meal program," as he came forward to receive his certificate.

Mrs. Sidney J. Nix, widow of the late Mr. Nix, the president of the club in 1938, declared that presence from the screen was during the war, when he distinguished himself with the glider troops in Burma.

After the war, he resumed his acting, operating a war surplus business at the same time. A year ago, he retired from the movies with the intention of being an appliance salesman. But like most screen remnants, it didn't last and he's back at his lifetime work.

For some time he has been appearing on a radio and television show. Now he is co-starring with Russell Hayden in a TV film series called "Cowboy G-Men." In that, he also discards his toupee. He said he's trying to get away from it completely.

I asked Jackie if he agreed with common notion that child stars have unhappy adult lives.

"No, I don't," he replied. "I don't think child actors are much different from anyone else. The only difference is that they reach a peak, both in earnings and fame, earlier in their lives. But that's just life. Some people reach it early, others late."

"I don't regret my childhood. Far from it. I just hope that my daughter (Joan, 3 1/2) can have the same sort of life. It will take some work, but she's got the talent."

he would always treasure the certificate which she received from Mr. Field. The next president mentioned by Mr. Field was Ben Caswell, who served in 1939.

Edward S. McCall, manager of the Burpee Seed Co., received the certificate in behalf of Col. Karl Nordgren, president of the club in 1940. He announced that Mr. Nordgren is now vice-president of the Burpee Co.

Mr. Field next presented to Julius Dingfelder the certificate honoring him as president in 1941. Mrs. Dingfelder received it in behalf of her husband, who was present. O. P. Herndon, who also served in 1941, told of that eventful year when America entered World War II.

"We really had a live organization in 1942," said former president E. C. Harper. Ed Randall, joked about some of the mishaps of the club in 1943, when he was president, including the hotel dinner the Club forgot to cancel when a bonfire was scheduled. Gilbert D. Workman served as president in 1944, said Mr. Field.

Luther T. Doss, 1945, and J. W. Hall, 1946, were the next presidents awarded certificates. Dr. Doss received also a certificate for Lester Tharp, who could not attend.

Frank Lamson, 1948 president, was greeted by the music of "The Old Gray Mule," as he, a former club song leader, came forward.

W. A. Morrison, 1949, president, claimed his greatest achievement was "selling Mrs. Gatchel on the idea of feeding the club." Ralph A. Smith, 1950 president, declared Kiwanis associations were very gratifying to him.

Mr. Field then introduced President Elect, J. Martin Stinecoper and Mrs. Stinecoper; vice-president Earl Higginbotham and Mrs. Higginbotham, and second vice-president Douglas Stenstrom and Mrs. Stenstrom. Mrs. Lane was commended for furnishing the plant decorations.

Leon Cornell, Kiwanis song leader, led in group singing, with Harry Wester accompanying. Solist were Dr. H. W. Rucker, who sang, "Blow Me Eyes," a rollicking sailor's song, and "Passing By." Mr. Stinecoper sang "Morning" and "Without a Song."

A quartette, including Mr. Cornell, Dr. Rucker, Mr. Lamson and Mr. Stinecoper, sang "Sweet Adeline" and "Down by the Old Mill Stream." Forrest E. Breck-bridge was applauded for his piano selections, including several popular tunes.

Navy Base Basketball Team Opens Season With Junior College Five

Sanford's Naval Airbase hoopers will try to bounce back from an overwhelming scrimmage game loss to Stetson last night when they open their cage season tonight against Orlando Junior College's five at eight o'clock in Orlando's Davis Armory.

Last night in Deland the navy men found a tall, deep and experienced Stetson Hi-Hatter quintet to much to handle as the Hi-Hatters warmed up for their season opener with Florida's Gators Saturday by rolling up a 96-36 victory of the airmen.

Braves To Trade Mound Star For Infield Strength

Boston After Phillie Shortstop Even At Cost Of Spahn

By JOE REICHLER
COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 5—(AP)—Fully aware they must revamp their porous infield if they are to figure in flag contention, the Boston Braves have resigned to taking the wraps of southpaw Warren Spahn to plug their weak shortstop position.

This came to light today when the Associated Press learned that the Braves ever had been forced to make a swap with the Philadelphia Phillies for Shortstop Grady Hamner and Right-handed Emory Hubbard.

Trading the 31-year-old Spahn, a four-time 20 game-plus winner, is one of the toughest decisions the Braves ever had to make. Spahn, who had a 14-11 record in his first full campaign. Promoted to a regular berth in June of 1950, the Birmingham right-hander wound up with an 8-6 record.

The Braves also have been negotiating with the Chicago Cubs for Third Baseman Hanson Jackson, one of the better young infielders in the circuit. The Cubs have asked for First Baseman Earl Torgerson in return.

The St. Louis Cardinals have reopened negotiations with the Giants for Eddie Stanky, President Fred Saigh, who still hasn't given up hope of getting the scrappy second baseman to manage the Redbirds, has made a new offer.

Trautman Warns Minor Clubs Of Radio Umbrella

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 5—(AP)—George Trautman sounded a grim warning today that minor league baseball cannot long survive the "radio umbrella" of major league broadcasts.

The president of the National Association of Minor Leagues told the opening session of the Golden Jubilee Convention that "the solution of its new airport terminal building."

The Post said the decision to have no segregation in the Negro woman was forcibly removed by a policeman from a "white" taxi at the present terminal building.

The newspaper said the woman's name was not available to it. In many Texas cities it is illegal for Negroes to ride in cabs designated for use of white persons.

Councilmen, the Post said, while reluctant to discuss the terminal segregation matter, admitted the problem arose at a meeting with the mayor.

The woman was described by the Post as an officer of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) and influential in the Democratic Party.

The Post then related this story: When the NAACP woman returned to Washington, a visit by a Civil Aeronautics Authority official followed. The official threatened to cancel a $600,000 grant toward cost of the new terminal as well as to refuse to consider an application for $400,000 in additional aid.

Negroes Expected To Play In South Atlantic Baseball

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 5—(AP)—The appearance of Negro baseball players in the South Atlantic League clubs next season is "an apparent certainty," says the Savannah Morning News.

Walt Campbell, business manager of the Savannah Indians, reported to the Morning News from the minor league convention in Columbus, O., last night that he had heard the report there and considered it "authoritative."

He said the Savannah club does not possess any Negro players and is not among the teams said to be pioneers in the movement.

Campbell, however, expressed the opinion that "capable Negro players will add materially to attendance at games in the deep South. I believe the clubs that are said to be considering this move are motivated by a business angle. We have large Negro populations, and colored fans have expressed a keen interest in seeing members of their race perform."

The Savannah manager said that so far as he knows, there is little or no opposition to the movement. He predicted the subject of Negro players will be discussed widely at the continued session today of the Saly League's annual meeting.

Campbell reported at least three Saly League clubs will have new managers. Chief Bender has been named to manage the Columbus, Ga., club. He was manager and pitcher last year for Albany in the Georgia-Florida League.

Campbell said Bob Latsch is expected to succeed by Griffin at Augusta. But Hank Hanken's successor as manager of the Columbia, S. C. club will be named Sunday.

The woman was described by the Post as an officer of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) and influential in the Democratic Party.

The Post then related this story: When the NAACP woman returned to Washington, a visit by a Civil Aeronautics Authority official followed. The official threatened to cancel a $600,000 grant toward cost of the new terminal as well as to refuse to consider an application for $400,000 in additional aid.

Kentucky, Carolina State Seen As Southern Basketball Leaders

NEW YORK, Dec. 5—(AP)—Kentucky and North Carolina State, the two perennial powers of southern basketball, figure to reign supreme again this year. Both teams, however, are likely to get some unexpected competition.

Adolph Rupp's Southeastern Conference and NCAA champion should win sectional honors again but they may encounter trouble in Vanderbilt, Tulane and Alabama.

West Virginia's Mountaineers and William and Mary's Indians and Duke's Blue Devils could offer North Carolina State's Wolfpack more trouble than it has experienced since Everett Case took over as coach.

Eastern Kentucky looks like the best in the Ohio Valley Conference. Competition will be mainly from Western Kentucky and Murray State, independent Louisville looks like one of the nation's best combinations.

Kentucky, producer of three NCAA titles in the last four years, presents quality, quantity, experience and height in seven-foot center Bill Spivey, 6-5 Shelly by Linville, 6-4 Cliff Hagan, 6-3 Frank Ramsey and Guards Bobby Watson and Skippy Whitaker. A fine bevy of freshmen and sophomores, including the sensational Dickie Pree, makes the Wildcats just about the No. 1 choice for top honors.

The Wolfpack (30-7), running for its sixth straight Southern Conference title, is strong everywhere despite the loss of All-America Sam Ransino, Vic Hulas and Paul Hurvatik. They have strength to burn in such regulars as Captain Lee Terrill, 6-1; Bob Speight, 6-8; Bill Kukuy, 6-3; Bobby Goss, 6-8 and Bernie Yarb, 6-4, and Sophomore Buchanan, Roy Stephenson, Herb Applebaum and Dick Tyler.

Don't be surprised if the N. C. State star turns out to be a freshman named Dave Gotkin, the Brooklyn lad who is running for a regular guard position. Eastern Kentucky (18-8) has a veteran team built around Jim Haechtold, a 6-4, 205-pounder who may be one of the best in the South. He is a former All-Southern player who lives in Ann Arbor.

Duke's great Dick Groat, a 6-6 guard who scores from 29 to 35 points a game, makes the Blue Devils a tough team to beat at any time.

Vanderbilt, led by Dick Kradolyn and Bill Smith, is favored to capture the runner-up spot in the Southeast behind Kentucky, Tulane, with Jim Holt, Louisiana State University, with Joe Dean, and Alabama, with John Sullivan, are improved over last year.

Western Kentucky could very easily upset the favorite Eastern Kentucky in the Ohio Valley Conference.

Murray State, defending champion, lost most of its stars, but still is an excellent team.

Contenders For Lighthweight Title To Fight Tonight

CLEVELAND, Dec. 5—(AP)—Two top contenders for the Joey Maxim's light-heavyweight crown stamp down here tonight in the Cleveland News Toyshop Fused boxing show.

Both Harry Mathews of Seattle and Danny Nardico of Tampa, Fla., will be allowed to come in for the bout at Cleveland arena over the light-heavyweight limit. Anti-Mathews manager, Jack Hurley, says he is about ready to let his man stay over the weight.

Hurley declared the "chances of getting a fight" with the Cleveland champion "at an early date seems pretty hopeless now."

THE SANFORD HERALD
Wed. Dec. 5, 1951
"Grass-Root" Poll
Results Will Be Known In Month

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The Agriculture Department said today it will be several weeks, possibly a month, before results of its controversial "grass roots" survey of farm programs will be known.

A summary of 48 state reports and more than 3,000 county reports of the survey is being made by the Department at the suggestion of a special subcommittee of non-Department farm and church leaders which advised the Department on the project.

The survey has been termed the "Family Farm Policy Review" by Secretary Brannan. Conducted during the summer and early fall by local and state agencies of the Department, the survey was designed to get suggestions on how federal farm programs might better serve small, low income farms.

The survey ran into sharp criticism from the Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange and some other farm groups. They contended the Department was stepping outside its proper field in soliciting possible legislative action. Some of these critics also declared the Department was seeking ways of extending its control over agriculture.

The Department called the advisory subcommittee in last week to go over the state and county reports and to make recommendations as to how the Department might make best use of suggestions for program changes and improvements.

Because of the volume of the reports, the subcommittee asked the Department to prepare a summary of them for submission to it at a later date. No date for this meeting has been set, but officials said it may not be held before early next month.

On the subcommittee are representatives from the National Grange, the National Farmers Union, the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives, the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities and various Protestant and Catholic Church groups interested in the welfare of rural life.

The Farm Bureau was invited to send a representative, but it declined, explaining that while it is sympathetic with the declared purpose of the survey, it believed suggestions for program changes and improvements should come from farmers through their own private organizations rather than through an administrative agency of the government.

Secretary Brannan has said that if any recommendations for legislation are made as a result of the survey, he will offer them as his own and not as those of farmers.

Truth Of Morals
Within Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 5.—(AP)—How immoral is Hollywood?

With the nation becoming acquainted almost daily with new revelations of immorality in public life, attention is again focused on the great news center of human follies and follies—Hollywood. Recent headline happenings of Barbara Payton, Frank Tane, Ava Gardner, Frank Sinatra and others have brought another flood of protest from filmgoers' critics.

But what are the facts? Hollywood claims that it is as normal as any other community, the difference being that when its notables misbehave, they make news. The town's critics claim that it is a cesspool of sin.

Neither view is correct. Hollywood is neither as good as it claims or as bad as outsiders paint it.

Even in this Kinsey age, there is no yardstick for measuring immorality. The film industry often points proudly to a survey made by the Hollywood Reporter in 1947. The paper polled the habits of 1,235 of its readers. It reported that 70.1 percent had never been divorced, 61.3 attended church, etc.

But the replies were from all kinds of movie workers, not merely actors, the ones who make the news in Hollywood.

That's the source of a major complaint by industry leaders. They claim that newspapers overlook the misdeeds of a few celebrities. If that is true, the movie makers are not so different from the rest of the town. They built their star system; now they must take bad publicity with the good.

I have always thought that the industry's defense of its moral structure overlooks the nature of the acting breed. Most of them will split in your eye if you so accuse them, but they are not normal individuals. By the nature of their craft, they are emotional and inclined to errate behavior. They also are attractive people, and their get-rich-quick fringe performance are greater than those of normal folks.

As producer Jerry Wald points out, "The trend in recent years has been to publicize film stars as just like the girl or boy next door. That's sheer nonsense. That type of thinking has resulted not only in rash film personalities, but it has also boomeranged on the industry."

"Stars should be vibrant, exciting individuals and should be expected to do exciting things, normal folks, the public is shocked. But when they are portrayed as disillusioned to learn that they can misbehave."

Of course, there are many actors here who are solid citizens and who abide by the laws of morality and the state of California. But there is another element, the get-rich-quick fringe. Ronald Reagan, president of the Screen Actors Guild, has observed: "Hollywood is the last of the gold rush towns in the west. It is one of the few places left where a person can get rich so fast and with so little effort. The town is bound to attract an undesirable, trouble making element, just as the gold towns did in 49."

Two months ago, the film industry sent hundreds of spokesmen through the U. S. to sell movies and, incidentally, to tell about the goodness of Hollywood. But they still have a big job to do, as evidenced by a letter I received recently from Mrs. Phil Muller of Pomona, Calif. The morals of movie stars were responsible for empty theaters, she said, adding: "These people, with one divorce after another, keep the city and state courts clogged with old cases with most decent citizens."

Hints To Housewives

By Anna Mae Sikes

"How long will it last?" is a question often asked by purchasers of new household equipment, especially the large items such as refrigerators, home freezers, and washing machines, which represent a considerable investment for many families.

Managers of apartments or other rented housing usually estimate about 10 years as the lifetime expectancy of such equipment. But no research has been made of the usual life of family-owned equipment. It should last considerably longer than 10 years, say household equipment specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture if it is well made and properly used and cared for.

Bill in service in many homes are some of the first automatic refrigerators, washers, and vacuum cleaners manufactured. Owners of these early models often report few and only minor repairs during 20 or even 30 years of use. In fact, it is sometimes well worth the extra cost of buying a new model with such old-fashioned features even when new approved models offer more conveniences and other advantages.

Families investing in equipment should be given special attention to having quality because of the long life and other material advantages. The extra cost of buying a new model will be paid in the long run.

Randall Is Elected
Altamonte Mayor

ALTAMONTE, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Roy A. Randall won a three-way fight for mayor of Altamonte Springs yesterday on one of six general elections held in three Central Florida counties.

With 99 votes, retired businessman Randall won handily over Richard Soder, owner of the Denning Auction Gallery who got 66, and automobile salesman James E. Woods, 15 votes. For town clerk, John C. Goddard Jr. won over Richard Hoffman, a fruit and produce salesman, 107 to 62. Goddard, an artist by profession, did not seek re-election as the town's mayor.

Seven successful candidates for the Altamonte Board of Aldermen were Howard Arnold, retired businessman, 114; Byron L. Kimball, lawyer, 128; H. G. Fuller, railroad engineer, 101; Lawrence Swofford, building contractor, 109; Frank Seaman, architect, 101; Raymond Rock, hardware store owner, 99; and Austin L. Searles, 94.

The election drew 174 ballots. Only white persons voted, the Negro section having been separated from Altamonte Monday by a Circuit Court order.

Minor Clubs Draft
Five FSU Leaders

COLUMBUS, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Baseball's minor leagues finished up a three-day draft of players today with nine players being hauled up in the minor league ladder.

The last nine were taken in a "delayed draft" at which all clubs were allowed an extra choice—just in case they had overlooked someone that might be able to help them.

Drafting of the nine brought to 162 the number of players moved up in minor league classifications by means of the draft. There was an average of 15.5 players per club for the athletes. Last year the minors drafted 154 players.

Drafts announced yesterday by clubs in the class II Florida International League included Columbus, Anderson of the Tri-State League, Catcher Ray Dunno from Deland of the Florida State League and Outfielder Mike Kissel from Palatka of the same circuit. Artesia, N. M. of the Longhorn League took Outfielder Eldon George Pichan from Palatka, Florida State, Lamesa, Tex., of the West Texas-New Mexico circuit drafted Pitcher Fred Jack James from Leesburg of the Florida State.

Judge Wynne in dismissing the charges specifically referred to the testimony of Dr. Frank A. Ayres of Danbury that he had signed a death certificate five hours before Miss Ayres' died.

Judge Wynne said that Dr. Genovese "deserves" considerable commendation for willingly acknowledging that he did sign the certificate in advance.

The fact that he ventured the opinion that it was not the first time that a certificate had been signed in advance.

State's Attorney Lorin Willis called for a writ of habeas corpus to dismiss with sharp criticism of Dr. Gibson. He referred to him as "this man who doesn't deserve the name of a doctor."

Willis charged that Dr. Gibson knew what those pills were going to do to Miss Ayres. The pills he referred to contained the drug amphetamine which a witness had testified was given to persons who were allergic to that drug.

Dr. Gibson, asserted Willis, was "making and laying his plans" two months before Miss Ayres' death when he inquired and made arrangements for turning over her body to the Yale Medical School.

witness at court hearings on the rich widow's will.

Mrs. Hollins died some six weeks before Mrs. Copeland. The attending physician ascribed her death to a heart ailment.

Skilling was accused in indictments of stealing $93,000, concealing the larceny of $90,000 from the Hollins home, attempted larceny of $100,000 and conspiracy.

Another person was indicted secretly with Skilling but that person has not yet been served.

Skilling was named in the conspiracy indictment with James I. Smith, 42, a former employee of Skilling, who is under $2,000 bail.

That indictment charges that Skilling on one occasion prepared a mixture of ice cream and barbiturate derivatives and gave it to Smith who, in turn, gave it to Miss Ada Cheney, 65, to give to her aunt, Mrs. Hollins. Authorities asserted Mrs. Hollins did not eat enough of it to be affected.

Mrs. Hollins was reputed to have kept her money scattered in odd places throughout her old three-story frame house.

The widow had made out three wills. Terms of the first were not revealed. The second one bequeathed the city of Somerville $100,000 as a memorial to her family.

The third, which Somerville city collector Lee Curtis is contesting, left the greater portion of the estate to Miss Cheney.

Stafford county Sheriff William E. Fure told newspaper men today that he was unable to locate Mrs. Hollins' body.

munist court "my conscience is clear." In denying all the charges against him he condemned Communism and pointed an accusing finger at the court, saying the trial was against the Roman Catholic Church.

The Tito regime often had said it would gladly release Mgr. Stepinac if he would leave the country, never to take the Archbishop's post in Yugoslavia. There has been increasing pressure in the United States and elsewhere for the churchman's release, since the Tito regime began moving closer to the West in matters of defense. Several U. S. congressmen had pleaded with Tito to release the cleric.

The arrest and trial aroused Catholic indignation throughout the world. He was the first high Catholic leader to be imprisoned in eastern Europe after the war.

The last available comment from the churchman himself was made in an interview last April with an Associated Press correspondent, Alex Singleton. Mgr. Stepinac said then that the "Catholic Church cannot be enslaved by any state," but that he believed a compromise could and should be worked out between the church and the Communist state.

He said, however, that it was the responsibility of the Holy See to Work out any compromise it might propose.

"I am not willing to leave the country because I do not feel guilty," he told the AP man, who took the only picture of Mgr. Stepinac ever made in the prison. Stepinac will take up residence in the local parish house in Irsic, Tanjug's statement said this decision had been made by the Archbishop himself.

Stepinac, a leader of Yugoslavia's 7,000,000 Roman Catholics, was sentenced on Oct. 11, 1948, to 10 years imprisonment at hard labor on charges he collaborated with the Axis and its wartime puppets, condoned the forcible conversions of hundreds of thousands of Serbian orthodox followers in Croatia to Catholicism, helped organize a postwar "Independent Croatia" movement and worked for the downfall of the Communist regime of Premier Marshal Tito.

McGrath Hits Back At His Tax Critics

Attorney General Is Confident Of Integrity In Justice Department

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Attorney General McGrath today expressed complete confidence in the integrity of the government's legal staff. He defied those interested in special influence to tempt them from their duty.

The Attorney General, flushed and obviously moved by the fire that has been directed toward his department in the current tax fraud investigations, made the statement in a fighting off-the-cuff speech before a luncheon meeting of the Federal Bar Association.

McGrath made it clear that he has no intention of resigning his post, as has been reported in some quarters.

Olliphant Erred In Own Income Tax

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Charles Olliphant, who was one of the top tax experts in the Internal Revenue Bureau, made a mistake in his own income tax return for 1950. It cost him a $250 penalty plus some taxes he hadn't figured he owed. Olliphant had computed his medical expenses as $127.80 for 1950 and listed that sum as a deduction.
