Christian candidates: When God gets into politics

By VICKI DeBORNER
Herald Senior Staff Writer

Many youngsters are taught that people do not discuss religion or politics in polite company.

Of late, however, more people are not only professing their religious beliefs in public, but also making political endorsements based on those practices. The Christian Coalition, Unified Christians of Central

Florida, and other religious-based organizations have made a full-time job of educating the public on those political issues they perceive as having some bearing on conservative Christian voters' lives and of making sure that those candidates with conservative Christian views are elected.

Political Action Committees (PACs) or community political groups with a religious basis are becoming more prevalent across the country, following in the footsteps of the Christian Coalition begun a half decade ago by evangelist Pat Robertson and now thousands of members strong.

The Christian Coalition is not a PAC and can not, therefore, endorse candidates for office. See Christian, Page 8A

Sanford plays a part in murder mystery weekend

SANFORD — Her lower lip quivering ever so slightly, the queen gasped as she watched the BBC broadcast on Saturday morning.

Though it had been auspicious from the moment Heidi Richards fell ill at dinner at the Higgins House on Friday evening, the queen and the other guests at the Sanford bed and breakfast were aghast when the news came that she had, indeed, been murdered.

The guests registered at the Oak Avenue inn this weekend travelled from across the state to take part in a murder mystery weekend orchestrated by their friend Diane Cohen of Jacksonville.

From the moment they arrived on Friday evening, the participants transformed themselves into their new personas. The group was gathered for a charity fund-raiser weekend. Richards, the number one tennis player in the world, was to be the featured guest.

The Wimbledon tennis tournament is only a week away, guests know, and now Richards, the number one player in the world, is See Mystery, Page 8A

School board member will pursue residency challenge against opponent who won

If Bob Goff did not live within the District 3 boundaries when he registered to run for office on July 19, Nancy Warren contends, then he was not qualified for office and she was the only legal candidate for the seat.

So sure is she of that fact that she has retained Tallahassee attorney Ron Meyer to file a lawsuit in circuit court in Seminole County.

"He was not qualified for the office if he lived in District 4 on July 19 and qualified in District 3," said Meyer. "And it is pretty obvious to me that he lived in District 4."

Warren lost the race to Goff by a narrow margin. She said she is willing to accept the will of the people, but she is not willing to accept a candidate who does not comply with the law.

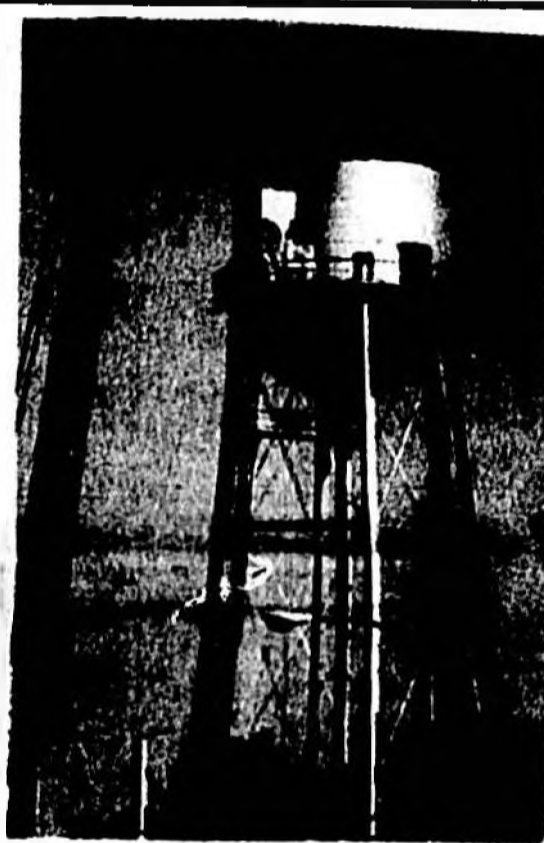

Three of Warren's supporters had filed an earlier suit claiming Goff was not qualified for the seat based on the question of residency. That complaint was dismissed by Circuit Judge Alan Dickey before the election.

Meyer said he was "not at all disheartened by the judge's decision," because the outcome of the contest was a week off at the time. Now, he feels, the time is right.

The new suit has been filed in Warren's name.

According to the suit, Warren questions Goff's residency at the time he qualified because he merely rented a room from a friend who lived within the district. He did not, she said, change See Home, Page 8A

The Sanford city water tower in the 1300 block of French Avenue is coming down. Utilities Director Paul Moore said the tower, empty for several years, was built about 1928. "It isn't being used," Moore said, "and it was in need of repairs, so we had a consultant look into it, and it was determined that the best move is to tear it down completely." Moore said the tower will be a memory by the end of this week.

Public housing grant money seeds self-sufficiency

By VICKI DeBORNER
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Sanford Housing Authority continues to do whatever it can to help residents there become self-sufficient, executive director Timothy Hudson will tell you proudly.

Hudson plans to return the housing authority to its function of providing temporary housing for those who are in financial difficulty and not a housing option for generation after generation of Sanfordites.

"I think we need to start with the children," Hudson, who has already implemented strong residency requirements for housing authority units, said.

A grant the authority recently received from the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) will help initiate and finance a number of programs geared toward children in the housing authority homes.

The $238,500 grant will be used to implement a WORTH program (Worthy Opportunities for Residents Holistic approaches) in Sanford, Hudson said.

"This is a drug elimination program that uses a variety of approaches to help young boys and girls find a healthier, more self-sufficient approach to life," Hudson said.

Hudson said the grant money will be used to take a "weed and seed" approach to drug eradication in the housing authority. "Everyone is involved in this effort," he noted. "The housing authority, the residents, the Sanford Police Department, the Grove Counseling Center and the community."

There will be structured activities for young people in the community centers of each housing authority development.

In addition, there will be activities for parents, for adults, for families and for the older residents as well.

According to Hudson, there will be four program components. The first will be to guarantee the continued interaction. See Grant, Page 7A

Running for Sanford mayor: Vern Spears

Editor's note: The Sanford Herald continues to feature profiles of mayoral candidates in Sanford and Lake Mary.

By RUSSELL WHITE
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Mayoral candidate Vern E. Spears, Jr., grew up in the Sanford projects at Higgins Terrace and Cowan-Moughton Terrace in the late 1940's and 50's.

He remembers seeing his father only once when he was six or seven — and it was not at all pleasant.

"My dad drank too much and ran away with a woman," Spears said. "My mother had to bring up five children — four girls and myself. She washed and ironed clothes. She died when she was 49. They said it was cancer...that, and working herself to death."

It would be easy for Spears to detest and never forgive his dad.

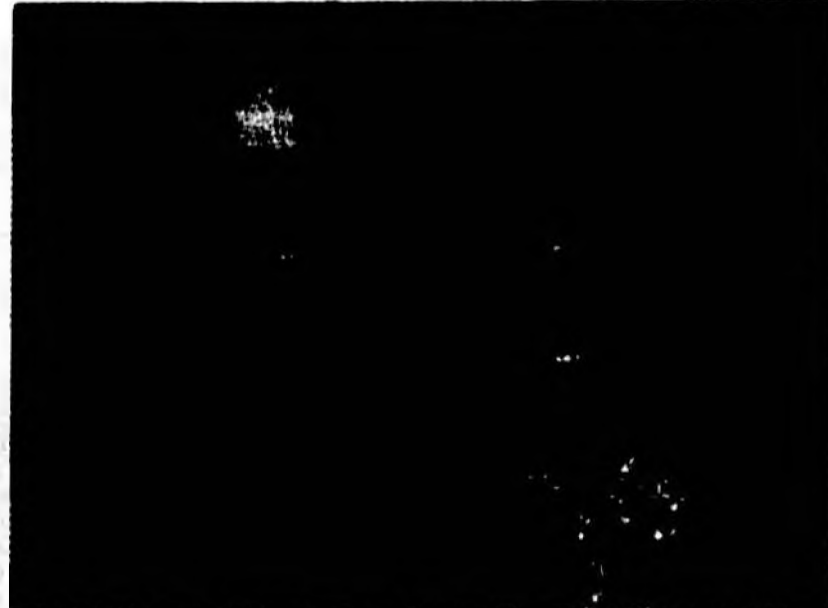

Instead, he has forgiven him and occasionally calls to see how 86-year-old Vernie E. Spears, Sr., is doing in Enterprise, Ala.

"I like to think of myself as a fair man," says Spears, who prefers Vern over Vernie. "I can forgive and forget. And I can be tough, too. After 10 years in the Army as a 1st sergeant, I know how to give orders and get a job done."

Spears, 52, had to rise above the plight and poverty of his youth.

At 11, he shined shoes at the old Smoke House on First St. between Park and Oak. He delivered newspapers and mowed lawns. He delivered telegrams by bike.

IN BRIEF

Polltbits

The League of Women Voters of Florida has published a letter in regard to Amendment 4, to appear on the General Election ballot Nov. 5. The amendment on "Save our Everglades," regards the sugar industry paying additional taxes in order to protect and improve the Everglades area.

The league's president, Fay Law said the league does not favor writing new taxes in or out of the Florida Constitution, observing, "a good state constitution should be simple and flexible."

She says the Legislature has not proven that the money will be properly allocated and that there has been no assurance that the money obtained will be useful and beneficial to the economy and the environment.

Added to the League of Women Voters' statement is an added note that the American Association for Retired Persons (AARP, has also come out in opposition to Amendment 4.

The league also says it is opposed to amendments 1, (tax limitation) 5, (responsibility for paying costs of water pollution abatement in the Everglades) and 6 (Everglades Trust Fund).

Geneva Wilderness area

SANFORD — The Seminole County Commission has announced the opening of the first Natural Lands property in the county. The Geneva Wilderness Area is to be opened to the general public in ceremonies on Saturday, Nov. 2.

The 180-acre site was purchased with money from the 1980 voter-approved Natural Lands Referendum. The site was formerly known as the Hedrick Boy Scout Camp, and is located on CR-438, just north of Little-Big Eon State Forest between Oviedo and Geneva.

A public grand opening is scheduled for 10 a.m. with exhibits, guest speakers, music, and light refreshments.

For more information phone 321-1180, ext. 7352.

Josephine damage

While Tropical Storm Josephine caused very little damage to the Sanford and Seminole County areas, and never reached hurricane status, there was, nevertheless, extensive damage along coastal areas.

According to a report issued by the American Red Cross, there were 45 single-family and mobile homes destroyed in Cedar Key and 20 in Yankeetown in Levy County. In West Pasco, 26 were destroyed, with a few others in Dixie, Charlotte, St. Johns counties, and nine apartments in Pinellas County.

In all, the Red Cross said 4,108 dwellings were affected with 104 considered as totally destroyed and 1,311 with major damage. The cost estimates for Red Cross relief efforts may go as high as $200,000.

As a result, the American Red Cross is asking for donations to its disaster fund. Those wishing may phone 1-800-HELP-NOW (1-800-257-7575), or contacting the local chapter in Longwood, 332-8200.

High winds flip boat on lake

BY ROGER NARMACK
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Nobody was injured Saturday when a small fishing boat tipped on Lake Monroe near the Lake Monroe Inn. According to the owner, who did not identify himself, he and his family set out from Deltona for a day of fishing north of the 17-98 bridge.

"We went out for a boat ride to go fishing," he said. "We fished for a couple hours and I noticed the wind come up."

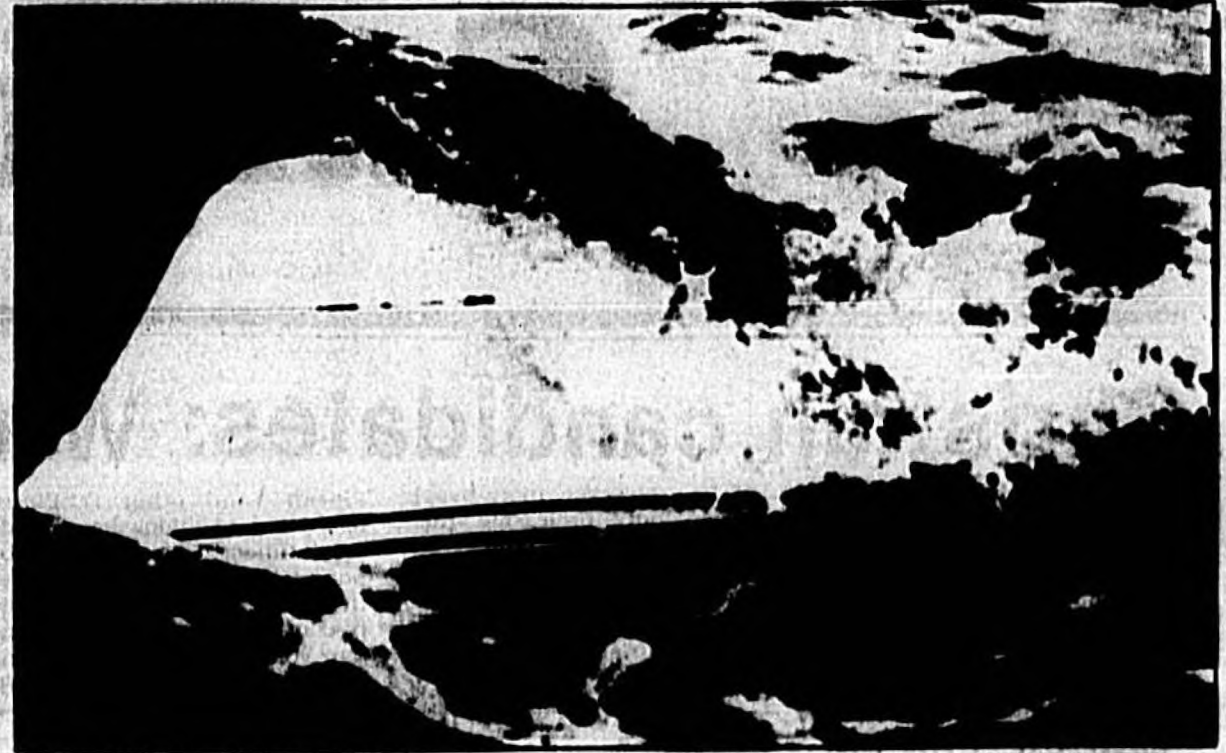

The owner said he decided to bring his family back to the boat dock because of the wind.

However, as the family headed back, the wind continued to pick up and the owner said he knew he would not make it back to port.

"It started getting really rough," the owner said. "So I stopped (at the Lake Monroe Inn) and let the family out."

Knowing he could not get back to the dock safely, the owner said he tied his boat up at about 3 p.m. to wait for the wind to subside.

The line, however, snapped and the wind flipped the boat, the owner said. The winds pushed the boat up against the seawall north of the restaurant.

The bow of a fishing boat flipped by high winds on Lake Monroe Saturday sticks out of the water.

"It sure is surprising how fast the river can get rough here," he said.

Tow truck operators were at a loss to turn the boat rightside up because of the winds.

Late Saturday afternoon, the boat remained upside down near the seawall.

The owner said he would wait until the winds died down enough for him to get into the water and get a line around the boat's motor.

Once he can get a line around the motor, he said he will be able to have a tow truck or friend help him get the boat turned over and out of the river.

Comfort after accident

A car accident Saturday afternoon at the intersection of Fincher Road and State Road 48 left two young boys injured. Matthew Russell Champion and Michael Wing, passengers in a mini-van driven by Matthew's father, Ernest, were taken to Columbia Medical Center Sanford. Their condition was not available. Mr. Champion, and another passenger, Dennis, also a passenger, were uninjured. According to witnesses at the scene, Champion was westbound on State Road 48 in an Astro mini-van when a car turned into his path from Fincher Road. Champion's mini-van collided with the vehicle. The names of the driver and passengers in the car were not released. Police would not comment on which driver was at fault in the accident. The way we were: Hospital in 1950

It was reported by Randall Chase that the year 1950 was one of the best in the history of the association. The hospital served more people than ever before and was in better financial condition than in many years.

The executive committee had met the previous February with the manager of the Bert Fish Estate, Mr. Pollard, and three of its trustees. At that time, Mr. Pollard had advised that a survey had been made by the federal hospital authorities who had recommended a 60 bed hospital at an estimated cost of $100,000. The federal government would furnish 40% of the funds and the Fish Estate, 60%. Since then, Mr. Chase reported, the federal funds for this purpose had been frozen and were not then available. Funds were on hand in the Fish Estate if and when other funds were made available.

Membership dues in the hospital association continued to be $1.00 per person. A family membership was $5 and sustaining membership was $25 or more.

GRACE M. STINE-CIPHER

Repairs on the hospital had been made and were paid for, but the building on Oak Avenue needed considerable repairs.

Two lots of securities from the Ewing Estate had been sold and also a final remittance had been received. These amounts were applied to a note at the Sanford Atlantic Bank bringing the obligation down to $3,000.

The local chapter of Beta Sigma Phi had been providing a receptionist at the hospital during evening visiting hours which had been very helpful.

The conclusion of Mr. Chase is that 1950 was a very successful year for the hospital.

POLICE BRIEFS

Jail escapee sentenced

Torrence Thompson, 34, recaptured after his escape from the Seminole County jail on Sept. 17, has been sentenced to 30 years in prison for killing a man.

Thompson faces up to 30 years in prison for the escape attempt, and another 30 in an escape charge from the Florida Correctional Institution, prosecutor Jerry Jones said.

Thompson was awaiting sentencing after his conviction in the April, 1985 shooting death of Carl Brooks, 40. Brooks was shot during a card game for allegedly taunting Thompson. On Sept. 17 he broke out of a high security unit of the Seminole County jail, along with Zoltan David Dobi, 36, awaiting trial on arson and grand theft charges.

The two men stuffed their beds with newspapers, fooling the guard on night duty into thinking they were asleep under the covers. Sheriff Don Eslinger said Corrections Officer Otis McMillan would be fired after a 90-day suspension without pay.

Thompson was recaptured in Jacksonville five days after his escape. Dobi was found in St. Augustine.

Retail theft alleged

John Collins, 18, 1601 W. 15th Place, Sanford, was arrested on charges of retail theft on Thursday by Sanford Police after a security officer at a store at Sanford Towne Center reported that he took a gold chain and left the store without paying for it.

Sanford Police were called and he was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility. Bond had not been set.

Man arrested in stolen car

John Stuart Jakews, 34, of Apopka was arrested for grand theft auto by Lake Mary Police on Thursday.

Police report they stopped him for driving 50 miles per hour in a 45 mile per hour zone. A computer check revealed that the car he was driving had been reported stolen by his employer the day before.

He was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held in lieu of $1,500 bond.

Pork chops stolen

Bennie Lee Gregory, 37, 1218 W. 13th Place, Sanford, was arrested for retail theft and for trespassing after warning by Sanford Police on Thursday.

According to police, Gregory was seen by store security at a grocery store on French Avenue in Sanford, putting two packages of pork loin chops down the front of his pants and walking out of the store without paying for the meat which was valued at $18.77.

A trespass warning had been issued to him after he had been arrested for retail theft at the same store in December 1985.

He was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held in lieu of $500 bond.

Reported to Sanford Police

• A resident of the 100 block of Oak Court in Sanford reported that someone used his credit card number to buy a word processor from a mail order catalogue. He had not given anyone permission to use his credit card, he told police.

• A resident of William Clark Court reported that a fight outside their unit resulted in a broken window.

• A customer reported sitting in a vehicle outside a business in the 2200 block of First Street when someone reached into the car and tried to remove a gold necklace from around her neck. When she resisted, the suspect then pulled her into the vehicle and attempted to force her into the back seat.

• A resident of the 2400 block of S. Main St. reported that someone entered their home by going underneath a deck (the sign of forced entry) where a television set and a $500 VCR from the home. It was reported that a child's tape that had been in the VCR was removed and left behind.

• A business owner in the 5800 block of Sanford Avenue reported someone had broken into the business and taken a $4,000 wheel balancing machine. The owner of the business reported that the business is closing and the guard dog that had been there had been removed.

Top employee

The Health and Rehabilitative Services (HRS) employee of the month is Mervie Pittman. She has been employed by HRS as a Protective Investigator for nine years. Prior to transferring to Seminole County in 1985, she worked Lake County. Pittman was honored for her outstanding work above and beyond the call of duty. She says she devotes her time beyond work to the youth of her church where she encourages them to prepare to make a positive impact in the world.

Teen curfews: City takes a closer look

By MOSE PEREPAUP
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Sanford City Commission Monday will take a close look at a proposed teen curfew ordinance. When originally presented, the curfew had many unanswered questions which were to be resolved.

The basic curfew ordinance is based on a similar one established by the City of Orlando but it had been disputed in the courts. Sanford decided not to take action until a determination on Orlando's proposal had been made.

During the Sept. 16 commission discussion, Sanford's police Chief Ralph Russell explained that the city already had a curfew ordinance on the books, but added, "we don't enforce it because it's just not enforceable."

Among questions which had been asked were:

• Should the curfew be put into force only in certain specific areas of the city such as the projects, Geneva Gardens, 13th Street and others?

• If it was imposed for specific areas, would that be fair to all areas in the city?

• Would the police department have the sole responsibility for patrolling young people in violation of the ordinance?

• What would happen once someone was picked up? Would they be taken to the juvenile detention facility, taken home and released to their parents, or taken to another type of incarceration facility?

• Would the city be able to issue permits for youngsters who might have a need to be on the streets at times of the curfew and if so, who would issue the permits and under what conditions?

The Orlando ordinance specifies that the age group to be given this curfew would be under 18, unless accompanied by an adult, in a motor vehicle, responding to an emergency, or traveling to or from a school, religious or recreational activity sponsored by adults.

The Orlando ordinance lists the curfew restrictions between the hours of 12:01 a.m. and 6 a.m.

It also prohibits commercial establishments from knowingly permitting a violation of the ordinance.

At the conclusion of the Sept. 16 meeting, it was determined that City Manager Bill Simmons would get with the city attorney and others, and prepare some type of proposal which might be acceptable and legal for the City of Sanford.

Although there is no indication that any formal action will be taken Monday evening during the regular commission meeting, it is listed for discussion during the work session beginning at 4 p.m., in the city manager's conference room.

tobacco by officers, has reportedly been agreed upon. Another matter however, police salaries, may prove to be more difficult to resolve.

The proposal presented to the commission by the FOP is called "The 50 percentile." Police Commander Dennis Whitmire explained it. "There was to be a survey taken of the eight law enforcement agencies in Seminole County," he said. "Then, from the lowest to the highest for each level, such as corporals, the FOP was recommending that Sanford officers be at a halfway point."

Whitmire stressed that the 50 percentile concerns the salary ranges, and not specific salaries for individual officers.

"With the 50 percentile," he continued, "if an officer represented by the union falls below the level, he or she would receive a raise. But if the officer is already at or above the level, there would be no increase."

At Monday's city commission meeting, the city's labor attorney David Kornreich, as well as a representative from the FOP are both to make presentations.

"They couldn't agree to the pay schedule during private negotiations," Whitmire said, "so it becomes a matter for the city commission to decide."

Not all Sanford police officers are involved in the wage increase matter. Those who are included are all officers, all sergeants, and all corporals, except those sergeants and corporals who are specifically excluded.

Completely excluded are the chief, deputy chief, commanders, and corporals and sergeants assigned to the Division of Investigations and Division of Special Investigations, Division of Community Affairs and a few others.

The no-smoking issue which has been resolved, originally prohibited smoking or the use of tobacco on city property as well as while on a shift. However, it pertained only to union members.

"This wouldn't be fair for everyone," Whitmire said. "This is a matter for the chief to resolve, and I believe he plans to do that. He's the person running the department, and he could call for a ban on smoking which would involve everyone, rather than limit it to the officers who are in the FOP."

The pay scale issue however, remains the subject of disagreement, which many persons involved say is the direct result of misunderstandings and misconceptions of the FOP proposals and the city offers. Union officials could not be reached for comment.

The matter is scheduled for a public hearing Monday, Oct. 14. It is the first item on the agenda for the regular meeting of the Sanford City Commission.

He joined the U.S. Army when he was 18.

He went to see his dad soon after he turned 20.

He "allowed" his dad to introduce him to a trade - the insulation business.

Today, Spears Insulation serves five states.

Vern Spears is a successful business man.

He is also a happily married man, together with Nancy Spears for 27 years. They have two daughters - Sherris, 25, and Elizabeth, 23. Vern and Nancy have a grandson named Justin.

Spears is proud of the home he has had the last nine years on Grandview Avenue. He recently added an eight-person hot tub and cedar porch. There are shade trees and tranquility. Nancy Spears keeps a warm and cozy home. You feel this the second you arrive and you feel it more before you depart.

In the garage that is too neat and organized to be true, Spears shows off a handsome Tool Organizer that he will soon have patented. Two large companies are waiting to buy the rights to produce it.

Spears says he wants to make his hometown of Sanford as warm and cozy for all its citizens. He wants to be mayor who keeps the best of what has been and steers the community toward the next century.

"Never Fear when Spears is Here," is one of his slogans.

A trim man with an abundance of energy, Spears bears a strong resemblance to Rose

Perot and enjoys a good laugh about the likeness.

He talks fast like Perot when he's excited, which is now.

The other day he and his former teacher at Seminole High School, John Colbert, walked up and down the neighborhood streets for three hours looking for votes in the mayoral election on Dec. 3.

Spears said he believes 3,000 or so will cast votes. He wishes he can get more to vote and to vote for Vern Spears.

Because possibly more than eight are in the running, he predicts a sure runoff. He believes he will be one of two in the runoff.

"I have been laborer, ad-ministrater (Army personnel and recruiting) and a leader," he says. "I want to see Sanford be all it can be. It's a great place to live but can be better."

"We have some cleaning up to do...we need to fix all the bad roads, get rid of the eyesores, clean up all the neighborhoods. Make sure our children are safe and healthy and educated."

Spears received his college degree four years ago from Warner Southern College in Lake Wales, a Bachelor of Arts in Management of Human Resources. "Had to get it by gumption and fortitude," he said proudly.

Spears says he's applying the same pair of attributes in the mayoral race.

his driver's license, his mailing address, or his vehicle registration.

His voter registration showed a change of address, but that was more than two weeks after he qualified for office, the suit said.

Goff contends he maintained his office at his previous address and therefore he did not need to make changes except to his voter registration.

"It's pretty obvious to me that Mr. Goff did not live where he claimed," Meyer said.

Goff said he does not know why Warren is continuing to pursue the case. He said he believes the state teachers' union is pushing her to file the suit.

"They are hoping the judge will throw the whole thing out and that the governor will have to appoint a (Democrat) new person to the seat," Goff said. Warren said she is doing this for those who seek office in the future.

"I don't want people who aren't qualified for office to be allowed to bypass the law," Warren said.

Meyer said he is being retained by Warren, not by the union.

"I have represented the union before the school board so that is how Ms. Warren knows me, but I am not being paid by the union," he said.

Chase's report mentioned that the Sanford Naval Air Station had been reactivated and that the government had the right to take back its property. No official notice had yet been received.

1953 meeting that the Navy Department had advised him that they were accepting the option to purchase the interest of the association in the property for $23,500. The money had not yet been received.

The Hospital Moves Back To Oak Avenue

Randall Chase reported that 1951 was one of the most hectic in the history of the association. This was caused by the reactivation of the Navy base and its consequent reversion to the building.

The executive committee, working with several civic groups, had investigated many possibilities for housing the hospital. It was finally determined that the only practical place would be to return to the old quarters at 502 Oak Avenue. The tenants in that building and also in the former nurse's home had had to vacate.

The jeep station wagon had been donated to the County School Board for the transportation of Seminole County's underprivileged children to the Forest Lake School in Orlando.

A contract had been entered into with the Mary Emma Laboratory, Arranged by the County School Board, to supply tests and equipment from Florida Oxygen Service to be paid for when used.

During an inspection tour of the new Orviedo clinic, the executive committee noticed a shortage of equipment there so several surplus items were loaned to them. The association approved this as a gift rather than a loan.

Another important event in the hospital's history was the authorization by the voters of Seminole County of an $800,000 bond issue. This was carried by a four to one vote indicating that the citizens realized the dire need for better hospital facilities.

According to the May 31, 1958 Sanford Herald, the federal government, through the Hill-Burton Act, assigned $445,000 to the project.

The former resolution, adopted February 7, 1953, was amended to read that the association would offer the hospital's property to whatever interests or agencies should first construct and place in operation a hospital qualified under the terms of the resolution.

Governor Fuller Warren had appointed the Seminole County Hospital Trustees who had met continuously to make the new hospital a reality.

There was a name change for vice president of the association; it was now Mrs. Charles Cole. Since there is no mention of Mrs. Ender Curlett's death or a commutation for her long service (she had served as vice president since 1919), perhaps she remarried. Does anyone know? She represented Geneva on the board.

The renovation was a huge task with expenditures totaling over $12,000. The city loaned $5,000 to be paid back whenever possible.

The association was originally notified by the Navy to vacate the building by April 1, 1951. Senators Spessard Holland and George Smathers secured a 90 day extension which enabled the old hospital to be renovated. The actual move was made April 27, 1951.

The association was able to take some equipment with them as only the real property was mentioned in the deed.

The group approved asking the navy to compensate the association for the improvements they had made to the property in the amount of $23,500 and also $5,270 for the boiler and heating equipment.

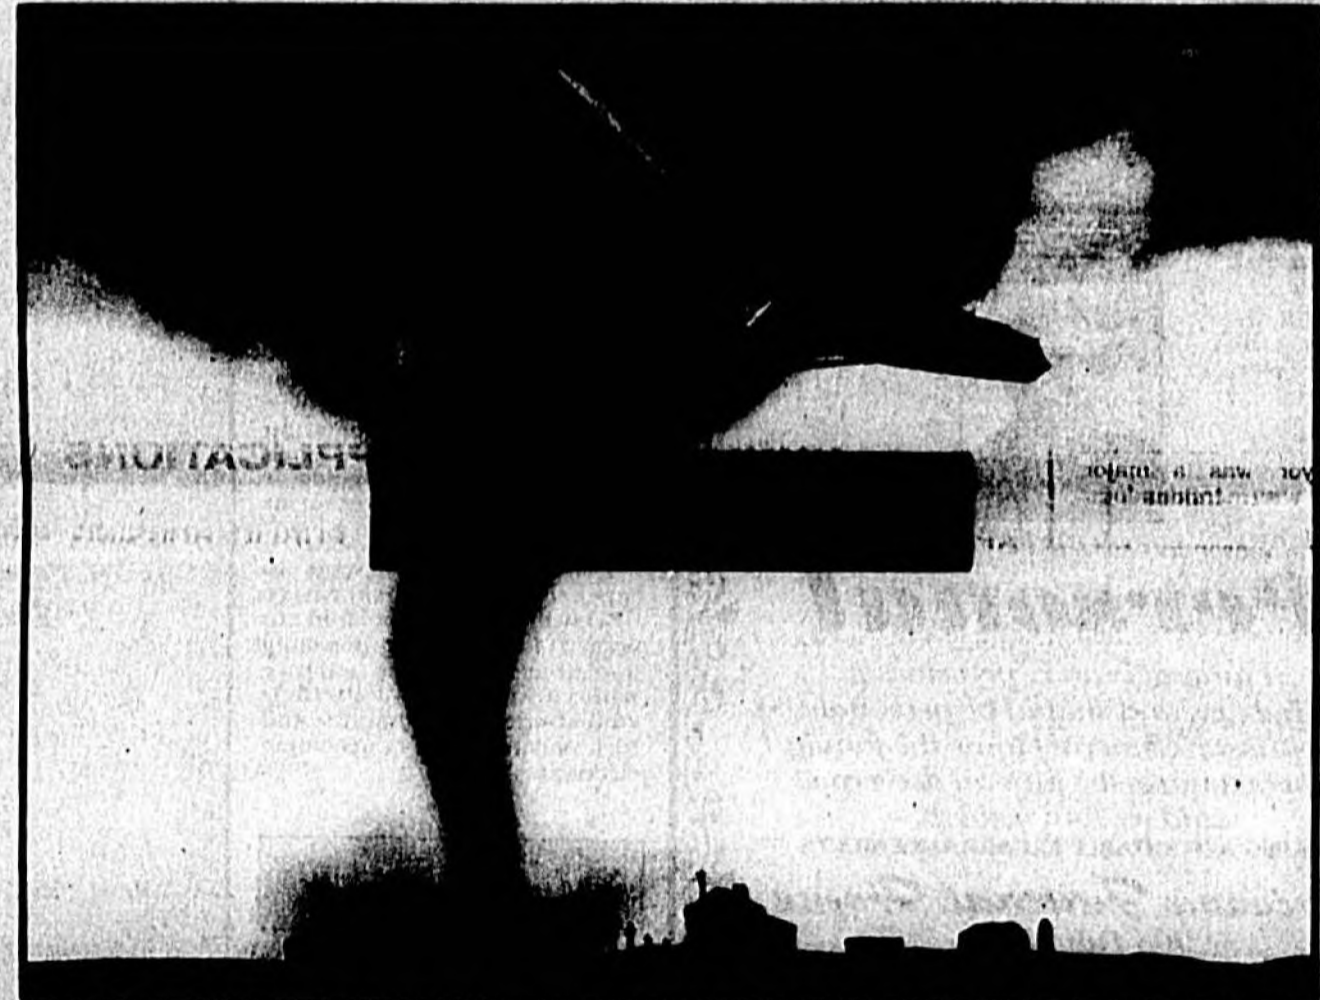

The death of Albert Stark was noted; he had been bookkeeper for the past several years. Mr. Len R. Lecher had taken over this position.

A resolution was adopted which authorized the association to transfer all of its net assets to the trustees of the Bert Fish Estate for the purpose of building a new hospital in Sanford. If said hospital was not built in three years this offer would be rescinded. Stipulation was made that a wing of the hospital must be designated as the Fernald Laughman Memorial Wing.

Room costs were increased in the colored ward from $5.00 to $7.00 per day and from $1.00 to $2.00 in the colored nursery. These changes made the costs equal to the charges for the white wards and nursery. Emergency room charge was $3.00.

Hamilton students, mayor discuss government

By B. GARDNER-SMARTIN
Herald Correspondent

After a month long discussion of the election process and local government, Mrs. Bordenkircher's fourth grade class at Hamilton Elementary School was rewarded with an hour long visit from Sanford Mayor Betty Smith.

Students were asked to write their choices for classroom visitors. About a third of the class asked to meet the town mayor.

Mayor Smith readily agreed, adding that she would no longer be mayor after December. That was not a problem, as the class is studying today's government leaders as makers of tomorrow's history.

One day before her visit, students returned from lunch to find the following words on the board: mayor, town, city, commission, meeting, tie, vote, agenda, sunshine, law, budget, planning and committee. Their task was to look through the surprisingly large number of definitions for these common words and find the government one.

The first student to find the word got to stand and read it to the class. Hands waved frantically all around the room as students competed to get the word. Most were unfamiliar with the Sunshine Law until it was explained.

In preparation for her visit, the class compiled 18 questions they would ask of the mayor. It was agreed that the student who thought of the question would ask it and in some instances would be joined by a second student so that each student would have a chance to address the mayor.

When the big day arrived, the children were dressed in their best school clothes and on their very best behavior. Mrs. Bordenkircher arranged for Mrs. Gardiff the Media Specialist to videotape the visit. Arrangements were made for the Sanford Herald to send a photographer. Principal Mamie Bingham planned to welcome the Mayor to Hamilton Elementary at 11:30 a.m. For 9 and 10 year olds a visit by the mayor was a major event met with tremendous anticipation.

All were pleasantly surprised when the Mayor arrived fifteen minutes early and joined the children at their table in the cafeteria. What a treat! To these children, untouched by adult cynicism, devoid of preconceived notions and genuinely impressed and respectful of adults in general and town officials in particular, it was truly a red letter day.

And for the long time mayor it ended up being an opportunity to reflect. In her answers to their prepared questions, Mayor Smith touched on her life as a girl who never dreamed of being mayor, a woman, a wife of 43 years, a mother, a grandmother, a former deputy, a former teacher and Sanford's first and only woman elected to public office.

From her favorite color (blue) and the decor of her office (she has no office) to how long she's been married (all of my life) Mayor Smith fielded the personal questions with grace and candor. She volunteered that she had moved around a lot as a child and asked who in the class was new. To those students she said, "Don't worry about having to move around a lot. You are learning how to get along in new places and meet new people. That will stay with you for the rest of your life."

When the children asked about whether she helps the old people and whether she gives people money, they learned how a city budget differs from the county and state as it pertains to funding that goes directly to its citizens.

To questions about putting up new buildings and putting up signs, Mayor Smith talked about the difficulty of deciding how to handle those running for public office who put their signs up in violation of city ordinances. "Do we spend city money to take them to court? Or do we call them and ask them to take down their signs?" she asked the children. She also talked about how government agencies work together, such as when the school board builds a school and plans with the city for its water and sewer lines.

How old does one have to be to be elected mayor? She countered with a question of her own, "How old must you be to vote?" All the children knew the answer to that one but were obviously shocked to learn 18 was all you have to be to run for mayor.

Mayor Smith told the children "On the day you turn 18, register to vote, unless it is a weekend, then go first thing Monday." She talked with them about the importance of voting and that it is the people who register and then actually vote who control the government on all levels.

Hanging on her every word, the children listened as she told them they will hear many things about politicians in their lives, "but there is no greater privilege than to serve" in public office adding that it takes courage to run for public office.

Mayor Smith invited the children to attend city commission meetings. If any child from the class should attend, she would gladly introduce the child. Noting that too few citizens attend, Mayor Smith emphasized that what happens at the meetings affects everyone in Sanford. She encouraged the children to stay informed about their city government.

"It would make me proud someday to see that one of you was mayor of Sanford. I would say 'Why, I knew him .. or her .. as a fourth grader at Hamilton Elementary School.' Remember me, when that time comes. Let me know what you are doing."

Two questions about the length of her day and whether her job is hard, led Mayor Smith into an unexpected talk about her reasons for not seeking re-election. The children heard that she averages five to six hours per day on the job and that being mayor is not hard in obvious ways. She starts every day about 7 a.m. with the city manager. Mayor Smith said the city manager directly supervises the city employees and she, personally, doesn't even have a real office in city hall.

What is hard is making decisions like raising people's water bill, she said. "Sometimes it makes my stomach hurt," that we are doing things that affect people without the people ever fully understanding what all went into that decision. So many times I have wished I could explain to people why we did what we did. The newspapers report what happens at meetings but they can never put in everything."

But there is no such forum and now it is time to let others make those decisions while she gives herself a rest from those kinds of gut wrenching moments. Thanking the children for their invitation, Mayor Smith left to a rousing round of applause.

Next, the children will focus on county government and Seminole County history. About a third of the class had asked to meet Sheriff Don Ealinger and those arrangements are in the works. Interspersed with a request to meet the Seminole County School Board, the Chief of Police, the Mayor and the Sheriff, were numerous requests to meet President Clinton, his family and one request to meet Bob Dole. Although neither Senator Dole nor President Clinton has been heard from, in an election year, anything can happen.

Sanford Mayor Betty Smith answers questions about being mayor for fourth graders.

The second component would provide job skill training and educational opportunities for those who live in housing authority units. There will also be, Hudson said, cultural, sports and recreational activities that will be offered as a healthy alternative to drug activity.

"We will have all kinds of programs to promote self-esteem and self-sufficiency among our residents, especially the young people," Hudson said.

The third component of the program, he said, will involve drug intervention education. Starting with the youngest children and moving through their parents and the family units as a whole, the drug education programs will focus on preventing drug use before it starts.

The final component of the program will involve making more structural improvements to the Lake Monroe Terrace community.

That community, noted for its drug activity, for drive-by shootings, for burglaries and for gang activity, has been targeted by the housing authority for the improvements, including security fencing which residents believe will cut down on illegal activities near their homes.

A security fence near the units at William Clark Court was built through a resident initiative program with money from the Comprehensive Grant Program. The residents there saw a dramatic decrease in drug activity and related crime. It's hoped a fence will do the same at Lake Monroe Terrace.

"I think we are doing something positive for the community," Hudson said. "We are doing what we can to make the residents self-sufficient and to keep them drug-free."

IN BRIEF

Retreat for AIDS patients

SANFORD — The St. Leo Abbey Retreat Center, located in southeastern Pasco County, is offering a weekend spiritual retreat for all those infected with or affected by the HIV/AIDS pandemic.

Each weekend from Friday evening to Sunday afternoon, those who need the retreat are invited to experience the power of their own spirituality in a place of acceptance, a monastery that welcomes all who seek the Spirit.

The donation is $75 per person and includes shared rooms and bath, healthy meals and a program of peace, joy and spiritual power.

A limited number of scholarships are available. For more information or to register contact Bro. Dennis at (352) 586-2000.

Walking event

SANFORD — The Mid Florida Milers Volkamarch Club is celebrating National Volkamarch Month by holding a 5K (3.1 mile) walk, a 10K (6.2 mile) walk and a 25K (15.5 mile) hike on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 19 and 20.

The starting and finishing points will be at Fort Mellon Park on the shores of Lake Monroe.

The starting time will be any time between 8 and 11 a.m. and participants must be finished by 2 p.m.

There is no charge for the event, but those who want AVA/IVV credit need to pay the $3 fee.

Water and candy will be available at the start and finish line and at all control points. It is suggested that participants carry their own water on exceptionally hot days.

Food and sodas will be available in Fort Mellon Park for a nominal charge.

For more information, contact Barbara Barati at (407)423-9693 or email her at Barati@aol.com.

Volunteer opportunity

ORLANDO — Community Care for the Elderly is seeking Senior Companions to assist homebound, frail elders in Orange and Seminole counties.

Embarrassment a reason why people don't start to exercise

By MA SHRYFF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — They need the exercise, but what keeps many people from starting can be summed up in a word: embarrassment.

They don't join health clubs for fear their saggy, out-of-shape bodies will look out of place among the trim young athletes they expect to see there, researchers say. Ads featuring trim young athletes thus turn away a sizable segment of the population, the researchers say.

"It seems to be how you perceive yourself," said Christine Brooks of the University of Michigan. "They are sure they couldn't possibly do this."

Sedentary people seem to begin with a perception of themselves and then measure it against their perception of the group, said Brooks, an associate professor of kinesiology. When they feel overweight and undermuscular, they will be shy about displaying themselves among those they consider their physical betters, she said.

Such people also do not respond to claims that they can make themselves better because they are focusing on how they are now, said Brooks, who based her findings on focus group and interview research involving 414 nonexercisers over 50 years of age.

Nonexercisers tend to see clubs as failing to pay attention to their problems, Brooks said.

"Where the embarrassment comes in, they see so many people lifting so much heavier weights," Brooks said. "That makes them feel quite incompetent — especially the guys. Women, in aerobics, become quite embarrassed because they have to quit (the routine) before everyone else, or can't do all the steps."

Brooks' research was aimed at teasing out attitudes, not at finding percentages of the population which hold them. A separate survey by American Sports Data of Hartsdale, N.Y., did this, examining reasons people give for not joining health clubs. Both reports were commissioned by IHRSA, the International Health, Racquet and Sportsclub Association, a Boston-based trade group.

In American Sports Data's national survey of 1,100 adults, 37 percent of those who considered themselves overweight said they would be more receptive to joining a health club if they were less intimidated by the type of people who already belong. This was an issue for only 28 percent of those who considered themselves of normal weight or underweight.

Similarly, 46 percent of the overweight felt a need for a special program for out-of-shape beginners, while only 23 percent of the normal-weight or underweight did.

Bell-Tel FCU prepares for new offices

From staff reports

LAKE MARY — Ground-breaking ceremonies for Bell-Tel Federal Credit Union's $1 million state-of-the-art facility was held Thursday, Oct. 3.

The new facility is located at the corner of Primera Blvd. and Currency Circle.

The building program will more than double the space of the existing Lake Mary Centre store-front office, and will provide members with high tech financial services while maintaining a human touch.

Included in the plans is a secured, self-contained ATM and remote banking kiosk vestibule with 24-hour access.

A new lobby will accommodate a teller area, member services, as well as a loans and safe deposit box area.

A four-lane drive-up in the rear of the building will include a fifth lane exclusively for a drive-up ATM and night depository.

Bell-Tel Federal Credit Union was chartered in 1935 to serve Southern Bell and its affiliates.

Maurice T. Webber is chairman of the board of directors. He has been with Bell-Tel Federal Credit Union since 1957, and has 31 years of managerial experience with Southern Bell and AT&T.

Patricia D. Coker is President of Bell-Tel Federal Credit Union. She began her financial career in banking in 1955, and has been with Bell-Tel since 1981.

International summit planned in Heathrow

By MARK SPURDAN
Herald Staff Writer

HEATHROW — U.S. Representative John Mica has announced an Export Summit with international trade experts, to be held Friday, Oct. 16, at the AAA corporate complex, 1000 AAA Drive, in Heathrow.

According to Mica, the purpose of the gathering is, "To provide an overview of federal, state and local resources available relating to obtaining information on market opportunities, guidance in accessing those opportunities, export promotion, financing, insurance, and customs compliance."

On hand for the event will be leaders in industries such as banking, exporting, agriculture, international trade, financing, and international business.

Representatives will be on hand from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, U.S. Customs, and the World Trade Center.

The gathering will begin at 8:30 a.m., and conclude by approximately 12 noon. Congressman Mica will host the event.

Lake Mary chamber is really 'hopping'

From staff reports

LAKE MARY — The Greater Lake Mary/Heathrow Chamber of Commerce has a number of business-related and fun-related events scheduled for the remainder of this month. The following have been noted, including the first ever Central Florida Book Hop, Business after Hours. It will be held Thursday, Oct. 17 at the newly renovated West End Theatre, in the old Sanford Plaza, from 5:30 to 9 p.m.

A live band will entertain; dancing is encouraged. There will also be plenty of food and drink.

The purpose of the business-after-hours event is to showcase the new entertainment complex which features live performances. Some of the recent acts have included Cheap Trick and Giovanni.

Business attire is appropriate, but peppy shirts, sandals shoes and leather jackets would be more in the spirit of the affair.

Other upcoming chamber events include another business-after-hours, also encouraging costumes, this time to celebrate Halloween. The costume party will be held at the Courtyard Marriott in the Heathrow International Business Center, on Tuesday, Oct. 20, from 5 to 7:30 p.m.

The November breakfast meeting, at the Heathrow Country Club, falls on Wednesday, Nov. 6, at 7:45 a.m.

Don't forget to mark your calendars for Fantasy Night, Friday, Nov. 8, at the Bahia Shrine Auditorium, in Matland, beginning at 7 p.m.

This sixth annual event includes a silent and live auction, entertainment and fine cuisine.

Factors in finding money for your business

The key factor in a successful business start-up or expansion is the availability of capital. Raising money is one of the most frustrating aspects of business that an entrepreneur must perform. Many clients come into my office with the mistaken impression that a pot of money exists, just waiting for their great idea. But soon in the process they realize how complex capital acquisition can be. But if you take the time to do a little research and plan, you can lower your frustration level.

There are several places to look for money. Please take the time to explore all your options before you commit.

Your Personal Savings: This is the most common source of start-up capital. This includes other forms of personal equity.

Friends and Relatives: Many business people turn to private sources with which they have a relationship. Many times this money comes at a low or no interest rate.

However, I remind my clients that not all costs are in money. Consider if this loan allows someone a right to involve themselves in your business. What happens to your relationship if for some reason you can't pay it back in the time you promised?

Banks and Credit Unions: If you can provide them with a solid plan, and you have sufficient equity, they are a good source. Banks are typically more comfortable loaning to an ongoing business than a start-up. As part of the system, the Small Business Administration acts as a guarantor of many business loans for approved lenders.

Venture Capital Firms: These firms provide start-up and other needed money for new companies in exchange for ownership. Most small businesses are not good candidates for this type of financing.

In my conversations with many small business people I hear how difficult it was to obtain a loan from a bank. In many cases it is a simple matter that they don't understand the role of a bank. A bank is in the business of loaning money to make money. But, that said, a bank is not in the risk-taking business. You must be able to convince the lender that you are a good credit risk. This is done by being prepared and organized in your presentation. Most of us rush to the bank without a clear plan to present. This immediately sends a message that you are a "high risk".

Your plan should include exactly how much money you need, why you need it and how you intend to pay it back. It needs to include the name of principals, their resumes and the roles they play in the business. Company and personal financial statements will be required. A brief history of your business along with a description of the business. You need to clearly profile your products and their market and potential. You need to include your projections outlining the cash flow that will allow repayment of your loan.

We have resources at the Small Business Development

Office to help you with your loan proposal. Please feel free to contact me at the phone number below.

Sanford agenda

By MICK SPINAWP
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Monday's Sanford City Commission work session and regular meeting will concern a number of items pertaining to the Sanford police department. They include an unresolved union pay scale proposal, a recommended audit of the department and matters pertaining to civil service.

The work session is scheduled to begin at 4 p.m., in the city manager's conference room. As of earlier this week, the following items were listed for the work session:

• Discussion - Communication tower within the city, and a request to lease city-owned property for communications towers.

• Discussion - Economic Development Incentive application from Mobilite/Invacare.

• Discussion - Request from Wanda Kelly, executive director of Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce for exclusive use of parking lot and boat ramp during annual Bass Tournament.

• Discussion - Solid waste roll-off/compactor franchise agreement with Jennings Environmental Services, Inc.

• Discussion - Curfew ordinance

• Discussion - Recreational vehicle occupancy.

• Discussion - Nov. 5 charter referendum.

• Discussion - Audit of all aspects, (financial, manpower, etc.) of Sanford Police Department. (No advance information was made available)

• Discussion - Board appointments/re-appointments

• Information - Regarding removal of certain supervisory positions from the Civil Service System.

• Regular agenda and other items

• City Manager's report (no advance information supplied).

Included in additional items is an appraisal report on city-owned Hovnanian Park, which has been considered for sale and a request from Sanford Lions Club for a reduced-rate for use of the Sanford Civic Center on Sept. 28, 1996.

The regular commission meeting is scheduled to begin Monday evening at 7 p.m., in the commission chambers. As of this past week, the following items were listed on the agenda:

• Public hearing - To resolve the issue between the City of Sanford and the Fraternal Order of Police regarding implementation of the 50th percentile wage adjustment.

• Public hearing - To consider changes and amendments to the zoning ordinance for a portion of property between Lake Mary Boulevard and Bush Boulevard, and between Hospital Road and U.S. Highway 17-92, for a work release center requested by Seminole County.

• Ordinance 3315 - 2nd reading - Amend master plan for property between SR-46 and St. John's Parkway, and between Towne Center Boulevard and Rinehart Road to allow a third free-standing sign in the Gateway Shopping Center.

• Consideration - Appeal of denial of application for certificate of appropriateness by Historic Preservation Board for property at 219 S. French Avenue.

• Consideration - Proposal from Florida League of Cities for supplemental employment practices liability insurance.

• Consideration - Sanitary sewer service on W. 13th Place.

• Consideration - Petition for annexation for property between SR-46 and W. Third Street, and between Central Park Drive and South White Cedar Road.

• Consideration - Request from New Tribes Mission to park two recreational vehicle at New Tribes headquarters from Nov. 1, 1996 to May 31, 1997.

The Sanford city hall is located at 300 N. Park Avenue in Sanford.

Games

admission and the expo is open to the general public, regardless of age.

• Monday, Nov. 4 - From 5 until 7 p.m., there will be a tour of the Sanford Museum on E. First Street. Guests will be able to see the varied exhibits on hand and learn a great deal about the history of the city and surrounding area. A reception will also be held at the museum. The event is free of charge and open to the general public.

• Tuesday, Nov. 5 - A twilight cruise is scheduled on board the RiverShip Romance. The cost for the cruise is $25 per person, which will include many special features. Guests will tour Lake Monros and the St. Johns River and have an excellent view of the beautiful river and its shoreline. Contact Golden Age headquarters at the Sanford Senior Center or Sanford Recreation Department for reservations and advance tickets.

• Wednesday, Nov. 6 - A mid-week banquet will be held at the Sanford Civic Center. This is an event which usually draws a large turnout of participants and their guests, and advance tickets are recommended by no later than Nov. 1.

• Thursday, Nov. 7 - One of the most popular social events of the week, judging by the participants and attendance, is the talent show, beginning at 7 p.m., at the Sanford Civic Center. While this is a fun event, it is also a competitive one. Performers entered in the talent show will be on stage demonstrating their particular talents which range from singing and dancing, to musical performances, comedy routines, and a host of other talents, some of which often prove to be unusual, such as the Lake Mary woman who, in past competitions, performed her act on her talent. This event is open to the public and entry is free to recommended as the seats are generally packed.

• Friday, Nov. 8 - A new entry in the fun events is a game called "Name That Tune." It will be held at the Sanford Civic Center beginning at 2 p.m. The event is designed to be entertainment for those who may not be entered in competitive events for that day.

Several competitive events could also be classified as fun and entertainment. The 2-mile Historic Fun Walk through the Sanford historical district is scheduled at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 5, and again at 8:30 a.m. Friday, Nov. 8. There will not be medals awarded for this event, but all participants will receive participation ribbons.

At Sanford City Hall, there will also be a hobby and photography show, with displays by seniors showing art, craftsmanship and photographic skills. This event will be open to the general public from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 7. By that time, first, second and third place awards will have been determined, and visitors will be able to see the winners on public display. There is no cost to visit this presentation and it is open to the general public.

While most of the other events are competitive in nature, the general public is not only invited but urged to turn out in a show of support. There is a great deal of fun and entertainment in observing some of the events, and in almost all cases, there is no charge to watch.

The 32nd annual Sanford Golden Age Games will begin with opening ceremonies at the Sanford Civic Center at 1 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 8 and conclude following track and field award presentations on Saturday, Nov. 9.

IN BRIEF

Cleveland ignites Knights

ORLANDO — Lyman High School graduate Todd Cleveland returned the opening kickoff 93 yards for a touchdown and Dante Culpepper threw a pair of touchdown passes to help Central Florida defeat Bamford 36-6 Saturday.

It was the first victory after four losses on the road for Central Florida (2-4), an independent playing its first season in Division I-A. Both of the Golden Knights' wins have come against Division I-AA opponents.

Culpepper connected on 13 of 18 passes for 182 yards and two touchdowns. Cleveland had four receptions for 48 yards.

AROUND THE STATE

Top-ranked Gators roll

GAINESVILLE — Florida's defense made a shambles out of Kevin Faulk and No. 12 LSU as the top-ranked Gators romped to a 56-13 victory on Saturday.

Danny Wuerffel threw for 277 yards and three touchdowns, and the Gators (6-0, 4-0 Southeastern Conference) had two running backs rush for more than 100 yards in the same game for the first time in 12 years.

Florida's Elijah Williams scored on a 45-yard run and finished with 109 yards, and Fred Taylor had 107 yards.

Quick start boosts FSU

MIAMI — A fast start by Florida State helped Bobby Bowden overcome the Miami Hurricanes and his Orange Bowl in Saturday.

Shevin Smith returned a fumble 54 yards for a touchdown and Warrick Dunn scored on an 80-yard run as the Seminoles took a 17-point lead in the first 11 minutes.

Bowden had lost five in a row to Miami in the Orange Bowl. The Seminoles' last road victory in the series came in 1984.

Third-ranked Florida State (5-0) strengthened its position in the national championship chase by ending Miami's 11-game winning streak.

FAMU outlasts N.C. A&T

TALLAHASSEE — Florida A&M escaped with a 24-23 victory Saturday when North Carolina A&T missed an extra-point kick after its final score, the third consecutive victory in that fashion for the Rattlers.

Carolina A&T place-kicker Luther Leak missed a point-after kick with 31 seconds left, allowing Florida A&M to go on to victory before 15,000 at Bragg Stadium.

Two weeks ago, Howard University's place-kicker missed a late kick in a 21-20 Florida A&M victory and last week Hampton missed a kick in the sixth overtime to help FAMU win, 59-58.

ELSEWHERE

White, Howard blast B-CC

WASHINGTON — Ted White tied a school record with six touchdown passes, including five in the first half, as Howard rolled to a 61-21 rout over Bethune-Cookman Saturday at Greene Stadium.

White went 13-for-20 for 384 yards in less than three quarters of work.

Bethune-Cookman (1-8, 0-3) came into the game leading the conference in pass defense, allowing less than 100 yards per game.

Gant slugs Cards to 2-1 lead

ST. LOUIS — Ron Gant hit two long home runs against the team that abruptly dumped him two years ago because of a broken leg, leading the St. Louis Cardinals past the Braves 3-2 Saturday for a surprising 2-1 lead in the NL championship series.

Gant launched a two-run homer into the Cardinals bullpen in the first inning, then hit a solo shot off former teammate Tom Glavine into the shrubs in center field in sixth.

Fordham player collapses, dies

NEW YORK — A Fordham University football player died after collapsing during pregame warmups, causing a postponement Saturday of the Rams' game with Lafayette.

Bill Tierney, 20, of Lynbrook, N.J., was taken to St. Barnabas Hospital, where he was pronounced dead less than an hour after collapsing at Coffey Field in the Bronx.

Playoff hopes still alive

Late pickoff keys Tribe win

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Editor

SANFORD — Seminole High School spent most of the first 39 minutes and 32 seconds of Friday night's 5A-District 6 football game with the St. Cloud Bulldogs shooting itself in the foot.

But just when the Tribe faithful were wondering if the Seminoles had any toes left, the Seminole side suddenly turned its aim on visitors and, over the final 8:28 of the game at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium, rallied from a 10-0 deficit to defeat the Bulldogs 13-10 and keep their playoff hopes alive.

Seminole is now 2-4 on the season but, more importantly, is 2-1 in district play. After an off week, the Tribe will travel to Satellite Beach on October 18 to take on Satellite Scorpions (which upset No. 1 ranked and fellow 5A-6 foe Merritt Island 8-7 Friday night). Game time is set for 7:30 p.m.

"It's hard to say," said Seminole head coach Ernest McPherson when asked how his team suddenly turned it on at the end of the game. "I don't know what lit the fire. If I did, I would use it every game."

"The kids showed a lot of character tonight. They never panicked, even when they got down by 10 points. I had several players come up and tell me that we were still going to win the game. We kept shooting ourselves in the foot. It's about time we got a break."

The break McPherson referred to came after an interception that had snuffed out a Tribe drive with 3:22 left in the game.

On second and 7, St. Cloud quarterback Chad

Seminole's Erik Smith (No. 8), who contributed a 14-yard reception on the Tribe's game-winning touchdown drive, showed he could also play some 'defense' Friday night, burying St. Cloud defensive back Ryan Hawthorne as he tried to return an interception in the first half.

While he was held to just 57 yards rushing on 22 carries by the Lake Howell defense, Lake Mary running back Drew Young (No. 34) figured prominently in the Rams' rally Friday, tossing a 13-yard touchdown pass to Shane Burke in overtime.

Silver Hawks need OT to scramble past Rams

By JEFF BERLINCKE
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — With just over three minutes remaining, the Lake Mary Rams were dead.

Fans were filing out of Lake Howell's Richard L. Evans Field while the Silver Hawks celebrated and the Rams stared at a scoreboard that showed a 23-10 Lake Mary deficit.

Lake Mary had just turned the ball over on downs and Lake Howell needed only to run out the clock to secure a win in the 5A-District 4 football contest.

Over the next three minutes, as fans raced back to their seats, Lake Mary pulled off a stunning comeback, only to be stunned itself as Lake Howell pulled out a 31-30 overtime victory.

The win was sweet revenge for Lake Howell, which lost to Lake Mary 19-18 last year when Donnie Casey returned a fumble for a game-winning touchdown in the final minutes last year.

"I guess things always seem to even out," Lake Mary coach Doug Peters said as his devastated team left the field.

Lake Howell (5-0 overall) improves to 2-0 in the district and 3-0 in the Seminole Athletic Conference. Lake Mary, which saw a three-game winning streak snapped, fell to 4-2 overall but 1-2 in both the district and conference.

Things took a turn for the strange

Friday when, after Lake Mary gave up the ball with just over three minutes left, a bad Lake Howell snap was recovered by the Rams at the Silver Hawk 18.

After three rushes carried the ball to the 1-yard line, quarterback Shaun St. Dennis scored on a keeper to make it 23-18. A fumbled snap on the extra point left the Rams down by seven.

Lake Mary then attempted and recovered an onside kick. Three plays later, facing a fourth-and-1, Robbie Randall rambled 13 yards for a first down. He carried twice more before St. Dennis hit tight end Nick Bailey over the middle for the touchdown. Kris Kessler nailed the extra point and, improbably, the game was tied at 23.

Lake Howell killed the remaining minute and the game went to overtime, where each team gets four plays from the 10-yard line. Once a team completes its series, the other one gets a chance to equal or better the score.

Lake Mary went first and scored as Drew Young, Central Florida's leading rusher in yardage, took a pitch from St. Dennis and tossed to a wide-open Shane Burke in the end zone. Kessler made it 30-23, Lake Mary.

Now it was Lake Howell's turn to go for a comeback. Trailing for the first time all night, Lucious Cooper (who ran for a season-low 88 yards) moved the Pagan, Almon spark Pats in 2nd 'opener'

By TONY BOGNER
Herald correspondent

LONGWOOD — It may be October, but as far as the Lake Brantley High School football team is concerned, the varsity football season is just beginning.

On Friday night, the Patriots won their "season opener," hanging on to beat the Lyman Greyhounds 20-13 in a 5A-District 4 and Seminole Athletic Conference game at Lyman's Carlton Henley Athletic Complex.

The win, which improved the Patriots overall record to 2-2, 1-1 in the district, and 2-1 in the SAC, marked the return of Coach Fred Almon to the sidelines following a heart attack and subsequent quintuple bypass surgery last month.

While Almon did little more than spectate Friday, his presence was an inspiration to the Lake Brantley squad.

"Having Coach Almon here was a real inspiration for us," said Lake Brantley junior fullback Ryan Pagan, who rushed for two touchdowns and a game-high 106 yards. "We love that man. We did it for him tonight."

And, in the process, kept their hopes alive for a berth in the state playoffs.

"This was an extremely important game," said Pagan. "Our second season starts tonight. We just want to build on this, to keep improving each week, and make it to the state playoffs."

The Greyhounds very nearly ruined an otherwise storybook

The teams traded field goals in the second quarter. Kessler knocking through a 27-yarder and Victor Nespeca converting a 34-yard attempt for Lake Howell as the half ended with the Silver Hawks ahead, 10-3.
That advantage mushroomed quickly to 23-3 in the third quarter as Lake Howell scored twice in two minutes. Cooper rushing 13 yards for one score and Mara tossing a 15-yard pass to Parent for other Silver Hawks recovered another Ram fumble.
Randall cut into the deficit for Lake Mary, going 80 yards untouched for a touchdown later in the third quarter to cut the gap to 23-10.

The Lake Mary offense, which has relied heavily on Young (57 yards on 22 carries) all season, resorted to the pass. St. Dennis was 10-of-15 for 150 yards passing.
"Lake Howell has a great football team but we proved we have one too," Peters said. "I just don't want a loss like this to ruin what has been a good season."
Next up for Lake Howell is a trip to Deland next Friday. The Rams don't play again until Oct. 25, when they host the Edgewater Eagles.

What's Up in the NFL 1996...Week No. 7

Well folks, it's hard to believe, but here we are in Week No. 7. A great sadness begins to set in as I realize that this season, as with all others, will some day come to an end. As promised, the level of competition is at an all-time high with only the Bucs, Cardinals, Falcons and Jets qualifying as horrible.

Last week's action was dominated by Buffalo's surprise win over the Colts. With a backup quarterback and a vicious defense, the boys in blue pulled off an upset that will be extremely important in deciding the AFC East winner.

As expected, the Carolina Panthers have come back to earth as they dropped their second consecutive game against the Vikings.

The Denver Broncos, who, I'll admit, are beginning to worry me, have continued to roll over opponents. Granted, they have gained most of their success against hapless teams, but as Lou Holtz says to any during my short career at Notre Dame, "A win's a win."

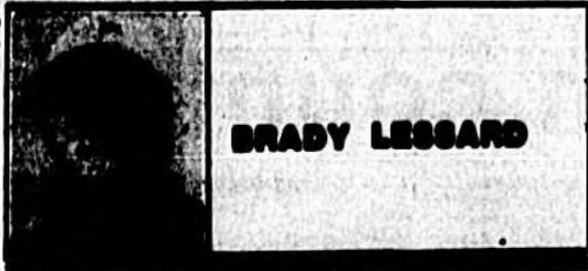

Let's talk about the Dolphins. Once again, the Miami fans have had to endure another loss without Dan Marino. The curse continues to haunt the team and no relief is in sight. I told you last week that if Craig Erickson started this game, the Dolphins would lose. We're talking about a quarterback that lost his job to Trent Diller.

Seattle came into town seeking an upset and left very satisfied. I, along with many Dolphin fans I'm sure, was stunned to see that last touchdown. Bennie Blades is off to the races, and they're not going to catch him today.

The Dolphins desperately need a win this week and have to travel to Buffalo to get it. Jim Kelly will return for this one, and unless Bernie Kosar gets the start, this game won't even be close.

Let's take a look at today's schedule and find some winners.

MINNESOTA (-) @ TAMPA BAY
The poor Bucs get back some injured players.

BRADY LESSARD

but it wasn't stop the bleeding this week. This team has really disappointed fans, players, and coaches. Things won't get any better as Warren Moon and the Vikings roll to victory in a surprisingly close game. Vikings 19, Bucs 10.

BUFFALO (-) vs. MIAMI
The Bills are convinced that they can make a run for another Super Bowl. The Marino-less Dolphins need a win to stop the slide backwards, but don't have the offense this week. Kosar will replace the worthless Erickson, but it's too late. Bills 27, Dolphins 12.

JACKSONVILLE (-) vs. NEW YORK
The Jets continue to look for their first win against an aggressive Jaguar squad. Still, the Jags have no business giving this many points to any team. The Jags win, but I win my bet that the Jets will cover. Jaguars 24, Jets 17.

BALLAS (-) vs. ARIZONA
I couldn't care less about this game. The Cardinals are horrible, and the Cowgirls are squandering a wealth of talent. Michael Irvin is an ignorant, worthless, bum. Cowboys 31, Cardinals 18.

NEW ORLEANS (-) vs. CHICAGO
The Bears have been brutalized by injuries, and the Saints have finally won a game. This one will be a comedy of errors with Chicago getting the win. This game is all coaching, and Jim Mora loses badly. Bears 17, Saints 14.

PITTSBURGH (-) vs. CINCINNATI
Bill Cowher obviously said something to his team to steal a win at Arrowhead Stadium. This team is playing way above their heads in an effort to earn another ticket to the Super Bowl. I think they have the potential to do some damage in the playoffs, but not much more than that. As for this game, I'll take the Bengals and the points. Steelers 27, Bengals 24.

ATLANTA (-) vs. HOUSTON
I'm sorry folks but even a dunce can figure this one out. The Falcons are in total disarray, looking for a new coach and quarterback. The Oilers, however, are thinking wild card and need a win today to get there. I predict a bunch of empty seats in Atlanta. Oilers 28, Falcons 14.

CAROLINA (-) vs. ST. LOUIS
The Panthers have suffered a reality check, but they are still a better team than the Rams. Carolina is tough at home (just ask San Francisco) and should have no trouble covering this spread. Panthers 28, Rams 19.

NEW ENGLAND (-) vs. WASHINGTON
This will be an exciting game between two young teams determined to reverse their fortunes. Both teams have made progress in laying the foundation for a good season, but one team has to lose today. Bledsoe is trying to jumpstart his career, so watch for an aerial assault. Patriots 27, Redskins 24.

OAKLAND (-) vs. DETROIT
This is a great betting opportunity. The Raiders are trying to bounce back now that they Hostetler back while Detroit can't afford to lose with their tough division. Barry Sanders is due for a huge game and against the Raiders defense, the holes will be there. Hostetler will throw three interceptions and be booed by the gangsta fans. Lions 28, Raiders 17.

PHILADELPHIA (-) @ NEW YORK
The lowly Giants will try their best to stop Ricky Watters and company. They will get help with this since Peete won't be there to spread the defense. To bet this game, I'd have to see the Eagles giving up more than a field goal. If the line moves up to five points or better, snatch this one up. Giants 18, Eagles 10.

INDIANAPOLIS (-) vs. BALTIMORE
Lately, the only game I've allowed me to watch has been the Sunday Night game so I won't miss this one. I like the Ravens new name, but that's about it. The Colts are furious about the loss to Buffalo and plan to take it out on the Ravens in the R.C.A. Dome. I spoke to Jim Harbaugh this week and he told me that the beating he took from the Bills last week was the worst he's suffered since high school. Look for revenge in this one. Colts 40, Ravens 17.

GREEN BAY (-) vs. SAN FRANCISCO
I wouldn't bet this one for the world. What a thrill it is to watch Brett Favre play the game! Monday night is expected to be a scoring fest, but the Packers won't be alone on the scoreboard. In my upset special of the week, the Niners steal this one. Niners 28, Packers 17.

Each week, I issue what I consider to be the best pick against the spread on the schedule. This is the game that after research and contemplation, I feel most confident about releasing as my LOCK OF THE WEEK. I've had pampers, cribs and burping on my mind lately, so I haven't been producing up to my usual standards.

This week, Houston (+1) against Atlanta will change everything. The Oilers will start my Christmas Club account with an old fashion thrashing of the Falcons. Bet the house on this one. Worst case scenario, you have to buy another.

Gymnasts shine at Gemini

CLEARWATER - Brown's Central gymnasts collected 18 gold medals last weekend at the Gemini Cup Invitational Meet.

A gold medal in the All-Around competition was won by Level 5 gymnast Sarah Keescher with a score of 37.85. Gold medals on vault went to Valerie Ryzerson (3.80), Krystin Conley (3.18), Brooke Norman (3.55) and Cierra Sells (3.48). Lindsey Krupp, Megan Morrell and Ashley Parr won balance beam gold.

Level 4 gymnasts Leighton Brown and Daniella Goldenberg took gold medals in the uneven bars competition. Kathryn Kelly also took first on bars in her age group with a score of 9.50. In the floor event, five gymnasts earned gold in their respective age divisions: Stephanie Weesler (9.40), Monica Decker (9.18), Daniella Goldenberg (9.18), Christina Lopez (9.08) and Ashley Parr (9.48).

Brown's Central also collected 13 silver medals, including six in All-Around. The all-around silver medalists were Kathryn Kelly (33.80), Taylor Ford (33.50), Lindsey Krupp (33.45), Cierra Sells (37.00), Megan Morrell (33.00) and Ashley Parr (33.00).

Pam Gray (3.30), Jenna Monthawell (3.10) and Nicole Decker (3.10) won silver on the vault. Cierra Sells scored a 9.48 to claim silver on the uneven bars, while Sarah Keescher (9.40) and Daniella Goldenberg (9.30) won silver on the beam and Megan Morrell (9.40) took the lone silver in the floor competition.

Bronze medals were awarded to 13 gymnasts with Allison Abanada (Level 6) and Brooke Norman (Level 5) capturing third place in all-around. Abanada scored 36.35, while Norman tallied 37.00.

Daniella Goldenberg (Level 4) was third on vault with a score of 9.00. Bronze medals on the bars went to Taylor Ford (9.40), Megan Morrell (9.30) and Stephanie Piobelaman (9.00). Third place finishes on the balance beam were earned by Morgan Rutherford and Cierra Sells. Getting bronze in the floor exercise were Jill Cody (9.40), Brooke Norman (9.50), Taylor Ford (9.35) and Stephanie Piobelaman (9.00).

Other notable performances were turned in by Morgan Rutherford (33.55) and Jill Cody (33.98) with a fourth-place finish in all-around; Ashley French (9.50) and Laurel Wuchner (9.30), fifth place on balance beam; Jordan Ferne (9.55), fourth on uneven bars; and Kay Hood, fourth place finish on both vault and uneven bars.

The Level 4, 5 and 6 Teams with travel to Winter Haven for the annual qualifying meet tomorrow and Sunday. The gymnasts will compete locally during the weekend of November 16-17 when they come to Sanford for the 12th Annual Orlando Invitational at Seminole High School.

Frat House takes Thursday lead

From Staff Reports

SANFORD - There is a new face at the top of the standings in the Sanford Recreation's Fall Men's Thursday Night Slowpitch Softball League.

Newcomer Frat House scored 10 runs in the bottom of the first inning and went on to double the score on Franklin Ball Bonds, the defending Spring champions, 18-9.

In the other games, Ken Rummel Chevrolet moved into a tie for second place with a 12-3 triumph over the Hitmen and McConnell Towing received a 7-0 forfeit victory from Cactus Bob's.

Frat House tops the league at 3-0, while Franklin Ball Bonds and Ken Rummel Chevrolet are both 2-1. Following the lead trio are McConnell Towing and Cactus Bob's (both 1-2) and Hit Men (0-3).

Next week at Chase Park, Cactus Bob's tackles Franklin Ball Bonds at 6:30 p.m.; Frat House battles Ken Rummel Chevrolet at 7:30 p.m.; and Hit Men takes on McConnell Towing at 8:30 p.m.

Providing the offense were:

Frat House: three hits - Derek Watson (two doubles, four runs, two RBI), Aaron Johns (double, two runs, four RBI), two hits - Jim Schaeffer, Tommy Peters (one run each); one hit - Greg Henaley (two runs, two RBI), Keith Acree.

Franklin Ball Bonds: 6-10 200 6 - 9 14
Frat House: 10-140 120 8 - 10 14

Ken Rummel Chevrolet: 2-2 200 0 - 12 14
Hit Men: 0-3 200 0 - 2 14

Mike Frasier (one run and one RBI each), Alan Peterson (two runs); two runs - Carl Lee; one run - Red Garner; one RBI - Tony Johns.

Franklin Ball Bonds: three hits - Robert Stevens (double, three runs, two RBI); two hits - Kethian Roberts (triple, two runs, RBI), Calvin Davis (double), Dean Deboos (run), Willie McCoud, Steve Dennis (one RBI each); one hit - Wayne Walker (run, RBI), Greg Hardy (two RBI), Raymond Hartefeld (run); one run - Frank Turner.

Smith hit Sheddrick Williams with a pass over the middle that look like a sure first down. But a Seminole defender separated Williams from the ball, which bounced into the hands of the Tribe's Rod Hudson for an interception at the St. Cloud 23 with 2:40 left to play.

On first down, Seminole quarterback Shawn Eason hit Erik Smith on a slant for 14 yards. Fullback Joe Knight followed by hawking over several Bulldog defenders for an eight-yard touchdown run to put the Tribe ahead 12-10 with 2:04 left. Sabronna Sepp added the extra point.

St. Cloud could do nothing with the ball when it got it back as the Seminole defense pushed the Bulldogs backwards and took over on the 80 before rinning the clock out.

"This was a big win," said McPherson. "If we had lost tonight, our season would have just about been over. But now we have a shot at the playoffs. I felt like we were ready to turn the corner tonight and our offense really came together in the last six minutes. The defense also got a big turnover and we took it right in for the touchdown.

"I have to give St. Cloud a lot of credit. They have a scrappy little ball club. I have a lot of respect for them and their coach told me after the game that if we had to lose, I would rather lose to you than anyone else."

The Bulldogs had taken a 3-0 lead with 0:38 left in the first quarter on a 46-yard field goal from Robbie Keels. The score was set up by Seminole fumble.

Neither team came close to scoring again until late in the third period, when the Tribe missed a field goal try from 36 yards with 5:59 left in the quarter.

St. Cloud finally got its offense going on the first series of the fourth quarter as Kubler capped an 88-yard, eight-play drive with a 3-yard TD scamper. Keels added the extra point to make the score 10-0.

'Catch and release' more popular

More and more anglers are releasing the fish they catch. For some species, or during specific seasons, this may be mandatory. But catch and release makes sense in nearly all situations, and it may be the single most important factor in preserving Florida's fisheries.

To reduce injury to the fish, use a barbless hook. Some stores sell these, but you can make your own by pinching the barb down on a standard hook or filing it off.

Fish that swallow the hook are more difficult to successfully release. To help prevent swallowed hooks, set the hook quickly when the fish bites. If the hook was swallowed, it will be easier to remove if it is barbless. Carry a dehooking device in your tackle box.

As a last resort, if the hook is hopelessly stuck, cut the line and leave the hook in the fish. This may not save the fish, but it gives it a fighting chance. Get the hook out if you can.

Play a caught fish quickly - don't let it fight to exhaustion. Once you get the fish to the boat or the shore, leave it in the water. If you must handle the fish, use a gloved hand or a wet towel to grab the fish. Avoid a landing net if possible. Keep your fingers off the fish's gills and eyes. Remove the hook and get the fish back in the water as quick as possible. If you want a picture, have the camera ready ahead of time.

To release the fish, place it carefully in the water. Don't toss it back in with a splash. Hold the fish from underneath and gently by the tail. Wait for the fish to swim away from you. If the fish can't swim normally, wait for it to recover. If the fish is weak or lethargic, gently resuscitate it by slowly moving it back and forth in the water to force water through its gills. Some anglers that I know have spent a half an hour or more helping a big snook or tarpon recover. Every one of them says that it was time well spent.

Offshore anglers that bring fish up from deep water may have to contend with distended air bladders. Fish have these organs to control their buoyancy under water. When an angler brings a fish to the surface too fast, the bladder distends and bloats the fish. Before releasing a fish with an expanded air bladder, use a pin, sharp hook, or for very large fish, an ice pick and puncture the air bladder. If you don't do this, the fish will be unable to return to the deep water it came from and it will most likely die.

boat so that trophy fish can be photographed, then released. The photo gives you evidence for bragging rights and releasing the fish to fight again will give you an inner satisfaction that is hard to describe.

FISHING FORECAST
Bass action is getting better by the day. Local lakes and the river are both improving as waters cool and fish become more active. Shiners will be hard to beat through March for bass over the eight pound mark. Fish shiners near heavy cover in 3-6 feet of water for fast action. Trolling large shiners with an electric motor over submerged weed beds or along emergent reeds is a particularly deadly tactic.

Sebastian Inlet is featuring good snook action. Mullet are mauling for their fall migration, and gamefish are cashing in on this annual bonanza. Snapper, flounder, small bluefish and jack crevalle are mixed in with snook.

'Miss Lucy' retires from county at age 80

As incredible as it may seem, Lucy Fore is now among the ranks of the retired. The vivacious octogenarian bid farewell to all her friends and co-corkers at the Seminole County Services Building on Sept. 30. At age 80, "Miss Lucy," as she is fondly called, spent 34 years of service with the county.

Lucy was honored at a retirement party on Saturday, Oct. 5, at the Rose Cottage Tea Room when 23 friends and relatives showed up for the big event. "It was wonderful. It couldn't have been nicer," Lucy extolled.

Hostesses Nancy McMillan and Jane Parks presented the honoree with a corsage and she received a variety of individual gifts from all others.

Lucy is a native Floridian who was born Oct. 16, 1916 to a cattle-raising family "half-way between Bushnell and Beville's Corner" in Sumter County. She moved to Seminole County from Marion in 1949 with her husband, Herman, to pursue their dream in the citrus and ranching industry.

Previously, Lucy worked at Winn-Dixie in Ocala and transferred to Winn-Dixie on Third Street where she was employed for 17½ years, eventually working herself up to head cashier.

In the early 1950s, the family planted orange groves in Chuluota and did very well until the big freeze in the 1980s wiped them out. It was a very depressing time for the family, Lucy said. But she was well-established in the job from which she is now retired.

In 1962 Lucy joined the Seminole County School system in the food department and the lunch room and volunteered as a teacher's aid for three years. About this time, she learned at a Seminole County Commission meeting that funds had been allocated for a part-time position in the office of Mary Earle Walker, county appraiser. She applied for the position and was hired jointly by Mrs. Walker and Troy Ray Jr., county tax collector. In 1966, Lucy was placed on staff in the property appraiser's office where she remained until her retirement. She ended her service with her employer and friend for many years, Bill Suber.

Lucy's son-in-law, Ed Yarborough, served as a Seminole County Commissioner. Her four daughters are: Imogene Yarborough, Geneva; Loretta Arnold, Virginia; Lorraine "Tootsie" Yarborough, Sanford; and the late Nadine McKnight who died 11 years ago in Tampa. Although Lucy never had any sons, she has five grandsons and five granddaughters along with eight great grandchildren whom she plans to genuinely spoil in her retirement years.

"I lost my Nadine eleven years ago," Lucy said. "And it nearly killed me. She was brilliant and left four teen-agers. But I worked through all this."

Lucy has served as treasurer of the Sanford-Orlando Yacht Club for 11 years. She is an active member of the Florida Farm Bureau Association, the Florida Cattleman's Association and donates her time and expertise to the Florida CowBells Association.

her dear friends. She enjoys world travel and has been to Europe several times. Lucy also enjoys making exquisite holiday crafts. She decorates every room in her home during the holiday season and invites friends in. Two years ago she hosted a "turkey soup" luncheon for 150 guests which one guest described as "the last word."

Lucy is an articulate red-head who takes pride in all her undertakings. Has she ever felt that she was discriminated against at work because of her age? "Absolutely not!" she firmly stated. "Honestly I was very loyal. They knew I was dependable."

According to Terry Goebel, administrative director of the appraiser's office, "It was commendable that she (Lucy) could continue to work for so long. It's outstanding, really. She did a good job."

Seemingly, without a care in the world, Lucy said, "I plan to do more house work, more yard work, go more and do my crafts."

Lucy added, "You know, we all have problems at one time or another, but we have our blessings too."

And as Lucy takes her daily stroll, she pauses to savor her surroundings, maybe smell the fragrant flowers and surely count her abundance of blessings.

Kiwanis installs, presents awards

The Kiwanis Club of Sanford held its annual new officer's installation banquet at Heathrow Country Club. Rev. David A. Liddell, pastor of Grace United Methodist Church in Lake Mary, was installed as incoming president for 1996-1997 by Lt. Gov. Allen McCormick, Florida Division 10.

Other officers who began their club duties Oct. 1, are: President elect Al Rosin and vice president Walt Padgett. Re-elected officers: secretary Don Coleman, treasurer Harold Hartsock and financial secretary Steve Hartsock.

Newly installed club directors for 1996-1997 are: Ron Bishop, Ruby Blake, Harvey Hale, Al Myers, Phil Roche, Don Stanford and Vivian Wheeler.

Outgoing club president Harry G. Reid III, local attorney, served as master of ceremonies for the entertaining evening enjoyed by the Sanford Kiwanians and their spouses. He also received a plaque from club members for his past year's service as club president.

Don Stanford, committee chairman of Young Children Priority #1 and Camp Challenge, was voted 1995-1996 Kiwanian of the Year by club members. Past Lt. Gov. Bill Fraasa, on behalf of club members, presented Don's plaque.

Several club members were awarded A.I.M. pins for their 100 percent club attendance, inter-class activities, and

Collector passes the salt and pepper

By SUSAN WENNER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Need a little seasoning with your meal? Catherine Rought's hobby of collecting salt and pepper shakers has just what you need.

Although her sets are empty she saves her more than 1,000 treasures as mementoes from vacations and sentimental memories. Some have been gifts from family and friends traveling throughout the country and overseas.

Rought, a 12-year Sanfordite, began collecting over 30 years ago. She still houses some 500 of the sets in a workroom connected to her home. The other 500 grubs have a safe storage in the cellar of one of her daughters homes who resides in upstate New York.

Salt and pepper sets from as far away as Hawaii, Bermuda, New York, Greece, Pennsylvania, North and South Carolina and as near as Georgia line four shelves, nine feet long by 12. She admitted that nearly 15 states are represented in the collection.

Shakers of glass, wood, plastic and ceramic share a tad of dust and a lot of reminiscing of days gone by. Each has a wonderful story and a few have scars or chips to show for from moves across the vast country.

First in the collection was a gift from someone dear to Catherine Rought has more than 1,000 salt and pepper shakers in her collection.

Rought. "My mother gave me the first one I ever got," she said. "That one would also have to be one of my favorites. It's a grandma and grandpa salt and pepper shaker set."

She continued by saying, "I got another favorite from my son, Jamie. It's a tow cocker spaniel digs. He got them for me for Easter one year."

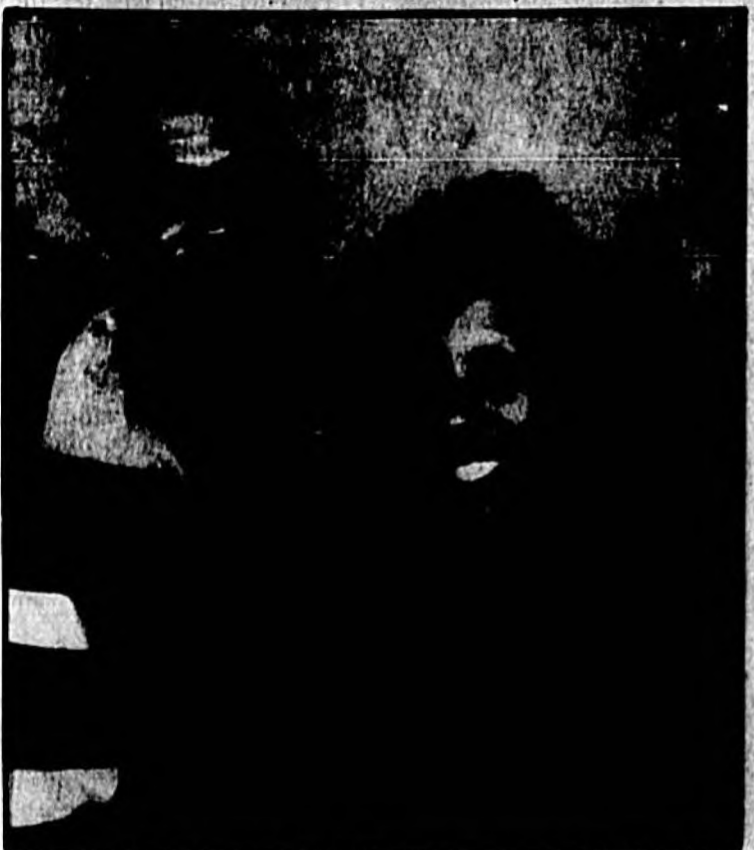

A set of praying hands and a wedding cake with ring added were also named as memorable sets. She did say that so many from her children have a special place in her heart.

A most recent addition includes a present from her daughter-in-law. "My daughter-in-law's mother is an antique dealer," said Rought. "She gave me a little Quaker boy and girl."

Noah may have only tipped a bit having more animals in his ark than Rought has animal salt and pepper shakers. Flamingos, pigs, dogs, squirrels, ducks, chipmunks, birds, a kangaroo with a baby in the pouch and "chickens and hens galore" tightly fill the shelves.

Felicia M.S. Grant and Durrell O'Keith Riggins

Grant-Riggins

SANFORD — Felicia Michale Strickland Grant and Durrell O'Keith Riggins, both of Sanford, are announcing their engagement today. They will be married on Nov. 3 at the Macedonia Missionary Baptist Church, Eatonville.

Born in Sanford, the bride-elect is the daughter of the late Mrs. Frances S. Jacobson. She is the maternal granddaughter of George and Loomis Pike, and the paternal granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Davis and Margaret Jackson, all of Sanford. A 1983 graduate of Seminole County Adult High school, the bride is employed as an outreach technician by the city of Sanford.

Her fiance, born in Los Angeles, is the son of Mrs. Ruthie Hester of Sanford and the late Mr. Joe Riggins. He is the maternal grandson of the late Rev. R.S. McCloud and Mrs. Annie Bell McCloud. His paternal grandparents are the late Mr. Joe and Mrs. Fannie R. Riggins. He graduated from Seminole High School in 1977 and Brown's Business School in 1982. He is employed as a plumber at Action Plumbing, Orlando, and coaches baseball and football for the city of Sanford.

Blades-Stevens

SANFORD — Guy and Charlotte Blades of Sanford, announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Charlotte Blades of Maitland, to James Perry Stevens, also of Maitland.

Born at San Diego, Calif., the bride-elect is a 1979 graduate of Seminole High School, Sanford, where she was a member of Seminole Sun Maidens and Keyettes and was treasurer of the senior class. At the University of Central Florida where she was graduated in 1983. Ms. Blades was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. She is employed as a legal assistant-paralegal in the Orlando Law Offices of Rumberger, Kirk and Caldwell.

Her fiance, born at San Bernardino, Calif., is the son of Perry and Jackie Stevens of San Antonio, Texas, and the late Mrs. Mary T. Stevens. He graduated from Heidelberg American High School, Heidelberg, Germany, in 1978, where he played football and participated in student government. Stevens is a 1984 graduate of University of Central Florida where he played football and was a member of the orientation team. He is employed as manager of Human Resources at Lockheed-Martin.

The wedding will be an event of Oct. 19, at First Congregational Church, Winter Park.

Scouts stage show for trip to Mexico, author gets nod

Lake Mary Cadette Troup 148 is planning a trip to Mexico in two years. One of the Girl Scout International Centers, Our Cabana, is there. This will be quite an expensive trip, so the scouts will be having several fundraisers between now and then. They held their first fundraiser on Saturday, Oct. 5, at Greenwood Middle School. The fundraiser was a talent show for Stardust, the Lake Mary Girl Scouts.

There was an impressive showing of talent from girls of all ages. Brownie Troop 458 sang "Tim the Toad", a story about unfortunate animals who try to cross the road. Troop 629 performed the macarena. Troop 1060 sang "One Small Voice". Junior Troop 1592 and Cadette Troop 148 joined together to sing "Out of My Tent Flap", a story about leaders losing their sanity on a camping trip.

Sisters Lindsay and Emily Lee sang their own Girl Scout version of "My Favorite Things." Lindsay also did a dance number with Lauren Flynn. Dressed as Jasmine, Lindsay Stuart sang a song from "Aladdin." Lauren Keene, Margery Shearer and Leisel Flandermeyer each played a selection on the piano. Heather Wolfe, Brittany and Amberly Bolton and Kristen Haydn sang the Amy Grant hit, "Baby."

Book store owner Cathy Fuller turns author and is seen here as Bell the Clown with Kandace Fuller and McGruff.

Other songs were performed by Meredith Hoyer, Melissa Kunkel and Joles Parrish.

There was a little stage fright a few times, but all the girls had a wonderful time. Plans are under way to make this an annual Cadette fundraiser.

Local book store owner turns author

Cathy Fuller, one of the owners of Little Wing Books in Lake Mary, works as Bell the clown on the side. She decided to write a story about her character for the children who visit the book store. Cathy wrote a story about Bell the clown as a child. Mary Ramsey, who works at the book store, illustrated the book for Cathy. In the story, Bell goes to the island of Toohamono in search of the Monotocha Bird. Children who visited the store while Bell was there were delighted with the story.

Little Wing is doing something else for kids, something that will benefit parents. They are hosting "manners" classes at Little Wing. The first class, which is for children under 10, starts Oct. 30 from 6-7 p.m., and lasts for six weeks. The cost is $45. For more information, call Joanne at 333-1764.

Teen helps 'Give Kids the World'

Mandy Liberatore has been helping "Give Kids the World" for six months. Mandy, a Seminole High School student, volunteers her time every Thursday and Sunday and on special occasions. She volunteers about 15 hours a week for "Give Kids the World". Occasionally, Mandy is unrecognizable in her role as helper. That's when she dons the mascot costume of Mayor Clayton.

The mission of Give Kids the World is to provide a memorable six day, all expense paid Central Florida vacation experience for children with life threatening illness and their families. Give Kids the World serves qualified children from around the world whose last wish is to see Mickey Mouse and visit Walt Disney World. The children and their families also get to visit other attractions in the area. Give Kids the World has hosted more than 25,000 families from all 50 states and forty other countries.

Mayor Clayton is the mayor of Give Kids the World. And it is the work of all the volunteers like Mandy who make the program work.

Mandy and other volunteers will be helping out at The Great Benefit Sale. The sale will be held at Gayfers in the Fashion Square Mall, Altamonte Springs Mall, Florida Mall and the new West Oaks Mall. Tickets are $5 each and all the proceeds go to Give Kids the World. The sale will be from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. on Saturday, Nov. 5. The ticket price includes continental breakfast from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. and some deeply discounted prices just for this sale. For more information, call Maureen Liberatore at 330-6976 or stop by any Gayfers.

Fraternity brothers take duties seriously

DEAR ABBY: When our beloved son, Joel, was killed in a one-car accident in October 1988, my husband and I were adopted by his college fraternity. These boys have surrounded us and enveloped us with love. It began at the funeral, when they all wore black armbands and openly showed their grief. An elderly friend said, "All we ever hear about are the others. If these are the youth of our country, then America is safe."

Joel's fraternity brothers initiated my husband, Patrick, into the fraternity and made me the chapter's first "Sweetheart of Sigma Pi." We are the only parents invited to present the Joel Patrick Sahli Award, named after our son. We receive Mother's Day and Father's Day cards, and phone calls, notes and postcards from European graduation trips. We are invited to their weddings, and they never pass through our area without visiting.

We would, of course, wish for our son back in a heartbeat. But we feel his presence through his brothers, who each carry him in their hearts. Loyola Marymount University's Sigma Pi are the epitome of kindness and love — they are the BEST!

RONALINDA SAHLI, GABRIEL BY THE SEA, CALIF.

DEAR MRS. SAHLI: Thank you for your uplifting letter. I was delighted that so many readers responded to the suggestion that they write about the acts of kindness they had received. Since good news often cuts the cruellest tragedies we read about daily, I'm gratified to be able to print some of these heartwarming stories. Good one.

in Jackson, Miss., over two hours ago. As we turned back to try to find it, we doubted we could — but hoped to avoid the complications of losing credit cards, etc.

When I got to the gas station, the employee informed me that a customer had found the billfold, turned it in, and that it had been held for me and I would have received a phone call about it that night, had I not returned.

JOLEEN LEWIS, SHAWNEE, OKLA.

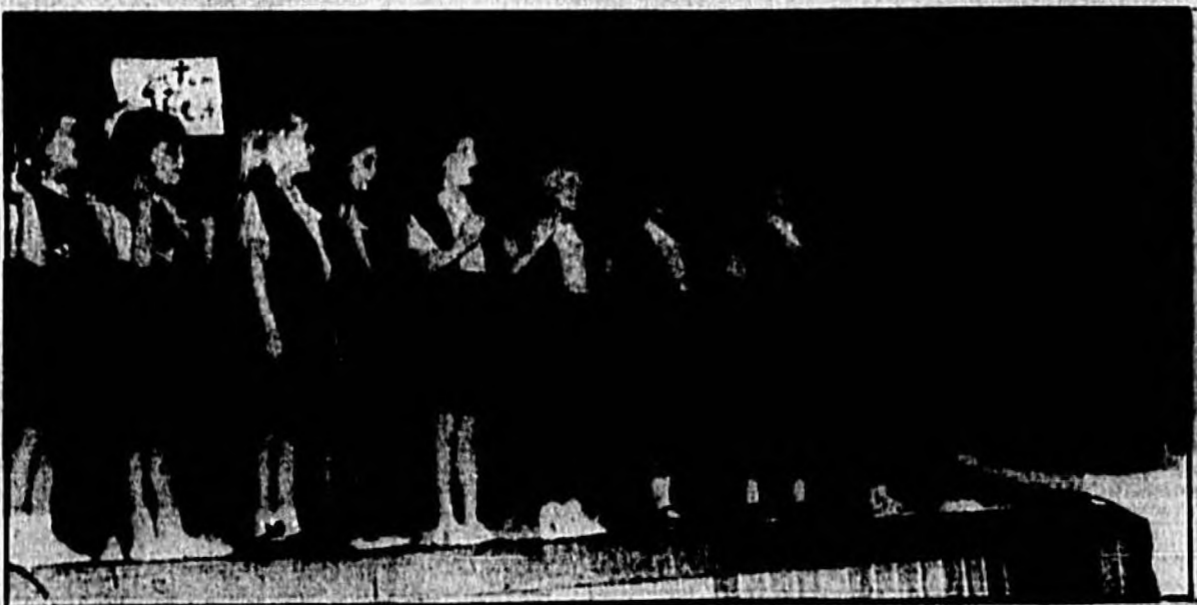

DEAR ABBY: I was on my way to San Antonio, Texas, when my car had a blowout. A darling lady stopped to help me change the tire. The mechanic had put the lug nuts on my tire crooked, and had tightened them with an impact wrench — so one lug stud was completely broken off, and the threads on another had been stripped. Not only did she help change the tire, she also followed me back to the nearest gas station, which was 20 miles from where the blowout occurred. Because of the damaged wheel, the trip back at 60 miles per hour took a lot longer than it would have at normal speed. She remained with me until I could locate a service station to help me with the wheel.

Thank you, very nice people stop to help others in just one emergency. However, that made an difference to this generous lady. She is truly one of God's angels here on earth.

Gymnastics classes expand for area students

By SUSAN WENNER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD -- Broadway Gymnastics will begin teaching locally at Sanford Gymnastics Association Building, 601 E. 25th Place. Jeannette Stiffey, operator of Sanford Gymnastics, plans a few new coats of paint and a bit of sprucing up to get ready for the new instructors.

The non-profit organization was formed almost 20 years ago to make gymnastics available and affordable to area students. The nominal fees charged go toward coaches' pay and overhead.

Continuous sessions will be offered in eight week increments beginning on Monday, October 28. All levels of classes, such as beginning, intermediate and advanced, will be available.

Additional assistance will be offered enable students prepare for competitions. Cheerleading and taekwon do programs will also be available.

Annual registration will be $25 and the cost of gymnastics classes will be $60 for each eight week session. The taekwon do classes will be $10 per month and meet on a weekly basis (Wednesday or Thursday).

Registration will be held on Saturday, October 19 and Saturday, October 26 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Both facilities encourage all interested parties to "come by and meet the coaches, see a gymnastics and taekwon do demonstration and meet Olympic Gold Medalist, Scott Johnson."

Tom Lenzini and his daughter, Stephanie Savas, operate Broadway Gymnastics. The father and daughter team have successfully run their business and look forward to the cooperative effort.

Savas said, "Initially we'll begin with one instructor. We will offer preschool classes as well as in the morning hours. We hope to start the classes from 3:30 to 7:30 in the evening. We'll try to run a variety of different classes at a variety of different times to meet the needs of the people."

Stiffey said, "The class schedule will be determined by enrollment. We hope to have more cheerleading classes. We want to improve the boys program too."

She continued by saying, "We are targeting the elementary, middle and high schools. Our taekwon do classes will continue to be taught by Barry Green on Wednesdays and Thursdays from 7 to 8:30 p.m."

She emphasized, "We want gymnastics in Sanford. Broadway will be supplying the instructors for Sanford Gymnastics. We really look forward to offering these programs."

Lenzini, co-owner of Broadway also said, "I think it's a great idea. It's a good community project and it will be a good quality program in Sanford. A lot of children want to take gymnastics classes. The basics are already set up."

A floor specifically designed for gymnastics, uneven bars, vault and trampoline all wait for the eager children. Stiffey, Lenzini and Savas all agree that the time is right for the city to get up and get moving.

Scott Johnson was a gold medalist in 1984 at the Los Angeles games. He was captain of the U.S. gymnastics team in 1988.

The trio also hope to convince Brandy Johnson to make an appearance during registration. She received the honor of the highest woman finisher of the U. S. in the 1988 Olympics and was once the national champion.

For more information or registration questions call Broadway Gymnastics at 323-2462 or 322-8234.

Young pirates swarm school in hands-on lesson in colors, shapes

By MARY ROWELL
Herald Columnist

In a daring daylight escapade, pirates swarmed all over Holy Cross Lutheran Preschool on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 3 and 4. The not-so-blood thirsty lot were looking for treasure. Using their treasure map, they followed the clues that led them to the place where X marked the spot. Pieces of gold lay scattered on the ground near the X. The pirates scooped all of it up and put it in their treasure bags. Then the pirates sang their pirate song.

It was quite a thrilling adventure for the 4-year-old class and the kindergarten. The pirate costumes, the treasure map and the pieces of gold all went along with their unit on colors and shapes. There were red bandannas, black eye patches and blue treasure boxes. The pirates learned the difference between silver swords and pieces of gold. For safety reasons no real swords were used. For monetary reasons the pieces of gold were actually small pebbles spray painted gold.

Clear Birthday
Sunday, Oct. 18, 1988

Do not be afraid to elevate your expectations in the year ahead. You will be in a high-achievement cycle, and even if you fall short of your mark, you'll still be a big success.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Two major trends will operate in your favor over the next few days. They could help you to overcome or eradicate a loss you experienced recently. Libra, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 and $35 to Astro-Graph, c/o the newspaper, P.O. Box 1788, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10188. Make sure to state your birth date.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Associates will advise your leadership abilities today. If someone has to take charge, you will be pushed to the front of the line.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The odds will be in your favor today, especially in regard to your finances. You can increase the probability of a current project.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Something you've hoped to achieve might be possible today. However, you will have to monitor this situation constantly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) If you're willing to share your dreams with others, your expectations can be fulfilled today. You will gain more if you give to others.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Today if you're promising something in which you believe, make your presentation to the person who has the most clout.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You will be in a favorable cycle for generating income from unusual sources. Start to explore areas you've failed to check previously.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If your love life is slow right now, don't despair. Cupid will have something special in store for you. Take advantage of every new opportunity.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) In this cycle, you will have the ability to finish what you start, especially if the endeavor is large and meaningful.

CANCER (June 21-July 20) Your enthusiasm and zeal for life will have an uplifting effect on your companions today. Other people might feel glum, but your hands will not.

LEO (July 21-Aug. 22) Everything will work out for the best today, even though early indicators might not confirm this. Your friends will also share in your good luck.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If possible today, take a short trip to a place you enjoy, even if it's just overnight. A change of scenery could provide the medicine you need.

The article of the year

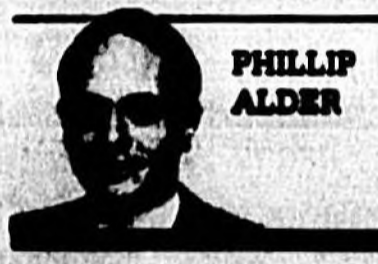

By Phillip Alder

The Bois Joueur company sponsors an annual competition through the International Bridge Press Association. All I.B.P.A. members were invited to submit articles, the best nine being selected by a jury. Then, every member except the chosen nine was asked to vote for his or her favorite.

The comfortable winner this year was Bernard Marcoux. He described this deal, which was declared by Canadian international Fred Gitelman.

Against four hearts, West led the club ace, playing ace from ace-king. Then he switched to the spade queen, which held, and a spade to East's king and South's ace. Gitelman cashed his heart ace, played a heart to dummy's queen, ruffed a club in hand and drew the last trump, throwing a spade from the dummy.

Declarer needed to avoid a diamond loser. But West, who passed as dealer, had already shown up with 10 points

(the queen-jack of spades and ace-king of clubs). So, East was marked with the diamond queen.

Backing his judgment, Gitelman led the diamond eight to dummy's king and cashed the ace, both dropping East's queen and unblocking his 10. Back to hand with a club ruff, declarer led the diamond two to dummy's seven and cashed the diamond jack, discarding his spade loser. Gitelman hadn't just made his ambitious contract, he had brought home an overtrick!

I think this article won, though, more due to Marcoux's colorful prose than because of Gitelman's excellent card reading. Anyone who would like a copy just needs to send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
