Big Crowd Expected At Meeting On Track

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

An overflow crowd of Lake Mary citizens and residents from three developments in the surrounding area are expected to jam Lake Mary City Hall tonight, asking for a cooperative effort by city and county residents and city officials to stop location of a horse-racing track in the city.

"There has been some talk of their using buses to get here," said City Manager Phil Kilbes, adding he has been contacted by homeowners in the Markham Woods, Trilby Bend and Crossings developments outside the city limits.

A single item appears on the agenda for the "special called" council meeting at 7:30 p.m. — "Investigate status for proposed race track."

Meanwhile, Marc Robinson, a principal of the proposed Sunshine Park, a quarter-horse racing facility planned for construction in the Lake Emma Road area of Lake Mary, earlier this week asked if he could attend tonight's meeting. At that time, the meeting was scheduled to be a workshop on the proposed 1980-81 budget. Mayor Walter Sorenson said Robinson wished to be present to hear the budget discussion.

The workshop now is to take place following the special meeting.

The city council last week asked City Attorney Gary Massey to research and determine the city's responsibilities and rights concerning the proposed horse track in line with a state law passed during the 1980 session of the Legislature. Massey was asked specifically for an interpretation of a section of the law on pari-mutuel wagering establishments which exempts such establishments from the provisions of municipal ordinances, resolutions or regulations concerning capital improvements.

The city council last week unanimously objected to the location of the proposed track within the city.

Robinson has said that despite the law exempting his facility from building codes and other city regulations, he will take out a building permit with the city and allow city inspection and supervision of the track's construction. He added, however, that he will not seek a zoning change for the property.

Kilbes has said the location of the proposed track complex is currently under industrial.

Grocer Denies County Charges

By DIANE PETRYK
Herald Staff Writer

The owner of a Casselberry grocery who faces charges of selling misbranded food, food from unapproved sources and spoiled food says the allegations are untrue.

Eddie Roque, owner of Florida Discount Salvage, 133 S. Dixie Highway, Casselberry, was cited for flagrant health code violations by Seminole County sanitation agents, said Food Service Sanitarian John Cochrane.

"The charges were brought to the state attorney's office and Roque is scheduled to appear in court at 9 a.m. Friday. Cochrane and other food service and food outlet inspectors work under the aegis of Seminole County but are employees of the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services and must follow state health codes.

But state inspectors from the Department of Agriculture also inspect grocery stores.

Roque said the Department of Agriculture inspector said he was "doing OK."

"There were minor problems," Roque said, "but I'm doing the things they tell me to do."

Roque has been in the retail food service business for eight months, he said.

Cochrane said the complaint charges Roque offered for sale misbranded or adulterated food; food from sources not approved or considered satisfactory by health authorities; failed to provide adequate refrigerated space to accommodate the volume of business and sold tainted or spoiled food.

Roque said he does not sell misbranded or adulterated food, but the inspectors call it "if a label falls off."

"Everyone I'm buying from is an approved, big company with federal inspectors," he said.

Seminole County Sanitarian Supervisor M.J. Corbett said Roque was discovered to be selling dent and puffed out cans of food.

Roque said one of two puffed out cans may have been discovered in 20 or 30 cases, but said they are thrown out when found. He said such cans can be found at any grocery store occasionally.

"We don't sell anything like that," he said. "If we see it at the check out, we don't sell it and if a customer says something is no good, we refund the money."

Roque, who immigrated from Puerto Rico six years ago, said the county inspectors are "not too nice."

"They're just too snappy," he said. "They don't like me at all."

"They said the floor was dirty when we had just cleaned it," he said. "There was nothing on the floor."

He said the store got a new freezer almost two months ago and is attempting to comply with all regulations.

Charges against Roque stem from inspections made on May 20, May 21, June 9, June 16 and July 23, Cochrane said.

Corbett said inspections are always unannounced.

Roque said he is fairly certain he can convince the judge he is in compliance with regulations.

Cochrane said other grocery owners may be cited for similar violations. But Corbett said they will wait until the Roque case is decided. It will be a test case to determine enforceability of state health laws.

A crackdown on area groceries began in May when local health officials were able to use added staff for the purpose, where staff formerly were tied up inspecting restaurants.

Area grocers have charged they are now under a dual-inspection system — one inspection from the county under HRS and another under the state Department of Agriculture.

A similar situation existed in the restaurant industry, Cochrane said, but about a year ago the inspection by the state Division of Hotels and Restaurants, Department of Business Regulation was eliminated.

State Rep. Bobby Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs, is conducting an investigation to be selling dent and puffed out cans of food.

Roque said one of two puffed out cans may have been discovered in 20 or 30

Carey's Son Accused Of Car Theft

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The son of New York Gov. Hugh Carey and a companion have been charged with stealing a car last weekend.

Bryan Joseph Carey, 20, and Michael P. McCloskey, 20, of Haverford, Pa., both juniors at Georgetown University, were charged Tuesday with stealing a parked car with the keys in the ignition. A third suspect was being sought.

The owner of the car, Arthur L. Robertson, told police he parked his car briefly, went into a store and when he returned the car was gone.

Police said they spotted the car nearby and that three people ran from it as the officers approached. McCloskey was arrested at the scene and Carey was picked up Tuesday.

A spokesman for Gov. Carey issued a statement saying, "My son Bryan has informed me that he was involved with some other boys in an incident in Washington where he is a student at Georgetown University."

"His brother Michael, an attorney, is with him. As far as I know, there is no damage. It could amount to a violation of the law, but that has not been determined."

School Board Unanimously Approves $6.06 Tax Rate

The Seminole County School Board late Wednesday unanimously approved a school property tax levy of $6.06 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. Approval of the school's $88.1 million budget passed 4-0 with board member Roland Williams voting no.

During the budget hearings, some Seminole County residents complained their taxes were too high; others complained they were too low.

"Any increase in your tax bill is not due to any additional levies from the board of education," School Board Finance Director Roger Harris told those who thought their taxes were too high. He said $1.80 of the tax is required by state law and the rate is established in Tallahassee. Of the board's discretionary levy, he said the board is charging a "rolled back" rate of $1.07, the levy required to generate the same amount of money as last year.

An additional discretionary levy of up to $1 per $1,000 assessed valuation allowed by the Legislature this year was not implemented because it is required by state law, but Williams asked if Laver

Downtown-Project Foes Have 'Rights' To Roads

By DAVID M. HAZLER
Herald Staff Writer

The fate of the $27,049 downtown Sanford redevelopment project will not be determined for months, and might not be known until next year, said an attorney for 11 persons trying to block it.

Attorney A. Edwin Shinholser, representing the 11 people, said this morning's shopping district by placing a pedestrian mall along First Street and building a planters mall on Magnolia Avenue off First, blocking off that intersection.

The plan also calls for reducing the size of some of the intersections on First Street.

In the suit, Speer and the other plaintiffs claim the work will make for hazardous traffic conditions, and block off access to some of the stores by shoppers and delivery vehicles.

The city claims the plans do not increase the hazard of driving along First Street, and would improve the appearance of the area, serving all of the people who come to Sanford.

A final trial on the suit had originally been scheduled for Judge Robert McGregor for October, but McGregor removed himself from the case, giving it to Conkling, who is normally assigned to the Titusville courthouse.

A pre-trial date has not been set yet, Shinholser said.

"I just wonder where all will stop," Mrs. Telson said. "Does a policeman who stops someone have to speak a foreign language to make sure the person understands the laws of the land?"

Laver said there are signs in Miami stores that say "English is spoken here," but he added there is a bill in Congress to eliminate bilingual education.

"Bilingual guidelines have nothing to do with the original law providing for equal educational opportunities for children who don't speak English. It's some bureaucratic interpretation."

The national opinion toward bilingual education is negative. Congress is going to wipe out the bilingual program if people will write Sen. Stone and Lawton Chiles.

Laver said he will draft a letter in reply to Clements' letter and will present it to the board for approval.

"Why don't you let an attorney taxpayer write the letter?" a member of the audience shouted.

"I'm open to any suggestions," Laver replied. — DIANE PETRYK

Robbers Take $5, Tie Man To Chair At Lakefront Hotel

They demanded all his cash, and Gilmore turned over $5 to them, police say. The robbers tied Gilmore's hands behind his back with his belt, then left him in the bathroom of his room, they say.

Gilmore quickly managed to get free and call police.

Deputies say Steffan turned the gun and briefcase over to them following his arrest.
Steffan, also charged with grand theft, burglary, possession of controlled substances and paraphernalia, was found in the home by deputies after he had apparently been living there several days, they say.
Upon his arrest, he was taken to Seminole Memorial Hospital for treatment after telling deputies he had been injecting himself with a mixture of heroin and valium, and had just taken 50 valium tablets, deputies report.
Following treatment, Steffan was taken to the Seminole County Jail.

Vandals drove golf carts over the greens of Seminole Golf

Course in Longwood Tuesday night, doing an undetermined amount of damage, deputies say.
At least three carts were damaged, two had batteries stolen and one is still missing, deputies say.
Patti Bramley, owner of the golf course, said the damage to the carts came to $5,000.

COIN COLLECTION TAKEN
Thieves broke into a Sanford man's home early this week and removed close to $400 in cash, collectible coins and other items, police say.
James Thompson, 206 Hayes Drive, told police the break-in occurred between Sunday and Tuesday.
They pulled open a side window, entered the home and left with the items valued at $394, police say.

BATHROOM RANSACKED
Burglars broke into a Sanford home Tuesday and ransacked a bathroom, making off with more than $200 worth of towels, police say.
The thieves forced open a door at the home of Loren Howell, 510 Oak Ave., threw things around the bathroom, then left with the linen, police report.
ARRESTED FOR BREAK-IN
Longwood police arrested an 18-year-old man Tuesday and charged him with a burglary charge.

The 18-year-old man, Ray Fore, 409 E. Georgia, Longwood, was held at the jail in lieu of $2,500 bond on a charge of breaking into 660 Rosedale on Aug. 31.

RANSACKED
Burglars entered a home under construction in the Woodlands subdivision outside of Longwood and left with a television set, a stereo system, a microwave oven, and other items, police say.
The break-in occurred between Saturday and Tuesday, they report.
DOG ATTACK REPORTED
Deputies say they are investigating a early morning attack on a Golden Retriever by a man with a trained pit bull dog.
Joan Chase, 37, of Grand Avenue, was treated at Florida Hospital-Altamonte early Tuesday morning for bites and bruises suffered in the attack. Deputies say a man she knew came to her door at 1:50 a.m., intoxicated and holding a pit bull by a chain.
He told her he did not like her dog running free and said his dog only bothered people when he wanted it to, gave the dog a leash to attack her and turned it loose, deputies say. Chase said last week he had ordered his to attack her, causing it injuries which required a veterinarian's care. No arrests have been made in the incident.

Reagan Blames Carter For War

United Press International
The long shadow of international crisis obscured the American political picture today, leaving no clues as to how the Persian Gulf war in conflict will end or what impact it will have on the campaign.
Republican candidate Ronald Reagan had maintained a strict silence on the issue until mid-afternoon Wednesday, when he laid the blame for the fighting on President Carter's foreign policy.
Carter spent several hours consulting with his top international security advisers before emerging to read a brief statement to reporters, saying the Iran-Iraq fighting had created a "very dangerous situation" and warning all other nations to stay out of it.
About the same time, Reagan was in Tyler, Texas, telling television interviewers Carter should bear some responsibility for the war because the administration "helped in the fall of the shah" of Iran.
And he later issued a formal statement placing even more of the blame on Carter.
"What is happening in Iraq and Iran is the consequence of policies this administration has followed the past 3 1/2 years — a vacillating foreign policy and a weakened defense capability are largely to blame," he said.
Asked if he was laying the blame for the conflict on Carter, he said, "Well, it's his foreign policy."
White House press secretary Jody Powell responded: "We don't see anything to be gained by politicizing this crisis. But his attempt to blame the president for a war between Iraq and Iran is absurd."
Carter's statement said the United States "is in no way involved" in the conflict, and "charges to the contrary are obviously and patently false."
He said the fighting — which "represents a danger to the peace and stability of the region" — should be ended promptly and there must be "absolutely no interference by any other nation."

Carter also said concern about oil "is not justified by the present situation." Even if the interruption of shipments persists "for an extended period of time," he said, the consuming nations have a large reserve of supplies on hand to compensate for any shortfall.
Carter, who returned to Washington early Wednesday from a two-day campaign trip to the West Coast, had no additional campaign trips planned this week.

Consumers In Peril

Tampon Company Sued In 'Toxic Shock' Case

By United Press International
For five weeks, Vickie Glandon lay in a coma from toxic shock syndrome, causing permanent brain damage. Now the Ferguson, Mo., father is suing two tampon manufacturers and four Oregon stores that sell the tampons for $15 million.
Richard Glandon filed suit Wednesday in Portland, Ore., against the manufacturers of Rely and Playtex tampons, claiming his daughter contracted the sometimes deadly disease TSS last year because she used those tampons.
Glandon claims his daughter, who was diagnosed as having toxic shock syndrome, was in a coma for five weeks last fall and could not walk, talk or control her body afterward.
Although she has regained some control of her body and attends special education classes now, doctors said she suffered permanent damage to her brain, central nervous system and cardiovascular system.
Since 1975, 25 women have died from toxic shock syndrome, recently linked by federal researchers to tampon use. Since January alone, 299 cases have been reported to the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta — 95 percent occurring in women during their menstrual period.

In St. Louis, 16-year-old Robert Spooner died Tuesday from toxic shock syndrome after spending the last month of her life hooked to a respirator. Four other young women are reported hospitalized in St. Louis with TSS symptoms — high fever, vomiting, diarrhea and a rapid drop in blood pressure.
Procter & Gamble this week ordered stores to remove its product Rely from their shelves after government researchers reported its tampons were more frequently associated with toxic shock syndrome than other brands.
The Oregon suit claims P&G and International Playtex Corp., manufacturer of Playtex tampons, failed to design their products to prevent bacteria growth and failed to warn customers of the hazards. He also suing four retail stores that sold the tampons: Frye Meyer Inc., Safeway, Pay Less and Thriftway.
The Glandons asked $5 million in general damages, $82,000 in medical costs and $10 million in punitive damages.
P&G also was named in a class-action suit filed Tuesday in San Francisco by two California women, who asked all of the company's revenues from Rely tampons be handed over to women who suffered adverse effects after using them.

"I do feel a lot of animosity toward Procter & Gamble," said Robert Spooner, father of the St. Louis victim. He said his daughter used Rely for at least two years.
"How would you feel if you had a happy, healthy, 16-year-old daughter and all of a sudden she's not here?" Spooner said the disease struck his daughter Aug. 26 — her 16th birthday — and "crushed through her system like a bomb." She was admitted to Children's Hospital two days later in critical condition. A month later, she was dead.
Barnes Hospital in St. Louis reported a 17-year-old toxic shock syndrome patient — admitted after her parents read a newspaper article on the Spooner girl — appeared to be past the crisis stage.
"The parents came to me with tears in their eyes yesterday and thanked me for letting the newspaper do the story because it saved their daughter's life," Spooner said.
A spokesman at Barnes said the girl was improving and probably would be removed from intensive care soon.

Doctors Say Liquid Protein Threat To Heart

BOSTON (UPI) — Liquid protein diets can cause life-threatening heart problems for some dieters within days, a team of doctors reported today.
Five doctors, who conducted research at the University of Rochester Medical Center in New York, said irregular heartbeats appeared in three of six patients who agreed to take part in a 40-day liquid protein diet regimen.
Their research, published in the New England Journal of Medicine, showed serious heart rhythm problems appeared early — in one case after just 10 days of dieting — and were hard to detect with standard medical tests.
The liquid protein diet works by forcing the body rapidly use up its own stored fat for energy.
Sixty deaths were attributed to the regimen at the height of its popularity in 1977 when an estimated 100,000 people were on the diet. Dr. Dean H. Lockwood said Wednesday.
Many pharmacies have refused to stock the over-the-counter diet preparation since then, but some health food stores still carry the protein mixes.
Although the University of Rochester researchers are unable to determine how the liquid protein diet causes abnormal heartbeats, they said the problem cleared up as soon as test subjects returned to a normal diet.
In every case, a seven-month follow-up period indicated the heart-beat problems, or arrhythmias, vanished when the three affected women — aged 21, 29 and 49 — resumed their normal eating habits.
"These patients had no (heart) problems before and nothing after. We feel convinced this kind of diet can quickly develop cardiac rhythm abnormalities," Lockwood said.
"They were all reversible and, as a matter of fact, all of the patients had perfectly normal tests after discontinuing the diet," added Dr. John M. Amatrua. But he warned that even a short time on the liquid protein diet might be hazardous.
"They (the people in the study) were observed for 48 days, 24 hours a day, under controlled conditions and still developed problems. One of the patients had a potentially dangerous arrhythmia within 10 days of starting the diet — so even short-term diets may not be safe."
Participating with Lockwood and Amatrua in the study were Drs. Rafael Lantigua, Theodore Biddle and Gilbert Forbes.

House Mulls Expulsion Of Convicted Member

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After viewing FBI videotapes showing Rep. Michael Myers asking for money and boasting about his influence, the House ethics committee recommended the House expel the Pennsylvania Democrat.
If the House follows the committee's advice, Myers would be the first member to be expelled since the Civil War. Three members were expelled in 1861 when they joined the Confederacy.
Myers, convicted of taking bribes from FBI agents in the Abscam case, told reporters he expected only to be censured.
"The decision was 7-2, to recommend to the House that Representative Myers be expelled," said Rep. Charles Bennett, D-Fla., chairman of the panel, known officially as the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct.
Because the action was taken in executive session, Bennett refused to reveal how individual panel members voted.
During a public hearing earlier Wednesday, the committee viewed about 45 minutes of videotape taken by FBI undercover agents who posed as representatives of Arab sheiks when they met with Myers. On the tape, the committee members saw Myers take $50,000 in cash after boasting — often using expletives — about his influence in Congress.
"This man must not remain one day longer than necessary as a member of this House. He must be expelled," special counsel E. Barrett Prentzman told the committee.
Myers is running for reelection in November in a Philadelphia blue-collar district.

State Park Booze Ban Has Support

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Department of Natural Resources' officials say they may continue a ban on booze at state parks even though it's being widely ignored.
Hardly anyone has shown up at recent public hearings to support a new rule allowing alcoholic beverages at some state facilities, but there has been overwhelming opposition to it.
"I suspect we're going to reconsider our recommendation," says DNR park operations chief James Cook.
"At least we know how the people feel about detaching alcohol from the parks. They're overwhelmingly against it," he said.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Hermine Causes Mudslide Killing 8 Guatemalans

VEHICULES, Mexico (UPI) — Tropical Storm Hermine, hurling itself to death up the Mexican Gulf coast, touched off a mudslide that killed eight Guatemalans and forced scores of Mexicans to scurry for high ground, officials said.
But the worst appeared to be over this morning. The National Hurricane Center in Miami said that the storm, which came close but never reached hurricane strength, was diminishing.
Hermine's poorly defined eye was stalled just inland from the Mexican coast at latitude 16.2 north, longitude 95.1 west — about 100 miles southeast of Vera Cruz — at midnight EDT, the hurricane center said.
Its highest sustained winds were about 50 m.p.h. over the water north of the center, and they were expected to diminish during the night. But the heavy rains Hermine brought to the Yucatan peninsula earlier this week continued.

Burning Driver Saves Children On School Bus

SHOW LOW, Ariz. (UPI) — Even with his clothing on fire, the driver of a school bus that crashed into a highway sweeper managed to stay calm and push dozens of youngsters out emergency exits and windows to safety.
The crash Wednesday killed the driver of the highway sweeper on impact. The bus driver and two students were seriously injured, and about 20 other students were treated for cuts and scrapes and released.
Police Chief Gary Butler said the driver, Warren Yates, 54, was "the last one off the bus" even though his own clothes were on fire.
"He made sure everyone was off the bus. The fire was boiling out of the bus. But all the kids were out when I arrived," he said, praising the bus driver.
Yates was airlifted in serious condition to a hospital in Phoenix, 170 miles to the southwest. Students Tammy Cooper, 13, and Sara Favia, age unknown, also were in serious condition at the hospital.
The bus, filled with 70 students on their way to school in Show Low Wednesday morning, slammed into the highway sweeper, which was stopped on the highway so the driver could start a small gas engine.
The impact of the crash caused the engine to explode, setting the school bus on fire.

Gold Lower As War Builds

LONDON (UPI) — Gold opened lower in Zurich and London as traders watched developments in the Iran-Iraq conflict.
Gold opened in Zurich at $79.50 an ounce, down from Wednesday's close of $79.50, and in London at $790.00 compared with the $795.00 in London on Tuesday.
A leader for London brokers Johnson Matthey said, "Gold became a little nervous and cautious on bullion markets this morning as traders await fresh news from the Middle East." Another gold dealer said "things have quietened down for gold at the moment with just a small two-way trade developing."
"In early trading in foreign exchanges conditions were similar to Wednesday with business at a low level pending any new development in the Iran-Iraq conflict," said a dealer for Barclay's Bank International.

NATIONAL REPORT: A tornado spun through Winston-Salem, N.C., lifting the roof off an auto parts store and slamming it into a bus full of elderly tourists, injuring five passengers and the driver. Thundershowers occurred along the East Coast from Florida to Maryland. The heaviest rain was reported in North Carolina, where an inch or more fell on Greensboro and Charlotte early today.

Here's Johnny Toilets Win, Out Over Carson

DETROIT (UPI) — "Tonight Show" host Johnny Carson isn't amused by Earl Braxton's "Here's Johnny" portable toilet, but a federal judge says the comedian will just have to grin and bear it.
U.S. District Court Judge Julian Cook ruled Wednesday that Carson does not have exclusive rights to the phrase "Here's Johnny" and said the suburban Detroit portable toilet manufacturer is free to use it on his toilets.
The late-night TV host claimed Braxton's outhouses were an invasion of privacy and trademark infringement, since his sidekick, Ed McMahon, introduces him nightly with: "Hereeeere's Johnny."
The comedian's humorists attorneys rushed out of the courtroom after Cook's ruling and refused to say if they would appeal.
"I'm going to be all over Burbank in an hour," groused Braxton, 39. "I'm going to move my main offices right across from NBC."
The judge agreed with Braxton's claim that his outhouse name was just a play on words and not meant to deceive consumers or make them believe Carson supported or owned the toilet company.
"The court's conclusion as to lack of intent to deceive is supported by the fact that use of the word 'john' within the portable toilet trade is customary," Cook said. "Other portable toilet companies also make use of the word 'john' in their company names."
"I could have called it 'Here's Ralph,'" Braxton said. "But nobody goes to the Ralph."
Cook said that unlike Carson's clothing line and men's toiletries, outhouses are used primarily by promoters and businessmen rather than the general public.
"There is no similarity between Carson's products — men's apparel and entertainment services — and defendant's product — portable toilets," Cook said.
Originally, Carson — who did not appear during the trial — had demanded $1.1 million in damages. That was scaled down to $10,000 during closing arguments.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Incoming Senate President W.D. Childers spent four hours Wednesday justifying to the statewide grand jury his insistence the Cabinet buy land from a secret business partner.
But there was no public explanation.

Single-Parent Unit Increased 80 Percent

The number of families maintained by only one parent jumped nearly 80 percent in the last decade.

That's bad news. But what can be done about it? A White House Conference on the Family was convened this year to find out. The answer seems to be, not much.

Single-parent homes are increasing, even though the number resulting from the death of a parent is becoming less likely. Divorce, separation and premarital births are becoming more and more acceptable in our society, and are increasing rapidly.

It is easy to become judgmental in this area and condemn contemporary morals. To the extent that family desertion and parental irresponsibility are increasing, they are indicators of social disorganization and must be deplored. But it is better not to rush to judgment. Instead of trying to halt social trends, it is perhaps better to try to cope with the results. And the trend is clearly toward single-parent families.

Surely one recommendation should be greater social concern over the economic needs of these single-parent families, most of which are headed by women whose employment income tends to be lower and more sporadic than men's. It is clear that there will be increasing need for welfare aid to such women, and perhaps there should be a system of family allowances or more generous tax credits such as are provided in Canada and many other Western industrialized nations. Children who suffer the deprivation of a single-parent home should not also be penalized by acute economic distress.

In the long run, we are confident that the family will continue to function as the basic social unit. It always has, in one form or another, in all societies we know of, both primitive and advanced. There is something elemental about the monogamous couple together with each other and their children—social attitudes toward other arrangements may change, but the two-parent family remains basic. So long as it satisfies the deepest yearnings of the human heart, the family will survive.

The Sea Treaty

Efforts to shape an international treaty on the Law of the Sea have been stymied for seven years by a dispute over access to the coveted wealth of minerals hidden beneath the ocean floors.

Now, according to Elliot Richardson, the chief negotiator for the United States at a United Nations conference at Geneva, the 163 nations expect to have a pact ready for signature in 1981.

As anticipated, the proposed agreement represents some serious compromise between those who would put seabed mining in the hands of a United Nations authority and those who support the concept of free enterprise—notably the United States.

As envisioned at Geneva, an International Seabed Authority will issue exploration licenses to private firms and engage itself in seabed harvesting programs. Profits from its mining revenue and administrative chores will be distributed to poor nations.

Compromises are handy tools for bringing accord from chaos. Compromises are also notoriously susceptible to erosion.

The long-sought Law of the Sea treaty seems to be as promising as can be expected from the assortment of nations at Geneva with their diverse needs and aspirations.

Every effort should be made to preserve the gains until the treaty can be signed and sealed next year.

By JANE CASSELLBERRY

Columbus (Ohio) Zoo Director Jack Hanna, formerly director of the Central Florida Zoo here is finding running a zoo can have its headaches even when the employees follow orders.

According to a press report four workers at the Columbus Zoo who had to shell out $300 to replace an Australian goose they fed to the cheetahs found out following orders doesn't always pay. It seems the unscheduled feeding came after workers asked a supervisor what they should do to keep the goose from pecking people. According to Hanna, they were told "Feed it to the cheetahs."

"It wasn't malicious. He didn't mean it, but he took him literally. He tried to stop them but it was too late," he added.

The unfortunate goose was on loan to the zoo by the Cincinnati Zoo for breeding purposes. The incident was not related in the press until a month later when the newspaper was informed of it by an anonymous letter. Hanna thinks it may have been written by a disgruntled former zoo employee.

Do you worry about how much someone else eats?

Do you feel that eating is more important to your loved one than you are?

Are you afraid to ingest someone because they may go on an eating binge?

Have you been hurt or embarrassed by an overeater's behavior when eating in public?

Millions of people are affected by the excessive eating of a loved one, family member or close friend. O-Anon is a fellowship of people having family members or close friends who are compulsive overeaters. O-Anon offers solutions to the problems that come from living with a compulsive over eater.

The men and women of O-Anon learn to face the problems resulting in their own lives and the lives of their overeating loved ones by facing the problems squarely and acting with faith and courage. Just as Overeaters Anonymous offers a new way of life to the partner, family member or friend of the overeater.

There will be an organizational meeting held to start an O-Anon group for Seminole County Tuesday, October 14, starting at 7:30 p.m., in the Community Room of the Longwood office of First Federal of Seminole on State Road 434 just west of Highway 17-92. For further information, anyone interested may call Tom H. (305) 323-6167.

The Teen Corps is made up of teenagers trained in cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR), blood pressure, temperature, pulse and respiration, basic Red Cross disaster training, and a wide range of other emergency procedures. ### ROBERT WALTERS

About Allen's Naivete

WASHINGTON — Richard V. Allen presumably was selected to be Republican presidential nominee Ronald W. Reagan's principal foreign-policy adviser because of Allen's reputation as an astute analyst of international affairs.

Yet, Allen portrays himself as a politically naive bystander who innocently viewed Robert F. Vesco, alleged to be one of the most successful swindlers of modern times, as merely "an international businessman from New Jersey."

Allen's impeccable credentials as a sophisticated operator in the often treacherous world of national security and foreign affairs include two stints as a member of the White House senior staff under President Richard M. Nixon.

From January through October of 1969, he served on the senior staff of the National Security Council under Henry A. Kissinger. He returned to the White House in July 1971 as deputy assistant to the president for international economic affairs.

After only one year in the second job, Allen again left the White House. He resigned from government service on July 31, 1972 — and the very next day he began receiving $10,000 per month as a "consultant" to a lawyer named Howard Cerney.

Cerney was one of the principal attorneys and business advisers to Vesco, who subsequently was charged in a civil complaint filed by the Securities and Exchange Commission with looting $224 million from various mutual funds.

Vesco has been indicted on criminal charges in this country's courts on three occasions, but he remains a fugitive from justice living abroad (currently in the Bahamas) and resisting extradition.

The Allen-Vesco link and allegations of improper conduct on Allen's part surfaced several months ago in an article in Mother Jones, a feisty San Francisco-based investigative magazine.

The information developed by Mother Jones received cursory coverage from other news media, but no attention was paid to the credibility — or lack thereof — of the explanation offered by Allen to reporters inquiring about his relationship with Vesco.

Allen admits that he received monthly payments of $10,000 from Vesco for six months, that he met Vesco on at least five occasions in 1972 and that he accepted a free trans-Atlantic trip on a Boeing 707 owned by a Vesco corporation.

He also says he arranged for Cerney to meet privately in the late summer or early fall of 1972 with SEC Chairman William Casey — a session at which Cerney sought to quash the SEC's then-pending investigation of Vesco. (Casey, of course, currently heads the Reagan campaign.)

But Allen insists that "I have never done any work for Vesco" or any of his companies.

When asked about the Cerney-Casey meeting he set up, Allen offered a variety of exculpatory explanations. "I was terribly embarrassed" by Cerney's unexpected remarks, he told one newspaper.

WASHINGTON — Whistleblowers — those dedicated government employees who risk their careers to report incompetence or misdeeds in their agencies — are being stripped of protection by Jimmy Carter, the man who promised to defend them. The Office of Special Counsel, which was set up to be the whistleblowers' shield against reprisal, is being quietly strangled in its crib.

Two years ago, as part of Carter's civil service reform program, Congress created the Office of Special Counsel as an independent body with extraordinary powers. It was authorized not only to protect employees who exposed waste and mismanagement, but to investigate and punish crooked bureaucrats on its own.

The mini-agency pursued its mandate vigorously — perhaps too vigorously. In July, for example, it turned up damning evidence that high officials of the Small Business Administration were illegally transferring employees deemed to be "politically irresponsible." Acting Special Counsel Mary Eastwood wrote to SBA chief Vernon Weaver asking him to take disciplinary action against

Rescuing The Inner Cities

By BARRY JAMES

LONDON (UPI) — Britain is trying a new approach to rescue derelict inner-city zones that could set an example for a similar initiative in the United States.

Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher has announced the creation of seven "enterprise zones" in which the burdens of taxation and red tape will be lifted in an attempt to lure entrepreneurs into the decaying urban areas.

A proposal to introduce the same scheme in the United States was inserted into the Republican Party platform by Congressman Jack Kemp of Buffalo, N.Y.

Kemp and South Bronx Democrat Robert Garcia also are co-sponsoring a House bill to introduce enterprise zones in areas of high unemployment.

The British scheme goes further than the Kemp-Garcia proposal.

Companies already within, or establishing new business in the zones will benefit from: — Exemption from all property taxes on commercial and industrial buildings.

— One hundred percent capital allowances for income and corporation taxes.

— Faster customs facilities, in and out.

— Simplified planning procedures and a minimum of red tape.

— Reduction to a bare minimum of the government's requests for statistical information.

Mrs. Thatcher's government designated enterprise zones in the Isle of Dogs in the East London docks, Swansea in South Wales, Manchester and Speke in the English Midlands, Newcastle in northeast England, Clydebank in Scotland and Belfast in Northern Ireland.

None of the zones will be bigger than about 500 acres. The cost to the central government will be an estimated $24 million a year or less in compensation to local authorities for the property taxes they forego.

Under a budget cut proposed by the special counsel's already meager funding was slashed by $1 million. With this clear signal from the White House, Congress cut another $1 million, leaving the office broke.

The staff was reduced by 60 percent, leaving only 37 attorneys and investigators

Check Out The Job Bank

You probably have noticed that the nation's unemployment rate is bobbing somewhere between 7 and 8 percent. If you've got a job, that may not mean much to you. If you don't, you can take it very personally.

The federal government is sensitive to joblessness. More so, in fact, than you may think.

The U.S. Department of Labor has been running the U.S. Employment Service for a long time, and an outgrowth is a computerized Job Bank that began back in 1968.

If I were looking for work, that's where I'd start.

The Job Bank doesn't list all the jobs available in the country by any means. Pat King, an employment service manpower analyst, says it covers only 15 to 20 percent of the jobs waiting to be filled.

One reason for this is that roughly two-thirds of the jobs filled in the nation are never listed anywhere. Private employment services obviously cover some jobs not listed with the Job Bank.

But many of the nation's biggest employers have become used to sending their employment orders to the Job Bank, which is split among 200 geographic districts.

The employers list 45 different job characteristics, including pay, and every weekday the Job Bank sends up a new listing of unfilled jobs.

That means the Job Bank, available at any state employment office, lists hundreds of thousands of permanent, fulltime jobs.

More than that, the computer capability permits the Job Bank to list occupations in demand — that is, the job most frequently listed and where they are. For example, in July there were nearly 350,000 jobs in about 125 different categories listed in the Job Bank. More than half of these were filled during the month. Increases in numbers of job openings between June and July were 15 to 20 percent in Birmingham, Ala., Miami, Fla., Lauderdale, Fla., Columbia, S.C., and Tallahassee, Fla.

Occupations with 1,000 or more openings and all increases from the previous month — included work for arc welders and cutters, plumbers, cooks, sales clerks, vehicle mechanics, and shipping and stock clerks.

That's just a little sample of what the computer can tell you.

Companies moving into enterprise zones, however, will have to observe safety and environmental laws.

The opposition's position is undermined by the fact the Labor Party controls most of the 24 district offices and London boroughs that set in formal proposals for enterprise zones.

A more difficult argument to rebut is that the enterprise zones will prosper only at the expense of neighboring areas, and therefore will not provide a large number of new jobs.

The government hopes that, on the contrary, the zones will create wealth that will spin off into the community at large.

It stresses the experimental nature of the scheme. If successful, it will be expanded. If not, it probably will be abandoned after an initial 10-year period.

For more information, go to your local state employment office, which you'll find listed under state government offices in the phone book. If you want a copy of "Occupations in Demand," free, write for it in care of Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, CO 81009.

Carter's Welcome To Refugees Could Cause Defeat

(The Evening Herald today presents the first in a periodic series of articles focusing on the key states in the upcoming presidential election.)

MIAMI (UPI) — Jimmy Carter spoke five live words May 5 that put his reelection campaign on a downhill slide in Florida, the state that gave him a major boost to the presidency in 1976.

Carter said the United States would welcome Cuban refugees arriving on the impromptu sealt with "open heart and open arms."

At the time, Florida National Guard troops were on emergency duty at Key West and Miami area officials were using emergency funds daily to process, feed and house Cubans flooding into south Florida.

Carter rescinded the policy only nine days later in an order to halt the perilous sealt across the Florida Straits. It didn't stop.

Today, the sealt which has landed more than 12,000 Cubans at Key West continues, though at a trickle of 200-300 refugees a week.

May was a bad month for Carter in Florida. Three days of racial rioting broke out in Miami's predominantly black districts May 17. One of the underlying causes was the influx of thousands of Cubans to claim the fast-declining supply of jobs.

Carter's late June conference with community leaders in Miami's Liberty City ended with blacks hurling bottles and beer cans at the president's

KEY STATES

Since then, the administration has promised millions of dollars in aid to rebuild the riot-ridden districts and to provide jobs for blacks. Carter sent Jack Watson, White House chief of staff, to Miami last week with a satchel full of more aid pledges.

Most local officials greeted the promises with skepticism. Miami Beach Mayor Murray Meyerson commented: "Too little and too late."

The major pledges were to tear down the Cuban and Haitian refugee tent cities within 30 days; to process all arriving refugees in the future outside of Florida; to intensify efforts to relocate refugees outside Florida; and to backfill now before Congress to provide $100 million in refugee relief funds to local and state governments and up to $100 per pupil for educating refugee children.

An aide to Florida Gov. Bob Graham reported Friday that so far the state has received $1.3 million and local governments $600,000 to reimburse them for such things as food, clothing and bus travel for the refugees. "A low estimate" of what the state and local governments have spent so far is $100 million, the aide said.

Carter easily defeated Sen. Edward Kennedy in Florida's March presidential primaries. Ronald Reagan won the Republican preference primary. But when the Democratic National Convention assembled in New York, Graham, who was chosen to place Carter's name in nomination, said if the election had been held then, Reagan would win in Florida.

Graham says the refugee problem is "one of the most significant" issues of the campaign in Florida, which in 1976 demonstrated to the national Democratic Party that Carter could break George Wallace's grip on the South.

A sketchy poll by several Florida newspapers four weeks ago indicated Carter and Reagan were running about even, but it also showed a high percentage of undecided voters. Reagan hasn't offered any specifics on what he would do about the refugee problems.

Reagan is popular in Florida, which is a prize with 17 electoral votes. And even though Democrats outnumber Republicans by more than 2-1, they are not averse to voting for a Republican presidential nominee. Florida backed Dwight D. Eisenhower twice and Richard Nixon three times.

Graham said Friday he was "extremely encouraged" by the federal government's announcement that the federal government will assume the entire support of the refugees. Watson didn't say exactly that in Miami.

"It frankly did come at a good time for the president in Florida," Graham said.

Latest 'Marilyn' Is Beautiful, But Not Right For Movie Role

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — It's the kiss of death when a contemporary actress agrees to play a legendary movie glamor girl of the past.

Any young actress, no matter how beautiful or talented she may be, must find it virtually impossible to measure up to the original.

The spark of glamor, the mystical element that makes a star a star, cannot be matched or imitated. To try is an invitation to professional harlequin.

In recent years Marilyn Miller, Carole Lombard and Jean Harlow, among others, have been depicted on the screen with disastrous results.

Of them all Marilyn Monroe is perhaps the most difficult of all legendary sex symbols to capture on film.

In the 18 years since her death, Marilyn has been portrayed in three films, the latest of which is "Marilyn: The Untold Story."

Several years ago Mety Rowe, of television's "The Howl" series, played Marilyn in "Goodbye, Norma Jean," which bombed. Last TV season Constance Forslund undertook the part in "Marilyn." Again, a disappointment.

"Marilyn: The Untold Story," based on Norman Mailer's recent book, will be televised Sept. 28 (CBS) with Catherine Hicks in the title role.

Catherine is a willowy natural blonde whose figure and face in no way could be mistaken for Monroe's. This is not to say that Catherine is not beautiful in her own right. She is.

She was too young to know much about Marilyn during the glamor girl's lifetime. Marilyn died on the day Catherine celebrated her 10th birthday.

Catherine does not appear to be another blonde blonde. She may be, as natural for her age as breathing or riding a wave. I just released myself. I knew I had to play the role or I felt responsible for Marilyn."

It was necessary for Catherine to gain seven pounds, bleach her hair more blonde and to wear 1500s makeup. One may assume her figure was artificially altered as well to conform to Marilyn's generous dimensions.

Catherine, who starred for seven months on Broadway with Jack Lemmon in "Private," has had limited screen experience. She spent a year in the New York soap opera "Ryan's Hope" and appeared in the movie "To Race The Wind."

In preparing for her role as Marilyn, Catherine saw David Wolper's Monroe documentary and studied "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," for the musical number she was called on to perform, and "The Middle."

"I attempted to interpret rather than imitate Marilyn's life. The finished film is a piece of work, not another Monroe imitation."

Catherine was fully aware she is not a Monroe look-alike but equally sure she could create a convincing Marilyn.

"I was convinced I could know her better than anyone in the world," she said. "I can tap into the child, myself, which was also the child in Marilyn."

"Something was activated in me when I did 'Bus Stop' and 'After the Fall' that brought me close to her. The blonde outside, the only, lonely child. It was part of my psyche, part of my heart."

"Marilyn's personality and character have been percolating in me for years, since I played those two roles in college."

Auburn Favored Over Vols In SEC Clash

By United Press International
Auburn has been voted a slight favorite over Tennessee Saturday, but Doug Barfield is calling for a recount. "That's got to be a mistake," said the Auburn coach. "Tennessee should come into the game as the favorite because of its fine play against two football teams like Georgia and Southern Cal. They have looked more impressive in losing than we have in winning." Auburn (2-0), playing without its top two quarterbacks, edged Texas Christian 19-7 in No. 9 opener, then, with those quarterbacks back, jumped into a 21-0 en route to a 35-20 win over Duke in which, said Barfield, "We played too many players early and let it get out of control."

Tennessee (1-2) also got off to a fast start, 28-3, before winding up with a 35-23 win over Washington State last Saturday but, like Tennessee coach Johnny Majors said, "Any way you get it is a pleasure when you are looking for your first win." The Vols may have been the best 0-2 team in the nation before last week since those two losses were 16-15 to 10th-ranked Georgia and 20-17 to 5th-ranked Southern Cal.

"It was rough playing in Knoxville last year," Tennessee winning 36-17," said Barfield. "We hope we can make it rougher for them playing at Auburn this year." Auburn-Tennessee is one of three league games in the Southeastern Conference Saturday. In the other two, Florida (2-0) is a slight favorite as host to Mississippi State (3-0) and top-ranked Alabama (2-0) is favored on 39 up as host to Vanderbilt (0-2).

In other SEC-related action, Georgia (3-0) is favored by 14 as host to Texas Christian (0-2), Kentucky (1-2) is a favored host to Bowling Green (0-3), LSU (2-1) is favored by 10 in a visit to Rice (0-2) and Ole Miss (1-2) is a slight favorite as host to Tulane (1-2).

Among the southeast independents, 9th-ranked Florida State (3-0) is favored by 5 for its visit to 19th-ranked Miami of Florida (2-0), South Carolina (2-1) is a one-touchdown underdog at 17th-ranked Michigan (1-1) and Southern Miss (2-0) return home for its visit to East Carolina Conference Saturday. In the other two, Florida (2-0) is a slight favorite as host to impressive so far this season — beating California 41-13 and Georgia Tech 45-12 — but Gator coach Charley Pell insists he's worried. "We didn't play as well against Tech as we did against California," complained Pell. "We're in the conference race now and must get more consistent." The two games we've played, compared to Mississippi State, we haven't even played football."

Alabama's vaunted defense figures to be in a foul mood after giving up so many points in last week's 59-35 win over Ole Miss but it's unlikely the Tide — while extending the nation's longest current winning streak to 24 games and handing Bear Bryant his 29th career victory — will match last year's performance when it crushed Vandy 66-3. "I'm sure they'll come to Tuscaloosa with a lot of enthusiasm and play us a good game," Bryant said kindly. "After the success Ole Miss had passing against us, I'm sure Vanderbilt will be putting the ball in the air a lot."

Ole Miss quarterback John Fourcade threw for four touchdowns and 296 yards against Alabama. Fourcade, who led the SEC in total offense last season, is in front at a faster pace this fall with 77 yards in his first three games.

Georgia tailback Herschel Walker, a 230-pound freshman with 9.5 speed, leads the SEC in rushing and scoring with 350 yards and five touchdowns in his first three college games.

Florida State outscored its first three opponents 13-7 but Seminoles coach Bobby Bowden says it won't be that way Saturday in the Orange Bowl. "Miami (which upset then 19th ranked Houston 14-7)," he said, "is the most improved team in college football this season."

Oviedo Lions Handcuff Crooms Panthers 12-0

By GEOFFREY GIORDANO
Herald Sports Correspondent
It was a frustrating night Wednesday for the Crooms Panthers who suffered a shutout at the hands of the Oviedo Lions in Crooms' season opener at Seminole High School field.

The Lions' combination of quarterback Chris Boston and Barry Williams proved too much for the Panthers when they teamed up to score the only two touchdowns of the night, posting the 12-0 defeat.

The first touchdown came during the first quarter on a 46-yard pass from Boston to Williams who sped into the end zone eluding masterfully his Panthers would-be tacklers.

The Lions' conversion attempt was unsuccessful when Boston dropped back to pass, but slipped and fell and was promptly pounced on by rushing Panthers tacklers. The Lions posted their second 6-point score on another pass in the second quarter, again Boston to Williams, this one for 53 yards. But once again the Lions were held to six points, failing to complete the conversion.

The second half was scoreless, although the Oviedo Lions threatened to score at least twice more, but were thwarted by a determined Crooms team.

Crooms never was a threat Wednesday night, using mostly a running game stymied by a tough Lions defense.

Panther quarterback Tim Lawrence winds up and prepares to throw against the Oviedo Lions in Wednesday night's season opener between Crooms and Oviedo.

Lawrence got a strong pass rush from the Lions, who displayed a tough defense all night long.

Oviedo generated a more consistent offense, putting a pair of scores on the board for a 12-0 win while Crooms' ground oriented attack was held in check throughout most of the game.

The Crystal Ball Blues Tribe Meets Second Top Ten Team

From The Sidelines
By JOE DESANTIS
Herald Sports Editor
Some gotta win, some gotta lose, the old crystal ball has got the blues.

Week number two brought a 3-3 rating to the prep football forecast. Those figures bring the total season mark to 8-4 on the year for a respectable .666 percentage.

County teams get into the thick of conference action Friday night when those wins and losses take on even greater significance. On with the countdown.

Edgewater at Seminole.

When the Tribe's Jerry Posey said his Fighting Seminoles played the toughest schedule in the Five Star Conference, he wasn't kidding. Sanford opened the season against Evans, then ranked sixth. The Trojans are now up to number three. Friday night, Seminole plays hosts to the Edgewater Eagles, another Metro power that cracked the state prep poll this week with a number ten ranking.

The key here is the ground game on both sides. Edgewater runs out of the option, a stiff test for Seminole linebacks and cornerbacks. The Eagles are bigger but slower than Evans. Conversely the Tribe's ground game, while showing improvement in the win over Mainland, will once again be tested for a semblance of consistency. Seminole scored 20 points last week, but only one touchdown came off of a drive and most of that one break away carry by Robert Guy.

Not that it doesn't matter, this game has no effect on conference standings, but Edgewater appears to be the stronger ball club all the way around.

Edgewater 22 Seminole 8.

Lake Brantley at Apopka.

Everybody in town picked the Greyhounds over the Patriots last week, with the exception of your's truly. This game can be considered a battle of upset winners. The Patriots were supposed to lose to Lyman last week but sent the Longwood puppies home on the short end of the leash 29-10. Meanwhile Chip Gierke's Apopka Blue Darters were busy carving somewhat of a mild 10-6 upset over consistently inconsistent DeLand. Apopka has a little speed in the backfield and a pretty fair quarterback in senior Sam Sullivan. The Blue Darters look a little young to be jelled this early in the season. Brantley won't have to score much in this one for a win. Lake Brantley 20 Apopka 12.

Lyman at Spruce Creek.

This is a must game for Lyman. It's a must game for Spruce Creek also. Realistically the Greyhounds have some of the best personnel in the entire conference on offense. Too bad they aren't utilizing them to full potential. Unless Lyman can generate a little ball control instead of relying on the big play that has yet to surface, the year of the Greyhound could turn into a disappointment. It's tough to win on the road and Spruce Creek gets the nod in this one.

Spruce Creek 26 Lyman 22.

DeLand at Lake Howell.

After a BYE last week Sammy Weir's Silver Hawks should be well rested and all healed from any bumps and bruises sustained in their season opening win two weeks ago.

Teams coming off an open date have a habit of playing very well or very poorly. Against an up and down DeLand squad and in front of the home crowd Lake Howell is the pick.

Silver Hawks 21 DeLand 10.

Bishop Moore at Boone. Confession time. A week ago I picked Bishop Moore to win against Eustis. No, I'm not crazy, just under duress and a little family pressure. You see I have a younger brother that just happens to be a Hornet freshman.

Life was miserable around the house when I picked Bishop Moore to lose its season opener two weeks ago, in which the Hornets promptly did... no dinner, no clean socks, no "Hi, how are you, or even a drop dead," for a week.

The whole gang got all fired up for Bishop Moore's outing a week ago against Eustis so for the sake of family harmony I went, against my better judgement, with the Hornets in an upset.

I mean, my mother even had her cowboy hat and "Horrible Hornet Hankie," all laundered and starched and ready to go. I was right, the Hornets lost and I still didn't get dinner.

This week Boone beats the Hornets and I eat at Red Lobster.

Boone 24 Bishop Moore 8.

Joe Montgomery and the Oviedo Lions have an off date Friday night. Oviedo returns to action next week in a road contest against Kissimmee.

McCarver Trades Microphone For Crucial Bunt

By United Press International
At least Tim McCarver didn't take time out for a commercial break.

The 38-year-old major league catcher-turned-broadcaster got the opportunity of a lifetime Wednesday to become the first pitcher to play in four decades. McCarver delivered with a sacrifice bunt that helped the Philadelphia Phillies defeat the New York Mets, 1-0.

The Phillies' broadcaster was invited by Philadelphia Manager Dallas Green to wear a uniform again Sept. 1, but he had no idea he would be pressed into it in such a crucial situation. McCarver retired last year.

McCarver got his chance when pinch-hitter Del Unser singled to open the 10th. McCarver batted for veteran Tug McGraw, 3-4, and moved pinch runner Jay Loviglio into scoring position with his bunt down the first-base line.

"The ball was like it came up there 170 mph," said McCarver. "He (reliever Neil Allen) was going good and I was cold. I'm just glad I could come down to the field and help them win a game."

The Expos, who have gained momentum after starting slowly on a 13-game road trip, pounced Chicago pitching for 15 hits — including a pair of doubles by Gary Carter that knocked out shortstop Larry Parrish and Andre Dawson also stroked four hits apiece.

The Cubs closed to within 5-4 in the sixth on Jerry Martin's 22nd homer, but the Expos added two insurance runs in the seventh when Carter doubled, scoring Rowland Office and Andre Dawson, who had singled. Parrish's RBI single in the ninth drove in Montreal's final run.

Braves 4, Astros 2

Pinch-hitter Bill Pecoraro hit a tie-breaking, two-run double in the sixth to lift the Braves. The Astros fell into a tie with Los Angeles for the West Division lead. Both clubs are 26-66.

Dodgers 5, Giants 4

Manny Mota showed why he is baseball's all-time leader in pinch hits by singling in Steve Garvey from second base with two out in the 12th to enable the Dodgers to move into the first-place tie with Houston.

Reds 7, Padres 6

Dave Concepcion's sacrifice fly scored Ken Griffey from third base with two out in the 10th inning to break a 6-6 tie. The victory moved the Reds within 2½ games of first place in the

Brewers Out Of Picture, Big Bats Bomb California

By United Press International
New York Manager Dick Howe always enjoys a victory. Now he's just got a different reason. "I'd like to win easily and be able to rest some people," he said the easy victory, accomplished with Bob Watson's three hits and three RBIs, was healthy for the team.

Terry Crowley hit two home runs to lead Baltimore, which remained five games behind over the California Angels in the league — with 10 wins to the Angels' 13.

"I've gotten this far late in the season. I'd like to win it. I have a shot at it," he said. "And so does Gorman." Oglivie was referring to his Brewer teammate, Gorman Thomas, who has hit 36 homers. Oglivie has driven in 109 runs and Thomas 102.

Pitcher Larry Sorensen also wants to take care of some personal business. He pitched his second straight shutout and raised his record to 12-9.

"Now we're at the point in the season where I want the Brewers to have a positive thought about me," he said. "They're going to be changes over the winter. I want to be back in spring training and I know I'll have to fight for a starting spot."

Bucs Ink Tight End Rucker

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Free agent tight end Conrad Rucker was signed by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers Wednesday and will be suited up Sunday when the Bucs host the Cleveland Browns.

Rucker is 6-foot-3 and 250 pounds. To make room for Rucker on the roster, the Bucs placed quarterback Mike Rice on injured reserve with a shoulder injury.

Rucker was a sixth round draft pick of the Houston Oilers out of Southern University in 1974. In two years with the Oilers he was used primarily as a blocker in the two-tight end offense. He caught 6 passes for 78 yards during the two years.

He was waived by the Oilers in the final cut this year.

Rae is in his third season with the Bucs. He was obtained from the Oakland Raiders in a trade in 1978. He had played three years in the Canadian Football League before signing with Oakland where he remained for two years.

A Bucs spokesman said Rae underwent treatment in Los Angeles during the off-season but the shoulder injury continued to bother him during pre-season and in practice sessions.

New Smyrna Hands Lady Seminoles Two Defeats

New Smyrna Beach, a regular entry in the women's state volleyball tournament handed Seminole High a couple of setbacks in both varsity and junior varsity volleyball action Wednesday night.

The Lady Barracudas tamed the junior varsity Seminoles by 15-4 and 15-1 scores while the varsity fell to New Smyrna Beach by 15-11 and 15-12 margins.

record now stands at 5-3 overall and 4-2 in Five Star Conference play.

Coch Donalyn Knight felt Wednesday was a learning experience for her squads. "We changed a few positions because I've seen some things in earlier matches that I thought would make our strategy a little better than we were doing," she said.

The Lady Seminoles return to conference action next Tuesday when they travel to Daytona Beach Mainland for a tri-match with the Lady Buccaneers and Daytona.

Choice Career Classics For Women's Wardrobes

Corduroy pants and blazer

suitably, and yet maintain a classic wardrobe with a minimum of effort, and without a maximum of money.

Inflation has eroded our spending power, and has necessitated two-income families. Gone are the days when working women would splurge half a week's salary on a designer name only to have it become dated by the following season. Clothing purchases have become an investment, not an impulse. A career woman's wardrobe must be multi-faceted; an outfit must be able to go from the conference room to cocktails with ease.

The key to a classic wardrobe is versatility, according to Gordon of Philadelphia, one of the country's leading ready-to-wear women's apparel manufacturers. An outfit should be able to carry a career woman through a twelve-hour day, and that means from nine to five, and into the evening.

A skirt suit is the basis of a career wardrobe. The blazer can be worn with trousers in solid tones, or plaids and tweeds. Likewise, the skirt can be interchanged with either a tailored print shirt, or a flowing and softly scarved blouse in a contrasting color. A turtleneck or cowl-neck sweater can also be worn with the skirt suit for cooler days.

It is important to remember that the skirt suit should preferably be in a muted shading such as gray, brown, or navy, and in a non-seasonal fabric such as a light flannel or a wool blend which can be worn through more than one season. The blazer and skirt should be fully lined for longer wearability, and to insure that its shape is maintained after numerous dry cleanings.

A complete season's wardrobe should not have to consist of a closetful of clothing. Make certain that the color scheme you select is not only flattering, but can also be interchanged.

For example, blazers, skirts and trousers should be in neutral shades which will match with brighter colors. A navy blazer in a lightweight wool blend will go with skirts and trousers that are solid, checked, or tweeds. A navy blazer adds a smart touch to jeans for weekend wear.

The initial purchase of two or more skirt suits is essential in starting a career wardrobe. You can then choose blouses, sweaters, and other accessories that will fit and blend with your suits. The coordinated suits are the cornerstone of a working woman's wardrobe.

A basic shade skirt suit also simplifies accessory selection. Too many women purchase a blouse and then try to coordinate it with several suits and skirts. That is like putting the cart before the horse, and results in costly and unnecessary purchases. Buy the basics and work around them.

The secret of a well-balanced career wardrobe is basics with color continuity, and careful accessory selection. By following these simple rules, a career woman can create and capture the perfect image of a successful professional without compromising her femininity and without burdening her budget.

Stetson Shooting For $50 Million

Officials of Stetson University in Deland, announced the opening of a $50 million, 10-year comprehensive financial support campaign for which advanced gifts of more than $12.5 million have been received.

The announcement was made jointly by Stetson President Pope A. Duncan and the Rev. John L. Pelham, chairman of the school's board of trustees, following the annual fall meeting of the board on campus.

The campaign has two phases. The first extends to the university's centennial year (1983) with a goal of $20 million. This interim goal includes $8 million for operating gifts, $1.5 million for capital and endowment gifts and $3.5 million for deferred gifts.

Phase II of the campaign has a goal of $30 million and is scheduled for the five years following the Centennial.

"We have an excellent small university. We're not seeking to increase our size," Duncan stated. "Our first priority in the campaign will be to maintain our current, high-quality program."

"It is necessary for us to take steps to maintain what we have, and yet, we want to improve. We must improve selectively, and this must be a goal which is always in the context of an emphasis upon what we can do for people."

The $12.5 million received during the advanced gifts portion of the program includes gifts from trustees totaling nearly $6 million. Not included in the $12.5 million is more than $100,000 pledged by Florida Baptist churches who have responded to that portion of the comprehensive campaign which seeks $750,000 to endow a Chair of Christian Studies in the university's department of religion.

The university received approval to seek the churches' support when messengers to the 1979 annual sessions of the Florida Baptist State Convention unanimously adopted a recommendation by the State Board of Missions.

Doyle E. Carlton, Jr., Wauchula rancher, businessman and Stetson trustee, serves as chairman of the general campaign, and Stetson Chancellor J. Ollie Edmunds is the honorary chairman.

Distinction chairmen include: operating gifts - Dennis C. McNamara, Orlando automobile dealer; capital gifts and endowment - Kenneth P. Birchman, computer software executive from Altamonte Springs; deferred gifts - James Nemev, West Palm Beach attorney; university family campaign - O. Lafayette Walker, chairman of Stetson's department of religion, and Earl B. Edinger, retired pastor of the First Baptist Church of St. Petersburg and trustee; Baptist churches - E. Earl Joiner, professor of religion, and John L. Pelham, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Palatka and chairman of the trustees.

Other campaign chairmen will be appointed during the year, according to the announcement.

Officials stated the operating gifts portion of the campaign has a 10-year goal of $20 million which will allow Stetson to maintain its current academic programs at full strength. The capital gifts and endowment section ($20 million) has earmarked $17 million for endowment projects such as professorships and library acquisitions. The campaign for the Chair of Christian Studies is included in that section.

The deferred gifts program goal of $10 million was cited as "Stetson's security for the future." Leaders estimated benefits from deferred gifts would begin around 1980, the closing year of the "Stetson $50,000,000" campaign.

A reception and dinner honoring donors who qualified as Presidential Counselors ($100 or more) included 14 persons who added a minimum of $500,000 each to the advanced gifts total.

Lake Mary Sprints To Defeat Track

Governor To Receive Resolution

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The Lake Mary City Council, armed with support from residents of adjacent unincorporated areas as well as from its own citizens, moved Thursday night to stop construction of a proposed horse racing track in the city.

The council unanimously adopted a resolution to Gov. Bob Graham requesting him to order that no further operating permits be granted to new racing facilities.

The resolution also urges the Governor to assist State Rep. Bobby Drake, R-Longwood, in introducing a law during the special session of the Legislature in the next few months to repeal a section of a law passed during the 1980 regular session on pari-mutuel wagering.

The law appears to pre-empt cities from enforcing their building codes and other city regulations on pari-mutuel wagering facilities involved in capital improvement projects.

In addition, the city council voted unanimously to instruct City Attorney Gary Massey to take whatever legal action necessary to stop construction of Sunshine Park, the planned horse racing facility in the city. The council specifically mentioned the filing of an injunction against the Pari-Mutuel Wagering Commission to stop that agency from issuing a permit to operate to Harness Racing Inc. Harness Racing Inc. is to operate the track.

City Manager Phil Kubles said he has asked the Pari-Mutuel Wagering Commission to hold its meeting in Seminole County when the firm's application for a permit is considered.

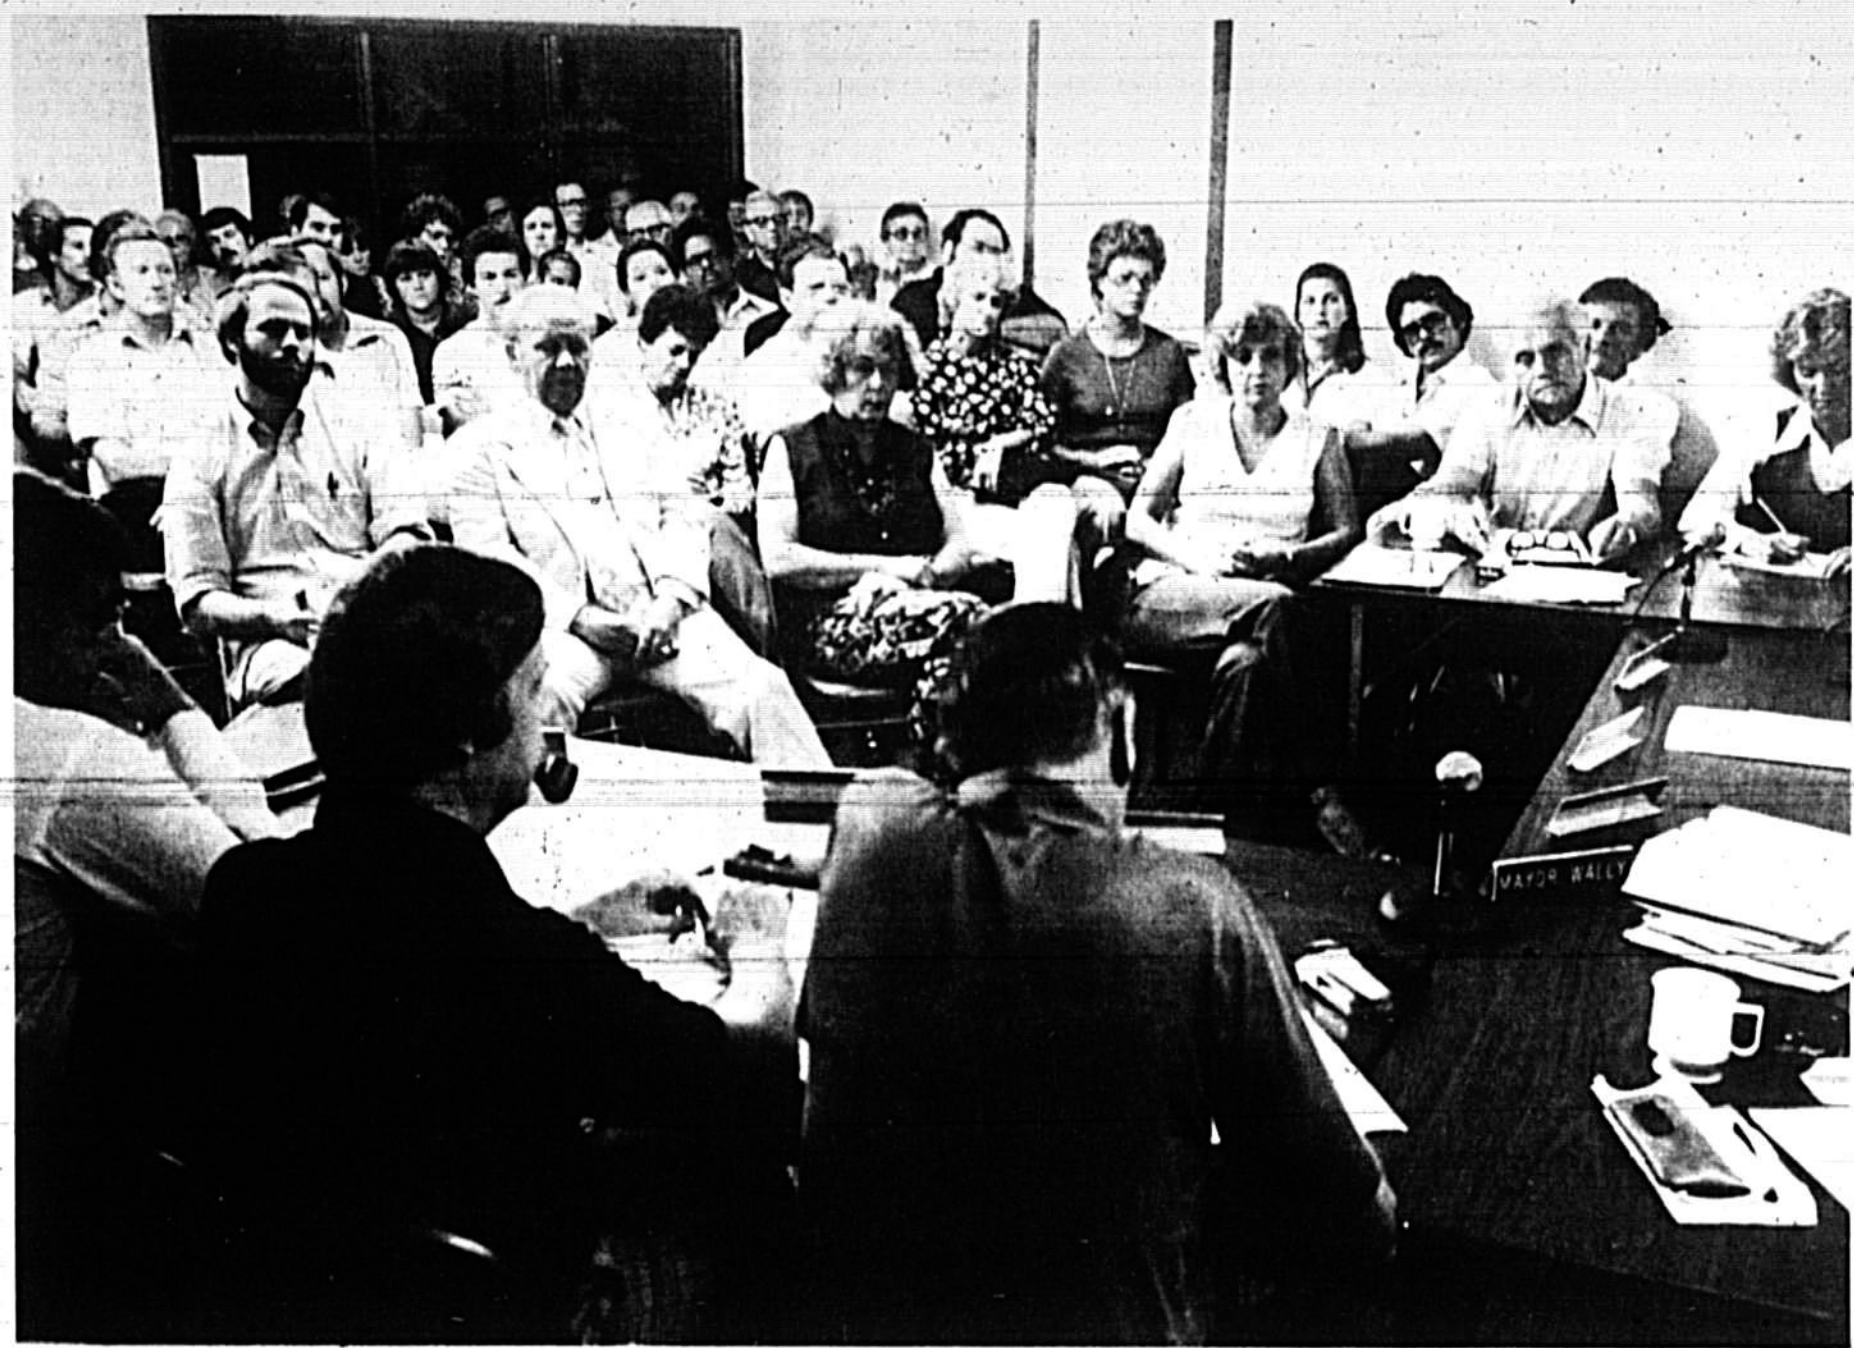

And County Commissioner Bob Sturm announced the county will hold a public hearing at 7 p.m. Oct. 6 at the courthouse to hear testimony on the impact of the horse track on the county.

Nearly 300 persons jammed the city hall meeting room, spilling into the parking lot and adjacent offices to show their support in the city's fight to stop the track.

Homeowners associations, including Markham Woods, Tribby Bend and the Crossings all located outside the city limits, were represented at the meeting. Letters opposing the planned horse track were read into the record from two developers, Florida Residential, Communities and Florida Land Co., both of which are building new homes in the area.

Marc Robinson, a principal in Mid-State Development and Harness Racing Inc., owners, builders and operators of the proposed track, displayed conceptual drawings of the track to be built in the Lake Emma Road area. He said the city would receive $31,240 annually in real estate taxes from the development as well as $36,000 from a $150 tax the city could impose daily on the track.

A major topic of conversation was whether the new law also pre-empts the Nearly 300 persons attended the Lake Mary Council meeting Thursday night to register their objection to the planned horse track within the city. Those at city hall early enough got seats. Others stood in the adjacent city hall offices and the furniture could total $120,000 to $180,000 annually. Robinson said people have been "shooting from the hip" in opposing the track, "without knowing the actual plans. He said the track would have its own security and would operate without services from the city. Of the pre-emption of city regulations, Robinson said the state would control the track's operation. "I have never taken the position we would be exempt from zoning," Robinson said.

He said the track could use the current industrial zoning if the city would grant a special exception. Robinson said the actor Burt Reynolds already has committed his stable of horses to racing at the new facility when it is built.

Robinson said the grandstand at the track would be fireproof, air-conditioned and loaded with creature comforts. He said horse racing also could be held at the track.

He showed drawings of the stables to house 1,200 horses, saying only horsemen would have access to the facility on Lake Emma Road. He pointed to a swimming pool for the horses in the drawings, adding the horse track would be attractive like Hollywood Park. In addition, he said, they plan to build a trailer park providing 75 spaces for trailers in addition to spaces for recreational vehicles.

Asked if he would hold a referendum before a racing facility is built, as required by state law, Robinson said no referendum is necessary for a quarter-one in the parking lot outside could watch through the window (background). Councilmen Gene McDonald, Burt Perincheff and Hay Fox (left to right) listen as the citizens state their reasons for opposing the facility.

Robinson said officials of the State Department of Transportation have rezoned a section of Interstate 4 to permit construction of an interchange 1 1/2 miles south of Lake Mary Boulevard to serve the new track. Asked what would happen if DOT turns down plans for the interchange, Robinson said, "We probably would pay all costs of the interchange construction."

Robinson, again in answer to a question from the audience, said a group of investors purchased property on the west side of the interstate for development and that conceptual drawings had been released from his Longwood office on a confidential basis.

"How do you plan to change the agricultural zoning of that property?" Robinson was asked. "Plead to the city commission on a one-to-one basis," he said.

After further questioning, Robinson said, "We will proceed with our plans and withdraw our offer of help to the city." Councilman Hay Fox said he is curious about why Seminole County has become such a "super area" for four pari-mutuels who want to operate within an eight-mile radius.

"Why within such a small radius has pari-mutuels become so lucrative?" Fox asked.

Robinson said the law pre-empts all city ordinances, regulations and resolutions from being enforced at a pari-mutuel wagering facility.

The issue appears almost certain to be decided in the courts or by the Legislature passing additional clarifying legislation, Robinson said.

Robinson said the law pre-empts all city ordinances, regulations and resolutions from being enforced at a pari-mutuel wagering facility.

2 Points Key To Fate Of Facility

The question of whether a horse racing track will be built in Lake Mary appears to be boiling down to two major points:

- (1) Whether the developer can build the track and related facilities at the existing site of Lake Emma Road or whether the city will have to grant a special exception to adopt a special ordinance rezoning it.
- (2) Whether the developer can build the track and related facilities at the existing site of Lake Emma Road or whether the city will have to grant a special exception to adopt a special ordinance rezoning it.

To the latter question, Marc Robinson, a principal in the proposed Sunshine Park, says the city has no control of the zoning. The city, through its attorney Gary Massey, says the city has the final say.

Opinions from various officials differ on the proper interpretation of the state law, passed, according to Robinson, at 10 p.m. on the last day of the 1980 session. Dr. Warren Morgan, staff director of the House of Representatives Regulated Industries Committee, says the law applies to both existing and proposed racing facilities.

David Maloney, assisting general counsel of the state Department of Business Regulation, says the law applies only to existing facilities.

State Rep. Robert Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs, says the law applies only to existing facilities. "The legislative technique," Rep. Bobby Brantley, R-Longwood, says the law is so broad it could be interpreted to apply to both.

Maloney said the law's pre-emption does not apply to zoning. Hattaway agrees. "If Lake Mary doesn't approve the zoning, the track cannot be built," Hattaway said.

Brantley is not certain whether the law pre-empts zoning. Hattaway voted for the law. Brantley voted against.

City Attorney Gary Massey is certain the law does not pre-empt zoning, he said.

Judge's Ruling Keeps Auto-Train Chugging

By DAVID M. RAZLER
Herald Staff Writer

Auto-Train Corp. can keep running even if the company cannot pay for its trains and train crews in advance, a federal judge ruled this morning.

Shortly before 10 a.m., Washington, D.C., Bankruptcy Court Judge Roger Whelan ruled in favor of an Auto-Train bankruptcy trustee's petition preventing Seaboard Coast Line Inc. from demanding payment of $19,000 a day before the passenger and auto transports run.

The ruling means Auto-Train will not have to halt operations because it cannot meet Seaboard's 24-hour-in-advance deadline for payment. If the ruling is allowed to stand, Auto-Train should be able to continue in operation while attempts are made to reorganize the debt-ridden company, a company spokesman said.

The judge also cleared the way for Auto-Train to pay its bills to Seaboard with uncollected credit card receipts for ticket sales and told the trustee he must make every attempt to pay Seaboard's weekly bill for service.

The order, backed by a 17-page opinion, was granted over the objections of Seaboard and its subsidiary the Richmond, Fredericksberg and Potomac Railroad, which demanded Auto-Train abide by an agreement signed last month which stated Auto-Train could only run if the two railroads received a total of $23,000 before they ran.

Seaboard and the Richmond, Fredericksberg and Potomac Railroad own the tracks between Sanford and Lertze, Va. which make up the Auto-Train route.

Seaboard also supplies the train-operating crews which drive Auto-Train's engines along the route.

Auto-Train owes Seaboard about $4.5 million. Seaboard and the Richmond, Fredericksberg and Potomac are guarantors of $2.5 million of an Auto-Train loan.

Although Auto-Train signed an agreement with Seaboard last month stating the carrier would pay the railway for services before the trains left, Auto-Train, legally bankrupt and reorganizing since Sept. 5, was never able to make the pre-payments by the 24-hour deadline set.

Last week, Auto-Train's court-appointed trustee Murray Drabkin went before Whelan to block Seaboard from cutting off service.

Whelan ruled today Auto-Train must do everything possible to pay the bill, but Seaboard and the Richmond, Fredericksberg and Potomac can not cut off service without having its injunction legally overturned.

An Interstate Commerce Commission staff member working close to the Auto-Train investigation said last week he expected the decision of the bankruptcy court to be appealed no matter which party won.

Seaboard spokesman, Owen Pride, said this morning company attorneys had not yet read the decision and did not know if an appeal would be filed.

If Seaboard takes an appeal, it will go to the Washington, D.C. Federal District Court.

The trustee was directed to file papers allowing the court to place a lien against Auto-Train for any money owed Seaboard for current runs that could not be immediately paid.

Whelan did deny an Auto-Train demand Seaboard cut its fees, but ordered Seaboard to begin itemizing its bill for services next week.

The company employs about 500 persons, about 350 of whom live in Sanford near the company's rail yards.

Iraq Military Pounds Key Iranian Oil Port

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI) — Iraqi artillery, tanks and war planes pounded the Iranian oil port of Khorramshahr today, inflicting "very heavy" civilian casualties, and the Baghdad regime announced it was ready to enter peace talks with Tehran.

Both sides mounted new air attacks on each other's oil installations in the fifth day of the undeclared war, Iraq said Thursday. Its forces had captured Khorramshahr on the disputed Shatt Al-Arab waterway but backed off the claim today, saying it was "premature."

An Iranian military communique said Khorramshahr was under attack from the land and air and that civilian casualties in the port and the nearby refinery city of Abadan, also under Iraqi siege, were "very heavy."

The city (Khorramshahr) is withstanding the enemy's severest attack from four directions," the communique said.

Baghdad, in an apparent propaganda attempt to ruin

Iranian morale, reported Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini had died and said "to hell with him." Iran vigorously denied the report and broadcast Khomeini's voice as proof he was still alive.

Meanwhile, President Carter has proposed a meeting of the world's major industrial powers to discuss ways of ensuring safe navigation through the vital Hormuz Strait, Japanese reports said today.

There was no immediate comment by the White House on the reports.
