Boyd Resigns Commission Post

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Maureen Boyd, with tears spilling from her eyes, submitted her resignation from the Winter Springs City Commission this morning to City Clerk Mary Norton.

The city commission resignation will become effective at 8:59 a.m. Thursday. At 9 a.m. on Thursday, Mrs. Boyd is scheduled to be sworn in as a full-time Winter Park police officer.

The 30-year-old minister's wife and mother of three sons has been under fire since Attorney General Jim Smith forwarded an "informal" opinion dated Oct. 22 to the city, saying she was violating the state Constitution, which forbids dual office-holding, by serving on the Winter Springs Commission while she was also a reserve police officer.

"I don't want to jeopardize the city. That's why I resigned," Mrs. Boyd said.

She resigned even though City Attorney Frank Kruppenbacher, who has been city attorney for only one week, said Mrs. Boyd, in his opinion, was not violating the intent of the constitutional provision.

Mayor John Torcaso earlier this week, noting conflicts in legal opinions among attorneys, said Kruppenbacher's opinion would prevail in the issue.

Kruppenbacher said there are numerous other elected officials in similar positions as Mrs. Boyd throughout the state of Florida. But, he added, the city or Mrs. Boyd possibly could have become involved in a legal proceeding to resolve the issue.

He said that according to the city charter the remaining four members of the commission will nominate and appoint a replacement for Mrs. Boyd. The appointee will serve the remaining two years of her term.

Torcaso said he will call a special workshop meeting Tuesday to discuss replacement.

An appointment is expected at the city's Dec. 14 regular meeting.

Torcaso, who arrived at city hall on North Edgemon shortly after the resignation was turned in, embraced the tearful Mrs. Boyd, saying to her, "I hate to see this happen. It's been a good three years."

He said he was surprised at the resignation. "I was backing her all the way," Torcaso said. "I saw no conflict."

"Even with Maureen resigning, I hope we find out the real meaning of the constitutional provision," the mayor said.

Mrs. Boyd was one of the youngest city officials in the county when she was elected in 1979. She was re-elected to a three-year term in November 1981.

New City Commissioners Leanne Grove and Inez Linville were at city hall to give Mrs. Boyd their moral support.

Mrs. Grove was Mrs. Boyd's campaign chairman last year before an election campaign was found unnecessary when no one qualified to oppose her.

Mrs. Grove said, "Maureen made a selfless decision. She definitely has the best interests of the city in mind. It's a shame she found it necessary to resign."

Mrs. Linville also regretted the action. "Maureen has really been a commissioner longer than all of

Trailer Owner Must Fix Wiring

By MICHEAL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County building officials have ordered the owner of a trailer off West Lake Brantley Road in Forest City to correct a problem with exposed wires within 30 days.

The trailer was the focus of a controversy over the actions of Building Official Don Flippen, who removed condemnation signs from the trailer two weeks ago.

Flippen removed the signs on Nov. 15 after Tony Fakess, an inspector, had placed them on the structure earlier that day.

Flippen said Fakess had no right to place the signs on the trailer.

"The only problem we found was a set of exposed wires," Flippen said following the inspection. "The electrical system, the plumbing, the drainage and the structure itself have no hazards and this building never should have been condemned."

Flippen ordered the trailer's owner, Paul Snider, of Belpre, Ohio, to fix the exposed wires.

The controversy began when William Ashworth of 1012 W. Lake Brantley Road complained the trailer was in violation of building codes.

The complaints included that the property had exposed wiring, an open garbage pit and only one exit.

Fakess responded to Ashworth's complaints and agreed the trailer was unsafe.

But Flippen claimed Fakess should not have inspected the property without permission from his superiors.

Ashworth said Fakess was threatened with the loss of his job by placing the condemnation signs on the structure and took the matter to county officials.

County Attorney Nikki Clayton is investigating Ashworth's claims.

Flippen said Fakess may still face disciplinary action for conducting the inspection.

Ashworth said last week he will bring the matter up at the Dec. 6 county commissioners' meeting unless Fakess' original claim is allowed to stand. Ashworth also threatened a lawsuit in the matter. He was unavailable for comment today.

Ashworth lives beside the trailer, which was placed there in 1966.

Lines of people are continuous at the "Continued Claims" department of the Florida Unemployment Compensation Office in Sanford.

More Seek Jobs Unemployment Claims Here Drop Slightly

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

The lines of jobless workers outside the building shared by the Florida State Employment Service and the Unemployment Compensation Bureau at 200 S. French Ave. in Sanford have been longer than usual lately.

But unemployment claims are now holding fairly steady.

Nita Healle, manager of the local bureau, attributed a rush of people to file for unemployment compensation last week to the fact that the office was only open three days because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

In the Sanford area, she said that the number of unemployment compensation claims is actually decreasing. There are more farm workers going back to work after seasonal layoffs and the citrus workers will go back this week, she explained.

Ms. Healle said that since September a federal supplement has provided an additional six weeks maximum benefits to those still unemployed after the previous 26-week maximum. They had to come in and reapply. But now, she said, if such persons are still unemployed after 26 weeks and meet the federal criteria, they automatically go on to receive more benefits.

Meanwhile, Florida State Employment Service office Manager Tim McCauley is being swamped by job seekers.

He recently processed more than 700 job applications in one week.

"People are frustrated and desperate," said McCauley. "The hiring that does occur is snatched up in a matter of minutes."

He pointed out that while the number of unemployed persons looking for work has increased, his staff hasn't. Funds for employment services have been cut, he said.

Seminole County's unemployment rate climbed to 6.3 percent for October, but remained the lowest in Central Florida.

2 Seminole Insulation Firms Sued

A Longwood firm and an Oviedo company are included in suits filed by the Florida attorney general, claiming many new homes are not as energy efficient as their owners believe.

Attorney General Jim Smith on Tuesday said crooked builders and attic inspectors have cheated homeowners.

One of the two Seminole County firms included in the attorney general's suit denies that.

Smith, Public Service Commission Chairman Joe Cresce and PSC member Gerald Gunter disclosed Tuesday a two-year investigation that turned up rampant fraud in the home insulation business.

Fifty-seven percent of 639 homes inspected during the investigation had less attic insulation than paid for by the homeowner and necessary to comply with the state's new energy conservation building code.

Smith filed suit earlier Tuesday against several firms suspected of improper insulation work—Magic Triangle Inc. of Longwood, James Lewis Insulation of Orlando, International Community Corp., Orlando, Bel-Aire Homes of Plantation and J.E. Yelvington and Son of Oviedo.

Bruce Eckstein, owner of Magic Triangle Inc., of Longwood said "the state attorney general completely distorted our position."

Eckstein said the firm would go to court, if necessary, in the case.

He said the firm's lawyers would allow him to make no further comments.

A spokesman for Yelvington & Sons of Oviedo was unavailable for comment today.

He said he has negotiated out-of-court settlements with two other firms, U.S. Home Corp. of Sarasota and Tampa and Hallmark Insulation of Orlando.

U.S. Homes has agreed to test insulation in four-thousand homes it constructed over the last two years and install additional insulation where needed, all free of charge.

Hallmark will also correct any problems in houses it has insulated, although the company has no estimate yet of the number of homes it will be inspecting.

Negotiations are under way or planned with 13 other companies accused of improper insulation practices and investigations are just beginning in new home subdivisions in Tallahassee, West Palm Beach, Clearwater, Fort Lauderdale, Orlando, Sarasota, Daytona Beach, Tampa and the Panhandle.

"I intend to pursue these cases until the homeowners who have been cheated are retrained (the proper amount of insulation put in) or reimbursed for their loss," Smith said.

The investigation has been confined to new homes and blown, loose-fill attic insulation, Smith said, but similar problems probably exist with older homes and other kinds of insulation including foam going inside walls.

Homeowners who suspect they might not have the proper insulation can ask their builder for an insulation verification or get a home energy audit conducted by their local utility.

When they find improper insulation and the builder or insulator refuses to correct the problem, they should complain to Smith's office, the PSC or their local state attorney.

The investigation by Smith and the PSC was aided by four power companies, Florida Power & Light, Florida Power, Tampa Electric and Gulf Power, and triggered by complaints from legitimate home insulating companies that they were being underbid by crooked competitors.

Companies were able to come in with low bids because they intended to put in less insulation than required by the contract, Smith said. In many cases, the builder was cheated just as the purchaser of the home was, but builders must take responsibility for acts by subcontractors.

Drug-Trafficking Suspect

Lake Mary Doctor Gave Morphine To Patient

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

While an Orlando man accused of having almost 29 grams of morphine says the drug was given to him by his doctor, the now-suspended Lake Mary physician denies he prescribed the narcotic but refused to elaborate Tuesday, invoking his Fifth Amendment right during a trial which is expected to be concluded in Seminole Circuit Court today.

Francis Vitale, 38, of Orlando, was arrested at about 1:30 a.m. Sept. 2 after his vehicle was stopped on Lake Mary Boulevard by Lake Mary police driving in the wrong lane.

Police said Vitale, appeared to be under the influence of drugs and was arrested. During a search, two vials of morphine were found in his pants pocket and several syringes were discovered under the car console, police said.

Vitale is charged with trafficking in morphine, and because the amount of the prescription-only drug he is charged with possessing exceeds four grams, he could face a minimum mandatory sentence of 25 years in prison and a $25,000 fine, prosecutors said.

However, prosecutor Steve Brady and Vitale's lawyer, Robert J. Buonauro of Orlando, said Tuesday that the issue is not whether Vitale possessed the drug, but whether he possessed it legally by having a prescription from Dr. Robert L. Bevier.

Vitale testified Tuesday that he was on his way home from Bevier's home when police stopped him about two miles from the physician's house. Vitale said he had been in "extreme pain" from back injuries and burns on his arm he sustained months earlier and had gone to the doctor's home and received an injection from Bevier to ease the pain.

Vitale said he did not know that Bevier had administered morphine and that the two vials Bevier allegedly gave Vitale contained morphine.

"He (Bever) gave me a shot and told me to lie down on the couch and that he was going to bed because it was late," Vitale said. "I woke up later and decided I didn't want to spend the night in his house so I took the medicine he gave me and left."

Bever, who said he knew Vitale "as a patient" and had been treating him for back pain and arm burns from July 15 until Aug. 6, denied that he gave Vitale a shot or the vials of morphine.

Vitale said he did not pay for the "prescription" then because "the doctor went to bed and he always bills me."

However, when Bevier was asked by Buonauro if Vitale visited his home on Sept. 2 and if he had given the defendant an injection of morphine and two vials of the drug, Bevier refused to answer, invoking his Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination on the advice of his lawyer Dick Marnela who guided his client through testimony with hand signals from the audience.

Buonauro continued to question Bevier concerning the alleged drug prescription, and Vitale's claims that he visited the doctor's Lake Mary home, but Bevier was adamant in his refusal to respond.

Bever did say, however, that he had prescribed Valium, Nubane and Demerol for Vitale but that he "never injected anyone in my office with morphine." Bevier added that it would be "outrageous" to prescribe 29 grams of morphine to anyone.

"With that much morphine, you wouldn't even have to embalm," he said. "Yes, that much morphine, or even half that much, would kill a person."

"I made a house visit (to Vitale) one time," Bevier said. "He said he was in a lot of pain and couldn't come to my office. I administered Nubane, a non-narcotic drug with the same pain-killing properties as morphine, and gave him some antibiotics."

Vitale claims that Bevier came to his Orlando home "on several occasions" and that the doctor had previously left syringes and medicines for Vitale, teaching him how to

NATION IN BRIEF

Abortion Question Before The Supreme Court Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Reagan administration, which opposes abortion, is urging the Supreme Court to let stand state and local restrictions on when a woman may end her pregnancy.

The Supreme Court, Monday, nearly a decade after it legalized abortion, was told by a top federal attorney not to meddle in state and local matters he said could be better handled by the jurisdictions.

Solicitor General Rex Lee's lecture about state's rights came during three hours of arguments on challenges to restrictions on obtaining abortions imposed by Virginia and Akron, Ohio.

Gas Tax Hike Supported

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The proposed gasoline tax hike to fund road and bridge repair has wide support on Capitol Hill, but there likely may be some changes in the White House's measure before Congress passes it.

Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis was to defend the nickel-a-gallon proposal at a House Ways and Means Committee hearing today against a host of critics ranging from the American Truckers Association to the National Conference of State Legislators.

Both organizations favor the general thrust of the legislation, which would raise $5.5 billion a year and generate an estimated 320,000 jobs, but are calling for some revisions to safeguard their respective turfs.

Actress O'Neill Freed

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (UPI) — Actress Jennifer O'Neill, a gun control advocate who accidentally shot herself in the stomach Oct. 22, was charged with illegal weapons possession and was freed today on her own recognizance.

But her husband, because of a 1976 conviction, faces a more serious felony charge in the shooting and posted $1,000 bail for his release Tuesday.

The couple pleaded innocent to weapons possession charges at their arraignment in Westchester County Court Tuesday. They refused to speak with reporters on their way out of the courthouse.

Authorities said the revolver used in the shooting was not registered in the state.

Western Storm Kills 11

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An Arctic storm rode 80 mph winds along the length of the California coast, pushing homes into the surf, setting off avalanches, mudslides and floods and killing at least 11 people. Hundreds of thousands of people were without power.

The storm and its harsh winds Monday night and Tuesday morning toppled utility poles, uprooted trees, shattered glass in office highrises and ripped roofs from homes and office buildings before moving into Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: The storm that ravaged the California coast and killed 11 people moved into Arizona with 60 mph winds and dumped 4 inches of rain. Thunderstorms in the Southeast created a tornado in Mississippi that leveled an abandoned farmhouse. Arizona was besieged Tuesday by torrential 4-inch rains and 60-mph winds in the south and up to 7 inches of snow in the north—causing numerous car accidents, tearing down tree limbs and knocking out traffic lights. A 15-foot mudslide rolled across U.S. Highway 89A near Flagstaff, where snow fell at the rate of 2 inches an hour, stacking up at least 7 inches by midnight. Thick fog shrouded parts of the Midwest, freezing drizzle glazed Minnesota and thunderstorms battered the Louisiana coast. Thunderstorms rumbled through western Louisiana across Kentucky, into Tennessee, the northwest half of Mississippi and North Carolina. A small tornado touched down 10 miles south of Columbia, Miss., destroying an unoccupied farm house and uprooting large trees. Flash-flood watches were in effect from northeastern Mississippi to west-central Louisiana. Dense fog shrouded much of south and southeast Texas, reducing visibility to near zero along the coast. Fog and drizzle also reduced visibility to near zero around the Sioux City, Iowa, area and in southern Wisconsin.

Kennedy Won't Seek Presidency In '84

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., bowing to the emotional wishes of his family and the political assessment of his advisers, has decided not to run for president in 1984, published reports say.

Kennedy, who unsuccessfully sought to win the Democratic presidential nomination from Jimmy Carter two years ago, was to announce his decision at a news conference today, sources close to him were quoted as saying.

An aide to House Speaker Thomas O'Neill said Kennedy was to meet with the speaker prior to facing reporters, but said he did not know the subject of their discussion.

Withdrawal of Kennedy from the presidential race would likely make former Vice President Walter Mondale the Democratic front-runner, although other candidates may now emerge.

CBS News said Kennedy also had decided not to run because he felt President Reagan would run for reelection in 1984 and believes he can run in 1988.

A source was quoted by the Daily News of New York as saying the family believed 1988 would be a better time to make a bid, noting his children would be out of school and his pending divorce would be behind him.

The Boston Globe quoted sources today as saying Kennedy was advised not to run by family members he met with during the Thanksgiving holiday on Cape Cod and political associates whose counsel he values most.

His political advisers told him his chances of being elected through polls in 1984 were not good even though polls show him to be the early favorite, the Globe said.

Regardless of his chances, his children, Kara, 22, Ted Jr., 21, and Patrick, 15, urged him not to run, said the Daily News in New York.

"They all went out for a sail, he and the children, and talked it through," a source told the News. "All of them were against it."

"They did not want to go through it again, the personal agony, the physical drain and the possible anguish of losing again. They were very adamant — it was too much."

The source said "there was feeling throughout the family everything would be more settled over the next six years, the kids would be older and out of school. The divorce would be far behind them; everybody would have calmed down from 1980. It was generally felt 1988 was a much better time to think again about the presidency."

The Globe reported Kennedy conducted a series of meetings with his staff Tuesday who afterward were "unavailable to reporters."

Without Kennedy in the 1984 race, Mondale would emerge as the leading Democrat. Other possible party nominees include Sens. John Glenn, D-Ohio, Alan Cranston, D-Calif., and Gary Hart, D-Colo.

Former Carter administration pollster Patrick Caddell and former Carter White House press secretary Jody Powell, speaking on ABC's Nightline, said Kennedy's reported decision to withdraw breaks the 1984 Democratic race wide open.

"I assume there's going to be massive confusion. Everyone's going to be running around trying to assess this. There will be a floodgate of candidates ... like the Kentucky Derby," Caddell said.

STICKING TOGETHER

When the going gets tough, the tough stick together — even when it means admission to the hospital. Such was the case recently at Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford. Alberta Robinson, 80, stands at her 104-year-old mother's bedside. Nellie Hagins and her daughter were admitted to the medical facility on the same day but for different reasons, and they were placed in the same room for obvious reasons. Both reside in Sanford.

Tylenol Poisoning Figure Asked To Take A Lie Test

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An unemployed mechanic waived extradition to Illinois to take lie detector tests about the Chicago Tylenol-cyanide slayings but authorities said they doubt he is the poisoner.

Kevin Masterson, 35, who ran from police for a month after learning he was wanted for questioning in the killings, faced arraignment today on a warrant from DuPage County, Ill., charging him with possession of marijuana.

Masterson had agreed to waive extradition and Illinois officials said Tuesday they hoped to have him returned soon — perhaps today. Masterson calmly walked into an FBI office Monday and surrendered after living in his car in the desert.

Illinois Attorney General Tyrone Fahner, who heads the investigation of the seven Extra-Strength Tylenol slayings, said, "I don't think he will turn out to be the one."

Masterson of Lombard, Ill., was not a suspect, Fahner said, but "made statements to various people he had a role in the poisoning." However, Fahner said, Masterson had "problems in the past."

"I think he will turn out to be someone who has said or done things, but is not the one responsible."

Masterson will be asked to take a lie detector test to determine "whether he has a substantial or nonexistent role," Fahner said.

A nationwide search continued for

James W. Lewis and his wife, Leann. Lewis was named in a federal extortion warrant, accused of writing a letter to the makers of Tylenol demanding $1 million "if you want to stop the killing."

Friends told investigators Masterson held a grudge against Jewel Food Stores for filing shoplifting charges against his wife in 1975, which he reportedly blamed for the breakup of his marriage. Some of the cyanide victims purchased the poisoned Tylenol capsules at Jewel stores.

Fahner said police found "different and bizarre" writings at Masterson's apartment, along with "empty gelatin capsules, the kind used for any capsule drug."

The Shriners Are Coming To Sanford

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Approximately 500 Shriners and their wives from five counties are expected to descend on Sanford this Friday and Saturday for the 1982 Fall Ceremonial of the Bahia Temple of Orlando.

One of the highlights of the weekend will be a parade beginning at 10:45 a.m. Saturday in downtown Sanford.

This will be the first time since 1964 that the Sanford Shriners have hosted the event in Sanford. Harold Kastner was potentate in 1964. According to Ernie Cowley, president of the Sanford Shrine Club, the fall ceremonial is being held here again because T. Bruce Ballinger of Longwood, reigning potentate, is a member of the Sanford Shrine Club.

Most Worshipful Grand Master Harvey B. Eddy of Winter Park, head of Florida's Masons, will be guest of honor. The Imperial Sir Randolph Thomas of Jacksonville, highest ranking Shriner in North America, will give a "thank-you" party Friday night at the Sanford Shrine Club for the Bahia Temple, which was host to the Shrine's international convention held in June at Walt Disney World.

The Bahia Temple, which includes Shrine Clubs from Seminole, Orange, Osceola, Lake and Volusia counties, will induct 59 new candidates.

Headquarters hotel for the Fall Ceremonial will be the Holiday Inn Lakeside. Climaxing the two-day event will be a banquet and ceremonial ball Saturday night at the Sanford Civic Center.

The festivities will begin Saturday with a bring-your-own-bottle cocktail party at 7 p.m., followed by the banquet at 8 p.m. and ball at 9 p.m.

The only part of the program that will be open to the public is the all-Shriners parade, which will form at Laurel and Fulton streets and proceed east on First Street to Lee Avenue ending at the Sanford Shrine Club. Some of the Shrine units scheduled to participate in the parade are the motorcycle drill team, the clown team, the Oriental Band, and the candidates.

Sessions also will be held on Friday night and Saturday afternoon at the Sanford Middle School.

donated by the Flagship and Southeast banks to winners Susana and Kevin Huaman.

Huamans Reign As King, Queen

A brother-sister team, Kevin and Susana Huaman, will reign as king and queen of the annual Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Christmas Parade to be held Saturday, Dec. 11, in downtown Sanford.

The pair collected $1,538 in votes (at a penny a vote) to win the contest.

Kevin, a 17-year-old Bishop Moore High School senior, and Susana, 16, a Seminole High School junior, are the children of Dr. and Mrs. Gonzalo Huaman of 105 N. Virginia Ave. in Sanford. Their sponsor was the Kiwanis Club of Sanford.

and Tim Dycus, 16, both of Sanford. They collected $1,311.24. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Deere of 119 Oaks Court, Bridget is a Seminole High senior. Tim, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Dycus of 2306 Mellonville Ave. in Sanford, is a Seminole High junior. They were sponsored by the Rotary Club of Sanford.

Other contestants and their totals are: Cathy Brandvold, 16, of Longwood, and Tim Winkler, 17, of Longwood, sponsored by the Daniel Cloggers, $1,044.94; Marsha Sawctuk, 17; and Jeffrey Dickey, 16, both of Sanford, sponsored by the Sanford Veterans of Foreign Wars Post and Auxiliary and McRoberts Tires, $216.14; and Chris Tillis, 15, of Sanford, and Dale Sims, 15, of Lake Mary, sponsored by the Garden Club of Sanford, $80.61.

The money collected will go toward parade expenses and lighted Christmas decorations for downtown Sanford, contest Chairman Martha Yancey said. She said this year's total was more than double the amount raised by last year's contestants.

The king and queen each received $50 in cash and will ride in the parade which will begin at 10 a.m. on Dec. 11. The other contestants will form the court and also will ride in the parade.

The theme for this year's parade will be "Christmas Joy in the Morning."

The final tally was made Tuesday night at the chamber of commerce building and winners announced.

A total of $4,190.93 was raised by the five competing couples.

Runners-up were Bridgette Deere, 17,

Economy Struggles Upward A Bit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As the government's index of leading economic indicators struggled upward by 0.3 percent, President Reagan gave in to political realities and abandoned the idea of an early tax cut to stimulate the economy.

The Commerce Department reported Tuesday climbing stock prices and a revised 16.9 percent surge in October's building permits offset sharp drops in new orders to keep the index on the positive side — the sixth improvement in seven months.

The stock rally continued Tuesday as the Dow Jones industrial average increased 36.43 points, closing at 1,039.28 with the biggest gain since a record 63.41-point explosion Nov. 3.

The Commerce Department, in an unusual correction issued seven hours after the original report, said a 0.6 percent increase first reported for October had been miscalculated.

Instead, a severe downturn in new orders during October held improvement to only 0.2 percent. Except for August, when the index declined, it was the smallest increase in the past seven months.

Another Mental Health Official Resigns; Cites Management Ills

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

For the fourth time in three months, a supervisor at the Seminole County Mental Health Center has resigned citing management difficulties at the facility as the reason.

In a letter to four members of the center's board of directors, clinical supervisor Patricia Barber said a power shift has taken place at the center over the past few months during which control was taken from three program managers, including herself, and concentrated among three board members who "share a management style based upon intimidation and coercion."

Ms. Barber, whose resignation becomes effective Friday, said in her letter that Dr. George Lindenfeld, the center's executive director, and directors Robin Remakius LaBreck and Lucille Crone were anxious to get rid of staff members who did not share their ideas.

Ms. Barber's resignation was expected, Lindenfeld said, adding that funding cutbacks forced the elimination of her program for the handicapped and retarded.

Board President William Fernandez, who made waves himself in September by threatening to sue Seminole County commissioners for a larger allocation of funds, called Ms. Barber a "very competent and very qualified individual."

Fernandez said an independent consultant will conduct an annual review of Lindenfeld's performance in January. A tour by state and local mental health authorities in October cited several problems at the center and recommended changes to improve morale.

Another supervisor, Program Manager John Rape resigned his post in September following the closing of the Omega Workshop for rehabilitating disabled men. Rape listed two pages of complaints against Lindenfeld in his letter of resignation.

Outpatient Services Director David Fleischmann's resignation in September led to an investigation by the center's board of directors. Three employees were suspended during the investigation, but were later reinstated.

Two weeks ago, another employee cited management problems in his resignation from the center. Dr. R.E. Ballantine, a psychiatric consultant, complained that his hours had been reduced by Lindenfeld.

IN BRIEF

Judge: Graham Should Stop Signing Execution Orders

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A Panama City federal judge says Gov. Bob Graham shouldn't sign any more death warrants until an Atlanta court resolves a major challenge to Florida's capital punishment law. But Graham intends to continue signing warrants.

The Florida Clearinghouse on Criminal Justice, an anti-death penalty group, disclosed Tuesday that Judge Lynn Higby recently scolded Attorney General Jim Smith for not advising Graham to hold off on ordering executions for the time being.

The clearinghouse distributed an order by Higby concluding that Graham should impose a moratorium on death warrants while the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta decides if the Florida Supreme Court's use of secret reports when reviewing death cases is proper.

More Budget Cuts Needed

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — State agencies might have to cut another $167 million in programs and people to help Gov. Bob Graham balance next year's government budget.

Glenn Robertson, Graham's deputy director of planning and budgeting, said Tuesday the cuts are strictly in the planning stage right now, but they could become a reality next spring when the Legislature puts together a new state spending plan.

They could mean widespread layoffs and serious cuts in state services.

IN BRIEF

Animal Rights Group Claims Responsibility For Bombing

LONDON (UPI)—Scotland Yard sought a mysterious animal rights group today that claimed it sent letter bombs to five top British politicians, including one that exploded at Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's official residence.

Mrs. Thatcher, who was in her office Tuesday at No. 10 Downing Street when the incendiary bomb ignited, was unharmed.

The "Animal Rights Militia," a previously unknown organization, said in a note inside the parcel sent to Downing Street it was responsible.

Office Manager Peter Taylor, 54, was the only person injured in the Downing Street blast, receiving hospital treatment for scorched cheeks and hair.

The radical Irish National Liberation Army claimed responsibility for the attack in a call to a Belfast radio station but Scotland Yard discounted the claim.

Habib Meets With Fahd

United Press International

U.S. Middle East envoy Philip Habib met privately in Morocco with Saudi King Fahd and Washington indicated it was "seriously considering" sending more U.S. troops to support the fragile Lebanese government.

U.S. officials had no details of Habib's meeting Tuesday with the Saudi monarch, but it was believed Habib and Fahd discussed President Reagan's Sept. 1 peace plan calling for a Palestinian autonomous region in the Israeli-occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip linked to Jordan.

Gunman Rapes Girl, Attacks Sister And Mother

A man armed with a handgun entered a south Seminole County home early Tuesday, bound and raped a 14-year-old girl then attacked her mother and teenage sister.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies said the man entered the home located just north of Winter Park at about 6 a.m. through an unlocked sliding glass door.

The gunman then walked into the bedroom where the two sisters were sleeping, awoke one of them and attempted to sexually assault her but stopped and bound her with a pair of nylon hose, deputies said.

The intruder went into another bedroom and awoke the teens' mother and took her into the girl's bedroom where she was also tied up, deputies said.

The man then awoke the 14-year-old youth and led her into a hallway where he raped her, deputies said.

Deputies said the attacker used hosiery and telephone lines to tie up his victims.

SANFORD MAN FREED

A 27-year-old Sanford man has been released from the Seminole County jail after posting $500 bond following his arrest for interfering with a police investigation and dropping his pants in a crowded game room.

Thomas Lee Manner, of 1811 W. 16th St., was charged with exposing his sexual organs, resisting arrest without violence and disorderly intoxication, jail officials said.

Police said they responded to Joe's Variety Store at 1301 W. 13th St. in reference to a disturbance there at about 11 p.m. Saturday. During their investigation, a man walked up to them and began demanding to know why police were at the game room.

Police said they instructed the man not to interfere with their investigation and when the man persisted, asked him for identification.

The man began shouting his name then emptied his pockets and pulled down his pants.

upon or in the presence of a child.

Donald C. Nichols, 40, of 685 Diane Circle, was released after posting $5,000 bond, jail officials said.

Casselberry police arrested Nichols after three girls, ages 7, 11, and 12, told them they had seen a man in their neighborhood exposing and fondling his genitals on three separate occasions.

SERVICE STATION ROBBED

A Casselberry service station was robbed of more than $100 by a man who matched the description of a gunman who tried to hold up a nearby restaurant less than an hour earlier.

Casselberry police said a man wearing a knit mask and armed with a gun walked into the Lake Howell Amoco service station, 855 Lake Howell Road, at about 7:40 p.m. Sunday and ordered two cashiers to hand over the money from the station's registers. The man then fled with $102.75 in a paper sack, police said.

Police said the gunman matched a description of a man who forced an employee of the S&S Cafeteria, 1420 Semoran Blvd., into the kitchen at about 7 p.m. Sunday. The man fled without stealing anything, police said.

FORMER NEWSMAN'S TRIAL DELAYED

The trial of a former Orlando Sentinel newspaper employee has been delayed for five weeks after the judge granted his request to switch lawyers.

Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffler agreed to delay the trial of Bruce Pedrick, 33, of Longwood, Tuesday after Pedrick asked that his public defender step down from the case and allow private lawyer Meredith Cohen to take over.

Hastings Trial Won't Be On TV

MIAMI (UPI) — A federal judge who will preside over the bribery-conspiracy trial of U.S. District Judge Alcee Hastings has rejected arguments that Hastings was singled out for prosecution because he is black.

Three days of pretrial hearings for Hastings, the first black federal judge in Florida and a former resident of Altamonte Springs, wind up today with arguments behind closed doors on whether to move the Jan. 10 trial.

The defense wants to move the proceedings to Fort Lauderdale because that is where Hastings and several of the witnesses live. The prosecution would prefer West Palm Beach because of extensive publicity in Fort Lauderdale and Miami.

Hastings is charged with conspiring to commit bribery and obstruct justice by accepting a $150,000 payoff from two New Jersey racketeers who wanted reduced sentences.

On Tuesday, U.S. District Judge Edward T. Gignoux rejected the defense claim the charges should be dismissed because they were the result of racial bias.

He said although 25 other federal judges have been investigated by the U.S. Justice Department without being prosecuted, Hastings' attorneys did not prove he was singled out.

Gignoux also denied a motion by Hastings' attorneys that the trial be televised. Gignoux said federal regulations prohibit the broadcasting of criminal trials by radio or television.

"No court has ever held or even suggested that there is a constitutional right to have a criminal trial broadcast," Gignoux said. "We have a flat-out rule (prohibiting the taping of criminal trials in federal court). There is no ambiguity."

Defense attorney William Waterman had argued that federal rules were not intended to be a "straitjacket" and could be ignored when there were "overriding circumstances."

"When the public cannot observe," Waterman said, "rumors spread." He said televising the trial was necessary to clear his client's name.

A group of TV and radio stations and press organizations had filed a separate motion asking that the trial be taped by broadcast media.

Gignoux also granted a motion by defense attorneys to suppress evidence they said was seized illegally from Hastings' office in October 1981.

The judge said prosecutors could not use as evidence desk calendars, a telephone message book and other documents taken from Hastings' office because they were seized without a warrant.

He also scheduled a hearing before the start of the trial Jan. 10 to determine whether any of the government's other evidence was obtained as a result of the illegal office raid.

Hastings' attorneys asked Gignoux last month to remove himself from the case, but he refused.

Gignoux, a federal judge from Maine assigned to the case, presided over the trial of Hastings' associate William Borders, a Washington attorney convicted of soliciting the bribe from two undercover agents.

Gignoux sentenced Borders, former president of the mostly black National Bar Association, to four five-year sentences.

Best Insurance Against War

The Reagan administration's efforts to enforce selective service registration suffered a recent setback, but not one that could not and should not be overcome.

U.S. District Court Judge Terry J. Hatter Jr. threw out the government's case against David Alan Wayte, a Pasadena man and former Yale philosophy student who had refused to register.

The judge concluded that the Justice Department's prosecution of Wayte was "discriminatory."

The basis for Hatter's finding was that Wayte, like most of the 13 men indicted for refusing to register, spoke out publicly against registration.

Defense lawyers argued that the Justice Department has concentrated its enforcement efforts against public dissenters and that this constitutes selective prosecution occasioned by the defendants' expression of First Amendment rights.

The Justice Department has denied these charges but hasn't offered a plausible explanation of why those who publicly oppose registration seem to run a disproportionate risk of prosecution.

The Justice Department also all but invited dismissal of the charges by failing to comply with Hatter's order to produce White House and Pentagon documents dealing with prosecution policy.

Similarly, the government invoked "executive privilege" in refusing Hatter's order for testimony from Presidential Counselor Ed Meese, a member of the administration's Military Manpower Task Force.

The question of selective prosecution does raise constitutional issues the government could have avoided if it had indicted at least equal numbers of men who refused to register but said nothing publicly.

Doing so in the future should eliminate claims of selective prosecution as a defense.

Hatter also held that the 1980 presidential proclamation reviving registration was invalid because it took effect seven days before the customary 30-day period allowed under federal regulations for public comment.

This is strictly a technicality and Hatter's finding constitutes nitpicking at its worst.

Selective service registration was duly approved by Congress and endorsed by two successive administrations.

Both Congress and the executive branch deem it a contribution to national security. More than 93 percent of the young men required to register to date have done so.

The next round of indictments could resolve the issue of selective prosecution and it is difficult to believe that Hatter's nitpicking will not be overturned on appeal.

We are pleased to note that Attorney General William French Smith plans to get on with the job of enforcing a law that was duly enacted, enjoys the support of the vast majority of Americans, and that does in fact contribute to a stronger defense posture — the best insurance against war.

"I thought it was just the PLAYERS who were going to approach every game as if it were a playoff game!"

By SAM COOK

It was a long, hot summer for opponents of Seminole Community College Raider tennis players.

No, the defending junior college champions haven't cranked up an off-season league. Coach Larry Castle doesn't have to. His players know where the best tournaments are and they seek them out. More often than not beating teammates for titles.

Take Mike Pernfors for example. Last year, the Malmo, Sweden resident was considered the best JUCO player in the United States, according to Castle. That was after he won a state championship. This summer, he bided his time by winning the singles and doubles titles at the Gatorade Classic and the Errol Estates Open.

How about freshman Tobias Sventesson, another Malmo, Sweden product. All he did was beat Pernfors and teammate Greg Miller to capture the SCC Benefit Tournament at the Altamonte Springs Racquet Club.

Phillip Treen is another freshman. He's from England. He collected the Sun Bank Men's Tournament title in Cocoa Beach by beating the number 1 player from Flagler College in the semifinals and Miller in the finals.

Miller, incidentally, didn't just come up with a handful of second place finishes. The Marengo, Ill. resident won the Orlando Vacation Resort Men's title. He beat another teammate, Don Merritt, in the finals to do it. Miller, a sophomore, was an all-stater last year for the Raiders.

The Inter-County Basketball Association

(ICBA) makes its debut this Thursday with an exhibition game at Rollins College in Winter Park.

South Seminole and Tuskawilla's eighth grade boys will play a preliminary prior to the Rollins-Bryan College game. It is the first of a series of prelims for ICBA teams at Rollins, Stetson and Seminole Community College.

Deadline for teams to enter the ICBA is this week. There are sixth, seventh and eighth grade divisions in both boys and girls. League action will start after Christmas. A pre-league Christmas Tournament, open to ICBA and outside teams, will begin on Dec. 18.

Interested teams can contact Mickey Norton at 831-6786.

GOP's Hopes Dashed

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Before we bid a last farewell to Campaign '82, one topic merits attention: the way in which redistricting affected voting for the House of Representatives.

As a result of the 1980 census, 17 House seats shifted from the traditionally Democratic Northeast and Midwest to the South and West, which are thought of as both conservative and Republican.

When this shift was first announced, the GOP—bolstered by the fact that Ronald Reagan took all 11 of the states that were to receive new House seats—expressed confidence that it might pick up all 17 seats.

In fact, the Republicans announced a master plan to make their hope a reality: a multimillion-dollar effort, using the best computers available, to ensure that the states' redistrictings would favor the GOP.

"Not to worry," countered the Democrats. Their planners noted that redistricting is primarily a product of backroom political give and take at the state and local level. They said that while the GOP might be able to commit more money to the process—as well as all of those computers—the Democrats had the edge in wheeling and dealing. In the end, said the Democrats, backroom politics would win out over technology.

They were right. Of the 17 newly created districts, Democrats won 10. The Republicans fared even worse than these numbers indicate: Most of the Democrats who won in the new districts are liberals, although they come from conservative states.

California is a perfect example of the way in which the Democrats out-maneuvered the GOP. The state picked up two seats due to population growth, and the state GOP envisioned these new districts as being in the fast-growing suburban areas, which form the backbone of California GOP support.

But along came Rep. Phil Burton, whose remapping plan was quickly approved by the Democratic-controlled legislature. The remap not only gave the Democrats the edge in both new districts, but nearly dissolved three old GOP-held districts—including those held by Reps. Barry Goldwater Jr. and Bob Dornan, two of Congress's most conservative members.

The state only received two new seats, but the redistricting effectively created five new or very different districts. On Nov. 2, voters in all five districts—three in the Los Angeles area and one each in San Diego and Fresno—elected very liberal Democrats.

Redistricting gave Democrats the edge in Tennessee, New Mexico, Arizona, Florida and Texas, although these states are traditionally conservative. In Texas, liberal Democrats won three new congressional districts in all; in Tennessee's new district, Democrat Jim Cooper defeated Sen. Howard Baker's daughter Cissy.

But the redistricting story involves more than just the new districts in the Sunbelt and the West. Eleven states lost House seats, and many others had to redistrict because of internal population shifts. In many of these states, the GOP hoped to pick up seats at the Democrats' expense due to population shifts from urban areas—the traditional Democratic strongholds—to the traditionally Republican suburbs. But the GOP was as disappointed here as it was with the expected gains from the new districts.

Dispute Delays War Unknown's Burial

WASHINGTON — The honoring of Vietnam veterans and dedication of their memorial in Washington last month went a long way toward healing the psychic wounds of that war. But another controversy has arisen, marked by the bickering and backstage maneuvering that characterized the conflict and its aftermath.

This unfortunate contest, which involves well-meaning people on both sides, concerns the efforts to bury the remains of an unidentified Vietnam soldier beside those of the two world wars and the Korean conflict at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery.

The problem is the great strides in scientific identification of remains that have been made since earlier wars. Families of men still listed as missing cling to the hope that someday their loved ones will be identified as among the bodies that are now "known but to God" despite the best efforts of the medical experts. Burial at Arlington would leave some families forever in doubt.

But some Pentagon officials want to go ahead and bury a Vietnam unknown anyway. They have four "candidates" for the honor — four sets of remains in Hawaii that they are certain will never be identified.

Leading the charge is Army Secretary John Marsh, a shavetail with the occupation forces in Germany at the end of World War II, a former Virginia congressman and a member of veterans and patriotic organizations. On June 16, Marsh drew up elaborate plans for the selection and burial of a Vietnam unknown, and submitted them in an "Action memorandum" to Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger.

This was the suggested scenario: — Selection of one of the four sets of remains by a highly decorated enlisted veteran of Vietnam, "preferably a recipient of the Medal of Honor."

— The remains not chosen to be buried at sea.

— The Navy to transport the unknown to San Francisco, with a Coast Guard cutter in escort.

— The Air Force to fly the unknown to Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington, D.C.

— The Army to take the unknown to the Capitol, where the casket would be placed in the Rotunda for 48 hours.

— The burial ceremony at Arlington to be held on Veterans Day.

Weinberger, evidently swayed by the argument that the four sets of remains were not beyond hope of identification, vetoed Marsh's plan.

But Marsh persevered. He enlisted the help of Rep. William Goodling, R-Pa., who introduced a resolution asking the White House to change its mind and expedite the honoring of a Vietnam unknown.

Smoking: Starting, Stopping

They gave a smokeout the other day and 19 million Americans came.

That's the American Cancer Society's rough count of the number of smokers who at least made the effort of abstaining from tobacco for the single day of the sixth annual Great American Smokeout Nov. 18.

It's more than a guess. It's a projection based on more than two thousand phone calls — a statistically valid sampling — to households throughout the nation the morning of the smokeout to determine participation.

The results were gratifying. The 19 million — more precisely, 19,080,000 — were three million more than expected and represent 36 percent of all American smokers. Women smokers participated to a greater extent (41 percent) than men (32 percent) — significant because smoking as a widespread habit among women is a later development than among men. Their numbers have continued to grow rapidly as the increase in men smokers has been tapering off.

Not all made it through the day, of course. And of those who did, most were lighting up again Nov. 19. But if the follow-up pattern of previous smokeouts holds true, more than a million of them will not be smoking a year from now, long enough to promise a good chance of being liberated for good and significantly increasing the ranks of the nation's ex-smokers, now estimated at more than 34 million.

So much for stopping, at least for the moment. There's another aspect to the smoking problem, and a tougher one to deal with.

A half million to a million smokers, by Cancer Society estimate, may bid tobacco a permanent farewell every year. But as many, and probably more, start smoking.

Almost all the beginners have one characteristic in common — extreme youth. You don't really need detailed proof — have you ever known anyone who began smoking at 30? At 40? But the statistics exist. A series of studies dating back to the late '60s indicates that smoking has become statistically significant among young Americans before they reach their teens. Between 1 and 2 percent have started at 10. In the 12-14 age range, 4.4 percent of the girls and 3.2 percent of boys are already puffing.

The great majority of smokers have started before they reach 20. Those who start before 15 statistically become the heaviest smokers and post the highest mortality rates. These figures come from a million-person study conducted by the Cancer Society.

Why do they start? For several reasons, $1.24 billion being one of them.

That's how much the Federal Trade Commission, in a current report, says the tobacco industry spent on cigarette advertising in 1980. The most ever.

Now who were all those newspaper and magazine ads, the billboards and sponsored athletic and music events aimed at? Your typical 40-year-old sports fan and 50-year-old rock concert-goer? Oh, come on now — you've been around too long to buy that.

The tobacco industry's party line is that it is not trying to make young people smoke but that once people are smoking, it wants their business. And you don't see members of the Pepsi generation in the ads.

But the acceptably mature role models you do see are intensely attractive to the young, and that's anything but coincidence. And as the FTC report observes, the advertising emphasis is on these smokers engaging "in vigorous activity in a clean, refreshing outdoor environment."

A Goodling aide told my associate Donald Goldberg he has been assured by the Army that the remains in Hawaii were beyond recognition. Despite lobbying from those who don't want to close the files on the unidentified bodies, Goodling is still pushing his resolution.

Meanwhile, press reports appeared to the effect that Weinberger had assured veterans' groups the ceremony was simply being delayed for a year. But Pentagon sources say Weinberger was out of the country when the reports appeared; they suspect the reports were planted to drum up support for Marsh's plan. They insist that neither the White House nor the Pentagon has any plans to go ahead with the burial.

Footnote: A spokesman for Marsh said he thought Weinberger was still waiting for a recommendation from the Army secretary. He was unaware that his boss had already made a recommendation, and that it had been turned down.

Wanna Write A Book?

If you think the difficult part is writing a book, you're wrong. The tough thing is promoting it.

This fall, I published a defense of, and indeed a celebration of, the 1950s called "When the Going Was Good: American Life in the Fifties" (Crown), and for the past six weeks I've been rotating around the country promoting it on TV and radio, which is fun up to a point. You get to meet a lot of nice people, and you acquire a sense of what the country is thinking. For example, the haired for Gov. Jerry Brown that I encountered in California was breath-taking. It's even possible that George Deukmejian won the California governorship on Brown's negative coat-tails.

But, doing three or four TV shows or radio shows a day, there comes a point where you wake up in the morning and you don't know whether you are in a hotel room in Santa Monica or an identical hotel room in Philadelphia.

Still, the book was fun to write, and I am finding that audiences across the country find it fun to talk and argue about the 1950s.

In "When the Going Was Good" I set out to refute the received stereotype of that period — that the Fifties were bland, conformist, and apolitical. I think I show that the Fifties were vibrant, contradictory, and more creative than any period since the 1920s.

Sometimes I play a game of "wish" with myself. Who, had I had it in my power, would I like to be? Winston Churchill? T.S. Eliot?

The possibilities of course are infinite. But sometimes I think I would like to have been either Richard Rodgers or Oscar Hammerstein in the early Fifties, with "South Pacific" setting consecutive performance records on Broadway, but with my second musical, "The King and I," beginning its run nearby. I would go to one or the other, and dine at Sardi's every night.

I argue in "When the Going Was Good" that Dwight Eisenhower was one of our greatest presidents, and I am now reviewing a new book by a Princeton political scientist, Fred Greenstein, that makes the case in an academic way.

Greenstein's book is called "The Hidden Hand Presidency," and it discerns that

Magnums For The Masses

In Kennesaw, Ga., Guns Are The Law

By TOM TIEDE

KENNESAW, Ga. (NEA) — The elected officials of this stuck-away Georgia community were subjected to a blitz of negative publicity earlier this year. And it's easy to see why. They enacted an ordinance in the city council that required the head of every home to own at least one firearm.

They said it was a public safety measure. The goal was to cut down crime. Reaction was widespread. Fault-finders here and elsewhere said it was unconstitutional, editorialists insisted that the people of Kennesaw would not obey it, and others decided that in any event the gun law simply would not work.

But that was in March. Today, nine months later, the local officials are happy to say the criticism has stopped, or turned into praise. They claim that the mandatory firearms ordinance has been a remarkable success, and that it has put the lie to each of the criticisms leveled against it.

One: The question of the law's constitutionality has become more or less academic. Kennesaw Mayor Darvis Purdy says the American Civil Liberties Union threatened to file an action last spring, but it eventually dropped the matter. The mayor says that the ACLU "knew it couldn't win the case."

Two: The people of the community are co-operating. Mayor Purdy says at least 90 percent of the male residents own rifles, or pistols, or a combination thereof. He goes on to suggest that Kennesaw may now have the highest number of gun owners per capita of any jurisdiction in the country.

And three: The mayor says crime has been drastically reduced since the arming. He reports there were only two house burglaries in Kennesaw from March through August, and there were 42 for a similar period last year; at the same time, the rate of armed robberies tumbled from four to none.

Thus the mayor concludes that the new gun law is "working wonderfully." And his delighted assessment is echoed by other officials and residents throughout the community. "The fact is that everybody feels more secure," says Dent Meyers, speaking for the majority. "We like the protection."

Meyers is a local businessman and personality who wears his protection around his waist. His nickname is "Wildman," he keeps his hair in a braid, he owns a cluttered shop that specializes in Civil War memorabilia, and he says he never goes anywhere here without a pair of pistols:

"That's what the law is all about. If somebody wants to start trouble, I'm ready for it. This one here is a .357 magnum. And this one is a .44 bulldog. I wear them so that people will see them. I want everybody to know that I've got the guns, and that I'm not afraid to use them."

So far Meyers has not had to use them. Neither has anyone else, apparently. Police say that since March there has only been one significant incident involving a firearm, and that was a suicide; otherwise, Police Chief Robert Truble says things have been "quiet and peaceful" in the town.

The chief adds that the quiet has extended to the once-heated debate over the gun law. He says the remaining few who oppose it have given up their fight. They tried to organize a protest march, he recalls, and there was talk of civil disobedience, "but it never came to anything."

Mayor Purdy notes that some critics are quiet because they are violating the new law. He says they haven't purchased firearms, and they don't want to draw attention to it. The penalty for not owning a gun here is 60 days in jail; violators are also liable for up to $200 in fines.

The mayor says that no one as yet has been charged with the offense. But he expects it may happen: "We are serious about this. The law is the law, and everyone has to own a gun. If we hear of anyone who doesn't, we'll get a search warrant, and if it's necessary we will prosecute."

Purdy thinks the prosecution would have public approval. And not just in Kennesaw. He says people from all over the nation have written to him, or have come to see for themselves, "and there's no doubt that most of them support the law, most of them think that it's a great idea."

Some of the writers and visitors have been so impressed that they have recommended the Kennesaw idea to their own communities. And in recent months, the mayor says, five or six other towns, from Palmer, Ill., to Chiloquin, Ore., have passed regulations requiring the ownership of weapons.

There has even been some talk about a movement for a national gun law. Some of it by Wildman Meyers. He says everyone should have a firearm.

"Wildman" Meyers of Kennesaw, Ga., says people like the protection that comes from having a gun. Under a law passed in March, everyone in the town must own a firearm. Local officials say the law is such a success that it's spreading to other communities.

Search For Digitalis

Antidote Finally Ends

BOSTON (UPI) — A search begun two centuries ago for a remedy to potentially fatal overdoses of a common heart tonic made from the foxglove plant ended recently in a Boston laboratory, a doctor reported today.

References to the harm caused by too much of the herb appeared in the medical literature as early as 1785. Digitalis, still made from the leaves of the foxglove, is now the eighth most prescribed drug in the United States — taken by 4 to 5 million Americans.

The drug has long been recognized as an effective heart tonic that strengthens the heart muscle contractions and corrects rhythm disorders.

However, an overdose of the drug causes rapid contractions of the heart muscle that doctors previously were unable to treat. If prolonged, it results in irreversible heart and brain damage.

The antidote is produced in sheep injected with molecules of digoxin, a type of digitalis.

"Although digitalis is a mainstay of cardiac therapy and exceedingly important in treatment, physicians have long recognized there is a narrow margin between therapeutic dose and toxicity," said Dr. Thomas W. Smith, chief of the cardiovascular division at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston.

Results of a study of 26 patients, from 19 months to 85 years old, who were given a digoxin antibody produced in sheep were reported in the New England Journal of Medicine.

The subjects were treated at 20 university medical centers throughout the United States for large doses of digitalis taken accidentally or with suicidal intent.

"All 26 patients treated showed an initial favorable response, 21 patients showed rapid dramatic improvement and eventual full recovery with no adverse reaction to treatment," said Smith, who developed the antibody.

One patient died because there wasn't enough antibody available to reverse the massive suicidal ingestion of digitalis.

Tougher DUI Laws By Popular Demand

United Press International
Tennessee, Florida, Virginia and Georgia have enacted tough drunken driving laws in the past year. Another has passed new legislation that is currently under legal challenge. Two more states may pass stronger legislation this spring.

The trend toward stronger treatment of drunken drivers has been spurred by dedicated groups of private citizens, in many cases the parents of children killed by drunken drivers who have turned their grief into effective political pressure.

The groups have different names — Mothers Against Drunk Drivers, Many Against Drunk Drivers, North Carolinians Against Drunken Driving, North Carolina even has a RADD — Report a Drunk Driver — program.

But while the names may not be the same, the goals are. And the methods for achieving them come from the depths of a parent's feelings for a lost child.

In Tennessee last year, for example, a mother brought her 6-year-old son to legislative committee hearings on what would become that state's new drunken driving legislation. His face had been badly scarred in an accident involving a drunken driver.

"His brother couldn't be here," she told the legislators. "He was buried two years ago because of a drunk driver."

In North Carolina, where a push for stronger laws is expected in the next session of the Legislature, a state safety program features a slide presentation narrated by the father of a 20-year-old girl killed in a wreck two years ago. His poignant reminiscences about her life are interspersed with official comments about what can be done.

The impetus in Florida came from Mary Wiley, an Orlando nurse whose daughter, a 20-year-old honor student home from school the Thanksgiving holidays, was killed in an accident blamed on a drunken driver.

Their push has been bolstered by national statistics showing that about 28,000 people die each year because of drunk driving. That's the equivalent of two major commercial plane crashes a week, according to North Carolina Crime Control and Public Safety Secretary Heman Clark.

The result has been that Tennessee, Florida, Virginia and Georgia now have new drunken driving laws. Alabama strengthened its law in August but because of a legal challenge it has not taken effect. Mississippi and South Carolina, like North Carolina, could push for stronger laws next year.

Like many other anti-drunken driving activists 'Dee Fine, the 35-year-old president of the Alabama chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Drivers, became involved in the crusade because of direct knowledge of the human cost involved in drunken driving.

Her husband, Dr. Russ Fine, is director of research on spinal cord injuries at Spain Rehabilitation Center in Birmingham, where newly elected Gov. George Wallace went for rehabilitation after surviving an assassination attempt in 1972.

"Automobile accidents are the main cause of spinal cord injuries and half of the automobile accidents are alcohol related," she said. "We have seen the carnage, the destruction and the lives in ruin because of people deciding to drink and drive."

Mrs. Fine, who meets with legislators, judges and district attorneys and speaks before various civic groups in her effort to lobby for reform in Alabama, said her group is not anti-drinking.

"I'm trying to remind them to be responsible drinkers and responsible drivers and not to mix the two," she said. "A lot of people think of us as a bunch of teetotalers. That is not true. We are responsible drinkers."

What the new laws have in common is a strengthening of penalties, including mandatory sentences.

In Tennessee, which now has one of the nation's toughest drunken driving laws, a first offender has a mandatory 48-hour jail sentence and a minimum $250 fine. It escalates on the third offense to a mandatory 120 days in jail and a minimum $1,000 fine and three-year license suspension and allows for the seizure and sale of the person's vehicle. Florida's law is only slightly less stringent. It calls for 50 hours of public service by first offenders, a 10-day jail sentence for the second and 30 days for the third conviction within five years.

In North Carolina a task force has recommended a single "driving while impaired" statute, aimed at increasing jail time, reducing plea bargaining, requiring longer periods of time before a convicted drunken driver can regain driving privileges and a tightening of provisions allowing them to drive to and from work.

Other proposals include raising the drinking age to 19 and imposing a "dram shop" law that would make a bar owner legally liable if he serves an intoxicated customer who later causes an accident involving serious injury.

Georgia's new law took effect Nov. 1 and along with a measure that raised the legal drinking age to 19 now provides that a teen-ager guilty of drinking and driving loses his license until he is 19.

Virginia strengthened its laws in July, and Susan Middett, an activist in Many Against Drunk Drivers and the mother of a son who was killed two years ago by a drunken driver, says is ready to push for stricter laws next year.

In its next session, the South Carolina Legislature may consider strengthening its laws to require mandatory sentences for first offenders and the immediate suspension of a drunken driver's license.

Some of the new laws have loopholes, however, that can limit their effectiveness.

In Florida, where drunken driving arrests went up more than 50 percent during the first two months the new law was in effect, the new law was accompanied by a spate of publicity about how to beat it, including a lecture to a group of defense attorneys by Supreme Court Justice James C. Adkins.

For instance, the Florida law established a "pre-arrest" breathalyzer test, which a motorist can demand if he is accused of drunken driving. It cannot be used in court against him but it lets the driver know if he would flunk the real test.

And in Georgia, prosecutors are finding that first offenders are able to keep their licenses by pleading no contest.

Six Not Enough

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (UPI) — Clyde and Alice Rinehart have seen it all when it comes to raising children — in addition to six of their own they have taken care of an estimated 225 foster children.

They've had a knife fight in their home; they've had children run away and others who didn't want to go. They've seen the effects of drinking and drugs on teenagers and they've had their successes and failures.

Rinehart, a strong, silent farmer, says he has raised his hand in anger only twice during the half-century — once to paddle one of his own children and another time to "backhand" an obstinate youth who was carping at his wife.

"We believe in discipline but you don't have to hit children," Mrs. Rinehart said. "The foster kids, all you have to do is ground them. They'd rather take a licking than that."

The foster children who stayed with the Rineharts' on their 40-acre farm west of Kalamazoo generally were obedient and respectful because they received care and love, something that was missing at home, Mrs. Rinehart said.

"The bulk of the kids we get, their parents don't care where they are or what they're doing," she said. "As long as they get home at night before their parents get home from the bar at two in the morning, they're all right."

The Rineharts began their foster parenting by taking care of a nephew. Soon two neighbor boys came to live with them. Later, Mrs. Rinehart took in the children of a woman whose financial plight was so grim she was going to have to give the three boys up for adoption.

They soon began accepting children from the now-defunct Michigan Children's Aid Society and now take care of youngsters sent from the Department of Social Services and the Juvenile Court.

The Rineharts can't keep track of them all, but estimate some 225 children — many of whom are now adults — have spent anywhere from a few months to 12 years in their aging, 2-story green and white home.

Will New Columbia Become The 51st State?

"We the people of the free and sovereign state of New Columbia, seek to secure and provide for each person: health, safety and welfare; a peaceful and orderly life; and the right to legal, social and economic justice and equality." Preamble, New Columbia constitution

WASHINGTON (NEA) — When the Constitution of the United States was put to paper during the summer of 1787, it was alternately honored and cursed for its radical presumption. No other document to that time had provided for the guarantee of so many rights and privileges for a governed people.

Now, two centuries later, some Americans have created a composition that may be even more socially sweeping.

Activists in the District of Columbia who want the city to become the nation's 51st state have written a proposed constitution that virtually guarantees residents the right to a good life.

The authors say the constitution is brilliant. Critics say it's an impossible dream.

Yet everyone agrees that the 50 page, 18,000 word instrument is altogether revolutionary. It follows the United States and most state constitutions in that it calls for a three-branch government, executive, legislative and judicial; from then on, however, the proposals go above and beyond tradition.

For example, the constitution would give every person in Washington, a city of 700,000, "the right to employment," and a guarantee of equal pay for equal work. If people were unable to work, the constitution would provide them with regular incomes "sufficient to meet basic human needs."

Besides this, the constitution would reduce the demand on those incomes. It would allow the new state to take over public utilities and charge lower rates. It would create a state bank that would lend money to people with poor credit. And it would strike down all taxation on household groceries.

In short, the constitution would, as its authors believe, establish an unprecedented U.S. state, in which the principle of egalitarianism was supreme, and where the people, freed of injustice and economic bondage, would come together to build a "collective destiny" of "peace and harmony."

And they add that it would be high time. Charles Cassell, for one, thinks the people of this city have been puppets for too long. He is the president of the group that drew up the New Columbia constitution, and he claims the District of Columbia has been a "fiefdom" since its inception.

The term fiefdom may be too harsh. But it's true the town has not had the liberties of every other community in the country. When it was founded in the late 1800s, coextensive with what is sometimes known as the real Washington, it was denied the rights of sovereignty and self-determination.

The reason was that the founding fathers wanted to forego the possibility that a strong District government might exercise influence on federal affairs. So they specifically declared in Article I of the U.S. Constitution that the District would be subjugated to and governed by Congress.

At first that meant that Washingtonians were not even allowed to vote in elections. And the battle for democratic reform has been waged ever since. Over the years the residents of the District have won suffrage, and limited home rule; now some of them are in hot pursuit of statehood.

Last year the advocates convened a Constitutional Convention to show the nation they mean business. And the proposed "Constitution for the State of New Columbia" was presented to the public in May of this year. The document will now be put on the District's election ballot in November.

The guess is it will be approved.

And why not? The constitution has something for everyone. The paper would give police and other public employees the right to strike. It would pledge affirmative action for women and minority persons. It also makes promises to young people, old people, criminals and residents with disabilities.

Yet those promises also have sober detractors. Critics say that the proliferation of guarantees is unsound and unworkable. One delegate to the Constitutional convention, lawyer Courts Oulahan, says that it's just not possible to assure jobs, bank loans, cheap groceries and lower electric rates.

Oulahan says there's not enough money to pay for it all. And there are also some complex legal details to consider. If, as the constitution proposes, "every person has a right to employment," then, perhaps, parents could sue the government if their infants were not provided with jobs.

No, the critics say the document is, well, too radical. And never mind what went on in Philadelphia two centuries ago.

Spending For Environmental Quality Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Spending by federal, state and local governments on environmental quality increased by 15 percent in fiscal 1980, the Census Bureau reports.

Local governments spent about $13.3 billion of the total, while direct spending by states was $1.1 billion and the federal government's direct spending was $1.6 billion, the bureau said in a report Thursday.

Of the total, $11.1 billion went for clean water, $3.8 billion for land-related activities, $646 million for clean air and $532 million for other anti-pollution control activities, the report said.

Federal grants to state and local governments totaled more than $5 billion, or 41 percent of the total. The bureau said states granted more than $500 million to local governments.

On a per-capita basis, direct anti-pollution expenditures were $4.95 on the state level, $81.45 among the 46 largest cities, and $17.17 among the 62 largest counties.

For all governments, the per capita spending was $70.92, up from $63.50 in fiscal 1979.

Local spending primarily was for sewage collection and treatment, trash collection and disposal, and road and street cleaning. The direct expenditure of $9.5 billion for water-related activities was partly offset with income from sewer fees of $3.8 billion. Local outlays for other sanitation activities was $3.4 billion while related revenues were $998 million.

The report said federal and state government spending primarily was for environmental quality planning, research and development, and technical and financial assistance.

NOTICE OF ACTION

TO ALL PERSONS HAVING AN OWNERSHIP INTEREST IN ANY LOTS WHICH COMPRISE THAT SUBDIVISION KNOWN AS DOL RAY MANOR.

Pursuant to the Order of the Honorable Dominick J. Salli, Circuit Court Judge of Seminole County, Florida, dated November 17, 1982, this Notice is given to you by the undersigned law firm. This Civil Action is a suit by Dorothy Pauli to remove the restrictions of record on three lots owned by her in Dol Ray Manor. The Pauli lots are next to Don Gallagher's office, 260 East Altamonte Drive, Altamonte Springs, Florida.

Judge Salli has ruled that this action may proceed as a class action. Pursuant to the Court's Order, the class is composed of all persons who have an ownership interest in any one or more of the lots comprising that subdivision known as Dol Ray Manor. This Notice is given to all persons who have an ownership interest in a lot in Dol Ray Manor, and who are, therefore, members of the class which is the defendant in this action.

Please be advised of the following matters:

(a) You may file a written statement with the Court by December 13, 1982, asking to be excluded from the class.
(b) If you do not file such an exclusion, you will be included in the judgment rendered in this action as a member of the named class.

(c) If you do not file an exclusion, you may make a separate appearance on or before December 14, 1982. The Complaint does not request any money damages from you, but only asks for the Court to make a determination of the legal rights of Dorothy Pauli.

Your neighbors, Jack O. Williamson and Margaret A. Williamson, Don Gallagher, Nell Drueding, John F. Bonner and Thelma M. Bonner, and Jeffrey P. Frame and Patricia Frame, have been appointed by Judge Salli as the class representatives. The defenses that they may make in this action will be on your behalf unless you seek to be excluded from the class.

Dated Nov. 19, 1982.

Memphis Beech Firm Is In The Chips

Bell Changes Refund Policy

Customers due a refund of their telephone deposit soon won't receive the usual check in the mail from Southern Bell. Instead they'll get a credit on their next telephone bill.

Beginning in December, Southern Bell is changing its deposit policy, according to Southern Bell Manager Larry Strickler.

"Our present policy is to issue a check for the full amount of the deposit at the time a deposit is no longer required," says Strickler. "Our new policy will be to apply the deposit refund directly to subscribers' bills."

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Where would Budweiser beer be without beechwood aging?

Well, for one thing the Anheuser-Busch Co. in St. Louis wouldn't be buying all its beech chips from a Memphis firm that is the only supplier in the country.

Claude M. McCord Jr., who owns Beechwood Products Inc., gets most of his beechwood supplies from central Mississippi, north Louisiana and Alabama.

Another McCord company, Memphis Wood, has cornered the market for whisky barrel plugs made of poplar. The firm supplies the wooden stoppers to U.S. companies and firms in Canada, England, South America and the Caribbean.

Since McCord got the beechwood chip supply contract his business has increased gulp-for-gulp with the popularity of Anheuser-Busch beers which are produced in 10 breweries in eight states. Another company brewery is scheduled to go into production next year in Baldwinsville, N.Y.

Michelob, Michelob Light, Budweiser, Natural Light and Busch — all the brands produced by Anheuser-Busch — are brewed with the beechwood aging process. Last year, production was 54.5 million barrels of brew with sales reported at $4.4 billion.

McCord, an engineer who'd rather talk about his company than himself, said the chip supply business has been growing since he got the original Anheuser-Busch contract more than 30 years ago during a visit to St. Louis, his hometown.

"I went up there back in 1947. I guess it was right after World War II. I made a call on them, seeing if I could interest them in barrel bungs," McCord recounted in a recent interview.

"They said they were not particularly interested in bungs because they already had a pretty good supplier," he said. "But, they were having a difficult time with another item. It was beechwood chips."

McCord listened to the man at the brewery, decided he could handle a new product and then went about putting together the equipment needed to produce the chips.

That was McCord's introduction to a business that now has 10 employees and tallies sales of about $50,000 per year.

"They have told me over the years they have tried all kinds of things as substitutes, but nothing ever measures up to beech," McCord said. "Beech, for some reason, does not impart a flavor. They're not trying to get a flavor out of the beer at all."

Then what does beechwood aging add to the beer?

Andrew J. Steinhubl, vice president and chief brewmaster for Anheuser-Busch in St. Louis, stepped forward to answer that one: The chips serve as a natural clarifying agent.

Carbon dioxide gas, alcohol and heat are produced during fermentation of the beer. The heat, in turn, causes currents in the liquid which circulates from top to bottom of the fermentation tank.

As the fermenting beer moves, it deposits yeast particles on the 18-inch long beechwood chips which form a latticework at the bottom of the tank, Steinhubl said.

"As it carbonates naturally, the aging beer swirls over and through the beechwood and suspended yeast particles adhere to the chips," Steinhubl said. "This adds to an extra measure of natural clarification and flavor perfection to our products."

IN THE SERVICE

FRANK MANN

Airman Frank R. Mann, son of Virginia and Russel Mann of 378 Pinetree Road, Lake Mary has arrived for duty at Osan Air Base, South Korea.

Mann, a power production specialist with the 51st Civil Engineering Squadron, was previously assigned at Sheppard Air Base, Texas.

He is a 1980 graduate of Seminole High School, Sanford.

PAUL RIBERA

Army Pfc. Paul A. Ribera, son of Frank D. Ribera of 34 Wave Road, Middletown, R.I., and Marion K. Ribera of 632 Allon Road, Winter Springs, has completed basic training at Fort Dix, N.J.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

He is a 1980 graduate of Rogers High School, Newport, R.I.

DARRYL WASHINGTON

Marine Pvt. Darryl O. Washington, son of Ruthenia Washington of Lake Monroe Terrace, Sanford, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C.

During the 11 week training cycle, he learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

BRENT BORWELL

Navy Air Traffic Controller Airman Brent S. Borwell, son of Nancy J. Leslie of 303 Wild Olive Lane, Longwood, has returned from a six and one-half month deployment to the Western Pacific and the Indian Ocean.

He is a crew member aboard the aircraft carrier USS Ranger, which is ported in San Diego.

During the ship's Silver Anniversary Cruise (commissioned Aug. 10, 1957), more than 51,000 miles were traveled and port visits were made to Subic Bay, Philippines, and Singapore and Perth, Australia.

The ship and its embarked air wing, Carrier Air Wing Two, made more than 242,000 carrier arrested landings and 104,000 catapult launches on the number one catapult alone.

The Ranger's deck department accomplished 51 underway replenishments, receiving over 12 million gallons of jet fuel and receiving or transferring over 25 million gallons of diesel fuel.

The Ranger is 1,071 feet long and carried a crew of 2,790 with an additional 2,150 assigned to the embarked air wing.

TIMOTHY WARD

Marine Pfc. Timothy A. Ward, son of James T. and Gracie L. Ward of 1702 McCarthy Ave., Sanford, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C.

During the 11 week training cycle, he learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

Hospital Budget Cuts Hurt Poor

United Press International
The medical world calls it "dumping" — refusing or moving indigent patients from private hospitals to tax-supported facilities.

It's an insidious process that can deny emergency care to the "dumped" patient, but it's nothing new in the South.

What is new is that tax-supported hospitals — often the only facilities that accept Medicaid patients or those without insurance — are facing hard times.

Some tax-supported hospitals are contemplating closing their doors or selling to private corporations. Others still accept indigents, but the quality of care has deteriorated.

The sagging economy and drastic cuts in federal, state and local budget are on the verge of making "dumping" a practice in the South, rather than the exception, and some public hospitals say they cannot handle the extra burden.

"As we continue to see budget cuts, you will see more and more of a trend to transfer patients to public hospitals," said Joe Parker of the Georgia Hospital Association.

"The question is what will happen to the patients if the public hospitals can no longer provide the services."

George Forsyth, the director of Nashville's Vanderbilt University Hospital, said 60 to 70 patients a year were being turned away two years ago, but that number has doubled recently and could increase even more.

"The implications are both serious and potentially longlasting," Forsyth said. "The easiest way to solve the problem is to say we just won't bother with charity cases any more and only admit paying patients."

"Vanderbilt has announced to the world that as long as humanly possible, we won't deny care."

A top hospital administrator in Macon, Ga., recently recommended that poor maternity patients in neighboring counties be sent to a state hospital 120 miles away as a cost-saving measure.

At Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami, officials say they already have more indigent patients "dumped" from private hospitals than they can financially handle.

Jackson Memorial, partly because of the enormous influx of refugees in the area, is one of the most dramatic examples of a tax-supported hospital reaching its limits. This year the hospital will spend $10 million more to treat indigents than it will be reimbursed by Dade County.

One Jackson Memorial administrator was recently quoted as saying: "Jackson simply can't afford to take care of every patient who can't pay."

Despite its financial troubles, two private hospitals in the Miami area have filed suit to force Jackson to accept all indigent patients. The private hospitals contend that Jackson Memorial pledged in its 1948 title "to the extent of funds and facilities available... to take care of the poor, indigent, needy and sick of all Dade County."

County officials say that "to the extent" of the money and space and available, Jackson is fulfilling its obligation.

In Atlanta, a similar agreement was reached some 30 years ago between the county and Grady Hospital, which now serves one of the largest concentrations of poor people in the nation.

"We have nothing like what's going on in Jackson," said William Pinkston, executive director of Grady. "Excellent care is still available for people who can't afford to pay."

But, Pinkston added, "When I say we are getting by, I mean (to add) that the employees have not gotten a salary increase and we're not getting a lot of capital equipment that we were expecting."

Pinkston and other public hospital officials are quick to note that cuts in Medicaid hurt their institutions — and hence the poor — far more than private hospitals.

Private hospitals can pass costs of reduced federal subsidies onto their paying patients, but public hospitals often do not have that privilege.

Officials at Grady and Jackson Memorial blame some of their problems on politicians failing to meet the public's needs, not only to patients on Medicaid, but to a growing number of working poor who cannot afford health insurance.

Nationally, it is estimated that $670 million will be cut in Medicaid for fiscal year 1983, which begins Oct. 1.

In Georgia, new federal guidelines removed 13,140 families from the Aid to Families With Dependent Children program, expanding the ranks of the working poor who cannot afford health insurance.

In many states, Medicaid payments are dependent on the woman also being on the AFDC program.

Another recent phenomenon has been the dramatic growth of private hospital chains, which unlike many hospitals in the federal Hill Burton program, are not bound by law to give care to the indigent.

The 5,000-plus hospitals involved in the Hill Burton program are required to devote a portion of their care to indigents, but the actual money obligated to poor patients is often relatively low.

Chain hospitals like the Hospital Corporation of America and Humana insist they give care to the indigent and claim they are often more efficient in hospital management than tax-supported hospitals.

Flu Strikes Smokers More Often

BOSTON (UPI) — Smokers are 25 percent more likely to catch the flu than non-smokers and will be sick longer, an Israeli military study said today.

The risk and severity of influenza increased with the number of cigarettes smoked daily and also was higher in non-smokers confined to smoky rooms in the winter, the doctors reported in the New England Journal of Medicine.

"The risk for all influenza (both mild and severe) increased from 47 percent in nonsmokers to 72 percent in the heavy smokers" who puff more than a pack a day, the study said.

"We conclude smoking is a major determinant of morbidity (sick rate) in epidemic influenza and may contribute substantially to incapacitation in outbreaks in populations that smoke heavily," the doctors said.

The study, conducted on 336 healthy young men in the Israel Defense Forces during a 17-day period during a 1978 influenza epidemic, found smokers had 21.3 percent more cases of flu. It also found smokers with the flu lost 20.5 percent more work days.

"The relation between smoking and influenza described here is probably causal," they said. "We consider it highly unlikely the association reflects the 'constitutional' characteristic of smokers rather than the effects of smoking."

They said the results probably were more dramatic than statistics indicated because incidence of flu in non-smokers was attributable to "passive smoking."

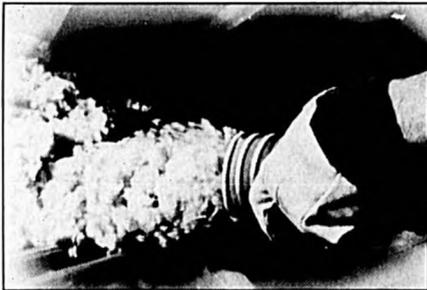

"The rates of influenza in the non-smokers may have been higher than they would have been if they had not been exposed to cigarette smoke," they said.

The results support previous research in the Israeli military that found female recruits who smoked had a sick rate 44 percent higher than their nonsmoking counterparts during an epidemic of an influenza-like illness.

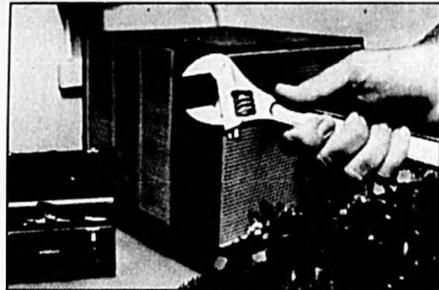

The doctors recommended flu immunization and a program to discourage smoking be implemented in large industrial and service organizations to cut down the number of work days lost by smokers with the flu.

"Since both smoking and epidemic influenza are widespread, the impact of a causal association between the two would be of immense importance in terms of health and economic considerations," the study said.

FPL will actually pay you to conserve electricity four ways:

Our Cooling & Heating Incentive. FPL will pay up to several hundred dollars towards the cost of having an older, inefficient air conditioning system or heat pump replaced with a qualifying high efficiency system.

Our Ceiling Insulation Incentive. FPL will pay up to $300 towards the cost of having ceiling insulation installed.

Our Water Heating Incentive. FPL will pay up to several hundred dollars towards the cost of having an inefficient water heater modified or replaced with a solar water heater, water heating heat pump or heat recovery system.

Our Solar Film Incentive. FPL will pay up to $150 towards the cost of having solar-reflective film installed.

To qualify for the last three incentives, work must first be recommended by an FPL Home Energy Audit.

Will everyone benefit from Watt-Wise incentives?

Yes. These incentives are less costly than the oil necessary to generate the electricity wasted by inefficient homes. Every 600 kilowatt-hours of electricity not used is a barrel of oil no one has to pay for. This also helps us postpone the building of expensive power plants. The less oil we use, and the less new building we have to do, the more we can help hold the line on everyone's electric bill.

For more information on how to qualify or to arrange for a Home Energy Audit, send us the coupon or call the Watt-Wise Line at 1-800-432-6563.

New Coach, Old Players Open Tribe Season

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Chris Marlette may be Seminole High's new boys basketball coach, but he is no stranger to winning or this year's players.

And the successful ex-Crooms High coach (97-15) expects both qualities to mix when the Seminoles open the 1982-83 cage season tonight against Boone High in Orlando. Tipoff is 8 p.m.

"We'll open up with the press and go get 'em from one end to the other," said Marlette who replaced Bill Payne after he moved to the head job at Seminole Community College.

Marlette has some people to go get 'em too. Although four starters — Stewart Smith, Richard Grey, Marvin Butler and Torie Hendricks — are missing from last year, none of the four was irreplaceable. Hendricks, a 6-4 senior, was dismissed from the team 10 days ago for disciplinary reasons.

The key returnee is senior Calvin "Kiki" Bryant, a 6-1 senior who was a first-team all-conference selection and an honorable mention all-state choice.

"Kiki's a pure shooter and very strong on the boards," said Marlette. Bryant averaged 17 points and eight rebounds a game last year.

The other returning senior is point guard Vernon Law. The 5-7 Law is an excellent ball handler who runs the Seminole attack.

He led the county in assists last year. "Vernon's the best point guard I've ever coached," said Marlette who has seen all but a couple of his players come through the Crooms system under him. "He sees the defensive changes and makes the adjustments on the floor."

A strong junior class complements Seminole's two seniors. Willie Mitchell, a 6-2 center, became a starter early in the season last year and averaged 11 points and seven rebounds a game.

"Willie has the best natural moves of anybody on the team," said Marlette. "He still has a lot to learn but he probably has the best basketball talent on the team." He was a second-team all-conference pick last year.

Mitchell possesses an excellent turnaround jump shot and is also an aggressive offensive rebounder.

Another junior — 6-2 forward William Wynn — will fill the fourth starting spot. The 200-pound enforcer is a great leaper and a very strong rebounder. Wynn is a three-sport man (football and baseball)

Prep Basketball

who had to sit out the gridiron season with a thigh bruise.

"William is an excellent shot blocker for his size," said Marlette. "And he can dunk with either hand."

The number five spot is a four-way battle among guards Steve Grey and Bruce Franklin along with forwards Jimmy Gilchrist and James Rouse.

Grey and Franklin are junior ball handlers who complement Law well. "As of tonight (Tuesday), we'll be going with Franklin, he looked better in practice," said Marlette. "But I may change my mind."

Rouse, a 6-1 sophomore, was the leading scorer on the 22-0 Crooms championship squad of last year. He uses both hands well and is a streak shooter. Marlette feels he will move into the starting lineup later this year.

Gilchrist is a 6-3 keg of unaged potential. The easy-going youngster didn't play at Crooms as a freshman and has had trouble adjusting to Marlette's disciplined standards.

"Jimmy's playing time for Wednesday is questionable right now," said Marlette.

The Seminoles are also waiting for another young man to get it together. Steve Alexander, a 5-8 sharp-shooting guard, was the leading scorer on last year's junior varsity. Last semester, however, Alexander didn't pass four classes and is ineligible until Jan. 25, if he passes this time.

Marlette still has more depth down the line, though. Scott Clayton, a smooth 5-7 senior transfer from Mississippi, will be back up at point and wing. Tracy Holloman, a 6-3 forward who played football, is also rounding into shape.

Eugene Nathan, a 6-4 late bloomer, and Tommy Stiffey, a 6-2 rebounder, add more strength up front. Kelvin Robinson, a 6-0 junior, and Ike Walker, a 6-0 junior, lend more depth to the guard and forward positions.

Seminole won both quarters of the Rotary Bowl jamboree last Wednesday, blowing out Lake Howell and nipping Lyman at the buzzer on Bryant's jump shot.

"Bryant and Gilchrist both had good jamborees," said Marlette. "There were a couple of times that we ran the fast-break to perfection, but missed two footers."

Seminole, 13-18 last year, has an ambitious schedule. The Tribe opens with three tough games against the Metro Conference. In December, Seminole plays in the prestigious Kingdom of the Sun Classic in Ocala and the new Metro-Burger King Tournament at Valencia Community College. The Kingdom of the Sun is the best tournament in the state, drawing teams from the Bahamas, Kentucky, Georgia and New Jersey. The Metro-Burger King features the top teams in Central Florida.

"It's a tough schedule," reasons Marlette. "But if we get off to a good start, we'll be in business. Boone, though, returns three seniors who have been playing together for three years."

If we can beat them, it will put us in good shape for our home opener (Friday) against Colonial. Then Evans comes in next Tuesday. They were 21-7 last year and should be ranked," added Marlette.

Which is where Marlette expects to find the Tribe — ranked — if it is 3-0 by this time next week.

Boone is coached by Wayne Rickman, acknowledged as one of the top mentors in Central Florida by his peers. Forward Tom Hungerford and guard Lenny Grace make the Braves one of the favorites for the Metro title along with Evans.

"They have an excellent halfcourt trap," said Marlette. "It hurt Seminole bad last year, but we've worked a lot against it in practice."

Boone's backdoor attack will also give the Tribe's man-to-man defense problems. The Braves are continually cutting and using screens to their advantage.

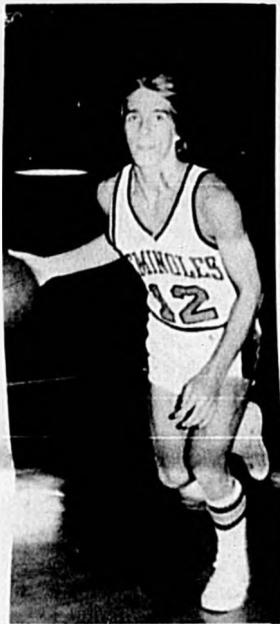

"We're ready. If we win these first three games it could open the door to having a big season," concluded Marlette.

Door No. 1 presents itself tonight.

JUNIOR VARSITY — Coach Tom Smith's junior varsity tips off the action tonight against Boone at 6:15.

The Tribe will be led by forward Kenny Gordon and swingman Rod Alexander. Both were standout players on Crooms 22-0 championship team of last year.

They will be joined in the starting lineup by Joe Corso, Fred Brinson and either Jo Jo McCloud, Sam Redding or Terry Marshall. Charlie Smith adds depth.

Ewing's Hot Hand Lifts Brantley Into Title Game

Lake Brantley's Baron Ewing threw in five straight shots in the first half Tuesday night to break open a tight ball game and give the Patriots a 64-56 victory over Wymore Tech in the first round of the Lake Brantley Tipoff Tournament at Altamonte Springs.

In Tuesday's first game, Leesburg used three Lake Howell turnovers in the closing minute to hold off the Silver Hawks, 53-52.

Tonight at 8, Lake Brantley, 1-0, will battle Leesburg, 1-0, for the title. Lake Howell, 0-1, plays Wymore Tech, 0-1, for the consolation title at 6 p.m.

Brantley trailed 6-4, when Ewing, a 6-3 senior, picked off a rebound and dropped it in to tie the score. Mike Evans then stole the ball at the other end and fed Ewing for another jump shot.

Junior Mike Garriques followed with a basket and Ewing sandwiched two more buckets around a power move by Paul Hoffman for an 18-8 Brantley advantage with five minutes to go in the second quarter. Ewing added his fifth seconds later.

Wymore moved with eight three minutes later, but an outstanding tip from seven feet away by junior Eric Trombo and a basket by Dennis Grosce closed nudged the lead to 12 points.

Hoffman led the Patriot attack with 24 points, most on nice moves within the paint. Ewing finished with 12 and Trombo chipped in 11.

James Walker, a 6-2 wing player, tallied 19 for Wymore.

In Tuesday's first game, coach Greg Robinson's Silver Hawks, which lost all 22 games last year, continued to have their problems.

Leesburg bolted to a quick lead after one quarter and looked as if it might blow out the Silver Hawks when Andre Graham threw in a 25-footer at the halftime buzzer for a 34-15 lead.

The Yellow Jackets were up, 40-19, when Lake Howell's 6-4 center Jeff Wood began penetrating inside for some easy baskets and several free throws.

Sophomore guard Efen Brooks threw in two more jumpers and when Spike Gordon and Eddie Norton combined for three free throws, Howell was within 49-46 with 3:47 to play. Twelve seconds later, Wood converted two free tosses to pull the Hawks within one, but a rebound tip in by Michael Peterkin moved the lead to 51-48.

Wood and Brooks, though, came back with field goals and a 52-51 Lake Howell lead with a 1:30 to play. Peterkin came right back with a basket at the minute mark for a 53-52 edge which would hold up until the horn.

The Hawks, nevertheless, had their chances. At the 47-second mark, the 31-second mark and the closing seconds, Lake Howell had the ball, working for a shot, but didn't get it off.

Wood led the Hawks in scoring with 22 points while Peterkin tossed in 23 for Leesburg.

In junior varsity action, Wymore Tech's Michael Cooper scored 32 points including a rousing slam-dunk tip in to lift the Bobcats over Lake Brantley, 62-50.

In the other game, Lake Howell slaughtered helpless Leesburg, 63-24. The Silver Hawks and Wymore meet at 9 for the championship this afternoon while Brantley and Leesburg battle at 3:30 p.m. in the consolation game.

Elway Ponders Love Of Baseball, Football

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pretend you have two girlfriends. You're crazy about both, but you have to make a choice. What do you do?

Simple. You keep the two of them. That's what Stanford University's Golden Boy, John Elway, is doing. For the moment, anyway. He realizes he can't keep doing it forever. He's plenty good, but not THAT good.

Elway's problem has nothing to do with two girls, it has to do with two sports — football and baseball. He's so good in each, he can name his own ticket in both, but he's aware he's going to have to choose one or the other pretty quickly now.

"It's like having two girlfriends," he says, without laughing about it. "I really can't say which I like better. If you ask me right now, I'd probably say football because it's the football season, but in the baseball season, I like baseball."

Elway will make every All-America this year and should finish 1-2 with Georgia's Herschel Walker in the Heisman Trophy voting to be announced Saturday. The blond, 22-year-old Stanford quarterback, whose father, Jack, coaches the San Jose State football team, has been called the greatest quarterback ever had and a lot of other lavish things which embarrass him, but he still isn't sure he's going to pass up a baseball career for football.

The Yankees think so much of him as an outfielder, they gave him a $150,000 bonus to play with their Oneonta club in the New York-Penn League for only six weeks this past summer. He started slowly, then did all right, hitting close to .300.

"He can be our right fielder," raves

Milton Richman
UPI Sports Editor

George Steinbrenner.

"I enjoyed playing for Oneonta," Elway said when he was here last week for an Eastman Kodak promotion. "I think I grew up a lot."

The Yankees were even happier with him.

They made him their No. 1 selection in the June 1981 draft and in the agreement they have with him, he can still give up on baseball for football, but the Yankees knew that going in and are willing to take their chances.

They want him, though. If he's going to play baseball, he'll play it with them because they have him under contract, and the way they'll try to keep him is by showing him the advantages baseball has over football.

"The first thing we'll try to get across to John is that he can have a longer career in baseball than he can in football," says Bill Bergesch, the Yankees' chief of baseball operations.

"Secondly, we can show him where the top players in baseball earn more money than those in football, and thirdly, when a baseball player's career is over, his pension is not only better than a football player's but one of the best in all industry."

Those are compelling arguments, but Elway isn't in any hurry to make a choice. He says he wants to see "where I end up" in the NFL draft, which generally is held in late April but may be moved up to February this time because of the new USFL.

Elway is in position to command much more money this way than he would be the other way, and don't think he doesn't know it. Stanford doesn't graduate dummies.

I'm sure John Elway is getting quite a bit of input from his father. That certainly can't hurt him.

If I were John Elway, the one man I'd make sure to have a talk with is Carroll Hardy, coordinator of college scouting for the Denver Broncos.

Hardy was the John Elway of his day, the best football player Colorado had since Byron "Whizzer" White, and quite an outfielder, too. He was a good enough baseball player to have the Cleveland Indians sign him and a good enough football player to be signed by the San Francisco 49ers.

He played for both, then had to make a decision which way he'd go, and it was baseball.

Danny Ainge is the latest example of one who was good enough to play two sports professionally.

At first, he thought he loved baseball better than basketball and he tried to make it with the Toronto Blue Jays. But then he switched over to the Boston Celtics after the Blue Jays went to court about it.

Ainge, I'm sure, still has some occasional second thoughts about whether he made the right decision.

And no matter what Elway's ultimate choice is, I'm equally sure he'll have those same thoughts.

Carolina Survives 3-Overtime Scare From Tulane

United Press International
What's with North Carolina? The NCAA champions returned as the No. 2 team in the country this season and promptly proceeded to lose their first two games. Not since 1919 had a North Carolina team begun its season with such a record.
At home Tuesday night, thanks to a fluke play, the Tar Heels escaped with a 70-68 victory over Tulane in triple overtime.

College Basketball

"We're obviously very happy to finally win a basketball game," said North Carolina Coach Dean Smith, whose team earlier lost to St. John's and Missouri. "We didn't shoot particularly well tonight but we played ... better than in our first two games."
With four seconds left in regulation,

Tulane inbounded and bounced the ball off the back of its center, John Williams. Michael Jordan of North Carolina grabbed the ball and fired a 20-footer to tie it 53-53.

In the first overtime the Tar Heels could have won but Jordan missed a layup at the buzzer, with the score 59-58. North Carolina was taken to the third overtime when Tulane guard Howard Jenkins hit a short jumper at the buzzer.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Edgewater Drops Patriots Despite Nunez Performance

Sharon Simmons scored 19 points as Edgewater rallied from an eight-point, first-half deficit to upend Lake Brantley, 40-37, in the prep basketball opener for both schools Tuesday night in Orlando.

The Lady Patriots, 0-1, host Lyman, 0-0, Thursday night in Altamonte Springs. Junior varsity tipoff time is scheduled for 6:15 p.m.

Point guard Linda Nunez turned in a strong first-half performance with eight points and four steals. "Linda did an excellent job," said Brantley assistant Debbie Frank. "She was all over the floor."

The Patriots hit a four-minute dry spell near the end of the first half which allowed the Eagles to cut the lead to 20-18 at intermission.

In the second half, the 6-1 Simmons moved inside and outmuscled the Patriots.

Nunez led Brantley with 13 points while Rhonda Vasquez totaled 10. Sophomore Michelle Brown tossed in eight.

Lady Raiders Coast, 91-25

Using a pressure defense from the outset, the Lady Raiders of Seminole Community College coasted to its first victory Tuesday night, a 91-25 rout of Clearwater College.

Mindy Patrick poured in 19 points to take high-scoring honors and was followed in the scoring column by Valerie Roessler with 15 and Melissa McClelland and Evelyn Rivera added 12 points apiece.

"The pressure defense and very few mistakes enabled us to get a big lead early," SCC coach Sol Batton said. "We played real well all-around, the girls are really starting to be competitive."

The Raiders, 1-3, shot 60 percent from the floor and 80 percent from the free throw line, both numbers topping the team's previous best shooting night. SCC hopes to carry its hot shooting spree into Friday night's Indian River Community College Tournament. SCC faces Brevard CC in its opening game of the tourney, Brevard is the team that won SCC's preseason tourney.

Kings Skate Past Canucks

The Los Angeles Kings are aware of the significance of their intra-divisional games.

After the Kings had beaten the Canucks, 5-2, at Vancouver, British Columbia, Tuesday night to move into second place in the Smythe Division, Steve Bozek, who had two goals, reflected his team's feelings.

"We have to win the games in our own division," he said. "They're all big games now."

In other games, Quebec topped Winnipeg, 8-6, and the New York Islanders edged St. Louis, 3-2.

F.C. United Holds Tourney

The First Annual F.C. United Thanksgiving Soccer Tournament was held this past weekend at the University of Central Florida. Twenty-one teams from the Atlanta area and throughout Florida participated in the three-day event. There were divisions for girls under 14 and boys under 14, under 12 and under 10 years of age. Each division played preliminary games on Friday and Saturday to determine who would advance to the finals on Sunday.

In the under 10 boys division, the F.C. United 060 Hornets met the Orange Park Soccer Club Trons from Jacksonville. The Hornets, under coach Steve McCormick, were state Champions in the under 9 division last year and showed that they are once again a powerful team by defeating Orange Park 4-1. With a great deal of help from hustling halfback Matt Bird and some good crosses from left wing Steve Solstman, forward Ryan Thomas managed to score all four goals. Orange Park's only score came on a beautiful sailing kick out of the goalie's reach. Orange Park is a young team with most of their players under 9 but they put up a good fight against the more experienced Hornets who consistently play a strong game.

The championship game in under 12 boys was a close contest between the F.C. United 270 Jr. Sting, coached by Ron Brooks, and Atlanta Chelsea. Atlanta had a large contingent of supporters outfitted in club T-shirts to cheer them on.

In what proved to be a defensive battle, both teams were held scoreless through the first half. The Jr. Sting came on strong in the second half with Ron E. Jenkins beating two defenders and scoring early on a long unassisted shot from right wing. About ten minutes into the half, Travis Betsinger managed to tap in a loose ball for the second score. With fifteen minutes to go in the game, Atlanta rallied and scored from their right wing despite a desperate attempt to save the ball by goalie Greg Kowalski. Atlanta kept up the pressure but was unable to score again and the game ended with the Jr. Sting on top 2-1.

The strong play of fullbacks Michael Murray, James Noble, Brent Barkett and Church Reinighaus boosted F.C. 270.

The under 14 boys division championship pitted Tampa Blackwatch, last year's under 13 State Champions, against Larry Betsinger's F.C. United 460 Sting, who came in third in state competition last year. The two teams proved to be very well matched and both went scoreless in regulation.

The score remained 0-0 at the close of the first half of overtime play and it appeared the game might be decided in a shootout. Early in the second half of overtime play, Blackwatch was called for tripping and Jeff Phillips took the direct kick from about 25 yards out on the right side. He kicked a booming right-footed shot that was deflected off the keeper's hands into the far corner of the goal for the game's first score.

Moments later Blackwatch's center-forward broke away toward the F.C. goal and appeared to be about to tie up the score when full-back Phillip Amon made a gamesaving steal. Soon after, Sean Makey finally connected on a shot from left wing, having narrowly missed on many previous attempts, and the game ended with the Sting winning 2 to 0.

Coach Betsinger cited the great defensive play of Amon and goalie Gordon King, both new additions to the team, as important factors in the team victory. The Sting will next be going to Tampa to play in the Sun Bowl.

SYSA Football Festival Judged Finest Ever Held

SYSA

"The Thanksgiving Weekend of 1982 will be remembered as the finest SYSA Football Festival ever," said Bob Stresen-Reuter, Festival chairman.

Forty-eight teams came from as far away as McKeesport, Pa. and Plainedge, N.J. to participate in the Fifth Annual football activities. Other teams came from Atlanta, New Orleans, Miami, Tampa, Sarasota, Bradenton, Clearwater, New Port Richey, Umatilla, Land of Lakes and Fort Lauderdale.

The weekend schedule included a skating party at the All-American Skating Rink and a bowling tournament at Alamonte Lanes. Eighteen football games were played Friday and 20 were played Saturday.

Saturday night, the Cheerleading Competition at Circus World culminated the weekend's activities. Over 2,000 people crowded into the Big Top to watch the Tampa Bay Swash-Buc-Lers, who then judged the 29 cheerleading squads covering five divisions.

In the Junior Peeewe Division, Clearwater's Junior Gators were first and the Manatee Bronc Ponies were second.

The Sarasota Braves took the Peeewe Division with the Manatee Bronco Pintos finishing second. In the Junior Midget Division, the Milwee Spartans were first and the Sarasota Chiefs were second.

In the Midget Division, Clearwater's Junior Gators took top honors while Milwee was second. In the Junior Bantam Division, the East Seminole Junior Lions were first and Delray Rocks were second.

Here's a breakdown of some of the key games.

Wainwright; Bohannon Bomb Lakeview

Mark Wainwright tossed two touchdown passes to his favorite receiver Ric Bohannon as the Tuskawilla Blue Warriors stunned the Lakeview Dolphins, 22-14, in Junior Midget Division action. Lakeview was the league champion.

Wainwright and Bohannon also worked their magic defensively too, as Wainwright picked off two passes and recovered a fumble. Bohannon also had an interception.

Wainwright's first interception set up a 13-play, 80-yard march which culminated when Bohannon latched onto a 28-yard aerial from Wainwright for the score.

Jeff Holcomb booted the extra point for an 8-0 lead.

Another interception by Wainwright led to a 50-yard march which resulted in a one-yard plunge for the TD by the Tuskawilla quarterback. The key play in the drive was a 15-yard toss to Tony VanOre for a first down at the Lakeview 12.

Lakeview bounced back with two touchdowns to tie the game at 14-14 with five minutes left, but when a desperation reverse failed on fourth down at the Lakeview 20, Tuskawilla had its chance to win with 30 seconds to play.

Thirteen seconds later, Wainwright found Bohannon for 20 yards and the winning touchdown. Holcomb booted the point after for a 22-14 final.

Wainwright hit 5 of 8 for 82 yards and two scores. Bohannon caught two passes for 48, both TDs. Tony VanOre had two for 29. Tyler Jack led the rushing attack with 50 yards in 15 carries. Tim Baker had 34 yards on 13.

Dunstan's 3 Touchdowns Drill Delray

Clinton Dunstan raced for 160 yards and scored three touchdowns as the Jackson Heights Bobcats outlasted the Delray Rocks, 18-12, in Peeewe Division action.

Derrjck Mays chipped in 60 yards while Chad Durran hit 5 of 10 passes for 140 yards and all three touchdowns. Dunstan caught three passes for 100 yards and Richard Cobb had two for 40.

Tuskawilla Defense Clamps Dolphins

Marquette Smith rushed for 165 yards and two touchdowns while the Tuskawilla defense continued its excellent play as the Rams hammered the New Orleans Dolphins, 28-7, in Junior Peeewe Division action.

Tuskawilla closed the season with an unbeaten record. The Rams' defense gave up just 16 points on the year.

Hurricanes Blank Older Umatilla, 20-0

Brantif Bonaventure scored two touchdowns and Roderick Roux added another one and two extra points as the South

Seminole-Milwee Hurricanes whipped an older and heavier Umatilla team, 20-0, in Junior Peeewe play.

Bonaventure started the Hurricane scoring with a one-yard plunge in the second quarter. Roux raced over with the PAT for a 7-0 lead.

In the third quarter, Bonaventure ran a spectacular triple reverse 35 yards for his second touchdown. Roux's PAT made it, 14-0.

Roux capped the scoring with a 10-yard run in the final period. Chris Reynell turned in two booming kicks and a fumble recovery.

Sanford Academy Hosts Karate Tourney

The Sanford International Karate Academy and East Coast Martial Arts Supply will host the first annual Central Florida Open on Saturday (Dec. 4), all day, at Seminole High School's gym.

The Central Florida tourney will kick-off the 1983 Florida Black Belt Association Sanctioned Statewide Tournament and brings major karate competition to Sanford for the first time. The tourney is expected to draw an estimated 400 competitors ranging from six-year olds up to adults, from the smallest of white belts to the largest of black belts from the Florida region.

Karate tournaments are broken down into two major parts: Kata (forms) and Kumite (fighting). Kata is the form movement of Karate in which the contestants perform various movements coordinated for self-defense. Contestants are judged on movement much in the same way as gymnasts are judged on agility and grace.

Kumite is the controlled sparring among contestants. To score, a contestant must place a controlled kick or punch to what would be a devastating area of the body.

The Central Florida Open will be judged by various respected black belts from the Florida Region. General admission is $3 the day of the tournament or $2 in advance. Advance tickets can be purchased at the International Karate Academy at 501 East 1st Street or from the Seminole High girls track team.

Basic, Bizarre Lakers Win Again

United Press International
Los Angeles combined the basic and the bizarre down the stretch Tuesday night to form the usual Laker victory.

"This game gave me a headache," Laker Coach Pat Riley said after Los Angeles used the traditional skyhooks of Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and a freak play by Norm Nixon to beat San Antonio, 137-132, in double overtime, at the HemisFair Arena. "Our pulse in those overtimes makes this team very tough."

Nixon, who scored 10 of his 22 points in the fourth quarter — including the Lakers' last 5 — sent the game into overtime with some unplanned trickery. Los Angeles was trailing, 118-113, with 4 seconds left in regulation and Nixon at the free throw line. Nixon hit the first foul shot then faked the second, causing players from both sides to enter the lane, and a double violation was called. Abdul-Jabbar controlled the jump ball and Nixon tied the score, 116-116, on an 18-foot jumper at the regulation buzzer.

"I faked the shot when I saw everyone jump into the lane because I wanted to wait while everybody was scrambling to get position, then throw the ball up off the rim for one of our players to get," said Nixon, who added 13 assists.

Elsewhere, New York crushed Utah, 124-93, Detroit upset Boston, 123-116, New Jersey clipped Kansas City, 112-103, Milwaukee topped Cleveland, 88-78, Atlanta jarred Philadelphia, 111-97, Dallas nudged Denver, 140-129, Golden State scorched Phoenix, 110-98, and Portland dumped San Diego, 121-114.

us. Her knowledge of the city and its background is going to make it hard for us to lose her."

Mrs. Grove said Mrs. Boyd's husband called her last night asking her to be at city hall this morning.

A week ago, Kruppenbacher advised Mrs. Boyd to step down into the audience at the commission meeting. He noted the city could be subjected to a lawsuit, challenging any decision in which she took part because of the claim she was holding office in violation of the state constitution.

Kruppenbacher said Osceola County has examples of dual office holding. He said the mayor of Kissimmee is the Osceola County medical examiner while a city councilman there heads the county's CETA program. In St. Cloud a city councilman heads a county department, he added.

"Of course the argument exists on whether a police officer is an officer under the intent of the state Constitution," Kruppenbacher said.

He said he also spoke with other city attorneys in the area and all agreed with his opinion that Mrs. Boyd is not violating the constitutional intent. The city attorney said he personally "was willing to be involved in a dog fight" over the issue.

Mrs. Boyd said this morning her husband feels she got a "raw deal" in the matter. "But I'm not soured on politics as a result," she added.

The issue of whether Mrs. Boyd could serve on the Winter Springs City Commission and as a Winter park police officer came up several months ago. At that time she was a reserve officer in Winter Park.

The state Ethics Commission saw no conflict of interest, but recommended an attorney general opinion be sought.

Meanwhile, then-City Attorney Al Cook gave his opinion that Mrs. Boyd was in violation of the constitutional prohibition against dual office holding.

In her resignation, Mrs. Boyd noted that Kruppenbacher advised that a "legal fight would probably ensue (if she stayed on in her city commission seat) and during that period the City Commission could be exposed to liability and/or embarrassment in this matter."

"After careful consideration of all the factors involved in this matter, especially my commitment to the citizens of Winter Springs, to act in the best interests of the city, I have decided to resign from my elected position as a Commission member. In regretfully rendering my resignation, I want to preclude the possibility of the city being embarrassed or damaged in this matter."

"Finally, I want to thank all the citizens of Winter Springs for their support, trust and confidence. I trust I have acted in accordance therewith," Mrs. Boyd's resignation said.

administer the drugs.

"He marked the syringes and told me to put that much of the medicine in the syringe then just stick it in my arm like this," Vitale said, hitting his upper, outer left arm with his left hand. Vitale said Bevier told him to take 20cc of morphine on Sept. 2.

Since his arrest, Vitale said he has taken no medication for back pain or for the burns on his arm, adding that the ailments have since healed. However, he said that during the three months he was being treated by Bevier, he continued to have pain and his arm remained infected, requiring him to continually seek medical relief.

Bevier, who was suspended from the practice of medicine by an emergency order of the state Department of Professional Regulations in September, is expected to appear before the state Board of Medical Examiners this week for a hearing on whether his license is to be revoked or the suspension continued.

Bevier has been charged with cocaine and alcohol abuse and malpractice and said Tuesday that while he admits to keeping poor medical and drug records, he does not admit guilt to the other charges.

However, officials who conducted the state administrative hearing and recommended that Bevier's license be suspended for one year, said Bevier entered guilty pleas to all charges in exchange for the one-year suspension recommendation.

The controversy surrounding Bevier surfaced after federal Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) officials said Bevier could not account for two of six vials of cocaine flakes which had been sent to him by a pharmaceutical firm.

Mass Rape Suspect May Be Charged With Assault On Altamonte Springs Girl

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

A man accused of abducting and raping numerous girls in several Florida counties since June may also be charged with the Oct. 16 abduction and rape of an Altamonte Springs girl.

Altamonte Springs detective Cliff Chellev is expected to ask the Seminole State Attorney's office today to file charges against Ronald Allen Clark, 36, a truck driver from Seffner, Fla. Police said a man abducted the south Seminole County girl and took her into Lake County where he raped her.

Clark is currently being held in the Hillsborough County jail where he faces charges of sexual battery of a 24-year-old Seffner woman on June 23, false imprisonment and aggravated battery of an 18-year-old Lithia woman on July 28, and kidnapping an 11-year-old Valrico girl on Nov. 23. Clark is also charged with possession of a firearm in the Valrico case, officials said.

Polk county officials Tuesday charged Clark with raping the Valrico girl, who was released in Lakeland, and with kidnapping and sexually assaulting another 11-year-old girl Aug. 1.

Pasco County Circuit Judge Edward Bergstrom signed a warrant for Clark's arrest Tuesday on charges of kidnapping and involuntary sexual battery of an 11-year-old girl at New Port Richey July 9.

Charlotte County investigators said they suspect Clark as the person who abducted and raped an 11-year-old girl near Punta Gorda Aug. 14.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies said they have examined their cases and were unable to match Clark with any unsolved abduction-rape cases here.

AN OPEN LETTER TO SANFORD VOTERS

FROM

Dave Farr

Dear Sanford Voters:

Next Tuesday, December 7, 1982, the Voters of Sanford have the opportunity to choose between two candidates for Seat No. 3 on the Sanford City Commission. You, the Voters, will choose between Dave Farr and A.A. McClanahan.

I have served on the Commission for the past four years and worked to become an active, effective and responsive Commissioner. I would like to continue working for Sanford. With your help, I will!

Many have asked what promises I am making as I run for re-election. The answer is simple: to continue doing what I have done for the last four years... GIVING YOU THE BEST HONEST REPRESENTATION I CAN! If you wish to continue having this type of representation, then please vote Dave Farr on Tuesday, December 7, 1982.

Remember, everyone votes at the Civic Center on the lakefront - from 7 AM to 7 PM on DECEMBER 7!

Thank you,
Dave Farr

P.S. If you would like to help by having a Dave Farr sign in your yard or business window, please call me at work (323-9141) or at home (323-1194)!

Paid For By The Committee To Elect Dave Farr

NOTICE TO ALL VETERANS

Who Have Honorably Served Their Country In Time of War or Peace

Because of the lack of burial space and the distance of the National Cemetery in Florida, we are assigning grave spaces in Veterans Garden of Valor, Oaklawn Memorial Park. # Plum Pudding And Sweet Potato Pone — Jamaican Christmas Fare

A Jamaican Christmas season usually begins in earnest during the first week of December. By then, everyone who plans to bake a plum pudding (and almost everybody does) will have put their fruits — raisins, prunes, etc., — to soak in white rum.

By this time too, the sorrel is red ripe and ready for reaping. Jamaican sorrel plant grows onto hairy stalks, like corn, and to about the same height. The fruit, which is no bigger than a grape, is a deep red when it matures, and is harvested to make a beverage laced with spices and rum which is drunk in almost every Jamaican household during the Christmas season.

The exchange of greeting cards, gifts and shopping is a part of the Jamaican Christmas. These customs all have European origins, just like those celebrated in the United States.

Christmas Day itself is rather quiet. Early morning church services are held all over the island and bells ring out to herald the birth of Christ.

Action then moves to the Christmas markets, and by midday most people have returned home for family togetherness.

The night falls and as darkness envelopes the land, the sound of amplified music fills the air as house parties and paid dances enter the first phase of an all-night-till-daylight experience.

Christmas celebrations end officially on New Year's Day which is also a time for outings, parties and dances. On Jan. 2 the Christmas trees are dismantled, the decorations put away and everyone begins to look forward to the next Christmas.

JAMAICA SWEET POTATO PONE

2 lbs. sweet potatoes (uncooked)
 1/2 lb. brown sugar
 1 teaspoon powdered cinnamon
 1 tablespoon butter
 1 teaspoon powdered ginger
 2 teaspoons vanilla
 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg grated
 1/4 lb. raisins
 1 coconut grated
 1 tablespoon currants
 1 quart hot water
 3 1/2 cups coconut milk
 Grate Sweet Potatoes (do not use shredder side of grater to do this).

Express the milk from the grated coconut by adding 2 cups hot water at a time and squeezing the milk through a fine strainer until you have obtained the required 3 1/2 cups coconut milk. Combine grated potato, coconut milk, sugar, spices, raisins and currants. Add vanilla and 1 tablespoon butter. Pour all into a greased Pyrex or other baking dish and bake in a moderate oven until the pone is cooked. Approximately 1 hour. NOTE: It is best to use a large coconut and if not procurable, then use two coconuts in order to have sufficient milk. You may use up to 4 cups of the milk.

JAMAICAN PLUM PUDDING RECIPE

1 lb. stoned raisins
 1 lb. currants, cleaned and washed
 8 oz. dried fruit peel, chopped (optional)
 1/2 pint rum (red or white)
 1 lb. stale bread
 1 pint milk
 8 oz. brown sugar
 6 eggs
 1 lb. beef suet, finely chopped
 1/4 pint wine
 1/4 brandy
 1 teaspoon mixed spice — nutmeg, mace, cinnamon

Mix peel, raisins, currants, put in jar. Cover with rum for at least 2 weeks before use.
 Baking day: Soak bread in warm milk, add sugar, eggs, prepared fruit, suet, wine, brandy and spices. Beat together until bread is smooth. Add egg whites. Turn into greased pudding basin and cover. Steam in pan of water for six hours. Turn on warmed dish, pour brandy and serve alight in the traditional way. Serves 8-10.

JAMAICAN RICE PUDDING

3 c. milk
 2 egg yolks well beaten
 Pinch of salt
 2 c. cooked rice
 1/2 c. sugar
 1 t. vanilla
 1 t. nutmeg or allspice
 1 t. Jamaican rum (light or gold)
 2 T. bread crumbs

2 T. melted butter
 1 c. raisins, optional
 1/2 c. chopped pineapple (fresh or canned)
 Mix milk with egg yolks, salt and sugar in saucepan. Add rice, vanilla and nutmeg or allspice. Bring to a slow boil. Stirring gently, simmer for 10 minutes. Add raisins and rum. Stir and remove from heat. Grease large, deep baking dish. Sprinkle bread crumbs and melted butter in it. Pour pudding mix into pan and top with Pineapple chunks. Bake at 375 degrees or until lightly browned.

JAMAICAN RUM PUNCH
 One part sour (lime or lemon) juice

 Two parts sweet (clear sugar syrup)
 Three parts strong (Jamaican rum)

Four parts weak (water and crushed ice)
 Clear sugar syrup is made by mixing equal parts sugar and water, and bringing to a rapid boil. Simmer a few minutes, then cool. Mix all together. Add orange and pineapple wedges.

Sundown Bake Is Meal In Itself

A baked potato with a special topping makes a meal in itself and also can make a quicky dinner for two or four persons without skimping.

SUNDOWN BAKE:

- 4 Idaho potatoes
- 6 slices bacon
- 2 cups sliced mushrooms
- 1-3rd cup chopped green pepper
- 3 tablespoons milk

- 1 egg
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Cheese Sauce

Scrub potatoes, dry and prick with fork. Bake in 425-degree oven 55 to 65 minutes, until soft. While potatoes are baking, fry bacon in large skillet until brown; drain and crumble. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons bacon fat. In same skillet, cook mushrooms and green pepper until mushrooms are just tender; remove and reserve. When potatoes are cooked, cut slice from top of each. Carefully scoop out potato without breaking skin, mash potato in large bowl. Beat in milk, egg, butter and salt. Stir in crumbled bacon, mushrooms and green pepper. Pile potato mixture into reserved shells. Bake in 350-degree oven 25 to 30 minutes. Arrange on platter and serve with Cheese Sauce. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

Good Eating Guide

'Tis the season to eat well. There is, after all, a mouth-watering assortment of goodies from which to choose — home-baked breads, delicious cheeses and cheese spreads, citrus surprise packages from the sun belt and sumptuous servings of turkey and ham.

With all these taste treats around the house, it's a good idea to take added precautions to guard against food spoilage. That way, you can rest assured that they're safe to eat.

Here are some tips from the U.S. Department of Agriculture for safely storing various foods:

Breads: If you're going to use within five to seven days, wrap and store in a bread box. (Bread actually stays fresher longer at room temperature than in the refrigerator.) If you're not, then wrap and freeze. Breads will retain their eating quality for two to three months if frozen.

Hard cheeses (such as Cheddar and Swiss): Wrap tightly and keep refrigerated. Hard cheeses will keep for several months this way.

Soft cheese (such as cottage, cream and Camembert): Tightly cover and refrigerate. Use cottage cheese within three to five days, others within two weeks.

Cheese spreads: Once opened, cover and refrigerate. Use within two weeks.

Citrus fruits: Store at a cool room temperature (60 to 70 degrees F) or in the refrigerator. Use within two weeks.

Nuts: If shelled, store in airtight containers in the refrigerator. They'll keep for up to six months this way. Unshelled nuts, in general, can be stored for the same period of time at room temperature.

Leftover cooked meats: Cover and refrigerate as soon after serving as possible, and use within three to four days.

Leftover stuffing: Remove from chicken or turkey, cover and store in refrigerator. Use within two days.

Leftover gravy and broth: Highly perishable. Cover, refrigerate and use within one or two days.

Remember also to check that your refrigerator and freezer are maintaining adequate temperatures. Proper refrigeration takes place below 40 degrees F, while food freezing requires a temperature of 0 degrees F.

Beef Favorite

- BEEF STROGANOFF
1 pound sirloin steak
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 pound mushrooms, sliced (about 2 cups)
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
1 cup plain yogurt
1/2 cup real mayonnaise
2 tablespoons dry white wine
- Cooked noodles
Cut beef across grain into 1/4-inch strips. Mix together flour, salt and pepper. Dredge meat in flour mixture. Melt margarine in skillet over medium heat. Brown meat on both sides turning as needed. Add mushrooms, onion and garlic; saute, stirring frequently, about 5 minutes or until tender. Mix together yogurt, mayonnaise and wine; stir into beef and vegetables. Heat over low heat, stirring occasionally 10 to 15 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Serve over noodles. This kitchen tested recipe makes 4 (1/2 cup) servings.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Curing Hemorrhoids With Rubber Bands

DEAR DR. LAMB - Some time ago you had an article on the treatment of hemorrhoids. You indicated that removing them was a painful procedure, which the surgical removal of them definitely is. There is a new procedure for the removal of hemorrhoids. The hemorrhoids are tied off with a rubber band. Because blood does not get into the hemorrhoid it dies and sloughs off. There may be a very small amount of bleeding when the sluff occurs.

control symptoms, including measures to promote good bowel function and avoid straining.

I'm sending you The Health Letter 13-C, Hemorrhoids: New Treatments For An Old Affliction. Others can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 15-year-old male and weigh 120 pounds. During the summer months I hate to go out or be seen without a shirt because of my bony chest and my ribs. I eat a balanced diet but it seems that nothing is going to these places. I'm not very athletic in school but do get some exercise. What exercises can I do to build up these chest muscles? This bothers me a lot.

DEAR READER - Talk to your physical education teacher at school about it. You will need strength training exercises. If your school gym has weight training machines you should practice on them.

A muscle develops size from being contracted against resistance. Obviously you will need to work your shoulders and arms that have muscle attachments to your rib cage.

You are also in the right age group so that your male hormone production will start stimulating muscle growth, but you will need the exercise to really develop specific muscles to your best advantage. Your physical education teacher can help you with the right exercises for you. If not, try a local health club or the YMCA.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Thursday, December 2, 1982

YOUR BIRTHDAY December 2, 1982 Major shifts or changes will work to your benefit this coming year, even those you do not initiate. When things begin to move, be alert for opportunity. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Instead of letting negative conditions dominate you, make a concerted effort to being about positive changes. Much can be accomplished if you are willing to try. New predictions for the year following your birthday are now ready. Send $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date. Send an additional $2 for the NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet. Reveals romantic combinations and compatibilities for all signs. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A little extra patience and tolerance may be required today in dealing with a sensitive friend. You'll know how to handle things so as to build stronger bonds. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This is a good day to tackle a task you've been postponing because you thought it was too tough or distasteful. You're up to it now. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Let the one you love know how much you care for him or her, not by what you say, but by your meaningful gestures. Deeds are more important than words today. ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you are diligent and persevering today, your chances for working out a problem which has been bugging you are very good. Stick with it. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Instead of trying to do things on your own today, seek to team up with a competent associate. Collective efforts are apt to be more successful. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Look for ways today to lighten up things to your advantage where your work or earnings are concerned. The right moves now will enhance your security. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Make a game of things today, and play to win. However, of more importance, do this in a way so as to help others as well as yourself. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Take your duties and responsibilities seriously today, especially those affecting your family and loved ones. They'll be counting on you. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) An old friend whom you know will hear you out and whose advice has been helpful to you before is the person to go to today if you have an important matter to discuss. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Goals and objectives may not be too easily achieved today, but if they are worth working for be prepared to extend yourself. Motivation is the key. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your chances for success are very good today because of your ability to appraise matters realistically. See things for what they are and you won't go wrong.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Bridge hand diagram showing North, South, West, and East cards and a vulnerable dealer.

York's Cavendish Club. Barbara (the mystery lady) was West, the other players were Cavendish chauvinist male pseudo-experts. The bidding is not what you would expect from an expert East. But it got South to one no-trump and Barbara to lead a diamond. She led the deuce. The king was played from dummy. East took his ace and returned the jack which was allowed to hold. Barbara played the three. East shifted to the three of hearts and declarer made three spades, three hearts, one diamond and his one no-trump contract. "Poor girl," said South. "She didn't know the right..." "I made the right play," said the mystery lady seething. "If I played the eight there would be no way to defeat declarer. I needed it as an entry so I could lead a club." "James Bond" Crawford thought. "This lady is interesting, indeed. I will compliment her because she was right. Not that she would find that club lead if she did get in with the diamond eight. Even I might not have found it!" (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

TAMMY JO COMBS

Miss Combs Finalist In Teen-Ager Pageant

Tammy Jo Combs, 17, daughter of Cleo and Bonnie Combs of Osteen, has been selected as a finalist in the 12th Annual Miss Florida National Teen-Ager Pageant to be held at Lehigh Resort, Lehigh on April 15, 16 and 17, 1983.

There will be participants from all over the state competing for the title. The Miss Florida National Teen-Ager Pageant is the Official State Finals to the Miss National Teen-Ager Pageant.

Tammy is being sponsored by her co-workers at the Sanford McDonalds, her business teacher, Mrs. Ann Taylor and husband William Henley Taylor, Tom Palmer vice president and operations manager of Coastal Powers in Lake Monroe and her parents.

She is a senior at Deltona Christian School and a member of Grace Bible Church of Sanford.

Coed In SMSU Choir

A Sanford coed, Mary M. Boyd, daughter of Jean Boyd, 207 Ventura, and Dean Boyd, West Plains, Mo., has been selected for membership in the University Choir of Southeast Missouri State University.

The University Choir, directed by Dr. Doyle Dumas, chairman of the Department of Music, is the top choral group at the university.

The choir presents several concerts on campus each year. The choral group also makes an annual tour of areas in Southeast Missouri during the spring. The group's next performance will be its traditional Christmas concert at the university on Dec. 7.

LT. AND MRS. JAMES RIDGE MORELAND

Miss Lawrence, Lt. J.R. Moreland Exchange Vows

Michele Lawrence, 539 Valencia St., Sanford, and Lt. James Ridge Moreland, U.S. Navy, were married Oct. 30, at 11 a.m., at the First Presbyterian Church, Sanford. The Rev. Dr. Virgil Bryant performed the 11 a.m. double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Hal Edwards, Melbourne Beach, and A. Vincent Lawrence, Little Silver, N.J. The bridegroom's parents are Mrs. H.A. Moreland Jr., 109 Brentwood Drive, Sanford, and the late Mr. H.A. "Speed" Moreland.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows her mother's wedding gown fashioned of ivory satin with a double Peter Pan collar. The fitted bodice featured long slim sleeves and the full skirt extended into a cathedral train. Her veil of imported illusion was secured to a Juliet cap adorned with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and baby's breath.

Miss Susan Horsman of Miami attended the bride as maid of honor. Her gown was styled with an ivory bodice featuring a Peter Pan collar, a full emerald green taffeta skirt and green cummerbund. She carried an arm bouquet of fall flowers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Kathleen Lawrence and Mrs. Darrell Tidwell, sisters of the bride, both of Miami.

Their gowns were similar to the honor attendant's and their flowers were identical.

Richard Moreland, Sanford, attended his brother as best man. Ushers were Dale Davis, Mobile, Ala., and Capt. Robert Coffman, U.S. Army, Colorado Springs, Col.

The reception was held at the Harley Hotel, Orlando.

The bride is direct mail manager, Advertising Department, Ivey's Winter Park Mall. The bridegroom is electronics counter-measures officer, stationed at NAS, Whidbey Island, Oak Harbor, Wash.

RSVP Needs Volunteers

Are you 60 years old or older? Are you lonely? Perhaps bored? Would you like to do something worthwhile with your spare time?

If so, the Retired Senior Volunteer Program of Seminole County invites you to help your community and yourself.

The knowledge you have gained through the experience of life and your desire to become involved is all that is needed for you to become an RSVP volunteer, according to RSVP Director Joan Madison.

You can serve in a school, hospital, library or many other community service agencies.

If you're interested in joining the 350 men and women currently enriching their lives through RSVP, don't hesitate. Call 834-6550.

'Guaranteed' Investment Leads To Broke And Prayer

DEAR ABBY: I am desperate. I am in charge of my mother's money. She had $2,500 in the bank — her life's savings — until I drew it all out last June. I also took $1,500 from the account my husband and I had in the same bank, added it to my mother's money and invested the whole $4,000 in a deal that was guaranteed to triple my money in two months. Well, I lost the $4,000, and now I don't know what to do.

My mother knows nothing of this and neither does my husband. I was going to surprise them when I tripled the money.

I have prayed and prayed to the Blessed Virgin and to St. Jude, but it hasn't helped. I don't know what I will do when my mother and husband find out.

Abby, do you know any rich Catholics who believe in the Blessed Virgin and St. Jude and would be willing to give me $4,000 to help me out? Please tell me what to do.

DESPERATE

DEAR DESPERATE: Please don't look for any "rich Catholics" to bail you out. First, tell your husband and mother what you have done. Then notify the fraud division of your police department. You may not get your money back, but if this was a case of fraud, the police may be able to track down the people who took advantage of you and prevent them from swindling other innocent victims.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for the courage to print that poignant letter from "Los Angeles Mother" regarding life with her retarded son. I am sure that thousands of mothers in similar circumstances read that letter and sighed, "At last! Somebody said it!"

The fact is that life with "heaven's very special child" can be hell.

It is a tragedy and a national disgrace that decent, affordable housing for the mentally retarded is so hard to find. We are a nation that spends millions on video games, yet thousands of marriages and families are being damaged beyond repair because decent residential care is not available for our mentally retarded.

Abby, please print this letter and alert our legislators in

Dear Abby

Washington. At the very least, families who suffer from catastrophic situations like this one should get some kind of a break.

And yes, you may use my name. (MRS.) ELLEN DONNELLY, ROCKY RIVER, OHIO

Dr. Don Rollings, Evangelist, will lead services at the Sanford-Eustis Free Methodist Church, 4th St. & Laurel Ave., (one block East of French Ave.), the week of Dec. 5-11, each night at 7:00 p.m.

Holiday Concert At SCC

Seminole Community College will be the site of a concert of holiday music on Sunday, December 5, at three p.m. in the concert hall of the Fine Arts building. The public is invited and there will be no admission charge.

Combining their efforts will be the SCC Corale, Chorallers and Community Chorus. The Corale is the college's all-campus choral organization opened to all singers without audition requirement. The chorale will perform a varied repertoire including folk music appropriate to the holiday season.

Chorallers is a 25-voice choral ensemble selected by audition. Included in the music performed by this group will be a short "Christmas Cantata" by Philip Buchner, a Baroque master. Robin Lee Hodges will accompany the Corale and Chorallers.

A highlight of this occasion will be the combining of all three choirs in six works including two chorales from Bach's "Christmas Oratorio" and Ron Nelson's "Choral Fanfare for Christmas."

Fruit Accents Roast Pork For Harvest Haute Cuisine

When the family needs a bit of spoiling at a fall Sunday dinner, hearty American fare with a special touch is the solution.

Fruit accents robust meats beautifully and elevates a simple dish for family and friends into a fine example of American harvest haute cuisine. We've paired bananas with pork and lamb in two recipes that will whet the appetite.

Bringing the banana, almost always the lowest-priced fruit on the market, together with the moderately-priced loin of pork will please both your pocketbook and your public. Stuffed Loin of Pork with Glazed Prunes and Bananas combines the down-home delightful taste of cornbread stuffing, bananas and prunes. A remarkable glaze of bourbon and pan juices, flavored with mustard and brown sugar, leaves the fruits shimmering with flavor. The entree is one to satisfy the more active appetites at your table at this time of year and provide a goodness to be remembered.

STUFFED LOIN OF PORK WITH GLAZED PRUNES AND BANANAS

- 3 pounds loin of pork
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 package (8 ounces) cornbread stuffing mix
- 2 large bananas, peeled and diced
- 1/4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/2 cup bourbon

Cut pockets in loin between ribs. In large skillet, melt butter over medium heat; saute onion and celery just until tender, about 5 minutes. Add salt, and stuffing mix, blend well. Gently fold in bananas. Stuff dressing into cut pockets. Use wooden picks to secure openings, if necessary. Place roast on a wire rack in shallow roasting pan. Roast in a 325 degree F. oven 1 1/2 hours or until meat thermometer registers 170 degrees F. Sprinkle brown sugar and dry mustard over meat. Pat into place. Pour bourbon over meat. Return to oven and roast 15 minutes longer or until glazed. Serve with Glazed Prunes and Bananas. (Below) Yield: 8 servings.

GLAZED PRUNES AND BANANAS

- 1 1/2 cups pitted, large prunes
  - 2 large bananas, peeled and cut in chunks
- Soak prunes in hot water 30 minutes until plump. Drain. Place prunes and banana chunks in pan with pork loin during last 15 minutes of roasting. Baste with pan juices occasionally. Serve with pork loin.

BANANA LAMB CURRY

- 2 1/2 pounds boneless leg of lamb
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

- 1/4 cup vegetable oil
  - 2 medium onions, peeled and sliced
  - 2 medium-size red peppers, seeded and cut into strips
  - 2 green peppers, seeded and cut into strips
  - 1 clove garlic, crushed
  - 2 to 3 tablespoons curry powder
  - 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed beef broth
  - 1 cup heavy cream
  - 1 cup flaked coconut
  - 1 cup dark raisins
  - 4 medium bananas, peeled and cut in chunks
- Cut meat into 1 1/2-inch cubes. Combine flour, salt and pepper in plastic bag. Toss meat cubes in seasoned flour until well coated. In large skillet heat oil over medium heat; brown floured meat cubes on all sides; remove and set aside. Saute onion slices and red and green pepper strips just until tender, about 5 minutes. Add garlic, curry powder, beef broth and heavy cream, stirring until well blended. Return browned meat to sauce. Cook over medium heat until thoroughly heated. Add coconut, raisins and banana chunks. Heat 2 minutes. Yield: 8 servings.

Fruit complements pork loin, American style.

Homemade Gifts Show You Care

Homey gifts from the kitchen are personal presents that show you really care.

They also are more economical. Put homemade relishes, special whole pears or butterscotch sauce into attractive containers. Wine carafes, decorative jars or glass canisters are put to use long after their contents disappear.

TIPSY CHUTNEY

- 3 cans (1 pound 4 ounces each) crushed pineapple
- 4 large limes
- 2 cups red wine vinegar
- 1 box (1 pound) dark brown sugar
- 2 cups light raisins
- 2 cups dark raisins
- 1 cup Jamaican rum
- 1 cup coarsely chopped pecans
- 1/4 cup chopped crystallized ginger
- 3 tablespoons instant minced onion
- 1 1/4 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1 teaspoon ground allspice
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder

Turn pineapple and all syrup into a large open kettle. Wash and cut limes into quarters, leaving peels on. Combine limes and wine vinegar in blender jar. Whirl until chopped. Add to pineapple along with all remaining ingredients. Bring to rolling boil. Cook uncovered over medium heat 1 hour until thick. Remove and pour into sterilized jars. Cool; cover and refrigerate. (There is no need to seal with paraffin.) This kitchen-tested recipe makes approximately 2 quarts.

FRESH APPLY CHUTNEY

- 4 cups cored, pared, apples
- 2 cups seedless grapes
- 1/2 cup chopped onion (1 medium)
- 1/2 cup chopped red pepper
- 1 clove garlic, chopped
- 2 cups dark brown sugar
- 2 cups cider vinegar
- 1 tablespoon mustard seed
- 1 tablespoon ground ginger
- 1 teaspoon ground allspice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon hot pepper sauce

In large kettle or saucepot, combine all ingredients. Bring to boil; reduce heat; simmer about 1 hour until mixture thickens. Stir often to prevent sticking. Spoon into desired containers. Chutney may be refrigerated for at least 6 to 8 weeks. Or, pour boiling hot chutney into sterilized jars, leaving 1/4-inch head space. Label and store. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 5 to 6 half-pints.

ZUCCHINI RELISH

- 6 cups thinly sliced zucchini
- 2 cups thinly sliced onion (2 large)
- 2 1/4 tablespoons salt
- 2 1/4 cups cider vinegar
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 cup chopped green pepper
- 1 tablespoon ground nutmeg
- 3 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon turmeric
- 2 teaspoons dry mustard
- 1 1/2 teaspoons celery seed
- 1/4 teaspoon hot pepper sauce

In large bowl, combine zucchini, onion and salt; mix well. Allow to stand 8 hours or overnight. Drain; rinse well with cold water. In large kettle or saucepan, combine remaining ingredients; add zucchini and onions; mix well. Bring to a boil; simmer 7 minutes. Spoon into desired containers. May be kept refrigerated for 6 to 8 weeks. Or, pack boiling hot into sterilized jars, leaving 1/4-inch head space. Adjust caps. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 7 half-pints.

Baked Bread On Table In 90 Minutes

Making your own bread is easier than most people think. Two of the delightful classics pictured here, developed by the Fleischmann's Yeast Test Kitchen, can be mixed, baked and served within 90 minutes.

HERB SOUR CREAM RING

- 2 3/4 cups unsifted flour
- 5 tablespoons margarine
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon dried marjoram leaves
- 1/4 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
- 1/4 teaspoon dried oregano leaves
- 1 package active dry yeast
- 1/4 cup warm water (105 degrees F.-115 degrees F.)
- 1/4 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/4 cup cold milk (about)

FOOD PROCESSOR PREPARATION:

With metal blade in place combine flour, 3 tablespoons margarine, sugar, marjoram, thyme and oregano in bowl; process 5-10 seconds to combine. Dissolve yeast in warm water; pour through feed tube. Add sour cream and begin processing. Pour milk through feed tube in a fast stream until ball forms, about 10-15 seconds. Continue processing for 60 seconds to knead dough.

Carefully remove dough from processor bowl. Shape into a ball and place in a greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down. Divide into 10 pieces and shape each into a ball. Arrange balls in a circle in a greased 6 1/2 cup ring mold. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour, 10 minutes.

Melt remaining margarine; pour over dough. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 20 to 25 minutes, or until done. Remove from pan and cool on wire rack. Yield: 1 loaf.

NINETY-MINUTE CHERRY COFFEECAKE

- 3 2-3 cups unsifted flour
- 1/4 cup margarine, softened
- 1/4 cup walnuts, chopped
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1-3 cup sugar
- 1 package active dry yeast
- 1/4 cup water
- 1/4 cup milk
- 2 eggs (at room temperature)
- 1 can (21 oz.) cherry pie filling
- confectioners' sugar frosting

In a small bowl mix 1-3 cup flour, 1/4 cup margarine, walnuts and cinnamon until crumbly; set aside.

In a large bowl mix 1 cup flour, sugar and undissolved yeast. Combine water, milk and remaining 1/4 cup margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are very warm (120 degrees F.-130 degrees F.). Margarine does not need to melt. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add eggs and 1/4 cup flour. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough remaining flour to make a stiff batter. Spread evenly in two greased 9-inch round pans. Spoon half of the cherry pie filling over each in a ring, leaving the center unfilled. Sprinkle with prepared crumb mixture. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Bake at 375 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes, or until done. Cool in pans on wire racks. Drizzle with confectioners' sugar frosting before serving. Yield: 2 (9-inch) cakes.

LEMON NUT SPINDLE ROLLS

- 3 cups unsifted flour
- 1/4 cup margarine
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 package active dry yeast
- 1/4 cup warm water (105 degrees F.-115 degrees F.)
- 1 egg
- 1/4 cup cold milk (about)
- 1/4 cup margarine, melted
- 1 1/4 cups firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1/4 cup walnut pieces
- 2 1/2 tablespoons grated lemon peel

FOOD PROCESSOR PREPARATION:

With metal blade in place combine flour, margarine, sugar and salt in bowl; process 5-10 seconds to combine. Dissolve yeast in warm water; pour through feed tube. Add egg. Begin processing, pouring cold milk through feed tube in a fast stream until ball forms, about 10-15 seconds. Continue processing for 60 seconds to knead dough.

Carefully remove dough from processor bowl. Shape into a ball and place in a greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Combine melted margarine, 1/4 cup brown sugar and 1/4 cup walnut pieces; spoon into greased muffin cups.

Punch dough down. On a lightly floured board roll out to a 12-inch square. Combine remaining brown sugar, walnuts and lemon peel; sprinkle over dough. Roll up as for a jelly roll, pinching seam to seal. Cut roll into 1-inch slices and place, cut side up, in prepared muffin cups. Cover; let rise until doubled, about 1 hour.

Bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes, or until done. Invert pan on wire rack. Let stand 3 minutes; remove pan and cool rolls on wire rack. Yield: 1 doz.

NINETY-MINUTE NUTSWIRL LOAF

- 3 1/2 to 3 3/4 cups unsifted flour
- 5 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 package active dry yeast
- 1 cup water
- 1-3 cup milk
- 3 tablespoons margarine
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1-3 cup finely chopped walnuts

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1 1/4 cups flour, 2 tablespoons sugar, salt and undissolved active dry yeast.

Combine water, milk and 2 tablespoons margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are very warm (120 degrees F.-130 degrees F.). Margarine does not need to melt. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add 1/4 cup flour; beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto a lightly floured board and knead 4 to 5 minutes. Place in a greased bowl, turning to grease top.

On center rack of cold oven pour boiling water into a large baking pan to a depth of 1 inch. Place bowl of dough on a rack over pan of water. Cover. Close oven and let rise 15 minutes.

Remove bowl of dough from oven, punch down and turn out onto floured board. Roll out to a 12 x 8-inch rectangle. Melt remaining margarine, brush on dough. Mix remaining sugar, cinnamon and walnuts; sprinkle tough with mixture. Roll up from short end like a jelly roll. Pinch edges of dough to seal. Place in a greased 8 1/2 x 4 1/4 x 2 1/2-inch loaf pan.

Replace boiling water in pan in oven. Place pan of dough on rack over water in oven. Cover and let rise 20 to 25 minutes. Uncover loaf and remove pan of water and rack. Turn oven to 375 degrees F. Bake 30 to 35 minutes, or until done.

Herb Sour Cream Ring, Lemon Nut Spindle Rolls and Cherry Coffee Cake are all homemade 'melt-in-your-mouth' freshly baked breads.

Leftover Turkey Great In Casseroles

When purchasing a turkey, I usually get the largest one I can find.

This I do for several reasons. First, I like to have many family and friends to share a meal with us; second, we're all very fond of cold turkey sandwiches; and third, I hope to have several cups of turkey meat leftover to use for casseroles.

Most microwave cookbooks have a recipe for chicken or turkey divan, and that is a good way to use leftover turkey. These recipes using cooked turkey are also ways of stretching a small amount of meat to make a family size casserole.

TURKEY AND WILD RICE

- 4 cups diced cooked turkey
- 4 cups cooked wild rice
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1/2 cup chopped pimientos

Midge Mycoff

Home Economist
Seminoole Community College

- 1/2 cup slivered almonds
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 1 cup turkey broth, or 1 teaspoon instant chicken bouillon dissolved in 1 cup hot water
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup dry white wine
- 1 teaspoon salt

Mix all ingredients in a 3-quart casserole. Cover. Microwave 8-10 minutes 100 percent power, or until center is hot. Stir twice during cooking.

TURKEY FLORENTINE

- 1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
  - 1 can condensed turkey vegetable soup
  - 1 1/2 soup cans of milk
  - 1 cup chopped fresh spinach
  - 1 cup chopped cooked turkey
- Combine all ingredients in a 3-quart casserole. Stir until well blended. Cover. Microwave 7-8 minutes 100 percent power or until hot.

SHOPPERS DELIGHT

- 1 can cream of onion soup
  - 1 can chicken gumbo soup
  - 3 cups cooked turkey, large chunks
  - 1/2 cup seasoned croutons
- Combine soups in a 2-quart casserole. Stir until well blended. Stir in turkey. Sprinkle with croutons. Microwave 100 percent power 8-10 minutes or until hot.

Roast Stuffed Chicken for two makes more than one meal.

Chickens Come To Rescue Of Dinner For Two

Cooking for two during the holidays can be an experience filled with succulence... and a bonus. Start with a roast chicken stuffed with a fruited rice combination and go on from there.

Such a roast will also provide enough leftover meat for a special salad at a later date.

Let your imagination take over, and it will easily stretch a tight budget.

ROAST STUFFED CHICKEN

- 1 roast chicken, about 4 pounds
- salt pepper
- 1-3 cup (1/2 6-ounce package) raw long grain and wild rice mix
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1-3 cup water
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup diced celery
- 2 tablespoons chopped scallion
- 1/4 cup chopped pecans
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind

Glaze:
1/2 cup apricot preserves
1-3 cup orange juice
Wash chicken thoroughly and pat dry. Sprinkle chicken with salt and pepper inside and out. Prepare half of packaged rice mixture, using orange juice and water for the cooking liquid; cook according to package directions. In small skillet, melt butter; saute celery and scallion until tender. In small bowl, combine cooked vegetables, pecans, orange rind and prepared rice. Spoon rice mixture loosely into cavity of chicken; close cavity with skewers. Place in shallow roasting pan, breast-side-up. Roast in 325 degree oven 2 1/2 to 3 hours or until done. Combine apricot preserves and 1-3 cup orange juice. Use to baste chicken during last 30 minutes of roasting. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

HOT CHICKEN CITRUS SALAD

- 2 cups cooked, cubed chicken
  - 1 cup diagonally sliced celery
  - 1/4 cup chopped walnuts
  - 1 teaspoon grated onion
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1/4 teaspoon dried leaf tarragon
  - 1-3 cup orange juice
  - 1/4 cup mayonnaise
  - 2 oranges, peeled and sectioned
  - 1/4 cup dry bread crumbs
  - 1/4 cup grated Parmesan or Romano cheese
- In medium bowl, combine chicken, celery, walnuts, onion, salt, tarragon, orange juice and mayonnaise; mix well. Cover. Refrigerate 1 hour. Stir in orange sections. Spoon mixture into 2 ramekins or individual casseroles. Sprinkle with bread crumbs and Parmesan cheese. Bake in 350 degree oven 20 or 25 minutes or until mixture is heated through and cheese is lightly browned. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 2 servings.

Dish Up Special Pudding Surprise

English muffins, custard and fresh strawberries combine for a different dessert. It's a pudding surprise, one that youngsters will enjoy for a birthday treat or special celebration.

ENGLISH MUFFIN PUDDING

- 3 English muffins with raisins, split
- 2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 6 eggs plus 3 yolks, lightly beaten

1 1/4 cups sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
4 1/4 cups milk, heated
1 pint fresh strawberries
With sharp knife, trim off outer crusts from each muffin. Butter muffins lightly and cover with brown sugar. Arrange on pan and broil (carefully) until golden. Set aside. Combine beaten eggs, sugar and vanilla; slowly stir in hot milk to make custard mixture. Measure 1/4 cups of the custard mixture into top of a double boiler. Set aside. Pour remaining mixture into 2-quart casserole. Arrange 6 prepared muffin rounds on top of mixture. Set casserole in pan of hot water. Bake in preheated 400-degree oven 20 to 25 minutes or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Cool to room temperature. While pudding bakes, cook and stir custard mixture in double boiler over hot water until it coats a metal spoon. Cool. Fold sliced strawberries into cooled sauce. Spoon strawberry sauce over each serving of casserole pudding. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 to 8 servings.
