organized group include W. W. Anderson, president; Stewart Helmly, vice president; Mrs. Jack Riddley, secretary and Bill Shpok, treasurer.

Anderson explained that nominations were made and elections held at the same meeting because those present were eager to get organization activity underway.

The title selected temporarily, also was approved permanently.

A report on baseball activities and work on the ball diamonds given by Anderson stated that the North Orlando Co., supplies equipment for the Little Leaguers who turned out 62 strong for an organizational meeting last week.

Plans also were discussed for the association to sponsor a Boy Scout Troop. John Corday, who holds a Scout Troop Leaders Card, was appointed to be in charge of organizing and leading the new troop.

Membership in the Civic Assn., will be for registered voters of the community and meetings have been set for the first Monday of each month at 8 p.m. in the Village Hall.

A meeting of the officers and by-laws committee was called for next Monday when work will be done toward completing a charter draft.

DeBary Mansion To Get Repairs

By MRS. ADAM MULLER
Repairs on the DeBary Mansion House, Florida Federation of Art Center, are scheduled to begin in the very near future under the supervision of Mrs. D. R. Feemster, federation president and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brumbaugh who have established residence there.

Brumbaugh will start a clean-up and repair project of the grounds and building, adding racks in the picture storage room, repairing the spacious porches and completing the patio among other work.

Improvements already completed include the installation of new lights in the Hall Gallery and Sitting Room by Clinton Sommers, exhibition chairman and Albert Mercer of the building committee, who contemplate the promotion of a painting campaign for the Exhibition Galleries.

DeBary's library is located in the Community Center on Shell Rd. and is open on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays from 3 p.m. until 4:30 p.m.

On the shelves are found many selections, gifts from friends or interested persons. A most recent and generous gift is that of a fine collection of the newest and best in children's books given by Dr. Mabel Alstetter of DeLand and these books are proving a delight to the local youngsters.

For the adults, there are wide choices including most of the recent best sellers. All residents are invited, especially at this time, to visit the library and find new values in reading for pleasure and knowledge.

Volleyball Is Quite The Fad In Altamonte

By ATLANTA MCGINNIS
If perchance you are out driving in the Altamonte area and you notice middle-aged matrons trying to hit a ball over a net, don't be alarmed.

Mothers of the Altamonte Springs Elementary School are trying to limber up for the big volleyball game Friday when the parents challenge the faculty and most are admitting for the first time in years, that "Dad is more agile than Mom."

Students, learning that such a game is to be played between their parents and their teachers are coming forth with bits of solid information such as "Mom and Dad, beware of Miss Durrenberger and Mr. Hasley."

I'm advised that the faculty's sharpest play has Miss Durrenberger hitting the ball to Mr. Hasley, who, in turn, shoots it over the net.

So, "Netters" of the parents' team, recapture 20 years—without some good plays! And those of you who aren't playing, join us at the school Friday to start cheering your champions at 7:30 p.m.

Following the games at 8:30 p.m. will be a Square Dance with the sets to be called by Paul Shafold. Those who find dancing too strenuous, join the Cake Walk, which also will be taking place. A snack bar in operation selling charcoal grilled hotdogs and soft drinks and nursery service will be available for children too young to join in the square dancing of the younger group.

Moughton Set As Club President

E. J. (Bud) Moughton Jr., was elected president of the Seminole Sports Car Club at its meeting where results of the four winners in the Orlando Nocturne also were honored.

The winners in the Orlando race who received trophies were Mr. and Mrs. James Pickup, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McIntosh, E. J. Moughton and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wellman.

College Aid Under Discussion

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House education subcommittee continued work behind closed doors today on President Kennedy's $2.4 billion college aid bill, with some big changes in the making.

The changes apparently had the blessings of the White House.

Committee Chairman Edith Green, (D-Ore.) said the most important one had already been discussed with the administration. It would provide for college construction grants in addition to loans.

HOME

What is home? A blend of memories and mortar... walls and roof and smells of breakfast cooking... a place of rest at the end of the day... a feeling of possession, of belonging... a peace of hate, love, anger... center of things living.

Home may be a mansion on a hill, a cramped apartment, a farmhouse, a hotel, a new suburban split-level, the house Father built... but only to you and your family is it home. No one else may call it that. For home is a part of you!

Centuries ago a shepherd-pastor felt this. Weary, lonely seasons on the grazing slopes had taught him to love... to long for... HOME.

But he realized that, through this life and beyond, the nearness of God is part of the sense of home. Goodness and mercy would follow him all the days of his life. All the world would be in the house of the Lord forever!

Give the Church and its Truth a place in your home. And God's presence will give eternal meaning to that home.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a schoolhouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four main reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Russians Heap Praise On Soviet Space Pioneer

MOSCOW (UPI)— Millions of Russians welcomed Yuri Gagarin home from space today in delirious binge of joy.

Jammed so tightly into Red Square and along a 13-mile route from Vnukovo airport that it was impossible to estimate a count, Muscovites thundered cheer after cheer for the 27-year-old major who won the man in space race for the Soviet Union.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, so happy he went and practically jumped up and down with excitement, gave the Red hero a huge bear hug greeting at the airport and kissed him on both cheeks. Later, at a rally in Red Square, Khrushchev called Gagarin the Columbus of space—the first man to see our whole planet.

He proclaimed the space flight Gagarin made Wednesday as a victory for communism and said there would be more space trips by Russian men.

He said the United States still was ahead of the Soviet Union in the economic field but:

"In the same way that we have advanced into space we shall also advance in the economic field and leave other states behind."

Gagarin stood beside Khrushchev atop the Lenin - Stalin mausoleum, his eyes cast down modestly. He wore the uniform of a Russian air force officer.

Speaking briefly from a prepared text, he said in a quiet voice:

"My friends, all the space fliers are ready at any moment to fly into orbit around the earth. I am sure that we Soviet fliers will carry out further flights to greater distances."

Khrushchev used the occasion to call again for all nations of the world to accept Soviet proposals for general disarmament. He said Russia was ready to share its scientific knowledge with all who are prepared to live with the Soviet Union in peace.

The government heaped tributes on Gagarin without precedent since the days of Josef Stalin. It proclaimed him a "hero of the Soviet Union," the fiercest comrade of the USSR and decorated him with the Order of Lenin.

At the airport arrival, Gagarin spent a full 30 seconds hugging and kissing his wife, Valentina, 26, an attractive brunette who waited at their suburban apartment with their two children while Gagarin was whirling around the earth Wednesday.

Auto Show Brings Interest, Sales, Dealers Say

A steady stream of interested people flowed around and about the glittering new automobiles being shown Thursday, the second day of the Second Annual Auto Show set up by the Sanford Automobile Dealers Assn. in Fort Mellon Park.

"Prospective customers showed about equal interest between the new compact cars and the standard models," Ben Howland, president of the dealers association, reported today.

Several "on the spot" deals have been reported by the various agencies, with customers seemingly well pleased with the deals and trades offered to them. Quite a few new cars are being delivered to buyers with many prospects, "thinking it over" after viewing the show, according to dealers.

Scouts of the Flaming Arrow Patrol of the Troop 501 did a brisk business selling popcorn, hot dogs, cold drinks and coffee to the crowds in the cool lakefront breeze.

One of the new models which draws some of the largest groups of spectators, with its "out of the ordinary styling" is Chevrolet's new "Greenbrer Wagon," a nine passenger model with two big doors on each side, which open from the middle of the car. It resembles a small bus, as it does not have a hood and has a wide variety of commercial and recreational uses.

Another brand new car being shown for the first time is the American Motors Rambler American convertible.

The new custom two-door model, in the industry's lowest-price convertible.

Built on a 100-inch wheelbase, the sporty Rambler American convertible is only 173.1 inches long and 70 inches wide. Its six-cylinder overhead-valve engine has a rating of 125 horsepower. Regular-grade gasoline is recommended.

The convertible has an electric-hydraulic powered top in black or white fabric coated with vinyl for long life. The top folds down into a deep well to provide an unbroken body line.

The Auto Show continues until 9 p. m. today on the lakefront in Fort Mellon Park, with free admission and special deals being offered by the following local dealers: Brass Motors, Bill Hempbill Motors, Seminole County Motors, Holler Motor Sales, Hunt Lincoln-Mercury and Strickland-Morrison, Inc.

MRS. WILLIE B. PIPPIN was in the right spot when the bell rang at the Florida State Bank Thursday and got to dip into the Money Jar and take out all she could hold, which came to $8.04 in silver and pennies. Mrs. Pippin, who lives at 115 Sunset Drive, Loch Arbor, was opening a new savings account at the bank when the lucky bell rang for her.

Realtor Guards Neighborhood Property Values

Preparing for Realtor Week proclaimed by Gov. Bryant for April 23-29, the Seminole County Board of Realtors is explaining the realtor's Code of Ethics, established in 1918 as a guide to honorable business dealing.

ARTICLE 5: "The Realtor should not be instrumental in introducing into a neighborhood a character of property or use which will clearly be detrimental to property values of that neighborhood." Now, what is it the realtor is responsible for NOT "bring in?" It is the "character of property or use." The "character" could be a kind of property or any special thing or quality that makes one property different from others. Thus, if a neighborhood were entirely confined to bungalows, the bringing in of a two or three story house might be objectionable to the neighborhood and be held in violation of this provision. So, "character" will generally refer to a structure.

The "use" of property relates to utilization to which property is put. Converting a lot in a residential neighborhood into an automobile wrecking yard would be an example of violent misuse which would probably be held clearly detrimental to values. The use of property generally is governed by zoning ordinances. Efforts to force "spot" zoning clearly detrimental to a neighborhood might be held in violation of this provision.

The future welfare of the realtor's business is dependent upon the readiness which title to property may be transferred and the security with which owners may enjoy it. Realtors have spent years of effort in protecting and improving the transfer and the means of evidencing ownership of property. The realtor's responsibility in this respect is covered by ARTICLE 6 and is as follows:

"The Realtor should not be a party to the naming of a false consideration in a deed, unless it be the naming of an obviously nominal consideration."

ARTICLE 7: "The realtor should not engage in activities that constitute the practice of law and should recommend that title be examined and legal counsel be obtained when the interest of either party requires it."

It hardly seems necessary to mention provisions of Article 6. Falsifying the consideration in a deed (other than a nominal consideration) opens up so many avenues of possible litigation, involving violation of federal law. Here, again, deviation from ethical practice by a broker might not come to light until charges are filed under Article 11. Thus, Article 6 furnishes a detail that is supplemental to and strengthens the provisions of Article 11.

The second provision of Article 7 likewise relates to passing of title and would be held directory rather than mandatory in that it involves the exercise of discretion or judgement on the part of a realtor. If points of law are involved, the Realtor who is not a lawyer clearly should not attempt to advise his client outside the field of his competence. The realtor should advise consultation with a lawyer.

In most states, real estate brokers now are recognized as having the right—without question—to fill out forms regularly used in the course of their business. If they wander beyond that field and, as an example, draw wills, or other documents not related to the conduct of a real estate transaction, then they clearly engage in the practice of law. In so doing they violate the law.

The local board, however, should not await legal action in stamping out any such practice if it occurs. Since it is here declared to be an unethical practice, realtors might well act under the terms of Article 8 to help eliminate the practice if it is found to exist also among non-member licensees.

Vigilant respect for this provision will do much to improve the highly professional relationship which exists between realtors and lawyers in most areas.

Another Public Problem

There will be another opportunity Tuesday for citizens to speak up on a public problem when the County Commission discusses the possibility of establishing a child welfare foster home system.

Juvenile Judge Vernon Mize has been explaining this problem of providing temporary care for children out of their own homes because of illness, incarceration, abuse or neglect or other emergencies.

The judge, along with police and sheriff's departments are closest to the problem and welfare officials recognize it as a serious one.

About 20 counties in Florida have a system of foster homes for such children in which the county government cooperates with the Florida Dept. of Public Welfare to provide funds.

This provides supervision of the foster home system by a state welfare worker and the juvenile court, with the county paying only for the daily board bill for each child.

Good homes are licensed as foster homes to take in dependent children temporarily and eliminate their neglect in emergencies.

This plan has been favored in some counties over establishing buildings and facilities for child detention and care which the county must maintain and staff with permanent personnel.

This, or another suitable plan, warrants the interest of the public which must give support to the officers, courts and welfare workers handling the child problem.

Anyone interested, or having suggestions, can let his view be known Tuesday.

WORRY CLINIC by Dr. G. W. Crane

CASE H-450: Sylvia D., aged 30, recently attempted suicide.

"Dr. Crane, I have nothing to live for," she tearfully explained. "I'm not beautiful and nobody loves me."

"I don't have friends or good times the way other girls do. And no boy has ever, ever asked me for a date!"

"So what's the use of living, Dr. Crane, if you cannot have good times and be popular?"

To judge from the large number of letters I receive from people who feel like Sylvia, I am glad that my formula for this column includes one case per week on personality development.

Your personality is the sum total of hundreds of traits some are good but others are bad. We might call them MERITS and DEMERITS.

You are not fixed or preordained at birth as regards your personality and charm.

If you have some physical defects which you deem objectionable, try to eliminate them instantly as modern surgery or dentistry will permit.

But after you straighten your crooked eyes, or submit to plastic surgery for your nose or chin or highmarks, you still may not be popular, for charm is something far different from physical beauty.

In fact, many of our most popular girls in college are not more than average in physical beauty. Popular girls often have freckles or a big mouth, prominent noses, or other physical characteristics that many of you readers complain of.

So those are not obstacles to popularity any more than to musical skill at the piano keyboard!

Your personal popularity, like musical skill, is acquired by going through the proper motions. Wouldn't it be silly for a girl to attempt suicide because she thought she couldn't learn to play the piano well, owing to her freckles or her prominent nose or big mouth?

Well, it is almost equally illogical to think your lack of friends is due to your freckles, or big nose, etc.

To be liked among your associates, it is well to be so accomplished and good looking as possible. This includes freedom from "B.O.," dandruff, halitosis, unkempt hair, winding seams in your hose, etc.

But the primary purpose of gaining personal prestige is simply that it will add that much more weight to the tactfully phrased compliments which you pay to your companions.

A beauty contest winner who is self-centered and egotistical, cannot become as popular as the homely girl who develops charm through consideration for her companions and honest praise for their many good traits.

A compliment is an honest statement of praise for some virtue that merits commendation. It is as objective as a surgeon's scalpel, and can be used even on your enemies without the slightest insincerity.

Oh, you may need to force yourself to praise your enemy, for we begrudge doing anything nice for a foe.

But learn to pay compliments liberally. And develop conversational skill. Take an interest in important issues in life, such as the church or Scout work.

And diligently cultivate the 50 MERITS, while eliminating the 50 DEMERITS, listed in my "Test for a Popular Girl."

Send a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents, and you'll receive this blueprint for popular girlhood, plus the 100-point "Test for a Popular Girl." The two tests go together.

"I Don't Find This Relaxing at All"

ASSIGNMENT WASHINGTON by Ed Koterba

WASHINGTON—Tense, restless, the news crowd in the White House driveway squinted toward the Pennsylvania Avenue entrance.

The Tass correspondent nervously synchronized his watch with that of a man at his side—six minutes to high noon. And at that moment the black iron gate of the White House, 100 yards off, swung open.

"Here he comes now," a White House policeman said to no one in particular. In front of the Tass man stood an American general, the sun over his shoulder picking away at the silver star.

The Tass man nudged me. "Is he President Kennedy's military aide?" He was — Brig. Gen. Chester Clifton.

The procession moved, now, along the wide blacktop drive, slowly, deliberately, noiselessly. The lead motorcycle blinked its red eye to adagio tempo.

In the meticulously shiny 1956 Cadillac, reclining on polished black leather upholstery, sat the man with a mission.

Outside the gates, along the sidewalk, tourists clung in droves, hungry with curiosity. This setting, in fact, was the pinpoint of attention from around the world at the moment.

The air was unreasonably calm. The 50-star flag atop the Executive Mansion drooped at its mast. The sun was hot. The millions of buds in the great American elms above the White House grounds became a transparent chattering cloud. And beyond, the sky was clear and blue, dissected in the middle by a lazy white contrail creeping into the west.

It was a scene that held the calm of an Easter sunrise, a calm that gave hope for the dawning of peace over Laos.

Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko held the key from his caplain, Nikita Khrushchev in the Kremlin. He carried the message, an allusion to cease fire, in his hand.

The black car halted now and disgorged Gromyko, with Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov in his wake. General Clifton greeted each individually, perfunctorily.

The Foreign Minister, his hat glued to his head, held his face high, but it was a pallid, washed-out face. Menshikov, bareheaded and beaming, looked radiant in contrast.

In moments, President John F. Kennedy and others in the confines of the President's private office would be facing the Soviet official and some of his men—as close to an East-West summit as we'll probably see for a long time.

It was over in an hour—the last 15 minutes with just the two of them, our man and theirs, in the hot sunlight on a garden bench.

It was a fine atmosphere for any garden-bench summit meeting, although no one knew immediately the results except that they were inconclusive and hopeful.

Back in the driveway, now, Gromyko was departing. The blacktop was a sea of squashed cigarette butts. This, best of all, told the day's story of world tension.

U. S. To Keep Out Of Cuban Action

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy is determined to keep the United States from being involved in any military action against the Castro regime in Cuba.

The president told his news conference Wednesday that he would oppose any effort by anti-Castro forces to use this country as a base for an invasion of Cuba.

He also said there would be no U. S. armed intervention in Cuba under any circumstances and the U. S. government would try to make sure American citizens were not involved in any military action on the island.

"The basic issue in Cuba is not one between the United States and Cuba," he said. "It is between the Cubans themselves."

"I intend to see that we adhere to the principle, as I understand it, this administration's attitude is so understood and shared by the anti-Castro exiles from Cuba in this country."

Kennedy, in response to questions, declined to characterize Cuban Premier Fidel Castro as a Communist. But he said it was obvious from his own words that the Cuban leader was hostile to democratic rule in the Western Hemisphere. He said Castro had associated himself most intimately with the Soviet Communist bloc.

Vetoes Studied

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Bills vetoed after the last session of the Legislature by former Gov. LeRoy Collins will get a thorough looking-over by the House Executive Communications Committee before it votes on overriding the vetoes. The committee agreed Wednesday to go along with Chairman Neubin Askew of Escambia County in studying the bills, and Collins' veto messages, for a week before taking a vote.

POLITICAL NOTEBOOK

By Peter Edson

WASHINGTON (NEA)—There is no disguising the fact that from the American point of view, the situation in Laos is lousy.

President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk are of course obliged to put the best possible face on things and hope for success.

But this official optimism does not hide the real facts. The situation in Laos has been bad since 1954. It has been getting worse. It will take a miracle to make the final result a happy one.

The real achievement of the South East Asia Treaty Organization foreign ministers meeting at Bangkok was to keep the member countries from splitting apart on what to do. It kept the leaders who want to settle the Laos crisis by direct military action from breaking off relations with the political leaders who want to settle it by diplomacy, without a war.

The SEATO communique compromise has to its further credit the fact that it did not draw from Moscow the usual Communist propaganda reply. The Soviet note was serious and restrained. But it was also full of booby traps.

It did not accept the SEATO demand for a cease fire in Laos before the convening of a 14-nation conference to write a new peace treaty that would set up a neutral Laos government. And it set no date for anything to happen.

The day after the Bangkok communique was issued—when heavy rains had apparently slowed down the fighting—the word was passed out in Washington that the Russians were apparently willing to have a cease fire without formally having it declared.

The next day it was announced that the strategic village of Tha Thom had been captured by the Communists after heavy fighting. And that was the end of the initial undeclared cease fire talk.

It has been like that all along. The Russians have flagrantly violated the Geneva accord which "settled" the Indochina problem in 1954, by using Hanoi, in Communist North Viet Nam, as a base for airlifting military supplies to the Pathet Lao rebels in Laos.

There has been no investigation by the International Control Commission set up to maintain the neutrality of the two Viet Nam states.

This shows how useless the re-establishment of another International Control Commission for Laos would be.

There have been no U. S. official protests on Russian supply of arms to the Pathet Lao Communists since last December.

The reason given is that the United States has also been supplying arms to the Lantian loyalists—at their request—and no advantage has been seen for kettling calling pot black on this exchange.

The United States objective is still said to be to keep the Communist Pathet Lao forces from taking over the whole of Laos, or at least the southern provinces and the royal capital.

No one wants to talk about a further partition of Laos, but it is almost certain to be a Communist proposal at a 14-nation conference table, if they cannot win the whole of Laos by conquest before then. They already hold the heart of Laos in the Plaine des Jarres section and the two northern provinces.

To win this area back by fighting would require costly, guerrilla warfare. Some military experts consider it worth the price—not just to save Laos, but to save Southern Viet Nam and Cambodia. If the Communists take those two tottering states, they are right up against Thailand.

And the U. S. guarantees to protect the integrity of Southeast Asia through the SEATO alliance will be made worthless.

Dear Teen-ager: Pensions and social security do not make savings old-fashioned!

If dad died, and was entitled to but minimum benefits under social security and if you, an only child, and mom were totally dependent upon this income; you'd be living on $49.00 a month today. The top benefit for a worker, married with two children is $254 monthly.

Hopefully these meager sums might be added income from insurance. Only a handful of companies might offer you a bit of income from dad's pension should he die before he retires.

Nor should death be the sole consideration in planning to save. Get your banker to give you one of those tables to show how quickly regular savings can build into substantial sums of money—money you might want to start a business or use when you get out of school, money that could provide some luxury for your folks when they do retire.

I was shocked to learn that not quite half the boys and girls in the teen-age bunch, 13 to 18 years, save even a part of their allowance or earnings. A survey just completed by the American Bankers Association of over 8,000 youngsters reports that but 46.8 per cent "save something." It has been found that girls are better savers than boys.

How much does the average teen-ager save? Just under 98 monthly.

What motivates teen-age savings? In most of the cases said there is a goal; 41 per cent save to "buy something soon"; 22 per cent for further education; 18 per cent because they think it is a good idea to have a nest egg or because they "like the feeling of security." About 8 per cent of the savers save for marriage, 9 per cent for travel and 4 per cent to buy a car.

Those teen-agers who admit they don't save gave a variety of reasons, chief among them the fact that they cannot save because of their extensive social life, the cost of grooming, clothes, snacks and transportation. Some felt "you are only young once," so why not spend!

A small percentage said: "pensions and social security make savings old-fashioned!"

Where can we lay the blame for such an attitude? Educators say inspiration for savings should come from the home.

Prisoners Start

New Congo Crisis

ELISABETVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—A refusal to release 30 white mercenaries captured earlier this week today threatened to touch off a new crisis between the Katanga government and the United Nations.

UN civilian chief George Dumontet rejected a Katanga demand for the freeing of the mercenaries, saying he had no power to order their release.

UN sources said unofficially Wednesday that Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold may make a "serious example" of the prisoners.

The prisoners include a number of Belgians and South Africans who were captured after a battle at Kabalo. Two UN Ethiopian soldiers were killed in the clash and eight others were wounded.

In Leopoldville, UN troops detained a gun-running DC4 plane of the German Continental Airline. The plane, chartered by Sabena Airline, delivered small arms to Katanga Monday. The crew told UN interrogators they did not know they were setting illegally.

Correct Hemlines Indicate

Fashion Awareness

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

NEA-A dressy, too-long skirt makes one look older and appear indifferent, while a trim, just-right length indicates fashion awareness and smartness. Along with the right length comes the fashion-right finish.

Use a hem marker or yardstick to get a true even length. All the difference in length is from the top of the hip to your waist.

Use school chalk (this rubs off); turn as you mark and chalk a line all the way around your hips. Next lay garment flat and measure an even distance down to the length you desire.

Long legs bring a skirt much farther from the floor than do short legs. Find the most becoming, most flattering distance from the floor. Use this for your skirt length.

Remember that a narrow skirt should be at least 1 inch longer than a full skirt. When your length is accurate and hem turn basted true, decide type of hem finish you will use.

Sauerbraten Supper Planned By Church

A festive sauerbraten supper is being planned for Sunday April 23 by the Ladies of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. Serving will start at 5:30 at the church edifice 103 West 25th Place.

The committee in charge said that food for the supper is being prepared by some of Sanford's best cooks headed by Mrs. Phillip Skates, chairman. The preparation of the main dish will be supervised by Mrs. Alfred Kirachstein who moved here several years ago from Germany and whose experience with this delicacy qualifies her as "expert" her friends say.

Also included on the menu with sauerbraten is mild or tart sauce, potato dumplings, a specially prepared red cabbage, light and dark bread, iced tea, coffee and assorted cupcakes.

The ladies of the church are noted for their annual "Smorgasbord" type dinners but felt that under the capable direction of Mrs. Skates and Mrs. Kirachstein the extraordinary treat of a genuine sauerbraten supper would be welcomed by scores who have previously enjoyed the tasty dish.

Mrs. Skates announced that only 200 may be served. With tickets limited to that number they are reported as going at a very encouraging pace. The committee chairman said. She added that tickets may be purchased from any of the ladies of the church or by contacting her.

The wedding will be an event of May 12, at 8 p.m. in the church of the Nazarene, in Sanford.

No formal invitations are being extended and all friends of the couple are invited to attend.

Hurlers Look Alike To Kuenn

United Press International
National or American league pitchers all look alike to oblivious Harvey Kuenn, a guy who probably would come through with a base hit even if you woke him up in the middle of the night.

Kuenn, owner of a .318 lifetime batting average, has made life miserable for American League pitchers during the past nine years. Now, in his first season with the San Francisco Giants, he's already going to work on those poor pitchers in the National League.

Wieboldt's Lead Threatened In Play

Out in front in the "T" league is Wieboldt's Camera Shop team but their 85 1/2 point standing is being threatened by the 55 game win score of Country Club Manor.

In third place is Karna Insurance with 45, Nationwide is fourth with 43 1/2, Smith's Amoco, fifth with 38 1/2 and Jean's Spaghet House is in last place with 23 wins.

Karna took high team game and series with 884-1602 and Country Club was second with 880-1401.

Mary Ann Seddon had her second over 200 game with a score of 202, Jane Pandry had 187, and Charlotte Dulla had 186. She also took the individual series with a 69.

Yogi Hudson had a 400 series and Bernice Shaeffer had 438.

Hawks, Wings Mix In Cup Title Play

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chicago Black Hawks coach Rudy Pilous and general manager Tommy Ivan will try to cash the first dividend from a $400 investment tonight.

The Hawks tangled with the Detroit Red Wings in the fifth game of the Stanley Cup championship round tied at two victories apiece after Detroit's 2-1 triumph on Wings' ice Wednesday night.

That Detroit win resulted in the "investment" by Pilous and Ivan. Both were bitter about the officiating, calling referee Frank Udari "gutless" for failure to nullify Detroit's winning goal. They contended that two Detroit players were in the crease, an illegal position, when the puck went into the Black Hawks' net.

Bowlerettes Pay Honor To Leilani

The Jet Bowlerettes held their wind-up awards banquet at the NAB Ballroom, with trophies going to the winning team from House of Leilani and also individual awards to the best players in the league.

Honors for having the highest average in the league went to Fran Mackey and Fran McPherson took the trophy for the highest series.

Highest series with handicap went to Jane Milner, highest game score to Lucy Mayer and highest game with handicap to Kathy Poulsen.

Joyce Beecher received the trophy for the most improved bowler in the league.

Among the teams, the second place winner was sponsored by Sweeney's Office Supply and team members were Martha Zoé, Marian Bond, Marilyn Bailey and Jane Pruden.

Third place team was Nell's Beauty Shop and was made up of Evelyn Fitzpatrick, Jane Milner, Camille Moreland, and Evelyn Kiehlner.

The league has now begun play in the summer series.

He picked on little Elroy Face, Pittsburgh's ace reliever, Thursday.

Kuenn lashed out with a 12th inning line single that scored rookie Ferrell Bowman with the run that gave the Giants a 6-5 victory over the world champion Pirates.

Kuenn's game-winning blow represented the Giants' first dividend on their winter deal with Cleveland in which they gave up Johnny Antonelli and Willie Kirkland to get him.

Rookie Jim Duffalo, who had walked Dick Groat with the bases full in the 11th to put Pittsburgh ahead, 5-4, started the winning 12th inning rally with a double and was credited with his first major league victory.

Bowman ran for Duffalo and reached third on Felipe Alou's infield single. Kuenn did the rest.

The Giants tied the score at 5-5 in their behalf of the 11th on Hobbie Landrith's homer off Pace. Ed Bressoud hit a three-run homer off Pirate starter Harvey Had-dix in the fourth.

In other National League games the Philadelphia Phillies handed the Los Angeles Dodgers their first loss of the season, 8-7; the Cincinnati Reds beat the Chicago Cubs, 5-2, and the Milwaukee Braves defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-4, in 11 innings.

Inclement weather put a damper on all five American League games scheduled. Rain and cold weather caused postponement of the Minnesota-New York and Los Angeles-Baltimore contests while the Chicago-Washington, Kansas City-Boston and Cleveland-Detroit games were called off because of wet grounds.

Reliever Dick Farrell of the Phillies helped win his own game by singling against the Dodgers in the ninth, advancing on a sacrifice and scoring on a throwing error by losing pitcher Ed Palouquet.

Fancho Herrera and Tony Gonzalez each hit two-run homers off Dodger starter Roger Craig. Duke Snider drove in three runs with a homer and a double. His homer, in the second inning, was the 860th of his career and tied him with Ralph Kiner for seventh place on the all-time home run list.

The Reds, who generally get off to a slow start every year, made it two in a row over the Cubs on pinch hitter Jerry Lynch's three-run homer off reliever Jim Brewer in the eighth inning. Gordie Coleman homered with one on in the fourth for Cincinnati's first two runs. Bob Purkey went the distance for the Reds and hurled eight-hit ball. Joe Schaffernoth was the loser.

Reliever Lindy McDaniel, who won the opener for the Cardinals on Tuesday, was the loser Thursday when he walked Mel Roach of the Braves with the bases loaded in the 11th. Singles by Frank Bolling and Joe Adcock plus a hit baseman filled the bases and set the stage for Roach.

Sifford Leads Field At Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N. C. (UPI) — Negro golf pro Charlie Sifford of Los Angeles led a field of 116 pros and amateurs today into the second round of the $22,500 Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament. Sifford's first-round 68 over the par-71 Sedgefield Country Club course was carded Thursday on soggy, wind-whipped greens and fairways. One stroke back after the first 18 holes of the four-day tournament was Billy Maxwell of Dallas, Tex.

Mike Souchak, the former Duke University football ace, and amateur Bill Harvey of Greensboro were the only others to break par. Both were one under with 70s.

Kart Racing Slated Sunday

Another big afternoon of racing will be the ticket Sunday at Checker Kart Track, Seminole County's claim to fame in this newest of speed sports, according to an announcement by track manager Edward R. Mimms this week.

Located four miles north of Casselberry, just east of Highway 17-92 on Sheppard Road, the track was the scene of the first major kart racing meet in Central Florida last Sunday afternoon. Hundreds of spectators thrilled to the sight of nearly 100 of the little bombs negotiating the tight turns and short straight-aways of both the three-tenths mile and half mile courses at speeds approaching a mile a minute.

Kartists from all over the state of Florida participated in last week's carnival of speed and skill, and it is anticipated that this week's competition will be even keener and faster than that last Sunday.

Haynie Holds Civitan Lead

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Sandra Haynie, a wisp of a girl who had to gain 15 pounds the past year to reach her 125-pound playing weight, was the surprise pace-setter today as the $10,000 Dallas Women's Civitan Open golf tournament started the second round.

The 17-year-old Fort Worth, Tex., girl, playing in only her third tournament as a pro, mastered treacherous 40 m.p.h. winds and Glen Lakes Country Club's hilly layout Thursday for a two-over-par 36-37-73 and a two-stroke lead over the field.

A trusty putter, working well for distances up to 20 feet, kept her close to par throughout the opening round as her more experienced rivals found the winds and numerous water holes too tough to conquer.

Closest to the little Texan were defending champion Louise Suggs of Atlanta, Ga., Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S. C., and Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif.

Little League Plans Canvass

Members of the Longwood Little League and Farm teams, included in the South Seminole Little League Assn., will canvass the Longwood area this weekend for donations.

Two Seminole County teams were all but eliminated after the first day's play of the State High School Golf tournament as second day play got underway this morning.

The Sarasota team had a 311 total with Lake Worth second with a 336.

In individual scoring, Ken Chapel of Clearwater led the pack with a 72.

Spacemen Back Cosmonaut's Claim

By United Press International
 America's spacemen and high altitude flyers agreed today they had no reason to doubt Soviet cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin's claim that he could distinguish plowed fields from meadows while 200 miles above the earth.

Scott Crossfield, test pilot for the X15 space plane, said "I wouldn't be surprised if he could distinguish plowed fields and meadows." Crossfield, who has been up 18 miles, said meadows were "very discernible" to him, and he could distinguish cars and houses.

At such heights, Crossfield said, "you are looking straight through the atmosphere, not on a bias, and there is no haze."

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said they did not know whether ground features could be distinguished at even 100 miles because no American has ever been that high, but they added that it was not unreasonable to believe that meadows could be distinguished at that height. Much may have depended on what Gagarin looked through—a periscope, a window or a special optical instrument.

Lt. Col. David G. Simons, who once held the U. S. high altitude balloon record, said that "I know what I saw 20 miles up. It was possible to see clearly and distinguish plowed fields from meadows with the naked eye. Lakes were visible. I also could distinguish the earth's spherical shape."

Maj. Robert White who has flown the X15 to a height of 136,000 feet more than 25 miles, said he could distinguish California terrain "quite well." He added: "I suspect the view is even more dramatic up where he Gagarin has been."

Joseph A. Walker, another X15 pilot, said he believed Gagarin probably could make the distinction between fields and meadows "in an area with which he was familiar by association."

NATO Should Up Striking Power, West Leaders Say

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy appeared today to have won the full support of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer for plans to revitalize NATO and increase its nuclear and conventional firepower.

U. S. officials said their two days of conferences, which ended late Thursday, went extremely well and laid the basis for effective future cooperation on major issues.

The President and the chancellor ended their talks with a declaration that they were firmly convinced the Western Alliance must increase its total strength to meet possible Communist aggression.

They reaffirmed their determination that West Berlin and Germany must be defended against any renewed Soviet pressure, which they agreed might come later this year.

Adenauer's official business here was finished with the issuance of a joint communique, but he planned to remain as a private visitor until Sunday when he will fly to Texas to be a guest at Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's ranch.

Adenauer will leave for Germany Monday afternoon after a mid-day address to a joint session of the Texas Legislature in Austin.

The Kennedy-Adenauer communique said that NATO nations "must maintain and develop further all military means required to enable them to deter effectively a potential aggressor from threatening the territorial integrity or independence of any ally."

U. S. officials said Kennedy and Adenauer specifically agreed this buildup must include both nuclear and conventional weapons.

Foreign Postal Rates Shoot Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Postmaster General J. Edward Day has announced increases in U. S. postal rates to most foreign countries to close an $18 million annual deficit in international mail operations.

The postmaster general, who can revise international postal rates without legislation, said Thursday night the new rates would go into effect July 1.

Rates for regular and airmail letters and postcards to Canada and Mexico will remain unchanged.

Ordinary surface mail to all countries other than Canada and Mexico will be increased from 8 to 11 cents for the first ounce. Regular mail postcards to countries other than Canada and Mexico will be hiked from 5 to 7 cents.

The 15-cent airmail rate for Europe will remain unchanged. But airmail letters going to South American countries will be increased from 10 to 15 cents per half-ounce. Three cents will be added to the current rates for Caribbean countries and Central America. Airmail letters to the Soviet Union will be increased from 15 to 25 cents per half-ounce. There will be no change in the 25-cent rate for Asian, South African and Pacific nations.

Laborites Suffer Serious Reverse

LONDON (UPI) — The dissension torn Labor party suffered serious reverses in the first day of county council elections throughout Britain, unofficial returns showed today.

One of the hardest blows, according to returns compiled by the Conservative party's central office in London, was loss of control of the council in the important county of Middlesex, just outside of London.

The returns from the 37 counties which balloted Thursday showed a definite swing away from the Labor party to Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservatives.

A total of 62 counties will elect new councils during the weeklong balloting. The counties are roughly equivalent to American states and are governed by councils with a chairman as head instead of a governor.

Sanford Dog Set For Geneva Collie Show

Gray Sun Chief Charmer owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Grayson of Sanford will be shown at the Collie Fanciers of Central Florida's Fourth all collie match Sunday in the Geneva Community Hall.

He has been Reserve winner in the three previous matches. In January of 1960, he was chosen Best in Show at the Central Florida Kennel Club AKC Show.

He was entered in three AKC shows in 1961 and has won his class in each show.

All pure bred collies from three months of age are eligible to enter this match and owners need not be members of the Collie Fanciers Assn. Entries must be in by 12:30 p. m. Sunday and blanks are available at the Community Hall in Geneva.

A Junior Showmanship Class will also be open up to 16 years. Prizes in this class will be given for handling rather than for the dog's merits.

This will be an informal match and wholesome fun for the whole family. Spectators are welcome.

Six Children Die In Shack Blaze

ELIZABETHTOWN, Pa. (UPI) — Six children were killed and their mother and brother burned Thursday night when fire swept their family-built shack at a crossroads settlement near here.

The brother, Claude Dimeler Jr., 12, escaped the flames by breaking a window in the 20 by 20 foot wood structure. The mother, Mrs. Velma Dimeler, 45, was saved when farmers tore down one wall. They were driven back by the intense heat and were unable to save the other children.

Killed, apparently while trying to flee, were: Sara, 14; Joan 13; Linda, 11; Carol, 6; Mary, 3; and Ronald, 4. The mother was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital in Lancaster in critical condition. Claude was reported in satisfactory condition.

Claude Dimeler, the father, was at work at his $62-a-week job when the fire broke out late Thursday night. After firemen arrived to fight the blaze early today, he was found sitting under a tree, crying "my whole family's burning in there."

An hour after firemen pulled the bodies from the shack, the family pets, a dog and several kittens, were found alive huddled under a bed.

The Dimelers built the one-door, tar-paper-roof shack themselves more than 15 years ago at a settlement called Newville which now has about 20 houses.

The Dimelers have 10 children altogether, but three of them have been living away from the home. Warren Nisley, husband of one of the Dimelers' children who lives about 200 feet from the shack, tried to rescue the children but could not get into the flaming house.

Firemen said the dead children were found in various parts of the structure, apparently overcome as they tried to flee.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our upstairs neighbor has a 12-year-old son who takes piano lessons. She uses "piano practicing" as a punishment. The poor kid lost his over-shoes, so she made him stay home all day Saturday and practice the piano for three hours! I can hear "The Blue Danube" in my sleep.

Would it be all right if I, and the neighbor next door to her, told her she should think up another punishment?

THE LADY DOWNSTAIRS

DEAR LADY: Tell her. If the boy has any desire to play the piano, the mother couldn't find a better way to destroy it. She has a right to "punish" her son, but not the neighbors.

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and I guess you could call me a "good girl." I mean I obey my parents, get good grades and have nice friends.

I am corresponding with a boy who is in the Air Force. It is sort of my hobby. I like him very much and he writes interesting letters. He doesn't write "love letters" (but he signs them "Love").

My problem is this: My mother reads his letters while I am gone. I don't lock them up. I keep them in a shoe box in my drawer. If she asked if she could read them, I would let her because there is nothing in his letters I have to be ashamed of. She even asked me if I would please ask this boy to print because his writing is hard for her to read. I think she is wrong to read his letters without asking me first, but how does a respectful daughter tell her mother this?

LETTER WRITER

DEAR LETTER WRITER: In a respectful way.

DEAR ABBY: Our son (24) is engaged to marry a very beautiful, but mixed up, young lady. She is 20, spoiled and moody, and has already broken two engagements after the wedding invitations were out.

Our son now finds himself in the same predicament as her first two victims. The invitations are out, and the wedding gifts have already started to come in. Now this girl has asked for "more time to think it over." Her parents are no help because, while they have money, they have no character and are eager to get their daughter safely married and out of their home. We have talked to our clergyman and he thinks we should call it off. Our son is trying to persuade the girl to go through with it. He is sure he can straighten her out after the marriage. I would like your opinion. SICK MOM

DEAR MOM: Take your clergyman's sound advice and encourage your son to give the young lady all the time she wants to "think it over." A broken engagement is far less tragic than a broken marriage.

CONFIDENTIAL TO TINA: Your friends are right. When a girl accepts an ankle bracelet from a boy, and wears it on her LEFT ankle, it means they are going steady.

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Getting married? For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For Janet Leigh ... Frustration Role

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — "If it was going to be a dirty picture I didn't want any part of it. But the way it has been written there's no concentration on sex. Jose Ferrer is the director and he has good taste. It is now a story of people—sort of a modern version of 'The Women' in reverse. Frustrated women rather than overprivileged."

Janet Leigh was shrugging off the lifted eyebrows and defending her role of Naomi, the lady of loose morals she will play in the film version of the controversial "The Chapman Report."

As a 20th Century-Fox movie due for the cameras soon it will, obviously, have more expurgations than those performed a decade ago on the same studio's "Forever Amber," and the more recent "visited and revisited" "Playboy Place."

For Janet, basking in an Oscar nomination for "Psycho," it's another giant step away from being typed as Hollywood's long-time girl-next-door.

She follows "The Chapman Report" with the role of a strip-teaser in "The Diamond Bitch," and she couldn't be happier about the new zip in her career. She isn't even bothered, she said, when movie agents introduce sweet-faced unknowns to studio casting offices these days with the line:

"She's a young Janet Leigh."

"That happened to me," she laughed, "when I was 19. I made my first movie at MGM, 'The Romance of Rosy Ridge,' when I was 17. Two years later the studio signed a girl named Debbie Reynolds and one day I heard a studio executive introduce Debbie to someone as 'a young Janet Leigh.'"

After 30 movies and 13 years in Hollywood it was a question of how long she could go on playing the girl next door and "Psycho" apparently moved her out — way out.

She and husband Tony Curtis still haven't moved out of the fan magazine set, but as things don't get worse she feels no harm is being done.

"My hair stands up," she said, "when I see a headline reading, 'Who's the Other Woman in Tony's Life?' Then I read the story and find out it's our daughter."

Her Oscar nomination for that 20-minute role in "Psycho" was an eye opener she marvels about with the words: "You play leads in 30 movies and then you do a minor part and all sorts of things start happening."

That "Star of the Year" award from 700 theater owners in the 21 midwestern states was one of them—and hubby Curtis, currently on screen playing six different characters in "The Great Impostor," put an amusing note into the record.

She was presented with a trophy by the United Theater Owners of America and went to Kansas City to accept it. The president of the group read a telegram from Tony:

"You have heard of actors who lived their parts. Well, it finally happened to me. I got so carried away with 'The Great Impostor' that I feel it only fair to warn you that when Janet shows up it's probably me."

As an unknown who made it big in Hollywood via MGM's drama school, Janet believes Hollywood's studios of today should renew the training of young people to develop new stars.

"My first salary at MGM was $50 a week. It seems to me any big studio could afford to hire 50 young people and pay them $75 a week for a year's training."

Ben Hur Playing At Ritz

"Ben Hur" the film that set a new record for Academy Awards is now playing at the Ritz Theatre.

The world's most honored motion picture!

Six little words. Used together, they've become synonymous with "Ben-Hur."

No film in the history of Hollywood has been on the receiving end of so many awards and honors as has Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's spectacular production, based on Gen. Lew Wallace's famous novel. And the end is scarcely in sight.

KIM NOVAK and Kirk Douglas in a scene from "Strangers When We Meet" coming to the Movieland Drive-In Sunday.

Novak, Douglas Star In New Film

Kirk Douglas and Kim Novak, two of the screen's most exciting stars, are brilliantly paired in an emotion - charged, astonishingly frank and always absorbing cinematic probing of marital infidelity in "Strangers When We Meet" opening Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In.

These incandescent players explore with unaccustomed boldness and honesty the tortuous ramifications of a romance that must be kept hidden. Under the guidance of producer-director Richard Quine, this new Columbia picture becomes a dramatic, entertaining depiction of Evan Hunter's outspoken bestseller.

The other feature is "Yankee Pasha" which will play through Tuesday.

On Wednesday and Thursday, "Soldier of Fortune" with Clark Gable and "The True Story of Jesse James" will play.

Walt Disney's "Toby Tyler," "One Foot In Hell" and "Masters of the Congo Jungle" will play Friday and Saturday.

City Opposes Countywide Drainage Levy Proposal

The City Commission met in special session Saturday afternoon and adopted a strongly worded resolution to the legislative delegation opposing any countywide drainage levy.

Commissioners said they felt that a drainage levy should be on a district basis and that county residents of effected areas should pay for the facilities they get.

The commission also adopted a resolution to the delegation opposing the county code bill.

Reps. Mack Cleveland Jr. and Gordon Frederick have reached no decisions on the drainage or county code bills.

Cleveland said they hope to start drafting a drainage bill sometime this week.

The County code bill is general state legislation which has the endorsement of the County Commission.

The bill provides for supplemental powers for counties. The bill grants powers to counties to perform municipal services countywide and further allows additional powers of county taxation to provide these services.

This means, according to city officials that property in a city may be taxed by the county for local services outside the city. In practice, there would be no need for annexation by or to municipalities, as residents in heavily populated areas adjacent to cities, would receive similar services as municipal citizens, without having to pay any city ad valorem taxes.

Discussing the drainage bill, Commissioners said that any levy should be on a district basis and only those residents affected by high waters or other drainage problems should pay such a tax.

City Manager W. E. Knowles said that the county drainage committee had recommended that the bill be drafted on a district basis.

The commission also voted to oppose any county tax imposed on municipalities, whereby the municipalities would not receive or participate in the benefits.

Last week the County Commission turned down a proposal by District 4 Commissioner Vernon Dunn that all millage levied in a municipality be returned to that city to carry on its drainage program.

County Accused Of 'Lip Service'

City Manager W. E. Knowles accused the County Commission Saturday of "recognizing the city residents only when they are paying their tax bills."

Knowles, in a memo to the City Commission, wrote that a request from the city to the county board on a joint participation project on Pump Branch Creek was turned down again.

Knowles said that the request was denied "on the basis that all the funds in the county budget had been spent or committed."

"This was the reason given, although this project was the first to be presented to the present commission just as soon as they took office," he wrote.

"It apparently proves that lip service is the best they present to those promises of cooperation and coordination of efforts at election time. Again it is the case of the city residents being recognized only when paying their tax bills to the county," the memo said.

Health Director To Explain Fund Needs To Board

County Health Director Dr. Clyde Brothers is expected to appear before the County Commission Tuesday to explain proposed curtailment of health department services.

Last week the commission asked Dr. Brothers to appear after he sent a letter to the board asking for more money to carry on the present health department services or he would be "forced to curtail services."

Dr. Brothers did not elaborate in his letter on what services would be curtailed.

Other business expected at the meeting would be a discussion on proposed legislation for the licensing of building contractors.

The board last week invited the zoning commission and a delegation of contractors to appear to discuss the proposed bill.

The bill had been approved by the zoning board but at the last three meetings delegations of contractors had appeared to protest the legislation.

Bible Reading Appeal Looms

MIAMI (UPI)—The ruling of a circuit court judge, who Saturday upheld a 30-year-old state statute which calls for daily Bible readings in public schools, may be appealed by Dade County parents who call the practice unconstitutional.

The group also had asked that the county school board be enjoined from the other religious practices which had grown up around the readings.

Circuit Judge J. Frits Gordon said in his ruling that reciting the Lord's Prayer, display of religious symbols, and the holding of bacchanalian programs may continue.

Gordon ordered Christmas and Easter plays and the showing of religious movies at schools to be halted.

Harlow Chamberlain said his "position as a nontheistic person is completely ignored," by Gordon's ruling.

Thousands Stranded In Giant Snowstorm

By United Press International

A giant spring snowstorm that caught the Midwest off guard drifted broomstick high today and stranded thousands of persons in travel terminals, farm homes and makeshift roadside shelters.

The near-blizzard measured up to 18 inches at Duluth, Minn. It closed dozens of major highways, hid rural roads in seven states and virtually paralyzed long distance traffic in Chicago, the nation's transportation hub.

At least 30 deaths were attributed to the weekend storm, including 14 motorist fatalities in blinding snow on icy roads and six members of a Madisonville, Tenn., family who died when kerosene was splashed on a fire in their home for heat against suffocating cold.

Uncounted traffic accidents in Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Indiana, lower Michigan and northeast Ohio ranged from dent-dented fenders to multiple crackups.

Harried Illinois State Patrol officers said there would be "no attempt" to estimate the total number of collisions.

Winds at 50 miles per hour and snow averaging up to a half-foot from a stylized low pressure center over Lake Michigan apparently hit Illinois hardest. State police hit Illinois hardest. State police hit Illinois hardest. State police hit Illinois hardest.

State Of Emergency Declared As First Reports Indicate Heavy Casualties

United Press International

A fighting force of Cuban rebels invaded their homeland by air and sea today only 90 miles from Havana, and Premier Fidel Castro declared a state of emergency.

Rebel troops swarmed ashore after midnight in the swampy area around the Bahia de Cochinos, the Bay of Pigs. The invasion area lies at the south of Matanzas Province below Havana.

First indications were that the casualties were heavy.

Near midday the largest radio station in Havana, CMQ, was heard announcing that Castro had declared a state of national emergency.

As the government acted to fight off the invaders, Cuba had charged in the United Nations that the attack was waged by "mercenaries" from bases in Florida and Guatemala. The invasion, Cuba said, was financed by the United States.

In Washington, Secretary of State Dean Rusk denied that the invasion came from American soil, but said the United States is sympathetic with the invaders' aims.

The landing by anti-Castro forces was accompanied by a rebel radio appeal for a simultaneous uprising within Cuba.

Several hours after dawn the government's internal radio communications system, which had been commandeered by the army, reported invaders were dropping by parachute, that planes were bombing and strafing the beachhead area, and that two gunboats supported the assault.

President Jose Miro Cardona of the Cuban Revolutionary Council in New York said the assault was the beginning of the battle "to liberate our homeland from the despotic rule of Fidel Castro and rid Cuba of international cruelty and oppression."

The Soviet Union demanded that the "aggression" be halted at once. It charged that plans for the invasion were laid in the United States. Radio Moscow said "freedom-loving countries" cannot allow the "aggressive circles of the USA" to unleash a war in the Caribbean.

The first stage of the invasion began Saturday night when "hundreds of Cuban army of liberation troops" went ashore in Oriente Province in Eastern Cuba, revolutionary leaders claimed.

The broadcast statement by Castro said the invasion troops "are attacking various points of the national territory to the south of the province of Las Villas aided by aircraft and warships."

Government troops engaged the invaders at the beachhead, the broadcast said, and "are advancing against the enemy sure of victory."

First indications that casualties were heavy came in a broadcast Cuban Red Cross appeal heard in Miami. It asked for ambulances in Jaguey Grande "because there are many injured."

Opposition by dog track representatives in the state continued, but the two bills approved by the committee will be up for vote in the House shortly.

Rep. Gordon Frederick reported that the House public entertainment committee approved the bill by a 11-1 vote, with Rep. George Hollahan of Dade County opposing. This also was the vote for another bill transferring an existing harness track from St. Johns to Broward County.

Frederick said he and Rep. Mack Cleveland Jr. stressed to the committee that the voters of Seminole County had approved harness racing in 1936 by a three to one majority.

"We are told the people still want this permit granted," Frederick told the committee.

No other local bills were scheduled to appear today as the House got back into action.

Congressional District Bill Tossed Into House

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—A controversial interim committee bill to add four new congressional districts in Florida was tossed in the House today by Rep. W. E. Scott of Martin.

The measure, already in the Senate, splits Pinellas and Hillsborough counties in a gerrymander designed to dilute Republican strength and attempt to unseat Florida's lone GOP congressman, William Cramer of St. Petersburg, in 1961.

But the bill has become just as controversial among Democrats, and the committee has been forced to concede it will be well revised before passage.

The House, back from a week-end recess, convened at 11 a. m. and continued receiving dozens of new bills. The Senate session was scheduled at 4 p. m.

Among the new bills today was one requiring an anti-Communist oath of members of the State Civil Defense Department. Another would permit corporations to make contributions to the campaigns of public officials and candidates.

Introduced by Rep. Jerry Thomas of Palm Beach it would continue in law the prohibitions against political contributions by persons holding beverage and race track licenses.

Rep. Allison Strickland of Citrus offered a bill to prohibit sale of alcoholic beverages in grocery or drug stores, and it immediately ran into controversy and wound up in the finance and taxation committee.

The speaker first assigned it to Temperance and a Judiciary Committee, and Finance and Taxation Chairman James Sweeney of Volusia got it referred to his committee.

Strickland protested that the bill had nothing to do with taxes, but Sweeney said 90 per cent of the beer sold in Florida was handled through chain grocery stores and may also handle liquor sales.

The House wound up the fight by pulling the bill from the judiciary committee and placing it in finance and taxation, and then in temperance.

Other lower chamber committees scheduled to meet today include those on citrus, forestry, public health, soil water conservation, public safety, livestock, appropriations, higher learning and public schools.

Only two Senate committees were slated to meet today. They are those on forestry and miscellaneous legislation.
