SUICIDE RUINS HONEYMOON OF YOUNG COUPLE

Sanchez Turner Who Was Wed On Tuesday Sends Bullet Through Head With Revolver

Leaves No Hint As To His Motive

Wedding Had Been A Secret As Girl Continued Living Home

Suicide shattered the secret honeymoon of a young Sanford couple last night when Sanchez Turner, 26 year old, put a bullet through his head and left his bride of four short days a widow.

The crash of the revolver shot which mortally wounded young Turner echoed through the house at 1517 West First Street a few minutes after 5 o'clock and summoned men to his room.

They called the police and an ambulance raced the scoreless man to the Fernand Laughton Memorial Hospital where he died at 9:45 a.m. He left no note of explanation for his act.

His wife, who at the time of her parents' death, Mrs. J. J. Knight could only tell the police that he had acted "out of sorts" for several days before his death. She said they had really not commenced their married life together.

No hint of impending tragedy appeared in the manner of the couple Tuesday when they were married by Mrs. Cassandra Schulz at the office of Judge James G. Snare in the Court House. Turner gave his age as 25 and Mrs. Turner gave her as 22. The marriage license showed that Miss Turner had previously been married in Sanford but had obtained a divorce.

They were well satisfied with ordinary marriage certificate given to couples at Judge Shantz's office but purchased a prettier and handsomer one, and Mrs. Schulz has organized her to keep the marriage a secret from everyone.

According to the police, the bride, whose maiden name is Madeline Knight, returned after the wedding to the home of her parents at Third Street and Ocean Avenue, while young Turner went to the Boland's on West First Street.

Yesterday morning, said the young wife, her husband came to see her and said, "I'll be back after a while." But he did not return. She told Chief Williams that she had been confided with marital fever for several days.

Financial trouble seemed unlikely as a cause for the tragedy. In the young man's pockets was found nearly $60 in currency, according to the police. Chief Williams said the friends with whom the young man lived were not aware that he had been married but that the girl's parents knew that he had become Mrs. Turner.

Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been made. The young man came here from High Springs and had been in the employ of the Atlantic Coast Line until a short time ago when he was laid off. He has a father and brother living in High Springs who have been notified of his death.

Princeton Students Run Amuck In Town

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 29.—(INS)—Summary action was expected to be taken by authorities of Princeton University today against some 1,500 students who went on a rampage here last night and tore down Smith and Hoover houses in the snow after starting a riot which blocked the Litvin Highway.

Angered because a residence qualification barred them from registering to vote in election day, the students paraded along the highway, setting off firecrackers and red flares. They routed the town's forces, cut off food to passing traffic in a false alarm, stopped a telephone bus and rocked it back and forth, and even prevented by university police from entering the jail. The Hoover and Smith political banners were carried away mounted on motorcars.

DEMOCRATS HOLD RALLY AT GENEVA ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Club Is Organized For Active Efforts On Behalf Of Smith Drive

A Democratic rally was held in Geneva Friday night and a club was organized for active work in the campaign. County Chairman E. W. Ware, was in charge of the meeting.

D. J. Garrett, Sanford citizen, spoke at length and earnestly, charging the Republican party with unfaithfulness in its trust and citing the Teapot Dome affair and prohibition enforcement. He also spoke of the century fight of the Republican party to centralize the government and take from the states the rights of self-government, saying that the Democratic party was organized and has ever fought the battles of the people as against the great interests of the few and special privilege. He professed a devotion to the principles of religious tolerance.

Mrs. John G. Leonard reiterated her devotion to the Democratic party and its principles. She deplored the extractions in which some women's organizations had gone in their mad dash to Hoover and Republican the women of the South. She stated that a certain Southern woman was organizing negroes in Seminole County to line up for Hoover.

C. W. Entzinger, Democratic nominee of Seminole County for the State Legislature, stated that should a Republican congress and president be returned to power this year, it is likely that the legatees Dyer anti-lynching bill, or something closely akin to it, will be passed by Congress, whereby a fine of $10,000 will be assessed against any county in which a lynching occurs, regardless of conviction. This, he said, is a direct violation of the Constitution and a direct insult to the South.

Yesterday morning, said the young wife, her husband came to see her and said, "I'll be back after a while." But he did not return. She told Chief Williams that she had been confided with marital fever for several days.

He further stated that he was a Democratic nominee and was not afraid to speak his conviction and that any son might have the backbone to stand up for his party, otherwise he was unfit to represent his party in the elections. He stated that if Florida deserved anything at the hands of the national government, and the Republicans failed, as they have done, to render to her what she deserves, he had no confidence whatever in their reelection promises and that Florida will not sacrifice any of its allegiance to the party which has stood for the rights of the common people. He charged that the Republican party is dominated by the big interests which have ever pressed down upon the masses in order to enrich them selves.

The running man is said to come from the Indians in the Everglades.

The Seminoles there declare that disaster is impending when the everglades bloom. It was definitely established that most of them escaped the last storm by flying the birds, and were before the was struck.

All official verification of this such rumors is lacking. It is natural for stories of high intensity to hit the news media, but this year some experts have that a tidal wave will strike the southeastern coast of the state.

POLICE CAPTAIN SUSPENDED

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29.—(INS)—Diamond of Charles Eckener, owner of the air levitation Graf Zeppelin, fatigued by a strenuous day of welcome by the nation's capital yesterday, had only one formal function on his program to-day before his departure for Akron, Ohio, late this afternoon. Together with the members of his party, Eckener will be entertained at a luncheon at the National Press Club.

Eckener and first officer Ernest Lehmann, and possibly some of the others who made the epochal trip across on the Graf Zeppelin, will leave Washington for Akron at 6 o'clock.

THINK MORGAN 2 CHILDREN DROPPED FOR JOB TO DEATH FROM ON REPARATIONS MOTHER'S ARMS

Belief Prevails That Financier Will Relate Story Of Fall From Roof Of Hotel

PARIS, Oct. 29.—(INS)—Belief prevails here today that J. P. Morgan will represent the United States upon the international committee which will study the German reparation question and fix the total and definite amount that Germany shall pay the allied powers. Mr. Morgan who is in Paris now, has conferred with Premier Poincaré of France, G. Paulus, Minister of Finance, G. P. Gilbert, agent general for reparations payments under the Dawes Plan and W. G. Churchill, Chancellor of the British Exchequer.

They pointed out that the location of the supposed explosion which the Dutch freighter would correspond closely with the position MacDonald should have reached at that time in his flight. They were inclined to believe it more probably that the lone flier had been forced down, and had lighted a signal flare in fortior hope of possible rescue than that the motor of the plane had exploded.

In the latter case, they said there probably would not have been more than a momentary flash of flame, and then the falling plane would have been submerged, extinguishing the flare.

The wireless message from the freighter said: 11:30 Greenwich Time, Oct. 17, position 55° north latitude, 43° 42' west longitude, sighted at big distance, most probable, resembling an explosion.

The freighter's message did not indicate that the vessel had gone to investigate the cause of the lights, although friends here of the former British Navy officer and flier clinging to the hope that the Mirach may have gone to the reparations settlement plan now under consideration the world debt to the United States will be paid by Germany and the peoples of the allied nations will be relieved of that burden.

It is now regarded as certain that no effort will be made to turn up war debts with the reparations settlement beyond the demand of the allied governments that Germany must continue to pay reparations so long as the allies are paying upon their debts to the United States. It was learned from an authoritative source that no attempt will be made to have
