Tourist Tax Eyed To Help Zoo, Midge Fight

By Kathy Tyrity
Herald Staff Writer

A tourist tax could be used to support the zoo and fight the blind mosquitos along Lake Monroe as some interpret an attorney general's letter.

Seminole County just received a copy of a letter from Florida Attorney General Bob Butterworth in response to an inquiry from Osceola County officials, outlining some previously unheard of uses for a tourism tax fund, which is exciting some of the county officials. County Commission Chairman Fred Streetman said today.

Streetman received a copy of Butterworth's letter to Osceola County officials a few days ago and passed it on to County Administrator Ken Hooper. Hooper said county attorneys will research the statutes cited.

"After we research the statutes to see if the zoo can be included, this will be brought to the county commission again to see if there is any interest," Hooper said.

State Representative Art Grindle, R-Altamonte

Springs, told about the letter at a board of directors meeting of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce. Because of what the Attorney General said Osceola could do, that is, use the monies for their lakefront rather than beachfront if the lake is a tourist attraction, Grindle surmised such a tax could be used to improve Seminole County lakes. A big problem along Lake Monroe is seasonal infestation of midges or blind mosquitos. Grindle also got the impression from the letter that the monies could be used for anything that would affect tourism.

That would include the Central Florida Zoo, he said.

"In the past, the tax went to support, maintain, restore and improve beaches and was associated with coastal areas," Hooper said. "But the attorney general now has written in response to a request for clarification to Osceola officials, to say the money could be used for lakes that are a bonafide generator of tourist attractions."

Sheriff's deputy Bill McNett left a trail of blood around his demolished vehicle before being transported to the CFRH emergency room. He received stitches to close several wounds.

Sheriff's Car Demolished In Wreck

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

A Seminole County sheriff's patrol car was demolished in an early morning collision with another car today and drivers of both cars were being treated in the emergency room of Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford this morning.

From the emergency room, sheriff's Sgt. Steve Walther said that deputy Bill McNett, 25, was receiving stitches to close three or four head wounds. Walther said the driver of the other car was also receiving stitches.

The injured men were not expected to be admitted to the hospital, Walther said.

At the scene of the 8:07 a.m. accident in front of The Barn nightclub on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Sanford, a Florida Highway Patrol trooper identified the driver of the other car as Lawson Clark Dennis.

Sheriff's Sgt. Terry Huffman, a midnight shift sheriff's patrol supervisor, said at the scene it appeared that McNett, who was on patrol, was southbound on U.S. Highway 17-92, when Dennis, whose Chevrolet Nova was in a northbound turn lane of the same roadway, apparently turned left in front of McNett's patrol car.

McNett, who left a trail of blood around his patrol car after he got out following the accident, was transported to CFRH. Dennis remained on the scene until ordered by a FHP trooper into an ambulance bound for the hospital.

At the scene, Dennis, who said he is 28 years old and a resident of Sanford, said he didn't remember anything about the accident, because he was knocked unconscious on impact.

Dennis, whose forehead had been bandaged and who was spitting blood at the scene, said he was making a turn on to 12th Street, on his way to Olive Avenue when the crash occurred. He was on his way to his workplace in Orlando, at Bryan Construction Co., he said.

McNett, a midnight shift patrolman, is believed to have been en route to the sheriff's department at the time of the wreck, was wearing both his seatbelt and a bullet proof vest, which Lt. Matt Stewart said saved McNett from more serious injury.

The left front of McNett's car was caved in and the seat and door panel splattered with blood.

In addition to cuts to his head, Walther said, McNett also scraped his knee and wrist in the accident. Walther said McNett has been a deputy for about 2 1/2 years.

The Florida Highway Patrol has been assigned to investigate the accident. The demolished patrol car was towed to the Sanford Police station.

There was no report available of the estimate of damage to Dennis' car, but sheriff's deputies said McNett's car was demolished.

'Alleycats' Voted Off Scenic Board

Two members of Sanford's Scenic Improvement Board, who formed its "Alleycat Committee" to scout the city for unkempt yards, were voted off the board Monday by the city commission. Juanny Mercer, wife of Commissioner John Mercer, and Ruth Lee, who lives outside the city in Seminole County, will be replaced by city residents Martha Yancey and Eliza Pringle.

Mrs. Yancey was nominated by Commissioner A.A. McClanahan, who has been sharply critical of the alleycat patrols. Commissioner Bob Thomas, who also reports allegedly messy properties to the city, nominated Ms. Pringle.

Mercer said the original members — his wife and Mrs. Lee — were willing to serve another term on the SIB. Mercer did not oppose the new members' appointments when they were voted on.

McClanahan did not mention the alleycat patrols when making his nominations, but instead commented on his preference for city residents to serve on city boards.

This year's Alleycat committee has yet to be appointed by the SIB, which agreed before Monday's commission session the patrols would continue even though they have generated controversy. The committee reports are turned in to city code inspectors for follow-up survey.

McClanahan has called the patrols "spying" and said they should be stopped. Thomas and Mercer support the practice and engage in it themselves. They say their efforts are

Sanford Advised To Amend Zoning For Group Homes

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford should, using community input, consider amending its zoning ordinances concerning facilities that care for the elderly, City Attorney William Colbert said in a report issued Tuesday.

Sanford's ordinances prohibit elder-care facilities in the majority of its residential areas. Colbert recommends commissioners decide whether to open more of these residential areas to elder-care operations after hearing from a specially appointed citizens board made up of those who would be affected and city administrative staff.

The issue of elder care is one of "increasing importance to the community" and state law may soon require changes to the city's zoning ordinances, Colbert said.

According to Colbert, state statutes require all cities "to plan for adequate sites in residential areas for group homes and foster care facilities licensed or funded by the Florida Department of Rehabilitative Services (HRS)."

"The next step by the state is likely to mandate group housing be permitted in the residential zones," Colbert said.

He also said he feels the city could not legally deny other group care homes, such as those for the mentally ill, in whatever areas it may open to elder care facilities.

City Manager Frank Faison said Colbert's proposals are being reviewed by his office and he'll be coming in with recommendations for commissioners later this week, for work session discussion Monday, or early next week, for consideration at commissioners' March 23 meeting. Faison said he'll be recommending changes in the city's zoning ordinances, but at the moment declines to specify what the proposed amendments will be. "I'm not going to propose they (commissioners) do nothing," he said Tuesday.

A furor erupted last fall when Sanford staff moved to close a home at which three elderly women were being cared for in violation of city zoning ordinances. Present zoning codes make it illegal to operate an elder care center in that residential zone. The home also was not licensed as an elder care facility by HRS.

Commissioners decided this operation and three others cited later last fall would be allowed to remain open while the city looked into possible zoning amendments. Commissioners and staff to look into the matter after their Planning and Zoning advisory board recommended that no changes be made to present zoning laws.

Colbert now says a new citizens board should be formed specifically to work up zoning recommendations for city commission review. The proposals would be combined with those generated by city staff to form basis for a final commission decision, Colbert said.

A judgement rendered after receipt of citizen's board input and staff evalua-

Grenade Injures 16

Hijacker Shot On Plane

MIAMI (UPI) — A man brandishing a grenade tried to hijack a Cuban plane to the United States but was shot and killed by a guard, setting off his grenade and injuring 16 people, Radio Havana reported today.

The broadcast, monitored in Miami, said the Soviet-built AN-24 plane was about to depart Tuesday night on Flight 706 from Jose Marti Airport in Havana to Nueva Gerona — an island south of Cuba's main island — when the hijacker pulled out the grenade.

The hijacker, identified as Juan Carlos Jimenez Gonzalez, demanded to be taken to the United States, the report said. The pilot refused and an officer on the plane shot Jimenez.

Radio Havana said the grenade then exploded, injuring the other victims. All were taken to a Havana hospital.

where some of them were in critical condition, the report said.

The report said the injured include children and a pregnant woman.

Longwood Knocks Down Termite-Ridden Offices

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

The termite-ridden Longwood Public Works Department offices bit the dust Tuesday, but only after Mayor Ed Myers nearly fell through a hole in the floor recently and City Building Official "Slick" Helms looked at the floor and announced, "This is the end of this."

Thus condemned, the office facility was converted into a pile of rubble by city workers and will be hauled away to make way for a new 1,600-square-foot structure scheduled for completion in three months.

"A couple of years ago termites started and the Public Works Department was told to get rid of it (the building)," said City Administrator Ron Waller. "A couple of times people came close to falling through the holes in the floor. They put bigger and bigger boards over the holes and covered them with carpet.

All that will remain is a concrete slab, which will be used as part of the foundation for the new building, according to Assistant City Engineer Fernand Tibler.

The 1,000-square-foot office located at 180 E. Warren Ave., across from the city garage, provided office space for City Engineer Chuck Hassler, Tibler, Purchasing Agent Ken Peters and two secretary/office manager employees.

Tibler said the $16,000 included in the budget construction of a new addition should provide the bulk of material needed for a shell replacement.

The city purchased a used trailer

POLICE

IN BRIEF

Lake Mary Man Charged With Fondling Pre-Teen Girl

A 28-year-old Lake Mary man has been charged with committing lewd and lascivious assault on a pre-teenage girl.

The arrest of Robert Lee Wickham, of 222 Palmetto Ave., was made at his home at 3:29 p.m. Monday, by a Seminole County sheriff's deputy.

It had been reported to Longwood police and the Florida Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, that the suspect allegedly fondled the girl while with her at a Longwood home around Dec. 26.

The allegations were made to police March 5 and they saw a HRS video tape of the girl's account of the alleged assault. She told investigators that the man told her she would get a "hard spanking" if she told anyone about the fondling, an arrest report said.

Wickham was being held without bond.

Big Knives Bring Arrest

A Seminole County sheriff's deputy who stopped a car without brake lights, which was in a drug trafficking area, searched the car and reported finding two large knives under the front seat. The driver was arrested on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, resisting arrest and criminal mischief.

Garibaldi Criz, 18, of 902 C Orentia Ave., Altamonte Springs, was arrested at 12:20 a.m. Monday on Marker St., at County Road 427. He has been released on $500 bond to appear in court March 18.

Woman Jailed In Stolen Car Case

A woman who stayed in a stolen 1983 Oldsmobile when a Seminole County sheriff's deputy approached the car on Interstate 4, west of State Road 436, has been jailed. Two men who ran from the car and were chased on foot by the deputy got away.

The deputy returned to the car and determined through a police computer check that it had been reported stolen. The woman who was still in the car was arrested on a charge of possession of a stolen vehicle.

Wanda Lavern Hill, 32, of Orlando, was arrested at 4:29 p.m. Monday and was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Husband Charged With Abuse

Seminole County sheriff's deputies reported charging Bruce William Reilly, 40, of 206 Hickory Drive, Longwood, with battery-spouse abuse at his home at about 9:30 p.m. Monday.

He is accused of battering his wife, Paula Reilly, 37, and threatening to kill her if she didn't leave their home.

The trouble began over a "contract," the suspect reportedly wanted the victim to sign. A sheriff's report said the suspect had apparently been drinking alcohol. The couple's two children were present and reportedly tried to assist their mother during the fight, the report said.

Reilly has been released on $500 bond to appear in court March 18.

Fast Car, Bad Tag

A 28-year-old Sanford man whose car was clocked by Lake Mary police at 45 mph in a 35 mph zone on Country Club Road, Lake Mary, was stopped by police at about 9:45 a.m. Monday and arrested on the speeding charge and for possession of a stolen license tag that was reportedly on his car.

Quinton Collier, 1821 Summerlin Ave., has been charged in the case and released from jail.

Driving Under Influence Arrest

The following person has been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Howard Schickman, 28, of 2913 Oak Lane, Fern Park, was arrested Tuesday after his car was in an accident on Prairie Lake Drive, Fern Park. He was also charged with careless driving.

Women Riders Robbed By Driver

A man who offered a ride from a Seminole County bar to Lynn B. Riley, 29, of 2431 Granby St., Sanford, and Diana Thompson, 33, of Daytona Beach, at about 3 a.m. Saturday, forced them from his car on Southwest Road near Sanford and robbed them at knifepoint of about $120, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

The women gave deputies the name of a person they have known for about two years who helped convince them to accept the ride. That person got into the suspect's car, but jumped out on Ninth Street in Sanford, before the robbery, a sheriff's report said.

After the robbery the suspect drove from the scene toward Country Club Road in a 1988 Ford Falcon.

Burglaries And Thefts Reported

Karen Lee Landry, 27, 2864 Spyglass Cove, Longwood, reported to sheriff's deputies that a $400 revolver was stolen from her car March 5 or 6.

Herpes Suit Withdrawn

Lawyers who filed a $1 million lawsuit in Seminole County for a Seminole County woman against a Volusia County man who she claimed gave her genital herpes, voluntarily withdrew the case early today.

Lawyers of the Orlando law firm told Sanford Herald reporters Tuesday they would withdraw the case at the woman's request after learning the case was going to be publicized.

Cabinet Refuses Southland Clemency

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Southland Corp., owner of the 7-Eleven chain, has failed to convince the Florida Cabinet to overlook a federal tax fraud conviction to allow the company to continue selling beer and wine in Florida.

Dallas-based Southland must convince a state administrative hearing officer that none of its current executives had a role in a 1984 conspiracy conviction over tax deductions for a $96,500 bribe to a New York official.

Clemency would have restored full civil rights to Southland without reviving the New York case, and removed a challenge to its alcohol licenses in more than 700 7-Eleven stores in south and central Florida.

Florida law forbids the sale of beer and wine by convicted felons, even if the conviction was in another state. Southland earned $95 million selling beer and wine in its Florida stores last year.

Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter and Attorney General Bob Butterworth said Tuesday that a full hearing would settle any lingering questions about the New York conviction.

Under Florida law, Southland needed the approval of Gov. Bob Martinez and three Cabinet members to award clemency. With two of the six Cabinet members absent during Tuesday's clemency meeting, the opposition by Butterworth and Gunter was enough to block clemency.

Rather than deny clemency, Martinez and the Cabinet agreed to drop the matter pending the administrative hearing.

Southland's legal problems could also affect its right to sell Florida lottery tickets when the game begins next year. The Legislature is considering a bill to deny lottery franchisees to convicted felons.

Also at stake is the public image of a corporation that has spent millions of dollars to build a reputation as a good corporate citizen. Southland has helped raise $30 million in recent years for comedian Jerry Lewis' muscular dystrophy telethons, among other charities.

"I think Southland's image as a good corporate citizen is pretty good, and I doubt this is going to have any effect on that," said Peter Bleakley, Southland's lawyer in Washington, D.C.

The state Parole and Probation Commission had recommended against clemency for Southland, citing a $1.6 million dispute over back sales taxes. The commission and James Russell, state attorney for Pinellas and Pasco counties, also raised the New York conviction in recommending against clemency.

Southland agreed last week to pay $1.37 million to settle the tax dispute. In a separate agreement, Southland agreed to pay $371,000 in fines and fees to Florida beverage officials, contingent upon clemency.

Bleakley argued Southland has an exemplary record, aside from the New York case. He blamed the New York incident on one officer, Eugene Defalco, who was convicted of embezzling the $96,500 and was freed.

Bleakley said although officials still with the company were accused in the New York case, those executives were cleared by juries or on appeal.

Jailed For Clean-Up In Slug-Fed Machines

A man who allegedly used "slugs" instead of quarters in machines at the Lake Mary Laundromat was caught with his clothes in three slug-fed washing machines and arrested at 8:34 p.m. Monday, by Lake Mary police.

The manager of the laundry at 107 E. Crystal Lane called police to that business after a man left the laundry and she opened the coin boxes of the three washers he was using. Inside the coin boxes, which police said are emptied after each use, the manager found two or three slug in each machine and a quarter. The machines are activated by three quarters each.

Police waited for the suspect to return and reportedly admitted that he was using the machines. The manager had reported that on other occasions similar slugs had also been found in washers at that business.

John Daniel Morris, 20, of 222 Lake Mary Blvd., Lake Mary, has been charged with fraudulent operation of a coin operated device. He was being held in lieu of $500 bond.

In the suspect's car police reported finding 63 slugs like the ones taken from the washers. Also found were two pieces of floor tile from which the slug had apparently been cut, police said.

Stolen Car Found In Lake

Sanford police found an abandoned car in Lake Monroe Saturday night about 45 minutes after the car was reported stolen from Winter Park.

The car, a 1984 Renault, registered to Alfonso Pena, 62, of Altamonte Springs, was allegedly taken from the corner of Park Avenue and Knowles Avenue in Winter Park and reported as stolen at 10:30 p.m. Saturday, Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett said.

At approximately 11:17 p.m., Sanford police responded to a call from someone who reported seeing the car in the lake.

Harriett said. He added that a bulletin had come over the teletype to "be on the lookout for a stolen vehicle" which was the same car Sanford police found at the lake front.

The car was in about four feet of water about 20 feet from the sea wall and still visible, Harriett said.

Sanford police are continuing the investigation and are treating the incident as a traffic accident while Winter Park police are conducting a stolen car investigation.

Rain, Snow Plague Texas

By United Press International

Rain, snow and frigid temperatures plagued Texans early today, flooding roads and threatening livestock, and much of the Eastern part of the nation reacted with shock to the return of winter after an unseasonably mild weekend.

Rain fell over central Texas after up to 2 inches flooded streets and highways in Terrell and Val Verde counties in the southwest part of the state, though only rainshowers were reported by midmorning and all flood watches expired.

Snow, frigid temperatures and rain prompted livestock advisories in northwest Texas, the National Weather Service said.

Rain also doused the Oregon coast and parts of Minnesota and California. Snow fell from northeast Montana across North Dakota into western Minnesota.

On Tuesday, freezing temperatures combined with strong wind gusts to remind residents east of the Rockies that winter isn't over yet.

"It's enough to make a person want to pack up for Florida real quick," said Lynette Tegels of West Des Moines, Iowa, who had donned a bathing suit to catch some sunshine at poolside during the weekend's record high temperatures.

Temperatures once again early today were in the single digits with some readings below zero in the Northeast. Montpelier, Vt., was the cold spot for the nation as the mercury fell to 11 degrees below zero.

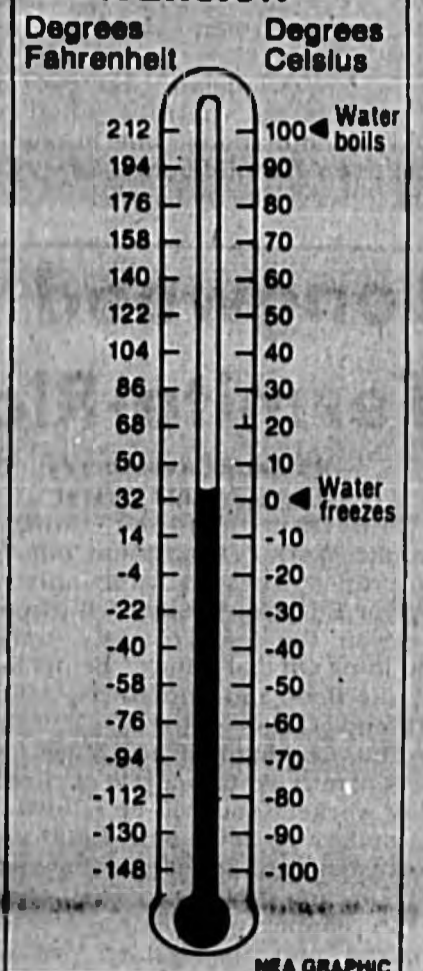

A new record low was set in Williamsport, Pa., with an overnight low of 9 degrees. The former record low was 10 degrees, set in 1960.

Midday temperatures Tuesday were below freezing over much of the Northeast. Sub-zero wind chills were common from the lower Great Lakes across New England, and wind chills of around zero were reported along the mid-Atlantic Coast.

In contrast, springlike conditions were reported west of the Rockies, with highs in the 60s as far north as Washington state and southern Idaho. Boise's 62-degree high was warmer than Jackson, Miss., where it reached only 47.

3 Dead In Police Helicopter Crash

IRVINE, Calif. (UPI) — Two police helicopters collided during a nighttime chase of a stolen car, killing two officers and a passenger aboard one chopper that hit the earth in a brilliant blast and melted to charred rubble, officials said.

The three dead men were aboard a Hughes 500 helicopter from the Costa Mesa Police Department. Two officers in the Newport Beach Police Department helicopter they collided with survived the Tuesday night crash but were injured.

"This was a high impact crash," said Orange County Fire Capt. Joe Kerr said. "There was a large volume of fire. It's the kind of impact when sparks can start the jet fuel (burning), catching the magnesium, which gives off a high light. Ultimately, the metal burned as well as melted and the thing was no longer identifiable as a helicopter."

The Costa Mesa chopper's charred and mangled fuselage lay amid blackened grass and brush beside a broken barbed-wire fence about 25 yards from the roadway.

"We found one helicopter fully involved in fire and a little bit of grass and brush burning," Kerr said. "It took about five minutes to put out the flame. We had to use a special chemical because of the high heat from the magnesium involved.

"When the fire was out we confirmed two fatalities in the (Costa Mesa) craft and one fatality outside."

About 10:20 p.m. one helicopter was peeling off from the chase, which reached speeds of 100 mph, and the other was joining the air-and-road pursuit, police said. The speeding car came to a halt when it blew a tire, and the suspect was arrested in Anaheim about 11 p.m., police said.

Irvine police, carrying flashlights, roamed the hillside looking for pieces of the chopper while coroner's investigators examined the victims. Debris from the wreckage was scattered over a 300-yard radius.

About 200 yards away, the Newport Beach helicopter lay on its side, mostly intact. The pilot, Officer Robert Oakley, was able to walk away from the collision and met paramedics at the roadside, Kerr said.

Oakley was treated for minor injuries at Western Medical Center, where a civilian observer with him, Myles Elsing, was reported in moderate condition and undergoing surgery for cuts on his back and neck.

The identities of the two dead Costa Mesa officers and their civilian observer were withheld until relatives could be notified.

Poll: Most Kids Happy With Life

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite the views of many adults, a survey of young people determined Tuesday most children are happy with their home life, school and the fact that their mothers work.

The American Child Youth Poll concluded:

—90 percent of the children surveyed are happy at home.

—78 percent like the school they attend.

—86 percent feel good about what their parents do for a living.

—59 percent prefer a mother who works outside the home to one who stays home and takes care of the family.

The views of the 1,000 children, ages 8 to 17, differ sharply from a widespread view among adults of an impending crisis among the nation's children.

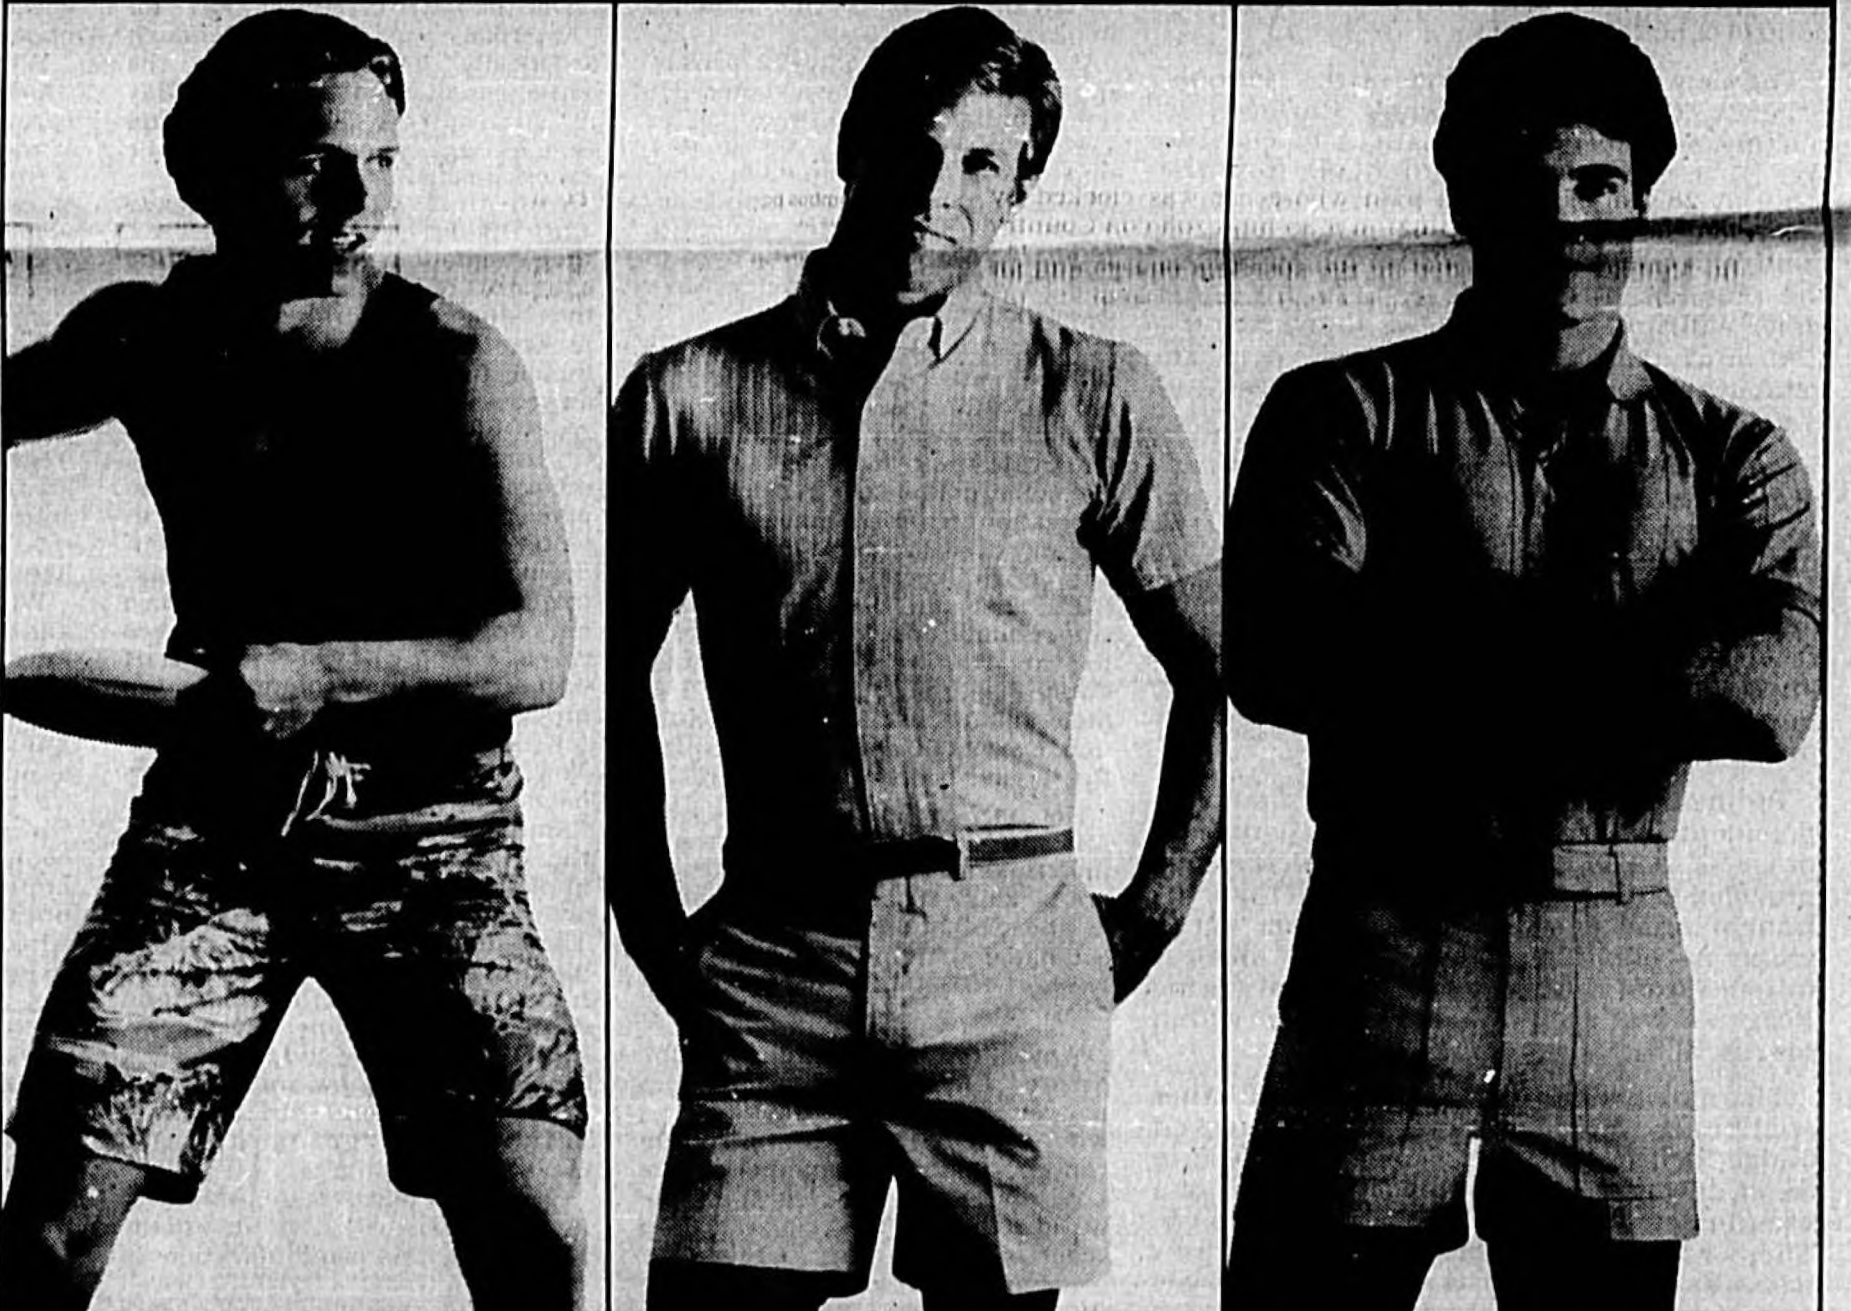

Conducted by The Roper Organization for the America Child Group of Warner-Lambert Co., the poll was described as the most comprehensive, systematic study ever to ask children about their own hopes and worries, their families and schools and what they think about a broad range of subjects.

Fully 90 percent of the children say they are happy at home, and this high percentage holds true for virtually all groups — children and teenagers, boys and girls.

Our Vital Stake In Reagan's Recovery

Ronald Reagan did not wipe the slate clean with his contrite declaration from the Oval Office. But he reassured the nation that, even at age 76, he has learned from his mistakes, is prepared to implement fundamental changes, and is resolved to reinvigorate his presidency during his remaining time in office. Accordingly, the televised speech has provided Reagan a solid opening to restore his leadership from the nadir of the Iranian arms affair.

After months of painful revelations calling into question Reagan's competence to lead, his candid talk to the nation has created a sense of relief among many Americans that he is, in fact, up to the task.

Whether the president makes good on his last chance to regain his political equilibrium will hinge on several factors during the months ahead. Chief among these are the outcomes of the criminal probe by special prosecutor Lawrence Walsh and the investigations by two select committees of Congress. But also critical is the degree to which Reagan becomes more engaged in policy-making and more attentive to day-to-day governance.

The Oval Office address, coupled with steps already taken by the president to reconstitute his team of senior advisers, greatly enhances his prospects for success.

New White House Chief of Staff Howard Baker has proved his leadership ability in one of the nation's most fractious organizations, the U.S. Senate. Perhaps even more valuable is Baker's close relationship with key congressional leaders and his demonstrated skill at fashioning legislative compromises — two traits conspicuously lacking in ousted Chief of Staff Donald Regan. Baker's assets will give the president a shot at reasserting his agenda on Capitol Hill even as the Democrats assert control of both chambers.

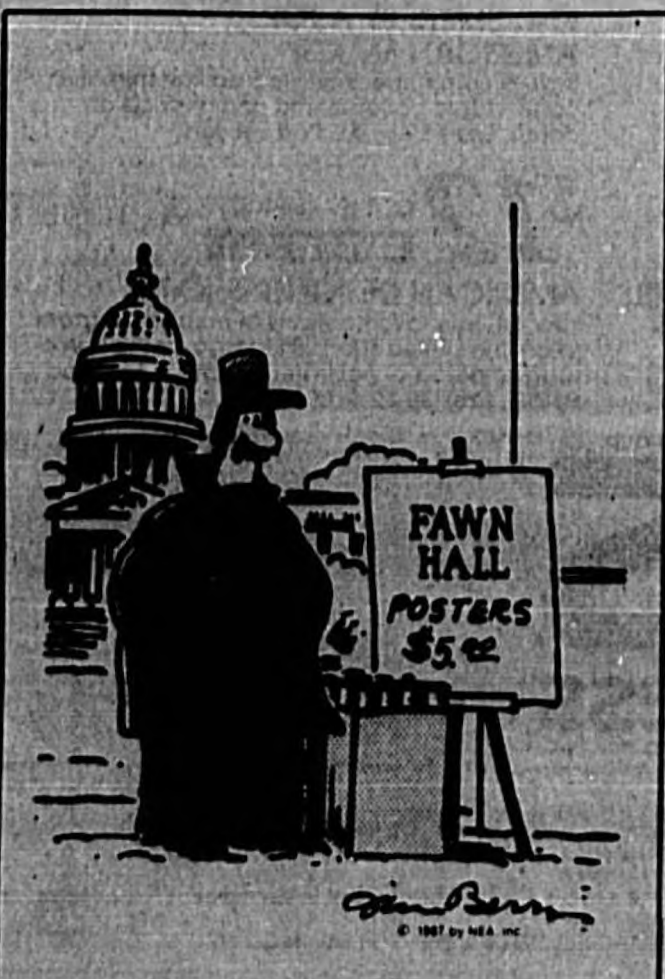

The new official in charge of the National Security Council staff, Frank Carlucci, is making swift personnel changes to end the free-lance conduct of foreign affairs from the White House basement. He is now in a position to enforce the president's order that control of covert operations no longer will be the province of the NSC staff. At the same time, William Webster's move to oversee the Central Intelligence Agency will help reestablish accountability to the president and the Congress.

Personally reawakened, Reagan now appears determined to endure his bruises and go forward to the full extent possible. His public admission of fault, which was extraordinary by presidential standards, will no doubt help replenish America's depleted reservoir of goodwill toward him. More importantly, the mea culpa lays the foundation for shifting the nation's attention to other pressing concerns.

Promising indicators suggest that this president still can accomplish significant progress during his final lame-duck years, provided he recovers substantially from the Iranian arms debacle. A superpower agreement to eliminate medium-range nuclear missiles from Europe, an elusive goal during Reagan's first six years, may now be within his reach.

The nation's agenda is crowded with other challenges, such as the still-unchecked budget deficit, which must not be allowed to fester during the next two years because of a vacuum of leadership in the White House. That's why all Americans, including Reagan's harshest critics, have a vital stake in his recovery.

Ty-D-Bol Justice Can Imperil Liberty

Now we know why government anti-drug campaigns rarely deliver more than indignant rhetoric and promises. It is because those campaigns that go further are likely to trample upon our liberty.

Consider the drug-testing guidelines announced recently by the Reagan administration. They include security measures more fitting for a home for young delinquents.

Upward of a million federal workers, most of whom have done nothing to arouse suspicion, are to be subjected to coarse humiliation in the name of controlling drug abuse. This is at a time, mind you, when the per capita consumption of virtually every drug except cocaine — but including alcohol, marijuana and psychedelics — has stabilized or begun to decline.

Even so, legions of federal workers are to be ushered into specified toilet stalls, ones that flush blue-colored water only, after divesting themselves of coats, pocketbooks and briefcases. The temperature of their urine samples will be noted immediately, the better to catch cheaters. Anyone suspected of pulling a fast one will have to return to the stall — this time under direct observation.

Not even at the high noon of Jimmy Carter did bureaucrats consider unleashing government for such a stunt.

Do conservatives really think this is a way to win votes? Do they honestly believe such measures serve the goals of freedom and small government, with which they so properly identify?

Quite the opposite is true. Such work-place tests nurture the belief in government as a stern paterfamilias — and they undermine individual dignity, too.

After all, daily relationships rest on a foundation of trust and common respect. Drug abuse does plague a few businesses, but a blanket drug or polygraph test is a demoralizing accusation of guilt. It is also the equivalent of telling innocent employees they are children, incapable of controlling their lives or meeting their obligations.

And employers already possess a remedy for a troublesome or drug-drowsy worker. They can fire him. The tactic is simple, and it requires the only evidence that should count — poor performance. Best of all, firing one person doesn't humiliate everyone else.

For some reason, too many conservatives — and too many Americans in general, for that matter — forget such simple truths. Pierre DuPont, the former Republican governor of Delaware who is running for president, has even urged mandatory drug tests for every high-school student.

It's time we rejected such coercive strategies for clean living. We should think twice, for example, when the baseball commissioner suggests a plan to test players for drug use four times annually. That's what Peter Ueberroth proposed last year, and many commentators rushed to applaud him.

Perhaps those journalists should put themselves in the players' place. Would they as eagerly endorse drug tests as a requirement for their own employment?

Robert M. Tobias, president of the National Treasury Employees Union, has dubbed the program to test federal workers an "exercise in Ty-D-Bol justice." His phrase captures the daffy sanctimony behind the ploy.

VIEWPOINT

Protect American Shipyards

By William R. Hawkins

Jet engines, semiconductors, radar and lasers benefit our armed forces as the end product of research that originated in the laboratories of the private sector. While our military must have this cutting-edge technology for national defense, the costs of its development are simply too great for the Pentagon's budget. This is also true in regard to the mainstream of an industrial base large enough to produce the massive quantities of goods needed in a year.

Industry must be maintained in peacetime by regular commerce if it is to be available in an emergency. Government policy, then, must enable strategic industries to survive as profitable businesses. Yet, this principle has had no impact on the steady decline of the nation's shipyards.

Today there are only 22 private shipyards seeking naval construction contracts, down from 27 in 1982. There are only 83 smaller repair yards, down from 83 in 1982. The government owns nine shipyards, and 80 percent of the entire industry's workforce is employed in just 15 yards working on new Navy construction.

This is a serious mismatch of plans and reality. During a mobilization or war, American shipyards would be required to reactivate the reserve fleet; accelerate construction and repair operations; convert merchant ships for enhanced seafit and survivability; and repair battle damage. Everett Pyatt, assistant Navy secretary for shipbuilding and logistics, testified to the House Armed Services Committee that "During the first nine months following a mobilization, over 2,000 ships would require the services of domestic shipyards."

Not only are the physical assets missing for such an enormous undertaking, but the human assets are lacking. M. Lee Rice, president of the Shipbuilder's Council, has estimated that the industry would be short 46,000 trained workers in a crisis.

American ships need to be assured a larger share of trade, not just for transporting U.S. exports, where regulations are currently concentrated, but for imports. The U.S. market is the richest in the world. Foreign merchants are so eager to sell in America that they could easily be levered into using American ships.

Army Says Fake Bolts Aren't A Problem

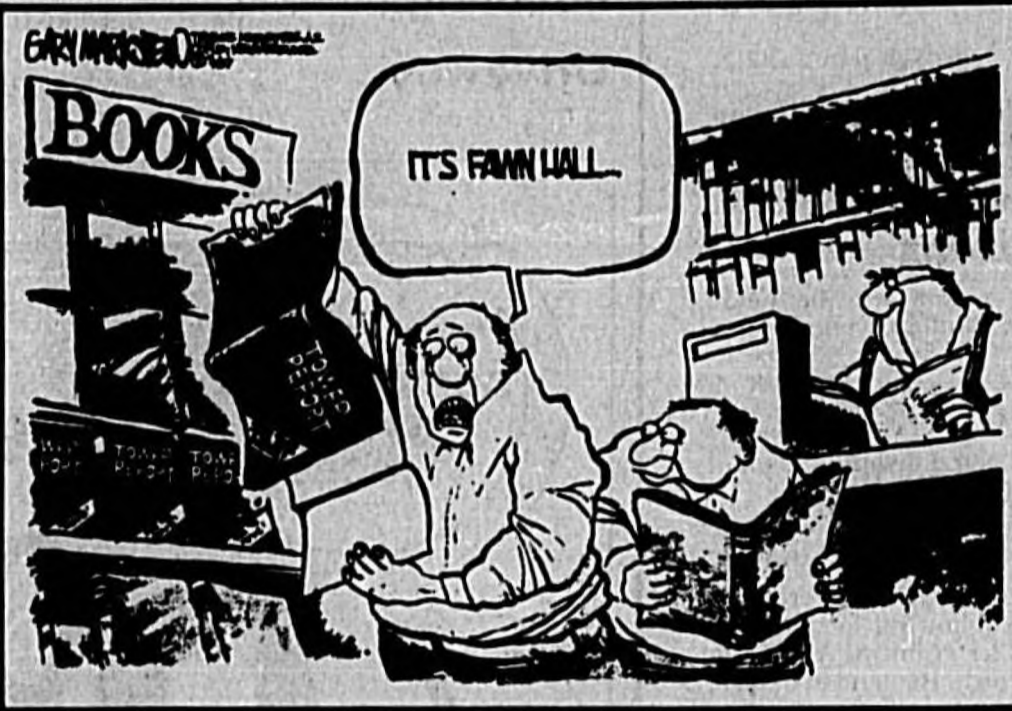

By Jack Anderson and Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — Soldiers riding in certain Army trucks and armored vehicles better hope that unscrupulous foreign bolt makers always make counterfeit fasteners as well as generals think they do. Otherwise, the steel bolts that hold the vehicles together could start popping loose.

Counterfeit bolts have turned up in vehicles made by four American manufacturers. The bolts look like the genuine article but are made with low grade steel.

The problem is that generals at Army Tank Command are convinced that counterfeits will do the job as long as temperatures do not climb above 500 degrees. Above that mark, the low grade steels start turning to putty.

Apparently the generals had not heard the latest from experts at the National Bureau of Standards: They found two counterfeit bolts that were 25 percent weaker than normal — at room temperature. So far, bolts of this poor quality have not been detected by the Army or

JEFFREY HART

'Amerika' Theme True

Probably the most interesting thing about the TV series "Amerika" was the storm of opposition it aroused.

On the face of it, the idea for "Amerika" was plausible enough artistically. The series takes the actual conditions that prevail today in such places as Poland and Bulgaria and transfers them to the American plains.

And thus we see Americans experiencing the chronic shortages, the stagnation, the deteriorating standards of living, the resentment, the hunger, and the political repression that, right now, is glaringly manifest under Soviet — or, indeed, any communist rule.

All of this is no secret to Gorbachev himself. After all, he seems to be breaking his back to make the Soviet system perform better — increase productivity, cut down on vodka and absenteeism, free some political prisoners, and so on. Implicitly, Gorbachev agrees with the central theme of "Amerika," that is, communism is a mess.

It is nonsense to argue, as The New York Times critic and others have done, that the scenario in "Amerika" for a Soviet takeover of the United States is sketchy and implausible. Of course the Soviets are not going to move into Iowa. They are having trouble enough moving into Afghanistan. They have plenty of trouble in Kazakhstan. On any given day, some 20 percent of the Soviet work force does not show up, a sort of permanent general strike. Infant mortality is going up, life expectancy sinking.

The Soviet takeover in "Amerika" is simply posited. It is an artistic given, like the communication of England in Orwell's "1984." Orwell didn't think this was literally going to happen. He wanted to work out the consequences of an "as if" extrapolating so that such a future would not happen. Literary specialists call this a dystopia, the opposite of a utopia.

Which is precisely what the movie "Amerika" amounted to. One can certainly dispute its artistic success. It was too long, etc. Some segments were slow. But I myself considered it on the whole well done, even sometimes subtle and nuanced.

But the "peace groups" hated it in advance, and tried to prevent it from being shown. Pressure caused the Chrysler corporation to pull out its advertising. Liberal columnists excoriated it. One of its stars, Kris Kristofferson, a Hollywood jerk who wears a Sandinista button, apologized for appearing in it. Some actresses behaved as if appearing in this movie would hurt their sex lives.

What is going on here? Everyone knows — and even Hollywood idiots must know — that communism does produce exactly the dismal results depicted in "Amerika."

But no. Criticism of communism is un-chic. Capitalism is judged by its defects, communism by its stated aspirations. The only things communism is good at producing are refugees and crop shortages — but that doesn't bother the idealists who much prefer Castro and Ortega to Ronald Reagan.

Congress Should Say It Goofed

By Elliot Brenner

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The last Congress goofed, perhaps unknowingly. This Congress has an opportunity it should take to change its mind.

The beneficiaries of a congressional realization an error was made will be the thousands who live near chemical weapons storage depots and the Army, which was told by Congress to do more than it may be able to do in the time allotted.

Two years ago, Congress voted to make the Army destroy all the old chemical weapons owned by the United States by 1994. Some of it is mustard gas stored in Maryland since World War I.

Dutifully, the Army began planning to get rid of the noxious stuff, but has made it plain in recent Capitol Hill testimony it will be hard-pressed to get it done by the deadline Congress imposed.

Several members of the House and Senate, largely those with storage depots in their district or state, have begun to call for a delay in the deadline to let the Army do it in the most careful, deliberate and safe way possible.

In the coming days, the Army will give Congress three options on how to get rid of the stocks of "unitary" weapons, ones containing a single disabling or lethal chemical. They are to be destroyed as part of a plan to replace them with far safer "binary" weapons, ones with two chambers that each hold relatively harmless chemicals that become dangerous only when mixed together in the flight of an artillery shell, rocket or bomb.

Scientists tell the Army the best way to destroy the old chemicals is to burn them. The three options include building eight incinerators, one at each of the U.S. stockpile sites, building several regional incinerators or erecting a single national disposal incinerator. Meanwhile, it is working to assemble and test an incinerator at a remote Pacific atoll where stocks from World War II were collected after the war.

The regional and national sites present the problems associated with transporting the chemicals for destruction.

It is up to Congress to pick the option, but as a hedge against having to build eight furnaces at once, the Army has asked for extra money in this fiscal year so if that is what it must do, it can still hit the target date of Sept. 30, 1994, for the destruction of the last weapons.

FLORIDA

IN BRIEF

State Launches Investigation Of Body Parts Embezzlement

TAMPA (UPI) — The state attorney's office in Hillsborough County launched a criminal investigation following the filing of a civil suit alleging human body parts were embezzled for profit by former organ recovery workers.

"The case is now in our office, and we will investigate the charges," Jim Coleman, office manager at the state attorney's office, said Tuesday. He could not estimate how long it might take to determine if state or federal laws were broken.

The Florida Regional Bone and Tissue Bank Inc. and the Florida West Coast Organ Procurement Foundation Inc. allege tissue and corneas were taken between Feb. 1, 1986, and last month, when the scheme was discovered and the workers fired.

The suit filed Monday said the defendants "sold or transferred (tissue) for profit to foreign interests, including those in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and Honduras."

Scientists: Florida African Sliver

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Rock samples offer compelling evidence Florida is "a sliver of Africa," left behind after Earth's continents collided about 280 million years ago then split apart millions of years later, geologists say.

Neil Opydyke, lead investigator for a team of geologists from the University of Florida, said Tuesday tests performed on rock samples taken from nearly 2 miles beneath Florida's surface provide strong evidence it was once joined to Africa.

For two decades scientists have suspected a tie between Florida's geological birthright and Africa.

"The evidence is now compelling that this hypothesis is correct," said Opydyke, chairman of the University of Florida's geology department.

Alzheimer's Center Established

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — A comprehensive center for treating and researching Alzheimer's disease will become the state's first to provide counseling and support for families of victims.

The Wien Center for Alzheimer's Disease and Memory Disorders, a joint effort of the University of Miami and Mount Sinai Medical Center, formally opened Tuesday with a $1 million donation from the Leonard Wien family.

Babbitt Announces Presidential Bid

MANCHESTER, N.H. (UPI) — Former Arizona Gov. Bruce Babbitt announced his candidacy Tuesday for the Democratic presidential nomination, becoming the second Democrat to officially run for the White House in 1988.

Babbitt, 48, announced his bid in the nation's first primary state and told supporters that the next president of the United States "must dare to be different."

"The next president must chart a course that lets America take charge of its future," Babbitt said.

Outlining his priorities, Babbitt said the nation must clear up poverty, improve education and clean up the environment.

Babbitt also said the next president must bring the Soviets to the bargaining table to reach a nuclear arms agreement.

"We need a comprehensive test ban, because you can't deploy a new weapon if you never get to test it," Babbitt said. "We need a 50 percent cut in offensive weapons, because it is long past time for a treaty which reduces nuclear weapons instead of ratifying an increase."

Babbitt also was to announce his candidacy in Iowa, Atlanta and his home state of Arizona.

Babbitt became the second Democratic presidential candidate, following Rep. Richard Gephardt, D-Mo., who announced last month.

Other possible Democratic candidates, including former Colorado Sen. Gary Hart and Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Del., are expected to announce later this year. Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis is expected to make his presidential plans known next week.

Babbitt was Arizona's attorney general and a potential senatorial candidate when he was thrust into the governor's chair upon the death of Gov. Wesley Bolin in 1978.

He changed his plans to run for the Senate and successfully ran for a full term as governor in the fall of 1978, defeating Republican Evan Mecham with 52 percent of the vote. In 1982, he was re-elected with 62 percent of the vote.

Earlier today, Babbitt outlined the philosophies he will take on the campaign trail on ABC and NBC television:

- Economy. "I'd go up to Congress and say, 'Look, it's a three-sided problem. We have to have some strength on military spending, some priorities on domestic spending and some more revenue.'"

- Revenues. "I think there are ways you can broaden the existing tax base. For example, I don't understand why we don't tax entitlements ... mortgage interest reductions, vacation houses."

- Social Security. Tax Social Security "maybe above $35,000 a year."

- Contras. "Contras are a dead end. They can't win. They don't have any support in Nicaragua. The real issue in Central America is Mexico. I try to get along with recognizing that right on our border there are 83 million people who are in deep, deep trouble."

Born June 27, 1938, Babbitt was the second of six children of a pioneer Arizona family that first settled in the Flagstaff area in the 1880s.

Long Lost Broadway Songs Found

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hundreds of Broadway songs, long thought to have been lost forever, have reappeared in a New Jersey warehouse and are being studied by experts, a published report said Tuesday.

The New York Times said songs by composers such as George Gershwin, Jerome Kern, Victor Herbert and Richard Rodgers were found in a Secaucus, N.J., warehouse about five years ago.

But, the report said, because of copyright problems and the value of the material — 80 crates of it in all — it was taken to a vault in Manhattan where it remained virtually inaccessible.

Only recently, the report said, has the music been examined and an inventory prepared.

"It's like opening the tomb of King Tut," said conductor John McGinn. "There are major works here that had been presumed lost forever; shows that were never revived and were assumed to have vanished off the face of the Earth."

Among the songs found in the Secaucus warehouse, the report said, were 70 lost works by George Gershwin, many with lyrics by his brother Ira.

The Times said there were also more than 175 unpublished songs by Kern, including almost half an hour of music from "Show Boat" that was cut from the work immediately after the premiere.

Also included in the discovery were lost and forgotten manuscripts by Vincent Youmans, Victor Herbert, Sigmund Romberg and Rudolf Friml.

Warner Bros. gained ownership of the lost songs in the 1920s when it purchased a number of music houses in preparation for the advent of talking movies.

The report said the old songs passed from office to office and from warehouse to warehouse over the years.

Gershwin scholar Donald Rose found a rough list of the boxes' contents in 1982. Rose contacted Robert Kimball, a music theater historian, who confirmed the extent of the find.

The Times said the Gershwin and Rodgers material has been deposited with the Library of Congress.

It said the Kern material has been the subject of dispute between Warner Communications and Kern's daughter, Betty Kern Miller.

Miller asked Warner to return her father's music, but Warner refused and discussions have been going on between attorneys for both sides for about three years.

The Times said Miller wants to donate her father's songs to the music division of the Library of Congress.

Reagan Softens Assessment Of Soviet Arms Agreement Cheating

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With President Reagan playing up the possibility of a new U.S.-Soviet arms agreement, his assessment of Kremlin cheating on existing treaties is softer than Pentagon hardliners sought.

In the unclassified version of an annual report required by Congress on treaty compliance, Reagan asserted Tuesday only that the Soviets "may be preparing" a broad violation of the 1972 Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty.

For the most part, the report repeated a list of 10 serious cases of actual or probable cheating contained in the last assessment of December 1985.

In a point-by-point examination of the 1972 ABM agreement, the unratified 1979 SALT 2 pact, three nuclear testing treaties and the 1975 Helsinki Accord, the document "reaffirms the judgment of the December 1985 report."

Feds Ground Airline Drug Ring

NEW YORK (UPI) — Airline workers smuggled $1.5 billion of cocaine into the United States aboard Pan American World Airways flights from Brazil by using their positions of trust to bypass airport security, federal authorities say.

The authorities said Tuesday they had arrested 40 people so far in connection with cocaine smuggling at Kennedy Airport, including 16 current or former Pan Am employees, two Delta Airlines workers and eight Eastern Airlines employees.

They said a ring dubbed "The Pan Am Conspiracy" smuggled 200 pounds of cocaine a month for six years into Kennedy from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. Warrants were issued for 19 Pan Am employees allegedly involved. The 16 arrested so far included some led away in handcuffs from Kennedy on Tuesday.

At least 26 workers from all three airlines were involved in shipping cocaine on flights to San Francisco, St. Louis, Los Angeles, Denver, Las Vegas, Boston, Montreal, Miami, Chicago and Atlantic City, N.J., officials said.

Random Drug Test Bill Filed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Random drug testing of transportation workers such as airline crews and truck drivers would be required under a bill that is headed for the Senate — and a likely fight over its legality.

Brushing aside the constitutional concerns, the Senate Commerce Committee passed the bill Tuesday 19-1, but even some who supported it said they may try to change it on the Senate floor because they feared it could not withstand constitutional challenges.

"It's not going to do us any good to pass a plan here that will be struck down by the Supreme Court in a matter of months," said Sen. John Kerry, D-Mass., who voted for the bill. Kerry said he may try to amend the random testing feature to require testing in cases where there is reason to believe an employee was using drugs or alcohol.

The measure would require the Transportation Department to write regulations requiring the drug and alcohol testing of workers involved in the safety aspects of commercial airline travel, railroad operation and truck and bus operation.

New Drugs Rule Change Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FDA is seeking a "compassionate" change in drug-approval procedures that would allow breakthrough drugs still in testing phases to be sold to patients with AIDS and other fatal diseases.

"This means that, in general, persons with life-threatening and serious diseases will be able to obtain experimental treatment years earlier than is now the case," said a spokesman for Vice President George Bush, who led a task force discussion on the proposed rule change Tuesday.

FDA Commissioner Frank Young said the proposal would expand the use of experimental new drugs, allowing companies to "sell but not commercialize" drugs that were still undergoing the controlled trials required for approval by the Food and Drug Administration.

Laser Erases Age Spots

CHICAGO (UPI) — Age spots, sun spots and freckles can be evaporated with a few well-timed blasts from a low-dose carbon dioxide laser, researchers reported today.

The cosmetic procedure is highly effective, virtually painless and leaves no discernible scar, said Dr. Bruce Smoller, a pathologist with Beth Israel Hospital and Harvard Medical School in Boston.

"This is really so simple — it doesn't even require anesthesia — you could really do it on a walk-in basis," Smoller said at a meeting of U.S. and Canadian pathologists.

Lasers have been used previously with mixed results to attempt to remove moles, skin cancer and port wine stains, a type of birthmark. Smoller said this was primarily because these lesions run deeper into the skin, requiring higher doses of irradiation and necessarily resulting in some scarring.

taken to improve the city's image. Mrs. Yancey has a long list of civic endeavors to her credit, including service as Goodwill Ambassador for the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce. She ran unsuccessfully against McClanahan in the city's December commission election.

Mrs. Pringle was an elementary education teacher with the Seminole County School system for 40 years before her retirement in 1984. She becomes the nine member board's second black appointee and said she will help its efforts this year to work more closely with the black community.

Also Monday, the commission considered disbanding its Future Growth Advisory Board. The board was established in 1986 to address the issue of impact fees. Decreases were sought and the board, membered mostly by development representatives, worked to establish the reductions which were adopted by the city last fall. The fees are charged against new construction for hook-ups to the city's water and sewer system.

There are vacancies on the board, and now that the impact fee amendments have been made, some remaining members have suggested disbanding, said City Manager Frank Faison. The board's chairman, Mack Lazenby, will be asked to discuss that at an upcoming city work session.

Reagan: Advice Ignored

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan is ready to acknowledge that two of his top Cabinet officers warned him against selling arms to Iran but he ignored their "honest advice," administration officials say.

Reagan will make the statement in his weekly radio address Saturday after being pressed by Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger for public vindication of the Tower Commission's criticism of him and Secretary of State George Shultz.

In the broadcast, officials said Tuesday, Reagan will take issue with the commission's assertion that the two secretaries failed to warn him adequately about consequences of his own actions in secretly selling U.S. arms to Iran.

"The president will say that Weinberger and Shultz gave him their honest advice but he didn't take it," one official said. He also will outline his remaining foreign policy agenda and "express confidence" in both men.

Just a week ago, in his nationally televised response to the Tower report on the Iran arms-Contratid scandal, Reagan endorsed the conclusions of his three-man presidential panel — which bluntly faulted Weinberger and Shultz for turning their backs on a policy they did not agree with.

"They simply distanced themselves from the program ... (and) protected the record as to their own positions on this issue," the commission said.

Weinberger and Shultz promptly attacked the findings, with the Pentagon chief dismissing them as "naked conclusions ... totally unsupported by any evidence" and the secretary of state asserting, "I don't operate that way."

Speaking on the condition of anonymity, officials said Weinberger wanted the president to "register his support" for both secretaries during his Wednesday night speech. Reagan instead chose to present an overview of his response to the three-month review and to address specifics "some time later," they said.

In his 12-minute speech March 4, Reagan called the commission's findings "honest, convincing and highly critical" and declared, "I accept them." He made no specific mention of Weinberger or Shultz.

Two days later, White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater reiterated Reagan's endorsement and said Weinberger and Shultz were speaking for themselves.

"They're grown men," Fitzwater said. "They can say whatever they want."

Weinberger was "surprised" by that response because he expected Fitzwater to issue a statement of support for him, officials said. They blamed the result on a "foul-up within the White House" that complicated the problem.

Tuesday, Fitzwater issued a carefully worded statement calling Weinberger "a distinguished member of the Cabinet" and noting, "The president has the highest confidence and trust in Secretary Weinberger."

Fitzwater refused to say, however, if Reagan agreed with the contentions of the top aide who has served him since his days as California governor.

Sanford Middle School Sends 4 Students To Math Competition

Sanford Middle School sent four students to the MathCounts Competition at Valencia Community College on Feb. 21, principal Dan Pelham said. MathCounts is a cooperative project of the National Council of teachers of Mathematics, National Society of Professional Engineers, the CNA Insurance Companies, NASA and the National Science Foundation, Pelham said. The students are all eighth-graders: Beth Bordenkircher, Rebecca Bolton, Candy Johnson and Heather Pegrum.

'Dreamer And Doer' Named

Sanford Middle School has selected Steven Wilbur as their Walt Disney World "Dreamer and Doer" which honors a student from each school in the Central Florida area, principal Dan Pelham said.

Test Tube Baby's Parents Respond To Vatican:

'We Do Not Believe What We Did Was Immoral'

United Press International

The man who sired the first test-tube baby in the United States and the British doctor who pioneered the procedure challenged the Catholic Church's assertion Tuesday that their actions were immoral and unethical.

"We do not believe what we did was immoral," said Roger Carr, 35, of Westminster, Mass., the father of 5-year-old Elizabeth Jordan Carr, the first test-tube baby born in the United States.

"When we look at what we went through and look at Elizabeth, we find it hard to believe that that could be considered immoral," said Carr, a mechanical engineer for General Electric in Fitchburg, Mass.

In Britain, test tube baby pioneer Dr. Patrick Steptoe said he was surprised and disappointed by the Vatican's position.

"I was very surprised to hear they included in vitro (test-tube) fertilization because up until now they had seemed to accept it," Steptoe said from his clinic in Cambridge. "I am very disappointed to hear them say that."

Steptoe and Dr. Robert Edwards were responsible for the 1978 birth of "Miss Louise Brown" — the world's first test-tube baby.

The technique, used for couples otherwise unable to have children, involves taking an egg from the woman and sperm from the man and causing them to merge into a living embryo ready to be implanted in the woman's womb.

Carr and Steptoe made their comments in response to a document issued Tuesday by the Vatican condemning surrogate motherhood, test-tube baby production, most artificial insemination techniques and human cloning.

They were joined in their dissent by leaders of the pro-abortion movement and a lawyer for a New Jersey couple locked in a landmark court battle for custody of a child born to a surrogate mother. Support of the Vatican came from traditional elements within the church.

Monsignor Francis Di Lorenzo of the Catholic Archdiocese of Philadelphia said he believed it was possible to overcome problems of sterility without resorting to in vitro fertilization or surrogate motherhood.

"We are looking for the scientific community to come up with procedures that are consistent with our values," he said. "Is it possible to come up with procedures to help with the problem of sterility? I believe they can, but they have to make sure the procedures are consistent with the value system. We are not telling scientists what to do, but asking them to collaborate with us."

Dr. Ian Jeasman, head of the British Guild of Catholic doctors, said he believed most Catholics would accept the Vatican's decision.

"I don't think there should be any real dilemma for our Catholic patients," he said. Dr. Richard Bondi, assistant research professor of Ethics at Emory University, saw both good and bad in the church's position.

"The Catholic Church has a hard time getting away from anything that departs from that which is biologically 'natural,'" he said. "Its definition of what is natural is influenced by an older moral theory called a natural law. It accepts a very narrow range of what is appropriate in sexual ethics."

"In a positive way, this ruling is trying to protect against a technological imperative," he said. "It's trying to protect against the notion that just because we have the technology that we should do it. That is a dangerous principle that the ruling is designed to help counter."

But opponents said the church condemnation was too broad. Frances Kissling, president of Catholics for a Free Choice, said the Vatican made no distinction between such widely varied scientific techniques as test-tube babies and artificial insemination.

"It is simply a blanket prohibition," she said. Kissling said she opposed "absolutizing of all of these issues without offering any guidance for married Catholics."

"It's very sad," said Charlotte Taft of Dallas, board member of the National Abortion Rights Action League. "I believe the church has not only deserted those (infertile) people, but also added to their pain and grief by somehow suggesting that it is God's will for them not to have children."

"The pope has come out against any kind of alternative method of reproduction," not just surrogate motherhood, said Gary Skoloff, lawyer for William and Elizabeth Stern. The Sterns are engaged in a court fight in New Jersey with Mary Beth Whitehead, who agreed to bear a child for them, then backed out of the deal after the baby girl was born.

"To be perfectly frank, I doubt if the pope's decision will have any influence over what the judge decides," Skoloff said of the "Baby M" custody case. "The main influence of the pope's decision today will take effect when state legislatures decide the problem of alternative methods of reproduction."

Dr. Mary Forster, associate director of the reproductive program at Swedish Hospital in Seattle, said in vitro fertilization is merely "replacing a defect in the body, it just happens to do with reproduction."

"Obviously I wouldn't be doing this if I thought the same way the pope thinks," Forster said. "The Vatican has been against in vitro and external means of creating pregnancies all along, it just had not come out with such a strong edict before."

Commissioners Call Special Meeting

The Lake Mary city commission will hold a work session and special meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in city hall to interview and select an architect for its new city hall.

Commissioners will interview architects from three architectural firms for 30 minutes each during the work session and are scheduled to select one of them during the special meeting after the work session.

The firms being considered are: Catalyst Inc. of Orlando; Design Arts Group Inc. of Orlando; and Scott, Graham & Smith, Inc. of Maitland.

Oak Ridge Widens Gap On Hobbled 'Noles

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer
After losing by only two points to Orlando Oak Ridge in a triangular meet last week, Seminole High hoped to make up the difference Tuesday in a tri-meet with the Pioneers and Orlando Evans at Seminole High.

Injuries to three key figures, however, deprived Seminole of a chance to beat the Pioneers as Oak Ridge came away with 84 points compared to 65 for Seminole and 37 for Evans.

"We were handicapped considerably during the meet," Seminole coach Ken Brauman said. "Jerry Parker hurt a hamstring during the long jump and that dropped him out of the rest of the meet and Eric Martin hurt a hamstring in the 440 relay and I took him out. Maurice Roberts was hurt in PE class yesterday and he couldn't run."

"We've got three key people hurt right now so I don't know what the next couple of weeks will hold," added Brauman. "We'll only take a small group to Lyman this Friday."

Among the highlights of the meet for the Seminoles Tuesday were the performances of Arthur Hersey and Alan Seward in the hurdles. Hersey took first in the 120 highs at 15.5 and Seward also ran a 15.5 for second place. In the 330 intermediates, Seward was first with a personal record 40.9 with Hersey second at 42.3.

Seminole also got a first from Lewis Butler in the triple jump as he returned from a hamstring injury with a leap of 45-1/4. Sonny Osborn took first in the pole vault at 9-0.

The Tribe's 440 relay team of Steve Warren, Hersey, Dwayne Willis and Martin won with a time of 43.3 but that was with Martin struggling to finish after hurting his hamstring in the last 100 yards.

"The 440 relay ran its best of the year and that was with Martin cramped up in the last part," Brauman said. "He just held on long enough to hold off Oak Ridge. If Martin didn't get hurt, we could have gone under 43 for the first time."

Warren led the depleted Seminole sprint corps with two second place finishes including a 11.4 in the 100 meters and a 23.4 in the 220 yard dash. Oak Ridge's Richard Glover won both events with an 11.0 in the 100 meters and 22.7 in the 220.

Other second place efforts for the 'Noles included Rufaro Matipano in the mile (4:49.5), Walter "Jumpman" Hopson in the high jump (6-5) and Ted Richardson in the pole vault (8-6).

Joe Peebles and Jason Kaiser also turned in notable performances in the two mile as Peebles ran his personal record

Lewis Butler, left, returns from the disabled list to win the long jump but Maurice Roberts was injured in physical education class and could not run as Seminole lost to Orlando Oak Ridge.

Stags Face Staggering No. 2 Task

United Press International
Fairfield enters the NCAA Tournament with the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference championship and little chance of adding another postseason title.

The Stags, 15-15, meet No. 2 Indiana at the Hoosier Dome Thursday in the opening round of the Midwest sub-regional. The 64-team tournament continues through March 30 with the championship game at the Superdome in New Orleans.

Fairfield Coach Mitch Buonaguro recognizes his team's underdog role.

"I think they (the Hoosiers) have the capability of winning the whole thing," he said. "Everyone's going to say it's one of the biggest mismatches of the tournament, but we're going to go out and do the best we can."

The Hoosiers, however, have struggled lately against some of the bottom teams in the Big Ten. Indiana finished 24-4 in the regular season and shared the Big Ten title with No. 6 Purdue, but lost two of its final three.

"We don't have everything," Indiana Coach Bob Knight said. "We're not playing like we did against Illinois, Purdue, Iowa and Michigan here at home. We played well enough those days to beat anybody in the country. We played an awful lot of real good basketball then, and we haven't since."

Fairfield, with an enrollment of 2,800, beat Army and Iowa to take the MAAC tournament title. More than 43,000 people are expected for the NCAA opener.

In other tournament news, Kentucky Coach Eddie Sutton said the Wildcats' game against Ohio State is one of the most evenly matched opening-round contests in the tournament.

"I would think of all the first-round games, this has to be one of the top three with the two teams being fairly equal," Sutton said. "I would be surprised if either team could blow the other out."

Sutton said the key to advancing to the second round will be the Wildcats' ability to stop Dennis Hopson, the Buckeyes' 6-foot-5 swingman who was second in the nation in scoring with a 29.1 average.

"I just wondered who was going to guard him," said Ed Davender, a 6-3 guard and Kentucky's best defensive player.

Lady Lions' 10-Hit Attack Adds To Howell's Woes

By Scott Sander
Herald Sports Writer
CASSELBERRY — The Oviedo Lady Lions used a 10-hit attack along with a solid defense on Tuesday afternoon, cruising to a 7-2 Seminole Athletic Conference softball victory over Lake Howell before 55 fans at Lake Howell.

The victory ups the Lions to 7-2 overall and 2-0 in the SAC. The loss, Howell's third consecutive, drops the Lady Silver Hawks to 4-4 and 0-2.

Oviedo will travel to Seminole on Thursday afternoon while Howell will travel to Merrill Park to take on Lake Brantley on Thursday.

"I was very pleased with the way our girls played today," Oviedo coach Jackie Miller said. "We had a very steady game. Lake Howell is a good team and you have to play well to beat them. We did today."

Raines Wants Fair Offer, Expects Pact By Weekend

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor
Free agent Tim Raines, presently waiting for a "fair" offer from the National League's West Division, said he would be very upset if he does not have his name on a contract by this weekend.

"I'm definitely not happy and I want to play," Raines said. "Something is going to happen one way or another. (Agent) Tom Reich and I will probably talk Wednesday. We will make a decision on who to go with and then do it."

Raines said he has no preference among Los Angeles, Atlanta, San Diego or Houston. But he reiterated that he will not go back to Montreal on May 1 as some free agents indicated they would.

"That is stupid," Raines said about Ron Guidry's desire to return to the Yankees. "If Guidry

Softball

Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano said that she isn't quite sure what the problem is with her squad. "If I knew what it was, I'd do something about it," Luciano said. "We looked kind of flat today and didn't have a lot of enthusiasm."

Southpaw Jodie Switzer went the distance for Oviedo, spreading out nine hits while forcing the Hawks to fly out 15 times.

Lake Howell pitcher Stormi Littrell pitched six innings and gave up all 10 hits while suffering the loss.

Howell had a rough time of it in the field as the Lady Hawks committed five costly errors, allowing Oviedo to score several runs.

Baseball

did not want to be a free agent, why did he go that way in the first place?"

Raines, who spent six years with the Expos, led the N.L. with a .334 average last year. He is also a six-time all-star. Despite those lofty credentials, the "fair" offers have not been forthcoming.

"I just want what is fair," Raines said. "The clubs express an interest but they do not offer anything. Then when we make an offer, they say it is too high."

Raines said he would play for the same money he received a year ago — $1.5 million. So far, San Diego's $2.2 million over two years has been the best offer.

Opportunity Knocks, Door Slams On Tribe

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer
LAKE MARY — Lake Mary's Lady Rams seized the opportunities when they arose Tuesday afternoon, while Seminole High could not bounce back from a bad first inning as Lake Mary snapped the Lady Tribe's four-game winning streak with a 9-1 Seminole Athletic Conference victory before 101 fans at Lake Mary High.

The Lady Rams improved to 3-4 overall and 1-1 in the SAC while Seminole now stands at 4-1 and 1-1 in the league. Oviedo and Lake Brantley are atop the league standings at 2-0. Seminole hosts Oviedo Thursday at Fort Mellon Field while Lake Mary is at Lyman.

"The girls thought they were somewhat invincible," Seminole coach Lance Abney said. "The loss today brought them back to reality."

The first inning was the difference in the game Tuesday as Seminole failed to score after getting its first three runners on base while Lake Mary put up five runs on four hits and three Seminole errors.

In the top of the first, Sheri Peterson led off with a single and the first of eight Lake Mary errors in the game put runners on first and second. Tammy "Bam Bam" Bailey reached on another error and Peterson tried to score on the play but was cut down on a perfect throw from Teri Peters. Seminole still had runners on second and third with one out, but could not push across a run.

Softball

In the bottom half of the first, Reedy Metz led off with a single to center and raced to second when the outfield fumbled around with the ball for an error. With one out, Sharon Bonaventure drew a walk and Brooke Taylor followed with a single to left to load the bases.

Stephanie Woodard then drove in Metz with a sacrifice fly to left for a 1-0 Lake Mary lead. Seminole had a chance to get out of the inning only one run down, but Paula Songer's fly ball to right center was dropped for a two-base error as Bonaventure and Taylor scored. Peters followed with a base hit and Val Smith then singled to left to drive in Songer. Peters scored the fifth run of the frame when Laurie Leiffer reached on an error.

"We took advantage of Seminole's mistakes and had some key hits in the first inning," Lake Mary coach Karen Nolen said. "We also had some good baserunning and took the extra base when Seminole missed a cut off or made a bad throw."

Seminole scored its only run in the top of the fourth when Beasley reached on a one-out error, took second on Letticia Strickland's base hit, went to third on another error and scored when Sarah Kline reached on the third Lake Mary error of the inning.

The Lady Rams came back with three unearned runs in the bottom of the fourth for a commanding 8-1 lead. Leiffer reached on an error to lead off, Amy Adams got on on a fielder's choice and Metz reached on an infield single to load the bases. Leiffer scored when Marnie Frey reached on an error, Bonaventure drove Adams in with a sacrifice fly and Metz scored on Taylor's sacrifice fly.

BRANTLEY RIPS LYMAN
Lake Brantley banged out 15 hits and took advantage of seven errors en route to a 19-3 thrashing of Lyman's Lady Greyhounds Tuesday afternoon at Lyman High.

Brantley improved to 5-2 overall and 2-0 in the SAC while Lyman fell to 0-8 and 0-2 in the league. The Lady Patriots host Lake Howell Thursday afternoon at Merrill Park while Lyman entertains Lake Mary.

Heather Meyer and Mandy Mathison were both 3 for 4 with a double for Brantley while Wendy Vickery was 2 for 3 with a double and Kim Robinson 2 for 4.

Niki Jarrett stroked a pair of doubles for Lyman while Daphnie Bailey had two hits and Sabrina Jarrett also had a double.

"Offensively, we're getting better," Lyman assistant Tina McFerren said. "Defensively, we're not there yet. If we can stop beating ourselves on defense we will be competitive."

Caroline Chavis' single moved Switzer to third. Bradley singled, scoring Switzer.

"I think that we are playing good ball right now," the speedy Lawson said after the game. "I think that we can improve on our hitting, though."

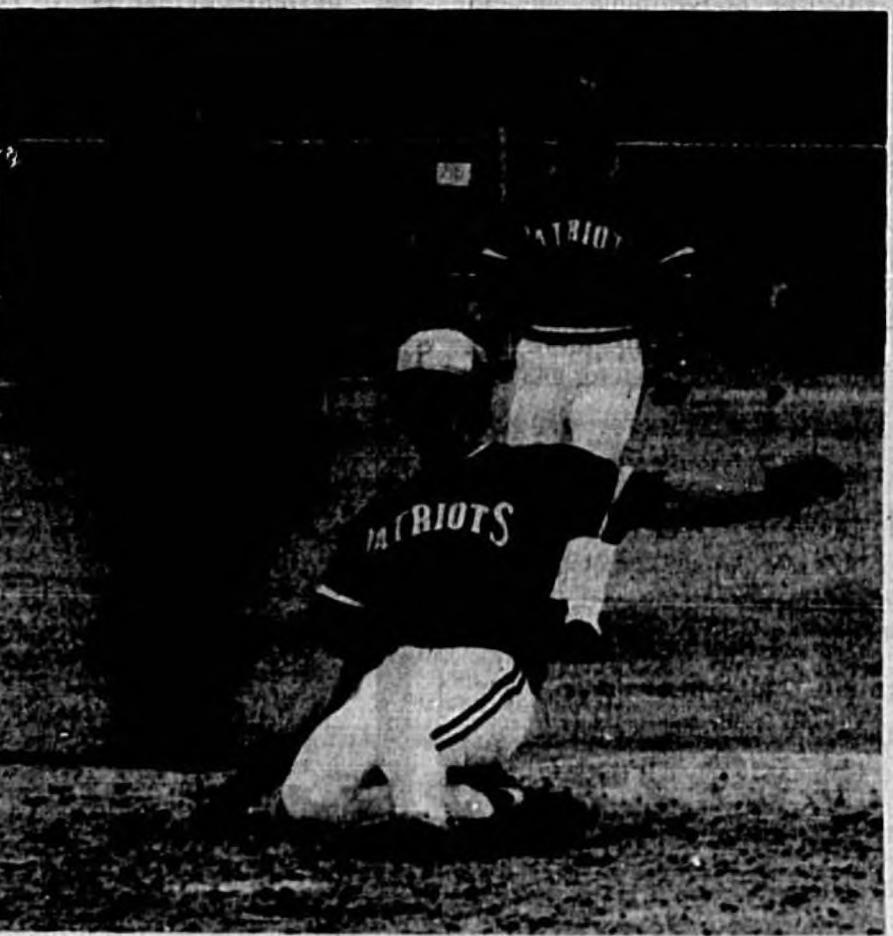

Lake Howell scored its only two runs in the bottom of the fourth inning. Julie Barton led off with a single. Designated hitter Susan Hayden reached first when she hit a ground ball that forced Barton to second. After Alicia Dinkelacker reached on Oviedo second baseman Bradley's error, Pinch-hitter Leann Trimble singled to score Hayden from third. Dinkelacker took third on the play, Caroline Dewar then hit a sacrifice fly to left that scored Dinkelacker.

Oviedo added a pair of runs in the top of the sixth inning. Bradley and Eby each had RBI singles in the inning.

Safe Slide

Lake Brantley's Jim Morse slides across with a run against Lake Mary as umpire Don Trawick, left, and Patriot coach Mike Smith observe. The Pats lost a heartbreaker to Lake Mary but they return to Seminole Athletic Conference baseball action tonight at home against Lyman at 7. Smith said right-hander Ed Dickmyer would oppose Lyman's Ken Oswald. At Oviedo, the second-ranked Lions face unbeaten Lake Howell ace Greg Hill. Lyman will counter with sophomore Jody Spelman. Oviedo boasts the SAC's top hitter in Glenn Reichle with a .625 average. In an afternoon SAC contest, Seminole hosts Lake Mary.

Cook Of The Week

Busy Volunteer Revamps Recipe Files To Fit Family Needs

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

When it was necessary for our Cook of the Week to change her cooking habits to safeguard her family's health, Phyllis Conklin took the proverbial bull by the horns and came up with almost, not quite, 1001 ways to prepare chicken, fish and turkey. "We eat fish from five to eight times a week," she explains, "counting lunch and dinner. That, and chicken and turkey. And it's lucky we like it because I used to tell the family the reason we eat so much chicken is because it's cheaper. Well, now I don't have to eat it because it's cheaper, but because it's more healthful."

After the double bypass heart surgery of her husband, Bristol C. "Cal," Mrs. Conklin revamped her recipe file and came up with tasty variations to the fish and fowl categories, and, she says, "it's simpler cooking now because nothing is fried, everything is baked or broiled and we have a lot of vegetables. And you don't put in a lot of sauces and a lot of mayonnaise, and sugar and salt." Eliminated from the Conklin diet are eggs, cheese and sugary desserts, thus keeping cholesterol levels in the normal range. "We eat lots of fresh fruits now," she adds.

Phyllis Conklin's roots began in West Palm Beach "but my family only stayed here for about six months after I was born," she says. "My father was from Illinois and he came here to do some building after that hurricane. He met my mother, they married and had me, then went back up north. So my mother is a Florida girl, too," Mrs. Conklin and her brother, Richard Franke, a soils engineer in Birmingham, Ala., were raised in Centralia, Illinois. As a youngster, our cook was always interested in music. "That was my lifesaver," she says.

In the area where she lived as a child, there was no electricity, she says, "until I was a junior in high school. There were no radios, television, electric lights and no telephone, so you played on the old piano that happened to be in the house. And I had a trumpet that I played. That was the way you entertained yourself, and to this day I still enjoy music more than any other 'hobby,' and my husband does, too. Our music is very important to us. It definitely is a therapy."

For several years after graduating from Centralia Township Jr. College, Mrs. Conklin worked in her hometown area and later as a secretary in the dean's office at the University of Illinois' College of Commerce. She met her future husband Cal while attending the showing of a film on Korea at a supper club in the Presbyterian church on campus where graduate students gathered to meet, have supper and enjoy the program. "We went out the next night," she recalls, "and after that we found we had so much in common. He seemed like such a wonderful person, and I still think he is." A year of dating led to the altar in 1956 and in 1957 their first son, Charles was born. Charles is a cum laude graduate of the University of Florida with a master's degree in civil engineering. He works for an engineering firm in Orlando, "and is engaged to a lovely girl, Lorraine," adds Mrs. Conklin.

"Our only daughter, Ruthann, was born in Illinois in '63, just before we moved to Florida," says Mrs. Conklin. Ruthann's lifelong love of animals has helped to enforce her future plans to become a veterinarian and her studies are geared in that direction. "All of her life we've had animals in this house," recalls Mrs. Conklin. "We even had a pet skunk, 'deoderized,' of course. We've had every kind of animal; she was always bringing home strays. One year I took in eight animals, nursed them and found homes for them." Ruthann has a bachelor's degree in animal science, is working toward her master's and has applied to several schools of veterinary medicine.

The Conklin's son, Robert, is a Sanford native and is in his last semester at Seminole Community College. Robert is the family mechanic and also has an interest in electronics. "He can take anything apart and put it back together," says his mother.

Vacation time was always family time for the Conklins, "and we camped all the time," says our cook. "Our vacations were always in the car with that camper. We had a pop-up tent trailer and went to California and back in it, to Nova Scotia — everywhere. I still love camping. My husband and I do love to ice skate — that's crazy, people in Florida ice skating — but for several years we'd go ice skating every year on our wedding anniversary at the Ice Palace in Orlando!" The rest of the family are fans of snow skiing and have taken to the slopes at Winter Park, Colorado and the mountains of North Carolina. Closer to home, the Conklins have enjoyed taking their boat out on Lake Monroe under the sunny Florida skies.

The Conklin home was always the "youth center of the neighborhood" when the children were growing up. A cheerful family room with a full size pool table was the favorite place for youngsters to congregate. "You always knew where the children were," Mrs. Conklin laughs, "because they were all at our house. Now the place seems kind of empty when they're not here."

A gracious and personable woman, Phyllis Conklin describes herself as a "people person" and enjoys giving of her time and energy in support of community programs. "That's where my fun is," she says, "working with people." She has served the Meals On Wheels program for 14 years, making her the volunteer who has served the longest in Seminole County. Affectionately mentioning her mother, Maude Franke, who lives nearby, Mrs. Conklin adds, "Mother and I do Meals On Wheels together. She is 75 years old, active, in good health, and a very sweet lady."

Mrs. Conklin is a member of the Woman's Club of Sanford, Inc., and is currently on the board of directors of the Salvation Army. In the past she has worked diligently for the United Fund and has been on the board of the Central Florida Zoo. Mrs. Conklin is an elder in the First Presbyterian Church of Sanford and displays a decorative refrigerator magnet with just one word — JOY. "It was given to me by a very dear lady, Elizabeth Wilke, and it stands for Jesus first, Others second, and Yourself last," explains Mrs. Conklin. "and if you live by that, your life is happy." Perhaps less profound, but just as meaningful, another credo which Mrs. Conklin admires and likes to follow is, "If you see a need, fill it."

Some of her most satisfying activities are centered on her love for music and singing with the Sanford Woman's Club Chorus, and, with her husband in the SCC Community Chorus and the church choir. In addition, she is chairman of the music ministry committee at her church and is a church circle chairman. Many years ago, Mrs. Conklin typed Braille for school children in Illinois. "It was very interesting," she says, "and I liked doing it. That was before the advent of recorders — everything is talking books now, you see."

An emotional decline after the birth of her first child awakened Mrs. Conklin's sensitivity to the needs and problems of other human beings in times of crises. Working for the Crisis Intervention Center in Orlando for seven years, she manned the teenage hotline, counseling young people in their quest for answers on suicide, alcoholism, and other problems. Mrs. Conklin credits her own personal crisis, and the excellent help she received during that time, with giving her the ability to help others in stressful situations.

In addition to her husband's heart surgery, Mrs. Conklin also reveals that her son, Robert, has an artificial heart valve which helps keep him "ticking" and is another reason for her carefully planned menus. "He has a beautiful attitude despite his health problems," she says, and he often jokes about the audible ticking which comes from his chest. "You can really hear it when his mouth is open," she laughs. And when people ask Robert if the ticking bothers him, he readily answers, "No, only if it stops!"

Her husband puts in a busy workday as a consulting civil engineer and president of Conklin, Porter and Holmes Engineers, Inc. of Sanford, with branch offices in Orlando and Atlanta. "He comes home for lunch every day," she explains, "because he can't get the kind of food that he needs, especially in a fast food restaurant."

Below is a collection of deliciously different recipes from the Conklin kitchen which can be modified to fit your dietary needs:

QUICK AND TASTY BAKED FISH

Approximately 1 pound fish filets
 1/2 can cream of chicken soup, undiluted
 1/4 cup mayonnaise, light or regular
 1/4 teaspoon prepared mustard salt to taste
 Mix ingredients and spread generously over fish. Bake in conventional oven or microwave according to instructions, until fish flakes when tested with fork. Either method is easy. Serves 4.

CHICKEN APRICAY

2 to 3 pounds chicken, with or without skin, cut into pieces
 1/2 of 8 ounce bottle Russian salad dressing
 1/2 of 18 ounce jar of apricot preserves
 1/2 envelope of dry onion soup mix

salt and pepper to taste
 Mix ingredients and spread over chicken pieces in a 9 x 13 inch baking dish. Bake for 1 hour at 350°. Can also be microwaved. Sauce in pan after baking makes a good "gravy," as is, spooned over plain cooked rice. Serves 4.

VEGETABLE CASSEROLE

1 1/2 cups carrots, cut in 1 inch pieces
 2 cups celery, cut the same way
 1 cup green beans, drained
 1 cup onions, sliced thin or shredded
 3/4 cup green pepper, diced
 1 large can stewed tomatoes,

pureed in blender (or tomato sauce)

Mix all vegetables, except tomatoes, in large casserole. To the tomatoes, add the following: 3 tablespoons tapioca (uncooked), 2 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, and pepper to taste. Stir together with 3 tablespoons melted butter. Pour over vegetables. Bake for 2 hours at 350°. About 1/2 hour before done, mix slightly with a fork. Serves 5-6.

SMOKED SALMON CHEESE BALL

1 package cream cheese (8 ounces), softened
 2 teaspoons minced onion
 2 teaspoons prepared horseradish
 1 tablespoon lemon juice
 1/4 teaspoon liquid smoke
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 3 drops Tabasco sauce
 half of a 1 1/2 ounce can of salmon
 1/2 cup chopped pecans (optional)

3 tablespoons minced parsley
 In medium size bowl, stir cream cheese until smooth. Add next 6 ingredients and stir together well. Drain salmon. Remove skin and large bones. Flake. Add to cream cheese mixture and blend thoroughly. Cover and refrigerate several hours. Shape chilled mixture into ball. Roll in chopped nuts. If desired, Sprinkle with parsley. Serve with crackers.

BROWN RICE

1 cup uncooked white rice
 1 can French onion soup, undiluted
 1 can beef broth, undiluted
 1/4 stick margarine or butter
 Mix all ingredients in a 9 x 5 loaf pan or comparable baking dish. Bake in a 350° oven for 1 hour, stirring once after 1/2 hour or so. Cook uncovered. May be microwaved for the same time as any other rice dish. Serves 4-5.

PIZZA SNACK

Spread toasted English muffin halves with prepared spaghetti sauce. Sprinkle with each grated or sliced Mozzarella cheese. Top with a sprinkle of Oregano and put in microwave or under broiler until cheese melts. Sliced pepperoni may be added. Even children can make these for snacks or lunch.

FRESH STRAWBERRY PIE

One 9-inch pie shell, baked and cooled
 2 pints fresh strawberries, washed, hulled and halved one cup sugar, or equivalent of artificial sweetener
 1 cup water
 3 tablespoons cornstarch
 1 package (3 ounces) strawberry Jell-O, regular or sugar free

1/4 teaspoon salt
 freshly whipped cream, or Cool Whip

In medium saucepan, stir together the sugar, water, cornstarch, Jell-O and salt. Cook to a boil until the cornstarch thickens and has a glossy appearance. If artificial sweetener is used instead of sugar, do not add until after cooking. Cool mixture to room temperature and pour over cut up berries placed on crust. Chill for several hours. Garnish with whipped cream.

Highlight Lenten Meals With Juicy, Tasty Fish

Many families are accustomed to eating more seafood during the period of Lent than other times of the year. If you have always prepared your families fish and other seafood fried, try microwaving for a healthier method of preparation that can be done at the "last minute" and give a juicy, tasty product. The one rule to remember is: Do not overcook. Other things of importance are: substitute one fish for another, most fish can be interchanged, micro-cook with the thicker portions of fish to the outside of a shallow container, keep fish dishes covered during the standing time to complete the cooking, test for doneness by gently piercing the center with a fork, it should flake. If using frozen fish, thaw completely before cooking.

Sometimes the simplest recipe can provide the most elegant dish. This recipe calls for sole filets but grouper, snapper or flounder can be used.

FISH WITH LEMON PARSLEY SAUCE

1/4 cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons cornstarch
3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons fresh chopped parsley
1/4 teaspoon celery salt
Dash of white pepper
2 pounds frozen fish filets, thawed or 2 pounds fresh fish filets
Place butter in a 2 quart shallow glass baking dish. Microwave on 100% power 1-1/2 minutes or until melted. Blend in cornstarch, lemon juice, parsley, celery salt and pepper. Dip each fillet in the seasoned butter. Arrange the filets with the thickest portion toward the outside of the dish. Cover with plastic wrap. Microwave on 100% power 8-9 minutes or until filets flake easily. Let stand, covered, 5 minutes before serving.

This recipe serves 6-8. To serve 2, reduce the amounts of ingredients and weigh the fish. One pound of fish will microwave to doneness in 3-4 minutes in a 700 watt microwave oven.

Fresh salmon is being flown in from the west coast to our area at this time. It's a good time to serve this delicious fish to our families. The whole fish or steaks can be used.

FISH WITH ZUCCHINI AND RED PEPPER

1/4 cup minced celery
1/4 cup onion
1/4 cup shredded zucchini
1 tablespoon parsley flakes
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon black pepper
1 pound fish filets
1 small sweet red pepper, cut in thin strips

In small bowl combine celery, onion, zucchini, parsley flakes, lemon juice and black pepper. Set aside. Place fish filets in a 12" x 8" baking dish. Top with vegetable mixture. Cover with wax paper. Microwave on 50% power* 10-15 minutes, or until fish flakes easily with fork; rearrange the filets once during cooking. Let stand, covered 2-3 minutes.

* The vegetable added to the fish is the reason for the reduced power setting and additional cooking time.

PIQUANT RED SNAPPER

Sauce can be made ahead and stored until needed.
1/4 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup green pepper
1 cup canned tomatoes, crushed
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 bay leaf
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons corn oil margarine
1/4 cup red wine
1/4 lemon, sliced
1 clove garlic, minced
dash of red pepper
1-1/4-1 1/2 pound whole red snapper

Melt margarine in a 4 cup glass measure on 100% power for 45 seconds. Stir in onions, celery and green pepper. Microwave on 100% power 5 minutes or until tender. Add all remaining ingredients except fish. Microwave for 3 minutes to blend flavors. Set aside.

Place fish in a 12 x 7 glass baking dish. Cover with plastic wrap and vent. Microwave on 100% power 5 minutes.

Carefully turn fish over and pour on hot piquant sauce. Replace wrap. Microwave on 100% power for 7 minutes or until fish flakes near center. Let stand covered for 5 minutes before serving.

Another way to serve our Red Snapper is with a simple lemon, butter Almandine.

1 pound fresh red snapper filets
1 teaspoon lemon juice
salt
Sauce:
1/4 cup slivered almonds
1/2 cup butter or margarine
Place red snapper in 1 1/2 quart glass baking dish. Rub lemon over surface of fish. Lightly salt. Cover with plastic wrap. Microwave on 100% power 6-7 minutes or until fish flakes easily. Let stand, covered, while preparing sauce.

Combine almonds and butter in 1 cup measure. Microwave on 100% power 1 1/2-2 minutes, until melted. Stir and continue micro-cooking for 2-3 minutes or until nuts are lightly browned. Pour over filets and serve.

Poaching of fish can be another method that can be done in the microwave oven.

POACHED FISH WITH CUCUMBER SAUCE

1/4 cup water
3 slices lemon
3 slices onion
3 whole peppercorns
1 bay leaf
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 pound frozen fish filets (defrosted)
Sauce:
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1/4 cup dairy sour cream
1/4 cup diced seeded cucumber
2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
Dash of pepper

In a 12x8-inch baking dish, combine water, lemon slices, onion slices, peppercorns, bay leaf and salt. Cover with plastic wrap. Microwave at 100% power 4 minutes. Stir. Arrange filets in baking dish with thickest portion to the outside. Recover. Microwave at 100% power 4-7 minutes, or until fish flakes easily with fork. Place filets on serving platter. Cover and set aside.

Place 1 tablespoon onion in small bowl; cover. Microwave at 100% power 30-60 seconds, or until tender. Stir in remaining sauce ingredients. Reduce power to 50%. Microwave 1 1/2-3 minutes, or until heated, stirring every 30 seconds. Serve over fish.

Alcohol Causes A Multitude Of Woes

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — What will 10 shots of whiskey do to high blood pressure? I'm taking five pills a day.

DEAR READER — Ten shots of whiskey is more than 10 ounces a day, an amount that causes liver damage. Alcohol also can cause high blood pressure, muscle weakness, loss of sexual ability and mental changes resembling senility.

People with hypertension shouldn't drink alcohol. Alcohol also can be dangerous — or lethal — in combination with many medications.

Stop drinking — under medical supervision — since you may suffer "withdrawal" effects. You may be surprised at how much your blood pressure will drop and how much better you will feel.

DEAR DR. GOTT — A 77-year-old friend of mine has a lump on her neck that doctors say is an aneurysm. They want her to have a dye test. Can an aneurysm be removed surgically?

DEAR READER — An aneurysm is the ballooning of a weakened portion of an artery. The condition is common, but serious, since it may rupture (causing hemorrhage and death) or lead to an embolism (a blood clot causing stroke).

In a dye test, a specialist injects material into an artery and obtains simultaneous X-ray movies. This way, doctors can determine the size and position of the aneurysm.

There is no non-surgical way to treat aneurysms. The therapy of choice is an operation to remove the aneurysm and substitute a plastic artery in place of the diseased vessel. The operation is almost always successful if done by a surgeon who is familiar with the technique.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I had part of my thyroid removed. My doctor says thyroid ophthalmopathy is causing my eyes to swell and feel sore. Is this Graves' disease?

DEAR READER — Probably. In Graves' disease, the overactive thyroid gland produces a compound that causes the tissues behind the eyes to swell. This forces the eyes forward, out of their sockets — the "pop-eyed" appearance that characterizes the disease.

Unfortunately, surgery may not cure this, since the remaining part of the gland continues to produce the material that affects the eyes. In fact, in some people, the eye problems can worsen after surgery.

You should have an examination to determine if you have thyroid ophthalmopathy (prominent eyes) or if there is another cause of your symptoms. If you have Graves' disease, you may need anti-thyroid drugs or eye surgery to prevent further eye injury. Ask your doctor to refer you to a thyroidologist, a physician who specializes in diseases of the thyroid gland.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
After South's takeout double in today's game, West anticipated that North would have values to bid. West decided to bid one no-trump first and then bid spades at the two-level, a good way to show his limited values. Note what happened. North intended to bid four hearts, but it cost him nothing to cue-bid his spade control first. When East showed his second five-card suit, South really got carried away when he jumped to four hearts, but since the bidding told him that his partner would be short in diamonds, he wanted to play in game. That was enough for North, who promptly bid the slam.

After the diamond lead, declarer took a simple approach. He ruffed the diamond in dummy, played the spade ace, ruffed a spade and led the club jack to West's queen and dummy's king. Now another spade was trumped low. Declarer cashed the heart ace, ruffed another diamond and ruffed dummy's last spade with his heart king. A low club to the 10 allowed him to play dummy's remaining high hearts, and the club ace was his 12th trick.

It's too bad that West stuck in that one no-trump bid, since that caused declarer to play him for the club queen, but which of us, holding six high-card points and hearing our partner open the bidding, would think the opponents were about to bid a slam?

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY MARCH 12, 1987
 In the year ahead you will be treated fortunately in several areas which have been rather arid in the past. The most noticeable improvements will be career and material oriented.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
 There are indications you'll do something exceptional today which will win you the respect of your companions. It won't be easy to pull off. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences which are governing you in the year ahead. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
 Don't be negative regarding the outcome of an idea with which you've been toying. If put to the test today, you'll discover your fears are groundless.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
 Don't leave important matters dangling today. Conclude them to your satisfaction, even if you have to work longer and harder than you anticipated.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
 Any serious agreements you make today must be fair to both parties. Be sure they're designed so the terms can't be altered later.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
 Make an effort to get proper remuneration for services rendered today. If you are a poor collector, the bill could go unsettled for quite a while.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
 Your abilities as an organizer are much better today than they were yesterday. You'll get things done without ruffling anyone's feathers.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
 Try to be more watchful than usual today of those who come under your charge. Your alertness will spot and fend off potential problems or complications.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
 A cherished old friend you haven't seen much of lately is eager to hear from you. Call or drop by his or her place today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
 A way can be developed today to strengthen your economic foundations. The start may not be too auspicious, but it has potential.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
 Something of consequence can be accomplished today, especially if you use a lesson you've learned from a past, painful experience.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
 Success is in the offing for you today, but it might not come too easily. If you find yourself against the wall, that's the time to really start pushing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
 You have more friends in your corner today than you may realize. Several pals will be trying to solve a problem for you that you've been unable to solve yourself.

Readers Vote To Put A Lid On German Bathroom Law

DEAR ABBY: This concerns "J.F. in Vancouver, Wash." who visited Munich, Germany, where she took a tour of eight model homes open to the public. He was shocked to find that all the homes had bathrooms located about six feet from the front door. On inquiring of the salesman, he was told that homeowners were required by law to provide toilet facilities for anyone who asked to use them! He asked if you had ever heard of such a thing and you replied, "Never."

Abby, I recently saw a TV program showing several interi-ors by Swedish and Norwegian home designers, and they all had indoor bathrooms by the front door, so maybe there is such a law abroad.

LOUISE S., EVERETT, WASH.
DEAR ABBY: Being German, I would like to put my 2 cents in about the model homes in Munich. A Vancouver visitor was shocked to see the bathroom located near the entrance of the house. It is not a "bathroom" with a shower and a tub; it is simply a toilet and a washbasin — to accommodate guests, so they do not have to go into the family's living quarters to use the facilities. There is no such "law" requiring homeowners to let strangers in to use the toilet. I know: I have lived all my life in Germany.

BORN GERMAN,
PORT ST. LUCIE, FLA.
DEAR ABBY: Having lived in Holland for eight years, I think the salesman must have been pulling that tourist's leg. I am not sure about Germany, but I know for a fact that the building codes in Holland state that the bathroom must be separated from the general living quarters by two doors for reasons of privacy. These bathrooms are always located in the front hallway. However, there is no law requiring a homeowner to open his door to a stranger from off the street.

LEX BORGER,
LAGUNA HILLS, CALIF.
DEAR ABBY: It is my impression that "J.F. in Vancouver" got a stupid answer to a stupid question. I spent seven years in Munich, and no, you do not have to let strangers into your home to use the bathroom, kitchen, broom closet or anything else. The architect put the bathroom near the front of the house because nothing infuriates Germans more than children running in and out of the house to use the john. This way, the neighborhood kids can use the bathroom without running across the wall-to-wall carpet with their dirty shoes.

Apparently "J.F." not only lacks a sense of humor, but also displays a certain amount of hostility toward people of other cultures, or the salesman would not have tied that bear on him — as the Bavarians would say. I'll bet the Bavarian salesman is still laughing at that gullible Yank.

A.N.M., DENTON, TEXAS
DEAR ABBY: I have traveled widely in Bavaria and never heard of such a "law," but I haven't been there in the last dozen years, so maybe a law was passed by a suburban municipality in the meantime.

I know Bavarians, and they are the world's greatest tricksters, with an almost perverted sense of humor, so one of this type might have told what he considered a too-noisy visitor this tale with a straight face. Practically every German town has public toilets that smell to high heaven, but they are available to the bladder-deficient public, and in a country that idolizes the manufacture, sale and consumption of beer, that's a veritable populace.

Anyway, no well-bred German would think of asking to get into a private home to relieve himself. He'd rather be arrested behind a bush than be embarrassed by asking a stranger to open his toilet door. Few Germans would let a stranger into their home to use the telephone — much less the toilet. (Nor would any New Yorker!)

Pizzazz Models Featured In 'A Spring Brilliance'

By Marva Hawkins
 Herald Correspondent
 The Special Services Division of Seminole Community College will present Pizzazz in a spring fashion and talent show.

A Spring Brilliance, theme of this year's show, like last year's show, A Spring Radiance, is expected to draw a large crowd for a successful event.

Pizzazz will make its 1987 debut at 8 p.m., March 21, in the Fine Arts Concert Hall on the campus of Seminole Community College. Eddie Stiles and Debra Redding will be the emcees for the fashion show.

Some of the area's finest talented individuals will appear for an evening of exceptional entertainment. This production will feature the Pizzazz models, with Hester Moore as commentator plus singers Yvonne Williams and Robert Brdley.

Brilliance is under the direction of Marvin Henderson. Samelia Phillips and Patricia Simpson are the modeling coordinators. Fashions will be from Men's Den, Forever Fashions Bridal and Formal Wear, Ross and Tranel's. The public is invited. Admission is free.

Food for Thought

by Bill Painter

Chicken grillis or broils more evenly if you split it down the back, spread it out, and then flatten the breasts.

New salt with flake-shaped crystals is said to offer more taste with less sodium.

Making a low-fat sauce? Yogurt won't separate when you heat it if you add 1 tsp. cornstarch for every cup of yogurt.

Enhance the flavor of Brie by heating it. Cut an X on a small round of cheese and top with a handful of silvered almonds. Broil 5 minutes until cheese bubbles. Serve on toasted crackers or — better yet — warm french bread.

When the menu says "a la Normande," you can expect the dish is made with apples and cream, which are products of the province of Normandy.

When the menu says COLONIAL ROOM RESTAURANT you know it's filled with delicious things to eat. Come try them all.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Three Killed When Suspected Drug Plane Shot Down

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UPI) — The Honduran air force shot down a suspected drug traffickers' airplane after it flew into Honduran air space, killing three people, one of them an American, officials said.

"The illegal use of Honduran air space by drug traffickers has been demonstrated once again," the Honduran Armed Forces said in a statement Tuesday.

Documents belonging to American Joseph Bernard Mason, who apparently was the pilot, were found in the wreckage along with the three bodies, the military said. Officials did not specify the nature of the documents.

Military officials said the DC-3 was shot down when the pilot refused to identify himself or land late Monday night near Palmital, about 6 miles from the Salvadoran border in western Honduras and 100 miles west of Tegucigalpa.

81 Bodies Said Pinned In Ferry

ZEBRUGGE, Belgium (UPI) — Officials believe it will be almost impossible to identify the 81 bodies still pinned in the Herald of Free Enterprise when the British ferry that capsized with 543 people aboard is raised and brought to port.

Britain's Prince Charles is scheduled to visit briefly today with British navy and other English personnel at the port of Zeebrugge, where the Herald of Free Enterprise capsized in less than a minute Friday evening in calm seas.

Described as the worst maritime disaster in the English Channel since World War II, the capsizing of the 8,000-ton channel ferry left 53 people confirmed dead and 81 missing and presumed drowned in the vessel's sunken cabins.

Papers Publish Disputed Ad

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Newspapers in four South African cities today published a government-opposed advertisement urging observance of a day to protest the detention of some 25,000 people jailed without trial.

The publications came one day after the Supreme Court barred police from impounding copies of The Star, the nation's largest daily newspaper, which contained the ad Tuesday in defiance of a police order banning publication.

The original ad, which appeared in two black newspapers during the weekend, demanded the immediate release of all detainees, held under a nationwide state of emergency in force since June 12. The Star version retained a call for an end to the state of emergency but dropped the call for the prisoners' release.

New Irish Prime Minister Elected

DUBLIN, Ireland (UPI) — Charles Haughey was narrowly elected prime minister for the third time when the speaker of the parliament cast his deciding vote for the Fianna Fail leader.

In a dramatic opening session Tuesday of the new Irish parliament, known as the Dail, the vote confirming Haughey as the prime minister was 82-82 until speaker Sean Tracey voted for Haughey, opening another chapter in the charmed life of a politician renowned for being a survivor.

It is the third term of office for the self-made millionaire known as "The Boss" by his supporters. He first governed Ireland between 1979 and 1981 and bounced back for a second term in 1982, heading a minority government that lasted nine months.

Haughey is again heading a minority government. His Fianna Fail party won 81 seats in the Feb. 17 general election, just short of a majority in the 166-seat parliament.

Italians Form New Government

ROME (UPI) — Prime minister-designate Giulio Andreotti asked leaders of outgoing Prime Minister Bettino Craxi's coalition to attend the first official consultations today aimed at forming a new government.

Andreotti, a veteran Christian Democratic politician, arranged meetings this afternoon with the leaders of the three smallest parties in the five-member alliance — the Liberals, Social Democrats and influential Republicans.

Andreotti held informal talks Tuesday with the Craxi, the Socialist leader, that went some way to closing the political rift that built up over Socialist insistence Andreotti was not suitable to be prime minister.

Andreotti said Craxi told him the Socialists have nothing against Andreotti "personally" in his bid to form a new government. Andreotti, who has served as prime minister five times and was the foreign minister in Craxi's government, said he was pleased the air had been cleared.

Students Protest Arrests

BEIRUT (UPI) — Students at the American University of Beirut went on strike today to protest the arrest by Syrian troops of 15 colleagues suspected of ties to Moslem militia groups.

The strike came a day after Syrian troops entered the university camps, searched the men's dormitories and arrested the 15 students.

All students boycotted classes, but they expressed mixed feelings about the strike.

The American University administration had no immediate comment on the incident, the latest Syrian military action against Moslem militiamen in west Beirut.

About 7,000 Syrian troops entered the Moslem half of the Lebanese capital more than two weeks ago to end militia rule and the worst factional fighting in years.

Thatcher To Meet Leaders

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, seeking European unity on arms control, announced plans to hold separate talks with the leaders of France and West Germany before traveling to Moscow on March 28.

Thatcher told Parliament on Tuesday she will have separate talks with President Francois Mitterand of France and West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl on March 23 as part of the preparations for her Moscow visit.

The meetings with the European leaders were arranged on short notice, a Thatcher spokesman said.

Israeli Cabinet Meets On Pollard

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Amid continuing criticism over Israel's role in the Pollard spy scandal, Israel's inner cabinet called a meeting today to consider demands for a public investigation of the affair.

But even as Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir called the meeting for today of the Cabinet's most senior officials, it appeared likely that demands for an investigation would be squelched, official sources said.

Most political analysts in Jerusalem expect Shamir and his colleagues in Israel's coalition government to head off U.S. and Israeli calls for a probe into the Jonathan Pollard spy case, which jolted U.S.-Israeli relations.

Criticism of Israel's role in the scandal intensified Tuesday when a key figure in the affair and the air base he now commands were declared off-limits to U.S. military personnel by Defense Department officials in Washington.

Survivor Defends Memoirs

JERUSALEM (UPI) — A Holocaust survivor said today he remembers a Nazi death camp guard called "Ivan the Terrible" so vividly that he sometimes wakes up screaming.

Yehiel Reichman, a survivor of the Treblinka death camp in Poland in World War II, repeatedly called Ivan the "worst devil of all" at the camp where some 850,000 Jews and Gypsies were killed.

Attorneys for former U.S. autoworker John Demjanjuk, accused of being the guard called Ivan, asked Reichman, 72, why Ivan is only mentioned twice in a 65-page memoir the witness wrote in 1944 after escaping from Treblinka.

"I never thought I would have a moment in my life when I would have to cast accusations at that devil," Reichman testified in the fourth week of Demjanjuk's war crimes trial.

"He was a devil like all the other devils," Reichman said. "But now the more I think back and remember, the more vivid the memories become. ... I can never escape Treblinka. Sometimes I do not sleep. I wake up screaming."

On Tuesday, Reichman picked up an old photograph of Demjanjuk and identified him as "Ivan the Terrible," a cruel Ukrainian guard at the Treblinka camp in 1942 and 1943.

"To me, he was the worst devil of all at Treblinka and I shudder to think there is such a two-legged animal capable of perpetrating such deeds."

Reichman, the fifth death camp survivor to testify in the trial, sifted through a stack of photos of Demjanjuk from the 1940s and 1950s and chose the one he thought most resembled "Ivan," the sadistic guard who presided over the Treblinka gas chambers where 850,000 Jews and others were killed.

"He is fatter in this picture than he was then, but I remember him," Reichman said, describing the fearsome guard's round face, short-cropped hair, brawny arms and protruding ears.

Reichman, a Polish-born Jew who escaped from Treblinka in a 1943 inmate uprising, was to continue his testimony today in the death penalty trial.

"He was a big horse," the frail, white-haired witness said Tuesday. "A tall and sturdy person. He was strong — strong, sturdy and fat."

Demjanjuk, 66, listened calmly as Reichman described how the guard called "Ivan" beat, whipped, tortured and tormented thousands of Jews as they were driven naked to their deaths in the gas chambers of Treblinka.

Demjanjuk, a Ukrainian who immigrated to the United States after World War II and became an autoworker in Ohio, could be hanged if convicted of being the guard who operated the big engine that produced gas for the death chambers.

Demjanjuk denies he was ever at Treblinka and says he is a victim of mistaken identity. He says he was a Soviet soldier captured by the Germans during World War II and held in Nazi prisoner of war camps for most of the war.

Reichman told the crowded courtroom about efforts to conceal the mass murders that occurred at the Treblinka camp in Nazi-occupied Poland.

The witness, now an industrialist from Uruguay, said he and other Jewish laborers would be forced to burn corpses in furnaces and then grind the ashes and sift them "like flour" into deep pits.

The Demjanjuk trial is Israel's first war crimes case since the Adolf Eichmann trial in 1961. Eichmann, confessed architect of Adolf Hitler's "Final Solution" for exterminating the Jews, was convicted and hanged in Israel in 1962.
