

HOOVER CALLS ON CONGRESS TO PLAY FAIR

Asks United Support Behind His Program For Steering Nation Toward Prosperity

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(A.P.)—President Hoover last night appealed to Congress and the nation to throw their united support behind his program for setting America on the path to prosperity.

"It is a non-partisan program," he told newspapermen gathered about his desk. "I am interested in its principles rather than its details. I appeal for unity of action for its consummation."

The recommendations to which he referred were contained partially in his message to Congress. Others he has expounded over the last few months. Some are already in effect. Some await congressional action. Last night he drew them all together and named them in what he termed "a definite program for turning the tide of deflation."

"The broad purpose of this program," he asserted, "is to restore the old job instead of create a made job, to help the worker at the desk as well as at the loom, to restore their buying power for the farmers' products—in fact, to turn the processes of liquidation and deflation and start the country forward all along the line."

"This program will affect far more than 100,000,000 people."

Colorado Blizzard Kills Many Cattle

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—(A.P.)—Baldy breezes swept many sections of the Middle West today as farmers slithered about muddy fields and motorists traveled down "slushy" roads, while Iowa and citizens of neighboring states, battled with almost impassable secondary roads. Colorado reported heavy cattle losses from the cold and snow. In the Sierra Blanca, California there were more than four feet of snow with more on the way. While the Middle West enjoyed a clearing weather, the South West and Eastern states had weather in the middle forties and the South West enjoyed moderate levels as did the South East.

OGLESBY CASE GOES TO JURY AT DAY'S END

Death Penalty Asked By State's Attorney In Closing Arguments Of Trial

The Oglesby case went to the jury at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon, and at 6:15 o'clock the jury was still deliberating. Judge Wallace W. Wright is at his home, with orders that he be telephoned if the jury returns before 10 o'clock.

The Oglesby murder trial which has been attended by record crowds since Thursday was approaching a conclusion this afternoon. Millard Smith, Tinsell, state's attorney began asking for a death penalty in the case at about 4:15 o'clock this afternoon and a jury, consisting of six men and six women, were called into the courtroom with several hundred persons who crowded every available inch of the court room, was beginning to look signs of the long hours which have been devoted to the case.

The morning session was devoted to a cross-examination of Oglesby, the young Sanford fisherman, and a trial for the murder of his father-in-law, W. G. M. Wright, Jr., on Thursday, Dec. 1, at the residence of the latter at his home, the opening statement of Mr. Smith, and the argument of his defense counsel. Assistant defense counsel this afternoon began an argument which lasted for more than two hours.

Last night, before a record crowd, Oglesby took the stand in his own behalf and told a vivid story of the affair. He clung to his self-defense story and declared that he shot and killed Mr. Wright, advancing upon him with a knife, because Wright wanted to force him to marry a woman in the name of "W. G. Wright."

He testified that on the day previous to the killing, Mr. Wright, who had come to Sanford, had told him a man called "W. G. Wright" had written to him and that he had nothing to do with it. "Personally," he testified.

LENZ AND JACOBY STEP UP LEAD IN BRIDGE TOURNNEY

Pair Wins Six Out Of First Nine Rubbers Of Night's Session

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(A.P.)—Lenz and Jacoby started to 6000 plus points last night in their contract match with the other contestants. The "official" pair won six of the first nine rubbers of the session. The rubbers standing at the close: Lenz and Jacoby, 14; Culbertson, 9. The point totals of rubber 25: Culbertson, 270.

The greatest show of the contract bridge decade next on to the fourth performance last night with a change in casting, a usual late-night starting and a little more than usual officious accusations.

Mrs. Culbertson took her place before the table at 8:30 p.m. in gray-spray frock, stockings, gray slippers and shoes.

Jacoby wore a gray business suit, a change from an old suit, and Albert Gruenther, club referee, was in field uniform. He has now wearing a field uniform.

Both teams are the "champs" of being late for play and they delayed the play at least an hour 20 minutes to argue about it. Jacoby arrived on the dot of 7:11 p.m., while the other players, under 15 minutes.

While he ate the other players arrived. The referee took play to start, but Mrs. Culbertson, not realizing that she was a contestant as well as a contender in the crucial match, settled it with:

"Let Ozzie eat!"

Ozzie ate, Lenz was not in the best of humor. Waiting for a post-mortem or waiting for an opponent to be all the same to him—his name. He was displeased that a $10,000 bet for which he was to have been intermediary became public.

"Ely is making a dig at me," Mrs. Culbertson said.

Local Watercraft To Participate In Festival Tuesday

Among the novel features of Seminole County Progress Day next Tuesday is one in which all available watercraft operating in and around Sanford will be gathered on Lake Monroe to form a "City of Sanford" which will be christened by Miss Mies Elizabeth Laffler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Laffler, as the opening feature of the day's celebration.

Jack Scott, chairman of the local committee this morning announced that he had secured the cooperation of half a dozen yachts owned by local citizens and that it was hoped that every person owning a boat no matter of what size, will have it on the lake in the vicinity of the Band Shell sometime on Progress Day.

The "Seminole" yacht "Seminole" will go to Benson Springs and pick up the Methodist Orphanage Band from the town dock there, and will head for the bridge at Lake Monroe to join the other yachts which will make for that point shortly after 8:30 o'clock. These boats will play as the "City of Sanford" enters the lake, and the entire party will make for Sanford, scheduled to arrive promptly at 10:00 o'clock.

The "City of Sanford" will dock on the western side of the Municipal Pier where the christening with a bottle of celery juice will take place and where G. F. Troshen, Orlando, president of the boat line will receive a flag from Governor Doyle E. Carlton. The other yachts are expected to anchor along the lake front and remain there throughout the day to lend a touch of activity at that point.

Mr. Scott reported that Ralph Wright, Hugh Tilla, F. E. Hummel, George A. DeCottis, and John Humley had already assured him of their boat's participation. All other boat owners who find it convenient to lend a hand in this effort and subsequent appearance on the lakefront are urged to telephone Mr. Scott at the Cole office, Milam, Theatre building, at once.

CONGRESS PLANS INVESTIGATION OF RAILROAD ISSUE

Senate Committee Approves Thorough Probe On Conditions

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(A.P.)—Two of the Interstate Commerce Commission's 19 proposals for railroad health were referred yesterday in the House and Senate.

The commission in its annual report suggested a Congressional inquiry into the country's transportation systems. Almost simultaneously the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee approved a resolution for a thorough investigation of the railroad situation.

The report renewed the commission's proposal for regulation of railroad holding companies. Before the House adjourned, Representative Hayburn of Texas, had introduced a bill to put them under the commission's jurisdiction.

The commission in proposing the transportation inquiry, said special attention should be given to government aided air lines and waterways.

The railroads have complained bitterly over the part federal money has played in putting steamboats back on the Mississippi and other rivers, arguing that the government was restraining them on one hand and helping a competitor on the other.

Waterways advocates have replied vigorously and yesterday a group of delegates from the National Rivers and Harbors Congress visited President Hoover to tell him their organization would stoutly resist any attempt to put boats on inland streams under "restrictive control."

Most of the recommendations by the commission had been made before, among them a plea for repeal of laws intended to give it power to recapture excess earnings.

The commission has had trouble all along in administering the law, and substitution of provisions to fix a rate level which would give the roads a fair return through good and bad years would be much better.

In addition to regulation of holding companies, the commission also suggested highway transportation, freight forwarding agencies and steamship rates should be supervised.

A bill by Hayburn, prospective chairman of the House Interstate Commerce Committee, for regulation of holding companies died last term in the crash that accompanied the closing days of Congress.

The Senate resolution was sponsored by Chairman Cawson of the committee. He mentioned among the reasons for the investigation a movement to reduce wages of railroad workers. He said also it was needed because of representations by the roads that they must have financial aid from the government unless their revenues increase.

Both the Senate and House must approve the resolution before the study begins.

PRESIDENT'S WAR DEBT PROPOSALS ELICIT PROTESTS

Both Houses Come Out Strong Against Any More Debt Aid For European Nations

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(A.P.)—Informal understanding was reached today between the administration and Senate leaders that foreign governments would not be considered at fault if their war debt payments due next Tuesday are not paid, pending formal ratification of the one-year moratorium suspending these payments. Legislation ratifying the one-year debt holiday which went into effect last July cannot be enacted by Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(A.P.)—An outburst of protest on Capitol Hill yesterday all but closed the door upon President Hoover's proposal for revision of war debts.

From House and Senate and from leaders of both parties came firm declarations against further debt relief for Europe under existing conditions.

Meanwhile, with delay confronting ratification of the one-year moratorium, already in effect, the administration yesterday prepared a message to the foreign governments respecting their debt payments due to this country next Tuesday.

However, failure attended an attempt to bring House Democratic and Republican leaders to support this statement, in which it is understood Secretary Stimson would assure the foreign powers that the payments could be abandoned with certainty of Congressional ratification of the moratorium.

Failure to bind the House leaders was not regarded as any rejection of the moratorium on their part. But it is certain the one year debt holiday faces new trouble as a result of the latest debt move by the administration.

As the tide of opposition grew in volume, Undersecretary Mills hastened to back up with facts and figures the statement made by the President that some European nations would not be in position after expiration of the moratorium to pay their debt obligations. Mills arranged a conference for today.

The administration leaders of the Senate, William of Indiana, led the attack upon debt revision with the declaration that "it is unthinkable that the American people should shoulder Europe's debts in order to enable those nations to build navies and equip armies."

Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, another administration leader, and a member of the finance committee, joined the opposition movement expressing regret at the President's proposal.

In the House, debate centered on the President's debt message. Representative McFadden, of Pennsylvania, Republican chairman of the banking committee last session, described the message as "inadequate, a ridiculous spectacle," and showing even "scant courtesy."

Democrats advised caution. On the Senate side, Senators Fletcher, of Florida; George, of Georgia; and Wheeler, of Montana, declared flat opposition. Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, said he, too was opposed to the move although willing to hear the administration's views.

Secretary Mellon last night gave assurance that the administration was opposed to cancellation. He said Hoover's recommendation for recreation of the World War foreign debt commission carried no implication of cancellation.

He said, however, it was the duty of responsible officials to investigate the ability of the debtors to pay the money due this country under the present worldwide economic situation.

He cited the financial status of Great Britain and other European nations and declared:

"These instances should suffice to demonstrate that to stand on the letter of our bond, and to refuse to investigate or to consider the facts, is to fall in our responsibility to the American people whom we represent and to the debtors whose capacity to pay we ourselves undertook to determine."

OFFERING OVERSUBSCRIBED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(A.P.)—The thirteen hundred million dollar security sale announced Monday by the treasury was oversubscribed $24,000,000. The books were closed yesterday. Secretary Mellon announced last night that the fourth billion dollar offering of government securities had brought subscriptions totaling $1,764,000,000.

Prince's Renunciation Is Accepted By Carol

WARSAW, Poland, Dec. 12.—(A.P.)—Advises from Bucharest yesterday said Prince Nicholas of Rumania received a visit from Minister of the Interior Argetoianu and was informed that King Carol had accepted his renunciation of his royal rights and declared him a private citizen.

M. Argetoianu also told him the government was prepared to recognize his expulsion from the royal family, and had summoned a cabinet meeting for today, when formal recognition of his status will be taken and public notification made.

Prince Nicholas said he was fully aware of his position, and in the future would live as he pleased, permitting no one to prescribe for him or interfere with his monogamic marriage to Jana Delgtj.

Three amplifying units will also be in the parade. One, owned by J. L. Marquette and W. D. Hoffman, one owned by the Celo Company, and one owned by the Public Address Co. of DeLand.

Marty Greenberg's orchestra of Orlando, will provide music for the Grand Ball at the Mayfair Hotel starting at 9:00 o'clock. The dance is being staged under the supervision of Karl Schultz, who this morning announced that nearly 50 tickets had been sold in advance and that every indication points to a record crowd at the closing feature of the day's program. E. B. Stowe, Sanford florist, is handling decorations.

The Florida Methodist Orphanage Band of Benson Springs will play on the boat, which will go to Monroe bridge, and with other yachts, escort the "City of Sanford" to the Bahd Shell, arriving at 10:00 o'clock. It will then go to Magnolia Avenue and First Street for a short concert. At 10:30 o'clock it will play at Sanford Avenue and First Street; at 11:00 o'clock at the Eckerson Canning Plant; at 11:30 o'clock at the airport, and at noon will be the guest of the Montezuma Hotel.

At 1:00 o'clock it will play at Fourth Street and Sanford Avenue, and at 1:30 o'clock will report to the parade committee at Lakeshore boulevard and Sanford Avenue where it will head section five of the parade, moving at 2:00 o'clock. It will also escort Governor and Mrs. Carlton to the Woman's Club for the reception.

The Ormand Grotto Band, of Orlando, will have a unit here to participate in the parade.

The Sanford Senior High School orchestra, under the direction of James A. Bell, will play at the high school preceding the public appearance of Governor Carlton at 2:00 o'clock. It will also participate on a float in the parade.

Spivey Arouses More Comment On Bible Stand

The second coming of Christ, Dr. Spivey, before leaving Lakeland yesterday morning to attend a conference, session here, issued the following statement:

"The doctrine of the second coming of Christ is not a fundamental doctrine of any church as far as I know. It is purely a speculative doctrine; therefore no church could require any one to hold any particular belief about it.
"So far as I am concerned, I do not believe that Christ will return to this earth. The whole idea, as it is taught, is based on a flat earth. If Christ were to return, where would He live? We in Florida would want Him to live here. But I suppose there would be other places where He would be needed more. This does not mean that I object to my friends holding on to the orthodox beliefs about this subject.
"I would be perfectly willing for Mr. Overstreet to remain in the Methodist Church and believe whatever he came to about this or any other subject, so long as he is a good man, and is trying to cooperate with others in trying to make life livable.
"Intolerance about the essentials of life is a bad thing. There are many fundamental problems over which men differ and are embittered without getting into a controversy over a subject that is superficial and unimportant.
"I am no busy living and trying to do my duty here now that I see no interest in when Christ will return or when the world will come to an end."
A few Methodist leaders commented on Dr. Spivey's remarks. Among these were Dr. H. F. Tolly, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Tampa; Dr. A. Hughes Cole, pastor of the Tampa Heights Church, the conference host, and Dr. J. P. Hilburn, former president of Southern College and a former presiding elder of the Tampa district.

During his talk before the conference Thursday morning after his second exhortation, Dr. Spivey admitted having said "some foolish things" in his career as an educator and clergyman. And this remark was the keynote of Dr. Tolly's comment on the college president's latest statement.
"I think this is one of the times Dr. Spivey has said 'one of his foolish things'," Dr. Tolly said, "I place 'foolish things' in quotations because Dr. Spivey admitted on the floor of the conference that anyone who talks as much as he does must necessarily say some foolish things."
Dr. Cole tersely reaffirmed his personal belief in Christ's second coming.
"I am just as certain Christ will return again," he said, "as I am certain that He once came to this earth."
Dr. Hilburn was "amazed" at Dr. Spivey's utterance.
"I cannot believe he made such statements," he said. "But if he did he is not in accord with the teachings of the Methodist Church. It is true that Methodism permits the individual to choose between belief in the pre-millennium and the post-millennium as to the time when Christ will return. But nowhere is there justification for disbelief in His second coming."
Christ said: "If I go I will return again." All through the Bible you will find statements in support of His second coming."

With these three conference leaders openly criticizing Dr. Spivey's new statement, Methodist leaders sought the church discipline and conference laws to predict the results of the college president's remarks insofar as this morning's session is concerned.
"The conference board of education has the power to appoint the president of Southern College. It has not yet submitted its report. So a new attack on Dr. Spivey, if one develops this morning, will probably come on the question of the report of this important committee. It seemed certain last night that the education board would recommend the reappointment of Dr. Spivey, regardless of his Lakeland statement, but the conference may either accept or reject the report, or order such amendments as are adopted by majority vote."

said, "It would do more to depress business than any one thing the federal government could do now. That would be the last thing I would favor so long as there is any other way to raise the needed revenue."

Giving a brief outline of the Democrats' probable plans, Collier said "We are not going to stand for any confiscatory legislation in formulating the tax program. We want to be fair to everybody, we don't want to disturb business or hurt the people, particularly during this depression. It is distressing enough to increase taxes at any time, especially now."

"The ways and means committee will make a thorough study of the Hoover-Mellon plan and the needs of the treasury. Secretary Mellon will be invited to explain the administration's proposition."
"While I am going to hold myself open to the requirements as they arise I believe we will adopt a conservative taxation increase program to be supplemented by the borrowing of money on short or long term securities. A long term bond issue may be necessary."

Collier added that the program probably would involve an increase in surtaxes; the levying of a special substance tax; the imposition of a gift tax and an increase in the income tax in the higher brackets.
"Hearings on the tax plans will begin in January."
Representative Rainey of Illinois, the Democratic floor leader, like Garner and Collier is opposed to a general sales tax. Rainey said new receiving small incomes should be protected, while those receiving large incomes should be patriotic enough to contribute more in proportion to the support of the government.

The treasury reported a deficit of $225,345,000 yesterday for the first five months and nine days of this fiscal year, or $5,000,000 more than for the entire fiscal year 1930. A prospective $2,000,000,000 deficit looms.

GANGSTER FREED
LINCOLN, Nebraska, Dec. 12.—(A.P.)—August "Gus" Winkler, Chicago gangster and lieutenant of Al Capone, today was freed of a bank robbery charge in connection with the two and one half million dollar robbery of the Lincoln National Bank and Trust Company in September of 1930.

vorably every man, woman and child—not a special class or any group."

Reiterating past statements so that the country might have them all "thoroughly in mind," Hoover outlined the avenues of aid in brief as follows:
1. Drastic reduction of federal expenditures and a temporary tax increase.
2. Unemployment relief by unit of local action.
3. Continuance of a part-time employment.
4. Strengthening of the federal land bank system.
5. Assistance to home owners through banking extensions.
6. Partial return of deposits in closed banks.
7. Enlargement of federal reserve bank discount facilities.
8. Creation of an emergency reconstruction finance corporation.
9. Assistance to all railroads by protection from unregulated competition, and formation of a credit pool to aid weaker lines.
10. Revision of the banking laws to better safeguard depositors.
11. Safeguarding of banks through the national credit association.
12. Maintenance of individual initiative and individual and community responsibility.

The chief executive contended that with this program America could in large measure solve its economic problems regardless of foreign influences. The first step, he said, should be taken at home.
In discussing unemployment relief, Hoover said the federal appeal for local relief funds had "met with a response unparalleled since the war" and that almost every locality in the country had reported it could take care of its own. Nevertheless, he added, his emergency relief commission would continue through the winter to assure that there be no failure to meet problems of unemployment and suffering.

He asserted the system of affording part time employment had afforded help to several million people, otherwise without recourse. In addition, he said, the government would continue its aid through federal construction projects now costing over $60,000,000 a month.

Speaking again in favor of his reconstruction finance corporation plan, measures for which already have been introduced in Congress, Hoover maintained it would "give confidence to agriculture, to industry and to labor against further paralyzing influences and shocks, but more especially by the reopening of credit channels which will assure the maintenance and normal working of the commercial fabric."

Hoover's remarks were made in confidence and they pledged themselves to silence as to details of the proposed experiment. There would be no shipping of fruit by truck.
They intimated, however, that as high as 25 percent reduction in the present rates would not be an exaggeration of the cuts the railroads have in mind. The experiment is timed to begin Jan. 1 and continue through the shipping period up until June 1.
Thousands of dollars would be saved to Florida growers in the southeastern states alone. Rates in force average from $7.00 to $8.00 per box. (Once the reduced rates were applied in the southeastern states, local fruitmen believe they would gradually spread to the other states, increasing the profit to Florida growers and stimulating the market.)
The matter was initiated in Orlando yesterday at a conference between Dr. P. Phillips and officials of the interested lines and is now possible of accomplishment with the entire state back of the movement.
Fruitmen, commenting on the action of the officials, were impressed by the fact that all the Florida lines are granting the reduction voluntarily in spite of lack of freight sent over the railroads. They praised the spirit of cooperation which led the officials to take the initiative in the face of their own problems arising from the depression.

Meanwhile at a meeting of the Clearing House last night the report of the committee was favorably received. At the request of the railroad officials none of the reports was made public.
In a brief comment on the experiment last night, A. M. Pratt, Winter Haven, manager of the Florida Clearing House, said he believed the shippers of the state would raise the railroads of their ships.
The Clearing House took up another problem in the sale of grapes to the canning factories. They were on record as opposed to the sale of grapes to the canners at less than $50 f. o. b. plant.
The members of the Clearing House organization reviewed the market prices of the past week, in which Florida fruit consistently outpriced California product and expressed themselves as encouraged by the healthy condition of the market.
Proposals are due for a heavy increase during the next week. It was agreed to cut down the shipments after Christmas. W. H. Mouser, head of the Clearing House here, presided at the meeting and reports on operations during the state were given by Pratt.

haven't a cent bet on this match—other than the $1000 which is going to charity if I lose—and I don't intend to bet anything. Bridge is lots of good fun at a cent a point, more than that it isn't."

WHAT DOES GOD REQUIRE?
Aid now, Israel, what does the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk
in all his ways, and to love him,
and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul.
—Deuteronomy 10:12.

live as brothers toward all men.

RAIN IN THE HILLS

Dreams, clinging desperate things like tired butterflies with frayed-out wings,
echoes of a voice, shadow of
well-loved faces,
this place and another place,
music and words unwritten, two white hands
sever to be held,
these are man's companions
when he stands,
alone in high silence, the hills, as I stand now.
Dreams fall like raindrops shaken
from a bough.

Progress Day, December 15.

Help the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce help Sanford by helping out on Progress Day.

Do you remember the good old days when gentlemen preferred blondes? They can't afford 'em now.

Wonder if the spectators at this bridge tournament are an orderly crowd, or if they go Jacksonville ever once in a while?

A letter arrived yesterday addressed to "Master Santa Claus."
We are anxiously awaiting one titled "General" or "Governor."

John Mathews has announced
his candidacy for state's attorney in Duval county. And there are those who said he wanted to be governor.

You are ill bred if you ask for three pieces of cake when you go out to dine.—Times-Union. Sure, if you don't ask for more than that they'll think you didn't like it.

Our farmers who are beginning to feel the effects of this prolonged warm weather doubtless are beginning to think of A. S. M.
Hutchinson's famous novel, "If Winter Comes."

Just at present the people are hoping that Congress may pass a few laws which will materially help the situation. In a couple of months we may be wishing it just wouldn't pass any laws to make it worse.

We've all got to rise up, remove our hats and give the League of Nations credit for not starting a war, even if it failed to stop one.
—Times-Union. Give it a little more time and you may not have to give it credit.

The Lake county Summerall
congress club is going to South Carolina to urge Summerall
to announce for Congressman-at-large. It would be a great thing for Florida to be represented in Congress by a man of Summerall's ability and reputation.

Newspaper reader inquires why it is that newspaper headlines so often refer to congressmen as solons? We call 'em solons not because they are as wise as Solon,
but because solon as often fits the narrow width of the solon when congressmen doesn't.

One of our greatest statesmen says that the world's present economic ills can be traced directly to a general lack of confidence.
Invariably this lack of confidence is to blame directly upon those whose confidence should be, for the wrong reasons, placed in them.
The world is a little less confident in the present than it was in the past. At the same time the world is a little more confident in the future than it was in the past. The world is a little more confident in the future than it was in the past.

Football Fatalities

Football coaches, players, and fans may read this with alarm. Dr. Beverly Tucker, a Richmond, Va. neurologist, has urged President Hoover to appoint a commission whose purpose it shall be "to prevent athletic sports from becoming too rough for human anatomy to withstand." Dr. Henry Reik, executive secretary of the Medical Society of New Jersey, has asked New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania doctors, at their convention last week, to campaign for the abolition of college and high school football. Throughout hundreds of American homes, if you will admit what must be a fact, worried mothers and anxious taxpaying fathers have discussed football casualties.

This season, just closed, but little more than two months in length, resulted in the deaths of forty boys and young men from football accidents, over-enthusiasm for the sport, or other causes blamable on football. Not in twenty-five years has so disastrous a football season been known.
And then, in 1905 the rather vigorous President Roosevelt promptly took steps to eliminate such unnecessary roughness from the game. What the total casualties were this year, in broken arms and legs, dislocated shoulders, or pleurisy from over-exertion as in the case of Able Booth, we do not know.

Among the dead are Joseph Johnson, of Lafayette, Ind., who shot himself in the abdomen, disappointed at being unable to make his grade school team; and Coach Par-due, of Statesville, N. C., who was beaten to death by a resultful linesman on his squad; and Cornelius Murphy, of Fordham, who was battered into unconsciousness on the field and died two weeks later from a ruptured blood vessel; and West Point's Richard Sheridan who broke his neck
in the Yale game.

Football, if it is played as it should be played, and for noble purposes devoid of commercialism, is, we believe, worth these sacrifices. But no one can deny the costs are great.
Young men who want to play football, and coaches who want to teach the game, must keep these costs down. Else, a few such seasons as the one just closed may see the end of football.

Moonlit

That someone some day will fly, catapult, or skyrocket to the moon, most of us believe. That any of us will ever live to see that day brings on another argument.

Astronautics is something comparatively new in the realm of science. It is of the same nature as aeronautics, but on a little higher plane. It has to do with the transportation problem between the earth and the stars.

That progress is being made in this direction is evidenced by the announcement last week that a German, Reinhold Tiling, following his invention of a five foot model rocket plane, has recently witnessed a successful test flight,
when the model had travelled upward, propelled by successive powder explosions, to a height of over six miles, a new record. Unfolding wings at its maximum altitude it glided gently to earth.

Germany is perhaps more "moon-minded" than most nations. Others besides Herr Tiling have experimented with rocket planes, some more successfully than others. Max Valier was one who was killed last summer when his rocket fuel container inadvertently exploded. Germany's Interplanetary Society boasting one thousand members attests
her interest in astronautics.

One rocketeer, more elevating occupation than our American racketeer, his name Fanaut-Peloris, predicts that moon magic may be intimately observed within twenty years.

SEMINOLE COUNTY IS to celebrate "Progress Day" next Tuesday, in Sanford. Governor Carlton will be the speaker of the day. The new fast freight boat will arrive from Jacksonville, typifying the new day of water transportation on the St. Johns; and will be christened "City of Sanford" with the breaking of a bottle of celery juice on its bow. A scroll of recognition will be presented to the Atlantic Coast Line in token of appreciation for the railroad's long service to that section. The new canning plant will be featured in the celebration. An important event will be the dedication, by Governor Carlton, of Sanford's new 175-acre airport. An official luncheon, a parade and ball will complete the day's program. Seminole County has every reason to celebrate the completion of such important projects as those mentioned. That section is moving steadily on the road of progress.—Tampa Tribune.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taft, Roosevelt and LaFollette
—these three loom prominently before the eyes of the nation as possibilities for the nomination by the Republican party for president. The meeting of the Republican national committee in Washington this week has occasioned no end of political gossip.

For the first time since 1883,
the annual financial statement of the Post Office Department shows
a surplus instead of a deficit, according to a report by Postmaster-General Hitchcock, made public today. He indicates that the placing of the postal savings bank on a self-sustaining basis meant an improvement and extension of facilities and, at no distant date,
one cent letter postage.

Judge Gary, the head of the United States Steel Corporation,
urges Federal control of large corporations by a board similar to the Interstate Commerce Commission. Such a remedy for the trust evil is no doubt preferable to the enforcement of the Sherman antitrust law.

The celery crop in the east is very light this season, and it is believed that this will be a banner year for the Florida grower.
The many friends of Mrs. E.
R. Connelly will learn with regret that she is quite indisposed; also that Miss Linda, is unable to attend school on account of sickness.

J. N. Whitner and B. A. Howard left Monday for a hunting expedition in the vicinity of Fort Christina.

Barney Oldfield, and Mrs. Oldfield have arrived in their Benz car and are taking in the city and sailing tomorrow.

South Carolina to urge Summerall

ANOTHER GOOD COUNTY

TAMPA TIMES

When a President of the United States informs the Congress on the state of the union, he seldom produces fodder for the tabloids.
His disclosures are not likely to be startling for all that his message is wrapped in almost as much secrecy as a British budget. Mr.
Hoover's statement to the Seventy-second Congress is not exciting. It will disappoint all the panacea planners and those who expected the President with one stroke to set the world straight again.

It deals largely with financial problems and follows in the main along expected lines. Mr. Hoover recommends several plans already outlined by him for melting frozen
credit and reawakening business.
All of them merit close consideration by Congress. He also frankly faces the necessity for tax increases. He proposes that the Government increase its income sufficiently to avoid any net increase in the public debt.

He estimates the sum thus needed at $221,000,000. He would finance the remaining cost of the government, chiefly payments on the public debt amounting to about $500,000,000 which are required by law, through borrowing. This is a sound program. It might even be stretched a bit toward a larger proportion of borrowing, and may have to be if Congress makes any increases in appropriations.

This it may do. There are all sorts of proposals for unemployment relief, loosely grouped under the heading of "dole." It is likely that any direct federal grant to individuals will be avoided, but projects for federal loans to states for unemployment relief have strong backing. The President declares flatly against any kind of "dole," direct or indirect. And he very properly points out that magnificent local efforts have already provided unemployment relief sufficient, he believes, "to meet the situation."
Whether or not this local relief

round and crush the enemy, President Hoover calls into play one after another of the phases of his well-measured plan to overcome the economic depression and restore business to normal health." Sacramento (Cal.) Bee: "The prevailing note of the message is concern for the interests of big business, not for the welfare of the great masses of the citizenry.
The White House broadcast again finds its inspiration in quarters where finance, not humanity, is the first consideration."
St. Paul Pioneer Press: "There are no surprises. . . unless it be the President's vigorous declaration for a tax increase after his assertions last spring which led many to believe he would not adopt that course."
Minneapolis Journal: "The President sends to Congress a clear, calm, helpful message, with definite and considered recommendations and frank statement of opposition to such baleful resorts as dole and tariff tinkering." Milwaukee Journal: "In time of stress, President Hoover's message is notable for its calm."
Ireland has a high twin rate.

Try as you may, you can't find a gift that will mean quite so much to your friends as a portrait—it is you.

VIEWS ON THE HOOVER ADDRESS

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

(By The Associated Press)
Newspapers throughout the nation commented on the probable future effect on economic conditions and politics of President Hoover's address to Congress yesterday.

Excerpts from some of the editorials follow:
Atlanta Constitution: "A frank message by the president that his party has plunged the country into debt to an unprecedented extent. Never before in the history of the country, except in times of war, has any administration so squandered the money of the people and piled debt upon debt until so shocking a total has been reached."
Kansas City Star: "It was a business-like message to meet a business situation. Those who expected Mr. Hoover to produce a rabbit out of a hat were inevitably disappointed. As a whole, the message is one of hope, confidence and common sense."
New York Evening Post: "His message, in so far as it can bring immediate hope or relief to the present economic situation, must be recorded as amongst his former well-meaning but unsuccessful attempts."
Memphis Commercial Appeal: "The President Hoover's message is well founded upon his major assumption that something ought to be done about it all. With Mr.
Hoover's frank citation of the present and future deficits, it was naturally to be expected that he would recommend increased taxation and that he would urge an extraordinary economy. Mr. Hoover is quite right in his suggestion that a plan be drawn for a slow liquidation which may be sped up by the nation's return to normal
economic conditions." Emporia (Kan.) Gazette: "It is a complete and final answer to the demand of a large majority of the people that the government do something to help and the country. President Hoover has chosen the most logical, the most effective and least expensive way." Fort Myers (Fla.) News-Free: "The President Hoover stakes his political future on the bet that economy is just around the corner.
But if he is mistaken—the world is permanently on a plane
from which there is no returning to the wage and price level of 1928—then Mr. Hoover has condemned himself and his party to defeat and in frittering away valuable time while should be devoted to retooling for the new era."
New York Sun: "The most dis-

COMMANDER OF LEGION ATTACKS ARMS REDUCTION

Sees False Economy in Matter Of U. S. National Defense

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 12.—Officially what he termed "false economy in the matter of our national defense," Henry L. Stevens, Jr., North Carolina, national commander of the American Legion, recently voiced an appeal for full American naval strength under the terms of the London treaty.

In an address before a conference of Louisiana legion officials, Stevens said, "The regular army is down to a point where they are simply a bunch of technicians, army college professors, who in the case of emergency, would become the instructors and perhaps the higher officers and commanders of an army that would be formed when such an emergency arrives."

"We have heard a great deal lately about economy," he said. "This year, as never before, I am afraid it is being misconstrued into false economy in the matter of our national defense, when we have just yards in our back yard, in the Pacific, the beginning of what looks like it will be serious trouble, when thoughts are running through the minds of maybe two or three nations which are not altogether flattering to the people of the United States. . . . It is our duty to insist and demand that the government not jeopardize the great material wealth of this magnificent land by our failure to provide adequate national defense."

"I can remember well, as so can you, eight or nine years ago, when our splendid fleet was taken and literally scattered, thrown to the far winds and destroyed. And today we have built under our program, they tell me from reliable sources, ships which lack a certain something that prevents our navy from pulling the guns in a sea that rolls."

"The London treaty pared us down low enough, but we now lack 20 per cent of having lived up to its provisions. The building of a warship costs only 20 per cent material and 20 per cent labor. That would go a long way toward making jobs for many people, just the construction of ships provided for in the London treaty which the American public generally believed would be constructed when the treaty was signed."

"The army, he said, "is just as bad off," and directed criticism at curtailment in enlisted strength and proposed reductions in national guard appropriations.

Boy Scouts Of Troop Five Stage Meeting

Boy Scouts of Troop Five last night held their regular meeting at their Palmetto Avenue, club rooms, and planned their part in Seminole County Progress Day, as well as prepared themselves for a Court of Honor to be held at the City Hall Monday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Glenn Steals, James Deany, Earl Ware, and Ralph LeMone will be advanced to Star Scout status at the Court, which will be presided over by G. M. Walker, scout executive of Orlando, prominent Sanford boys' leader.

The first aid team which visited Longwood Thursday night with Scoutmasters Paul Stine and Andrew Hill III, gave a report on their activities in organizing a troop in that city.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the boys visited the tabernacle to enjoy a winter treat prepared in typical Scout fashion.

Sanford Bowlers Take Two Out Of 3 Matches On Friday

The Sanford Bowling Team took two out of three matches from the crack Weirsdale team at the Sanford Bowling Alleys last night, and again established their claim as one of the best teams in Central Florida. The team won the match by 171 points, and had the lead all the way.

Play in the Turkey Tournament is progressing rapidly. Roy Heller and Paul Pevold went into first place yesterday with 1185 pins, while Robert Cobb and P. Halle are second with 1165 pins.

Paul Pevold is holding high score for the week with a 233 mark. He is one of the most consistent bowlers in the city, according to Mr. Weber, owner of the alleys, who has arrived here to take personal charge.

Louitt Addresses Deland Rotary On Needs Of Mankind

Safety, adventure, affection, and social recognition were enumerated by the Rev. H. Irving Louitt, pastor of Holy Cross Episcopal Church, and guest of the Deland Rotary Club yesterday, as the basic needs of mankind, the attainment of which will mean prosperity in the truest sense of the word.

Professing his address with the thought that most of the present day talk is of any subject but prosperity, and although admitting the economic difficulties of the time, he pointed to the fact that the meaning of prosperity was welfare and success in attaining the desired results.

Raising the question of what he wanted of life, Rev. Louitt declared that too much time is spent in "keeping up with the folks next door," and that the real needs are not those procured by money alone.

Physical and economic safety for a man and those he loves does not depend on riches alone, the speaker asserted, as has been so plainly proved during the present crisis.

In tracing man's love and need of adventure, he pointed to the present day outlets for the man of sedentary occupations, sports, the movies, books. Life itself may be an adventure, he declared, and the business or profession may prove a field of adventure if it is looked upon as something more than a means of earning a living.

The affection of family was also claimed as a fundamental need, and mingled with it the desire for social recognition. Many men are too engrossed in making money to seek recognition in fields of public service, the speaker declared.

By attending his address with the admonition of "listen to live now, not in the past, nor in the future, but today," he was introduced by J. A. Beckett, chairman of the program committee.

OGLESBY CASE GOES TO JURY AT DAY'S END

(Continued from Page One) had sent him a note which read in effect "Tom, I want my money. I want the $3.33, and a share of the $72 excusing $10, or else."

He also testified that Floyd Sharp, a friend had warned him that McEntyre meant trouble over the money and that on the eve of the killing Jack Goodwin, another friend, came to his house and told him that McEntyre was going to fill him full of 22 bullets.

Oglesby's version of the affair is as follows: "Wednesday morning Mr. McEntyre arrived at my boat. I was standing about two feet from the door on the front porch and saw him get out of his boat. After landing, he walked to my boat, a distance of about 30 yards. As he neared the gang-plank he said Tom, I came for my money or else. I told him that I didn't have any money, but he insisted that I did, that it was on the boat, and that he intended to get it. My wife said to him 'Papa, Tom hasn't got the money but as soon as I can get dressed I'll go to town and get some for you.' He turned her, told her to get back in the houseboat, and started up the plank, inching his way along and cursing loud.

"I saw trouble was coming, partly from the threats I had heard of. As he came toward me, my wife grabbed my arm and told me to come in the house and I backed up into the door. He ran his hand into his pocket and got a knife, and I said as I was backing up, 'Don't you come in here Mr. Mc.' He was half way up the plank by that time, frothy at the mouth and in a terrible rage. All he could say was 'I'm going to have my money or else.' Well, as he reached the top of the plank, about eight feet from the door, I saw that he was going to do something, so I grabbed the gun and fired the shot. I didn't want to take chances with a man in the shape he was in. I fired only to stop him, not to kill him, and during the entire time, I kept telling him not to come in."

Upon questioning, Oglesby told substantially the same story as related by both state and defense witnesses in general, especially as relating to the disposition of that body and the subsequent trip to Sanford, hunting trip the next day, and finally the arrest. He flatly denied saying, as McEntyre neared the boat, that "if he talks to me he's going to drop dead," he denied saying that he "ought to take his gun and kill Hilgard and a negro," he denied saying them at all; he denied Floyd Sharp's statement immediately after the killing that he should go to Sanford and give himself up, and denied several other points, all of which had been sworn to by both state and defense witnesses.

The defense offered seven witnesses yesterday afternoon, all of them friends of the Oglesbys, who had seen them frequently after the killing, but who denied that they had heard anything of it.

These witnesses were: Mrs. E. L. Lane, John Bennett, Mrs. Sarah Oglesby, Jack Goodwin, Ethel Goodwin, Virginia Goodwin, and Mrs. Thomy Oglesby.

Women Will Play Important Part In Festival Tuesday

The women of Seminole County will play an important part in the events Progress Day, and all arrangements for their participation are in the hands of the Women's Civic Committee, of which Mrs. Henry Wight is chairman.

These three officers are members of the Governor's Reception Committee which will meet the Governor and Mrs. Carlton at the county line Tuesday morning and will serve as their escort throughout the day.

The Governor and Mrs. Carlton will be house guests of President and Mrs. H. M. Papworth of the trade hotel, during the day, although there is very little time during the crowded program when they can avail themselves of that hospitality.

There will be a tea in honor of Mrs. Carlton given by the committee in the Woman's Club building, from 4:00 o'clock to 6:00 o'clock that afternoon. The public is invited to this event, and committees have been appointed to have charge of various details of the reception as well as of the welfare of all guests.

Mrs. J. C. Benson, chairman of the refreshment committee announces the final appointment of the committee on refreshments as follows: Mrs. J. C. Benson, chairman, Mrs. John Hintermister, Mrs. H. B. Lewis, of the Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. J. G. Sharon, Mrs. J. R. McDonald, Mrs. S. Puleston, of the Red Cross; Mrs. F. E. Roumillat and Mrs. George Bishop, of the U. D. C.
