CAMOMEL CAUSE OF SHEPARD'S SUDDEN DEATH?

DEFENSE TO TRY TO SHOW MEDICINE CHANGED TO POISON

(By The Associated Press.)

MACON, Dec. 16.—Cross-examination of Dr. Everhart, Atlanta chemist, indicated here today that the defense in the Shepard "poison" case might try to show that the wealthy Houston county man died from use of camomel which a chemical change had turned to poisonous mercury product. Dr. Everhart, the first of 42 witnesses called by the state having testified that mercurial poison was found in the viscera of Fred Shepard, he was asked by John P. Ross of counsel for the defense, if druggists did not have to take precautions to prevent the sun and air turning camomel into corrosive sublimate of mercury. The witness admitted that unless care was taken the medicine might turn into a poisonous product. Counsel for the defense called only a few witnesses but indicated they would use a number of medical experts on their side.

Later Dr. Everhart stated it had never been demonstrated that chemical action of the body had turned camomel into corrosive sublimate.

"Although," he added, "some authorities claim it does."

Counsel for the defense mentioned medical authorities by which they sought to uphold their theory of such claim. It also was brought out by the witness that examination of the Shepard eliminative organs did not show poison, but that on the second examination of the body the poison was found in the intestines.

Possibilities of the "blind tiger" illness causing death by poison were mentioned by Walter A. Harris, in cross-examination of Dr. Everhart.

"I never made any 'blind tiger' illness," the chemical expert replied, when asked if potash was not used in the admittance of such liquor on request of friends, but found no potash.

Mrs. Alice Crandell, Fort Valley, Shepard's sister, agreed to pay for the chemical analysis of his viscera,

SUSPENSION OF UNIVERSITY STUDENTS UPHOLD BY BOARD OF CONTROL

(By The Associated Press.)

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 16.—The State Board of Control is in monthly session here today with the following members present: J. B. Hodges, chairman, Lake City; E. L. Wartman, Citra; and J. B. Sutton, Tampa. The board met in the offices of J. T. Diamond, secretary.

Mr. Wartman of Citra offered the following resolution with reference to the resignation of Dr. P. H. Rolfs, who leaves shortly for the Republic of Brazil. In offering the resolution Mr. Wartman said that he did so with much regret, after 20 years association with Dr. Rolfs, 14 of which had been of an official nature, but that with this natural regret, there was mingled corresponding satisfaction that Florida had been so highly honored.

The recent expulsion of 47 students at the University of Florida was approved by the board, in the following resolution, which will be incorporated in the minutes:

"Be it resolved, By the Board of Control, in regular meeting assembled at Tallahassee, Fla., this 13th day of December, 1920, that the report of Dr. Albert A. Murphree, president of the University of Florida, on the investigation by himself and faculty, in the matter of hazing at the university, be approved.

"Be it further resolved, That the recent action of Dr. Albert A. Murphree, president of the University of Florida, and his faculty, in suspending the students found guilty of hazing, be and the same is hereby approved."

Your Income Tax Returns

The Latest Wrinkle in Nightmares Smoothed Out

Extensive plans for aiding taxpayers in filing their income tax returns for the year 1920 are being made by the Bureau of Internal Revenue. Revenue officers will visit every county in the United States to assist in making out the forms. The date of their arrival and the location of their offices will be announced through the press, or may be obtained on inquiry at offices of collectors of internal revenue and branch offices. The services of government experts heretofore offered to city experts will be continued.

Forms for filing 1920 returns of income tax will be sent by collectors to persons who last year filed a return. Failure to receive a form, however, does not relieve a person from his obligation to file a return within the time prescribed. Copies may be obtained from offices of collectors of internal revenue, branch offices, postoffices and banks, and are expected to be available on or before January 1st.

Revenue officers assigned to the work of assistant taxpayers also will be supplied with forms, concerning which, and the various items of income to be included, they will be prepared to answer any and all questions. It has been demonstrated however, that many questions may be eliminated of the taxpayer, before seeking the assistance of a revenue officer, will carefully study the instructions on the form.

The period for filing returns is from January 1st to March 15, 1921. The tax this year as last, may be paid in full at the time of filing the return or in four installments, the first of which is due on or before March 15th, the second on or before June 15th, the third on or before September 15th, and the fourth on or before December 15th. The first installment must accompany the filing of the return.

Persons whose individual net income for 1920 was $5000 and less should ask for Form 140-A. Those whose individual net income was in excess of $5000 should ask for Form 1040.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue is urging taxpayers not to delay in the filing of their returns. Merchants and business men are casting up their accounts for the calendar year 1920. With the facts and figures necessary to make a correct return fresh in their minds, the making out of a form soon after January 1st will be an easier task, the bureau points out than if delayed.

The requirements of the revenue act relating to returns for the year 1920 are the same as those for the year 1919. Every single person whose net income for 1920 was $1,000 or more and every married person whose net income was $2000 or more must file a return. The exemptions are $1000 for single persons and $2000 for married persons and heads of families, plus an additional exemption of $200 for each person dependent upon the taxpayer for chief support if such person is under 18 years of age or incapable of self support. A single person may claim an exemption of $2000 as the head of a family if he is the sole support of one or more relatives living in the same house with him, and if he exercises control over household affairs. Deductions from gross income to which the taxpayer is entitled in arriving at net income are fully explained in the instructions on the forms.

The bureau is emphasizing this year that the requirement to file a return rests solely upon a person's marital status and the amount of his or her net income for the year 1920. Single persons whose net income was $1000 or more and married persons whose net income was $2,000 or more must file a return regardless of whether their incomes are non-taxable by reason of their exemptions.

The normal tax rate for 1920 is 4 per cent on the first $4000 of net income above the exemption, and 18 per cent on the remaining net income. The surtax rate, which is computed without the benefit of the exemption, ranges from 1 per cent on the amount of net income between $5,000 and $6,000 to 65 per cent on the amount of net income in excess of $1,000,000.

For the information of taxpayers in filing their returns, there has been prepared by the Bureau of Internal Revenue a series of short articles on the income tax laws and 1920 regulations, the first of which will appear on January 3d. Errors heretofore made have been noted, and the taxpayer is told how this year they may be avoided.

COLLECTORS OF TAXES IN OCALA

TAX COLLECTORS OF FLORIDA HAVE GOOD MEETING AT OCALA

The Tax Collectors' Association of the State of Florida assembled in annual session in Ocala, Fla., December 14th and 15th, and was well attended.

Hon. J. Will Yon, State Auditor, was present by invitation and gave the tax collectors many valuable suggestions for the handling of their work; he expressed gratification at the good condition of the accounts of the tax collectors of the state and his appreciation of their co-operation with his department, he stated that the accounts of the various collectors are better kept and in better shape now than at any time in the history of the state. The State Auditor is arranging to install a bookkeeping machine in his office, and send each collector a statement of his accounts each month, which will be greatly appreciated by the collectors. As a matter of fact a resolution was passed two years ago by this association recommending that the State Auditor be given a sufficient number of assistants to enable him to make a thorough audit of each tax collector's account at least once a year and this was done by the last legislature.

Among matters of interest brought before this meeting was the question of a better revenue law, it being the belief of the tax collectors that those who have to administer and enforce the tax laws are in a position to make suggestions to our lawmakers in regard to improvements and changes that are badly needed; and a committee for this purpose was appointed, consisting of W. W. Stripling of Marion county, W. E. Martin of Orange county, Jno. D. Jinkins of Seminole county and W. G. Long of Lake county.

It was the unanimous opinion of this association that the time for the payment of licenses and taxes should not be changed, as the tax paper generally throughout the state receive their returns for citrus fruits, vegetables and farm products in the fall and spring, and at present they can pay their taxes at any time from November 1st to March 31st, or by paying the slight cost of advertising can take until the first of June before the land is sold for taxes, making seven months of the year in which taxes can be paid. Any change in these dates would be a grave error and would result in endless confusion and hardship on the part of the tax payer.

The tax collectors present expressed their unqualified approval of the action of President Murphree in his endeavor to stamp out the practice of hazing in the State University at Gainesville.

Resolutions of appreciation were adopted for the courtesies extended this association by the press of the state, the mayor and people of Ocala,

Dairies of Sanford Received Official Score Yesterday

SOME IMPROVEMENT

EVERY PLACE THAT SELLS MILK MUST SCORE 60 PER CENT TO GET A PERMIT

Pinehurst Dairy, P. M. Keely, owner, 95 per cent. Few better dairies anywhere. A credit to any city. G. W. Spencer Dairy, 75 per cent; very good and will be better. Mrs. R. L. Garrison's Dairy, 63 per cent; some improvement. Mrs. M. F. Barnes Dairy, 60 per cent; some improvement. Roseland Dairy, J. C. Staple, owner, 58 per cent. C. E. Henry's Dairy, 42 per cent; improvements being made.

The State Board of Health requires a percentage of 60 per cent before recommending issuing of permit to sell milk in the city. Mr. Osborne states very plainly that it makes no difference whether the dairy has one cow or several hundred, they all come under the same rulings of the State Board of Health. In order to sell milk, butter milk or butter, whether it be to private families, hotels or stores, a permit from the city clerk is necessary. Such permits not to be issued until the Dairy is scored at least 60 per cent. Mr. Osborne not wishing to put anyone out of business has suggested that a temporary permit be issued to those who are showing some disposition to put their dairies in first class sanitary condition. However after he returns, which will be in a few weeks, no one will be allowed to sell milk or other dairy products in the city unless their dairies come up to the required 60 per cent. All persons furnishing hotels or boarding houses, cafes, drug stores or private families with dairy products please take notice and be governed accordingly.

Mr. Osborne was highly pleased with the improvements some of our dairy owners had made since his last visit and says that there's no reason why they all can't get higher scores.

FLORIDA'S RATE CASE COMES UP AT WASHINGTON

J. C. Hearing Arguments Between State Bodies and Railroads Upon Freight.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—The interstate commerce commission continued its hearings today in the cases of Florida and Nebraska were first on the list and after arguments in these are completed those of Indiana, Ohio and Michigan will be heard. Representatives of the carriers and the state were heard yesterday in the Utah and Illinois appeals.

In their arguments the railroads claimed that failure of the state commissions to increase intrastate rates to correspond with interstate rates has caused them heavy loss. The states, on the other hand, argued that increased state rates were not justified and would be a burden on the public.

PARODIES ALWAYS IN ORDER

Omar Khayyam and the Ever-Delightful Pops Have by No Means Exhausted the List.

Does your memory go back to the time when everyone was writing parodies of the Edinburgh of Omar Khayyam? When it was considered very literary to know all about Omar, and when all the writers, both would-be and professional, were reducing the legendary quatrains to modern terms? The newspapers were full of "Omar's Epigrams" and quite a lot of them got into the magazines before the craze died down.

After that parodies sought other inspiration, but found no material that suited them quite so well, until a few years ago one of them chanced on the Edinburgh of Samuel Pepys. What a rich vein. The parodies went mad over it, and have been digging there ever since. Almost anybody can fill up a column with chronicles in the Pepys style, while the clever writer, by this means, can make himself entertaining. Some other original genius will soon take the place of Mr. Pepys in the regard of the copyists, for the popularity of the creative masters of literature is more or less changeable, dependent upon time or circumstances, while the work of the parodist goes on forever.—Chico State Journal.

British Warship Badges

The British admiralty has decided to provide every British warship in future with its own distinctive badge. These are being designed by Maj. Charles Faulkes, heraldic adviser to the admiralty, who has already invented 100 flags. Considerable ingenuity has been exercised, as the following examples will show: Venetian, red disc; Spanish, a sailing post; the sun, a chess knight; the Russian, a butterfly; Sesame, a key; Sheela, a wand; an eye; Venetian, a key; the Lord George, a Terzaghi, a key; Nile, head of Nubia; Trident, Britisher smothering a Hun. Each badge will be carved in wood and then cast in brass, colored, and fixed on the quarterdeck, as well as on either bow of the boat. Two plaques are to be used, the smaller one for the boats being about eight inches square, and the one for the quarterdeck about 18 inches square. Each badge is designed in some way to represent the name of the boat pictorially, or when that is impossible, embodying some device connected with its history. The designs will be used also on note paper, and probably on the brass mugs of guns, which are privately bought by officers of battleships.

MADE WAY INTO SACRED CITY

Englishman Claims to Be the Only Living European Who Has Set Foot in Holy Shehistan.

The Morocco correspondent of the London Times claims to be "almost with certainty" the only living European who has hitherto visited Shehistan, the mysterious "secret" Moroccan inland city which is officially stated to be occupied by a Spanish expeditionary force.

Shehistan, or more correctly Shehistan, he writes, is a small town of a few thousand inhabitants situated in the tribal land of the Beni Segel, about 40 miles to the south of Tetuan. The Times man says he visited it in Moorish disguise in 1888 and only escaped with difficulty.

He adds that the town is small, built along a sort of terrace on the high mountain side, and is renowned for its springs and streams. With the exception of its picturesque situation among mountains, its closeness and its surrounding gardens, Shehistan presents no very particular features.

Its inhabitants are poor. Their industries are the making of furniture in painted wood—brackets and tables—and the weaving of woolen stuffs. They are renowned for their meanness, and a native proverb states: "If you see a Muslim merchant from Fez weeping, it is only a Moor of Shehistan who could have got the better of him."

At Four-Forty

Theater orchestras throughout the country have fixed on a time standard for general use in all theaters. The A is timed to 4:40 o'clock, a second Louis Roth, manager of R. F. Keith's orchestra, called up a local piano tuner and asked him to go to Keith's to tune the piano.

"I wish you would give it immediate attention," Roth told the piano man. "Tune it at four-forty."

A day passed and the piano in the Keith pit remained untuned. Roth called up the man who took the job.

"You haven't touched our piano," Roth said a bit indignantly.

"Well, I was over there at 20 minutes to five yesterday afternoon and couldn't get in," was the excuse.

And then Roth explained what he meant by four-forty.—Indianapolis News.

The One You Have Been Waiting For

MOLLE

THREE - UNIT - MACHINE

Possesses every essential feature of larger, heavier and more costly typewriters. Three unit machine: base, carriage and action. Many troublesome parts eliminated.

The machine for both office and home. Does the work of any typewriter regardless of cost.

For foreign languages, especially equipped with from one to five dead keys—does not interfere with standard keyboard.

MOLLE

WHERE PRICE AND QUALITY MEET

And that must determine your choice of a typewriter. You have no place for the cheaply constructed machine nor will economy permit the outlay of an extravagant sum. Good business sense finds the solution in the MOLLE. The MOLLE incorporates every essential feature you find in any machine at any price. Yet it is unusually simple, both in construction and operation. Built in three units—base, carriage and action—many extra parts are eliminated. This means a saving in repairs and a bigger saving by keeping it on the job. The MOLLE lightest of touch, speediest of action, will do anything that a writing machine is called upon to do with the least amount of noise and effort.

TRICK HORSES POOR MOUNTS

Trained Animals Remember and Respond to Signals They Have Been Taught to Obey.

It is not always wise to teach a horse to play tricks, as is proved by a story told by an English army officer.

John Leech's inimitable circus horse that insisted on sitting down with his rider whenever he heard a band play was the prototype of a horse belonging to the officer who, in a weak moment had taught it to rear up and "salute" whenever he leaned forward to make a bow.

It was all very pretty when the officer was out riding and met any lady of his acquaintance, but it became a nuisance when he was out pig sticking in India. He would lean forward to meet the rush of a charging boar with his spear—up would go the beast on end just at the moment when the man's safety depended on his taking a true and deadly aim with his spear point. The consequence was that the animal's legs showed many scars from boars' tusks, and he was lucky that he did not end his career with his body ripped open.

The officer had, too, at one time a fine but somewhat nervous charger. One day on a parade the mount suddenly gave way with the officer and quietly lay down. The rider thought for a moment he was ill, but on rousing him he immediately sprang to his feet again, quite fit and well. A week or so later when riding with a friend they stopped for a moment to admire the view, when down the horse went. It was evident to the officer that he had been trained to lie down at a given signal, but the man never could discover for the life of him what that signal was.

HAD NEWS OF IMPORTANCE

But Tompkins, Habitually Polite, Hesitated to Address Anyone but the Head of the Firm.

Tompkins was of a nervous disposition; he was somewhat slow and hesitating in time of emergency.

When he entered an office one day and found a stranger there, instead of the man he wanted, he somewhat lost himself.

"Oh, I beg your pardon!" he began "but—are you Mr. Brown, the head of this firm?"

"No; I regret to say I'm not."
"I'm sorry, very sorry indeed," went on Tompkins. "I had something I rather wanted to tell him. Do you think he'll be in soon?"

"I'm afraid not. Is there anything I can do for you?"
"Er—yes, perhaps—er—perhaps you'll do as well as Mr. Brown. May I ask your name?"

"Certainly." And the stranger gave it.
"Delighted to meet you," said Tompkins.

"And now, what can I do for you, sir?" asked the new-found friend.

"Oh, it's a very small matter—out of the slightest consequence—er, that is, I came to tell the head of the firm that the building is on fire!"—Los Angeles Times.

Blood Infusion.
In cases where new blood is required to fill the depleted veins of a human being, it is not practicable to use for the purpose the vital fluid of a dog or any other animal, because it would act as a poison, destroying life instead of saving it.

This is for the reason that the blood of a lower animal is not chemically the same as that of a man. The fact does not seem very surprising, but the recent discovery that the various races of mankind differ in respect to the chemical make-up of their blood is undeniably curious.

Experience has proved that it will not do to introduce the blood of a negro into the veins of a white man or vice versa. And the same remark applies to the Mongol, the Malay and the American Indian. In any such cases a chemical reaction follows which is injurious.

RABBIT'S INSTINCT AT FAULT

Probably Would Have Died in Trap From Which It Might Have Escaped With Ease.

I have seen a bird tethered to its breeding place—its feet held fast by the hairs which lined its nest—but, until the other day I had never known or heard of a rabbit being caught in a snare of its own devising, writes an observer of nature. In an old pasture in Middle Teviotdale, where the grass grows rank beside the old Hawthorn hedge which fences the field, a rabbit was seen to be struggling as if striving to escape from a snare. On going up to the spot, I found that the hind legs of the rabbit were firmly bound together with "ropes" of growing grass. Apparently the little captive had been rolling itself among the grass, and, in the process, had unwittingly woven its own bonds. The rabbit had evidently been a prisoner for some days, being thin in body and feeble from the effects of its fruitless struggles for liberty, while the ground around the tufts of grass to which it was fastened was closely cropped, though seemingly instinct had never suggested that it might have eaten away its "chains."—The Weekly Scotsman.

Wall of Dragons of Peking.

The dragon screen of Peking is hidden behind a hillock in the winter palace grounds. It is a wall perhaps 20 feet high and 100 long, faced completely with tile cast to represent nine large-size dragons in bas relief, of various colors—yellow, purple, buff, maroon, orange—dancing gayly above emerald billows against a pale blue sky. Most sculptured Chinese dragons are lifeless, angular beasts; but here there is an almost un-Chinese vigor and audacity in the spring and twist of the lithe bodies. They leap, whirl, lunge, and writhe until the spectator steps back, half afraid that they will come tumbling off the screen, striking at the unwary with their sturdy claws. There are, I believe, critics who teach that plastic art should never undertake to portray moments of activity. If this be correct, the dragons stand condemned; but if the sculptor may ever rightly give us life in its vivid, moving moments, here is a masterpiece.—Exchange.

British Exiles in Holland.

"On this spot lived, taught and died John Robinson, 1611-1625"—so reads the inscription on a simple plate in the wall of a picturesque little house in the old town of Leyden. Here every year many Americans and English people come to see the spot where lived not only John Robinson, William Bradford, William Brewster, and other men educated at Cambridge, but also many other British exiles mostly from the triangle between the rivers Airo and Trent and Humber. They had refused to take their religion from the English court, and had been driven from their homes into the Dutch republic, where conscience was free. Most of them stayed 12 years in Holland and then sailed in the Speedwell from Delfshaven to Plymouth, where they joined other British exiles in the Mayflower August 1, 1620.

Some weather again.

Looks good for Christmas trade.

The progressive Sanford merchants are bringing more people here this season than ever before.

Sanford looks mighty good to the strangers in our midst right now. This city is some lively burg and we should keep it such.

The greatest thing in our lives today is advertising. This may sound like shop talk but we want to impress it upon our readers as well as our merchants.

You never saw a live town that did not have a live paper filled with advertising and you never saw a live town that was not made live and kept alive by the merchants putting on special sales and bringing in the business.

Sanford stores never looked more cheerful and Sanford merchants never looked more cheerful. There is nothing but optimism in this old town and we can look ahead to a fine season despite the many rumors that reach us from other sections of the country.

The cold wave is bringing the new people here and we should get busy right after the holidays and build houses, build shacks, build tents, build anything and everything to take care of the thousands that are writing here every day wanting accommodations. We have many more hotels than ever before but they are filling up rapidly and every family does not want to live in a hotel no matter how nice they may be. We need hundreds of new houses and we need them this season.

EAST SANFORD

Rev. W. T. Rancher will be here from Apopka Sunday and preach afternoon and evening at Moore's Station church.

The Moore's Station Christmas tree and entertainment will be Monday evening, December 27th. A special effort has been made by those in charge of the arrangements that each child in this community shall receive something from the tree whether members of the Sunday school or not. A free will contribution was asked for last Sunday and was responded to most generously for which the committee is truly thankful.

EFFECT OF MIND ON BODY

Worry, Doubt, Fear and Apprehension Make the Physical Organism Susceptible to Disease.

Since all of the cells of the body are more or less intelligent and we think not only with the brain but with the entire physical organism, we can readily see that our thoughts and convictions must affect, according to their nature, all of these cells. We can think health into them or we can think disease.

What have you been telling these little cell minds in your body, my friend? Have you been filling them with worry and anxiety regarding your health, with fear, with dread, with apprehension? Have you been filling them with doubts, with uncertainties, doubt of your ability, lack of faith, lack of self-confidence? When they are apparently sick, perhaps the victims of your negative thoughts, your discouraging moods, your despondency, are you going to think into them more despondency, more discouragement, more hopelessness, or are you going to stimulate them with hope, faith, confidence, expectancy of better things to come?—Are you going to radiate health into them, optimism, joy?—Orison Swett Marden, in Chicago Daily News.

Holland's Day of State.

Although the Dutch are very democratic they still cling to the pagantry that surrounds the movements of their queen on days of state. A case in point being the opening day of their parliament, which is quaintly ceremonious. The queen rides in a gilded carriage through the streets of The Hague to the old Knights' hall in Parliament square, and with crown on her head and her gold-braided prince consort at her side sits on the throne. At this ceremony the Dutch cabinet ministers are compelled by tradition to wear giddy uniforms resembling an old-time minstrel man in an admiral's hat. After this one day of pomp the ministers and members of parliament put on their working clothes and get down to business, while the queen, who prides herself on being a typical Dutch woman with domestic tastes, lays her crown aside for another year.

Just Where He Had Left It.

Uncle Billy is getting old and absent-minded. One day Aunt Sally, his wife, noticed that he was rummaging round from room to room. Presently he called to her from the kitchen. "Sally, have you seen my pipe?" "No, Billy," she answered. "Can't you find it?" "No, I can't," he replied rather crossly. "I've looked upstairs and all over, and I can't find it." "Didn't you leave it in the bathroom?" asked Aunt Sally. "No, I didn't. I've looked there. Come and look yourself." As Aunt Sally laid down her paper she heard him laugh. "Have you found it, Bill?" she asked. "Yes," he replied. "It was in my mouth."—Youth's Companion.

A Miner of Bullets.

F. H. Lamley, an ore specialist, is removing lead and copper-nickel from the hill back of the target range at Camp Lewis, near Tacoma, Wash. By means of a "jig" operated by water power, he shakes the heavy metal from the earth which he is excavating. In three months' time, he expects to get 100 tons of metal valued approximately at $200 a ton, and having cleaned up at Camp Lewis, he will take his apparatus to other camp cities. All of the metal he mines was shot into the hillside by the boys of Uncle Sam's army two years ago. Lamley works on a commission basis. "First man to mine a target range," says Lamley of himself.—Leslie's Weekly.

Two bond issues for the city of Key West, one of $100,000 for street paving and another of $50,000 for building and improving sidewalks, are reported as successfully sold by the board of public works of this city.

Mrs. White and children, of Chicago, who have been stopping at the Valdez Hotel for the past week left today for Mt. Dora where they will spend the remainder of the season.

If any Sanford citizens are going to neighboring cities in the next few days they should take some advertising for the Million Dollar Band and get the people to come here Christmas week.

A merry party of Eustis and Tallahassee people were here today in the person of Mr and Mrs. Willis Powell and daughter Maxine and Mrs. Williams. Willis Powell is the live wire secretary of the Lake County Chamber of Commerce and keeps his county on the map in large letters. Mrs. Williams is the wife of Secretary Williams of the Eustis Board of Trade.

WEATHER AND CROP CONDITIONS IN FLORIDA FOR THE WEEK ENDING DECEMBER 14.

Temperature: Temperatures were generally equable in most of the peninsula, being normal at all regular stations, except 2 degrees above normal at Key West. Freezing occurred in the extreme northern and western counties on several days and rather heavy frost in the upper portion of the north-central portion.

Precipitation: The rainfall was generally deficient, although it was about normal in the extreme western portion of the section; more moisture is needed in some localities of the South. Rainfall on Monday probably covered the extreme northern counties—being unfavorable on some low lands.

Condition of Crops: The weather of the week, as a whole, was generally favorable for citrus fruits, celery, lettuce, cabbage, strawberries and oats. Some cane was planted, and the planting of the oat crop is not finished in some localities. The fall bean crop has been shipped; it was very satisfactory. Tomatoes in small quantities are being shipped from the south. The planting of spring truck crops is under way. Small quantities of strawberries will be available for holiday markets. The cane crop has been banked and syrup making is largely completed. Ranges are in fair condition in the peninsula. The pecan crop has been mostly harvested; it is short—due, it is believed, to the cloudy, rainy weather during the spring months.
