WARREN'S DRAFT OF PLATFORM IS FINISHED TODAY

Coolidge Telephones His Views On Foreign Relations Plank and Changes Are Made Accordingly

CLEVELAND, June 10.—A tentative draft of the 1924 platform of the Republican party was completed today after a group of members of the resolutions committee labored into early morning hours and obtained views of Coolidge by telephone on certain planks.

After hours of conference platform builders, under the chairmanship of Charles B. Warren, made some changes in suggested planks brought here by Secretary Slemph with Coolidge's sanction. The foreign relations provision was materially revised and it is understood it was upon this subject particularly that the executive was consulted by long distance telephone.

At the conclusion of the hearing today, the resolutions committee, composed of one member from each of the states and territories, will begin whipping the platform into final shape.

Major Pronouncement. These developments pointed to a trend of thought which it was considered probable by many leaders to lead to presentation of a platform containing the following major pronouncements:

La Follette Challenges Convention To Draw Platform Including Only Planks of Progressive Principles

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Senator La Follette Monday night, at the eve of the Republican National Convention, threw down a fighting challenge to the party gathered at Cleveland, and told his supporters they represented the "mass of the common people of the country."

"It is my express wish that in the Republican National Convention, held at Cleveland, Ohio, on June 16-17-18, 1924, the progressive planks of the platform be placed in nomination as a presidential candidate, but I urge a war without quarter for its 'platform of progressive principles.'"

The Wisconsin senator addressed his communication to John J. Blaine, chairman of the Wisconsin delegation at Cleveland, who was asked to present it to the individual delegates.

"You are aware, of course," he said, "that while the voters of Wisconsin have done me the honor of electing delegates who have cast their votes for me as candidate for the Republican nomination for president every four years since 1902, I have not in fact, been a candidate since 1916, and my name has not, since that year, been formally presented to a Republican National Convention."

"Although my name was not filed in presidential primaries in Wisconsin or elsewhere, nevertheless, the voters of Wisconsin in the recent primaries instructed 23 of the 24 delegates to cast their votes for me in the nomination of a candidate for president. One delegate was pledged to President Coolidge. 'Doesn't Want Name Up' 'It is my express wish that in the Republican National Convention, held at Cleveland, Ohio, on June 16-17-18, 1924, the progressive planks of the platform be placed in nomination as a presidential candidate, but I urge a war without quarter for its 'platform of progressive principles.'"

SANFORD MAN IS INJURED IN TRAIN WRECK MONDAY

Engine and Two Cars Jump Track When Switch Is Split Near Kissimmee—Mail Clerk Is Seriously Injured

Engineer R. E. Tolar, resident of this city and employee of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company, was seriously injured when southbound train No. 85's engine, mail car and colored coach left the rails at Campbell's, four miles south of Kissimmee, Monday night at 8:30 o'clock.

J. S. Davis, railway mail clerk, was probably fatally injured when he suffered a broken back. He was taken to the Orange General Hospital at Orlando. He refused to leave the hospital, however, until he had been released, but he was resting easily last night but the extent of his injuries had not been determined.

None of the passengers were hurt and it is said that those in the rear coaches did not know that anything serious had happened. Many of them merely thought that the train had stopped suddenly for some unaccountable reason. The negro fireman was uninjured.

Mr. Tolar was brought to the Kernal Loughlin Hospital here and stated that he remembers when the engine jumped the track and that he put on the air brakes. The next thing he remembers is when he regained consciousness at Kissimmee. On account of his being unconscious for some time and having his right arm cut and fractured, he was thought at first that perhaps his skull was fractured or that there was a concussion of the brain on that side. Several stitches were taken on his head because of bad cuts.

After a careful examination by Dr. J. N. Tolar and Dr. R. E. Stevens and the taking of several X-ray pictures it was found, however, that there were no bones broken and that his head had escaped serious injury. Mr. Tolar sustained a bad bruise on his right shoulder and also a fractured rib. It was stated that he would sell for $20,000. This the commissioners turned down. Later he is said to have been willing to sell for $11,000 if the contract did not call for Continued on page 8.

Commission Makes Plans To Commence Work On Bulkhead

Engineer Is Asked To Draw Plans And To Make Estimate of the Cost of Project

Legal Status of Project Clear

Attorney De Cottes Sees No Obstacles In Way of Project

Definite action to proceed at once with plans for the construction of the proposed bulkhead system of Lake Monroe within the city limits was taken Monday afternoon by the City Commission at its regular meeting when that body requested City Engineer Fred T. Williams to prepare the plans and specifications together with a preliminary estimate of the cost of the work.

The project, one of the most important ever undertaken by the city and regarded by many as the one development project which will mean most to the city's advancement, will cost between $700,000 and $800,000, according to an estimate which has been placed by Mr. Williams. This will be for the construction of approximately two and three-quarters miles of seawall together with the filling in and reclamation of many acres of land.

The bulkhead system has been advocated for some time and especially since the city of Lake Monroe was completed several years ago. Since that time a map showing the proposed bulkhead has been drawn by Engineer Williams.

Decision to proceed with the project was made by the commission after it had been urged by the Chamber of Commerce to do so and after it had disposed of long issues which contemplated the construction of the three utility plants. The commission, according to Mr. Williams, was met by the Chamber of Commerce on Monday afternoon when the city should proceed with the project at once.

According to City Attorney George A. DeCottes there will be no legal objections in the way of the project. He stated that the completion of plans and specifications by the engineer together with the estimated costs and preliminary assessment roll, should proceed shortly thereafter. After these things have been completed by the engineer, DeCottes will hold them in the same way as those for paving streets and there are no objections offered, the commission will then proceed to advertise for bids on the work.

Just when the engineer will be finished with his plans, etc., is not known and he could not say definitely this morning but it is believed that it will take some time to get all that data in hand. The legal status of the whole project will then be passed upon by the city attorney who will be required to go through the process of having the bonds validated, he stated.

Actual work on the project is likely not to commence for two or three months yet but when it does begin, it will be pushed as much as possible by the assurance of the City Commission, according to Mayor Lake, who further stated this morning that the commission has not felt heretofore as if it had the time to devote to the matter when it was busy engaged with handling the $620,000 bond issue for utility plants and supervising the extensive street paving program which has been in progress.

North Carolinians Give McLean Lead In Governor's Race

RALEIGH, N. C., June 9.—With Angus W. McLean of Lumberton leading Josiah W. Bailey of Raleigh by a steadily mounting majority, that at a late hour had reached 48,671 with 711 of the state's 1,716 precincts still unreported, interest in North Carolina Monday turned to four races in which there was a possibility that a second primary might be held.

Returns from all except the race for governor have been somewhat meagre and Sunday all returns came in slowly. A total of 1,008 precincts had been reported for governor Sunday night with about half that number reported in the other races.

McLean's Big Lead
For governor the precincts reported and tabulated give McLean, former assistant secretary of the treasury and chairman of the war finance corporation, 104,202 votes to 55,531 for Bailey.

For commissioner of agriculture at the same hour 537 precincts had been reported and tabulated. W. S. Graham, who recently was appointed to the position when his father died, was leading with a total of 32,608 to 27,657 for Fred P. Latham and 11,729 for T. B. Parker. Unless one candidate polls a majority of the vote there must be a second primary within the next two weeks in this race.

One of the features of the primary of Saturday was the very heavy vote, the ballots tabulated for governor up to this time having far exceeded the total number cast four years ago in the second primary when Governor Cameron Morrison was nominated. This is attributed by political observers here to the fact that women for the first time voted in the primary Saturday.

agreements, and the platform committee is expected to lean on him for the Mexican plank.

Other Planks
Other planks, as previously forecast, will deal with tax reduction and progress in funding the debts of foreign nations to the United States.

A plank on industrial relations is expected to affirm the principle of collective bargaining and the right of the individual to labor.

A plank which might cover the Ku Klux Klan issue, while probably not named, is causing a good deal of discussion.

Some of the expression of opposition to class or racial secret organizations is being proposed.

A wet or dry plank, if there be one, will not be whipped into shape without a good deal of discussion between and dry planks will be submitted to the platform committee and may be urged on the floor of the convention. There is also a proposal to merely pledge the party to enforcement and respect of all laws.

NEW MINISTRY IS SLATED TO CRUMBLE SOON

The message in conclusion will say that under these conditions the president is confronted with a direct violation of the constitution and will ask both chambers to take position unequivocally as to whether they intend to ratify such a dangerous precedent.

Radical Socialist Stand
The members of the radical and socialist parties at a special session of the chamber Sunday afternoon appeared loath to place themselves on record as to the unseating of the president, but voted a motion that "they would have nothing to do with the Marsal cabinet if it presented itself before the chamber." The chamber adjourned until 6 o'clock Monday.

The prospective premier pursued his consultations Sunday evening calling on M. Poincare, de Selves and Doumergue. He then returned to the Elysee to confer with M. Millerand, telling the president that he would present his new ministers to him Monday afternoon.

Hunt's Washington Letter

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The responsibilities of a president often run counter to the desires of fathers.

When John Coolidge, eldest son of President and Mrs. Coolidge, was graduated from Mercersburg Academy the other day, it was not unusual that father Coolidge wanted to be present.

That Congress had just passed up to him a tax bill which required most careful study. A jam of other just-minute legislation was being crowded into the congressional mill in an effort to clear the way for an adjournment prior to the convention.

His duties as a president run counter to his desires as a parent. Duty won. Calvin Coolidge stuck to his desk in the executive offices. But the official restraint did not extend to Mrs. Coolidge. She went to Mercersburg.

Next fall John will follow the footsteps of his father to Amherst.

THE three "Busy B's" of the Cleveland convention will be Burton, Butler and Burton.

Coolidge's choice of aides for both the convention and the campaign has caused punters to work overtime in an effort to frame some trick phrase about "Presidential Bess."

The net result has been the rather weak suggestion that "Coolidge expects his B's to bring home the honey," and the hope that his own bees won't "sting him."

In order, Coolidge's "Busy B's" are: Theodore Burton, of Cleveland, temporary chairman and keynote speaker; William M. Butler, Boston, to head Republican National Committee and manage campaign; and Marion Lefroy Burton, Ann Arbor, Mich., president of the University of Michigan, to place Coolidge in nomination.

The latter Burton's selection—as in fact were all three—was a personal selection by the president. Burton was president of Smith College at Northampton, Mass., when Cal Coolidge was mayor of that town.

THE accession of William M. Butler to the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee will be but the first step in a general overhauling of the personnel of the campaign machine.

Fred Upham, of Chicago, who has been U. S. J. national treasurer for many years, probably will follow Adams to the side lines. The first most mentioned as his probable successor is Frank W. Stearns, Boston merchant, Coolidge's closest personal friend and adviser.

Politically, an objection is found in that his selection would make the structure too heavy with Massachusetts timber. Should this reason cause him to be passed over, as having any official connection with the Coolidge cause, the suit remains, nevertheless, as the man closest of all to Coolidge and with the Coolidge cause closest to his heart.

CHICAGO lost the Republican convention, which it had begun to feel could be held nowhere else, but it will house the Republican national headquarters during the campaign.

Chairman-to-be Butler already has reserved spacious quarters in the Congress Hotel, and the suit on the matter, and west, where the fiercest fighting of the campaign will be waged, will be directed from the Windy City. Butler will go directly to Chicago from Cleveland to begin the placing of his batteries.

LAST-MINUTE favorites in the G. O. P. vice presidential handicap are Lowden of Illinois, Borah of Idaho, and California's Hoover of Iowa and California.

Neither Borah nor Hoover want it, but both are being lobbied by suggestions that whoever gets it will fall heir to the crown in 1928. However, there's no method of having that guarantee underwritten.

Noted Group Moves to Establish International Relations School; To Investigate World Affairs

DR. JOHN H. FINLEY JOHN W. DAVIS GEORGE W. WICKERSHAM

A graduate school of international relations will probably be established in this country as the result of a nationwide movement initiated by a distinguished group of educators, publicists, lawyers and men who have held high public office in the nation's service.

While the proposed school will provide training for men who wish to enter public life or the diplomatic service, its other important function will be one of research and investigation with publication of results. In scope it will embrace five elemental subjects, including fundamental bases of international relations, history of international relations, international law, diplomatic practice and procedure and international organizations.

Such a school, he said, would be of especial value to young men who are anxious to enter public life or the diplomatic service. The possibilities of research and publication of results would be of tremendous value to the nation and should prove of world benefit.

Prominently identified with the movement, the purpose of which is to promote greater understanding and knowledge of international life, are John W. Davis, successor to the late Walter Hines Page as Ambassador to Great Britain; George W. Wickersham, Attorney General under President Taft; and Dr. John H. Finley, of the New York Times.

In outlining the purpose of the school at a recent conference in New York to determine the need for and possibilities of establishing such an institution, Dr. John H. Finley pointed to the fact that while many of our universities have chairs of international law, and teach economics, history and government, there is no oppor-ty provided for a comprehensive course of instruction and training in the fundamental facts of international relations. "Such a school," he said, "would be of especial value to young men who are anxious to enter public life or the diplomatic service. The possibilities of research and publication of results would be of tremendous value to the nation and should prove of world benefit."

President Coolidge delivered the commencement address at Howard University, an institution maintained for negroes.

Red Cross Helping Homeless People Tornado's Path

The general situation in Mississippi following the tornado of May 28 is proving much worse than was at first thought, according to reports received from the corps of Red Cross disaster relief workers in the stricken areas. Thirty new cases of damages and injuries were reported to the Southern Division Headquarters by the Summit committee, today.

Disaster relief headquarters have been established by the Red Cross at Collins, McComb and Johnson Station. In addition to the personnel made available for relief work, tents and cots and other supplies worth $7,000 have been made last week an additional check for $1,500 was sent to J. B. Alford, chairman of the Red Cross committee. Expenses of administration are paid by the Red Cross out of a separate allotment from national headquarters, so that every cent collected for the relief of the suffering will be used for that purpose.

Additional workers are being rushed to McComb and Collins. Mrs. R. S. Butler, field representative for Mississippi who is at work at Johnson Station and McComb, has estimated that approximately $12,000 will be needed in Pike county and $215,000 in Covington. Additional reports of damage and injuries in remote localities are coming in daily to Red Cross headquarters. The difficulty of rapid transportation and communication has made it almost impossible to make an accurate survey during the emergency relief period.

The members of the disaster corps have been working day and night since they arrived on the ground a few hours after the tornado struck. All requests for tents and cots were met immediately and local committees organized to facilitate the collecting of the relief fund, and the necessary sum for permanent rehabilitation work.

Vacation Perils Are Vanishing As Pleasure Seekers Observe Health and Safety Precautions

July, August and September are the months when most people plan to take their vacations, and they are not only the most healthful months in the year, but they are the months which for some years past have shown the greatest decline in mortality. Everyone wants to do happy, but nobody enjoys a vacation. Fortunately vacations are not as perilous as they used to be, and by the exercise of a little forethought and prudence the few lurking dangers can usually be avoided.

Summer drownings are not as numerous as formerly. In spite of the fact that more persons are exposed to risk. The increased knowledge of swimming, the improved methods of rescue work and a more general understanding of resuscitation methods, probably accounts for the decline. Back in 1914, the mortality tables of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company show that ten out of every 100,000 of its industrial policyholders met death by drowning. Last year it ran less than seven in July, 1921, the company was paying claims at the rate of nine deaths by drowning daily. Last July the average was almost two less. Accidental drowning is still a serious vacation peril, but most deaths from this cause are preventable ones and the exercise of extreme care on the part of both swimmers and non-swimmers can not be too strongly urged.

The enforcement of better sanitary regulations at summer resorts, particularly as they relate to the water supply and to the disposal of wastes, has tended to reduce the danger from typhoid fever and other intestinal diseases. Good food, fresh air and good water are three prime requisites of any vacation. Fresh air is usually taken for granted, but one cannot be too careful in assuring himself that the resort selected has a dependably pure water supply and that the food supply is everything that it ought to be. Health departments have done good work in improving the standards of milk dealers and it is worth while to be an easy task to find a place where even the baby will thrive, on the va-vacation det. It is largely because some people are willing to take chance in summer and drink water from polluted sources, or milk not rigidly maintained, that vacation time is usually followed by a sad aftermath of typhoid fever cases in the early fall months. Sunstroke and heat prostration are summer perils rather than vacation dangers. Vacationists can usually play safe by playing a little less strenuously when the mercury climbs to the top of the tube.

Urges Party Rally to Support Calvin Coolidge

 any tinkering with the federal system; advocated an anti-party policy of conservation of the franchise; and a great of resources needed for its future protection for same regulation of government control of the party, and expressed the hope that the greatest possible opportunity and to the widest field of activity in the sphere.
 "Our foreign relations are of an importance never before," Mr. Burton declared, "by no means lacking in what is happening in the world nor are we to co-operate in the most way with less fortunate nations, and this is in the interest of the American people," he added, "So the league remains a political party, inevitably dominated by the nations of Europe, and the tradition of age-long membership is not for should be felt, however, in the world court."
 Harding-Hughes reservation, he said: "I refer to the amendments by the Republican majority in the senate foreign relations but asserted that the Hughes proposals were at safeguards and reservation do not affect the great of the court."
 of States to aid and assist other nations, the chair declared that America should take the lead in another occasion appeared suitable in the European reparations "whenever the various can agree, whenever they look to the future than to the past, America's given without stint and in the way of loans for rehabilitation and development notice of indications of a party movement, Mr. Burton tendency in that direction wherever parliamentarism existed. The effect, is "inevitably demoralizing, involving failure in constructive policies and oftentimes control by a minority or combination of minorities." Orderly and effective parliamentary government demands that the people divide into parties, he asserted, adding that "the strength and usefulness of the Republican party must depend on the maintenance of enduring principles in the advocacy of which triumph can only be secured by party solidarity and an organization whose members unite in closest formation and do battle to every foe."

 Turning to the recent congressional investigations, Mr. Burton said he "must enter a solemn protest against the impression that there is widespread corruption in the government at Washington" although "there have been exposed to the scorn of the country instances of bribery and dishonesty on the part of public officials, and of cupidity and over-reaching on the part of those who are ready to use their opportunity to debauch those in office."
 "The vast majority of public officials, from the highest in the land to the humblest clerk in any department, are working honestly and faithfully for the public good," he added. "It is time to call a halt upon indiscriminate scandal-mongering, which is largely designed to insult the farmers, and to undermine the patriotism of the American people."
 The chairman declared the Republican party stood "now as always for law enforcement" and against "hasty changes in existing laws and regulations."
 He pointed to a long list of legislative and executive acts designed to aid the farmers. He told of the improvement in employment and the benefit resulting to labor, of the success that attended the efforts of President Harding to obtain abandonment of the twelve-hour day in the steel industry, and of the restrictions placed upon immigration, declaring that "limitation and selection must be the order of the day."
 Establishment of peace with Germany and the other former enemy powers also was listed as a Republican accomplishment together with reduction of taxes, enactment of a tariff law "based upon the fundamental idea that our labor and enterprise should not be handicapped by differences between foreign and domestic costs; passage of act for the funding of foreign debts and the funding of the British and other indebtedness; reduction in the public debt, and readjustment of freight rates."
 "The past at least is secure," he concluded. "In the future there is no lamp to guide so safe as that of experience and history, and the people will surely repose their trust in those principles and in that party organization which has played so prominent a part in the upbuilding of the nation and in the prosperity and happiness of all its citizens."

COOLIDGE GIVES TALK ON LOYALTY AT GEORGETOWN

Delivers Commencement Address at Famous University Monday—Says Students to Get Warm Welcome
 WASHINGTON, June 10.—Loyalty based on a reverence for constituted authority was urged by President Coolidge Monday as the need of the country from its educated men and women.
 Speaking at the annual commencement exercises of Georgetown University here, the President said there must be "loyalty to the family, loyalty to the various civic organizations of society, loyalty to the government, which means first of all the obedience of its laws, and loyalty to religion."
 Warmer Welcome
 Mr. Coolidge expressed the belief that the college graduates of this year "will find the world ready to give them a warmer welcome, a larger share in its tasks than ever before." He warned, however, that a reputation perhaps "a bit cold" awaits those who insist on "tall and stiff collars as part of the working uniform—whether such collars are of the intellectual type for the mind, or the linen type for the neck."
 There is little room, the President said, for those who are "too nice to work."
 "It may be that our educational methods are not so far perfected as to give us full returns on all our investments in them. No doubt some expensive college educations are invested in people incapable of making them return a going rate of interest. But that need not greatly worry us. The world keeps on increasing its wealth despite a deal of bad investments and sheer waste."
 Most Engrossing Epoch
 "The young people who this year step out of college into the world of affairs will be participants in a most engrossing epoch of history. Men and women are in demand who can prove themselves capable of playing in a big and useful way the different parts. There will not be applause or recognition for all—not even for all who do their part well."
 "The advancement of intelligence has been marked by a continual elimination of amelioration of the more undesirable tasks. Just about the time when it is found that there is a shortage of workers willing to do unpleasant things, somebody with a trained intelligence discovers a process or invents a machine that performs the tasks more efficiently, or makes its performance unnecessary. This has happened so many times that it seems safe to assume it will keep on happening.
 "If there remains some undesirable tasks that neither science nor invention can eliminate, a more productive society will at least be able to pay more liberally—in fact, is now doing so—and thus get them done."

Canada Organizes Eight Health Centers For Child Welfare After Demonstration Reduces Mortality

That the Province of Quebec has appropriated $500,000 for the establishment of eight health centers through the Province to wage a war on tuberculosis and infant mortality, as a result of a demonstration conducted by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company at Theford Mines, Que., is disclosed in a letter from the Prime Minister of Quebec, Hon. L. A. Taschereau, to Haley Fiske, president of the Metropolitan. The demonstration at Theford Mines, covering two years, brought a reduction in infant mortality rates from 338 in each 1,000 births in the year 1920 to 73.3 in each 1,000 births in the year 1923; with the death rates still showing a decrease.
 The demonstration was actually begun in May, 1921, and religious authorities, municipal officers and the mining company co-operated with the Metropolitan forces. At the outset the community voted $700 and the rent of the health center, but the end of the first year brought an increase from the council, and now the community of Theford Mines has been able to take over the center as a community project and will support it, except for the salary of two nurses which will be continued by the Metropolitan for six months.
 Under the Provincial plans, four of the centers will be in the region of Quebec and four in the Montreal region, and in addition to infant welfare they will seek to combat and prevent tuberculosis, it is announced.
 Methods used by the Maternity Center Association in New York City were followed by the four nurses connected with the Theford Mines demonstration, and lessons in mothercraft and baby welfare were given to the mothers according to the best methods used here. Sick babies were visited, in cooperation with local physicians, and a constant campaign of education brought the demonstration such fame that mothers bring their babies from places from five to fifty miles for advice and help.

PROBES WILL BE PRESSED DURING SUMMER MONTHS

Over a Dozen Congressional Investigations Will Be Conducted Through Summer Into Many Subjects
 WASHINGTON, June 10.—More than a dozen congressional investigations embracing a wide range of subjects will go on during the summer. During its closing hours the senate authorized inquiries into losses formerly incurred as the result of government price-fixing during the war; the war finance corporation; Northern Pacific land grants; campaign expenditures and the tri-county irrigation project in Nebraska.
 The house sanctioned investigations by members of the judiciary into charges against Federal Judge Baker of the northern district of West Virginia and by the veterans' committee into hospitals and soldiers' and sailors' homes.
 Despite the inability of Chairman Brookhart to press a resolution in the senate Saturday to enable his committee to continue its inquiry into the department of justice, Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, prosecutor, announced that a way would be found to continue at least part of the contemplated program. Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, who is fathering a general investigation into the internal revenue bureau, with prohibition enforcement as its feature, will meet with his colleagues on the committee on June 17 to determine procedure.
 While the sub-committee investigating the Mayfield election contest announced that the Texas senator was entitled to his seat, a dissent by his opponent's counsel will be submitted and, if warranted, further hearings will be held. Senator Heflin, Democrat, plans to press his inquiry into charges of fraudulent sale of lands in the lower Rio Grande valley of Texas.
 For the present, at least, senate investigations into naval oil leases propaganda affecting legislation, and that having Russian recognition as its sphere are at a standstill and no plans have been announced for carrying them forward during the summer. The inquiry into fake diploma mills has definitely ended, no formal report being submitted, but two bills to curb their activities resulted from the inquiry.
 The house committee looking into shipping board affairs will sail for a six-weeks tour of Europe July 4. A sub-committee of the house judiciary committee will examine into bankruptcy laws with a view to recommending remedial legislation during the summer. After July 7, the house committee investigating the aircraft situation is scheduled to convene and that Looking into charges of government bond duplications will meet at an early date. Indian affairs in Oklahoma will get an airing before a house committee probably about September. The investigation into charges against Representative Langley, Republican, Kentucky, has closed for the present.

Cancer Cure Assured By Canadian Doctor

PHILADELPHIA, June 10.—The North American said Monday in an article withheld from publication for 15 months "in the interest of science," that the cause of cancer has been discovered; and treatment for it which though still in experimental stages, is producing remarkable results.
 The discoverer is Dr. L. J. Gibber, a native of Toronto, Canada, who, according to the article, has established scientifically that the disease is due to a micro-organism, and who has located the germ and proved by the conclusive laboratory test known as the "Koch cycle" its part as the causative factor.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY. POWER OF THE WORD: For the word of God is quick and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart. Hebrews 4:12.

THE ROAD. The road it slips between the hills. And wanders up and down; It lides past the country store, It huries through the town. Its shining wheel-ruts cross the creek. Beneath the gum-trees tall; It travels far through many lands, Yet never moves at all.

I would that a road might be, And like the road could roam— From town to town, from sea to sea— Yet always stay at home.

To help them all upon their way, Alog my shining track, The farmer with his heavy load, The peddler with his pack, Yet since I can not be the road— As I can never be— Then who will take the twining road, The shining road with me? —Victor Starbuck.

Good roads have made Sanford and Seminole county. Pay your bills before next Monday and have your records clean when "Pay-Up Week" begins.

The human face grows longer with age. In other words, "the face isn't what it used to be."

The Republicans started talking today at Cleveland. This convention will be "same" compared with the one scheduled for New York a little later in the month.

Four American girls have returned from a picturesque trip to South America where they went in search of "wilder men than you find any day in New York". Perhaps they had tried Horace they would have been more successful.

Big fish tales are predominant in America but in New Guinea they have the reputation for putting out the biggest headless atomus. The latest one from there says that butterflies measuring ten inches across the wings have been discovered.

Because her husband placed a bunch of firecrackers under her bed and set them off while she was sleeping, a Los Angeles woman is suing her husband for divorce. Usually it is a different kind of blowing up the family affairs which leads to separation.

Clara Myers, a Chicago pick-pocket, was recently arrested for the two hundred and thirty-second time. She has served in twelve penitentiaries and sixty-two jails and has paid fines aggregating twenty-five thousand dollars in the past twenty years. She admitted that the first one hundred arrests were the hardest.

And now that the city commissioners have authorized the city engineer to proceed with plans for the unloading of Lake Monroe it probably won't be so very long before we can tell people in other states about the wonderful lake shore boulevard to be found here. The road along the lake will be Sanford's most popular drive and will delight the winter visitors as well as the home people.

Brides of 1924 are not so pretty as those of 1923 says James Cannon, clerk of the marriage license bureau in New York. "Not so good," said Cannon of this year's crop, "I mind last year when the girls were as pretty as the proverbial June roses. The girls' makeup is irreplaceable—but this is a fast age we're living in." Up to June 7 five hundred more licenses were issued than for the same period of last year. Ninety per cent of the women applicants had been married before.

Changing the Very Character of the Nation

On December 31, 1913, there were 1,248,056 automobiles registered in the United States. On December 31, 1923, there were 15,222,658 automobiles registered in the United States.

Could anyone offer more striking commentary upon the changes that are taking place in the lives and customs of the American people? Think of the other things that are an outgrowth of the increased use of the automobile. In 1913 good roads were few and far between. The pioneer automobile clubs were working for continuous highways and had succeeded in getting a number of stretches of good roads. But always there were backwoods communities and actually unfriendly towns, in which "leading citizens" talked and voted against bonds for good roads with as much heat as though the proposed roads were to be their ruin.

But now and then a "leading citizen" somehow came into possession of his own automobile. At first he was satisfied to drive this car over the reasonably good streets of his home town, and out the pike to his farm. But soon he wanted to go to the next county seat and when he attempted it got stuck in the mud. Straightway he became a good roads advocate. Other "leading citizens" bought automobiles—and became good roads advocates. And from a million automobiles found in the United States in 1913, mostly in the sections of the country where good roads already abounded to a large extent, the number had grown to fifteen millions in ten years!

And besides the improvement in roads, consider the improvement in the lives of the people. The United States is becoming just one big neighborhood. The people of South Florida hoo-nob all winter long with people from every state in the Union, motoring about the United States with almost as little concern as they used to feel when they drove the family horse on an all-day trip to "the city" thirty miles away.

The people of Florida this summer will put a suitcase or two on the running board and "run up to the mountains" or any place their fancy calls them. The motor trip is no longer regarded as a hazardous adventure. Everywhere on the road the traveler sees thousands upon thousands of other travelers going and coming.

The Herald does not believe that any of us comprehend what wonders the automobile is working in the development of America. Historians of the future will likely write learned chapters regarding "That period of civilization dating from the advent of the automobile." The period will be studied as the schools of today study the Renaissance period of European history. The changes produced in the customs and character of the people by the wide use of the automobile are making a new world.

Are You a Drifter? How thrifty are you? Have you been drifting along with the current or have you made it a practice to save regularly and systematically, gradually accumulating an estate?

Should you be thrown out of a job unexpectedly or should hard times come upon you suddenly would you be able to finance yourself over the troubled times or would you be found among the dependents? Statistics show that almost ninety per cent of our people leave no estates at the time of their deaths, and only a comparatively few leave accumulations of any appreciable amount. The records say that ninety-two per cent leave less than one thousand dollars, and few leave as much as ten thousand dollars.

THE GREAT MAJORITY of Americans have no income aside from their regular salaries or wages. Few there are who have saved enough money to make investments and who are now getting an income from those investments. Unexpected unemployment or sudden adversity would mean hardship to many.

In a city like Sanford opportunity for thrift beckons on all sides. The banks of the city are waiting to assist in any way so that there can be systematic savings. Real estate offers great possibilities for independence. A few dollars invested in vacant property, either city lots or country acreage, will in a short time come back to the investor many times over. Sanford real estate is good real estate. The prices have not been inflated as is the case in many Florida cities. Values of real estate here are steadily increasing. There is no safer investment and no surer guarantee for future independence than well located and properly priced property in this city.

Check over your thrift habits. Decide for yourself whether you are a drifter. AND HE GAVE it for his opinion, that whoever could make two ears of corn, or two blades of grass, to grow upon a spot of ground where only one grew before, would deserve better of mankind and do more essential service to his country, than the whole race of politicians put together.—Swift.

THE VALUE OF LAZINESS

Most people do not need to be advised at this time of year to be lazy. It just comes naturally with the arrival of the annual epidemic of spring fever. For this reason the advice recently given by Dr. C. Kelly before a group of hotel men in Washington the other day, will be received with less of a shock than it would in some other time of year. He says that the progress of the world has come not through those who are energetic, but those who are lazy, and he suggested that everybody cultivate the spirit of indolence.

Mr. Kelly thinks he has proof of his theory. He cites a possible example. At one time, he says, a man who wanted a drink would walk to the spring after it. Sometime it occurred to some lazy man that he might save himself many steps if the water were closer. The result of this was the invention of a pail in which he could carry a supply for the day to the house. A later device by some lazy man was the pump and the windmill, and today all a person needs to do to get a drink is to go to the spigot and turn the water on.

Of course laziness, per se, is not desirable. Mr. Kelly contends, however, that most of the inventions which are used in our modern life have been brought about in order to save work. This is probably true, but if there had been both physical and mental laziness there would have been no inventions. There is no virtue in being merely indolent. There is value in the intellectual activity which results in making life more easy and efficient.

There is an immense amount of useless work. The person who merely splutters about with a great show of activity is rarely the person who accomplishes the most. The spirit of the present day is marked by hurrying and scurrying. Often more can be accomplished by quietly sitting down and thinking things over than by rushing headlong into the task.

In this sense Mr. Kelly is right. It is not always the amount of work that a person does which counts, but the way in which it is done. The apparently lazy person is very often the most efficient. But the apparently lazy person is not always really lazy.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

A group of moving picture magnates were having a dinner; at least so the story runs. Across the lobby of the hotel where the banquet was to be held came dragging the flashlight operator who had been desired to take a picture of the festive scene. Although he was carrying a heavy camera he traveled at a trot. "What's your rush?" inquired a friend in the newspaper business who had come downstairs to call up his office and report progress after a preliminary size-up of the impending event. "You can take your time—that bunch upstairs have barely gotten seated."

As Brisbane Sees I

When Gasoline Was 6 Cents. Many Falts. Many Cures. "Smith and Bryan?" Hardly. Munsey Has Not Sold. Copyright, 1924.

IF YOU gamble in oil you are worried today with oil stocks falling. Mr. Doherty's big company announces a drop of eleven million dollars in the year's profits. Oil prices are cut. Gasoline drops to 16 cents in Buffalo.

BUT BEFORE automobiles came, Mr. Rockefeller was cheerfully selling gasoline at six cents, to clean type in newspaper plants. He will probably prove that money can be made at 16 cents.

GOVERNMENT BONDS move to "new high prices," the 4 1/2 per cent bonds selling at 103. That will interest small war-time buyers that paid 100 and sold under 90. It proves that "money is cheap" for stock speculating purposes. Money has been recently as cheap as 2 1/2 per cent. It costs more for money to build a factory, or a barn.

IN OLD St. Paul's Church, New York, the Rev. Dr. Bell of Denver, cures cripples of many kinds "through the power of God's love." The police were called to restrain and manage the great throng of unfortunates crowding the church. Many cripples are said to have thrown away their crutches, shouting for joy.

THE POWER of mind, of faith and of mental excitement is great and amazing in its varied revelations. Such "cures" are produced by "laying on of hands" by "absent treatment," by virtue of the power in certain sacred relics. From the dignified Protestant Episcopalian to the howling voodoo doctor in the jungle, all have miraculous cures to report.

IN OLD TIMES kings had the healing power, but they were specialists and "King's evil" was their specialty. You hear rarely of their cures now, but perhaps "King's evil" born of poverty and filth is dying out. Soap and water also perform miracles and there is no relapse.

VARIOUS NEWSPAPERS give "Al" Smith and Bryan" as the probable Democratic ticket. Mr. Bryan, of course, is not William Jennings, but his brother, the governor of Nebraska. Such a ticket would considerably disturb W. J. Bryan.

A STRONGER ticket would be McAdoo and Waish, although it might not delight Wall Street. ACTIVE IMAGINATIONS report that Frank Munsey has sold his New York Sun to Cyrus H. K. Curtis. Munsey has not sold the Sun, nor discussed selling, and would not sell it. He has things to say well worth saying. This is official.

PERHAPS, SOME day, the world will bless the big war, although it did cost 250 millions and 20 million lives. Poison gas will do more good than it has ever done harm. It has been known to destroy the boll weevil.

And now in the Ukraine, Trotzky orders his army flyers to use gas against locusts and field mice. We could use it here, a heavy variety, to destroy prairie dog colonies, snakes in their breeding places, and rats in city sewers.

DR. BRILL, psycho-analyst, says George Washington was a "schizoid" and Abraham Lincoln a "synonym." If interested in those words, ask your psycho-analyst.

MEANWHILE, it would be interesting to have Washington's or Lincoln's opinion of a psycho-analyst of Freud, for instance. Who could imagine a boy baby nine weeks old falling in love with his grandmother?

THE GOVERNMENT shows a fine model of mail carriers, flying across the continent in 26 hours. That will be the regular schedule, beginning July 1, with night flying. Railroad men, of whom many are very able, should study that model. It shows what they must soon do, or join the dodo and great auk, in oblivion.

MEN DROPPED by Princeton included not one "letter man" in athletics. The best athletes all passed. Several musicians, non-athletic, did not. That means nothing except that a brain, specializing in music, may well be lacking in another direction, and without disgrace or laziness.

Contemporary Comment. If the boy has the right stuff in him, he will turn out all right in spite of being spanked at frequent intervals.—Baltimore Sun.

Sugar market in New York, last week recorded the lowest price in two years. But the consumers know about it only by reading and not by the price they pay.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

Now that Florida has acted some of the papers that supported Mr. McAdoo are referring to him as the smiling Californian. Just a week ago today, the particular one we have in mind, called him our neighbor from Georgia. That's the great trouble with politicians; they tell you one thing before the election and some other thing afterwards.—Tampa Times.

AND AFTER ALL THOSE MONTHS OF LABOR

WHERE FLORIDA LAGS

We recall having heard a man once upon a time that it was worth getting drunk to come to the day when one will do as much thinking as does any decent man in the process of getting sober. For some months now Florida has been a political drunk. She is now at the sobering time, the time for some constructive thinking. And here are some of the things which are decidedly worth thinking about:

Florida's average rural child attends school about seventy-four days each year. One adult person in ten in Florida is illiterate, the state ranking eleventh in illiteracy. Florida ranks thirtieth in per cent of school time lost.

Florida ranks thirty-fifth in per capita cost per pupil, which is 37 per cent lower than the average cost per pupil in the United States. In the average amount of salary paid teachers Florida ranks forty-first. The length of the Florida school term ranks thirty-fourth.

Florida ranks forty-seventh in facilities for training. Surely Florida does not attain a very high place nor encompass any noble record when compared with the sister states concerning these things. And our showing is not one which is by any means conducive to the good of Florida. Some of the things we find here are underdogged by us; for instance the one of adult illiteracy; which is more due to conditions attendant upon a mixed population than to any actual neglect. Making outsiders to see and understand this is quite another proposition, and one much harder. Just so it is as regards other things mentioned. But that doesn't transform a sorry enough showing into a creditable one, by any manner of means. There is no time like the present for thought along these lines. Without any exception of which we are cognizant the candidates who have been talking pleadingly and more or less persuasively to us for the past several months have, if they could possibly lug it in, told us how superlatively favorable they were to education. We should set our minds that we are going to demand somewhat of performance as a follow-up to the promises of the victors.

Nothing is more important than the matter of education. If the state is to embark upon the enterprise of educating, and she has already followed it to the point where there can be no turning back, no matter who there might be that might desire it, she should push that enterprise to the utmost limit of ability.

We have made progress along this line through the years, not as great progress as we have made along other lines, but a steady progress that is at least marked enough to be encouraging. We just need to push on and out. Florida will stand at the head of the class of the states when along with other marvelous assets and advantages she can announce to the world that she has bettered them all in the matter of education facilities.

We lead in too many things to lag in any, more especially to lag in one of the importance of this. thoughts of love." But for the very reason that we have so often heard the couplet, mankind characteristically considers it must be true; whereas the fact is, there is no period of the year when a young man's fancy is so distracted from thoughts of love by thoughts of fishing, boating, baseball, golf and roaming. And if the young man should go a-courting in the spring, like the birds and beasts, it is not often that the bride can have the trousseau ready by June.

In reality the young man turns his thoughts to love more often and more naturally after the baseball season and the sports of summer are over; when the parlor sofa is inviting; when the winter dances begin and the theatres and movies are in full blast. The same may be said of his turtle dove. Without wishing to discourage any nuptials already dated, we say with all the obsolete nonsense, November is the proper month for lightly turning to thoughts of love, and midwinter Matrimony in its trying early stages is to much more easily endured than in the dog days.

"TO HIM WHO WAITS"

Three times William Jennings Bryan has borne the standard of his party in presidential campaigns. On four other occasions the standard has been snatched from his outstretched hands. Nevertheless Mr. Bryan has always rallied round. No other Democrat has spoken louder or longer in the party's defense than he. Now when he is no longer the Boy Orator, but a grave and reverend statesman, full of years and fundamentalism, he comes to the convention as a delegate-at-large from an entirely different section of the country from that watered by the Potomac.

He comes at a time when the leaders of the democracy are all as it brings success Mr. Bryan still men, each insisting on the nomi-

Dan Dobb Says

Mind your own business and you will undermine your own business. You can't uplift people and come down on them.

Lots of people think they can overtake them five or six lives. Most people who have do make the mistake of being. A pessimist is a man who thinks things different even when they are.

The fellow who has been to carry out the ashes has been hating to cut the weeds. When a check comes back "No Account," it is talking to the man who wrote it.

No wonder girls learn to more easily than men. Who is to teach a man to swim? Money isn't everything. The with the most costly fishing catches the least fish.

If you say business is warming a presidential year it is because everybody else says same. Just when it looked as if it would slack up a bit people are asking, "Well, is it hot enough yet?"

End Celery Season Is Marked By Picnic Saturday Afternoon

The end of a successful celery season was pleasantly marked last Saturday afternoon by a swimming party and picnic supper at Silver sonnel of the Sanford Division of the American Fruit Growers, and their families. The weather man

the daily shower came just early the water at the lake unusually cool and refreshing. For an hour

Japan May Attempt To Get Supply Navy Fuel Oil From Shale

TOKIO, June 10.—Japan's problem of oil supply, for years one of increasing anxiety, especially to the navy, will become substantially less acute if claims made on behalf of the South Manchuria Railway Company are proved.
For seven years the railway has been conducting experiments in the production of oil from oil shales taken out in the ordinary course of the company's mining of coal at its Fushun mine, in South Manchuria. The experiments, it is claimed, have proved that this shale is of especially fine quality for oil production by dry-distillation process: that fuel oil can be produced by this method at a cost which will permit competition with present market prices in Japan, and that if properly exploited the Fushun shales alone should yield 700,000 tons of oil annually, which is almost equal to the entire present consumption of the empire.
The addition of this amount to the present domestic oil production would make it unnecessary to import petroleum and its products.
Japan now produces approximately 325,000 tons of crude oil a year, taken from wells in the northern part of the main island. The annual consumption is estimated between 800,000 and 1,000,000 tons a year.

Takaji Kawamura, president of
the South Manchuria Railway Company, has been in Tokio to confer with the navy and home departments in an effort to obtain subsidies totaling $2,500,000 for the exploitation of these shale re-

Daily Fashion Hint

Alpaca is the very, very new fabric of the season for trotteur frocks, and if hairline stripe it may be used effectively in the development of this stovepipe frock. For the collar, vestee and pockets, plain silk is used, outlined with fancy braid. The long sleeves are close-fitting and their smartness is emphasized by their simplicity. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 54-inch striped and 3/4 yard 36-inch plain material.
Pictorial Review Dress No. 1982.
Sizes, 34 to 44 inches bust, and 16 to 20
yards. Price, 45 cents.

FOR THE TROPICS
Its debut at the smart Winter resorts and its first season out at the Summer vacation grounds is the programme of this suit consisting of a skirt of white flannel and blouse of white silk crepe de Chine. The blouse is embroidered with a Mah-Jong monogram in Chinese colors and has an inserted pocket at the right side below the narrow belt of self-material. Medium size requires 2 1/2 yards 44-inch flannel and 2 1/4 yards
36-inch crepe.
Pictorial Review Blouse No. 1623.
Sizes, 34 to 46 inches bust. Price, 30
cents. Skirt No. 7657. Sizes, 24 to 32 inches waist. Price, 30 cents.

EMBROIDERY SMARTENS
BLOUSES
The tunic blouse with an embroidery border done in brilliant colors is quite as smart a garment as one could add to the season's wardrobe. The motifs on this model may be carried out in beads, rope silk or braid. Sometimes beads are combined with braid, and again they are used with silk. A background of navy, blue or brown would prove effective for the high tones of the season. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 54-inch material.
Pictorial Review Blouse No. 1960.
Sizes, 34 to 46 inches bust. Price, 35
cents. Skirt No. 1051. Sizes, 24 to 36 inches waist. Price, 30 cents. Embroidery No. 12847. Blue or yellow transfer, 50 cents.

A GAY LITTLE FROCK
Apricot color silk and cotton crepe, covered with circles of copenhagen blue,
is used for this gay little frock, featuring a side opening and square neck. It is a variant of the coat-frock adapted to informal wear. The collar and string-belt are of plain silk and the sleeves may be worn either long or short. This model is ideal for any of the soft cotton weave fabrics of the new season. Medium size requires 4 yards 36-inch
material.
Pictorial Review Dress No. 1612.
Sizes, 34 to 44 inches bust and 16 to 20
yards. Price, 45 cents.

Daily Fashion Note

ULTRA-SMART PARIS FROCKS

Expressing the last word in fashionable detail and not too formal for daytime wear are these frocks in crepe faile. The first model is combined with silk printed in Oriental pattern, the silk forming side panels with pointed lower edges, and the collar. Long flare sleeves are slashed at the back and bound with self-material. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch faile and 1 1/2 yard 40-inch silk.
Ginger is the color of the second model, fascinatingly draped with a chiffon blouse. The neck is cut in square outline, and may or may not be finished with a collar. Flare cuffs lengthen the close-fitting sleeves. Paris has an attractive way of making the cuffs of one color and lining them with another, in this case, for instance, combining ginger and brown. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch crepe and 1 1/2 yard chiffon.
First Model: Pictorial Review Dress
No. 1895. Sizes 34 to 32 inches bust.
Price, 45 cents.
Second Model: Dress No. 1900.
Sizes, 34 to 42 inches bust, and 16 to 20 yards. Price, 45 cents.

Agricultural Expert Urges Use of Films

MADRID, June 10.—An appropriation for educational farming films is sought by Jose Luis de la Roma, one of Spain's leading agricultural experts, as an aid to the agricultural development of the country. He points out that much has been done in other countries in this direction, while here it has been neglected in spite of the fact that agriculture is the principal industry of Spain.
Senor de la Roma urges that the most modern methods of all branches of farming and breeding, butter and cheese making, irrigation and scientific fertilization, be shown by films throughout the land and argues that such a campaign would inculcate love of country in farm youth and check the immigration to industrial centers.

Democratic Convention To Have Soothing Music; Jazz Will Be Barred

Joe Basile will keep delegates in good humor with brass band and "Arcady" going to give them jazz at that convention, Mr. Basile declared. "They will have the most soothing music that can be found, and it will all be played by a good old-fashioned brass band. "No pulse raising saxophones or feet tickling banjos will be used. Tunes like 'Arcady,' a ballad written by Al Johnson, will put them in a thoughtful, judicial frame of mind. "Those delegates will need their nerves slowed down, and the music will do that better than anything else." Mr. Basile has played for six-cuses, races, round-ups and stampedes, but never before for a political national convention. "You can bet your life I am not

Wild Dogs Menace To Sheep of Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia, June 10.—The menace of the packs of wild dogs that roam the Omeo Plains and tear out the throats of sheep was described today to the Victorian minister for lands.

A deputation from the Gippsland Shires and Development Association asked the minister for an increased subsidy to facilitate the destruction of the dogs. The minister promised that the government would do all it could to help the settlers.

Councillor Braid of Omeo Shire explained that sheep dogs had been lured from the homesteads by female dingoes (prairie wolves).
These dogs had crossed with the dingoes, producing a strain that proved a greater menace to sheep than the pure dingoes, because of the mongrel's knowledge of the ways of men and sheep. One setter had lost 350 out of 700 sheep.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., June 10.—DeHart Hubbard's prospective leader of the United States squad of broad jumpers in the Olympic games, has as his greatest ambition the breaking of the world's record of 25 feet 3 inches, held by E. O. Gourdin, former Harvard star.

Hubbard commenced his 24-foot jumps this year in the Illinois indoor relays, when he made 24 feet 7 inches. Lack of authentic records allow Hubbard's friends to claim this as a world's indoor record.

Hubbard set for himself as a weekly mark until Kraenzlein made 24 feet 4 1/2 inches in 1899. Prinstein, O'Connor of Ireland and Gourdin have made successive new marks.

Cooper pitched well for the Pirates, until the seventh. Oeschger was relieved in the seventh inning for a pinch hitter, Kelly of New York was forced to leave the game after being spiked by Moranville.

It was because the castor oil laxative fails to act on the bowels of the baby that W. L. AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Tannin Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.
