Glenn, Sturm Eyed For Commission Chairmanship

Unless a dark horse emerges, Sandra Glenn or Bob Sturm will be elected chairman of the Seminole County Commission at its 9:30 a.m. meeting, Tuesday

Commissioner Barbara Christensen said the race for the chairmanship is "between Bob and Sturm said he is going to sit back and let the rest of the commission make a decision. And Mrs. Glenn, who has served as chairman for the past two years, won't say whether she wants to be re-elected or not.

Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff says the members of the board don't want him to be chairman.

Commissioner-elect Fred Streetman, who will assume his seat on the board just prior to the election of a chairman and vice chairman, says he is not going to reveal his choice until he casts his vote at the meeting.

Mrs. Christensen says she doesn't want the job. Streetman says he not only doesn't want the job. he "will not serve" if his colleagues should elect him to it.

Streetman added, "I've got a lot to learn before I consider responsibility (of the chairmanship)." Kirchhoff said. "I don't know what is going to happen."

The only clue on how the election might go comes from Mrs. Christensen. She said, "I think it is Bob's turn, but that doesn't mean I won't consider either one. No one has talked to me about it. When one is nominated chairman, I will nominate the other for vice chairman," she said.

Bob and Sandra need to talk about it. We don't need conflicts on the commission. We need to work together, Mrs. Christensen said.

"I have not committed to vote for anyone." Streetman said. Speaking of the qualities a chairman must have, Streetman said, "The chairman has to be someone who has the time to do the job and somebody whom I believe has the leadership ability to do the job well."

As far as revealing who he believes has those qualities. Streetman said, "I'm not going to tell until it comes down to the time to vote. Sturm said he doesn't have any definite idea of who the chairman will be. "I am going to kind of sit back and let the rest of the board make a decision. If Sandra doesn't want the chairmanship again, she would make the nomination and then it would be me." he said.

Homeowners Asked To Aid Canker Fight

Herald Staff Writer

State Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner today called on Seminole County residents to help rid the state of the dreaded citrus canker.

Speaking at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, Conner urged those who have purchased citrus trees since Aug. 30, 1983, which may have originated at Adams Nursery In Highlands County, to carefully uproot the trees, to break them into two or more pieces and to seal them in plastic bags for garbage disposal Conner said 89,000 plants from dutts from the said to eight retailers in Seminole County. They are: Anything Grows of Florida Inc., Longwood; Lukas Nursery and Garden Shop. Oviedo: Poole & Fullers-Howell Creek Nursery near Casselberry: Carefree Florist and Garden Center, Sanford: Jean Norris Ferns and Exotic Plants, Sanford: Contemporary Garden Center, near Casselberry: Duncan Brothers Landscaping, Longwood, and A Garden Fair, Altamonte Springs.

He said Adams also sold trees hundreds of nurseries in 37 other counties.

'And one home within any of these countles could have a tree which is a host to the canker while the state is spending millions of dollars trying to eradicate the bacteria at nurseries." Conner told a group of area agricultural leaders.

The commissioner said authorities don't know how the canker invaded the state, but it could have come from travelers who brought back fruit trees from Brazil, Argentina and Japan, or simply picked up the bacteria on their clothing while visiting the countries. All three nations have lost their battle against the disease. Conner said.

Pointing to the state's successful battle to eradicate the Mediterranean fruit fly. Conner was hopeful the same type of success can be seen in the effort to eradicate the canker.

But for now, "the disease is playing havoe with the citrus industry in Florida," he said, and there is little that can be done except to destroy the trees The disease was first seen in the state

MIAMI (UPI) - New tests reveal that south Florida's most common type of limes are not immune to citrus ci as previously believed, dashing the hopes that shipping restrictions would be eased for the state's $40 million-ayear lime industry.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture reported Tuesday that tests show Persian, or Tahitian, limes, the type most numerous in south Dade County. can be infected by citrus canker.

Previous tests conducted by citrus experts at the University of Florida had reported Florida limes were immune to the bacterial disease that threatens Florida's $1 billion orange and grapefruit industry.

Baby Fae Improving

Orlando Infant Dies After Heart Surgery

BOSTON (UPI) - A 5-week-old Orlando baby, suffering from the same heart ailment as baboon heart recipient Baby Fac, died early today shortly after 71/2 hours of corrective surgery at Childrens Hospital Medical Center, a spokeswoman said.

James Derek Ware, the infant son of Mariene and James Ware of Orlando. died at 12:40 a.m. EST, less than two hours after the operation was over. center spokeswoman Nancy Collins

The cause of death was not released immediately.

The baby suffered cardiac arrest "several times" during the surgery which tasted from 3:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. Wednesday, Collins said.

"A baby doesn't usually arrest, but they knew this baby was very sick when he went in, and that was borne out by his reaction during surgery." she said.

Meanwhile, at the Loma Linda, Calif., University Medical Center doctors treating Baby Fac said they may have been too conservative in drug treatments to help her body stop rejecting her transplanted baboon heart, but she is recovering and "holding her own very well."

Dr. David Hinshaw told a news conference Wednesday at Lorna Linda University Medical Center that the medical team probably should have "hit her with a bigger dose" of anti-rejection drugs when her immune system began rejecting the heart last

"We were perhaps too conservative," kidneys" with the powerful drugs.

But Hinshaw said the world's longest-living recipient of an animal heart has apparently turned the corner and tests indicated she was improving as she went into her 20th day with the new organ. "The signs of rejection are reversing very definitely." Hinshaw said.

Dr. Peter Lang, the infant Ware's cardiologist in Boston, said Wednesday about one in every 12,000 babies is born with the ailment.

James was flown to Boston Tuesday after a surgical team at the Loma Linda center decided not to try a baboon-to-human heart transplant on the 6-pound Infant.

'It is my understanding that they, through their cardiologist in Florida. contacted the medical center in he said. "We didn't want to damage her California to see if their child might be a candidate for transplantation, and were told the medical center was not accepting children for that program." Collins said.

She said surgery or transplantation was the infant's only chance for survival.

"Without corrective surgery or transplantation, we know that this defect is uniformly fatal," she said. The point that Dr. Lang brought up yesterday is that we would be doing ourselves a disservice to look at transplantation as the only form or the only solution to this defect.

"We would also be doing ourselves a disservice to look at surgical correction as the only (solution). Both are reasonable, well-thought out attempts to try to save these infants who otherwise would

In another matter to be considered tonight, the commission will discuss the city of Sanford's request for Lake Mary to be removed from a $32 million wastewater plan.

Husband-Wife Burglary Team Jailed; Loot Recovered

By Susan Loden Herald Staff Writer

It looks like Santa arrived early at a storage room of the Casselberry police station and the week of Nov. 26 may seem like Christmas to about 20 Casselberry victims of a husband-and-wife burglary team. That's when they will have a chance to look over the loot and pick out what is Casselberry police collected most of the booty Tuesday from a storage bin at Public Storage, state Road 436. Casselberry. They also arrested the two suspects who detective Lynn Cambre said are suspected of burglarizing Casselberry homes for at least six months and who are believed to have hit homes throughout Central Florida. They were charged with one count each of burglary and generation, but Cambre said other charges are expected to be added as the investigation progresses.

Today, Seminole County sheriff's deputies added charges of armed burgiary and grand theft in connection with the theft of a gun in a break-in on Coach Lake Circle, Casselberry. Sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said he expects the pair to be linked to many more burglaries. A sheriff's investigator has been working on the case since May, he said.

Glenn Lee Yeldell and his wife Shirley, both 30, were arrested at the storage bin after they arrived with another load of goods at about 2 p.m. Tuesday. Cambre said police traced the pair through fingerprints left at a burglary scene, but they were hard to nab because they moved from motel to motel in Central Plorida and traveled by rental car, which they swapped every month.

When they were arrested, they gave their address as 1400 Village Lane, Winter Park, but Cambre said that's not where they live. That is the address where they picked up the illegal load they were trying to stash in the bin when they were captured, he said.

The Yeldella, who were arrested on a weapons charge by Altamonte Springs police in August, even gave a false address to their bondsman who bailed them out of jall. Cambre said. They are being held in the Seminole County jatl In lieu of $50,000 bond each on the burglary and theft charges. In tracking the pair, police had left word with neighbors at the Winter Park address and with the owner of the storage bin to call authorities if they spotted the pair. Both alerted police that the couple were making a drop at the storage bin Tuesday and the officers arrived and nabbed them. Cambre said. A search of the bin and the suspects' car turned up between $25,000 and $50,000 worth of Items Including several cases brimming with jewelry, cameras, guns, musical instruments. Bee BURGLARY, page 7A

Retail Sales Down, But Higher Than 1 Year Ago

WASHNGTON (UPI) - U.S. retail sales edged down 0.1 percent in October, the slight decrease following what had been tentatively reported as a 1.6 percent rise in September, which now has been revised down to a 1.2 percent increase.

For the past three months as a whole - August through October - sales were down 0.9 percent from the previous three months, but they were 7.9 percent above the same period a year ago, the Commerce Department reported Wednesday.

Since inflation has been only a little more than 4 percent during the past year, the August through October figure represented a real in-crease. The figures are adjusted for seasonal. holiday and trading day differences, but not for inflation. They are subject to later revision.

October sales totaled $107.7 billion. down from a revised $107.9 billion in September.

Sales of so-called durable goods - big items consumers and businesses buy - increased 2.6 percent in October, mainly on the strength of the automotive group, which was up 3.5 percent from the previous month and 11.2 percent above a year ago. The increase in the automotive group which includes dealers and auto supply stores followed three monthly declines.

Building materials increased 0.2 percent in October. Furniture store sales were down 0.9 percent for the month, the only decline in the durable goods category.

Sales of non-durable goods declined 1.6 percent in October, after a 2 percent rise the month before. General merchandise was down 1.9 percent following a 3.6 percent rise in September. Food store sales were down 1.6 percent, but were still 5 percent above a year ago.

After a 4.9 percent increase in September, clothing sales declined in October 2.3 percent, the third decrease in four months.

Gasoline service station sales were down 1.1 percent in October and were 2.6 percent below the previous year, the fourth consecutive yearly

Sales of eating and drinking establishments increased 0.1 percent and were 6.7 percent above the previous year. Drug stores were virtually unchanged during the month but were 9.4 percent above October last year.

Smokeout: Here's How To Survive It

NEW YORK (UPI) - The methods are many "Adopt a Smoker," the KWIT hotline. "Smokebusters" and Smokeout Swirl - but the goals are the same: healthy

And, in the name of health, millions of American smokers today will be challenged to observe a nicotine fast during the eighth annual Great American Smokeout. For encouragement, the cancer society urges smokers to dial the smokeout houline — 900-210-KWIT — which contains inspirational messages from ex-smokers. The phone company will bill each call at 50 cents, but the number cannot be dialed from a payphone.

The American Cancer Society has offered some advice to smokers who will try to kick the habit. The ACS says smokers should put oral substitutes into the fight and, instead of lighting up, try sugarless gum, lemon drops, pumpkin or sunflower seeds, apple alices, carrot sticks, popeorn.

Other tips from the ACS:

—Throw out all cigarettes. Break them in half or wet them down. Clean out all ashtrays and put them away. Discard matches and hide lighters.

-When gripped by the urge to light up, take a deep breath, hold it for 10 seconds, then release slowly.

-To relieve tension, climb stairs not walls. Practice touching your toes, jog in place, or do jumping jacks. In less than a decade, the idea of taking a day off from smoking — what Smokeout is all about — has spread to Canada, Great Britain, Ireland, France, Australia, South Africa, Norway,

Although the names and dates may vary in other countries, there are increasing signs that the smokeout may evolve into a worldwide no-smoking day sometime before the end of the 1980s.

Conspiracy To Shoot The Pope

Mehmet Ali Agca, the Turk convicted of shooting Pope John Paul II, did not act alone. Another armed conspirator, Oral Celik, was with Agea in St. Peter's Square and may have also shot at the pope. Bulgarian government authorities collaborated in the planning and execution of the failed plot against the Polish-born church leader.

These are the disturbing conclusions of a 1,243-page investigation report prepared by a dogged Italian judge, Ilario Martella. The report lends credence to the theory that the shooting of the pope was ordered by Moscow.

As reconstructed by Martella, here is what

Agea traveled to Bulgaria long before the assassination attempt. His reputation as an assassin followed him from Turkey, where he had been convicted of murder. He was put up at a Sofia hotel and had several contacts with Bulgarian agents, who gave him money and forged documents.

After leaving Bulgaria, Agea traveled through Switzerland and Western Europe. Then he joined other conspirators in Rome. They met in a pension and at restaurants to plan the assassination.

Agea and Celik went to St. Peter's the morning of the assassination attempt, May 13, 1981, and checked out the route of the pope, who traditionally made two appearances in his open-air car, to greet the faithful. Both men were armed and were supposed to fire at the pope. After the shooting, Celik was supposed to detonate a concussion bomb, to frighten the crowd and faciliate the assassins' flight to a getaway car.

Most chilling is Agea's own account of the ...

"Precisely as the pope was making his second trip around, as soon as he was opposite me, and after Celik and I had exchanged a last glance and he nodded that everything was OK, I threw my camera to the ground and at the same time took my pistol from the left side of my pants belt and shot two or three times at the pope. I was not able to continue shooting since the people next to me had realized what I was doing and had grabbed the arm with which I was holding the

The pope was hit by two bullets. At least one came from Agea's weapon. But the second may have been fired by Celik, who escaped from the scene and is now believed to be in Bulgaria.

Is Agea's testimony credible?

The report points out many lies and contradictions in Agea's statements. But the judge traces a change in the testimony after Agea was given a life sentence, when he gave up hope that the Bulgarians would spring him from jail, as they had promised.

Agea was given a book with photographs of 60 Individuals and asked to identify any faces he knew. He identified several Bulgarians for the judge. He then corroborated his identification with significant physical descrip-

BERRY'S WORLD

The Florida Highway Patrol has predicted 42 persons will die in Florida traffic accidents during the Thankagiving holiday period beginning 6 p.m. Nov. 21, and ending midnight, Nov. 25.

The prediction is based on data collected over the three previous Thanksgiving holiday periods.

"This prediction will amount to one death every two hours and 26 minutes of the holiday period and creates needless tragedy and grief for may families," said Col. Bobby R. Burkett, Director of the Florida Highway Patrol.

Department records show that 50 percent of 36 fatal crashes in 1983's involved alcohol. Burkett said alcohol continues to be the prime problem in traffic safety and can only be reduced by public cooperation coupled with strict law enforcment.

"Every available trooper will be on patrol duty throughout the state to help curb this tragedy and alcohol related offenses and speed violations will be our top priorities." said

"I appeal to the motoring public to support our efforts to save lives this Thanksgiving holiday thorugh their cooperation and reports any impaired drivers to their nearest Florida Highway Patrol station or other law enforcement agency," he said.

Law officials are looking for someone who may be able to identify the picture of a girl found in the pocket of a murder suspect who is known to have visited Seminole County.

The unidentified girl is 12- to 13-years-old, white, with a heavy build and a baby face. She may have mid-shoulder length brown hair and brown eyes. Her complexion is fair and her front teeth may be chipped or have gaps. She may be wearing a gold-colored "pinky" ring on her right little finger.

Investigators are only attempting to identify the girl in the photograph and have no evidence to indicate that any wrongdoing has occurred.

Anyone having information regarding the identify of the girl is encouraged to call the Missing Children Information Clearinghouse at 1-800-342-0821.

Global Analysis Priority

The issues facing the nation in 1985 will be different from those which the Reagan administration had to deal with when it took office in 1981. Then, the newly elected President had to wrestle with a slumping economy and deteriorated

Today, the nation has recovered from the damage done in the Carter years. The American people are better off than they were four years ago, both in terms of prosperity and national security.

This doesn't mean, however, that there aren't any problems. There is simply a different set of problems problems of a global character. The global-scale issues are likely to be even more difficult to deal with successfully than the problems that were evident at the end of 1980.

First of all, there is the international debt problem. Debtor nations in the Third World, chiefly Latin America, owe immense sums. They may refuse to pay even the interest on their debts. Increasingly, one hears voices in the Third World, saying: "We won't pay." if they refuse to make payments, the impact on the U.S. banking system will be severe.

The debt crisis is only part of the overall Third World problem. The Columbia Journal of World Business recently cited population pre-ssures and burgeoning Third World cities as global-scale issues. It noted that "world population will most likely double by the early decades of the next century and almost half the inhabitants of developing countries will live in cities - many of unmanageable proportions."

Time magazine cites the impact of the population growth on global production, saying that "By the year 2000, some 630 million young adults will join the Third World labor force. As a result, Third World wages will probably remain at their lower levels. That may encourage the flow of manufacturing jobs from industrialized countries to developing nations.

Americans will have to discard the myth of "developing" nations and regard many Third World countries, as Gov. Richard Lamm of Colorado has described them, as 'never-to-be-developed" nations.

It is hard to understand what the changed global picture will mean for the American people or how the United States should respond to situations beyond its control. One danger is that the pressure for illegal migration to the United States - walking across the southern border of the U.S. - will increase enormously.

Analysis of this global situation must be a priority task for the U.S. government in 1985.

because of a job-selling scandal. of the contest was a Republican entangled in a bribery scandal that includes allegations of everything from sexual favors to a secret Swiss slush fund.

Throughout the country, there were candidates on the ballot this year who had been accused - and. in some cases, convicted - of actions ranging from ethical lapses to criminal conduct.

Some of those allegations were politically inspired, but others had been proven in court trials. Some of the accused candidates were defeated, but others were victorious.

In Tennessee, voters returned a prison inmate to a seat in the state legislature. In Idaho, Rep. George Hansen, a convicted felon facing a prison term, appears to have been defeated by a razor-thin margin of 66 votes.

Hansen, a Republican seeking an eighth term in the House, was convicted in federal court earlier this year of filing false campaign reports.

Reagan Must Act Quickly

Reagan enters his second term with an impressive mandate, a national endorsement of his overall political direction, if not some specific items such as abortion. But as a lame-duck, his power will erode with time, and already the various Republican contenders and factions are positioning themselves for the 1988 race for the nomination. What that means is that after a relatively short time, the Republicans in Congress will lose the political cohesion necessary for major re-forms. The time to strike is therefore early — and hard.

Many agendas are circulating including a detailed one to be published by the Heritage Foundation, but here are my own suggestions:

1. The White House Staff. If the president is serious about enacting lasting reforms, he will require a staff that understands those reforms and presses for them relentlessly. During the past three years, there have been too many staff leaks designed to undercut Reagan initiatives, and too much "background", discussion with the media that has had the same effect.

2. Harassed by Walter Mondale during the campaign. Reagan made an absurd promise never to do anything much about Social Security, but everyone knows that something must be done about it. The price tag on the program will go up $6 billion during the next year alone, and not very far down the line the program will impose crushing economic burdens on young working adults.

This program was born out of the Depression, but today millions of people have their own retirement plans and do not need the federal cash.

3. Reagan should appoint an independent commission to study the entire process of Pentagon weapons procurement and evaluation. There is every indication of corruption and collusion.

4. Medicare is clearly out of control, with wildly escalating hospital costs and the stench of corruption everywhere.

5. Ditto the multi-billion dollar food-stamp program, which was conceived to climinate "hunger" but is ow over-funded and subject to widespread abuse.

6. The mere list of federal social spending programs fills a volume the size of a major metropolitan telephone book. All of this should be s radically pruned.

7. And, of course, tax reform Economic growth requires further tax cuts, and some sort of flat tax appears in the works. But it will require political brass knuckles to get this through Tip O'Neill's gang The sooner the start the better.

Eavesdropping Popular With Fed

phone Amtrak with a complaint or call Social Security with a question. be careful what you say. Big Brother may be listening.

These are just two of the 14 federal agencies that have admitted they sometimes secretly monitor telephone calla. Other confessed eavesdroppers include the Agriculture and Commerce Departments, the Postal Service and the Veterans Administration.

Of all the agencies that engage in this form of snooping, only five might have legitimate reason to worry about security: the Pentagon, the Central Intelligence Agency, the State Department and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

Eleven months ago, U.S. Information Agency Director Charles Wick was caught at the keyhole. He admitted secretly taping many telephone conversations, including some with White House chief of staff James Baker.

Although the disclosure caused an uproar, it apparently didn't deter other government snoops. They have continued to operate their listening devices. Now the House Government Operations Committee drafted legislation that would make it illegal for federal officials to make secret tapes of their telephone conversations except under circumstances that are carefully spelled out and involve legitimate intelligence or lawenforcement activity.

The mystifying fact is that the White House is vigorously opposing the proposed legislation, even though it would do little more than reinforce restrictions that are already on the books against indiscriminate eavesdropping. Robert McConnell, assistant attorney general, put the administration's objection in writing. He notified the House committee, in effect, that it would discomfit the bureaucrats.

"It is important that administrative flexibility be maintained," McConnell wrote. "A statute that would flatly prohibit consensual monitoring except in very fixed and limited circumstances would severely restrict this flexibili-

The word "consensual," which McConnell uses to describe the secret taping of phone calls, refers to the fact that the targeted employees have been given notice that the phone system is subject to monitoring. So "by using the system, they have thereby consented to the monitoring of their communications," McConnell

But what about the unwitting citizen whose call is taped without his knowledge or permission? Mc-Connell diamisses the caller's rights with this indifferent comment: "As to individuals who are communicating with persons utilizing a monitored system, since at least one of the parties to the communication has consented, the monitoring is lawful."

Without mentioning names. Mc-Connell described the proposed legislation as "an over-reaction" to Wick's overenthusiastic taping activities, and added, "We believe the nature of the activity here does not merit a federal criminal statute, but would be better addressed administratively through regulations."

But McConnell conveniently overlooked the fact that there are already regulations on the books that federal agencies pay little attention to. The rules require agencies wishing to tape-record phone calls secretly to justify the need and issue appropriate guidelines.

Yet of 72 agencies surveyed by the House committee, only 14 had bothered to implement the regula-tions, and only about one-third had seen fit to issue any guidelines and all. According to a committee re-port, "despite the fact that these regulations had been in effect for almost three years, it is clear that they have been easentially ignored by federal officials."

Footnote: Government Operations Committee investigators told my associates Donald Goldberg and Indy Badhwar that many of the agencies have reasonable-sounding excuses for monitoring conversations. Amtrak and Social Security officials, for example, cloim they are simply checking on how employees handle the public's complaints.

Sanford Sees Hazard In Spread Of Satellite Dishes

By Donna Estes Herald Staff Writer

Television dish antennas are popping up all over Sanford and the city commission is concerned about those being placed in front yards by some homeowners and in parking lots by some businesses.

City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles brought the matter to the commission's attention saying the danger exists that someone could attach one of these devices to a roof. The device might be torn off by a strong wind and go through the roof. "Someone (inside the building) could be killed,"

The commission instructed Knowles to prepare regulations on the dish antennas for consideration at their Nov. 26 meeting

Knowles said the television dishes are popping up all over the city.

In other business, Knowles reported that Gov. Bob Graham has "created another agency to study transportation needs in Central Florida for the three county area of Orange, Osceola and

He said from the information the committee has asked from the city of Sanford, it appears the committee will be repeating work already done.

Noting Sanford is already a member of the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council. Knowles said the creation of the new agency may be related to "a past power move to ... have a dominating membership and not area-wide representation.

About six weeks ago, an Orlando banker and Orange County Commissioner Lou Treadway asked the Seminole County Commission to go along with a new agreement among the three counties which would change the membership on the authority and give representation to the city of Orlando.

Under the old agreement. Orange doesn't have a majority vote on the Orange-Seminole-Osceola Transportation Authority which operates the bus system in the three counties and Orlando has no right to membership at all unless Orange County grants one of its members to that city.

Seminole Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff, who has been on the OSOTA board for years representing Seminole County, balked at the Idea, and Treadway said he was only coming to Seminole on instructions of his commission and would not broach the idea again.

Knowles said the correspondence was received on Nov. 9 and the committee asked for notification by Nov. 9 if the city wished to make a presentation.

Agents of the state Department of Agriculture were relatively easily tracking down the infected trees from Adams for a time. But then the state found that some 89,000 trees from Adams had been purchased by retail nurseries and are in the back yards of private homes, and this is driving us crazy." Conner

"We are sorry to have to use a

Senior Seminoles Aim Arrows At .500 Mark Tonight

DAYTONA BEACH — A couple pretty disappointed teams get ether at Welch Memorial adium tonight at 7:30 to play it the 1984 football season.

Although Hall may have had more confidence in Seminole's "lock" than some observers, the Noles were in good position after upsetting Apopka on Oct. 5. Following the Apopka win. Seminole blanked Lyman and

Prep Football

Still, the roughest part was ahead. Seminole needed to peat DeLand, Lake Brantley and Lake Mary and then Spruce Creek. It was a tough task, but not an impossible one. The dream slipped away, though, when the Tribe lost a heartbreaker to DeLand, a blowout to Lake Brantley and an equally disheartening game to Lake Mary last week.

The three straight losses left the Seminoles scrambling for respectability - and wondering what might have been. Posey and three of his players - Mike and Bryan DeBose and Cliff Campbell - were guests of the Sanford Optimist Club Tuesday at a luncheon. The sting of Friday's loss was still making conversation a tough subject.

"A lot of us are still disap-pointed." Posey said Wednesday night. "We get sick watching the film a second time. There were two or three plays that could have made it a whole different

"It makes you cringe."

Posey said he is emphasizing two ideas for tonight's game. "One, we can go out as a .500 ball club. That beats the hell out of a losing record. Two, this is the last time some of our seniors to play organized football. They have to go get 'em.'

Posey, like the rest of the county coaches, said he is a bit puzzled by Spruce Creek. "They seem to do something different put a finger on the Hawks. "But they do the same thing every run out of different offensive sets but they run the same place," Poscy said.

Hall said there is a very simple reason for that. "I'm experimenting," he said sounding a bit like Dr. Frankenstein. 'We're got an all-sophomore backfield and I'm trying to find out what these guys can do."

That backfield has Jeff Parker at quarterback, Barry Bock at every week." he said trying to fullback and Alvin Winston at tallback. "Parker is going to be a

Burgess Goes minimum For State Gold

Herald Sports Writer

While watching the procession of athletes marching behind their flags at the 1984 Olympic Games, it was easy to spot the smaller countries as some had as few as one athlete. Even though those athletes didn't stand much of a chance against the traditional powerhouses of the world, just being there was an accomplishment.

Seminole High's Chuck Burgess must know how those athletes from the smaller countries feel. He is the lone swimmer from Seminole High to make it to the 1984 4A State Meet which starts Friday morning at the Swimmer's Hall of Fame Pool in Fort Lauderdale.

But that's as far as the parallel

Just being there as a freshman, sophomore and junior was good enough for Burgess then, but now he has a chance to go for the gold. Seminole's senior standout has the top time going in in the 200 individual medley and he will begin his quest for the state title in the preliminaries Friday morning at

"He's not out of the picture to win by any means." Seminole coach Donalyn Knight said of Burgess. "He's had a cold this week and I don't know if that will slow him down, but he's ready to go."

Burgess took first place in the 200 IM with a personal best time this past Saturday. Burgess said he might have to chop a couple seconds off that time to win at pool.

"I'm going to have to go All-American, that's about 1:57," he said. "I feel confident I can do it.

Burgess was also looking to qualify in the 100 butterfly but he finished seventh in districts and didn't qualify for an at large bid. But, now he has more time to concentrate on the 200 IM, his strongest high school event.

"It might work out for the best," Knight said. "Now Chuck can direct all his energies to the 200 IM."

This is the fourth consecutive state meet Burgess has qualified for. As a freshman at Lyman High, he qualified in the 100 butterfly and, after transferring to Seminole, he qualified in the 100 backstroke as a sophomore and a junior. His best finish in the state meet was an 11th in the 100 back as a juntor in 1983. Outside of high school, Burgess has been swimming competitively for nine years with the Orlando Dolphins. His best events outside of high school are the 200 butterfly and the 400 individual medley.

Burgess' interest in swimming didn't start with the Dolphins. though. He was already in the water by age three, after his family moved to Sanford from North Carolina. "My grandmother had a pool"

In her backyard and she put me in it when I was three," Burgess said. "When I got good enough, (8-years-old) she took me to try out for the Lyman Swim Club. I started getting better and the couch told me I had potential so I Joined the Dolphins."

Burgess has been with the there have been times when he wasn't sure he wanted to stick with it.

"My parents have really backed me up a lot," Burgess sald. "There were times when I wanted to quit but they kept my attitude straight and really encouraged me.

Along with being the leader of the Seminole High swim team. Burgess is a member of the National Honor Society, the French Club and writes for the school newspaper.

Burgess is looking forward to competing in the college ranks and his top choice is the Naval Academy.

"If I can't go to the Naval Academy, I want to stay close to home," he said. "And I want to be a top college swimmer."

Burgess' other college choices include the University of North Carolina, North Carolina State and Duke University.

Expos Court Weaver — Settle For Rodgers

MONTREAL (UPI) - Bob 'Buck' Rodgers may not have been the Montreal Expos' first choice as manager of the National League club, but the former Milwaukee Brewers skipper said he's happy just to get the call. "I wouldn't care if I was the 32nd choice," the 46-year-old Rodgers said after being named Wednesday. "This is a job I wanted."

Expos general manager Murray Cook admitted the club had courted Earl Weaver for the job, but the former Baltimore Orioles manager preferred to remain in the broadcast booth.

Earl determined early on he wasn't going to manage anywhere and he confirmed that last week." said Cook. " We never got into any substance with Earl and we never made him an offer."

Weaver has worked as a baseball analyst with Baseball

ABC-TV since he retired as manager of the Ortoles after the 1982 season.

"Earl Weaver is a fine manager and any club would be remiss if they had a chance and didn't try for him," said Rodgers, who was named minor league manager of the year for guiding the Expos' Triple-A affiliate Indianapolis Indians to a firstplace finish in the American Association last season.

Cook said Rodgers "embodies the type of manage-ment I think is needed for this team. He's a strong. strategical-type manager and has a wealth of experience."

Rodgers managed the Brewers from late in the 1980 season until June 1982. He won the second half pennant in the strike-shortened 1981

The Fearless Fister Forecast was just that last week - fearless. It wasn't necessarily a winning forecast, but fearless. The record for last week, in which I picked more underdogs than favorites, was 5-8 and the slate for the season is 59-30-2.

What kind of winning percentage is that? Don't be a wise-guy, okay?

Seminole at Spruce Creek

I don't blame Spruce Creek for wanting to get its season over early. This game will be played tonight at 7:30 at Daytona Beach. Seminole has a chance to end the season with a 5.5 record and that's not bad.

considering the Tribe was 0-10 a couple years ago. I was wrong on two counts with of 1:59.59 in the district meet the Seminoles last week, they didn't upset Lake Mary and I didn't get the homecoming queen right either. My apologies to Dana Ray, the is definitely a worthy selection for state in the fast Fort Lauderdale homecoming queen. This one should go up in the win column for the forecast though -

Seminole by 14 Oviedo at Lake Mary

it's homecoming at Lake Mary High as the Five Star Conference and district champion Rams look to close out their best sesaon ever with a 9-1 record. I just happen to have copy of my Five Star preseason predictions. Take into account this paragraph from that column: 'So. Apopka is beatable. Specifically by Lake Mary, and one other team on its schedule. The Rams will not only butt down the district door this year - they will kick it in and take the district championship."

Pretty eerie, huh. Rod Serling must be smiling, wherever he is.

Back to the game, Lake Mary is just too strong for Oviedo. The homecoming queen? I don't know who the candidates are but I'll take a shot at it. The Fearless Fister favorites include Cindy Herman and Fran Gordon. - Harry and the Rams by 17

By Chris Fister

Herald Sports Writer After finishing in fifth place and 31 places behind the fourth place team in the district meet. Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots had some catching up to do if they wanted to make it to the state

So, before the regional meet, coach Jim arshall sat down with his team and talked about adition. He told his two sculors, Joanne ayward and Kim Lubenow, that they could be the only two runners in Central Florida to have made the state meet in all four years of their high hool careers. # Lambert: Toe Is No Big Deal

PITTSBURGH (UPI) - Veteran linebacker Jack Lambert says too much is being made about the ailing big toe on his right foot and he doesn't want to talk about it.

Lambert was surrounded by reporters Wednesday when he and the rest of the Pittsburgh Steelers finished a light workout at Three Rivers Stadium. It was the first practice this week for Monday night's nationally televised game with the New Orleans Saints in the Louisiana Superdome.

"I'm going to tell you what I told everybody else," an angry Lambert said. "I don't want to talk about it."

The toe, which Lambert dislocated in the first game of the scason, has kept him out of most of the Steelers' 11 games.

The toe became a hot topic of conversation Monday when Steeler coach Chuck Noll said the injury could end Lambert's 11-year football career.

All Lambert would say was. "Everybody's blowing this out of proportion" and stalked away. Although Lambert was unwilling to discuss the situation, one of his teammates was not.

"We definitely miss Jack," said linebacker Robin Cole. 'Jack's a leader. From the first Super Bowl to now, he's been the leader of this defense. He's missed out there. His leadership is missed. He was always able to get the players up. Things like: Get your heads up. Let's go. Let's do it.' Things just seemed to come together out there on the field. He makes a difference."

BROWNS GET PROSPECTS

BEREA, Ohio (UPI) - Perhaps Marty Schottenheimer was not speaking consciously, but he let slip a little word association on Monday.

"We are looking for a young player who will give us his best on special teams." he said.

On Wednesday, the Cleveland Browns' coach got what he wanted — Young and Best.

Owners Make Surprise Appearance

NEW YORK (UPI) - The first day of talks between baseball players and management on a new Basic Agreement produced a surprise appearance by three owners.

Bud Selig of the Milwaukee Brewers, Edward Bennett Williams of the Baltimore Orioles and John McMullen of the Houston Astros appeared at the bargaining table at Wednesday's 1-hour, 45-minute meeting.
During the 1981 talks, no owners attended talks, and Ray Grebey did the negotiating for them. Grebey's work drew criticism from some owners and led to his eventual ouster as president of the Player Relations Committee.

Both parties are hoping to avoid a repeat of 1981, when the players struck for seven weeks. The current agreement ends on Dec. 31.

The Players Association was represented by Don Fehr, acting executive director; former Baltimore Oriole shortstop Mark Belanger: Don Baylor of the New

IN BRIEF

Penguins' Other Rookie Scores 2 Goals, Sets Up Game Winner

United Press International

This Pittsburgh Penguin rookie is really something, scoring all these goals.

Big surprise, huh?

Well, actually it is, because this Pittsburgh rookie isn't Mario Lemieux, the NHL's heralded No. 1 draft pick. It's Warren Young, a 28-year-old virtually unheard of rookie signed as a free agent last year.

Young scored two goals in the final minute of regulation play Wednesday night, and set up Lemieux's overtime game-winner to rally the Penguins to a 4-3 triumph over the Winnipeg Jets.

According to Lemieux, the overtime was academic. Young's goals had scaled the game's fate and Lemieux sounded as though his own goal was immaterial.

"We had a good meal that brought us together." said Lemieux. "We had the feeling we could win. We knew we'd come back when we scored our second goal. When we scored our third goal we knew we would win. It's a great feeling to come from behind. It's good for the morale of the team.

Elsewhere in the NHL, Buffalo beat Boston 4-2, Chicago downed the New York Rangers 6-4. Los Angeles topped Toronto 4-3, Montreal defeated Edmonton 4-2, Vancouver edged Detroit 3-2, and Quebec blasted St. Louis 7-3.

Spat Doesn't Worry Converse

WILMINGTON, Mass. (UPI) - A no-holds barred brawl which made it clear there was no love lost between the Boston Celtics' Larry Bird and the Philadelphia 78ers' Julius Erving will have no effect on a series of commercials portraying them as warm buddles.

We're convinced this will pass and the two will be very professional and continue to do what they're supposed to do, and that's play basketball," Gib Ford, vice president of sales and marketing for Converse, Inc., said Wednesday. Since last year the company has been running ads showing the two stars chumming around in a locker room, cracking jokes and locking arms. 'We have no plans to change," said Ford. "In fact, we have a new one planned for next spring."

"It's certainly catching a lot of attention. Using the two might be of more int to people a la George Steinbrenner and Bill Martin." Ford said, referring to commercials which played on a running feud between the New York Yankees owner and ex-manager.

Only Blackwood was listed as questionable for Sunday's

Barbara Studwell Receives Child Advocate Of The Year Award

The Children's Home Society of Florida, Inc. and Wendy's International have announced the recipients of The 1984 R. David Thomas Child Advocate of the Year Award. Twelve of Florida's most outstanding volunteer advocates for children will be honored at a reception and dinner the evening of Dec. 6 at Pier 66 in Fort Lauderdale.

In making the announcement, Mrs. Mary Cross, president of the Board of Directors of The Children's Home Society, released the names of this year's recipients. Among those to be honored will be Mrs. Barbara Studwell of Seminole County. who was selected by the board of directors of the Central Florida Division, located in Orlando.

Mrs. Studwell has for the past three years worked to represent the best interest of abused and neglected children in Seminole County. As a volunteer Guardian Ad Litem, the circuit court has appointed Mrs. Studwell to represent a total of 30 children. The responsibilities she has assumed in her representation of these children include a thorough objective investigation of the entire case: protection of children from insensitive questioning and the often harmful effects of the adversary court process; acting as spokesperson for the children to assure the wishes of children are heard, and that the best interests of the children are presented to the court and agencies serving children: monitoring the agencies and persons who provide services to the children and assure that court orders are carried out.

Mrs. Studweel has not only handled an unusually high number of cases, but has taken the most difficult types of cases. In Seminole County she has one has provided exceptional a board member of the Florida case planning and investigation and has marked success in Children and is vice president of and member of the State Executives youngsters, I had no roots, and member of the State Executives youngsters, I had no roots, and member of the State Executives youngsters, I had no roots, and member of the State Executives youngsters, I had no roots. handled only the most serious representing these children. While Mrs. Studwell is an outstanding example of a "pro-fessional" in her volunteer efforts, she unselfishly gives these "children in crisis" her gift of caring and love. Her "kids" can rely on her to always be there and are secure in knowing that their best interests are paramount in every action she takes.

For the past three years, Mrs. Studwell has donated 40-60 hours per week to the Guardian Ad Litem Program. These hours include responding to a child abuse case in the middle of the right and weekends, if necessary. In one incest case, Mrs. Studwell volunteered over 170 hours representing the child who was victimized.

Since her involvement in the Guardian Ad Litem Program, Mrs. Studwell has broadened her advocacy for abused and ne-glected children by assuming leadership positions in various groups and organizations. She serves as a member of the Florida Bar's Special Committee the Board of Directors of the Seminole County Mental Health Program. She also serves as board member and secretary of the Board of Directors of CHARLEE (Children Have All Rights - Legal, Educational, and Emotional) of Seminole/Orange Counties, Incorporated.

Mrs. Studwell has been asked to chair the Governor's Constituency for Children for Seminole County. She was chosen by the Office of the State Courts Administrator of the Supreme Court of Florida, to act in the capacity of Volunteer Coordinator for the Guardian Ad Litem Program.

Both widowed, the Rev. and Mrs. Studwell married 12 years ago. Together they have nine children in their combined family. In addition to raising nine children, Mrs. Studwell has always been involved with volunteer projects. In the past she has volunteered her time with PTA. Brownies, Methodist youth groups, hospitals, and a women's prison.

Mrs. Studwell has contributed high quality representation for abused and neglected children. and has extended her advocacy for these children to a statewide Mrs. Cross cited each child advocate for their dedication and commitment to improving the quality of life for homeless children. "We honor these outstanding individuals for their important and effective contributions on behalf of the children of Florida. Thanks to their hard work and true loyalty. hundreds of children will have the opportunity to grow up in families of their own.

Insecurity Causes Husband To Always Fut Down Wife

DEAR ABBY: There is an aspect of my husband's behavior that continues to cause raw edges in our 16-year marriage. When I'm driving the car, he constantly instructs me, pointing out what I'm doing "wrong." When we play tennis together as doubles partners, he invariably "coaches" me on the court.

I have protested, pleaded, argued, kidded and tried every way I can think of to communicate that I do not welcome his teacher-student approach. When I ask him to stop it, he becomes even more persistent. Maybe I'm too sensitive, but I'd like to know why he feels compelled to act this way with me, and how I can put a stop to

DEAR ABBY: Our minister's young grandson was married a few months ago, so my husband and I attended the wedding and sent the young couple a check for $25 as a wedding gift. It's not much, but we are retired and are living on a fixed income.

We received a prompt and grectous note from the newlyweds thanking us for our stagift.

DEAR NOT SURE: Write to the newlyweds and tell them that your wedding gift which they so graciously and promptly acknowledged was not $10 as they indicated, but $25.

To Lose That Spare Tire, You Must Shed Weight

DEAR DR.LAMB - I am a or he couldn't have survived. Is 45-year-old woman. I weigh 160 she right? He was placed on a pounds and am 5 feet 7. I have been trying to diet and took grapefruit pills but didn't lose any weight. I do 20 situpe each night; still, my stomach looks like I'm six months pregnant. I have a bad back, so I can't do much exercise.

I walk a mile each day. Will that eventually make me lose my big stomach?

DEAR READER - There are two main ways to reduce a large abdomen. One is to eliminate body fat. There is about as much fat inside the abdomen as there is outside under the skin. The other way is to tighten and strengthen the abdominal muscles. That will also help provide support for the back and will help prevent back pain in many instances.

But regardless of how much you strengthen your abdominal muscles, you cannot reduce your waistline much unless you eliminate excess abdominal fat.

You need to be sure that your problem is just fat. Sometimes the real problem is a truly large tumor, such as a benign fibroid in the uterus. Fluid in the abdomen may also cause marked enlargement. You may see this with people who have advanced liver disease and accumulate abdominal fluid.

Walking is a good way to help 38 Canine cry you lose fat, but one mile a day will not do much very fast. Try to build up to walking four miles a day. You can spread out your exercise periods and walk one mile at a time four times a day if you wish, but you will need to develop this ability gradually.

Situps are fine to help tighten the abdomen if you do them $2 Villain in correctly.

Posture is also important. Standing up straight with your chest lifted up and out helps to put a normal arch in your back and prevents compressing your abdomen.

DEAR DR. LAMB .-- My brother-in-law has emphysema and a heart condition. About three months ago, he entered the hospital and was told he had congestive heart failure. One of my sisters said this wasn't true salt-free diet. DEAR READER - No. she is not right. Many people walking around today have had congestive heart failure. When the heart muscle fails to contract strongly enough, it becomes inefficient as a pump. If this affects the left side of the heart, fluid accumulates inside the lungs, causing shortness of

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

When North discovered his side's 4-4 spade fit, he launched into the Blackwood convention. When he found that there were no missing aces, he asked for kings. As he expected, there was one king missing between them. If South did not have the spade king, maybe the finesse would work. Luckily South did have the spade king, but the contract still went one down because of declarer carelesaness.

Declarer won the opening trump lead in dummy and saw immediately that the contract was safe if he could trump two diamonds in his own hand. Accordingly he played A-K of diamond with the spade ace. West discarded a heart. A low spade was led to dummy. East showing out, and declarer trumped dummy's last diamond with the spade king. West discarded his other heart. Now when South played a low heart toward dummy. West ruffed. Down one.

diamonds and trumped a third

Declarer's approach to taking 13 tricks was fine, but he made one slip. After trumping a diamond with the spade ace, he should at that point have led a heart to dummy. West will at that time still have a heart. Now the last diamond can be trumped high and a low spade led to dummy to draw trumps and claim the contract.

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) - Some actors reach Hollywood after years of playing in regional and repertory companies all over the country. Nick Nolte was one, across the nation in repertory the case with me for a long, long John Hillerman was another and now here is Robert Prosky.

Prosky had been acting at the Arena Stage, a distinguished Washington, D.C. repertory company, for 23 years.

That's a large chunk out of a person's lifetime to be in one job. "During those 23 years."

Prosky says, "I would think to myself, every other day, that perhaps I should leave and give Hollywood a try. Give movies a try. Give television a try

But I was comfortable there. I played great parts in great productions, I had good people to work with, it give me a chance to have a solid home life. I never made great money, but I was always able to support my family. My wife did some teaching and that helped."

So he stayed, acquiring a reputation among theatrical insiders as one of the great (but undiscovered) character actors. Then Hollywood found him, and gave him a great part in the James Caan movie "Thief." followed by the diabolical baseball-team owner in "The Natural."

He couldn't hide in Washington any longer. Now Prosky is the new roll-call sergeant in NBC's "Hill Street Blues," succeeding the late Michael Conrad. It is one of the major roles in one of the most prestigious TV series of the moment.

"I think now," Prosky says, "looking back on it, that I would have been better off if I'd left Washington five years before I actually did."

But better late than not at all. -With his expenses at hand, he has big bucks rolling in. So, the timing is exquisite.

"I'm sending four people to college now," he says. "I have three sons at Rutgers - one doing graduate work in microbiology and the other two in the theater program - and my wife is now studying for her master's degree in anthropology in Washington."

He is happy that stardom - and he looks sheepish when he says the word - has come to him when he is old enough to handle it easily. It isn't turning his head. He permits himself very few out-and-out luxuries.

Prosky is glad now that he left

4B-Evening Herald, Sanford, Fl. Thursday, Nov. 15, 1964 Longwood Scraps Park Plan; Starts From Scratch

By Jane Casselberry Herald Staff Writer

Longwood City Commissioners have named five members to the newly formed city Parks Advisory Board and if complaints about the condition of the city's Reiter Park and disagreement over plans for its use heard at Monday night's commission meeting are any indication, they have their work cut out for them.

Appointees and the commssioners who nominated them include: Larry Cole, 159 Sandalwood Way (Mayor J.R. Grant); David Lewis. 124 Ruby Red Lane (Harvey Smerilson); Deane Plato, 122 Shomate Drive (Ed Myers): Fred Eggerichs Jr., 237 E. Wildmere Ave., (June Lormann); and Roger Richardson, 1801 Sonoma Court (William Mitchell).

On a motion by Commissioner Smerilson, the commission voted 3-1 to scrap a plan on how to develop the park drawn up five years ago by the Seminole County Parks and Recreation Department and let the new board come up with its own

Mrs. Lormann voted against the motion. preferring to have the board study the existing plan before proposing possible changes.

The original plan called for a softball field. soccer practice field, tennis and handball courts. and restrooms. A lighted softball field is all that has been built, but that has brought protests from adjacent Longwood Croves subdivision residents who complained that the lights shone in their windows late at night, so the city pulled the plug on the lights five weeks ago.

Recreation Director Bill Goebel has delayed taking the lights down until they can be sold or another use found for them to prevent theft or vandalism. A statement was read for resident Peter Hoffman of 123 Ruby Red Lane who was scheduled to come before the commission Monday night but could not because he was hospitalized. Hoffman asked commissioners to remove the lights this week before they "sink in a sea of procrastination."

Goebel said he will get together with the new board and come up with a recommendation on the lights to bring back to the commission.

City Administrator David Chacey said the installation of a drainage system at the park is haif way complete, but is being held up by the lack of laborers in the Public Works Department. "We can't get people to work we have openings for 40 and have 20. The starting wage is $4.75 an

Mrs. Lormann said the dirt piled up in the park behind the fire station will be leveled off before the Nov. 17-18 Longwood Arts and Crafts Festival.

In other business, the commission:

- Voted unanimously to rezone lot 52 in the Longwood Historical District from R-2 (residential, single family-Duplex) to H (historical district) to bring the city's zoning map into conformance with the land use plan.

Passed an ordinance amending the city personnel policy to permit employees to transport alcoholic beverages and drugs in city emergency vehicles when required to do so in execution of

Voted to change the frequency of Code Enforcement Board meetings to allow the board, which now meets at least every two months, to meet less frequently if their are no cases to

- Approved a site plan for the Kenneth A. Martin Office/Warehouse in Florida Central Commerce Park and Lakewood Square on state Road 434 between Oxford and East streets.

Designated Nov. 23 and Dec. 24 as the floating holidays for city employees this year.

· Voted to pave one block of Georgia Avenue between Credo and Wayman streets in response to a petition signted by more than 50 percent of the property owners involved with owners on each side paying 45 percent of the cost and the

- Voted to change the name of Second Place to Second Street after a poll showed residents favored the name change.

instructed the public works director and city administrator to bring the commission information on lake maintenance and the feasibility of hiring a "lake doctor" familiar with the type of chemicals permitted by DER for use in lakes.

- Rejected a request by the Seminole County Association for Children with Learning Disabilities to use the commission chamber for its

A public hearing on a change in the city personnel policy and procedures manual that would include members of the city commission in the city's group insurance plan was delayed at the request of City Attorney Frank Kruppenbacher who wanted to get clarification from the State Ethics Commission on whether voting for the new benefit would be a conflict of interest for the commissioners. The attorney is also seeking a ruling on whether the new Parks Advisory Board members will have to make a financial disclosure.

Police Chief Greg Manning advised the commission that contrary to any rumors to that affect he is not involved in endorsing any candidate for the city commission. As a department head and a non-resident of the city, he said he considers it most improper to endorse a candidate in the Dec. 4 municipal election.

in response to complaints at the last commission meeting of speeding on Grant Street in the Columbus Harbour section, the Police Department issued 25 speeding tickets in the first few days a special patrol was assigned to the area. Manning said.

City Clerk Don Terry was directed to write to homeowners associations in the Coventry, Shadow Hills, Longwood Hills area to find out if they would like to have bus service on Longwood Hills and Range Line roads. The city transit bus is now operating between Milwee Middle School and the Altamonte Mall for 60 cents on a route along county Road 427, state Road 434, and Palm Springs Drive and the commissioners differed on whether or not to ask the bus company to extend the route to serve that area.

bank aimed at providing financial services. Hickman recalled one bank turning him for young professionals in Longwood.

Dr. James Hickman, owner of the 1-4 Industrial Park, Sanford, said a federal charter has been approved for First Sanlando Bank, N.A. The bank will be located on state Road 434 in the Sanlando Center Office Park. It is scheduled to open Feb. 1, 1985. Between now and then the organizers are trying to raise $3' million through the issuance of common stock.

Hickman said he and a group of other businessmen started the bank because one was needed to serve young, upwardly mobile professionals such as doctors and lawyers, a group tagged during the recent election as Y apples:

Calling First Sanlando an "upbeat" bank. he said: "I'm going after the professional account ... I'm going to look for the young professional and say. Hey, we want to be your bank."

Seminole County grand Jury on a charge of sexually battery to a 4-year-old boy has pleaded guilty to the lesser charge of lewd and lascivious assault.

The state agreed to the plea because the child has refused to

Report: NASA Space Station May Be Self-Serving

WASHINGTON (UPI) - NASA's proposed $8 billion space station is an inappropriate way to advance the United States' role in space and may be aimed at perpetuating the agency, a congressional advisory panel

The Office of Technology Assessment said that although America must progress in space, there is no immediate justification for the cost, timetable or most of the physical structures proposed in the space station

"Overall, the considered development of space through the paced acquisition of appropriate elements of space infrastructure is a key to maintaining America's leadership in space," the congressional panel said in a special report.

"However, because the nation does not have clearly formulated long-range goals and objectives for its civilian space activities, proceeding to realize the present NASA 'space station' concept is not likely to result in the facility most appropriate for advancing U.S. interests into the second quartercentury of the Space Age."

President Reagan committed the United States to building a habitable space station in his State of the Union address in January. NASA has estimated it will cost about $8 billion over the next 10 years to build one.

The agency hopes to launch the station early in the 1990s, using the space shuttle to ferry components into near-Earth orbit.

But the Office of Technology Assessment. which aids Congress with research on complex and technical issues, said there is no such thing as "the" space station. NASA's proposal is just one alternative in a series of options ranging from modest extensions of current capabilities to ensembles of space station elements more sophisticated and costly than NASA now suggests, the report said. The space station proposed by NASA is a general purpose unit that could support over 100 potential uses, few of which have been defined, the report said. The best defended ones, said the report, seem to be experiments involving life and materials. and servicing of satellites. The report said that the reasons cited as justification for the space station include the necessity of keeping up with Soviet advances in long-term orbit, the need for a permanent space laboratory, manufacturing facilities and a launching platform for missions to Mars, the moon and asteroids.

Another reason appears to be NASA's attempt to perpetuate current staffing and budget levels, the report said.

The space agency's program, said the report, could become an end in itself influencing the nation's civilian space program for decades - rather than a way to achieve important goals.

The report suggested that a National Commission on Space, created by the last Congress, sponsor a broad national debate to define and ensure public acceptance of long-range space goats.

The report said that NASA should put less emphasis on accomplishing tasks that should be performed by private industry or other nations. Instead, said the report, NASA should pursue advanced technology research, and exploration and discovery tasks that only the agency is equipped to accomplish.
