Woman Is Shot; Suspect Is Jailed

By BILL SCOTT

A shooting at the Victory beer garden early Thursday night sent a Sanford woman to Orange Memorial Hospital in "critical" condition. According to Det. Sgt. William Lykens, Naomi Burnett, 42, Goldsboro, was wounded when two slugs from a .38 caliber pistol were fired into her body, one lodging in the abdomen and the second in her chest.

King David Thomas, 37, Sanford, was charged with carrying a concealed weapon and is lodged at the city jail, awaiting further investigation of the case.

Still under investigation is a report that the woman also was armed.

Thomas was arrested just after the shooting while he walked along First Street, just blocks away from the Third and Sanford Avenue beer garden.

A fire last night in the Midway community, east of Sanford, destroyed the home of Calum Moore Jr., according to the sheriff's department. The blaze reportedly started when an oil heater exploded and set the Jetway Avenue house ablaze.

Midway and Lake Mary volunteer fire departments were called to extinguish the blaze that started at 11 p.m.

A break-in at Cowan's department store on First Street resulted in the theft of 18 new men's suits valued at $55 each.

From the GOOD NEWS Department . . . Mrs. Imnich called and told us of her son washing cars, along with other members of the Seminole High Band.

Somehow, his wallet got lost. The next thing they knew, it turned up in their mail box, in a big brown envelope. . . . EVERYTHING INTACT.

On behalf of a grateful family . . . thanks to that good samaritan.

You never know . . . Vesta Harper of Lake Mary had a blank money order in the amount of $48.89 on the front seat of her car. Yep, you guessed it . . . sometime between 11 a. m. and 6 p. m. on Tuesday, it disappeared.

Mrs. Harper would "love" to know of its whereabouts . . . preferably have it returned. Her number is 323-0842.

The other day we printed in this column a poem published on the front page of the Seminole Junior College newspaper CONTACT. Unfortunately, we didn't get the name of the poet . . . one about the troubles presently in Ireland, remember?

Well, today we were pleasantly surprised when a charming young lady visited with us and identified herself as being responsible for this prose . . . Helen Richard.

I thought it was outstanding. Ironically a short time earlier it had been submitted to a professor (somewhere in the southern part of the state, as I recall it) and Helen was told that it just didn't have "it."

Funny . . . but, I've had a number of readers call and tell us of how much they enjoyed reading it . . . and yet, that "Prof" . . . Should be a moral there . . . somewhere!

THE FIRST promise most politicians break is the promise to take down their posters and stickers right after the election.

Understand that there's a new bank being formed in Orange County (on West Colonial Drive) . . . interesting to see some familiar names in the list of incorporators—John Joseph Jenkins, C. Howard McNulty, Robert G. Neel, John Russell, W. M. Sanderlin and T. E. Tucker.

Eat shrimp, live longer. Eat oysters, love longer.

They who know the truth are not equal to those who love it, and they who love it are not equal to those who find pleasure in it.

Employs Planner

Cities Council Asks Aid

CASSELBERRY — Harlan Hanson, past director of the Orange Seminole Osceola Planning Council, was appointed planner of the CALNO Council of Local Governments last night and immediately put to work completing applications for state and federal funding which must be in Tallahassee by Monday.

Studies for which the Council requested funds are inter-governmental cooperation and coordination among the member cities of Casselberry, Altamonte Springs, Longwood and North Orlando, utility service including water, sewer, solid waste, capital budget, parks and recreation and drainage.

Meanwhile in Longwood, some dissension in the organization was seen with Acting Mayor E. E. Williamson leveling criticism at the council and particularly its chairman, Altamonte Mayor Lawrence Swofford for calling a meeting on the same night as the regular Longwood City Council meeting.

Williams said if Swofford cannot schedule meetings at a time when Longwood delegates can be present, perhaps he should "forget about the city as a member."

At the last CALNO meeting, no Longwood delegate attended even though it was not an a regular meeting night. It was reported at the time that each member of the City Council had a personal commitment.

As the first item of business Thursday night Swofford apologized to the City of Longwood for finding it necessary to call the "emergency" meeting of CALNO on the same night as its regular council meeting.

Hanson told the CALNO Council meeting that in conversations earlier Thursday with officials of the state Department of Community Affairs it could not be immediately determined whether the organization is entitled to $20,000 or $30,000 in grant aid for the studies.

Hanson said the state department is aware of the population explosion in the quadri-city area and unusually knowledgeable about the area's problems. "It looks like we'll receive tremendous cooperation at the state level," Hanson said. When asked charge for completing the applications Hanson said he would absorb the cost if he was hired as consultant by the organization, which he promptly was.

Swofford said his personal choice for the position was Hanson particularly because of his extensive knowledge of the area and his background in planning in the area.

The chairman added, however, he would go along with the choice of the majority, North Orlando Mayor Granville Brown urged also that consideration be given to naming Logan Browning, former controller of the City of Tampa, as a joint consultant with Hanson in the future.

County Approves Aid To Community Project

By ANN SIECZKOWSKI

Among the myriad of details covered by the Board of County Commissioners was the problem of the railroad crossing on 25th Street.

Sidney Vihlen Jr. mentioned the number of serious accidents which have occurred at the crossing on 25th Street in spite of the flashing lights. "I wonder if a crossing gate might not be advantageous because of limited vision in that area? Some times the lights are on, the train is some distance up the track and people race it across — some don't win the race. The gates would prevent this dangerous practice and save some lives."

County Engineer William Bush was requested to run a survey as to the cost of signal construction at this site.

In other action, Al Davis reported that residents in the Lake Harriet area are involved in a community project of removing hyacinths from the lake.

The residents on a recent weekend hauled away 20 truckloads to the dump at a cost of about $50. There would have to be another similar expense before all the hyacinths are removed.

Davis asked if the board could give some relief to the people to do the job.

Supt. J. C. Lavender said his crews can not go on private property to pick up hyacinths and even if they were removed to the county right-of-way he does not have spare labor or equipment to do the job.

"Well, the people don't mind doing the work—that is not what we are asking. Could we waive the dumping fee so they can still use the county landfill to get rid of the hyacinths?" Davis countered.

Chairman Greg Drummond said he would agree with the waiver provided it be applied as a uniform policy instead of this single instance.

The waiver was approved but the commissioners emphasized that future waivers would not be automatic — that each one would have to be judged individually and approved. Not every community project could come under this single waiver.

True Bill For Rape

Thomas Todd, 22, Casselberry, was indicted yesterday by the grand jury for the alleged Oct. 21 rape of a 37-year-old married woman, also of Casselberry. Three witnesses testified before the grand jury.

Todd was arrested on a justice of the peace warrant issued at the woman's request and has been held in jail without bond since the day following the alleged assault.

The assault allegedly occurred in the woman's home. A deputy quoted Todd he had been intimate with the woman on previous occasions. The complainant denied any previous intimacy.

The woman's husband was confined to a hospital at the time of the alleged rape.

Todd also told deputies the eighty-year-old daughter of the woman came into the room at the time of the alleged intimacy.

The Lamp From God

By JAMES C. VAUGHN
Sanford Christian Church

Psalm 119:105, 120: "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path." "The opening of thy words giveth light; it giveth understanding unto the simple."
In the time of David, the writer of these passages from the Psalms, the coming of night brought all activities to a standstill. It is difficult for us in the 20th century to imagine the fear that darkness once brought. No one would venture out without some kind of protection from thieves and wild animals, and from stumbling. Light was valued as a precious commodity, one of God's greatest blessings.

In the Psalm, David referred to a light much greater than the sun, a light which would never leave the soul in darkness; the Holy Scriptures. It is necessary to value the Bible and hold it in proper esteem. Benjamin Franklin would not print Thomas Paine's "The Age of Reason." He said, "The world is bad enough with the Bible; I shudder to think what it would be like without it." In the Bible, God has given us a sure lamp for our feet and a light for our path; and it serves many useful functions.

First, the Bible is a reading lamp. Reading brings knowledge, and this lamp gives knowledge of the thoughts and will of Almighty God. God has two aspects: one is light, to others He is darkness. Like the Egyptians veiling the cloud in the wilderness, some people find the Bible dark with mystery; but it is possible like the Israelites, to find God's revelation full of vital light. Abraham Lincoln learned his lessons with just a little light — the light of a candle. Even so, if we come to the Bible with the proper attitude and spirit, it will not be darkness to us, but will reveal the light of God.

The Bible is also a hearing lamp. In Jeremiah 20:9, the prophet wrote:

"And if I say, I will not make mention of him, nor speak any more in his name, then there is in my heart as it were a burning fire shut up in my bones, and I cannot contain."

Jeremiah could not resist the power of God's Word; it was like a fire! Many have found the Word of God to be such: its power haunts them until they submit to it. During His ministry, throngs of people followed Jesus, not for His miracles but for the Word which set them on fire. This Word later brought the martyr's blood, but it became stronger, more influential and beloved with each saint's death.

The Word can also be a traveling lamp. I once owned an automobile with defective headlights which went out at the worst possible moments, making night travel dangerous. Life's pilgrimage will lead to many places which demand light: there are times when wrong seems to be right, and evil seems to be good. Relationships can make Christ's road seem to be a dead-end; we hear strange doctrines and see unfamiliar faces. These are dangers which call for light. We need the light of God's Word; we must dare not forsake it. A small boy once sneaked into the closet and ate a sweet white powder which turned out to be poison. He was saved, but he learned the lesson that poison is often sweet, and that one needs light to point out dangers in the darkness.

God's Word also functions as a night lamp. Every man comes to a dark hour. Perhaps at the death of a friend we seek for words, inspiration, or advice to comfort and guide the bereaved. Nearly everyone turns to the Bible. A missionary who had been imprisoned in a Communist concentration camp testified that the only thing standing between him and insanity was the great amount of Scripture he had memorized earlier in his life. Many have held to the light of God's Word and have overcome difficulties; others have ignored God's Word and failed.

Finally, the Bible is a guiding lamp. There have been many lighthouses dotting our shorelines to guide ships to safety. Now searchlights bring great beacons safely to earth. The lamp of God leads seeking souls to abundant eternal life. If you are lost, looking for a purpose and direction for your life, keep your eyes on Christ and His Word and follow Him. He will lead you to a life so abundant and wonderful it is beyond human comprehension. As an old man lay dying, he said, "The often we see our lives as chains of events that could have been better, and defeats that could have been victories." Only Christ can fill life with meaning and turn defeat into victory.

Graham: Jesus Movement Affecting All

10 Commendable Features Listed By Evangelist

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Evangelist Billy Graham, who has announced his return to the U.S. in the Nov. 5 issue of Christianity Today magazine that the Jesus movement "by and large is a genuine movement of the Spirit of God that is affecting nearly every denomination and every social and educational stratum, and is causing discussion on the editorial room of the New York Times to the dining room of the White House."
"This highly encouraging development comes at a time when other thousands of American young people are involved with permissive sex, drugs, and violence on a scale that staggers the imagination," he says. "While noting that extremes, dangers, pitfalls, and problems exist in the movement—just as in the early Church, Graham says he studied the movement and found a number of "commendable features." He then lists ten of them:

1. The movement thus far centers in the person of Jesus Christ. 2. It is Bible-based. 3. It demands an experience with Jesus Christ—"an intense personal relationship with Jesus that... should condition every other thought." 4. It puts renewed emphasis on the Holy Spirit. 5. In it, young people have found a cure for drug addiction. 6. It is pushing churches to update their services and methods, providing opportunities for greater involvement of members and more dynamic relationships among them. 7. It stresses Christian discipleship — almost "a new puritanism" which may be "a reaction to the permissiveness of the 1960s." 8. It offers evidence of social responsibility: the movement is inter-racial, and many young people have started "all kinds of new social projects." 9. It possesses great zeal for evangelism. 10. It emphasizes anew the Second Coming of Jesus Christ.

In the article Graham asserts that Linda Eastman, who witnessed in the Manson trial, and her husband have been converted.

Evangelist Relates Hellish Drug Trip

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
When youthful evangelist Rick Hansen talks about hell, he knows where of he speaks. . . he's been there. When he was 15 and a senior in high school in Xenia, Ohio, he began the five-year rebellion trip that took him into the depths of the hell of drug addiction.

A former addict and big time pusher in Hollywood, Hansen nearly died because of drugs but was unable to quit on his own. Following a religious experience when he gave his life to Christ, God healed his addiction without symptoms of withdrawal, and since he has devoted his time to trying to reach young people throughout the country trying to turn them off drugs and on to the Word of God.

The Sanford Ministerial Association is sponsoring 24-year-old Hansen's appearances in Sanford this week. He has been speaking at area schools during the week and rallies are planned Saturday at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Sanford Civic Center.

A rap session and informal get-together are planned for tonight at 7:30 at the First United Methodist Church with all youth invited.

This is Hansen's second visit to this city having been here in April, 1970 under the auspices of the Church of God. Since then, while not making talks in his crusade, school, church, and on radio and television, he has been working with young people in Greensboro, N.C., who want to kick the habit of drugs. His home for addicts there is the "Generations Bridge" is closed temporarily for lack of funds. He has won acceptance of his work by state, federal and judicial officials and he hopes to establish a facility in the country where the cost of living would be less.

When asked how he compares the illegal drug situation among young people today as compared with his last visit, Hansen stated the situation is worse than ever and there has been a great influx of heroin. The syndicate of Mafia is taking a bigger hand and use in elementary and junior high schools has soared to ridiculous heights, he revealed.

William Reed is chairman of the event, which will be held Dec. 2 at 7:30 p.m. John Sheri, Jaycees president, agreed with Crossley that this will be the "biggest and best parade ever."

Sheridan voiced pleasure over the Jaycees Christmas tree sales, law enforcement and drug abuse programs undertaken by the service group.

Tain't In Oviedo Or Chuluota Therefore, 'Tis In Taintsville

By ANN SIECZKOWSKI
County Commission agenda this week was crowded with many small but important items of business. A resolution was read regarding the matter of adoption of a name for 600 acres "not in Oviedo and not in Chuluota." The name chosen by the residents of the area is "Taintsville."

Since the request was made of the board, no objections have been received. This new community would have no charter or police.

The Seminole zoning department was advised to notify all residents in the area about the name change and inform them of a public hearing on Dec. 11 to discuss formal adoption.

County Attorney Thom Hubbard reported his investigation showed that the Oviedo airport is not listed at this time anywhere as a licensed airport. A recommendation was made to have X's painted on the runway and aviation yellow, indicating that landing is prohibited.

Bomb Threat Centered On McGovern's Plane

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Police said they tried to warn presidential candidate George McGovern's airplane of a bomb threat last night but the airport control tower said it never got the message.

McGovern, the only declared contender for the 1972 Democratic White House nomination, took off from Tampa International Airport in a private Beechcraft plane at 9:10 p.m., about five minutes after city police received the telephone threat, an officer said.

Tampa police asked airport security men to radio the plane that "the threat might have been directed toward McGovern," who by then was airborne, said Lt. Jack Johnson of the city police force.

The control tower was never alerted about the threat, the tower's "watch supervisor" said today, "and they couldn't very well contact that plane without us knowing about it."

"Apparently, the only people who know anything about this thing is the news media and McGovern," said the supervisor, who asked to withhold his own name.

A telephone company operator listened in while the police switchboard took the call from a man who said a bomb was going to go off, the Tampa Tribune reported.

Johnson said the caller's voice was muffled, "like he was talking through a handkerchief . . . and it was hard to understand his words."

Mariner 9 is to fire its engine for a 15-minute burn at 7:17 p.m. EST Saturday when it is 3,100 miles from Mars' surface. It is to take Mariner's 11,600-mile-per-hour plunge toward the planet and send the spacecraft into an egg-shaped orbit.

Photographs displayed Thursday evening at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, taken during the preceding 24 hours as Mariner 9 hurtled within 35,000 miles of Mars, showed the planet obscured by the dust.

Scientists had expected this. But they were able in many of the 31 pictures to make out Martian features like the south polar cap, a vast desert region called Syrtis Major, a dark strip near the south pole called Mare Australe and others.

"These pictures are more encouraging than we had thought previously because we're able to see through the haze and obscuration," said Brad Smith of New Mexico State University, a Mariner scientist.

And Dr. Harold Marsury in Flagstaff, Ariz., said reports from several ground observatories also indicate the dust is beginning to clear.

Scientists interested in mapping Mars and studying geological features have been concerned the dust might interfere. Others have been elated at the International Airport.

Despite confusion over exactly what the caller said, airport security police reportedly searched the Eastern Airlines departure area and found no bomb.

Sen. McGovern had a scheduled appearance today at Florida Memorial College in Boca Raton.

THOUGHTS

We intend that no one should blame us about this liberal gift which we are administering, for we aim at what is honorable not only in the Lord's sight but also in the sight of men.—1 Cor. 8:20, 21.

You don't have to preach honesty to men with creative purpose. Let a human being throw the engines of his soul into the making of something, and the instinct of worshipfulness will take care of his honesty.—Walter Lippmann, journalist.

Another Bright Aspect Of Seminole County

Take a look at what's going on in Seminole County in the overall field of crime detection, judicial disposal, confinement and correction and there are some very bright spots in this very difficult and often dark prospect.

Lawbreakers are being apprehended and arrested in a manner which is increasingly cool, calm and effective. Of course this must stem from leadership in the sheriff's office, the municipal police departments and the State Highway Patrol which points this way.

Chief factor, however, in making this a reality for our county is the provision in Seminole Junior College of several courses which offer instruction in Florida Police Standards under the general term of "Police Science Technology."

Oversimplified, they can be described as covering criminal law and legal procedures, criminal investigation and police administration.

Fruit of these endeavors however can be savored as the lawbreaker who has been taken into custody under such processes finds himself in a situation where he is not coddled nor is he abused. In fact this proper arrest is the first step in the path which has justice as its final goal.

Without minimizing the difficulties which lay in wait to make the arraignment, the trial and the sentencing a challenge to every one involved, it is only fair to point out that in our courts there is a welcome air of new approaches.

True improvement of the state's judicial system awaits the legislature's action on Article Five of the constitution which was the only one which escaped modern treatment when the constitution was, itself, revised.

Until then, however, what is taking place in our local courts is doing the best it can with the means now at hand. And this is a most accomplished feat.

Confinement is one part of this overall system, however, which is far from having been solved nor in a shape with which the public can or should be satisfied.

Once more and in another area, the difficulty of keeping up with growth — and this is in crime — haunts the best wishes of the leadership. New facilities, however, are being provided and this imprisonment problem is on the way to solution.

It would be quite unrealistic if such comment as this overlooked the two means of meeting the challenge of lawbreaking which is attempted in the two processes of probation — which the judge can provide — or parole which the parole board disposes.

Probation is a tool which can be best provided when the judge has pre-sentence investigation to guide this decision. It is, however, one of the most effective means of keeping a first offender from getting that "recid" which mars his life.

Parole is the only means which has been widely tried to really rehabilitate the offender who has been imprisoned and then seeks a way to normal life.

In both of these instances, however, not only in Seminole but everywhere, the lack of effective operation of P and P is the lack of well-trained and well-paid officers.

A visit to and talk with James Lee, Seminole parole officer, (a brilliant exception) illustrates this point. For Mr. Lee is well-trained, experienced and — in the best sense of the word — dedicated.

Thus taken all-in-all, Seminole County, in every aspect of the law-enforcing, judicial and rehabilitation effort, is something which deserves to be held in high esteem.

Alarm Bell Rings

Members of the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction and all involved in the apparatus which is charged with educating the young folks would be well advised to keep their eyes and minds opened to what is happening in their chosen field.

Research, study, discussion and proposals are coming from almost every source and at every level. Every once in a while however, there is a hard news story which cuts through all these and rings an alarm bell.

Such an event took place in Independence, Mo., home of the wise former President Harry S. Truman whose famous desk sign "The Rock Stops Here" is quite pertinent.

"For the seventh time in two years," goes the TPM dispatch, "voters rejected a tax hike to finance schools." Joe Peters, a school board member commented, "a black mark against America. It's sickening."

Not at all. It is further evidence that the taxpayer is getting more and more realistic in appraising what his educational tax dollar is buying.

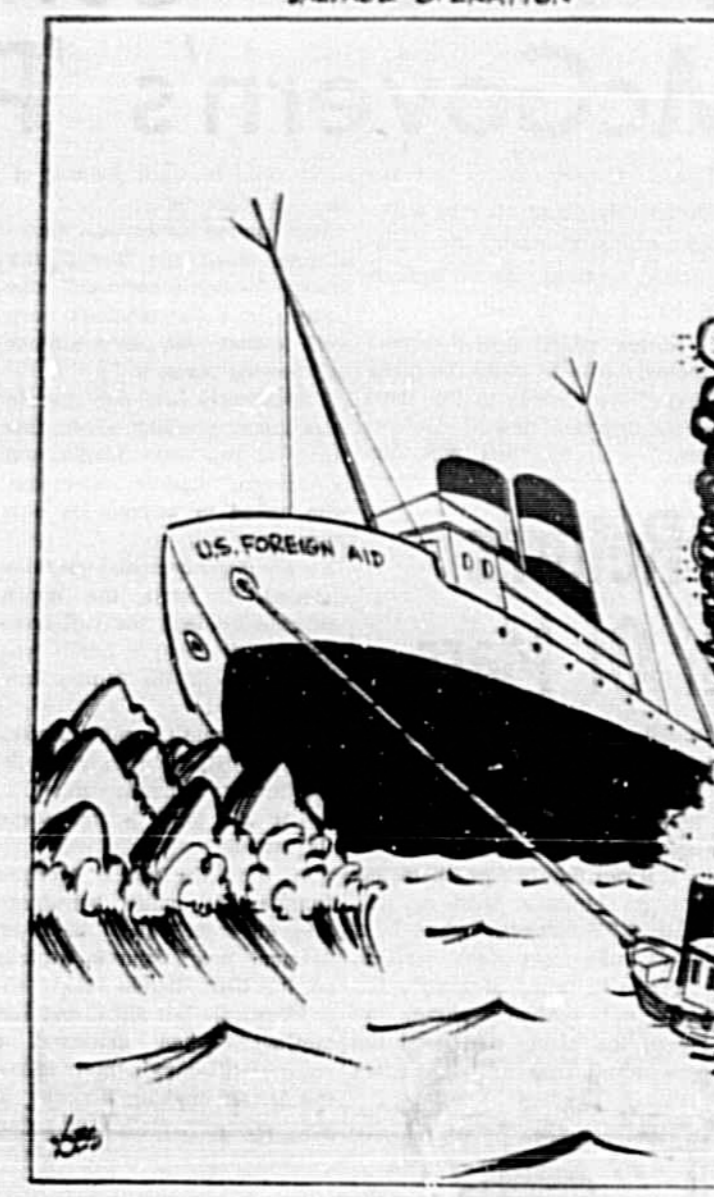

Nor were the Independence voters unaware that closing the schools in mid-term was a tactic which the board could employ and did with disruption of the educational process, the price.

The proposed tax increase would have been about $61 a year for the homeowner. Lack of funds to pay teachers' salaries was the excuse the board used for shutting down the schools.

It is not theoretical at all that the demand all over the United States within the education systems is an immediate halt on expenditures which common sense will not O.K.

It is a demand which will not be silenced in Seminole County nor in Florida where the state educational system is due for a major overhaul.

Japan Feels Downgraded Now

By BRUCE BOSSAT
TOKYO (AP) — Severe resentment against President Nixon in high Japanese circles is not being softened by the visits here of Treasury Secretary John Connally and presidential economic adviser Paul McCracken.

Though some blunt talk breaks through the surface cordiality Japan displays in official and unofficial meetings with American representatives, the behind-the-scenes language here is a lot rougher.

Everybody knows, of course, that the Japanese did not like the surprise of the President's Aug. 15 economic statement or his July 15 announcement of the visit to Peking. But the constant reference to "Nixon shocks" doesn't convey the depth of feeling.

One influential government official called the President a virtual dictator in the foreign field. Said another:

"There are only two major countries where matters like this could be handled with such secrecy—the Soviet Union and the United States."

Some high-placed Japanese appear to wonder if Nixon understands how much weight attaches to the pronouncements of America's leaders.

"He's not the president of

Japan Feels Downgraded Now

Costa Rica, What He Does

Costa Rica, what he does affects everybody. The world waits to hear."

Off the summertime shocks there is strong doubt in Tokyo, too, that the President truly understands either the Japanese or Asian people in general. One official recalled that Nixon had been to Japan eight times, and bluntly indicated he did not think the President had learned much from his visits. In genuine puzzlement, he asked me how such a man could get elected in America.

In historic Kyoto, I took afternoon tea in the home of a 66-year-old kimono-clad wholesaler. Though basically friendly to the United States and deeply grateful for past aid, he called Nixon's moves "oppressive," and said the 10 per cent import surcharge faced Aug. 15 smacked of an "imposed order," as a people seen as inferior.

Japanese officials do not take kindly to the argument, widely circulated unofficially, that Nixon had to keep his moves secret because Japan is a bad keeper of confidential news. Buried a foreign ministry officer:

"Could the President have trusted one man, Prime Minister Sato? Does he have more faith in China's Chou En-lai than he does in Sato?"

The feeling is deep that the net of it all is that Nixon has somehow downgraded Japan while making dramatic approach to China. Again, from a top official:

"Who is America's friend in Asia, Japan or China?"

Eager themselves to normalize relations with Peking, the Japanese insist they held back at U. S. urging, only to have Nixon pull the rug out from under them. They yielded to U. S. pressure to cosponsor the resolution intended to keep Taiwan in the United Nations, and believe now that Nixon's push for that goal was half-hearted. If he was serious, they say, why did he send aide Henry Kissinger back to Peking at the very time that issue was at critical turn?

The smiting, then, are facile. Nixon may have dealt Japan lasting hurt.

"Watch Your Step" - Up Or Down

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — People are always going up or down in this world.

The summit is the goal but it is a crowded, restless place and hard to perch on for long.

It behooves a man, therefore, to know whether his career is ascending or declining. In a world of sham this isn't always too easy. But there are certain guide marks.

For example, you don't have to be much to worry about if — you are the one who gives the orders, not the one who gets them.

Your wife belongs to the fur-of-the-mouth club.

It is no trouble for you to remember the street addresses of all your new nests, but how and when you have trouble remembering the names of the girls you feathered their hair.

When you play golf it never rains. It wouldn't dare.

You have acquired a chronic but non-fatal illness so that you can't renew it.

Good Diet A Curb On Killers

By DAVID HENDIN
The medical affliction responsible for the most deaths in the United States today is coronary heart disease.

Experts say that heart disease is epidemic in our country, and they link it closely with another problem of epidemic proportions — obesity.

Now several scientists believe they have found a close connection between overeating and the nation's No. 1 killer disease — cancer.

If these preliminary studies are borne out by further studies it will be another in what may someday prove to be a long series of links between the nation's two top killers.

Other associations between causes of cancer and heart disease have already received a lot of publicity.

● Cigarette smoking has been statistically tied to both lung cancer and coronary heart disease.

● Emotional stress, long thought to be a factor in heart disease, has also been mentioned, by some scientists, as a possible factor in certain forms of cancer in some patients.

There has been much research into the relationship of obesity, fat intake and other nutritional factors to heart disease. Experts in the field generally agree there is an optimal state of nutritional health to most successfully avoid coronary heart disease.

Now the possible relationship between nutrition and cancer is receiving a great deal of attention by scientists.

At the recent annual meeting of the American College of Surgeons in Atlantic City, Dr. Robert Good, a University of Minnesota physician-researcher, said that he had been able to induce resistance to certain blood and breast cancers in rodents "by just reducing the amounts of protein in the diet."

Good warned, however, that too drastic a protein reduction can have just the opposite effect — an increased susceptibility to cancer in the laboratory animals.

Proteins responsible for rebuilding destroyed and damaged cells and tissues in the body, are needed in greater quantity by individuals who are not yet physically mature.

Earlier this year Good reported in Nature, a British science journal, that malnourished rodents had an earlier time developing cancer cells in their bodies than did normally fed animals.

Similar research by Dr. Roy Walford at the University of California School of Medicine showed that rodents fed a diet of one-third the normal number of calories lived longer and developed 10 to 60 per cent fewer cancers than the better fed animals.

Walford suggested, based upon his work, that man should eat considerably less than he does now, provided that he maintained the proper intake of vitamins and minerals.

Such studies point out the importance of increasing nutrition study for medical students — it is now scanty or nonexistent — as well as the funding of ongoing research programs.

The notion that man must eat right to keep healthy is not a new one. But it seems that around every new corner the public is finding out how little science really knows about what man should eat.

Helen Fuller Says:

Nixon Acting Like A "Bender"

WASHINGTON — President-watcher find that, after pulling an haul and seeming to go through great agonies to painful decisions, the President usually winds up in a position approved by most on-lookers in the first place.

So much has Mr. Nixon become the "bender" to the word that reporters have reason to doubt a little another "new Nixon." Most recent example is his choice of new Supreme Court Justices. These choices show what a "bender" does under heavy pressure. All other outlets blocked, Mr. Nixon inevitably did what moderate would have had him do at the start.

Now we are going to see how a "bender" performs at a point of great international pressure in Vietnam.

Here, as usual, Chief Foreign Advisor Henry Kissinger is calling the signals.

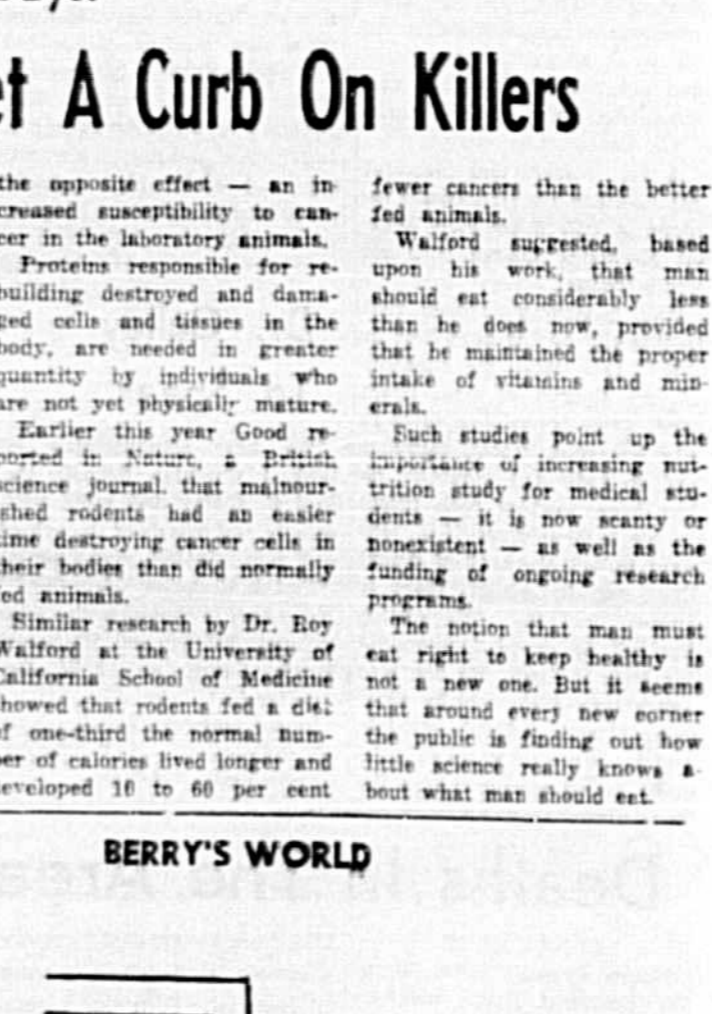

It is he who seems to be planning the coming Nixon — China hoax.

It is also Kissinger who will hand down what will probably be the final draft agreement between the U.S. and North Vietnam in a compromise settlement.

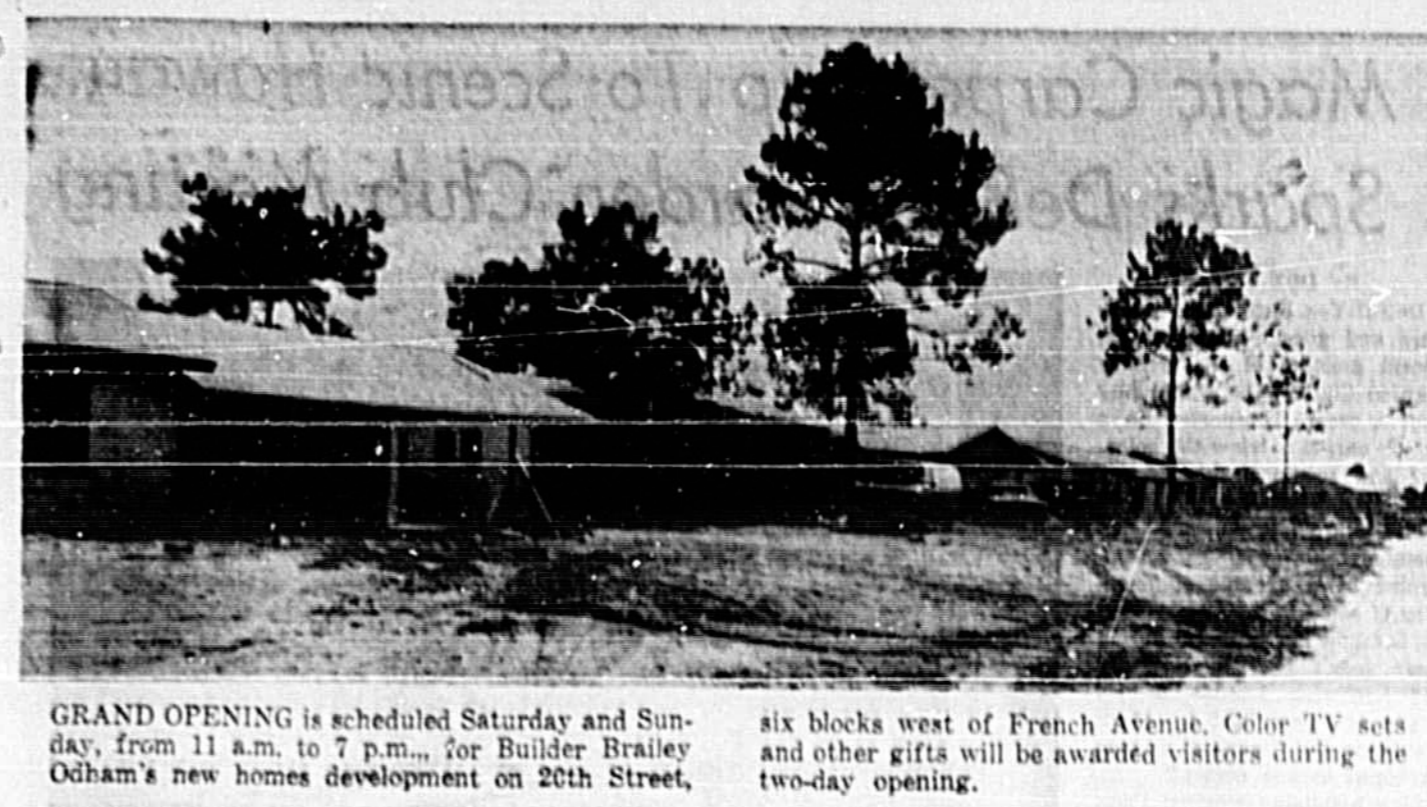

Before Nixon and Kissinger came to the White House, Kissinger spelled out the outline for a policy, should Nixon agree, under heavy pressure. All other outlets blocked, Mr. Nixon inevitably did what moderate would have had him do at the start.

Now we are going to see how a "bender" performs at a

Zoning Change Approved

By ANN SIECZKOWSKI
Heard in the public hearing session of the County Commission meeting was a request of John R. Smith for rezoning from R-1 Residential to C-1 commercial at Grapevine Avenue and 22nd Street.

"I asked for a building permit to build a store room. It was refused until the area is rezoned. I still just want to build a store room. I also now want permission to expand my store—there will be no other kind of business—just a store 15 by 40 feet."

"Rezoning would allow a 'joke box,'" Farr said.

"This store is already licensed to sell beer and wine. And we have a day nursery run by a church in the area. I am opposed to this rezoning," Mrs. John Williams, a resident in the area, said.

Mrs. Williams said in response to query from Chairman Greg Drummond she would not object to a C-1 zoning as long as there was no "joke box." Drummond said, "I feel we should encourage not discourage the small business man."

Commissioner Sidney Vihlen said, "As the district commissioner, I share with Mrs. Williams some concern about the joke box. But I do want to go on record in favor of C-1 zoning. This store is a new building, built with a loan from the Small Business Administration. I think it is an advantage and a protection to the neighborhood. I therefore move to rezone the area from R-1 residential to C-1."

Edmund Henderson, owner of the property under contract in the Goldenrod section on the north side of Citrus Avenue, rezoned rezoning from A-1 Agriculture to R-1 residential, in lieu of R-1A zoning.

Drummond said, "There have been rezoning attempts by developers and I do not take a step backward. I hope to upgrade that area. It is in this instance."

Teague Luncheons Will Be Changed

A different type lunch will be served at Teague Middle School at Forest City, when that school starts on double sessions Monday.

Hugh Carlton, school auxiliary services director, reported to the School Board that, due to the large number of students to eat and the requirement that services be twice daily rather than at the regular lunch period, the school menu will consist of the special type lunch.

Exact nature of the meal was not disclosed, except that it would be "a little more than a bag lunch but less than a regular meal." Cost has been reduced from 47 cents to 35 cents per meal, Carlton revealed.

In another school development, Herbert Muse, transportation supervisor, will transfer to the school office maintenance supervisor, effective Tuesday.

Woodrow Barnes, chief transportation mechanic, will be moved to the transportation supervisory position, also effective Tuesday.

"Oh, say does that star-spangled banner yet wave?"

When you display the Flag, you're saying a lot about yourself.

You're saying that you believe in the principles on which our government was founded. And, most of all, that you have faith in the future of our country.

It also means that you want to stand up and be counted. As members of the community, we're concerned that some Americans appear to have forgotten the true meaning of the Flag. The Flag itself may remind them. So, display the Flag. It's not "flag-waving." It's not an idle gesture. It shows your colors.

Magic Carpet Trip To Scenic Hawaii Sparks DeBary Garden Club Meeting

By DOT DREW
DeBary—Forty-three members and guests attending the recent meeting of the DeBary Garden Club in the community center, were transported on a magic carpet to view the splendor and scenic beauty of our 50th state—Hawaii.

MRS. HAROLD S. JOHNSON, a member of the DeBary Garden Club, recently transported members on a magic carpet to visit Hawaii as her guests through the showing of films taken while a resident of our 50th state during her husband's assignment in the "most beautiful islands" in the Pacific. Mrs. Johnson, center, is shown with Mrs. H. M. Gilhuly, president of the DeBary Club, and Mrs. Creston E. Oversted, program chairman.

Mrs. Alvin Becker, horticulture chairman, gave the following timely gardening hints: Caladium bulbs can be lifted now, cuttings made of perennials can be stored for more and larger future blooms. At rubber bridge he would simply have passed and hoped to set three spades. This double succeeded better than he had hoped. He opened the ace of diamonds and continued the suit in spades from his partner. Then he grabbed the first trump lead and played a club. He wanted to put his partner in and the ace of hearts was looking him right in the face. East cashed the ace and then the king of clubs.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my husband's family. We get along for the most part, but when it comes to politics and related social issues, we disagree violently. In order to keep every get-together from erupting into a noisy battle, I just keep my mouth shut. However, my children are now old enough to understand the talk and I don't like some of the statements made by my husband's family to go unchallenged. Yet I know they are the kind of people with whom one cannot have an intelligent discussion. All they know how to do is yell and shout. They (my husband's people) always initiate these political discussions, and to keep the peace, I say nothing. How in the world can I keep quiet without destroying my children's belief in my ideals?

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE 524: Dr. J. C. Higginson, aged 82, is the oldest dentist in Danville, Ill. Occasionally he drops into the office of his son, Daniel, to reminisce about dentistry. For he has a keen mind and also a superb sense of humor. Until their firstborn son arrived earlier this year, Dan's vivacious wife, Judy, helped in the dental office. So when Dan was at the YM-CA on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights playing volleyball with his team, Judy would be regaled with Dr. Higginson's stories. One of them involved Rotterdam. Dr. Higginson said a little girl called to her mother to "tattle" on her 12-year-old brother. "Mother," pleadingly exclaimed the girl, "Billy swore at me!" Well, this was a good moral home where Sunday School was an integral part of the week's schedule, so Mamma was horrified. "Billy," she challenged, "did you swear at your sister?" Billy denied the charge. "Yes, he did, too!" positively affirmed his sister. "I did not," just as firmly protested Billy. "Then why does your sister say you did?" persisted Mamma. "Well," replied Billy, "what does Rotterdam mean to you?" "It's a city," she answered. "What else did her was that if she ever stole another piece of my candy, I hoped it'd Rotterdam itself!" Billy proudly defended himself. This story is just a sample of the mirth that Dr. Higginson spreads around his city. But he also is keenly interested in civic affairs, so he frequently sends letters to the editors. For several years, he has been invited by the Gemnet newspaper in Danville to write a column in the annual banquet sponsored by the Commercial News for the best letters to the editor. The annual event brings to gether alert citizens, whether bricklayers or bankers, lawyers or housewives, doctors or high school students and clergymen, who have expressed their views most effectively in brief letters to the editor. Earlier this week I told you that the famous Freedom Foundation at Valley Forge also awards medals each year not only to editors, orators and columnists, but also to letter-writers to their local newspaper. Indeed, one of the best outlets for those who crave to be writers, is the "Sound Off" page of their newspapers where the local readers may express their opinions in terse, 200-word missives. And if you wish to influence your Congressman, first send your letter to your local newspaper editor. If he deems it worthy of reprinting, then clip the entire page, mark your letter with red or green pencil, and enclose the page to your congressman at Washington or your State Legislature. On the outside envelope, also write "Marked copy" and enclose it in a self-addressed envelope. Your letter will then have perhaps 10,000 horsepower punch!

Holiday Arrangement Tips Presented To Geneva Club

GENEVA—The Geneva Garden Club met on Nov. 3 at the lovely home of Mrs. W. D. Dunn. The meeting was opened by the reading of a meaningful poem by Mrs. Calvin Oldham which was followed by the club prayer. It was noted that the club will be observing their 40th birthday at the February meeting. Plans for a big celebration were discussed with completed details to be available at a later date. It was suggested to have the birthday observance at night and in the home of the husbands of the members as well as any of the past presidents who were able to attend. A discussion followed with the various committees to report their findings at the next regular meeting. Mrs. John Thomas, horticulture chairman, advised that all plants should be mulched as a precaution to the hazards of winter. A question and answer period followed. Guests adjourned to the formal dining room where they were served a delightful brunch.

8 Viets Killed In Error Yanks Fire On Allies

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer SAIGON (AP) — U.S. helicopter gunships fired into a South Vietnamese column with rockets and machine guns by mistake, killing eight South Vietnamese and wounding 21, the U.S. Command reported today.

A U.S. communique blamed the South Vietnamese, saying the gunships were supporting Vietnamese troops in contact with the enemy and "placed ordnance on targets as directed" by the ground force. The incident occurred on the central coast Thursday about 20 miles northeast of Saigon. The Command said it was being investigated.

Morals Charges Filed On Inmates

Moral charges were filed this morning by the state attorney against four men confined in a single county jail cell block. Two counts of a crime against nature were filed against each of the four men.

Sheriff John Polk disclosed that Kirk D. Riley, 16, Longwood; James Elbert Knight, 17, Sanford; Thomas G. Todd, 23, Casselberry; and Gary C. Adair, 18, Sanford, were charged after an investigation conducted in the jail by Lt. L. J. Kritz, working with state's attorney in investigators. The sheriff said his office reported the alleged incidents to the state attorney's office. A joint investigation was conducted which led to today's direct information.

Riley was awaiting trial on possession and sale of marijuana charges, after a drug raid conducted two months ago by sheriff's deputies. Knight is being held on two charges of breaking and entering. Todd was arrested 10 days ago after a Casselberry woman filed a complaint charging she was raped in her home by the accused. The grand jury Thursday returned a true bill against Todd and ordered him held for trial without bond. Adair had just 17 days left to serve on a possession of dangerous drugs conviction.

A state attorney investigator said conviction on the new charges could carry a 20-year sentence, since crime against nature is a felony.

'Topless' Girls May 'Go-Go'

By DONNA ESTES

LONGWOOD — Preparation of a resolution giving strong support to the efforts of the Board of County Commissioners to ban "topless go-go" clubs in Seminole was ordered prepared by the City Council last night.

Holding a Sanford Herald newspaper clipping in hand, Acting Council Chairman Eugene Jacques equated topless night-club entertainers with decadence of the nation's morals.

"It is just as wrong for women to go topless as for men to go bottomless," the councilman said, insisting the law is not consistent when a man can be arrested on the streets for indecent exposure yet a woman can bare her chest to an audience in a drinking establishment.

Comparing the moral decline in the nation to that suffered in the Roman Empire which led to its fall centuries ago, Jacques said, "It is time we take a stand and be counted."

He continued that the majority of the people do not want moral decay. "It is time for the majority to rise up and say we want things of this sort corrected. I'm opposed to nudity in bars as well as on the streets. How can a woman who exposes herself on the street be guilty of a crime and yet go into a nightclub and act exposure art?" the councilman asked.

Rev. Carl Roepke, Casselberry Baptist Church, and a resident of the city, appeared before the County Commission earlier in the week to urge action be taken to halt the operation of a new "go-go" club opened on U.S. 17-92 just outside Longwood's city limits.

Reverend Roepke also was at Thursday night's meeting of the City Council asking for action.

To clamp the moral decay of the country, Jacques pointed to Bible reading prohibited in public schools while the theory of evolution is being taught. He insisted the Bible should be at least given equal time with the evolution theory.

Motion was made by Councilman Sandra Thompson and unanimously adopted by the Council instructing Attorney Joseph Davis, Jr. to prepare the resolution supporting the County Commission.

LONGWOOD — City Supt. Ralph Fisher was instructed by the City Council Thursday night to "come up with a figure on cost of expanding the city hall to provide more space in the city clerk's office."

Agreement to expand the city facilities was reached after discussion of the feasibility of purchasing a building machine for the water department as recommended by the water clerk.

Councilman Sandra Thompson said before buying machinery she would like to find a 1966 sign appeared on the tract, controversy developed and adjoining property owners protested.

Webb informed the Council last week that he had sold the land to a physician friend who would build the warehouses and lease them back to him.

Vote was Mrs. Thompson and Acting Council Chairman Eugene Jacques in favor of the rezoning and Councilmen B. L. Helms and Agnes Weber opposed.

With no one to break the tie the motion died. It was indicated Webb will lease a warehouse in Altamonte Springs.

Council, on recommendation of the zoning board, approved a variance for the Longwood branch of Seminole County Savings and Loan Association to open its temporary office for business with one restroom,

City Candidate Blasts $4 Million Sewer Plan

A candidate for one of two seats open next month on the Sanford City Commission voiced his opposition Thursday to a proposed sale of bonds to finance the $4 million city drainage program.

Caren Gager, candidate for the City Commission seat now held by W. Vincent Roberts, told the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees, "I am flatly opposed to a bond issue for a gold-plated system."

He gave as his reasons: The success of this system is highly questionable; there is no guarantee it will work and solve the problems which exist; most of the drainage problems can be solved by using common sense and community servants and I hope to be this community's servant," he concluded.

TWENTY FIVE YEARS OF MEMORIES — Jeno F. Paulucci, his wife Lois, and his mother, Micheline, admire a collage by Duluth artist Jerry Calogero depicting "the rungs of the ladder to Jeno's success" presented to Jeno on behalf of 1,500 Minnesotans who joined in a statewide salute to his 25 years of business and civic leadership in the state.

Jeno Paulucci Wins Accolades In Duluth

DULUTH, Minn. — (SP4) — More than 1,500 Minnesotans turned out here to honor Jeno F. Paulucci, a native son dedicated to the people of the region who helped build a national business empire, in a salute to his quarter-century of business and civic leadership.

U.S. Sen. Walter F. Mondale, U.S. Rep. Jeno A. Blatnik, Gov. Wendell Anderson and Commissioner of Agriculture Jon Weffald brought the state's accolades to the man whose success story is legend in the business world.

Ohio James Rhodes added their appreciation of Paulucci's achievements. Minnesota and the communities of Duluth, Aurora and Grand Rapids, Minn., and Superior, Wis., where Paulucci has been most directly associated, each officially proclaimed the observance of "Jeno F. Paulucci Day."

Paulucci, who maintains a home in Sanford, Fla., is widely known as the man who founded the Chun King Corporation in Minnesota on a $2,000 loan, then sold it 20 years later for $63 million, distributing $2 million in tax-paid gifts to employees who had helped to build the company. His achievements have brought him the national Horatio Alger Award for "rags to riches" success, and he has twice been cited as the Outstanding Italian-American in the United States.

He is chairman of Jeno F. Paulucci Enterprises, headquartered in Duluth, which includes Jeno's, Inc., America's leading hot snacks company; the Somebody's House restaurants, and J.F.P. & Associates, Inc., advertising and public relations agency. Paulucci also is chairman of the First Sierra Corporation, San Francisco, investment manager and principal underwriter of First Sierra mutual fund, and chairman of the executive committee of the Cornhusker Company, Minneapolis, international manufacturer of beverage dispensers and vending equipment.

Most of Minnesota's acclaim attested to Paulucci's continuing and outspoken encouragement of the civic and social responsibilities of business. Shortly after sale of Chun King he established the Paulucci Family Foundation for civic, cultural and educational benefits, and he founded and is president of NEMO, Inc. (N.E. Minnesota Organization for Economic Education), a prime mover in passage of the Minnesota Tax Reform Amendment which has resulted in investment of more than a billion dollars in private capital in the region; establishment of the Duluth Arena-Auditorium, and a continuing campaign to overhaul Minnesota's over-all structure, part of which already has been enacted by the Minnesota Legislature.

"Thanked those who have contributed to his achievements, Paulucci observed that "the true measure of success is not how much money you earn or how much wealth you gain, but what you do with it to help your community, your state and your nation."

"No one has achieved success alone," he said. "We know well that the strongest power on earth is the force of public opinion. We have called many times upon the people of Minnesota to realize for themselves the great potential of this state, and the people have answered. With your help, and the grace of God, we will carry on from here."

2 Indicted In DiGiovanni Murder

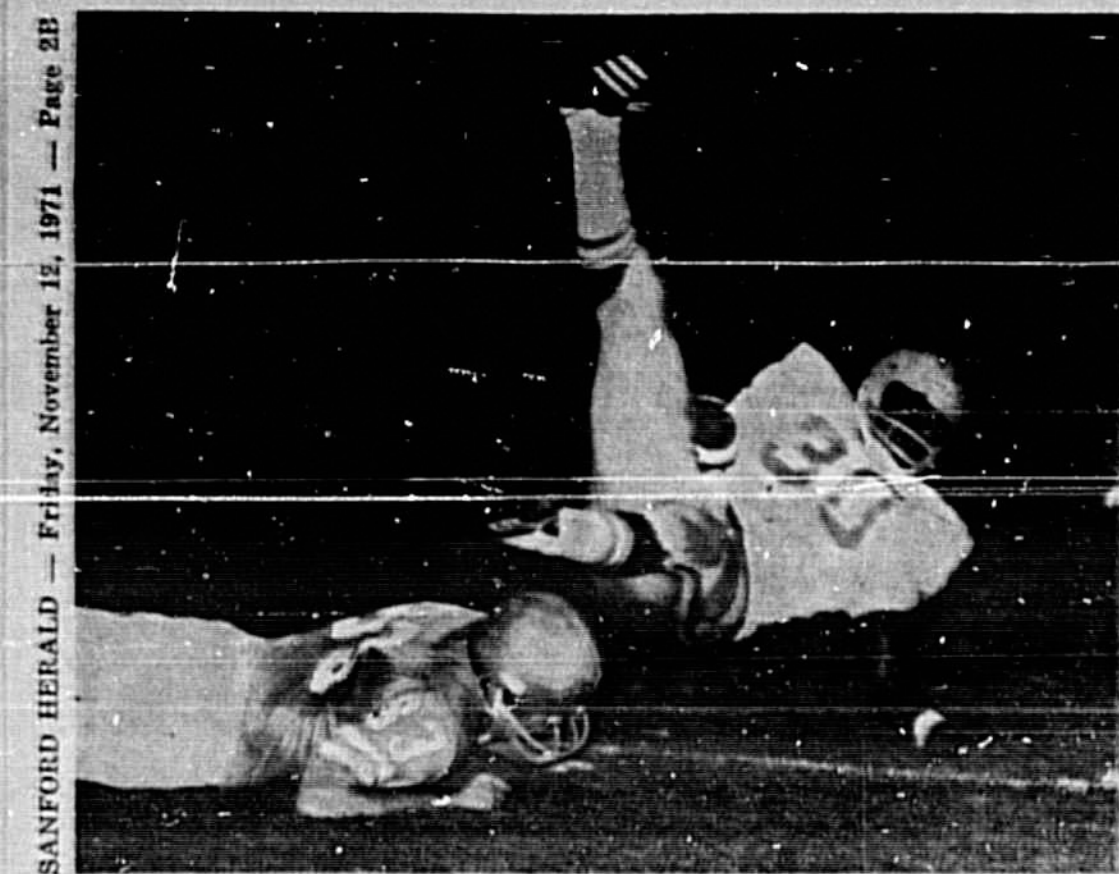

By MARION BETHA

The grand jury yesterday returned a true bill charging two Sanford men with the Sept. 27 first degree murder of George DiGiovanni, 69-year-old wealthy county resident.

Indicted are Richard Earl Gourley, 20, Lake Mary, and Troy Durland, 20, Sanford Avenue.

Brown said he discussed with his council a possible entrance fee plus a per capita cost as considered at the last meeting, but the village council insisted on sticking with its original offer of $1,000 based on a per capita charge.

Offit, who indicated his city's interest in joining the council, Brown said membership should be offered to the City of Sanford, but Brown added, "We are not excluding anyone, but let them show an interest."

DUMPED in no uncertain terms is Lyman fullback Bob Florence (30) during last week's 28-28 stalemate with Sanford Seminoles. Doing the dumping is Seminoles' Ricky Nesmith (83). Florence will be leading the Hound rushing attack tonight when Lyman visits Oak Ridge.

Aerial Attack Means Success For Lyman

By HERKY CUSH
Herald Sports Writer
The wings of man run parallel to that of an effective military force and that means air attack.

At Lyman High School when the term air attack is mentioned the names of Bruce Rose and Billy Means come to mind. And with good reason. That pair have been instrumental in leading the Greyhounds, mostly through the air, to a 4-3 record and will be asked to do their usual tough job tonight when the Hounds travel to Oak Ridge.

Asking Rose and Means to come up with a good game every time they take the field is asking quite a lot since the two of them do not weigh much more than a strong defensive lineman in the pro's.

Rose checks in at a husky 150 or about a 5-6 frame while Means distributes a grand total of 148 pounds on his 6-6 frame. Never the less the duo have been around for most of the season and it's a good thing for the Hounds that they were.

In seven games to date (he did not play in the loss to Boone) Rose has whipped the Hound's defense 16 times and 74 of them have found the target, those 74 catches have been good for 945 yards and eight touchdowns. Only eight of the 167 aerials thrown by Rose have fell into enemy hands, and half of those came in one game when the Lyman senior was admittedly not up to par physically.

Means has nearly half of the completions offered by Rose and will over half of the yardage in one game when the Lyman senior has hauled in 34 passes good for 577 yards with one catch out to around 17 yards per catch. A deceptive runner, Means has been able to get additional yards once he gains possession of the pigskin.

Rose and Means should have a tough test facing them tonight when the Hounds journey to visit the Panthers of Oak Ridge.

While they come into the game tonight with a not so impressive 3-5 record, Carl will be asked to do his usual tough job tonight when the Hounds travel to Oak Ridge.

Brent Carli Probable Quarterback

By GARY TAYLOR
Herald Sports Editor
Brent Carli, who apparently has been the lack of handling the Seminoles High ofense tonight as the Fighting Seminoles took to Tampa to meet the Hillsborough Terriers in an 8 p.m. contest at Hillsborough Field.

Fans going to the game should take 1-4 into Tampa. When 1-4 comes together with 1-75, bear right and head north on 1-75. Travel north on 1-75 for approximately a mile and exit at Buffalo Ave. Turn left from the exit and go to the first light (Central Ave.) and turn right. Follow Central Ave. to the Hillsborough High field.

Carli, Both are juniors playing at the "back positions. Ricky Nesmith, the Seminoles' top receiver, also has seen some action as a ball carrier. In addition, he proved that he can also handle the quarterbacking chores as he did so for several plays against Oviedo in the season highlight.

While the Seminoles stay mainly on the ground, Tampa uses a balanced offense, mixing a capable running game with a potent aerial attack. Senior quarterback Bruce King will be calling the signals for Hillsborough tonight. King's offensive attack centers around halfback Ralph Kyles, who leads the team in both rushing and scoring and wide receiver Ricky Rivas, his favorite target on pass plays.

Though both teams have had off games during the season, strong defenses are predominant with both teams. Both teams have recorded a pair of shutouts.

Oviedo Boosters Plan 'Sign Up' Advertising

Passing will be the name of the game when Oviedo treks to Leesburg tonight to meet the Yellowjackets at 8 p.m. The Lions will face the aerial talents of Leesburg quarterback Andy Carlton who has hauled 14 touchdowns passes this season to date.

The Lions will have the momentum of back to back grid wins going for them. Oviedo surprised Oviedo 24-12 two weeks ago and came through for their first homecoming win in five years last Friday night when they upset Crescent City 30-21 in a come-from-behind effort.

Leesburg, on the other hand, will still be thinking about a 29-6 stalling upset at the hands of Eustis last week. It was the first loss of the season for the Yellowjackets, who early in the season had been figured as one of the top teams in District 5 AAA. They are tops in the district but are getting a run for their money from Apopka Memorial, Orlando Jones and Ocala Forest.

The Yellowjackets' 7-1 mark for the season doesn't reflect the two near misses Leesburg has had this season. In the second game of the season they completion percentage has fallen and last week Eustis managed four interceptions. Perhaps accounting for some of their problems with their air attack was the loss after the second game of primary target Jim Busby. Busby suffered a broken collarbone and is a doubtful starter for coach Wilbur Lorton's crew.

The passing attack has weakened over the past weeks, the rushing efforts of the Leesburg backfield have become increasingly better. Haywood Richards accounts for more yards on the ground than any other Yellowjacket, but Carlton is known for making yardage on keeper plays.

Dave Oakley Claims Sertoma Title

By RON FROST
Herald Golf Editor
It was literally said as a 26-year-old Dave Oakley rammed home a four foot birdie putt at the final hole to beat Benny Rouse by one shot in the International Association of Professional Golfers (IAPG) sponsored First Annual Sertoma Golf Open at the Mid-Florida Country Club. No longer can Dave Oakley be considered an unknown, at least in Seminola County. The smiling youngster also won the Mayfair Open earlier this year and he says he will be back in Sanford in January to defend his title. With four holes left to play, Oakley was two shots behind Barry Jaechel, the young Callifortin sponsored by singer Dean Martin and one shot behind third round leader Denny Rouse. Jaechel ran into trouble with bogies at the 16th and 18th holes and finished with a host of other players in a tie for fourth.

At the par five 17th, Rouse drove into the trees, leaving himself with only a shot to the open fairway. Oakley hit his second shot just short of the green. Rouse then hit a wedge over the trees with a 100 foot putt, but missed his birdie putt. Oakley said afterwards that this was his first win since last year's Mayfair Open. He also told The Herald that he has quite well in the Asian Tour, coming in second in the Taiwan Open. The victory was worth $1,000 to Oakley, while Rouse pocketed $1,800 for second place.

As things turned out, Rouse will likely not soon forget the backhanded blunder he pulled off in the final hole of his first round Tuesday when he hit the par five green in two. His missed 39 foot eagle putt, a six foot birdie putt, and a three foot putt that incident could have forced the match into sudden death. That putt just might have cost Rouse $1,800.

A final round of 71 gave Oakley a three day total of 209. Rouse, with a 75 finished at 219. At 211 former U.S. Open Adolph Popp, Dave Foreman, host pro Al Kelley Jr., and J. Starks. Finishing at 212 were first round leader Bob Bourne, Herb Hooper and Barry Jaechel. Tour regular Dean Refram was in at 214. Former U.S. Open winner Tommy Bolt was at 219 and local pro Craig Dear finished at 220.

Most of the pros will now head for West Palm Beach for the second of the three IAPG Florida Tournaments.

Jeff Mullins fouled a Golden State attack by pouring in 31 points to lead all scorers as the Warriors surged ahead before the half and extinguished a short-lived New York rally in the third period to seal the triumph.

Mullins scored the go-ahead bucket that helped the Warriors to a 63-37 halftime lead but the Knicks, sparked by Dick Barion's hot hand, narrowed it to 63-61 in the third.

"It was elated," said the soft-spoken, unemotional Monroe, "I never got an ovation like that in Baltimore—or anywhere else—for that matter."

Monroe, considered one of the NBA's most explosive scorers, got into the game with two minutes left in the first quarter. He touched the ball for the first time a minute later and it took another quarter of play before he drilled a layup for his first basket. It brought the house down. In other NBA action Thursday night, the Seattle SuperSonics beat the Cleveland Cavaliers 110-91.

In the American Basketball Association, the Utah Stars topped the Denver Rockets 112-106 and the Carolina Cougars defeated the Pittsburgh Condors 127-109.

But he promises things will get better. "It's going to be good," he said after the game. "Man for man, the Knicks have the best starting five in the NBA. And just being an addition makes me feel good."

Monroe, who confessed that he'd been signed with Indiana of the American Basketball Association, appreciated his welcome by 19,588 New York fans, most of whom stood and applauded for almost three minutes when his name was announced.

Penn May Get More Chances

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Anthony Penn, a skilled passer who has put the ball in the air only 21 times this season, may get more chances to exercise his aerial talents when his Bethune-Cookman College Wild cats meet Kentucky State in Frankfort, Ky., Saturday.

Bethune has won five games since Penn took over at No. 1 quarterback, but most of the attack has been on the ground. Randy Walker, Wayne Allen and Charles Clark have pounded out yardage so effectively that passes weren't needed.

Penn completed 12 of the 21 he has thrown for 264 yards. Bethune's 1.26 yards rushing in seven games is more than any Wildcat team made in a full season during Jack McInerney's 11-year coaching regime.

"I've lived by the pass," McInerney said. "But our running attack has been winning and you have to stick to the thing that wins for you until the opposition makes you change."

Alabama State stacked defenses against running last week and almost upset Bethune.

Kentucky State, a strong running and high scoring team, has a 4-2 record. Both teams hope a victory will attract an invitation to the NAIA small college playoffs.

All Booster Club members, interested parents and loyal fans are reminded of the Seminoles High School Booster Club meeting. The managing and maintenance of the stadium which this week's Fighting Seminoles football banquet will be discussed. The meeting is Monday, Nov. 15 at 8 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Soon Lyman High School will not be the only school in the county with advertising on the fences surrounding the athletic fields. The Oviedo Athletic Boosters Club will have its first group of signs ready for installation at John Courser Field in time for the last remaining varsity football game this season.

The four feet by eight sign spaces are being sold for $125 apiece for one year. Approximately $100 of the sale price will be profit for the boosters.

The signs will be installed on the north and south fences, and will serve a dual purpose. In addition to providing excellent advertising opportunities at a reasonable cost, the signs will also put an end to the "freeloaders" at the football and baseball games.

The primary objective of the Oviedo Athletic Boosters Club has been since its formation, a little over a year ago, to raise money to help relieve the debts incurred by the rapidly expanding athletic program at Oviedo. The high school's athletic director, Ralph Stumpf, was instrumental in organizing the group which has raised over a thousand dollars in the first year of operations by its various functions.

The boosters have several other projects on tap in the coming months. Their most recent project was a career day at Frisch's Restaurant in Winter Park. With the aid of athletes, cheerleaders and Pep Club members, $208 was raised.

On Saturday, November 20, the boosters will hold a turkey shoot at Pilgrim Farms, on SR 419 just north of Oviedo. The boosters will have 16, 12 and 20 gauge shotguns on hand for those who don't have their own. Children will be allowed to use 400 shotguns in an effort to win certificates for turkeys from Country Quick in Oviedo.

A spaghetti supper is planned for December 7, the night of the first home basketball contest. Takeouts will be available for the dinner which will be served from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Tickets are currently being sold by booster members.

Georgia Tech Rated Choice In Air Game

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The football is expected to be in the air more than it's on the ground at Grant Field Saturday as Georgia Tech meets Florida State University in a game billed as the battle for the championship of Southeastern independents.

Those who compute such things call Tech a 3-point favorite, making it the fourth straight weekend the Jackets have been favored. They obliged the past three. Tech is 5-4 on the season, FSU 6-2.

The two teams have played eight times before the Floridians have only a tie to show for it. The Yellow Jackets won seven.

More than 45,000 persons are expected for the game, which could be an aerial circus. FSU's quarterback, Gary Huff, is statistically having come a net 2,019 yards and 16 touchdowns. Highly touted as his main receiver is Rhett Dawson, who bats from Valdosta, Ga.

Statistically, Dawson is second nationally in pass receiving. Huff has drawn high praise from coaches of opposing teams this year and Dawson, according to Tech Coach Bud Carson, "is in the same class with Terry Beasley of Auburn."

A victory by Tech also could put the Jackets back in the bowl picture.

Dear Sanfordites: The athletes and students of Seminola High School need your support. We have had a good football team this season. The cheerleaders have worked hard. The football stadium is in better repair and things in general are coming along.

The primary targets for Parsons and Fadem will be Cleveland, Andy Penn, Ray Parsons, Mark Hanna and Zimmer. Hanna follows only Cleveland in the scoring category with six touchdowns and 30 extra points to his credit.

Providing the needed backing for the Trinity Prep backfield will be guards Jeff Kildee and Paul Bolton. Offensive tackle slots will be filled by Lou DeGanah and Red Austin. Filling out the line will be center Dick Doster.

Saturday's contest is the first of a pair of home contests for the Saints. Trinity will host Tampa Berkeley Prep Thursday at Showalter Field and they will close the regular season with a road trip to Florida Air Academy November 27.

Unless Bunnell can pull some surprises which they have been unable to do all season, Trinity Coach Bob Fox should be able to again clear the bench. Fox has been fortunate on several occasions this season in that he has been able to freely substitute. The second team has often been fired up to such an extent that they scored more points than the first team. Such was the case in the Tampa Terriers' contest.

The quarterbacking duties in Saturday night's contest at Showalter Field will be shared by senior Dale Parsons and junior Jerry Fadem. Parsons maintains a completion percentage of 64 per cent with 28 completions of 36 attempts for 879 yards. Fadem has completed 49 per cent of the 51 passes he has attempted which have netted 396 yards for the Saints.

The aerial talents of Parsons and Fadem will be complemented by the talents of Lawrence Berkey, Steve Hays and John Kennedy. Cleveland leads the four sons last weekend when they fell to Boca Raton St. Andrews 7-2. The only other possible contender for the district crown is Sarasota Manatee (5-1). The Sarasota eleven will be in Sanford Friday night going battle with the Sanford Naval Academy team. Berkeley Prep is slated to meet Wynore Tech of Eatonville this weekend which will in all probability knock them out of the running for the district title.

In common competition Bunnell lost 17-4 to Pierson Taylor, a team which the Saints' handled 38-19. A sampling of some of Bunnell's other contests includes a 20-0 loss to Umatilla, a 28-13 loss to Hastings, a 20-0 loss to Trenton and last week a 26-6 win over Jacksonville Maranatha.

The Mayfair Women's Golf Association has been playing the Florida State Golf Tournament for the past couple of weeks, and although we do not have all the individual matches played to date, the whole thing has been fun. In fact, the first time in quite a while, there were some winners. Ed Burtnick and L. C. Dennis coupled for a best ball 32, and won first place. Second place went to Ed Andrews and Roy Mam with a 33.

The men's golf association held a general meeting last Tuesday night, and for the lucky ones who could escape work, a nine hole blind partner tournament was played before the meeting. For the first time in quite a while, there were some winners. Ed Burtnick and L. C. Dennis coupled for a best ball 32, and won first place. Second place went to Ed Andrews and Roy Mam with a 33.

Twenty-one ladies from the Valley Forge Women's Association journeyed to the Cleveland Heights Country Club in Lakeland this week to play in the Eleventh Annual "Electric Golf Tournament. Four of the girls came home with prizes.

In the two day event, Lois Smith won low medalist in the fourth flight, and also won first place.

Well over 200 men-teen teams competed for a host of fine prizes as well as the title. Prizes were awarded in seven categories. There were prizes for individual winners in each of the two days, team prizes, awards for closest to the pin on each day, and topping off the list, was a blind bogie.

On the first day, well-known amateur Lou Esack fired a two under par 70 over the out-of-bounds Eden layout. It was the best round shot in the two day event. Winning low net the first day with a 66 was Rolling Hills' Bob Butchard. On the second day, another fine amateur by the name of Tracy Allen shot a one over par 72, and won the individual honors in low gross. Bob Richards won low net with 67.

Nine teams finished in the award bracket, with Jack Schubert and Don Rein taking the honors with their first round in the 48-stroke tournament.

Won't Complain To Coach

Unitas Waiting In Wings... Impatiently

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Staff Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — John Unitas, coach of the Baltimore Colts, said he would not complain to the NFL about the Colts' decision to stick to their guns and not trade for a quarterback.

Unitas wants to play. He's like "I. Unitas said today that he would not complain to the NFL about the Colts' decision to stick to their guns and not trade for a quarterback. "I'm not going to cause any trouble. It's hard enough to play the game without creating problems."

MAN IN MOTION

Unitas admitted that in several games, he has played possession ball and run some plays "the coaches wanted to see." He must have looked like a mop-up quarterback. "I've never told Mac I wanted to play. He knows that. Any way, if there were a problem between us, it would be up to him to come to me, not for me to go to him."

Following the old fire house tradition, Longwood's Fire Department has acquired a sixth-month old Dalmatian puppy, Sparkles, to keep its first full-time fire drill mascot.

Donna's DELIBERATIONS

By: Donna Estes

North Orlando, which has had some little difficulty in attempting to get its new city charter approved by the legislative delegation, may be receiving even more static — this time from a different source.

The delegation so far has rejected a section to permit limited executive sessions of the Council and one which would have continued the authority of the municipality to annex contiguous lands within two miles of the city limits.

The Village Council this past week was very careful in the language of an annexation ordinance for SR 434 from U.S. 17-92 to SR 419 to exclude "those parts lying within the City of Cassberry and the City of Longwood."

Longwood in recent years has annexed, mostly on petition, SR 434, east of 17-92 to Halmo and Ridge Roads and considerable more lands to the north on 17-92 to Oak Lane.

Since the annexations were accomplished via local ordinance, included are provisions for a charter and becomes state law, it would supersede the city's laws.

WANTED—Votes

One of the cleverest election signs seen around belongs to Longwood council candidate, Donald Schreiner. Using his political background as a pattern, Schreiner's signs read "Wanted" in black ink on the sign.

South Africa Leading In World Cup Tourney

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, with the vision of a blond-headed owl, plunked a five-foot birdie into a second place hole with the favored United States team close while the guest hackers from Romania and Libya simply faded into the Florida sun.

Nicklaus was topping off a four-under-par 68 Thursday to capture the individual lead in the 18th World Cup Golf Championships while his partner, Lee Trevino, clinched with three shots of the front-running South Africans.

Of course, the poor Romanians and Libyans didn't have a full shot at the opening day. Larke Dinkles stopped them short of the front-running South Africans.

Defending individual champion Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina snuggled close to Nicklaus with a three-under 69 along with Player and Oosterhuis.

The British ball is 1.62 inches by circumference compared with the American 1.68 inches — almost infinitesimal difference of .06 of an inch. Both weigh the same — 1.62 ounces.

The British ball cuts better into the wind, travels farther and puts more firmly. The American ball sits higher in the rough and is easier to finesse.

The Royal & Ancient of St. Andrews and the U.S. Golf Association, the two rules makers of the game, are currently experimenting with a uniform ball which would be 1.66 inches around. Most manufacturers in both countries, faced with this multimillion dollar retooling job are fighting the compromise.

Meanwhile, most of the golfers of the world, including the 92 hand-picked players competing in the British PGA tournament and put courses. You just hit the ball. You never have to play it.

Trevino, winner of the Claretina, British and U.S. Open this year, agreed with Nicklaus. "I use the bigger ball—I'm not comfortable with it and I don't mind giving up the distance," said Christy O'Connor of Ireland.

Kentucky, Florida Both Sport Alvarez

Alvarez may start as a wide receiver for both teams when Florida meets Kentucky Saturday in a uniform ball game which would be 1.66 inches around.

Carlos Alvarez has practiced some this week," said Florida Coach Doug Dickey. "He may be able to start in his last home game."

Jack Alvarez of Kentucky doesn't have the scoring ability lines that plague Carlos. Jack, a 6-foot-2, 200-pounder, is blossoming into a wide receiver after starting the season as a tight end.

Jack Alvarez ranks fourth in the conference with 28 receptions for 349 yards. He needs only three catches to set an SEC career record of 103.

Kentucky is big and strong and comes into this game with a two-game winning streak and a 2-6 mark. In all last season, Coach John Ray's Wildcats managed only two victories.

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — An Alvarez may start as a wide receiver for both teams when Florida meets Kentucky Saturday in a uniform ball game which would be 1.66 inches around.

Carlos Alvarez has practiced some this week," said Florida Coach Doug Dickey. "He may be able to start in his last home game."

Jack Alvarez of Kentucky doesn't have the scoring ability lines that plague Carlos. Jack, a 6-foot-2, 200-pounder, is blossoming into a wide receiver after starting the season as a tight end.

Jack Alvarez ranks fourth in the conference with 28 receptions for 349 yards. He needs only three catches to set an SEC career record of 103.

DREAMS ARE THE DAWN OF TOMORROW

And like the first light of a new day they seem distant, unreal. Yet out of our dreams we often fashion tomorrow.
The dreams of the daylight hours are not in the subconscious. Rather they project our hopes on a screen of reality. They grow into goals and aims and ambitions.
Whether tomorrow will fulfill those dreams depends on certain values which must be acquired today. Ideals, standards, moral principles, religious faith — these inspire dreams worth dreaming, and help us to translate them to reality.
Never worry about your daughter's daydreaming. Be concerned about her opportunities for spiritual development. The Church shares that concern. It can help you do something constructive about it.

Crowded Schools Solution Sought

School Board scheduled a work session for this afternoon to obtain information on costs to air condition schools in the event an extended school year plan is enacted. Discussion is also expected to center on a 45-15 plan, by which students attend school for 45 days and take 15 day vacations throughout the year.

This is one avenue open for the board to consider in planning how best to cope with the county's burdensome school population that seems to be increasing at a faster pace than schools can be constructed to handle the overflow. This fast growth rate is mostly evident in South Seminole where double sessions were started today at Walter A. Teague Middle School after 1,500 pupils showed up opening day for a new facility with but 1,000 pupil stations.

School Board has three alternatives open to solving the growing school population problems. These include sessions with separate morning and afternoon sessions at various schools where the problem is acute; extended day or 45 days in-15 days out, whereby pupil loads at overcrowded facilities can be staggered to permit some children to attend school, leaving others to wait 15 days until the load is lessened; perhaps the most unlikely solution to the problem would be for the public to approve a bond referendum, which would have citizens imposing a tax upon themselves to construct new facilities to absorb the growth.

Supt. John Angel has named a school housing committee to study alternatives to solve the problem and the committee is expected to make its recommendations in January. School Board delayed advertising for bids for proposed Brantley High and Tusawilla Elementary Schools this past week, after it was disclosed the money in hand to build the two new schools could be used to air condition existing schools.

Spokesmen for the Permissive Society assure us the 10 Commandments are not only out of date but that there is no Hell to go to even if we break them. As you can imagine, the loss of the commandments has created quite a vacuum in some lives. However, a disciple of the New Morality was wandering on a knoll in Scarborough recently when (so he reports) a voice spoke to him from out of the clouds.

Not only that he swears two arms came out of the sky and plopped two tablets at his feet. Yes—an updated, 1971 version of the 10 Commandments.

Fortunately, I've been given permission to reprint them here. 1. Thou shalt have no other gods before thyself for thy pleasure and thy amusement is all that counts.

2. Remember the Sabbath and keep it free—for golf, football games on television, the shopping plaza, bowling, etc.

3. Thou shalt not bow down before any graven image except that which is graven on the coin of the realm.

4. Honor thy father and mother, or thy father and his new wife, or thy mother and her new husband or the "good friends" of either.

5. Five days thou shalt labor, unless thou hast a strong urge in which case four days is plenty.

6. Thou shalt not commit adultery unless it's significant and meaningful and being photographed in full color for showing in movie theatres from coast to coast.

7. Thou shalt not kill any party by going home before thy mind is blown on booze, pot, etc.

8. Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's responsibilities, neither shalt thy covet thy neighbor's wife if she has a strong urge, nor thy neighbor's 1961 Ford, nor his hand lawnmower, nor anything that is thy neighbor's which is not in good working condition.

9. Thou shalt not bear false witness except when it is necessary to get a government "hand-out," qualify for service in a public bar, or save thy skin in a court of law.

It may be significant but the 1971 commandments have been chiselled in plastic, not stone.

Presbyterians are enjoying a new joke, based on the trustees of Florida Presbyterian College renaming the school "Everel College" at the result of a $10 million commitment by the drugstore tycoon, Jack Eckerd. Presbyterians are referring to the school as "Eckerd, the drug-oriented college."

When we were young, we were told we'd go to Hell if we didn't live by the 10 Commandments.

However, we've since learned that was wrong.

Extortion Is Charged 4 Mayfair Homes Are Burglarized

By BILL SCOTT

Two North Orlando men were arrested on extortion charges Sunday by Det. Sgt. Fred Respress after the pair is alleged to have offered to roll back the records of a Matland auto firm stolen in a Nov. 7 burglary.

According to Respress, the arrests of Barney Mills and Marvin McAdams occurred after an offer was made to Fred McGallard, operator of Matland Auto Sales, to return the firm's missing financial records for $1,000.

The detective said seven deputies were involved in the investigation that started Saturday after McGallard said he received the call from a man believed to have been McAdams. A car containing the records arrived Sunday at a pre-arranged spot at the rear of Seminole Plaza in Casselberry to make the transfer. Deputies were waiting and arrested Mills and McAdams. They were removed to the county jail in lieu of $3,000 bonds each.

Respress said McAdams claimed he had nothing to do with the burglary of the records and was acting only as a go-between to restore them.

Since the break-in occurred in Orange County, the detective said prosecution for burglary would have to be filed by authorities there.

Det. Sgt. Gary Swain was busy today investigating complaints filed by four home owners in the city's Mayfair section that were entered, burglarized and vandalized during the weekend.

The detectives said occupants were absent when the break-ins occurred and could not give a complete statement of losses.

He said one house reported an estimated $500 total loss, including from $30-$40 in cash. Drawers were pulled from furniture and their contents littered over the floor in a search for money, the investigator added.

VICTIMS OF EARLY MORNING FIRE

Ronnie Miller, left, county deputy, talked to the Spurlock family just after the holocaust destroyed their home and most of the belongings early today. The Spurlocks managed to escape without injury, but are homeless and without proper clothing. Longwood Fire Department spokesman said the department would act as a clearing house for clothing and furniture items from persons wishing to donate. (Bill Vincent Photo)

Utilities Purchase Is Argued

By DONNA ESTES

CASSELBERRY — No conclusion was expected today to the complex negotiations between the City of Casselberry and South Seminole Utility Company. Council began a special meeting at 8 a. m. today to gather information from advisors on the amount of money it could offer the company to purchase the utility.

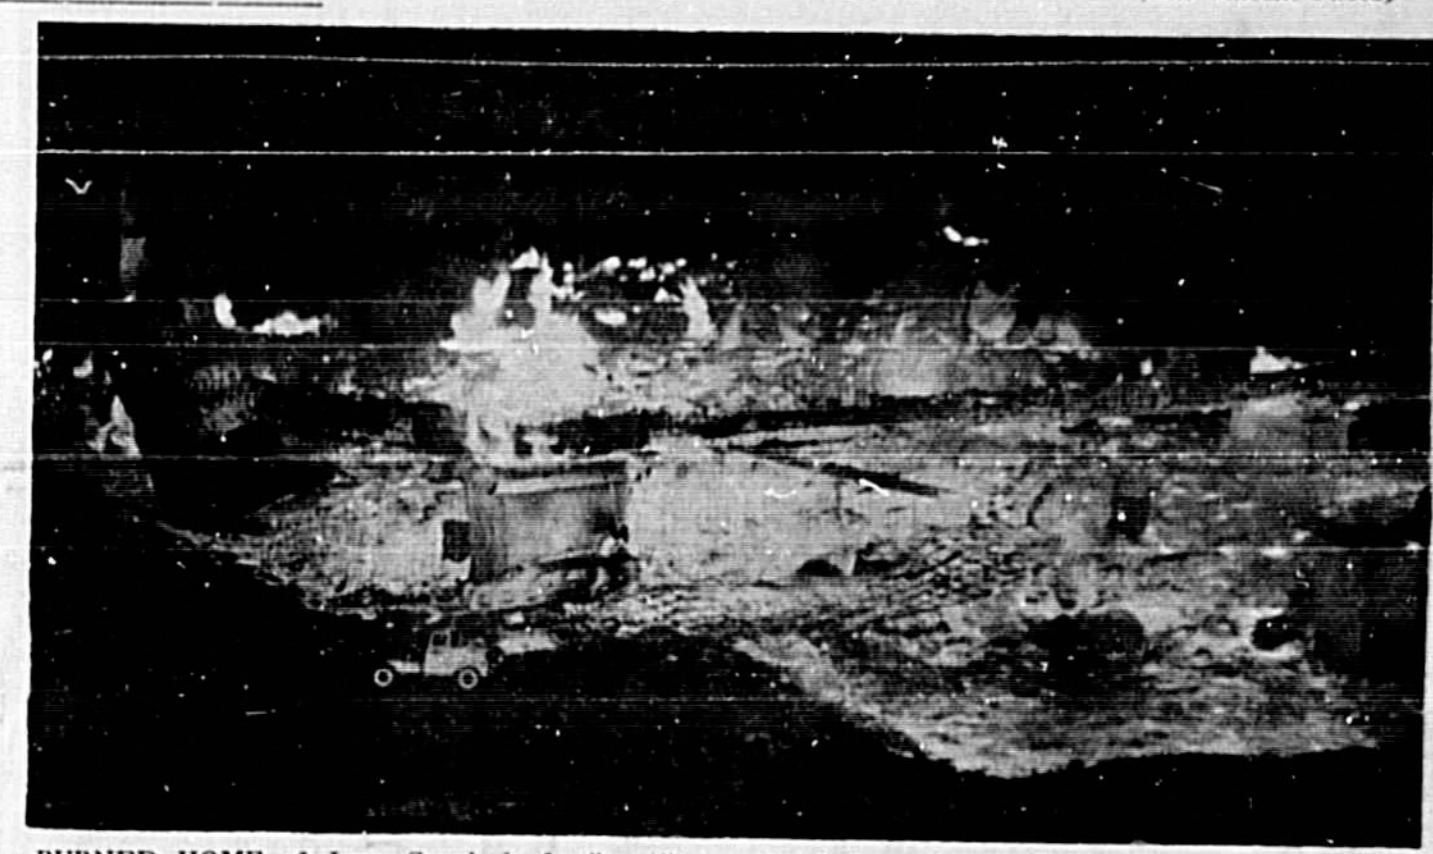

Although Fiscal Agent David K. Gunby told the Council in firm words that unless it is willing to increase substantially water and sewer rates the sale could not be financed. No member of the Council expressed willingness to go along with the raise. "Without an increase," Gunby said, "you are 'Whistling Dixie' about purchasing the utilities."

The fiscal agent said increases averaging from the current $75 annual for water to $110 and current $43 average for sewer users to $70 would be necessary.

Council Chairman Edith Duerr interpreted Gunby's report to mean a $2 monthly increase on the minimum rate for water. She called this "horribly unacceptable." She said, "The people are going to scream."

Councilman Thomas Napier said flatly, "No, I will not support this increase." At the same time, Councilman Bill Grier held off his judgment until additional financial information is made available by the firm.

The beginning price at which the city will negotiate with the company as agreed by the Council is $1,838,165. This figure is up somewhat, due to recent improvements on the system.

BURNED HOME of Jame Spurlock family still smoldered today after a fire, believed to have started in the kitchen, spread to the rest of the frame structure and leveled it. Spurlock, his wife and three children, escaped from the inferno, when Spurlock awoke, smelled smoke and aroused the family. Longwood Fire Department was called to the scene, but the house and its contents were too far gone to save. Officials estimated the total loss at $10,000. (Bill Vincent Photo)

By North Orlando Fiscal Agent Pondered

By MARION BETHEA

NORTH ORLANDO — Village Council, at a 7:30 meeting to night, will consider retaining a fiscal consultant for the municipality. Logan Browning, vice president of Pierce, Wiltburn, Murphy Corporation, indicated to Council in a letter that he is willing to assist as fiscal agent, and also that federal moneys are available for the purpose of planning and developing a community such as North Orlando.

Mayor Granville Brown believes a fiscal agent is becoming increasingly necessary with the growth of the city.

Also on the agenda is a public hearing on a requested zoning change by Jack Rossman, owner of Jack's Mini Market on U.S. 1732 and SR 418, from R-1 to C-1. The property was recently annexed into the village, in what may be the last of annexation of non-contiguous property, since the Orange-Seminole legislative delegation deleted this provision from the new village charter.

Council will consider, on first reading, a zoning ordinance establishing a new district, R-1AAA. The ordinance amends ordinance 44.

Council will consider a presentation by Florida Land Company for revision of Terrace Plaza, a new development.

A discussion will be held relative to the participation of the village in membership in CALNO meeting he had discussed with council a possible entrance fee plus a per capita cost, but council wished to remain with the original offer of
