Derailment Forces Auto-Train Delays

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Auto Train passengers can expect 4-hour to 6-hour delays for the next several days because of the freight train derailment in DeBary Tuesday.

Amtrak's northbound Auto Train left Sanford for Lorton, Va., at 2:07 a.m. Wednesday — 9½ hours late, and the Auto Train schedule has been in shambles since, according to an Amtrak spokesman.

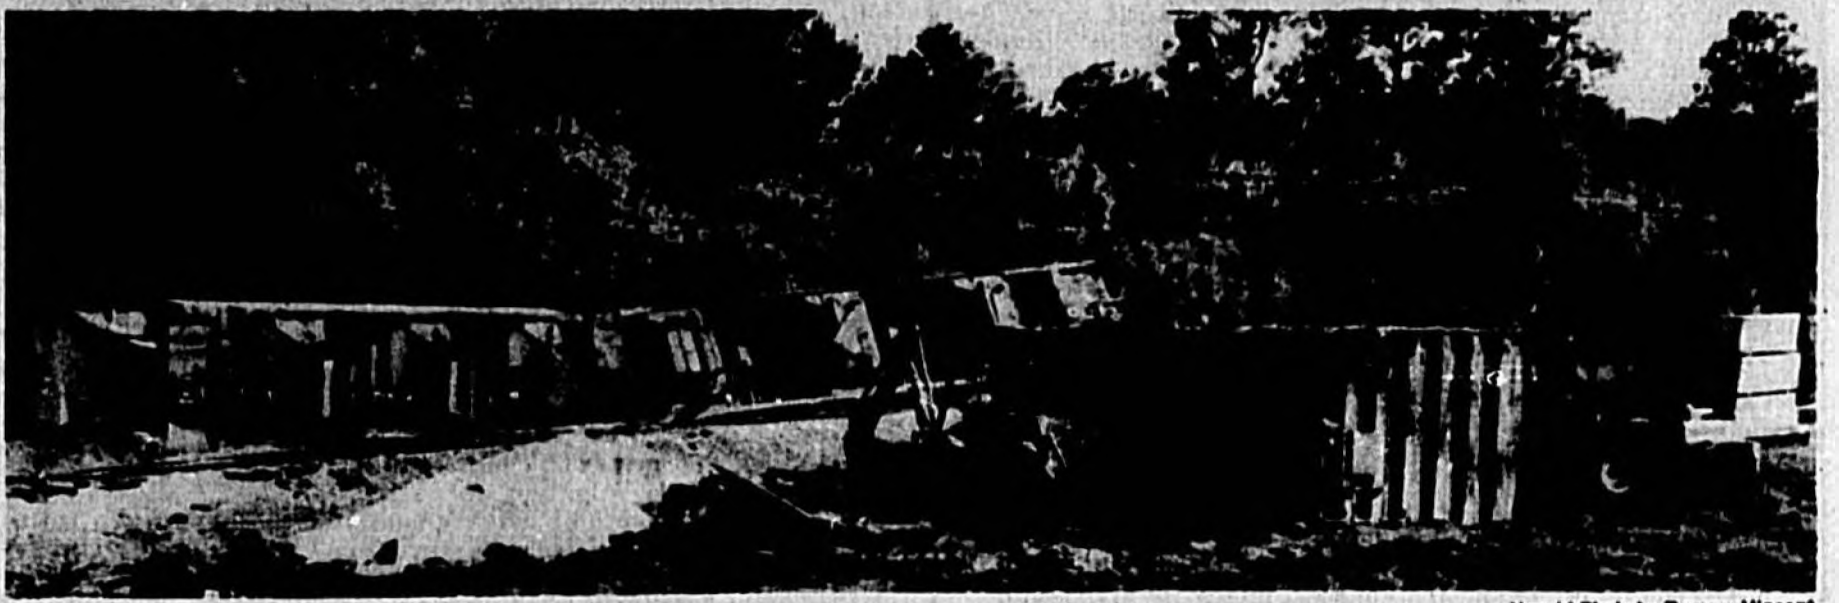

The accident occurred around 7:10 a.m. and the rail was not in operating condition until 10:45 p.m.

The southbound Auto Train was stopped at DeLand where the 418 passengers were bussed to Sanford by Amtrak, which put them up in local hotels and supplied them with food while they waited for their 229 cars to arrive, according to Clifford Black, Amtrak manager of public affairs, Washington, D.C.

The cars were stranded aboard the Auto Train equipment, which did not arrive at the

430 Return 'No-Drugs' Contracts

By Kathy Tyrity
Herald Staff Writer

About 430 Lake Mary High School students have signed "I won't take drugs" contracts so far, said Assistant Principal Bill Moore.

Moore said he's been invited to distribute the contracts to several more teen groups involving hundreds more students.

"The response has been overwhelming. The kids have returned the contracts, and the parents have endorsed it," Moore said. But the thing he wants to do is carry that intention and enthusiasm into action. It's one thing to make the commitment and another thing to do it. But you usually do not do it until you have made the commitment."

One-hundred out of 186 football players have signed the contracts.

ACLU drops suit plan, 3A

Seventy-seven of 100 band members have signed, as have 80 of the 139 chorus members, 60 out of 64 Marionettes, 12 out of 18 Cross Country players, 20 soccer players, 11 girl basketball players, and 70 other students. The spring sports have yet to meet, so those contracts will be distributed later.

Lake Mary's is believed to be the first anti-drug program of its kind in the nation.

Moore said he didn't know of any other school which has implemented the anti-drug contracts on a schoolwide basis.

"I think we're the first," he said, although Hamilton County has instituted a drug-screening test in its physical exams for athletes.

He has received a dozen letters from other school districts interested in the program. And one district, Marion County, has established a committee to study the program.

Between 800 and 900 students participate in extra-curricular activities at Lake Mary, but the contracts were given only to those students participating under the auspices of the Florida High School Activities Association. Those include all sports teams, band, Marionettes, and chorus. Those groups were chosen because they have already been regulated by Florida law.

For instance, those students must have a 1.5 grade point average (out of 4 points) to participate in those clubs.

Lake Mary sought to restrict participation in those extracurricular activities to those who would sign the contracts, but after legal advice, the school decided not to make the contracts a condition to being in a club or sport.

They'd Rather Switch

Longwood Commissioner Harvey Smerilson, left, and his wife, Lois, take an oath before City Clerk Don Terry declaring they'd rather be Republicans. The couple's switch from the Democratic party was witnessed by Lake Mary Mayor Dick Fess, second from right, at Longwood City Hall Wednesday. Fess is a lifelong Republican. Smerilson said his political ideas are "more closely aligned to the Republicans, and the candidates I support are members of the Republican Party." The Smerisons, originally registered independent in Massachusetts, were listed as Democrats when they voted for John Kennedy.

Botha Warning Irks Senators

Sanctions Veto Override Still Likely

WASHINGTON (UPI) — South African Foreign Minister Roelof "Pik" Botha has warned senators preparing for a crucial vote that his government will retaliate against U.S. farmers if President Reagan's veto of a tough sanctions bill is overturned.

The revelation of a phone call placed to the Senate chamber by Botha to Jesse Helms, R-N.C., who handed the phone to Sens. Edward Zorinsky, D-Neb., and Charles Grassley, R-Iowa, prompted a swift denunciation from Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind.

Lugar, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee and the leader of the fight for a stiff sanctions bill, called the phone call "despicable" and said he still has the necessary two-thirds vote to override Reagan's veto.

"I cannot imagine that a senator would be influenced by bribery and intimidation," Lugar told a hastily called news conference. "It's an affront to the decency of the American people."

But Botha vehemently denied today he threatened the Senate in an effort to head off tough sanctions against his racially divided country.

Botha insisted he merely explained the South African position during a 10-minute telephone conversation with three senators Wednesday.

The White House said late Wednesday it was not known if Reagan had enough votes to avoid a major foreign policy defeat, but Republican vote-counters said Reagan has no more than 22 votes.

However, Helms said the margin was closing.

"I think he (Reagan) may be within 4, 3, 2, 1 vote, depending on how the nervous nellys shake down," he said.

If all 100 senators vote, Reagan needs 34 votes to block a two-thirds majority for an override. The House voted Monday to override the veto, 313-83.

Helms, chairman of the Agriculture Committee, said Botha, whom he described as a longtime friend, called him to say, "Our farmers are indignant. We cannot hold them off any longer — we will have to cut off

Huskey Says Interchange Not Self-Serving

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Least there be rumblings to the contrary, Jeno Paulucci's efforts to secure $14.5 million in federal funds for an Interstate 4 interchange at County Road 46A are not self-serving, according to his self-described "good friend" E. Everette Huskey, another local real estate and development mogul.

In a letter to Senate Republican leader Robert Dole last week, Huskey said he and Paulucci are but two of 25 developers whose projects necessitate improved traffic flow in the area and also points to the interchange as benefiting the growth of Lake Mary and Sanford.

Huskey, whose RiverCrest development is located in the proposed interchange area, at one time also served as marketing consultant for Paulucci's Heathrow community, which is contiguous to the proposed interchange.

According to Huskey, however, numerous other interests, municipal as well as private, would benefit if the Senate endorses the interchange proposal, as the House did through its own bill in August.

While the Senate has also approved a highway bill, it does not contain funding for the interchange. The House and Senate must now hammer out one highway bill during joint-committee conferences. It must then be adopted by both houses of Congress and signed into law by the president.

And, although the final bill is expected to set highway funding for the upcoming year at around $508 million, philosophical differences between the independent House and Senate proposals include the Senate's wanting speed limits increased on rural sections of the interstate system and the House's "special projects," one of which is the 46A interchange.

The House bill contains approximately $1.2 billion above its state highway allocation to fund about 100 special projects over the next five years. The Senate bill does not.

"It just shows you, MacPherson said, "if someone really wants to do something, they can do it."

Gandhi Escapes Assassination Attempt

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — A man wearing an army uniform fired shots today during a prayer meeting attended by Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi and President Zail Singh in an apparent assassination attempt, police and news reports said.

Police said no one was wounded, but sources at a hospital said two people with minor gunshot wounds were brought in from the area of the shooting shortly after it occurred.

The suspect surrendered after security personnel fired warning shots and surrounded a shrubbery-covered platform from which the suspect had fired four to five rounds, police said.

Assistant Police Commissioner Sarjan Singh said the gunman sprang from the undergrowth as Gandhi, his Italian-born wife, Sonia, and the president were leaving a prayer meeting at about 8 a.m. at the riverside cremation site of independence leader Mohandas "Mahatma" Gandhi, himself an assassination victim in 1948.

The Press Trust of India quoted Energy Minister Vasant Sathe, who witnessed the incident, as saying the shooting was "a well-planned attempt on the prime ministers life."

Sources at Jayaprakash Narayan Hospital said that shortly after the incident one man was treated for a bullet scrape on the right ear and another for a similar injury of the right eyebrow. Both men, who appeared to be in their 20s, were later discharged, the sources said, and it was not known if the two were hurt in the shooting.

Gandhi was apparently unperturbed by the incident, later telling the domestic news agency aboard a plane taking him on a three-day trip outside of New Delhi that there had been "absolutely no problem at all."

GOP Unites Behind Martinez

Absentee Votes Confirm Pajcic Win; Smith Mum

MIAMI (UPI) — An unofficial count of 65,000 absentee ballots late Wednesday confirmed Steve Pajcic's victory over Jim Smith in the Democratic nomination for Florida governor.

The final count gave Pajcic a 10,813-vote lead over Attorney General Smith, state elections supervisor Dorothy Gillson said. Pajcic, who resigned his state House seat to seek the nomination, had 429,426 votes or 50.8 percent. Smith had 418,613 votes or 49.4 percent — a margin of 1.2 percent.

Smith campaign manager Steve Wilkerson said early Wednesday that he would advise Smith to seek an official recount if Pajcic led by less than 1 percent.

There was no immediate comment from the Smith campaign, where staff devoted the day to an independent recount of the returns from Tuesday's runoff election. State law requires an automatic recount if the difference is less than one-half of 1 percent.

Pajcic

Meanwhile Florida Republicans rallied behind gubernatorial nominee Bob Martinez during a news conference in Tampa. Martinez resigned this year as that city's mayor to seek the nomination, and poses the most serious threat to Democratic control of the governor's mansion in 20 years.

It was announced that Vice President George Bush and former President Gerald Ford would campaign for Martinez — Bush in Miami on Oct. 9 and Ford in Tampa on Oct. 11.

Lou Frey, the victim of Tuesday's 67 percent to 33 percent drubbing by Martinez, took an honorary position with the Martinez campaign.

Absentee ballots in the GOP race were not counted Wednesday afternoon. Tuesday's results gave Martinez 254,488 votes compared to 126,624 for Frey, who represented central Florida in Congress in the 1970s.

Pajcic spent Wednesday resting and lining up financial support for the battle with Martinez. See PAJICIC, page 8A

Fast Action By Store Manager Robbery Suspect's Undoing

The quick action of a store manager who followed a robber to his car and got its license plate number after a holdup, helped bring about the arrest of an Orlando man Tuesday.

Marvin Cavender, 20, manager of Payless Shoes, 2434 S. French Ave., was instrumental in the capture of robbery suspect, said Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett.

The robbery occurred at about 10:45 a.m. Tuesday when the man entered the store with a "hard object," which he indicated was a gun, hidden in a bag. The man demanded cash and a clerk handed over $155. The robber also took a pair of coaster boat shoes, a police report said.

Armed with the license number of the get-away car, Sanford police traced the registration to an Orlando woman and Orlando police checked at that home and reported back to Sanford that the car was at that home.

Cavender, of Orlando, went with Sanford police to that home and reportedly identified the car. A man changing a tire on the vehicle when Sanford police arrived matched the description of the suspect.

Harriett said the man is believed to have gotten a flat tire on the get-away car in a hit-and-run accident in Winter Park, enroute from Sanford to Orlando after the holdup.

The man agreed to go to the Sanford police station for questioning, but before he left he asked to go to the restroom. Police agreed but said they would have to search the bathroom first. That's when Harriett said police found a pair of shoes Cavender identified as those taken in the robbery.

At 4 p.m. Tuesday at the Sanford police station Lawrence George Hamill, 42, of Orlando, was charged with armed robbery and was being held in lieu of $8,000 bond.

MOM'S OLD CHECKS

A 27-year-old Longwood woman who allegedly forged and cashed at least eight checks drawn on an account her mother closed several years ago has been charged by Altamonte Springs police with eight counts of forgery, uttering a forgery and grand theft.

On Sept. 25 the manager of Altamonte Bowling Lanes reported to police that he had cashed eight bad checks, drawn on a closed account of Mary Perkins Anderson.

Ms. Anderson told police that the account the checks were drawn on had been closed for several years. Her daughter had apparently stolen and forged the checks and Ms. Anderson told police where she might be found, a police report said.

Police said additional checks may have been cashed at other businesses.

Debra Len Spencer, 27, of 868 N. Lormann Circle, Longwood, was arrested at her home at about 11 a.m. Tuesday. She was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

SUSPICIOUS AT VEHICLE

An Altamonte Springs police officer who watched as man "acted suspiciously" at a Jeep parked on the Palm Springs Extension at about midnight Tuesday, charged the man with burglary to a conveyance after seeing him try to take something from inside the vehicle.

The officer also reported seeing the man duck down to try to hide from passersby, and when the policeman confronted him the man was reportedly hiding inside his own car, which was parked beside the Jeep.

The owner of the Jeep was located and that man said he didn't know the suspect, that he didn't have permission to be in his vehicle and he wanted the man to be arrested.

CONVENIENCE STORE ROBBED

A gunman got an undetermined amount of cash in a 10:55 p.m. Tuesday robbery of the Circle K, 93 Spartan Drive, Fern Park.

The clerk told Seminole County sheriff's Sgt. Terry Huffman that the man brought a loaf of bread to the counter and gave her $1. When she opened the cash register the man pointed a handgun at her and took cash from the drawer.

He first asked for only $20 bills, but took other cash when the clerk told him there were no $20 bills, Huffman reported.

The gunman told the clerk to lie on the floor before he fled, so she didn't see where the bandit went. The robber left behind the $1 he had used to pay for the bread, Huffman reported.

SEXUAL BATTERY

A 14-year-old Sanford girl was reportedly sexually assaulted early Monday in a Sanford residence. Police said the girl told her mother a heavy set man in his 20s used his hands to assault her.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Matthew E. Burke, 29, of 247 B Oregon Ave., Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies that fishing tackle valued at $150 was stolen from his yard between Sunday and Tuesday.

The Christus Restaurant was broken into and about $50 was taken, he said. Anthony's Hairstyling was also burglarized. Windows were broken into; however second locks on the windows prevented

ACLU Says It Won't Sue Over LMHS Drug Contracts

The American Civil Liberties Union has dropped its plans to sue the Seminole County School Board over anti-drug use contracts for students in use at Lake Mary High School.

The ACLU decided not to press legal action after contract participation was made voluntary.

Contrary to the earlier plan, students will be permitted to participate in extracurricular activities even if they do not sign the contract.

Lake Mary Assistant Principal Bill Moore said he was not surprised the suit plan was dropped.

"I think they jumped the gun and went off on some rumors," he said "I thought once they looked at our final program, there would be no problem."

The ACLU had threatened to sue after the board said

Lake Mary high administrators were free to require the contract as a mandatory requirement for participation in extra-curricular activities at the school.

The contract, in which the student pledged not to participate in drug abuse, was modified at the suggestion of the school board attorney.

That change was looked upon as a victory by the ACLU.

"It does seem like a reaction to the publicity," said Susan Wheeler, an Orlando attorney who advises the central Florida chapter of the ACLU. "We feel good about it," she said.

"The school was requiring that every one who participated in extra-curricular activities sign this contract," Ms Wheeler said.

Grand Jury Indicts Man In Baby's Beating Death

A Fern Park man was indicted by a grand jury on a charge of first-degree murder Tuesday in the December beating death of his girlfriend's 15-month-old son.

Victor Joseph White, 39, was also indicted on charges of aggravated child abuse and sexual battery in connection with the death of John Mias on Dec. 11.

The beating occurred Dec. 10 at the home of Ms. Mias, 2903 Oak Lane, Fern Park, according to court records. She had left her children in White's charge the day the toddler was assaulted.

White reportedly told a neighbor the infant was dead and then disappeared. Police believe White hitchhiked to Daytona Beach, called his wife in Minnesota, told her he was in trouble, then hitchhiked to Minnesota.

On Jan. 30 he was arrested in that state on separate charges in connection with the sexual assault of two girls.

The Fern Park toddler was found unconscious and bruised and was transported to Orlando Regional Medical Center where he died after life-support systems were discontinued.

Man's Story Of Music Has Ring Of Truth

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for printing that letter from "Hearing Things." For years I've been hearing "Old Man River" over and over again just as I had heard it sung in "Showboat." Once in a while I hear old-time gospel music, which I have always loved. And during the holiday season I hear "Silent Night" sung by the mormon Tabernacle Choir. These songs are always heard in exactly the same way — as though they were recorded in my brain.

I suppose I should be grateful I am not hearing rock music, which I hate. I have never told anyone about what I've been hearing all these years because I honestly thought they would carry me off and lock me in a mental ward.

CELIA IN DALLAS

DEAR ABBY: "Hearing Things" wrote that in addition to continuous ringing in his ears, he sometimes heard musical compositions. The ringing in his ears could be, as you suggested, "tinnitus," but the music is an entirely different problem. "Hearing Things" is having seizures or spasms in the part of his brain that stores musical memories. He should see a neurologist who will prescribe anti-convulsants to stop these seizures, which are otherwise known as musical epilepsy.

The complaint is a valid one. Those with this problem, like "Hearing Things," are afraid to talk about it for fear others will think they are "crazy."

FAM WINEGAR, OAK RIDGE, TENN.

DEAR ABBY: The problem described by "Hearing Things" sounds like two case histories described by Dr. Oliver Sachs, a professor of clinical neurology at Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York.

Dear Abby

Dr. Sachs described two women with similar problems, one of whom was having epileptic seizures in the temporal lobes of her brain. She was placed in anti-convulsants and the "musical seizures" stopped.

The other patient went to her otologist who, after finding nothing wrong except usual deafness, referred her to a psychiatrist who, upon finding nothing psychiatrically wrong, sent her to Dr. Sachs — who discovered she had had a small stroke in her right temporal lobe. As her body recovered from the stroke, the music subsided.

By the way, I am not partial to any specialist. I am married to a psychiatrist and formerly worked as a secretary for a group of neurosurgeons. "Hearing" may want to ask his family physician about a referral to a neurologist. I just hate to see patients go from doctor to doctor trying to pinpoint their problems. It's a waste of time and money.

MELISSA T. FARBER, NORFOLK, VA.

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed "Hearing Things," who kept hearing music in his head, caught my attention because I am familiar with that problem. A friend who worked as a researcher in the Library of Congress once told me of an elderly man who, out of desperation, had traveled some distance to the library to find a solution to that maddening problem. The man, who was intelligent and sane, had been hearing, note for note, the musical performances that he had heard in his youth. He rather enjoyed the music, though many thought him crazy to sit in his chair, smile, and tap his foot in time with the "music."

This condition is not rare; most people who experience it simply don't mention it for fear of being thought "nuts."

BAZ IN NACOGDOCHES, TEXAS

DEAR ABBY: I just read your column in which "Hearing Things" complained of hearing music in his head. I have just finished reading a book titled "The Man Who Mistook His Wife for a Hat," by Dr. Oliver Sachs. The author told of more than one patient who heard entire "concerts" in his head. They were not hallucinations, but real memories triggered by a neurological problem. These patients are not "crazy"; some are epileptic, and a few may have tumors that trigger the stored music memories.

I am not a doctor, but this person who is hearing things should see a neurologist.

Cited Palsy Is Not Same As Parkinson's

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am a male, 70, don't smoke or drink, and have taken Endoronyl Forte for high blood pressure for 25 years. My hand shakes continually, and it gets worse when I get excited or upset. The neurologist recommends a brain scan and possible surgery. Is this palsy the same as Parkinson's Disease?

DEAR READER — Probably not. Palsies (shaking) and intention tremors are fairly common in older patients. Parkinson's Disease ordinarily produces a tremor at rest; the shaking improves during purposeful movements. I agree with your neurologist that there should be further investigation to discover a treatable cause for your tremor.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Do doctors take cases more readily when the patient pays up front, rather than when the insurance company pays for it directly? Most doctors I want to see about my knee ask for an up-front fee.

DEAR READER — Your experience is unfortunate. Good doctors should know better and behave themselves. The "up-front" fee may be popular in some professions, but, in my opinion, it has no place in the doctor's office unless it is voluntary and will not affect the level of care a patient receives. Doctors have a right to be paid for their services, but I believe that prepayment is yet another signal of medical avarice. Healers who take cases more readily when the patient pays up front should be reported to their medical societies.

Since you also raise the topic of insurance, I'm sending you a free copy of my new Health Report, INSURING YOUR GOOD HEALTH, which explains the basics of medical insurance and tells how to be sure that your coverage meets your needs. Others who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT — How does a doctor test people for food sensitivities?

DEAR READER — Usually by taking a meticulous medical history in an attempt to discover which foods cause problems. Skin or blood testing are often used to confirm which substances are the culprits.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Neville Dowe of Watertown, New York, opened a rather light hand at the North American Championships in Toronto last July. Then, because of the favorable vulnerability, he sacrificed against four hearts. That created another problem when suddenly North carried on to six. But Neville knew how to solve that problem, if his partner cooperated.

North had bid only four hearts at his first turn, the assumption was that slam was not being considered. South's bid of five hearts, then, was only meant to keep East-West from taking a cheap save against a vulnerable game.

Nevertheless, the slam would have made except for a high-level call by Neville Dowe. He doubled. Invented by the late Teddy Lightner in contract bridge's infancy, the double of a slam that the opponents expect to make calls for an unusual lead. In this instance, Dowe knew a spade lead would defeat the slam, and he hoped his partner would have enough length in that suit to pick that lead. And so it was, but only barely. If West had held one club more and one spade fewer, he would probably have made the wrong lead.

Bridge hand diagram showing North, South, East, West cards and a vulnerable North-South Dealer: East. Opening lead: ♠ 8.
