Going Away Party The Renfro home, over on the West Side is one of the prettiest in that section of the town. With its wide, well kept lawn bordered with flowering plants and shrubs, at the back of which is a clump of beautiful trees whose overhanging branches afford a delightful shade for the many social functions of the neighborhood, for Mrs. Renfro is not only a charming hostess herself but a generous neighbor to other hostesses who frequently use the lawn for their affairs.

Last Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Geo. Armstrong was the gracious hostess at a going away party complimentary to Mrs. G. B. Waldron, who leaves shortly for Tampa, where she will make her future home. Beneath the trees a charming scene was presented, with its comfortable chairs and benches, gaily colored cushions and the tables with their snowy white covers filled with cut glass and dainty china holding vases with masses of vari-colored flowers.

The ladies had been invited to a ten-ten social but herein was a surprise for the honoree of the afternoon, for a very lovely gift of a cut-glass lemon dish and fork was a tangible souvenir of the esteem and affection in which Mrs. Waldron is held by her friends and associates in the Congregational church. Mrs. Henry Wight in one of her usual happy, pleasing talks made the presentation in behalf of the ladies. Mrs. Waldron responded gracefully in accepting the gift. Delicious refreshments were served during the afternoon. Mrs. F. P. Strong and Miss Flora Walker presided at the punch bowls, while Mrs. Renfro, assisted Mrs. Armstrong in serving. Mrs. Armstrong's guests were Mesdames C. E. Walker, Henry Wight, Moughton, Henry Witte, Charlotte Smith, Annie Walker, Massey, Will Hand, C. R. Walker, Findlay Munson, F. P. Strong, Harvey Renfro, Walter Hand, Wright, E. T. Woodruff, W. D. Peters, R. A. Terhoun, Misses Eva and Flora Walker, Dr. C. E. Walker and Mr. Fraser Armstrong.

Sulphur Is Advised For Powdery Scab

On account of the possibility of infection with powdery scab, the department is now recommending all potato growers to treat their seed potatoes with sulphur. This is made expedient by the fact that infected seed potatoes have been shipped out of Maine, where powdery scab now exists. Recent tests justify the department's scientists in recommending a thorough dusting with flowers of sulphur after the potatoes have been cut as a precaution against the disease, but the treatment is by no means intended to take the place of formaldehyde as a general disinfectant. The department advises the use of both formaldehyde and sulphur.

Before cutting the potatoes should be soaked in a solution of 1 pint of formaldehyde to 30 gallons of water. They should then be allowed to dry quickly either in the open or while spread out on a clean floor. This is known to be effective against a common scab and black leg, and should therefore be employed in all cases. Whether it is equally effective against powdery scab is doubtful, and for this reason the use of sulphur is strongly advised in addition. The potatoes should be cut first and then dusted thoroughly with flowers of sulphur. A general use of this treatment is advised for Maine.

Primary Law—Good and Bad

The Bryan Primary Law is by no means perfect. It is hardly within the scope of human effort to make a perfect law, until it has been "tried out" and its weak points shown by experience. But it is going to be mighty hard to prove it hasn't sufficient redeeming traits to make it appeal to the people after proper amendment. It is very probable that nearly every candidate who was defeated will attribute that result to the Bryan Primary Law, and walk around with a knife up his sleeve to emasculate it when the legislature assembles. But there is no getting around some proposition: A gentleman who is disappointed but philosophical still, writes me, "There is no telling where luck and a half broken steer are going to run." Defeated candidates ought to take the same cheerful view and look at the law impartially. One thing to be devoutly thankful for is that we do not have a second primary within the next thirty days.

A review of the statement filed by the various candidates also reveals the fact that under the present Primary Law it is at least possible for a poor man to run for office in Florida and retain his self respect and honesty. There is another thing which greatly commends it. It is true that there was less mud slinging and acrimony in the primary just held than any Florida has ever gone through with. As a result there are fewer wounds to heal after the conflict, and the number of downs and outs has not been increased. The provision for registration every two years is doubtless an expensive luxury as well as a useless waste of time and a great annoyance for the average voter, and will likely be given short shrift when the legislative body assembles, but it is very likely that those who favor a fair expression of the voter at the polls will be loth to part with the new law entirely.

Users of Tobacco Take Notice

I don't know whether the Annual Synod of the "Reformed Presbyterian church of the United States and Canada" in session this week in Bloomington, Ind., represents the good old Presbyterians I have known all my life or not. The prefix to the name, and some of the acts indicate to an outsider that possibly the organization is an assembly of Smart Alecks who have detached themselves from the parent body. I hope this is so, for the observations and experiences of many years have taught me the profoundest respect and admiration for Presbyterians, and I would be genuinely grieved to see them swallowed up by the latest vortex of folly, which was thrashed out and discarded by Methodists and Baptists years ago.

Listen to the grandiloquent expression of superlative folly by the aforesaid Synod "The use of tobacco is an acquired, undesirable and sinful habit and its effect is hurtful to the body and mind." This being the conclusion of these wise men, they have desired to take the Lord's affairs in their own hands. According to the associated press reports, "the church now refuses to license a minister, elder or deacon, or to appoint a Sunday school teacher who uses tobacco, and it is proposed to bring the membership up to the same standard." All this on the recommendation of the so-called temperance committee.

For a long time I have been telling my readers the prohibition idea would not be content without prescribing what men should drink. Tyranny, under whatever guise it appears, recognizes no limitations save an impregnable wall of human intelligence, and its boundless arrogance permits it to make frequent assaults upon that.

THE CORRUPT PRACTICE LAW Governor Trammell Is Well Pleased With Its Working

Tallahassee, Fla., June 16.—Gov. Park Trammell, who is the author of the law limiting campaign expenses, requiring statements of campaign expenses, prohibiting campaign workers and providing for punishment of all kinds of graft in connection with primary campaigns and elections, expresses himself as very highly pleased with the operation of this law in connection with the recent primary.

The Governor seems highly pleased with the way the people of the state feel towards this law, and the manner in which it operated in connection with the first primary after its enactment. The Governor says some newspapers have confused his "Corrupt Practice Act" with the "Bryan Primary Law" while in fact they are entirely different laws and have no connection with the other.

McKINNON WINS

Judge Perkins Refuses To Order Signing of Warrants

Dr. J. F. McKinnon, superintendent of public instruction, won the first round in the mandamus proceeding brought in the name of the grammar school teachers to compel him to sign the teachers' salary warrants.

The hearing of the alternative writ came up in Sanford Saturday before Judge James W. Perkins, who is engaged in holding circuit court for Seminole county at that place.

Judge Perkins had issued the alternative writ ordering Supt. McKinnon to show cause why he should not sign the warrants and it was in response to this mandate that Dr. McKinnon made answer yesterday, being represented by Mr. Jos. H. Jones.

The action originated in the refusal of the superintendent to sign the warrants of the school teachers at the beginning of the school year in October. His refusal was based upon the double daily sessions of the Orlando grammar school, the claim being that it was impossible for the teachers to make a full day of five hours each as required by law, when the entire school day was only eight hours and two sets of pupils were being taught.

At that time the county treasurer, Mr. J. H. Tucker, refused to pay the warrants without the signature of the superintendent, and the court ordered him to pay them. Matters went along thus and the teachers received their money until April, when the supreme court handed down an opinion in an analogous case taken up from Marion county, wherein the court held that the warrants were not valid. To be on the safe side the treasurer refused to pay any more warrants without the superintendent's signature, and the mandamus proceeding was brought against Dr. McKinnon to compel him to fix his signature.

As stated above, Judge Perkins refused, after hearing the case argued, to issue an order requiring the superintendent to sign—Orlando Sentinel.

NEW TOURIST HOTEL WILL BE BUILT HERE AT AN EARLY DATE

CAPITALISTS HAVE TAKEN HOLD OF THE PROPOSITION—LOUISVILLE PAPERS CONTAIN GOOD ARTICLE

THE PROMOTERS ARE BUSY ON THE HOTEL AND A NUMBER OF OTHER PROJECTS OF LARGE PROPORTIONS

Our Sanford Development Corporation seems to have closed its deal in a firm and decisive manner forever silencing the "doubting Thomas" who have seemed to discourage it and amply rewarding its warmer partisans. The presidency of the corporation is given to Mr. George E. Montgomery, who became associated with Mr. Walter S. Adams and Mrs. Ellison Adams in the month of March and whose able handling of the whole matter has proven him to be the one best fitted for the position.

The following article is copied from the Times of Louisville, Ky., Saturday evening, June 13th:

Walter S. Adams of Louisville and eastern Kentucky capitalists are interested and the Falls City Construction Company of Louisville, will likely land a $200,000 building construction contract as a consequence of the launching of a Florida land development project this week involving the expenditure of more than half a million dollars.

It was Mrs. Adams who outlined the organization of the plan. The two, it may be said, are in no way related. Mr. Adams became vice president of the now $300,000 Sanford Development Corporation and will divide his time between Louisville and Sanford, Fla., having offices in both cities.

Judge M. J. Moss, of Pinville, becomes secretary and treasurer of the new corporation. He represents capitalists of the eastern Kentucky coal fields, including interests in Chattanooga, Tenn. Mrs. Adams, who promoted the deal is a sister of Charles and Rudy Ellison of Louisville.

The Louisville and Kentucky interests united with Tennessee and New York interests in taking over from the Holden estate in Florida 1,295 city lots in Sanford, a little city of 8,000 inhabitants at the head of deep water navigation in Central Florida; 525 acres in Robinson Springs near Sanford; an interest in the 8,000 acres of the Astor land grant on Lake Monroe, Fla., an interest in 4,000 acres on the St. Johns river, 40 miles from Sanford; twenty-seven celery farms of 5 and 10 acres, and a 400-room hotel near Sanford.

This hotel is a frame structure and will be replaced by a $200,000 brick hotel of 200 rooms, for the construction of which the new corporation is now negotiating with the Falls City Construction Company of Louisville. The hotel company will be separately incorporated at $200,000.

The property of the corporation in Florida was purchased of the Holden estate, the owner of which was killed some time ago in an automobile accident. It lies around the little city of Sanford, which Mr. Adams states has grown 2,000 population since the taking of the last census. Sanford is building a $150,000 sea wall and making ambitious plans for the future. G. E. Montgomery of New York, becomes president of the new corporation, which has already started to consummate its development plans.

Negro and Horse Die

The funeral of William C. Stewart, colored, last Sunday recalls the strange coincident of master and horse dying within a few minutes of each other. When Stewart was taken sick Friday night with acute indigestion, a messenger was sent on Stewart's horse for a physician. The boy had gone not more than three blocks when the horse dropped dead, presumably from heart disease. The boy continued his search for a physician on foot, but before the boy and doctor reached the sick man he had expired. Stewart is the largest property owner in Georgetown, the section of Sanford where the colored population resides, his holdings amounting to probably $10,000. He has resided in this community for the past forty years, and was one of the most respected of colored citizens.

NEGRO DEFIED THE LAW

And Was Shot to Death by Officers in Defense of Their Lives

Several months ago a city ditch in Goldboro was stopped up endangering the health of that part of the city and the sanitary inspector A. D. Smith and several members of the street committee going out to investigate found that a negro named Williams or "Typewriter Tom" as he was called was responsible for the stopping of the drain ditch. Upon being questioned he said that the ditch went through his land and he would not permit it any longer. The officers expostulated with him and finally left with the understanding that he would not molest the ditch again. The negro seemed to brood over the trouble and wrote several threatening letters to Mayor Thrasher about what he intended to do and last week dared the mayor to send out there to open the ditch or to arrest him. Mayor Thrasher immediately sent Marshal Tills after him, but the negro who was employed in the country did not show up that week and learning that he was in town last Saturday afternoon Marshal Tills, Inspector Smith and Policeman Vickery went out to the negro's house. Getting near the place the man was seen sitting on the steps and as soon as he saw the officers he ran into the house and barred the doors and windows. This looked ominous to the officers and upon getting closer the marshal called to the negro to open the door and come out as they intended to arrest him. He replied that he would not come out and dared them to come and get him. Vickery and Smith were at the windows by this time and peering through Smith could see the negro on his knees with a shot gun at his shoulder about to shoot either Vickery or Tills and making a break for the front door pushed his way into the house closely followed by Marshal Tills. The negro turned at once and fired at the officers as they came in, the load of buckshot passing between the two and knocked the skin from Smith's knuckles and passed through his coat sleeve ripping a hole all the way up his coat. The officers fired at the negro, almost as soon as the discharge of his gun awoke the echoes and knowing that they were in defense of their lives they shot to kill and in a few minutes Williams had passed to the place where ditches will not bother him.

The officers regret that they were forced to take human life but they also feel that under the circumstances there was nothing else to do, as they tried every means possible to get Williams to come out and surrender peacefully. Had he submitted to arrest the mayor would have let him off lightly and probably with a lecture. As it was he considered himself wronged by the whole world and had made ready to resist arrest and kill any one who dared to oppose him. He had plenty of shells in the house and several in the pockets of his clothes, showing that he was prepared to stand a siege if necessary. The quick work of the officers saved trouble for had he killed any of them trouble would have started.

The remains were brought to the city and Judge Herring presided at the inquest, the jury bringing in a verdict of justifiable homicide at the hands of officers in performance of their duty.

Government Gets Slog

C. H. Slog, president of the New South Farm and Home Company, now of Palatka, Fla., and formerly of Chicago, was indicted by the Federal grand jury at Jacksonville on three counts of conspiracy and using the mails to defraud. He was taken into custody a few minutes after the indictment was returned and released on a bond of $5,000.

Four associates, who composed the directors of the concern, were indicted on the same counts. They are Fred Turner, of Palatka, and Ben Levin, Benjamin F. Starns and Charles Greve of Chicago.

The indictment follows two years work on the part of the government officials.

BIG BUSINESS BLUFF BY THE TRUSTS HAS BEEN CALLED BY PRESIDENT WILSON

TRUSTS TRY HARD TO PUT A SPOKE IN THE WHEEL

WILSON STANDS PAT ON TRUST LEGISLATION

TO PUSH LEGISLATION THROUGH THE SENATE AGAINST THE MONEY POWERS

Washington, D. C., June 16.—President Wilson made the direct charge today that sentiment in favor of postponement of the administration's trust legislative program was the result of a campaign by certain interests and intimated that it was the cause of the "psychological business depression" of which he recently spoke.

In support of the President's view the White House made public copies of letters and telegrams circulated among business men calling for adjournment of congress without completion of the trust bill, praying for the freight rate increase asked by the railroads of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and calling for a halt of the "attacks on business."

President Wilson made it clear to his callers that the campaign, if such it might be called, would not influence him and that it was his plan to push the trust program through the senate with the aid of all the means at his command. He expressed the view that business was as good if not better now than a short while ago and that it would be less harmful to business interests to have the trust legislation program completed than to be confronted with a period of uncertainty which would accompany delay.

One of the letters which came into possession of the White House but was not given out with the others today, was circulated by the Simmons Hardware Company of St. Louis. E. C. Simmons, head of the company, had been selected for membership in the federal reserve board and his nomination was to have gone to the senate today. The morning it was announced at the White House that Mr. Simmons had declined the place. White House officials emphatically denied, however, that the circular letter had any connection with this development.

Memorial Services

The members of Celery Circle No. 60 met in Masonic Hall Wednesday at 8 p. m. to hold a grove of sorrow in commemoration of the memory of those sovereigns who have crossed over the river and entered the supreme forest on high. Those in whose memory this grove of sorrow was held were those who had passed from Celery City Grove since its organization: Sovereign Commander Joseph Cullen Root, the Father of Woodcraft, the benefactor of the widow and orphan and whose memory will ever be cherished and held sacred in the hearts of every child of woodcraft. Also A. L. Manchester, the husband of our beloved Supreme Tuardian, Mrs. Emma B. Manchester. The grove of sorrow closed by singing "Blest be the Tie that Binds."

Boylan—White

Miss Hattie Boylan and Mr. William White were married Saturday evening at the parsonage of the Baptist church by the Rev. Geo. Hyman. Only the immediate family witnessed the ceremony. Mrs. and Mr. White immediately after the ceremony motored over to Daytona where they will spend the honeymoon. Their many friends wish them a long life of happiness together.

On the eve of her departure for Tampa Mrs. G. B. Waldron is being delightfully entertained by her many friends in Sanford, with teas, dinners and parties. A charming affair was the thimble party Friday afternoon at which Mrs. E. T. Wood was the hostess. Those present were Mrs. G. B. Waldron, Mrs. C. E. Walker, Mrs. A. L. Newmeyer, Mrs. F. P. Stone and Mrs. C. B. Walker.

AT THE NATION'S CAPITAL

Doings at Washington Gleaned By The Herald's Special Representative

Washington, D. C., June 16 (Special)—What is universally regarded as the most illuminating, comprehensive and statesmanlike debate that has occurred in the senate in a generation, the discussion on a bill to repeal the toll exemption clause, which gives American ships the right to pass through the Panama Canal without charge, came to an end this week. In the power of analysis, the number of participants and the high standard attained, there has been no debate in Congress for years that is comparable to it, unless it be the debate on the repeal of the silver purchasing clause of the Sherman act. There are old attaches of the senate who do not hesitate to say that the tolls bill brought out a much more formidable array of real, genuine talent than was brought out in that other memorable debate twenty odd years ago, and these same officials do not hesitate to say that historians will place the debate just ended, by the passage of the bill with an amendment, as the greatest in the history of the United States.

XXXXXX
Tired of constantly looking upon a large vacant space in the fresco frieze in the rotunda of the nation's capitol, Senator James O'Gorman of New York has introduced a resolution in Congress to create a commission to arrange for the early filling up of the space with some characteristic national subject; one that will not offend sectional sensibilities, but will illustrate some significant phase of the country's history and effectively round out the series which begins with the discovery of America.

For more than twenty five years the unfinished decoration has awaited definite action, which has been prevented by the failure to agree upon an appropriate subject for the concluding panel. It is quite likely that if Brumid, who painted most of the frieze, and whose death resulted from an accident on the scaffold, had lived to finish his work, there would have been no difficulty on the score of the concluding picture. His successor however was unable to obtain approval for his design and so the panel has remained unoccupied for more than a quarter of a century, a cause of wonderment to millions of tourists, Americans as well as foreigners.

Farm credit legislation seems to be headed toward a sharp contest between those for and opposed to government loans. The new Bulkley Hollis bill introduced in the house is the result of the deliberations of the joint sub committee of two branches of Congress. It contains in part, the principle of government loans for the benefit of agriculture, which the large farm organizations have contended for. In this respect, together with the killing of the Moss-Fletcher bill, the new bill can be taken as a partial triumph for the farmers. These organizations were practically united in support of the bill introduced by Representative Bathrick of Ohio, who has led the fight for government aid during the last two years. His persistent propaganda for this principle is well known, and to his research, speeches and writings is mainly due the credit for the general understanding of that division of the farm credit system.

In an interview he presents his views as follows: "Everybody now knows that all the leading nations of Europe are doing more for the farmers than I have asked out government to do. Those who are posted, and are not more interested in high profits on interest than in the future of our food supply, have stopped calling government loans class legislation and socialism.

"My bill is still the best bill to relieve the burden of high cost of money to the farmer. But I have had some experience in getting the right kind of legislation. Very often the over zealous miss the psychological moment to get the best they can. It is for that reason I have announced my support for the Bulkley Hollis bill. The bill contains three items of substantial government aid which will be of immense advantage to the west and south, particularly. It opens possibilities of good everywhere. It contains as little greed as could be expected with the many opinions of conflicting interests. It has a touch of mutuality and improving amendments can be made which should not seriously conflict with the opinions of the makers of the bill. Expenses of operation are low, the bonds to be issued against mortgages are well fortified and should sell at a rate which should reduce the interest burden to the borrowers."

IS THIS NEW PLANT?

Department of Agriculture Thinks Have New Wrinkle in Cabbage

A recent dispatch from Washington says that a cabbage with a flavor that makes it suitable for use in slaw was introduced from China several years ago by the United States Department of Agriculture, and the Department now announces that it has been successfully grown in this country and that samples of its seed will be distributed on request until the present supply is exhausted.

This cabbage is called Pal Ts'ai, "Brassica Pekinensis" and is a strain of Chinese cabbage. Since its introduction in Washington several years ago it has proved of unusual promise for late summer planting owing to its extreme rapid growth, in the department's gardens. The department now recommends it for more general use.

The cabbage is said to be the main staple of the diet of the people in certain portions of the north of China during the winter. The people of that district are physically very strong and healthy. Their cabbage diet is supplemented with plenty of course wholewheat flour and maize. When well grown the average plant, after being trimmed for the market, will weigh six to eight pounds, being from one to two feet long, mostly crisp white stem, and but little leaf.

The people in China plant this cabbage thinly. It is planted in rows and then the weak plants are pulled up, or else it is scattered over a space and then transplanted when of sufficient size. This latter method is said to yield the best plant though for a while the young plants appear to suffer; yet when the autumn weather comes on and they are well matured, transplanted plants will make better growth.

The plants must be manured heavily when about eight or ten inches high—not sooner, or they will "burn," and not later or they will not mature before cold weather. The leaves should be tied up when they are pretty well grown, so that the long, loose leaves will not fall away from the center and become frost bitten, if extra fine close heads are desired. The cabbage need a good deal of room. Therefore, the plants should not be placed less than two feet in rows that have at least three feet space between.

Further information on how to cultivate this cabbage, as well as seeds for same, may be obtained by writing the office of Foreign Seed and Plant Introduction, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.—Palatka News.

Unless we are greatly mistaken this is the Chinese cabbage that Sanford growers have been raising successfully for the past five years and if it is something new then we stand reproved. It will have to be real new to our growers for they are up to the minute on all vegetables.

PATRIOTISM AND POWDER MAY CAUSE UNTOLD SUFFERING AND SORROW

BY STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Patriotism and Powder!

There's a connection between the two which would be remarkable if it had not been proved to be rather intimate by the experiences of past years. The near approach of the summer holidays, of which the "Glorious Fourth" is the occasion or inspiration makes the subject timely.

The disasters resulting from the insane celebration of the Fourth, like typhoid fever, malaria and other ailments, are preventable.

They are without reasonable excuse, excepting that of ignorance, which isn't acceptable as an excuse in these enlightened days. Where an explosion of gunpowder in firearms or fireworks results in fatal injury or in instant death, the doctor, of course, hasn't a chance. The coroner should be summoned. But in the multitude of accidents that pepper the skin with burned powder, that bring shattered fingers and blinded eyes—the features that make the small boy a hero to his companions—the greatest danger is not from the superficial damages that might have come from other causes than exploding fireworks. It is in the slow—comparatively slow—development of tetanus, resulting frequently in complex flexion of the voluntary muscles and producing lockjaw.

In its final development the death of the victim is attended by horrible suffering not unlike that produced by hydrophobia. The spasms of excruciating agony in both diseases are unrelieved by the unconsciousness of the victim, and he dies a lingering death realising his fate and enduring the limit of pain to which humanity can reach.

It is not likely, in the present general indifference to the possibility of accidents of this kind even in the best regulated families, that we shall see any remarkable lessening of this danger. It is well, therefore, to be prepared for it—to realize that however slight a powder burn may appear, if it has broken the outer skin, there is a decided danger and risk in not taking every step to avoid fatal infection.

If a person, child or adult is attacked by a dog presumably affected with rabies, he takes no chances but hunts up the doctor, and he gets to him quick. The danger from a powder burn is no less serious and the prudent man will be equally prompt in consulting the physician. An antitoxin for tetanus has been perfected which is as dependable in the prevention of this disease as is the Pasteur treatment in the prevention of hydrophobia. Its use should be encouraged in all injuries of this nature even though they may be apparently of only moderate severity.

The bacillus of tetanus, the germ that makes the real trouble following gunpowder burns, is more or less of a mystery, but medical science has him under surveillance, investigating his habits and method of work. The doctors have found him an enemy not to be trifled with. They have discovered also that he cannot thrive in the presence of oxygen. It's fatal to him. Therefore, he cannot inflict an injury on the surface of the skin or wherever else he may be exposed to the air. He must and does work beneath the surface and he burrows along the nerve lines to the nerve centers of the body.

The advice to the layman in the case of accidents from exploding powder is to go to the doctor as soon as possible—don't wait until tomorrow—go now. As first aid to the injured, saturate the wound with peroxide of hydrogen or, as it is known sometimes, with dioxygen. While this must not be depended upon to ward off the results of injury, its large percentage of available oxygen may lessen immediate danger, until professional skill can have a chance.

If we must be noially patriotic, let us be prepared for the consequences, and knowing of the danger to the average small boy, be ready to save his life for years of future usefulness.

ST. JOHNS FLOWS UPSTREAM

Interesting Letter of J. N. Whitner Brings Out Many Facts

Several days since Hon. J. N. Whitner of this city published an open letter to the Jacksonville Board of Trade regarding the cutting of a canal from the St. Johns river to Indian river at Salt Creek and in his letter proved that the upper St. Johns river is not fed by springs but that the vast volume of water that makes navigation on the St. Johns river to the mouth at Jacksonville is fed from the Wekiwa, Hoosier and Palm Springs, Blue Springs and many Springs that well up from the middle of Lake Monroe. The following interesting letter from Chris. O. Coddington of the DeLand News proves the truth of Mr. Whitner's statement that at times the St. Johns river actually flows upstream:

The interesting letter of Mr. J. N. Whitner at Sanford to the Jacksonville Board of Trade, published in the Times-Union of the 11th, has just been read. The following clipping from the DeLand News, published on the 10th (the day before Mr. Whitner's letter appeared), may have some bearing on this same subject and partially sustain the contention of Mr. Whitner.

"What do you think of that? For the first time since the memory of man running not to the contrary, Blue Springs is full of sea crabs. Mr. Thursby, who has lived there about forty years, says he has before seen but three crabs—today the spring is alive with them. DeLand people who were here Sunday and Monday took them and scraped them up by the oat sack full. Crabbing parties are all the go here now. How did the crabs get there—and whence came they? During the past month there have been very heavy east winds, which have banked up the tides on the beach; this, combined with low water in the river, has made the current in the St. Johns seemingly run the wrong way—up-stream—and may account for the crabs. And then, there may be a subterranean passage between the spring and the ocean by which the crabs have come for a drink of sulphur water. How sea crabs have come 150 miles from the sea, is yet to be satisfactorily explained."

The writer has no personal interest whatever in a canal leading from the upper St. Johns into Indian river, and he is only a mere newspaper man and not a land owner but he has often wondered what the result of such a canal, on small shipments of vegetables and fruit, and on the tourist business would be. A canal from the upper St. Johns to Indian river, constructed with proper locks to maintain the equable flow and depth of water, would give south Florida the finest, most picturesque round-trip waterway in the world, would encourage the owning of thousands of motor boats, and would make a kind of pleasure in the tourist and hunting season for thousands who would make the trip from Jacksonville to St. Augustine, down the East Coast canal and Halley river to Orlando, Daytona, New Smyrna, down the Hillsboro and Indian rivers to Titusville, across the narrow peninsula through the canal to the upper St. Johns, and down this romantic stream via Sanford, the Wekiwa, DeLand, Palatka, Green Cove Springs and back to the point of departure.

In time of high water there would be no use for locks in the canal, as the run-off from the upper St. Johns flats would only serve to maintain a low level of a few inches in the water of the upper St. Johns as it percolated through the hundreds of thousands of acres of lowlands into the river. This would be a benefit to all owners of lands in this section, and would doubtless lower the water (in the wet season) sufficient to permit the cultivation of many thousands of acres of new worthless land lying along the St. Johns.

In times of low water the locks would be necessary, if not to maintain the depth of the water in the upper St. Johns, at least to maintain the depth of water in the canal.

Of course this is all mere conjecture—only an actual survey, estimate of rainfall, evaporation, drainage, etc., would definitely determine the results.

COVER PROTECTS BALL FIELD

Canvas Tarpaulin Screen, Attached to Hangers, Sliding on Cables, Makes Sloping Roof.

To protect baseball diamonds and other athletic fields from rain and avoid postponement of games on account of "wet grounds," two St. Louis inventors have devised and patented a cover that may be spread over the field when it is not in use. The cover is arranged in two forms to be used with or without a grandstand. In one form, cables are run out from drums under the eaves of the grandstand and anchored beyond the outside baseline; a canvas and tarpaulin cover, attached to hangers sliding on the cables, makes a sloping roof over the "skinned" portion of the field, says the Popular Mechanics. In the other form, the cover is supported by a steel mast and swinging boom placed near the field. When the boom is swung out over the field, a tent in the form of a pyramid or cone with its center over the pitcher's box is let down and anchored with its edges outside the baselines. In either form, the cover can be quickly spread over the field or cleared away, by electric power.

For the Bowels

A Cure for Chronic Constipation, Torpid Liver and Irregular Bowel Movements.

Constipation is the most common disorder of the bowels. It affects both sexes and all ages but is more prevalent among women because their duties as the household require less physical exercise than the occupations of men; therefore women suffer most from its baneful effect.

A constipated person is an easy victim when exposed to any serious disease—Pneumonia, Typhoid Fever, Malaria, Rheumatism, Small Pox, Yellow Fever and Bright's Disease gather their annual harvest of death among those who are habitually constipated. Even though they escape these diseases, such persons are always ailing more or less. They have headaches, bad digestion, dizziness, vertigo (blind staggers), sallow complexion, distention, loss of strength, and no energy at all. Herbine has a most admirable effect in the bowels; it is cooling, purifying and regulating. It puts a prompt check on biliousness, wind in the bowels, nervousness, heartburn, bad breath, low spirits, drowsiness in the daytime and nervous wakefulness at night.

A 25c Want Ad. in The Herald will Rent Your House For You

OUR DAILY HERALD
 For some time past the management of the Herald Printing Co. has been seriously considering the launching of a daily paper in Sanford some time in the fall. In the plans the probability of a new tourist hotel played an important part for with the advent of several hundred tourists business would be sufficiently boosted to warrant more advertising from the local firms and to advertising alone can be laid the success or failure of a daily paper or a weekly paper in any community. We have often been approached by people here who wanted a daily paper who would not take a line of advertising and who were of the opinion that all a daily paper needed to make it go would be plenty of news items. There are plenty of news items right now but news items do not make the pay roll of any paper.

Looking ahead at the future prospects of Sanford as we can at the present time and seeing many good things in store the question of having at least a six months daily in the city of Sanford seems better now than ever and with the hearty cooperation from the business men of this city who will be asked to give us their opinion on the matter we expect to launch our daily about the first of November. That is, we expect to launch it providing the business men of Sanford want one. We certainly will not start one unless the people here want one and we will not start a little rag that would be only an apology for a daily. It will be a real daily with despatches and all that goes into the make-up of a real daily paper and we will start it with the idea that it should at least pay expenses for six months. It will not be an object of charity and unless the community can support it there will be no daily, notwithstanding the fact that Sanford seems large enough to have a daily paper. The Herald office is one of the best county offices in the south and can issue a daily at any time that the city is in position to pay for one.

The editor and the business manager have both had ample experience upon some of the best daily papers in the country. The editor has handled Florida dailies before and knows exactly what it takes to make a good Florida daily and we would not go into the business with our eyes shut. Believing as we do, that a good daily even for six months of the year would be one of the best cards that Sanford could display we do not hesitate in saying that we can make it go big if the people will assist with their good wishes, by taking subscriptions and the merchants by taking ample space.

It will, however, be up to the people. During the summer we shall mature our plans and talk the matter over with the business men. If in their opinion we are too soon with this enterprise we shall wait until another season to start one. Sanford is bound to have a daily sooner or later and The Herald will meet the demand but we are not here to force anything on the people that the people do not want and it will be left solely with the people after consultation.

The Herald has always served the people of this community with the best and asks no favors and we shall continue to meet the demands no matter how large the city grows. A daily paper for Sanford has been the dream of the editor's life and he hopes to see it consummated this fall.

THE DEFEATED EDITORS
 Every editor aspiring for office in the recent primary election was defeated. They were left on the wayside high and dry. Hon. H. H. McCreary, editor of the Gainesville Sun, who has represented Alachua county in the state senate on several occasions, was literally swept off his feet. Congressman L'Engle, editor of Dixie, and Albert Williamson, editor of the Jacksonville Floridian, candidate for Governor, was badly showed under, notwithstanding the fact that Editor L'Engle was serving his first term as a member of that body. Editor Williamson failed the ticket. Ed for L'Engle, running him a close second. Than L'Engle, a Williamson there are not two more fierce and outspoken men in Florida on all public questions. No two men are more courageous in giving voice to their convictions. They are not only physically but morally brave. But Tuesday was a Waterloo for both of them. Than Clarence B. Woods, editor of the Eustis Lake Region, there is not a more delightful character in Florida. He is a Chesterfield in his manners. He is a gifted writer. He is a peasant speaker. He is a booster and a boomer. In the struggle for an office he was hopelessly stranded. J. H. Reese, editor of the Orlando Sentinel, is without doubt one of the most talented writers on the press of the state unless it be Lambright of the Tampa Tribune. He is gifted in statecraft. He is suave in his manners. He would reflect honor on any legislative or cultured body anywhere. Mr. Reese was defeated for a seat in the Legislature. Editor Triplett of the Kissimmee Valley Gazette was a candidate for a seat in the Florida Legislature. As a speaker he is unique and forceful. It would appear that if any one would take with the "old timers" as well as the new comers that man would have been Editor Triplett. He is humorous. He can tell a good story. When the votes were counted in Osceola county it was found that he was the extreme appendix. More lamentable still News reaches us of the defeat for the State Senate from Putnam county of Editor Russell of the Palatka News. Besides being already a member of the lower house, Mr. Russell is an ex-president of the Florida State Press Association. His father had the distinction of being on the first national prohibition ticket, and all his life Editor Russell has lived in the atmosphere of politics, mingled in rich literary circles and possesses a princely personality. But he struck a political iceberg, and with the balance of the editors, went down with the Titanic, and not one is left, so to speak, to tell the story of what caused the untoward catastrophe. The very thing that ought to make one popular apparently has the reverse effect. The editor, who is brave and sincere enough to voice his honest convictions must do so in black and white and while his fearless convictions on one thing may be pleasing to many his freely expressed convictions on other subjects are just as displeasing. His utterances have the misfortune of always being put into cold type. While he makes strong friends he likewise makes bitter enemies, and Hon. A. Fred Ayer, after an experience of twenty years in the political field, says that one's friends are generally passive, but one's enemies would swim a river and scale a fence to do him dirt. The editor can very often manufacture statements out of very unpropitious material, but can rarely do for himself what he can so easily do for others. The fate that overtook

Horace Greeley has been the fate that has overtaken nearly every editor since that time who has had the temerity to enter the class of suffering statesmen.—Ocala Banner.

THE AVERAGE FARMER
 The average farmer, outside of Florida, has an average gross income of $980.55 from an average acreage of 138, and after he has paid the interest on his mortgage—and mortgages are somewhat frequent in other portions of the land—and his expense account in tilling his land, he has left $537.50 on which he must live educate his family and enjoy life. This is the status of the aforesaid farmer, not living in Florida according to government figures, the aforesaid average farmer having an investment of $6,443.

But how different it is in this section of the land. Here the farmer does not have to till a farm of 138 acres, plaster it with mortgages and buy expensive machinery—$3,000 threshing machines and other utensils—in order to make a net earning of less than $1.50 a day—a negro's wage. He gets a farm of ten acres or less, does most of the work himself during a short season, and has a net income far in excess of the gross income of his northern cousin and the Florida farmer has no mortgages, coal bills, and other kindred ills to deplete the fund for personal and family use and enjoyment.

According to these government official figures of the average farmer, there is an average mortgage on the average farm of $1,715, bearing an average interest of six per cent. Is it any wonder that so many are heeding the call of the south?—Miami Metropolis.

SAME IN SANFORD
 One Mr. Burlison, is in a fair way to get himself disliked by people down this way. He objects to what he considers extravagance in making appropriations for postoffice buildings in Florida, declaring that the amounts appropriated are beyond the needs of the service. Mr. Burlison goes into detail of what he considers adequate appropriations for several Florida cities, among them mentioning Lakeland, whose appropriation of $75,000 he would recommend be cut to $20,000. The official's ideas are based on ignorance of conditions in Florida, and particularly as they pertain to the growing cities of south Florida. In Lakeland we do not think $30,000 extravagant for a private residence, much less a government building to be supposedly a credit to the government. Fortunately we now have representatives in Congress who know the importance and needs of Lakeland, and we believe if any change is made in the amount appropriated for the public building it will be to increase it.

The organization of the Florida Development Promotion Board, by a gathering of representative men from all over the state, at Sanford recently, doubtless will result in some very effective exploitation of the state's resources. The organization will endeavor to get some legislation through at the next session of the legislature to create a public fund for a persistent and thorough advertising campaign that will properly present the state's advantages to the capitalist and home-seeker throughout the country. The men selected to prosecute the work in its preliminary stages are among the most progressive and successful in Florida, and are representative of various walks in life. The state will undoubtedly benefit from this organization.—Lakeland Telegram.

OUR NEXT CONGRESSMAN
 The people of the Fourth district chose splendidly last Tuesday when they named Joe Sears, of Kissimmee as their choice for representative in congress for the next two years says the St. Augustine Record.

He is every inch a man. His personal and official record is all that could be asked. The magnificent vote given him in his home county of Osceola should be sufficient proof of his ability, for when a home county goes for its candidate in such a manner after he has held many offices there for many years it proves that he is all he is claimed to be.

Mr. Sears will greatly strengthen the Florida delegation in Washington and will be a credit to the state. The big vote given him in St. Johns proves that he has the thorough good will of this county. As he is our next congressman, the following from one of his home papers—the Kissimmee Valley Gazette—will be of interest to those who are not familiar with his work in the past.

"W. J. ('Joe') Sears was born in Smithville, Ga., December 14, 1874, and shortly afterward moved to Ellaville, Georgia, and from there to Kissimmee, Fla., in January, 1881, when only a little more than six years old, where he has resided ever since. Joe received his early education in the public schools of Osceola county, and in 1891 entered the Florida State College at Lake City, where he graduated receiving the degree of A. B. in 1895, at which time he was senior captain, corps of cadets. He entered Mercer University in Macon, Ga., where in 1896 he received the degree of B. L., and on the 30th day of May, 1911, the A. B. degree was conferred on him by the University of Florida at Gainesville. In 1896, he was admitted to practice law in Georgia and in 1897 admitted to practice before the Florida courts. In 1905 he was admitted to the supreme court of Florida and in 1912 to the supreme court of the United States and United States District court, Southern district of Florida. For several years he was a member of the county Democratic executive committee. In 1899 he was elected mayor of Kissimmee, and his first official communication advocated the municipal ownership of water, light and sewer system, and the seed sown at that time sprouted so that today Kissimmee is the proud owner of all three of these. In 1907 he was chairman of the city council and remained a member of same until 1911, when he refused to serve further. In 1887 Osceola county was formed and the first county superintendent of public instruction for Osceola county was his father, W. J. Sears, Sr. In 1905 W. J. Sears, Jr., was elected county superintendent of public instruction and has held this office continuously since, now serving his third term. With all of this he is still known to his friends throughout Osceola and the state at large as 'Joe'. His life has been devoted to public service, and he is a broad, progressive and fair-minded man. He is a young man, sane and conservative, and yet withal is progressive and untiring in his efforts for the betterment of the people and for the best interests of the state. By always being true to his friends and fair to his enemies, he has made many of the former and few of the latter, as was fully demonstrated in the election on June 2nd, after eighteen years of public life, he received virtually a unanimous vote at the hands of the people who had known him throughout his public life."

IMPORTANT TO PAPERS
 Sometimes it is impossible for the publisher of a newspaper to have the entire edition go to the postoffice at one time—owing to one or more of a dozen obstacles which may arise, and the publisher of a paper at Ardmore, Oklahoma, was caught that way not very long ago. The postmaster was a new official, and refused to take the second batch of papers at the regular rates.

The publisher at once wired the department at Washington for a decision in the matter, and the reply was a most favorable one. In fact, it gave the newspaperman all that he asked for and then some. The question was turned over to A. M. Dockery, third assistant postmaster general to handle; and this was the reply wiring the inquiring publisher: "With respect to the time of mailing copies of a publication admitted to the second class of mail matter, you are informed that while it is expected that the bulk of each edition or issue of a publication admitted to the second class of mail matter for mailing on or about the date of issue, the postal laws and regulations do not prohibit mailing thereof at any time afterwards at the pound rate of postage to regular subscribers, or as bona fide sample copies within the limits stated in section 436, Postal Laws and Regulations. The publisher is also entitled to mail at any time free of postage copies entitled thereto under Section 433, Postal Laws and Regulations."—Palm Beach Post.

CAMP CONFERENCE
 Girls Will Soon Meet at Enterprise for Big Time
 Many girls and young women all over the state are looking forward eagerly to the 24th of June, when they will meet at Epworth Inn, Enterprise, Florida for two weeks of rest and recreation at the Girls' Camp Conference.

No more delightful location for a camp could be found anywhere in Florida than this roomy old fashioned hotel with its broad verandas large shade trees overlooking the waters of Lake Monroe. To the tired out school girl and the business girl alike it offers just the kind of a vacation they need.

Each day at Camp has been planned out so that something of interest will be going on all the time. In the early morning the girls may have the privilege of Bible classes and mission study classes, led by Miss Emma Tucker, a well known Bible teacher in the south, and Mrs. N. M. Salley of Tallahassee, wife of the Dean of the Florida State College for Women. On some days there will be councils held to talk over the work of the college girls, the Camp Fire Girls, or Sunday School and Missionary work, each group meeting by itself, to discuss ways and means of increasing their efficiency, under the leadership of some well known person along those particular lines.

Every afternoon a quiet hour will be observed from two to three and then will come a shower of merry attractions. For those who wish to remain around the hotel, there are the tennis and croquet courts, rowboats on the lake, etc. For the more energetic girls there will be "Bikes" and fishing trips, with possibly a picnic or supper before returning to the camp, trips to the swimming pool, auto rides, launch parties to some of the many places of interest which may be reached by water. On the first afternoon a trip has been planned to the Deberry estate, where the girls may have a dip in the swimming pool, followed by a picnic supper.

The second evening at Camp, there will be a concert in the hotel parlors when those girls who have talents will have a chance to display them. One of the numbers of the program will be a vocal selection by Miss Lucilla Aspinwall of Albany, N. Y., who has recently come to live in Sanford. On other evenings there will be Camp Fire Councils and entertainments. It is rumored that the young people of Enterprise are planning a charming little play to be given one evening of the two weeks. Each day will close with a fifteen minutes' vesper service down on the dock.

While the Camp Conference will have the advantage of being in a hotel the girls will have as much freedom as if they were in a Camp, and may wear middy blouses and bloomers all day if they wish. Only the simplest of clothing will be needed. Camp Fire Girls will bring their ceremonial dresses and all the girls will need bathing suits.

One of the best features of the Camp Conference is the number of leaders and older women who will be present, who are thoroughly in sympathy with and understand girl life. Among them are Mrs. Mabel Stevens of Gainesville, Miss Emma Tucker, Mrs. N. M. Salley of Tallahassee, Mrs. L. B. Newman of Jacksonville, Mrs. F. B. Robeson of Ft. Meade, Miss Mary Dudley Powell of Charlotte, N. C., Miss Lena Brokaw, general secretary of Jacksonville, Y. W. C. A., and others. A Self-Government Committee will be organized of Miss Flossie Brannan, a Junior in Brenau College will be chairman. The Recreation Committee and the music will be in the hands of one of the young women from the Florida State College for Women.

All those who are planning to attend and have not already registered, and paid their registration fee of one dollar are urged to do so at once. Board will be $5.00 a week, once, sending it to the Y. W. C. A., 180 W. Monroe St., Jacksonville, Fla. Board will be $5.00 a week.

IT FREQUENTLY HAPPENS
 That a person pays a bill in currency and forgets to ask for a receipt, and occasionally another bill is rendered and paid for the second time.
 This can be avoided in payment by check which supplies an undisputed receipt. Accounts subject to check [large or small] are cordially invited.

ENSMINGER—KENT

Beautiful Wedding at the Congregational Church Today

A wedding of unusual beauty and interest in Sanford was that of Miss Mary Brown Ensminger and Mr. Harry Francis Kent, which took place this afternoon at two o'clock at the Congregational church, Rev. F. P. Strong officiating.

The church was elaborately decorated, the color scheme being pink and white, while ferns and potted plants made a green background. The front of the pulpit was a lovely green arch, studded with pink and white flowers, from which was suspended a large floral bell. Beneath this arch the bridal couple stood.

The bridal party entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus, rendered by Mrs. D. C. Marlowe. Preceding the marriage ceremony Miss Lucille Aspinwall sang "O Promise Me." During the ceremony Dreams was softly played and Mendelssohn's Wedding March as they left the church.

The bride entered with her sister, Miss Carrie Ensminger, her only attendant; the groom was attended by his best man, Mr. Beecher Kent, followed by the ushers, Messrs. Henry Nickel and Henry Pilkington.

The bride wore a handsome coat suit of Copenhagen blue, with blouse of white shadow lace and a stylish hat to match the gown and carried a shower bouquet of Bride roses.

The bridesmaid was daintily gowned in pink crepe de chine, wearing a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Mrs. Jefferson Lee Ensminger, mother of the bride wore a handsome gown of white voile.

An informal reception at the home of the bride was held immediately after the ceremony, only the immediate relatives and most intimate friends of the young couple being invited.

The color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the decorations of the rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Kent left on the four o'clock train for Jacksonville, enroute to Washington, D. C., Chicago and points in Ohio, where they will remain a month.

They were the recipients of many useful and beautiful gifts of dainty china, cut glass and silver, furniture, paintings and exquisite linens, among them was a chest of handsome flat silver.

Mrs. Kent has been for fifteen years the efficient and capable book-keeper of the Fernald Hardware Co. Mr. Kent is a trusted employe of the A. C. L.

Their many friends wish them bon voyage on the sea of matrimony.

Bridge Club Mrs. Deane Turner delightfully entertained the bridge club of which she is a member last Wednesday afternoon.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Steinmeyer and besides the order of engineers and their families there was a large crowd present. Rev. Steinmeyer in beautiful portrayal of the daily life and dangers of the engineers paid tribute to their bravery and devotion to duty and the services were greatly enjoyed by all who were present.

PAT MURPHY HERE

Call Upon His Old Sanford Friends And Reviews Early Days

Pat Murphy, who resided here in the early days has been staying here for several days getting ready for his guide to Florida and handed out the following dope to the Herald:

I was never as much surprised in my life as I was on the Sanford House porch on Sunday night when I was recognized by my old friend, Col. Thrasher. He has changed so much and disguised himself by calling on the barber that I did not know him. In a loud tone of voice he said to me, "Murphy, how are you. I would have known your voice among a thousand people."

He said, "Do you know me?" I said, "Sure, I helped to make you mayor of Sanford many years ago. You were opposed by my old Irish friend Fleming, a tailor and you were winner. The boys decided that he would not make the best mayor and we gave you the benefit of the count. Those were the days when knockers were scarce and boosters were plentiful. One Sanford, one mayor, one happy people."

Says Col Thrasher, "Murphy, I've been to Europe and have a token from the Pope blessed by him and I want to give it to you. But I would rather be broke in Sanford, than be where you have been with plenty of money."

Col. Thrasher said he had most tender recollections of Sanford and the old folks who made a city in the early days and he continued to talk of those good days and good people, how they are missed and how valuable they would be here now. But when they bulkhead beautiful Lake Monroe and good water transportation comes Sanford will be the real city of South Florida. Good railroad facilities and water transportation is of great benefit to a city.

And now comes the question of a good hotel which will shortly displace the old Sanford House with its pretty picture by the lake and the beautiful grounds. If I could only remember Sanford and forget all else when I could die I could pass out peacefully.

You can never tell whether the people of Sanford are glad to see you or not until you call on them for a favor and then you will find out that they are always glad to help those who are willing to help themselves. Pat Murphy.

Announcing Engagement

Miss Peaches Leffler was the charming hostess of a delightful dinner party announcing the engagement of her daughter, Miss Linda Leffler to Mr. Braxton Perkins.

Pink was the color scheme and the rooms were tastefully decorated with quantities of pink flowers. The dining room presented a charming picture. Covers were laid for twelve at the beautifully appointed table which was centered by a gilded basket filled with asparagus fern and handsome pink carnations. Tied to each carnation with pink ribbon was a ring nestling among the ferns. The ribbons were carried to the place cards, which were adorned with the portraits of the prospective bride and groom. An elegant course dinner was served, and later the twelve young ladies were joined by their escorts and the happy couple received the congratulations of their friends.

The wedding probably will take place in the fall. The party then took automobiles to the dock where they boarded a beautiful yacht and a delightful moonlight ride on Lake Monroe and the St. Johns river was enjoyed until a late hour. A pleasant feature of the evening's entertainment was the taking of flashlight pictures of the dining room and party.

After returning to Miss Leffler's home, dainty cakes and sherbet were served to the guests, who were Miss Flossie Frank, Frank Miller, W. E. Watson, Miss Bessie Schumpert; William Leffler, Miss Zoia Munson; C. H. Reeve, Miss Bell Smith; J. D. Roberts, Miss Anne Higgins; Clarence Mahoney, Miss Mabel Hand; Archie Betts, Miss Mabel Bowler; W. J. Labor Inspector Here

John C. Filvatt, the state Labor Inspector was in the city on Saturday looking after the factories and the young girls and boys employed in the same. This position was created at the last session and is a feature of the Child Labor Law enacted in other states. John is a former printer and during the session of the legislature was the correspondent of the Jacksonville Metropolitan. He is well known in labor circles and is well equipped to hold the position given him by Governor Trammell. He found everything in Sanford satisfactory as our factories at present are mostly limited in men employees.

CURBSTONE GLEANINGS

BUDGET OF OPINION "JUST BETWEEN YOU AND ME."

EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

A CHIEF IS AMONG YE TAKING NOTES AND FAITH. "HELL PRENT 'EM"—SO SAYS SAUNTERER.

My old friend John Jenkins spells his name in a most peculiar manner and this spelling has caused me more or less sleeplessness and worry and yet I have never spoken to him about changing it. It seems to suit John all right and certainly has not made any enemies for him for he is the most popular office holder in the lot and had no opposition this time because his many friends recognize his efficiency and he has no enemies, otherwise he would have opposition—it is always your enemies that remember you on election day and strive to get out all the opposition they can against you prior to the primary. So in thinking about John's cognomen (spelled Jno) I happened to run across the following from Thorndyke of the Palm Beach Post and I hereby give it to my readers for John's (spelled Jno) benefit:

"Why is it that some people named John will endeavor to abbreviate what is really a good title by writing it 'Jno'? For the life of me I don't see how Jno can mean John. If it was only written 'Jon' it would be all to the mustard—but as it is written it doesn't mean anything. One might just as well abbreviate Frank by writing it 'Fka' or make Peter by writing it 'Pri.' Why not? Besides that there is no time saved by writing it Jno for the man has then to stop long enough to place a period where it belongs."

Some of the defeated candidates may feel a little sore over their defeat but they should realize that all the candidates for office cannot win and really the man in private life has it all over the office holder when it comes to peace of mind. The following from the Pensacola Journal is some consolation to the candidates:

Notwithstanding what is said about them the candidates get lots of fun out of a campaign whether they win or lose. They get to go to all the public gatherings, picnics and barbecues, and life is not bad for them, although they have their troubles. The late Senator Bob Taylor of Tennessee had this to say of them:

"Every honest man who runs for office is a candidate for trouble, for fruits of political victory turn to ashes on the lips. To me there is nothing so pathetic in this world as a candidate. He is like a mariner without a compass, drifting on the tempest tossed waves of uncertainty between the smiling cliffs of hopes and the crowning crags of fear. He is a walking petition and a living prayer; he is the backhorse of public sentiments; he is the dromedary of politics. And if he reaches the goal of his ambition he will soon feel the beak of the vulture in his heart and the fangs of the serpent in his soul. I am no longer a candidate."

Notwithstanding the eloquent lament of Bob Taylor, he afterwards became a candidate for office.

Another candidate rendered this report of his campaign:

"Lost 4 months, 23 days canvassing; 1349 hours sleep thinking about the election; 5 acres of cotton, 23 acres of corn, a whole sweet potato crop, 4 sheep, 5 goats and a beef given to barbecue; 3 front teeth and a considerable quantity of hair in personal skirmishes. Gave away 96 plugs of tobacco, 23,849 drinks of whiskey, 2984 glasses of beer, 7 Sunday school books, 2 pair suspenders, 4 calico dresses, 4 dolls, 13 baby rattlers.

"Told 2,889 lies, shook hands 23,747 times, talked enough to have made in print 1600 large volumes size of parent office reports, kissed 126 babies, kindled 14 kitchen fires, cut 3 cords of wood, pulled 474 bundles of fodder, picked 744 pounds of cotton, helped dig 7 wagon loads of potatoes, 'toted' 24 buckets of water, put up 7 stoves, was dog bit 3 times, watch broke by a baby cost $3 to have repaired. Loaned out 3 barrels of flour, 28 bushels of meal, 150 pounds of bacon, 20 pounds of butter, 12 dozen eggs, 2 umbrellas, 14 lead pencils, dictionary, 2 hoes, 2 boxes of paper collars, none of which have ever been returned."

Notwithstanding all this public office is a pretty good thing to have and the man who never becomes a candidate never draws the emoluments of an office.

Fourth of July and from now on until school takes in the children are apt to be playing with firearms and other dangerous weapons that will make a noise. I certainly wish to counsel the parents of children to keep toy rifles and pistols out of the infant's hands, as all the papers are full of accounts of little tots being shot by their playmates and death or loss of limb is something that would haunt the parents to their graves. There is no responsible excuse for children having firearms in their possession. Sometimes they get them surreptitiously and commit the injury to playmates before the parents are aware of it but if you have firearms in your possession you should certainly keep them where the children cannot reach them. I have just finished reading the following account of such an accident, that happened in Tampa this week and it brought tears to my eyes:

Careless handling of a 22-caliber rifle by twelve year old Wayne Cooper, resulted last night in the tragic death of the three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Nolsch, who live near Mango. A bullet passed through the stomach of the little one, who died after being brought to the city for treatment in a local hospital.

During the afternoon young Cooper was playing around the Nolsch home, discharging blank cartridges. He was heard to tell the child, it is said, that he was going to shoot, and immediately afterwards, it is alleged, fired the gun point blank at the little unfortunate. Mr. Nolsch heard the statement and the shot, but gave it no consideration.

"Papa," lisped the little one "I'm hurt right there."

Upon examination it was found that the bullet had pierced the child's body and Mr. Nolsch immediately rushed to Tampa for surgical aid. Everything possible was done to save the child, but it was beyond human aid and expired last night.

The Cooper boy was broken-hearted and terribly frightened by his act, which was reported to Sheriff Spencer. The father of the boy will bring him to the sheriff's office during the day, but owing to his youth it is hardly probable that he will be held accountable for his act.

The Man Behind the Booze

(By Walt Mason)

In festive mood a man gets stowed, he empties flagons ten or twenty; he takes a bowl with every soul he meets till he has swallowed plenty. If he has sense, it journeys hence; if he has brains, he's sure to lose 'em; and when he wakes, as morning breaks, a cop is sitting on his bosom. "Confound your eyes," the peeler cries, "you should have stuck to river water! While lighted up by brimming cup, you waded round knee deep in slaughter! You threw some fits, you lost your wits, you thought yourself a circus pageant! You drew a gun, oh, foolish one, and shot a harmless fruit tree agent."

The poor sick sport looms up in court; no memories of crime are his'n; he can't recall the deed at all, but draws a hundred years in prison. The able judge says "Pish!" and "Fudge!" at the pleas of the prisoner's advancing; "men who will drink the old red ink must pay the fiddler after dancing!" The doomed man's wife must lead a life of endless washing, scrubbing, drudging; his children three must paupers be—so futile is our human judgment. The jingled gent on pastime bent who shoots when all his wits are hazy, the bill must pay; there is no way to reach the one who made him crazy.

The man who brews the stuff that stews respected is and clothed in honor; he walks abroad and deigns a nod or smile to sycophant and fawner. His victims rot in dungeons hot while he abides in yonder palace; he drinks a health to tainted wealth and drinks it from a golden chalice.

The men who sell the broth of hell, who see men's souls like gowgaws ruffled, look on and grin when slaves of gin are marching to the jail or scaffold. "Ours not the blame! Ours not the shame!" they cry, as they have cried for ages; "We do not force men to the course that leads them to the cells and cages."

To whom worn, who work and mourn in poverty's abomination, to feed their broods, such platitudes must be a grateful consolation!

Marked Improvement.
Rev. Caller—"Well, Mrs. Mangies, and is the good man any better?" Mrs. Mangies—"Oh, yes, sir. 'E's nearly all right again, sir. 'E don't say 'is prayers no more of a night now, sir."

Memorial Services H. of L. E.

There are a great many subjects, it is natural to suppose, nothing new could be said in regard to them, or has not already been said, only room for reiteration. So often have men read and re-read the mottoes of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, thinking that they filled up space in make up of an organization.

In the service Sunday, June 14th we learned the intimate relation of one to the other, centered in human agents, as necessary to make good and desired. Man in any station or vocation of life. Never had some of our men stopped to think of these mottoes as explained by Bro. Steinmeyer. After this explanation we must retrospect, our final conclusion is the founders of the B. of L. E. must have been inspired, how far sighted they must have been, to embody and endeavor to imbue these thoughts, themes and principles in all who cast their lot with this brotherhood.

Again, we see these mottoes could be the standard of all the world and would be the greatest factors in the adjustment of the struggle of labor and capital, it has impressed all who heard this sermon, we must give more personal attention to these facts, for soon we must leave this world to be adjudicated for our neglects. Why not observe the rules as laid down in so few words, as we journey on eternity's trip, for we realize its similarity to railroad rules on this daily toil or vocation, if rules are not observed, mastered and lived too, it is soon heard "not needed."

The preparation of the Methodist church was beautiful. The writer so often heard it said, "I did not know these people thought so much of us really," some of our visiting members so often remarking "It's so nice to live in a place with some get up, you see so more of how the people can and do keep up with improvements." Children can see how church affairs, with its sweet music, with different instruments to give force and expression, do see what these church people do for you makes me glad I am associated with this organization. If the Methodist church entertained our organization with such nice preparations these members in San- munt be leading a commendable life as citizens of a community.

From church to Robbins Nest for dinner. Our visitors were soon comfortable in parlors and easy chairs on the shady veranda. Soon called to dining room, everything so nice and cozy; ample time to enjoy this dinner; it was specially adapted to our crowd in two very noticeable features: first it was not over or under cooked; experience reaid in that kitchen; second, plenty also accompanied experience on this occasion and we really enjoyed our meal somewhat later than usual to add to the standard of usual appreciation. Division 769 is certainly under obligations to Mr. Robbins for so freely giving us such hospitality on this occasion.

I certainly absent heartily to one expression heard Sunday a number of times: I wish more of our members could have heard this service. It certainly would impress them to aspire to be better men, and could have easily realized how it could be done, "living our mottoes," and by applying ourselves could improve on our personal presentation, as the church has improved and advanced in song and service.

To the Methodist church, Robbins Nest and Sanford people we certainly feel grateful to you, and appreciate the pains and output of your energy to entertain and make it pleasant for Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers in their annual memorial service—Welcome and well paid. Thanks to all.

Secy. and Treas.

Lawn Social

The various committees of the Presbyterian Brotherhood held quite an enthusiastic meeting last evening relative to the lawn social to be given at the residence of Mr. H. R. Stevens Friday evening, June 19th. An unusual interest is being taken and it is already proven that this social will be a grand success.

This is a social for every man, woman and child in Sanford and for any one who might be in Sanford on this date from other towns or country. There will be refreshments, such as ice cream, cake, sherbet and lemonade. There will be entertainments of various kinds, good music, both instrumental and vocal.

If any live too far or it is too warm for you to walk, phone No. 227 and a car with a reliable man at the wheel will come and take you there and back home again.

There will be no charge made for anything, but a freewill offering is expected—whatever you feel like giving toward the building of the new Presbyterian church.

Self Deception.
Most people fancy themselves innocent of those crimes of which they cannot be convicted.—Seneca.

Sanford Open New Club

Kissimmee, Fla., June 16.—Kissimmee club house, one of the most modern and well appointed in the south was formally opened Thursday evening through the courtesy of Mrs. R. W. McKelton, who arranged the reception which was attended by a large presentation of the professional business and society element of this city. The social function continued between the hours of 7:00 and 10:00 p. m., during which time autos were arriving and departing with guests. Light luncheon was served during the evening. Members of the club received the guests and escorted them about the place, explaining in detail every feature. Upon their departure many of the guests expressed themselves as perfectly delighted with the beautiful appointments of the place. The club house is located within a five acre plot adjacent to Lake Tohopekaliga, just outside the city limits and within easy access. The buildings cost approximately $15,000 and when the contemplated improvements are finished the place will be one of the beauty spots of this section of Florida.

With regard to pauperism the reports show that in the prohibition states the number of paupers per 100,000 population is 46; in near prohibition states, 84; in partially license states, 123; in extreme license states, 128.

Practice What They Preach

The Lakeland Telegram printed an editorial on the subject of trading at home that will be read with effect. The newspapers preach that doctrine constantly, and practice it more consistently than any other line of business. Merchants and other business men take too little heed of the work done by the newspaper to build up their lines and seldom stop to consider the obligation when the out of town printing solicitor or itinerant advertising man appears.—Orlando Sentinel.

DIGNAN GET PLUM; JACKSONVILLE POSTOFFICE SEEMS TO BE SETTLED

THE LONG DRAWN OUT CONTROVERSY MAY NOW BE AT AN END

SENATOR BRYAN WINS IN DIGNAN'S SELECTION

THE ADMINISTRATION HELPED TO ELECT FLETCHER AND OWED ONE TO BRYAN

Jacksonville, Fla., June 19.—P. A. Dignan has won the fight for appointment as postmaster of Jacksonville. As forecasted in the Florida Metropolis, Senator Bryan's candidacy has won. Dignan's name will be sent to the senate soon. Possibly it will be sent in later to-day. When the issue was drawn lightly between Senators Fletcher and Bryan, the administration felt that, since it had been helpful to Fletcher in the senatorial race, it owed this recognition to Bryan.

When seen by a Florida Metropolis reporter this morning, and asked if he had anything to add to the Washington report, P. A. Dignan said that it was the first that he had heard of it.

"I haven't heard from my friend, Senator Bryan for several weeks," he stated. "Yes, of course, I had an idea that the matter would be brought up and settled soon, and I knew the Senator would fight for me till the last."

"I am very much opposed to publicity—almost a crank on the subject, in fact, and there is not much to be said at this time anyway. If I should receive the appointment, I will serve the citizens of Jacksonville to the best of my ability."

Miss Emma Pauls was found drowned in Lake Eola, south of Haines City late Sunday afternoon. She had been missing for several days but it was supposed she had gone to Bartow on a visit. The body was badly bloated and was dressed in a bathing suit. A coroner's jury was summoned and a verdict of death by accidental drowning was made. Miss Pauls was about thirty-two years old.

The steamer Planter of the Towles Line, Tampa to Fort Myers burned at Fort Myers last night, the loss being $48,000. The cause of the blaze is unknown.

A petition calling upon the commissioners of St. Petersburg to order an election which will determine whether they shall be retained in office or recalled was filed late yesterday afternoon with the city clerk. The petition bore more than 300 names and is believed to be ample large to make the election mandatory. Charges against the commissioners alleging actions were filed some time ago by J. Matt Williams. The signers of the recall petition will hold a meeting and decide upon candidates to run against the commissioners who, it is understood will, to a man, be candidates for the places.

Very little is heard of the activities of the Skinner Manufacturing Company, located at Dunedin, in the county of Pinellas, but it is a busy concern all the same. It made a modest beginning about six years ago in the way of manufacturing machinery for fruit packing houses and supplies for the same. L. B. Skinner, the manager, says that business was never better than it is right now. Most of its output goes to the different sections of the citrus fruit growing sections of Florida, though frequent shipments are made to other states. The plant covers an area of 40,000 square feet and is thoroughly equipped with modern machinery for both wood and metal work. A considerable force of hands is employed at all seasons, though it is larger, of course, at some seasons than others.

There is now employed on the construction of the great "Deering Palace" in the outskirts of Miami, a large force of men, both in the actual construction of the building and the preparation of the grounds that are literally being blown from the wilderness. Both kinds of work are progressing simultaneously. The foundations are being carried down or as far as may be necessary to reach bed rock upon which the massive and splendid structure will rest. The contractor is not hurried, but is allowed by the terms of this agreement ample time to do thorough work, as he is not bound to complete the building before December, 1915. This will undoubtedly be the most magnificent private residence in the state.

JUNIOR CIVIC LEAGUE

Busy Bees Hold Interesting Meeting in Central Park

A most interesting meeting of the Busy Bees, junior department of the Junior Civic League was held at the band stand Monday afternoon with a fine attendance. The meeting opened with singing of "America," followed by the roll call and reading of the minutes by the efficient little secretary, Sarah Wight. It was a revelation to hear the children respond to the roll call with reports of something they had done to beautify or clean up the gardens or back yards of their homes. The minutes were a fine report of the previous meeting, showing that the Bees are indeed busy bees and not drones in civic work.

Four new members were initiated, the secretary administering the pledge which was repeated in unison by the new members and is as follows: "I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the republic for which it stands, one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

In a brief talk Mrs. Abernathy outlined the purpose of this particular meeting, which was the naming of the poinsettias recently planted around the band stand, the gift of Sarah Wight. Then followed the pretty ceremony of christening the plants. The children formed in line and singing "America" marched down the steps and around the band stand, each plant christened by the child chosen for it; each in turn repeating "I name this, calling the name for whom they stood sponsor. The plants were named Mayor Thrasher, Alderman Abernathy, Davidson, Tolar, Adams, Herndon, Dinges, Maxwell, Mesdames Henry Wight, A. E. Phillips, J. W. Dickins, Terhune, Robbins, Capt. Terver, Reva, Steinmeyer, Hyman, Peck, Father Bresnahan, Rev. Brownlee, Dra. Puleston, Neal, Robson—the other physicians of the city were also chosen, Drs. Walker, Miller and Howard and several of the older citizens of Sanford, but some of the plants had died, so these names were not reached.

It was a very impressive ceremony, the children entering into the spirit of the occasion with earnestness and enthusiasm, the light of an excited purpose shining upon the little faces. Returning to the band stand the meeting closed with the Junior Civic yell, after which refreshments were served. The leaders of the Busy Bees are Mesdames Geo. Fox, H. C. Greer and W. W. Abernathy.

Myers Loses Mind

Atlanta, Ga., June 12.—Frederick T. Myers, prominent lawyer of Tallahassee, Florida who delivered the annual alumni oration before the Alumni Association of the University of Georgia on Tuesday suffered during his address from a strange lapse of memory. Up to a late hour straight he could not remember coming to Athens, how or why he came, recalls absolutely nothing of making the address and is considered by physicians to be in a critical condition although he is physically well, seemingly with good pulse and blood pressure.

His trouble may be due to a fall in New York some years ago, though he has never suffered before with the trouble afflicting him today.

Mr. Myers is the uncle of Hon. Geo. A. DeCoste of this city and has many friends here.

Congregational Church

Next Sunday morning an explanation of John's story of the Cleansing of the Temple will be given in the evening at 7:30 the subject will be "The Positive vs. the Negative Attitude Toward Life." VILLA AND CARRANZA PATCH UP THE TROUBLES THREATENING REBELS

PEACE MAKERS ARE AS FAR AWAY AS EVER—VILLA WILL AGAIN TAKE CHARGE OF THE ARMY—WHAT SEEMED LIKE A BREACH IN THE CONSTITUTIONALIST RANKS HAS PASSED

Washington, June 19.—Official information reaching the Washington government tonight from American Consul Edwards at Juarez, said General Francisco Villa and General Venustiano Carranza, leaders of the Constitutional movement in Mexico had patched up their differences and Villa would proceed to take charge of the military movement against Zacatecas, where the revolutionary forces recently met reverses.

That General Villa had determined upon a break with Carranza and had demonstrated his attitude by imprisoning some of the officers in the first Constitutional chief's command was verified in reports to the State Department. It was declared however that Villa's action had served the purpose for which it was originated and that the conqueror of Torreon and Saltillo would command the military advance against Huerta from this time forth without interruption. The interneine dispute in the Mexican revolutionary ranks, while mediation at Niagara Falls tested, had stirred officials here, but Consul Edwards' message served to relieve anxiety. Other official dispatches received were to the effect that all principal officers of the revolution sided with Villa in this difference with the Constitutional first chief over the method of procedure in the military campaign and that Carranza had agreed that Villa should take supreme command in the military operation against the Huerta government. All of the military officers under Villa, including General Felipe Angeles, his chief of artillery, and prominently mentioned as a candidate for Provisional President of Mexico, were declared to have stood by Villa in his demonstrative revolt.

FEDERAL RESERVE ACT HELPS THE FARMERS FIVE HUNDRED MILLION

Killed by Falling Tree

Tallahassee, Fla., June 19.—Joseph Hughes and son, a boy of twelve, of Monticello, while enroute to Tallahassee in an automobile on Monday were struck by a falling tree. The boy died instantly. Mr. Hughes was badly hurt. The accident happened on the Miccosukee road three miles northeast of Tallahassee. It is said they left Monticello for Tallahassee to attend the funeral of W. H. Atkinson, a friend and schoolmate of Mr. Hughes, who was struck by lightning while talking over a telephone last Saturday afternoon.

The county had employed a Mr. Boyett as road supervisor, who was repairing this road, which is one of the main thoroughfares leading into the city, and had directed his hands to suspend work in cutting down this particular tree and had sent one of their number some distance after a rope with which to incline the tree from the road. Mr. Boyett was under the impression that there was no likelihood of the tree falling without further-cutting and had resumed other work, expecting to give the tree further attention on the arrival of the rope. No one noticed the tree, it seems, until Mr. Hughes himself saw it falling and slowed down his car just in time to receive its destructive work—a large limb crashing into the stomach of the boy and pinning Mr. Hughes to the seat of the car. The most available means of extracting them from under the tree was to cut the limb with axes, which was, of course a difficult undertaking as there was danger of further injury with each stroke of the ax.

Mr. Hughes is a prominent and prosperous citizen of Monticello, a well built man, owning several mills near Covington, and about thirty-six years old.

Orlando Lets Contract

Orlando, Fla., June 19.—Bids for $200,000 worth of brick paving on the streets of the city were opened by the city commissioners Tuesday afternoon and contracts awarded to the Alabama Paving Company of Birmingham, at 26 1/4 cents per square yard. The contract for curbing was awarded to Hamilton Johnson of Orlando. Other bids for the paving included W. P. Kennedy of Pensacola, 80 cents per square yard; R. M. Hudson, Atlanta, 83 cents; Florida Naval Vault Company of Lakeland, 34 3/4 cents.

The paving company is given 14 months from the first of July to finish the contract and Mr. Johnson has one year in which to complete the curbing. The specifications provided for vitrified brick on practically all the main residence streets of the city. The business streets are already paved.

Eustis Put It On Them

In a very good game yesterday Eustis boys put it on to the Sanford bunch to the tune of 11 to 6. The battery for Sanford was Kanner, Crosby, Williamson and Arranti for Eustis, Merrill and Munroe.

There was a very small crowd, the reason being that the stores remained open on account of pay day at the shops and this helped to keep the crowd down. The threatening weather also kept many at home who thought possibly Jupiter Pluvius would step in and stop the game. The boys are putting up a good quality of ball considering the limited time they have practiced and being a strictly amateur team are not supposed to play the "professional" article. The people of Sanford should patronize them every time they have a game scheduled on the home grounds.

His Explanation Accepted

Mr. Callar of Sanford (isn't that euphonious?) tells me that a cellar is not "the doghouse pit" but an underground room where they keep good things to eat. That has always been my understanding of it consequently I have cast my hostile glances towards Callar to see what the cellar would send up. Yet, in place of giving up anything Mr. Callar declares that he loads away the good things that the only time that special cellar will send forth any of the delightful things of life will be when it takes an ocean trip.—Palm Beach Post.

THAT SUM IS NOW AVAILABLE FOR FARM LOANING PURPOSES

COMPTROLLER WILLIAMS ESTIMATES BANK SUM

OTHER INTERESTING NEWS OF THE WORLD-AT-LARGE IN TABLOID FORM

Washington, June 19.—John Skelton Williams, Comptroller of the Currency, estimated today that about $500,000,000 in national banks throughout the United States now is available for farm mortgage loans under the provision of the federal reserve act, making it possible for national banking associations to lend money on improved farm lands.

Scores of inquiries concerning this provision reach the Treasury Department daily and there does not seem to be a general understanding that the farm loan clause of the act now is in force, making it possible for national banks to make farm loans before the formal organization of the federal reserve board.

The estimate of Comptroller Williams is based on reports showing the capital stock and surplus of national banks to be $1,777,000,000. Twenty-five per cent of this amount or $444,250,000 is available for farm loans. Furthermore, the federal reserve act provides that national banks may grant farm loans up to 33 1/3 per cent of their time deposits. Banks with large deposits will be able to far exceed the sum they could lend on farms under the 25 per cent clause and the estimate of Mr. Williams is said to be conservative.

Farm loans under this act are not to be made for over five years, and the amount of each loan is not to exceed 50 per cent of the actual value of the farm offered as security.

Chief interest is centered on the senatorial and gubernatorial races. In the former there are four candidates for the seat of the incumbent, Senator Ellison D. Smith, who is a candidate for re-election. Governor Cole L. Blease, L. D. Jennings of Sumter, and W. P. Pollock of Cheraw are the other contestants.

The North German Lloyd's steamship Kaiser Wilhelm the Second, bound from Southampton to New York is at Southampton disabled. One thousand passengers are on board. The grain steamer Inverpool, from Black Sea ports to Liverpool, docked here with her bow crushed and the forepeak full of water. The collision occurred in the English Channel early today during a heavy fog. The Inverpool was proceeding slowly when the Wilhelm crossed bows, according to the information given out. The officers of both vessels are reticent about the accident and are waiting until an official inquiry is made to make a full report.

COUNTY COMMITTEE MEETS

The Democratic Executive Committee of Seminole County met last Tuesday at 11 o'clock with the following members present: S. Runge, G. W. Spenser, S. M. Williamson, W. V. Dunn, C. A. Dallas, J. E. Hartley, D. H. C. Rabun, Abbott, G. M. Jacobs, J. H. Huddleston and Theo. Aulin.

S. Runge was chosen as temporary chairman and he called the meeting to order, when the matter of electing a permanent chairman was taken up. S. Runge was elected to this position and E. J. Holly was chosen to act as secretary.

The question of the per diem of members was discussed and it was moved, seconded and carried that the members be paid three dollars per day and mileage each time they were called together.

It was decided that inasmuch as the secretary had served one year in that capacity and had not received any compensation and had not asked for any that he should receive the sum of $25 per year for his services.

The matter of returning the money assessed against the candidates was discussed and an investigation of the actual expenses of the committee made and the probable cost of called meetings during the next two years before any other assessments could be made and it was then resolved that half of the total amount assessed, amounting to $215.93 should be returned to the candidates and the same amount left in the treasury to pay current expenses. This means that the candidates will have 80 per cent of their assessment returned to them.

As the office of supervisor of registration expires on July 1st although said supervisor was elected at the primary on June 2nd he would really not be the supervisor until the first of January next and in order that the county would not be left without the services of the supervisor the committee recommended that Governor Trammell appoint H. C. Dubose to this office until January first, when he will enter upon his new term of said office.

It was also resolved by the committee that they invite a letter to the board of county commissioners recommending the payment of a sum of money which in their judgment would help to compensate the supervisor of registration for the large amount of extra work which he was forced to accomplish under the new primary laws.

After a discussion of the Bryan Primary law and several other matters of importance the committee adjourned subject to the call of the chairman.
