The Duke of Windsor has gone back to fight for his country. And if he fights as hard for his country as he did for his wife, he'll make a great soldier.

War might have its advantages. If all the people who think the world over them as living could be placed in the front line trenches and made to prove it.

Of course everyone is in favor of taking the profit out of war, with such reservations as might be necessary to hope for a little better business or a raise in pay.

Now that Russia is beginning to mobilize her troops, Germany is not quite sure just how much she can trust that non-aggression pact. In fact, it will never be thoroughly clear just who is doubting whom until the military books are written.

The price of linotype metal is going up again having already doubled in price since the low of the depression. Composed of lead, tin and antimony, all of which are used in manufacture of war, linotype metal promises to be an expensive proposition for the newspapers before this war is over.

As we recall it, Will Rogers was the first man to suggest that in the next year we should put our attention to a "cash and carry" basis. We believe it was he who originated the "cash and carry" with respect to war shipments. And certainly he was smart enough to know that the best way to get out of war is to sell it all, come, make them pay cash and carry it away in their own boats.

General Roosevelt at his press conference the other day made it plain that as a matter of fact we are not going to Europe. Germany is not going to Europe. The United States is not going to Europe. The United States is not going to Europe.

Keeping Out Of War

with relation to the European war, there seem to be at least four conflicting points of view in the United States at the present time. They range all the way from the extreme isolationists like Senator Borah who like the ostrich would hide his head in the sand and try to imagine that we are not concerned with what goes on around us, to those more realistic individuals who have thought all along that the best way to keep America out of war was to prevent any war anywhere from breaking out, and who think now that the best way for us to keep out of it is to get it over with as quickly as possible.

If Senator Borah had his way this country not only would not sell munitions abroad, but also would not sell anything else which might be regarded as contributory to war, and nowadays that includes just about everything. What that would do to our national economy, how it would affect our business statistics, our standard of living, our unemployment figures, goes without saying, but it does not seem to have occurred to the Idaho senator. And what it would mean to this country in years to come, in the event the dictator nations won the war, seems relatively unimportant to him.

At the opposite extreme from Senator Borah are those who think that in view of all circumstances the best thing for this country to do is to jump right in now with both feet, supply the Allies with everything they need in the way of materials, and even send our Army and Navy over there, if they are needed, and help France and England win the war as quickly as possible. This way at least has the advantage that the more quickly the war is over the smaller will be its costs both in men and money to all the nations involved.

Another policy which this country might adopt is only a little less extreme. We might furnish them to pay whatever supplies they may need, requiring them to pay for them at first, as long as they are able, but eventually furnishing them munitions and raw materials free of charge, with the understanding that we furnish the supplies, they furnish the men, and we'll get rid of this Nazi menace as quickly as possible. This could hardly be called neutrality, but then this country is neutral anyway only as long as France and England are winning.

The President's plan would preserve all outward appearance of neutrality, though in fact it would be directly aiding the Allies. This is the so-called "cash and carry" plan. We furnish all comers with anything they want which they can pay for and carry away in their own ships. Thus we are as fair to one side as to the other, only Germany has no money with which to buy and probably would be unable to transport the supplies if she had the money.

Senator Borah is probably right in saying that this road leads straight to war. But so does any other road which this country might follow unless the Allies succeed alone and unaided in defeating the dictator nations within a reasonably short period of time. As events develop it will become clearer and clearer that the United States cannot keep out of the war unless Germany is losing the war. Our hope lies in a quick victory for Britain and France.

Community Making

Farmers and town folk around Bellevue, Ohio, have joined hands in a novel "community making" experiment which brings advantages of the city to the rural resident. The story of the idea is told in a recent issue of the Rotarian Magazine.

"A rural resident, C. H. Hunsinger, started the idea six years ago when he organized a township council to discuss and act on local problems," the article explains. "Still basic to the idea is the township council, consisting of public-minded citizens and authorized by the people.

"In the larger plan, four of these councils combine to form the Four-Township Council. Linked to the Bellevue Boosters Club, the local equivalent of a chamber of commerce, this council is the force which welds the countryside and town into one community."

But what does this plan accomplish for the enlarged community? It has made modern fire-fighting equipment available to rural residents without delay. The Bellevue Hospital is ready to serve rural folk and an ambulance service reaches all parts of the township. There has been economic "thinking through" for the community, including the making of market surveys, studying of new industries for the area, and the working out of a "ten-year plan" which visions the community a decade hence.

Further, says the article, cultural and social services provided include extension of city library service to the rural districts, a program of adult education, the extension of membership in the city—Y. M. C. A.; Boy Scouts, and Girl Scouts to rural youngsters, and the staging of celebrations which include all the community people. The "face" of the community is improved by new road signs, studying of local highway conditions, and the providing of parking lots in the city especially for farmers.

"There are, of course," the article points out, "government agencies to do most of these things, but routine too often overlooks the small common needs which mean enriched living. That is why the council, powered by personal enthusiasm, has a startling record for 'getting things done.'"

Ninety percent of the dentists and most of the barbers in Finland are women.

The Russian word for red, krasny, also means fine, beautiful, or pretty. Thus Russians speak of a red-hair, a red girl, a red house. Moscow's Red Square was so named by Ivan the Terrible and not by the 1917 revolution.

Extra Guards Are Put Around Court Of Peace At Fair

WORLD'S FAIR, N. Y. Sept. 15.—Extra guards have been mounted around the Court of Peace, but up to now reflections of Europe mirrored in the Fair's Lagoon of Nations continue to be peaceful.

A heightened interest in this microcosm of a continent—as witnessed in the crowded halls of Poland, England, of Russia—in the only outward sign of turmoil abroad. But the visitors are heavy.

Polish Falcon Day, with 10,000 Polish-Americans massed in the seven-acre court, became a day of soul-stirring address.

Even the simple ceremonies of a Fair—first honors to the gallant band of Pawluczek, B. L. for its brave interpretation of "The Stars and Stripes Forever"—take on a deeper significance in such a setting.

With flags of Czechoslovakia and Albania flying above them, Fair visitors find it difficult not to think of other boys in other lands when they watch eager youngsters about tack in air-sevens in a baseball game.

A beautiful garden of Old Holland inevitably calls to mind its twin opposite.

Meaning attendance records indicate that everyone who can make the trip to the Fair this year. In view of the spreading war clouds they are taking no chances.

Twenty-three nations of Europe (Germany, Spain and Bulgaria are the chief absentees) are represented by pavilion or hall at the Fair. When the Exposition opened, this sampling of the Old World was referred to as the next best thing to a trip across the Atlantic. Today it can well be labeled: "Better than a trip across the Atlantic."

To native-born Americans it has become a primary source of background material on conditions abroad. To those of foreign birth the various pavilions are, in effect, national shrines where they can rededicate themselves to their country's cause.

Most of the foreign Commissioners abroad, however, hope to continue their exhibits in 1940, and it seems probable now that the Fair will run a second year.

None of the Commissioners is anxious to entrust one hundred million dollars worth of art treasures, ancient relics, rare jewels, delicate handwork of the distant past to the high seas.

England has its priceless Magna Carta on display in its pavilion. France shows its "Five Centuries of French Art," Belgium a king's ransom in diamonds. In the Masterpieces of Art Museum, are paintings from the Louvre, from the Uffizi in Florence—paintings never sent abroad before.

The first map of the world on which the word "America" appeared is exhibited in the Polish Pavilion. Rumania has a collection of ancient hand-woven carpets which are literally priceless. Kach-King Zog's fascinating collection of swords may be seen in the Albanian Hall, and so the story of each exhibit goes.

Attendance at pavilions of Germany, Spain and Bulgaria are the chief absentees) are represented by pavilion or hall at the Fair.

Britons Fear Russians May Join Germans

(Continued From Page One) the Germans, as having little strategic value so far as the war's progress was concerned. Of greater importance was a high command announcement that the circle around Warsaw had been closed and communications severed between Lublin and Lwow.

(Lwow is about 225 miles southeast of Warsaw. Lublin is about midway between the two cities.) Polish divisions north of Lwow, 70 miles southwest of the capital, were reported waging a stubborn fight against capture in what was regarded here as the biggest battle of the war. Now in its fifth day, this engagement was upsetting German predictions that these Polish legions would be destroyed within three days.

The first command, meanwhile, instructed German submarines and warships at the high seas to begin an immediate coast blockade as an answer to British determination to prevent foodstuffs from reaching the Poles.

Just how the blockade war will develop appeared uncertain.

One doesn't ask where familiar faces have gone. One knows. Already there is a neat sign on the locked door of the Komenda Restaurant. Thirty-two waiters, called up at once in too many to replace.

One effect of the war which may soon become evident is a shortage of foreign delicacies in the restaurants of the International Area. Prague hams and Czech sausages, English ches and Finland's smoked reindeer meat—imported articles such as these are running low. But a steak is still a steak in any language, and a French chef still has a few tricks up his sleeve that can transform an innocent egg into a dish to make the gods rave.

Local Bottler Says 8 Cola Drinks Sold

In reply to a letter from Robert Ripley of "Believe It or Not," C. E. McKee, manager of the Neph-Telling Company, estimated that eight different cola drinks are on sale here and that the local sale of cola drinks are 75 percent greater now than five years ago. Mr. Ripley wrote to Mr. McKee requesting the information. "The subject of cola has become of keen interest in me," Mr. Ripley declared. "In my travels in Africa I found the cola-nut to be one of the oldest products of Mother Nature. It is almost worshipped there. It plays a symbolic part in their marriages, and when a child is born, a cola-nut tree is planted with the idea that from it will come the wherewithal to take care of him when he grows up." "And now," he added, "I am interested in the amazing up-trend in America's preference for cola-drinks. That is why I ask you how many cola drinks, besides your own Royal Crown, are now regularly on sale in Sanford."

New Advances Of Allies Reported In Saarland Drive

The French crossed the Moselle river in "large numbers" at 4:00 o'clock, according to the Brussels dispatch, at a point opposite the Luxembourg town of Schengen.

German heavy guns constantly pounded French lines in the Saar sector, dispatches said, in an effort to hold off the allied attack pending reinforcement of the German positions.

The German heavyweights thundering from the Siegfried line forts hammered allied positions on German soil between the Saar river and the Vosges mountains and gouged great craters in roads over which the French and British must move from the Maginot line to maintain contact with advances forces in the Saar valley.

Despite the shelling from the Siegfried line, the French pressed their pressure through the German-land of the Saar basin on both sides of the German industrial city of Saarbrücken, already virtually surrounded.

Under the artillery attack, the French shifted operations slightly eastward of Saarbrücken and made two quick attacks at the extreme northern tip of the Rhine-Moselle front near the boundary of the Duchy of Luxembourg, according to unofficial dispatches.

The French advanced to the Saar river between Sanktouten and Metz on this extreme northern wing, it was said.

Neutral Swiss reports said Dr. Robert Ley of the Nazi labor front had "trived at Trier, across the Moselle river from Luxembourg, to direct conscripted labor battalions making an eleventh hour attempt to complete the Siegfried line extension there almost under the fire of French Maginot line guns of Stavelot.

F. Hudson Gives 2 Hits As Sanford Beats Daytona 8-0

Lookouts Win Third Series Fray; Islanders Have Taken One Game

Dean To Pitch Tonight For Sanford; Blix Donnelly To Hurl For Isleles; Winner Plays Albany

Burgling on toward the championship of the Florida State League, the Sanford Islanders last night defeated Daytona Beach 8 to 0 behind the superb 2-hit hurling of southpaw Frank Hudson.

It was the third victory of the series for Sanford against one loss.

Daytona Beach plays here tonight and Manager Tommy West said he would start Blix Donnelly on the mound for the Islanders. James Harry (Dizzy) Dean will toss for Sanford.

Should the Lookouts win the series tonight by downing Daytona, they will meet the Albany Cardinals here Sunday afternoon in the first game of a four-out-of-seven series. The first two games will be played here and the next two, or three games, will be played at Albany. If more are necessary, the teams will return to Sanford.

Rebounding from the walloping suffered at the hands of Tommy West and his Islanders the night before, the Lookouts took the wraps early and racked up three runs in the first frame, coasted along for two innings and then scored four more in the fourth inning. In the ninth they sent one last run across the plate to make the final score 8 to 0.

The Islanders hadn't a chance from the first inning. They weren't fielding as the runnups in the state league race about field, and they couldn't hit the baffling slants of big Frank Hudson who permitted only two safeties. If the contestants had been better instead of ball teams, the who would have acted the part of force in the squared circle as well as along about the fifth had threatened to post the affair earlier in the evening and a high wind was blowing but managers of both sides decided to play. Despite the stormy weather they went through their way through the

After part of the fourth inning had begun to fall light-ly with Daytona leading seven to five, Manager West began to stir for time and the umpire's were remiss in not insisting that play continue immediately. However, the rain failed to materialize and West's walloping tactics gained nothing.

Worshiping singled in the first inning and Wayne doubled in the second frame for the sole sliver of Hudson's delivery. In the first inning for Sanford Willie Skeen walked and went to

Landon High Will Present Fast And Heavy Gridders

Starting Eleven To Weigh 164 Pounds; Squad Inexperienced

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 15.—The Landon high school football team will open its 20th season tonight with a team heavier and faster than last season, but lacking sufficient reserves.

"We'll have to use inexperienced players at several important positions," said Head Coach George Trogen.

"Whether we'll be able to better last season's record depends on whether our new arrivals will be improved."

The Landon mentor expects his starting eleven to average 164 pounds, the line averaging 168 and the backfield 156.

Two lettermen, Fullback Jake Hightower and Halfback Dave Frazier are almost assured of starting berths in the backfield. Joe Santora, who won his letter as a reserve last season, and Joe Nichols may round out the first string backfield, with Nichols calling signals.

Others making strong bids for backfield positions are Bernard Crockett, Malcolm Hardin and Bob Barton.

Barton is a punter of exceptional ability.

Joe Graham, 180 pounds, and Haynes Blackburn provide Trogen with a pair of veteran ends for the wings, and George O'Dann Richardson and George Young appear the best of the new wing candidates.

Trogen also has a pair of lettermen, Fred Luther and Calvin Williams, available for the

Nova-Galento Battle Is Not Expected To Last 15 Rounds

Both Fighters Expected To Be Knocked Out In First Round

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15.—There wasn't a handful of persons around this city of brotherly love last night who thought the slugfest between Tony Galento and Lou Nova would go the full 15 rounds. All signs pointed either to a knockout by the Jersey barkeeper or a technical "kayo" with California Lou on the winning end.

Galento, the veteran Ray Avelo, who has been a second for six champions in his long career, and one of the best fighters in the world, was expected to last only a few minutes.

Nova, a young prospect who has had the big time as a little while ago, was expected to last only a few minutes.

Both fighters were expected to be knocked out in the first round. Galento was expected to last only a few minutes, and Nova was expected to last only a few minutes.

The fight was expected to be a quick one, and both fighters were expected to be knocked out in the first round.

CHALKING 'EM UP

With CHARLIE CHALKER Local Boy Makes Good

Local Boy Makes Good

Not so many years ago a young red haired chap with no previous experience outside of teaching the baseball stories, every day left Sanford and entered the University of Florida at Gainesville. There he studied two years and then quite to assume a job with Radio Station WRFE. Today he has been appointed to be a commentator for the World Series which probably will put the Yankee and Cincinnati Reds against each other. His name is Red Barber. Red has made a name for himself in the world of sports broadcasting. Ted Haring has become famous for broadcasts of tennis and football; Jim McCarthy has become famous for broadcasting horse racing and boxing matches; and now Red Barber is about to become famous for broadcasting baseball. It has been a long time since we've heard a crack baseball announcer. But Red Barber will fill the spot. We clearly remember listening to Red Barber's broadcasts of the World Series in 1908 in Columbus, Miss. When he left the University in his sophomore year he worked with the Gainesville station until 1911, when he went to WFLA. When Powell Crosley, owner of WFLA, purchased the Cincinnati Reds, Red drew the assignment to cover the team's game and it was then he established a popularity that has exceeded the range of most broadcast men.

Being On The Go

Dale Alexander felt very, very happy after the game last night. In fact, he felt so happy he was extremely optimistic. "We'd like to take the Germans on in a playoff," he said. "We'd like to take the Germans on in a playoff." And he would like to take the Germans on in a playoff. He would like to take the Germans on in a playoff. He would like to take the Germans on in a playoff.

Grammar School Enrolls 282 For 1939-1940 Term

A total of 282 pupils enrolled in the fifth and sixth grades of the Sanford Grammar School Monday morning. This was six less students than the opening enrollment of last year.

J. B. Root and Prof. T. W. Lawton were the opening speakers.

Two new teachers were employed at the Sanford Grammar School this year to replace Miss Carolyn Collier, resigned and Miss Kathryn Lawton, transferred to the Junior High School. They are Miss Adelaide Richter of Sanford, a graduate from the Florida State College for Women, and Miss Dorothy Parkin, a graduate of Teachers College of Connecticut at New Britain.

Miss Parkin is also a Sanford girl.

The other teachers are as follows: Mrs. Blanche McKinnon, Mrs. Francis Silve, Miss Ruby Peters, Mrs. Sybil South, Mrs. Irma Flynn, Miss Lillian Thornberry, Mrs. Quinton Brown, and Mrs. Gertrude Page.

Mrs. Blanche McKinnon attended the Appalachian Teachers College at Boone, North Carolina where she did special work in remedial reading for the fifth grade this summer. R. E. Aippy, principal of the school, attended the University of Florida summer school where he took special work in Public School Administration leading to a Master's Degree in Education.

Year's Goals Are Set For Primary School Students

Miss Kathryn Thigpen, one of the first grade teachers is the only new member of the South Side Primary School faculty.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mason spent a very pleasant two weeks visiting the World's Fair in New York; also points of interest in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Minnie Jacobs is very happy to be back with the First Grade teachers again.

Miss Zillah Welsh attended both sessions of summer school at the University of Florida, under the able direction of a trip to northern Michigan.

The Second Grade is working hard on learning to be "Good Citizens."—We are getting acquainted and learning new things each day.

Miss Mary Robinson attended the summer session at Southern College. Miss Swain spent the summer in Michigan and Mrs. Mitchell went to the World's Fair.

The enrollment of the Third Grade classes at Southside school shows an increase over that of the year 1938-'39. We are happy to have Miss Emma Owens as one of the teachers, after a year's absence. During the year we plan to carry out the program for physical education which was begun last year under the able direction of Mr. McCracken. Under Social Studies, the main unit of work for the year will be "Know Your Community," through which we hope to train the children for better citizenship.

The Fourth Grades at South Side have planned a year of varied activities. We have four classes with a large enrollment. Many pupils have entered from other states or schools in Florida. We have outlined a new program in Art and Music which we think will prove very worthwhile and interesting. World Friendship and Peace will be the objective goal of our Social Studies.

Members of Seminole High School Faculty Return From Vacations

The summer vacation is over, the faculty members of Seminole High School have returned from their extensive traveling to take their places once more. However, there are several former teachers who have accepted positions elsewhere and will not teach in Seminole High School this year. They are: Miss Helen Wellman, who is teaching in Winter Park, Miss Marjorie Tills, now working in the business office of the University of Florida in Gainesville, Miss Margaret Long, former librarian, has a position in Birmingham, Ala. and H. H. Martin.

The present members of the faculty and the interesting places which they visited—during the summer are as follows: Professor G. E. McKay spent first part of the summer working in his office and attending Stetson University where he received his master's degree. Mr. and Mrs. McKay spent several weeks in Hendersonville, N. C. the latter part of the summer.

The Misses Laura and Edna Chittenden toured the north-eastern part of the United States. After attending the World's Fair in New York, they visited Montreal, Quebec, New Jersey, Philadelphia, Washington, D. C. and other eastern cities. Miss Ethel Riser accompanied them on the greatest part of this trip.

Miss Dunlap visited in Maryland, Tenn., and attended the World's Fair.

Mrs. Effie Durden spent part of the summer in Tallahassee.

Mrs. Fort visited relatives in Soperton, Ga., and Montgomery, Ala. She also attended summer school at Gainesville.

Richard Gillespie spent the summer months in Sanford, playing baseball.

Miss Ruth Hand chaperoned the sorority at Daytona Beach at the beginning of the summer after which she visited in New Jersey and the New York World Fair.

Baltimore, Md. and Washington, D. C. were vacationing spots of Mrs. Harrison.

Mr. Johnson's vacation was spent in a thousand mile cruise on the East Coast, besides several weeks being taken up at the State Forestry Training Camp at High Springs, the F. F. A. Convention at Gainesville, and the Agricultural Teachers' Conference at Daytona.

Vacationing in Grandfather's Mountains in North Carolina and in Asheville in Virginia, Washington, Philadelphia, and New York filled Olin D. King's summer.

Mrs. McCracken spent most of the summer at her home in Kentucky.

Coach McLucas spent six weeks at summer school in Gainesville after which he attended the World's Fair.

Wendell Wiser limited his travels to Florida, visiting Vero Beach, Miami, Jacksonville, and Daytona.

Eight-seeing in the nation's capital, and visiting Luray, Carvers, and Alexandria, Virginia, Annapolis, Md. and the World's Fair filled Mrs. Gladys Smith's vacation.

Mrs. Lucy Smith spent several weeks in Richmond, Chatham, and Danville, Va.

William Stemper served as counselor at the Y. M. C. A. Camp at Lake Winona for a while. He also went to Miami.

Miss Stevens made a grand tour to the New York World's Fair, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New England, Montreal, and Quebec.

A most interesting trip on the Monarch of Nassau, through the Bahama Islands was enjoyed by Mrs. Stone. She experienced a pilgrimage to San Salvador in the land locked harbor which Columbus entered centuries ago, and on to the Chicago Tribune Monument, a world sphere, erected to the discovery of America. The remainder of her summer was spent in Chicago and at F. R. G. W.

Miss Takach vacationed in New Jersey and New York.

After spending several weeks in Miami, Miss Nellie Williams sailed to New York via Nassau, where she spent some time in the mountains of Pennsylvania after which she visited in Washington and Alexandria.

Mrs. Carl Corpening—Home Room Representative, Mrs. I. B. McCall. The first meeting was held October 10th at 3:15 P. M.

A meeting of the welfare chairman of the city is to be held in the Library of the Junior High School at 10:30 Friday Morning, Sept. 15th.

284 Students Begin Classes At Junior High

The Junior High School has enrolled the largest number of students this year. There are 180 in the seventh grade and 104 in the eighth grade, making a total of 284 for both grades.

We have several new teachers on our faculty this year. Mr. Exall teaching eighth grade English is from DeLand. Miss Mary Chapman teaching science in the eighth grade has just completed her bachelor's degree at Tallahassee. Miss Jane Sharon teaching seventh grade English finished at Tallahassee last June. Miss Georgena Hart teaching eighth grade mathematics is a Sanford girl but taught in another county for the past two years. Miss Lawton who has been teaching in the Grammar school is now teaching arithmetic in the seventh grade.

The Junior High School is offering art this year for the first time in several years. Mrs. Babcock will teach this subject and we are sure any student will profit by this instruction. We are glad to have Mrs. Babcock on our faculty, and are looking forward to the art exhibit she is planning for her pupils.

The following are members of the P. T. A. Board: President Mrs. J. E. Abernathy—Vice President, Miss Lawton—Membership, Mrs. J. D. Galahan—Finance, Mrs. W. G. Fleming—Welcomes, Mrs. J. G. Michael—Program, Mrs. Fred Myers—Hospitality, Mrs. C. W. Baker—Publicity, Mrs. Carl Corpening—Home Room Representative, Mrs. I. B. McCall. The first meeting was held October 10th at 3:15 P. M.

A meeting of the welfare chairman of the city is to be held in the Library of the Junior High School at 10:30 Friday Morning, Sept. 15th.

Home Mechanics To Be Vocational Specialty

Home mechanics will be the principal instruction in the Agricultural Department this year, according to instructor Alex E. Johnson. The department has purchased new wood working machinery. They are equipped with a jointer, bench saw, sand saw, mitre saw, and power grinder as well as hand tools for instruction and wood working, pipe fitting, forge work and sheet metal work.

With the new equipment they are enabled to repair light machinery as well as simple electrical appliances.

The maximum number of students will be 48 due to the equipment and limits of instruction in shop work. At this time, 40 students are registered.

597 Students Begin Classes At High School

R-Ring! That's Ye Olde Bell ringing the veterans of the grand and summing up the newcomers to pick up their studies where they left off.

Ready to begin anew after three months vacation, one hundred fifty-one Seniors pour into the halls to fill the places of ninety-nine of the preceding class. Much is to be expected of this—the largest class ever to rule underclassmen.

One hundred thirty-one Juniors are patiently awaiting their turn to occupy the "Dignified Seniors' place. They are "rarin' to go" to make a good name for themselves. The incoming Juniors, who now hold the distinction of being "Sophisticated-Sophs," have plunged deep into the midst of their books already.

Despite the fact that there are one hundred fifty-one Sophomores they have to watch their step for fear of running over a Freshman as there are one hundred ninety-eight Rats rushing around everywhere.

Amid the confusion of opening lockers, getting the right books, and being at class on time, five hundred ninety-seven students, the largest number yet to attend S. H. S. are looking forward to thrills, anxiety and fun of the new school year.

Judge Declines To Halt Tax Collection

TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 15 (AP)—Circuit Judge J. B. Nelson declined to enjoin collection of the state's 7-cent-a-gallon on distillates used as a motor fuel for gasoline in operating motor vehicles on public highways.

The 1939 legislature voted the tax, which Governor Cone recommended.

Persons seeking an injunction contended the 1931 motor carrier law provided for common carrier trucks paying a mileage tax to be exempted from gallonage taxes on fuel.

When you pay 50 cents for a meal, you pay 50 cents for water. Most is 75 percent water, while cucumbers for one example, are nearly all water.

Have you seen the swanky new sign down at the Vocational School? At least, it won't be so hard to find.

Besides, the school has acquired a mimeograph and is getting ready to rent and print some neat stuff. We also have a new typewriter.

Last year's students are all glad to find that the adding machine is now working accurately and doesn't register a hundred dollars off any more.

Anyone who wishes to enroll in a shorthand class should do so immediately as no new classes will be formed again until next January.

To do fitting honor to a guest, some Arabs believe, they must serve freshly-killed meat. The servant of a sheik will bring in a lamb or kid—alive—so that the visitor may see what an excellent animal it is. Then it is killed for the evening meal.

A FLAVOR ALL ITS OWN THAT MILLIONS PREFER

Terrific Fighting Rages On 40-Mile Western Frontier

Many Thousand Allies And German Soldiers Engage In Battle After Skirmishes

Nazi Troops Go "Over The Top" French Repulse Enemy Counter Move With Heavy Losses

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh warned the nation last night that it might lose several million men if it entered the European war and that such action would imperil American democracy.

The famous flier said it was necessary to send our soldiers to be killed as we did in the last war.

"If we enter the quarrels of Europe during war, we must stay in them in time of peace," he was cautioned. "We must keep out of European wars entirely or stay in European affairs permanently."

Declaring that America's safety was not in fighting European wars, but in the internal strength in the character of our people and of American institutions, Lindbergh said:

"As long as we maintain an army, a navy and an air force worthy of the name, as long as America does not decay within, we need fear no invasion of this country."

"If we enter fighting for democracy abroad, we may end by losing it at home."

It was the first formal address made by Lindbergh since Aug. 28, 1931, when he spoke before an assembly of Japanese and German delegates at the World War veterans' convention in London.

He maintained strict secrecy about his broadcast. He ordered studio officials not to disclose the point outside of the studios, from which he spoke. He hired a commercial photographer to take pictures of him as he spoke, and later distributed prints of the broadcast to his friends.

In his appeal, Lindbergh took a stand beside that of his father, the late Rep. Charles A. Lindbergh, Republican, Minnesota, who voted against American participation in the World War, an act which contributed to bringing an early end to his political career.

He broadcast a day after he had completed a tour of active and inactive duty with the war department, during which he made a survey of army airports throughout the country.

The noted aviator pleaded with his listeners not to be deluded by expert propaganda at home or abroad which might excite new conflicts. He explained that the recurring wars in Europe were not wars in which our civilization was defending itself against some Asiatic intruder.

"This is simply one more of those old quarrels within quarrel arising from the errors of the last war—from the failure of the victors of that war to follow a consistent policy either of fairness or of force," he said.

Lindbergh took no stand for or against the Administration's agitation for repeal of the mandatory embargo provisions of the neutrality law.

Lindbergh Warns Stalemate Seems War Will Intermit Likely In Battle U. S. Democracy On Western Front

Famous Flier Says American Safety Is In Internal Strength Concerted Offensive On Fortified Lines Would Be Costly

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Anybody who has seen a work model of the fortifications on the western front in Europe can understand why the generals on both sides—and the soldiers in the line as well—aren't any too anxious to get down to blood and thunder.

Any man worth his military salt tells you that the attacker on either side is going to lose at least four men to the defender's one. More likely, if the attempt is extremely determined, the losses will be ten to one.

The Germans are supposed to have lost 600,000 men trying to take Verdun in the World War. Consider the shock of anguish at home when the dead and wounded started pouring back. Some military psychologists have even surmised that those losses primarily broke the back of German resistance.

Now come authoritative estimates that an attacking force on the new western front might have to count on losing 500,000 men to achieve a breakthrough.

If the attacking force should be the French army aided by the British, the victors would still find themselves on the west bank of the Rhine, barred from the east by Germany by the secondary defenses behind the Rhine between Mannheim and Essen, and probably too exhausted to exploit their initial victory.

As a matter of fact, military men who have seen one side or the other of the western front recently, speculate that the price of any value of breaking through the wall on either side would be more psychological than real.

It would prove to the victors—and to the people back home—and to the vanquished that a Maginot or Siegfried line is not impregnable. That should instill greater will to win.

But consider the assault that falls. Military men can conceive of no more tragic figure than the general who had lost 500,000 men—and failed to win his battle. The effect on the morale of the people on the home front would be almost disastrous.

These are the reasons why

No Work Is Done Yet On Road No. 44

Road Department Has Not Requested Bids; Geneva Right-Of-Way Deeds Not In

Following several joint meetings of citizens of Seminole and Brevard counties last Fall, many promises were made in regard to an early beginning of work on State Road No. 44 from Mims to the Seminole County line, but as yet none of these promises has materialized.

A joint delegation appearing before the State Road Department at its budget meeting last December was successful in efforts to obtain an appropriation for the hard-surfacing of this highway in the Road Department budget for the current fiscal year.

However, in reply to a query, the State Road Department advised The Sanford Herald yesterday that while bids had been requested yet for the paving of State Road No. 44 in Brevard County to the Seminole County line.

Officials of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, applied to the Road Department in several instances for the beginning of work on this project but as yet to no avail.

The Chamber of Commerce also expects to request the State Road Department to continue the work on the Seminole County side of the line at the budget meeting of the Road Department in December.

However, Chamber officials pointed out that they will be unable to make this request unless the Board of County Commissioners has secured the necessary right-of-way deeds for the route which was surveyed through Geneva in January, 1937.

The proposed improvement in the connecting link between the county seats of the two counties on the Seminole County side of the line, would include the widening and straightening of the present nine-foot roadway to the St. Johns River Bridge just east of Sanford.

County Attorney E. F. Houholder said today that he requested this week that the right-of-way engineer of the State Road Department check the records to see what portions of the right-of-way on the Seminole County side of the line the Road Board does not have at present.

He also requested the department to make a survey of the highway from the Seminole County bridge to Sanford, with a view to the possible re-location of the highway's entrance into the city since it would be impractical, the County Attorney pointed out, to obtain the required 100-foot right-of-way along the present route through the farming section immediately west of Sanford.

A project was completed several months ago for the hard-surfacing of several miles of this thoroughfare west of Mims. This improvement was said to have been made under a State Road Department appropriation in the 1938 budget.

Two Convicts Pry Open Bars To Make Escape

The negro convicts, Harry Garner and T. E. Brindwell, escaped from the County Convict camp yesterday morning after prying apart the bars in their cell, Sheriff C. M. Hand reported today.

Garner had finished a six-month term in the County Convict Camp and was waiting to be returned to the jail in Sanford where he would have been turned over to Lake County authorities who held a warrant for his arrest.

The other negro was from North Carolina and had just been released from a nine-month term. The negroes escaped from their locked cell while the guards and several "trusties" were butchering near the stockade.

Two bloodhounds were placed on the trail of the fleeing convicts but the dogs were returned to the camp after an unsuccessful chase of several hours.

The Sheriff's Office had no clues, as to the whereabouts of the two today.

Long Aides Draw 2 1/2 Year Terms In Louisiana Scandal

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Dr. James Monroe Smith, ousted president of Louisiana State University, and Seymour Weiss, hotel magnate, both of whom played big hands in Huey Long's political games, stood up in court yesterday and got a sentence of two and a half years each in federal prison.

Convicted with three others on mail fraud charges, they were saved from a quick transfer to prison by appeal bonds.

With a stern admonition that he was "not going to give you any substitute for the verdict of 12 jurors who found you guilty," Federal Judge Borah, passed sentence, and then allowed appeals.

Smith, Weiss and the others had no comment. But all were nervous. The jury's verdict Thursday left them gasping.

The sentences, as pronounced slowly by the court, were:

Weiss, Long's right-hand man; Monte E. Hart, prosperous electrical and building contractor, and Dr. Smith, 46-times indicted Louisiana State University, to pay fines of $2000 each and serve two and one-half years in prison.

Louis C. Lesage, former contact man for Standard Oil Company of Louisiana, and J. Emory Adams, Dr. Smith's "country boy" nephew, to pay fines of $1000 each and serve a year-and-a-day in prison.

British Hold Liner Bremen, Nazi Intimates

German Ambassador To Russia Says U.S. Held Up Ship To Assist Britain

$20,000,000 Ship Still Unreported

Churchill Should Know Location Of Vessel, Schulenburg Says

MOSCOW, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The German ambassador to Soviet Russia, Count Friedrich Von der Schulenburg, today intimated that the $20,000,000 German liner Bremen, mysteriously unreported since it sailed from New York on Aug. 29, had been captured by Great Britain.

He said questions concerning the German merchant flagship should be referred to Winston Churchill, First Lord of the British Admiralty.

American authorities were so kind to hold up the Bremen for 22 hours and so far as I know the British have rather fast destroyers," the German diplomat said in response to queries about the report the Bremen had reached Murmansk, a Soviet Arctic port.

"I should think the joint efforts of the two powerful empires—the United States and the British—should have been able to trap and take an unarmed German ship. So I think it would be more proper to ask Winston Churchill where the Bremen is," said the ambassador.

Soviet Interested In White Russians, Nazi Press Says

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Soviet Russia is concentrating itself with the fate of 11,000,000 White Russians and Ukrainians in the areas of east Poland that belonged to czarist Russia before the World War, the official German news agency, D. N. R., said yesterday.

The statement gave approval to a rather cryptic editorial in the official "Communist" party newspaper, Pravda, in Moscow assailing Poland's "exploitation" of the White Russian and Ukrainian minorities.

Nazi government officials insisted, however, that there was no confirmation to be had for reports that Germany was negotiating with Russia on the question of the White Russian and Ukrainian minorities.

The statement was made in reference to unconfirmed reports that Germany and Russia had agreed to creation of a buffer Polish state after the Nazi military operations there were completed and that the White Russian and Ukrainian minorities might eventually be restored to Russia.

The D. N. R. statement referring to Pravda's editorial and the reported mobilization of at least 1,000,000 Red army troops along the Russian western boundary from Finland to Rumania said:

"This clarifies the background of the Red army's mobilization on the western frontier. . . . Foreigners who refused to believe that Soviet Russia would enter herself with the fate of the Ukrainians and White Russians in Poland again were bitterly mistaken."

In connection with the mystery surrounding Soviet Russia's intentions—some extremist Nazis were predicting imminent Soviet military action against the Poles—the question of how close to Russia the new German eastern frontier would be placed continued to be the subject of speculation.
