ATLANTA - Southern state governments must forge stronger interstate partnerships if the region wants to improve its standard of living, a consultant told Southern leaders. "The goal has to be to move all Boutherners and all Southern businesses to the global frontier of competitiveness, skills and standard of living within our lifetime." consultant Robert Friedman told the Southern Growth Policies Board Thursday.

"If we really believe that Southerners deserve a living standard equal to those in the rest of the world, then we're going to have to do business in a different way." said Friedman, head of the Corporation for

Enterprise Development. A panel of the policy board adopted 12 recommendations it said will improve the South's standard of living, strengthen business and create-state-of-the-art infrastructures

The recommendations include access to health care for all Southerners, ensuring that children are physically and mentally prepared for school, eliminating racial barriers for blacks and encouraging regional cooperation to rebuild cities and scize business opportunities.

The full policy board, which is meeting in Atlanta through today, will adopt a final version of the goals next spring.

The board was created 20 years ago by Southern governors to identify trends likely to affect the region's economy. It creates a set of goals every six years that Southern states use as policy guidelines, spokesman Robert Donnan said. President-elect Clinton was in charge of the last report in 1986. The North Carolina-based board includes government and business leaders from 13 Southern states and a U.S. territory: Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Florida, Ken-tucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Ten-nessee, Virginia, West Virginia and Puerto

While the South provides a relatively healthy climate for its 1.5 million businesses, the standard of living for its 60 million residents isn't as good, Mabus' panel said.

Arrest record can be used to find inmate sex offender

By JACKIE HALLIFAX Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE -- Arrest records can be used to decide if inmates may be sex offenders who are barred from getting time cut off their sentences, the state Supreme Court said in a uplit decision.

In another ruling Thursday, Florida's high court admoniahed a trial court for disregarding an earlier order in a death case.

Barry Hoffman is on death row for the 1960 Jacksonville Beach murder of a drug trafficker and his girlfriend over an $16,000 drug debt. The last time the case was before the high court was in 1990, when the justices told the trial court to hold a hearing in Hoffman's appeal.

"This the trial court did not do; and the assistant attorney general could provide us with no good reason for this lapse," the unsigned opinion reads. "When a lower court receives the mandate of this court with specific instructions, the lower court is without discretion to ignore that mandate or disregard the instructions," the high court continued. "It was clear error to do otherwise."

The justices sent the case back again.

"We emphasize that the trial court must honor and cannot deviate from the instructions," the Supreme Court wrote.

The 4-3 ruling on arrest rec-ords stemmed from an appeal by an inmate who has since died.

But the question of whether the state can use information on an arrest report to deny time credits in a program designed to free up beds is an important question that will surface again, the arrest record, prison officials refused to cut any time off his sentence through the provisional credit program, created to case overcrowding in Florida prisons. In the majority opinion,

Justice Ben Overton noted that lawmakers have clearly adopted a policy of denying provisional credits to sex offenders.

That means prison officials must evaluate the records of inmates who have attempted sexual offenses as part of other crimes, he wrote.

Provisional credits, given only to ease overcrowding, aren't tied to a prisoner's length of sentence and don't create any expectation of release on a certain date, Overton pointed out.

"No substantive or procedural 'liberty' due process rights vest in an inmate under the statute," be said.

But even if due process rights were involved, a conviction wouldn't be necessary to deny provisional credits, he wrote.

"The (corrections) secretary could consider Grant's conduct to be that of committing or attempting a sex act even though the jury found him guilty of a battery rather than a sexual battery under the evidence and even though Grant's conduct may not have risen to the level of a criminal offense," Overton wrote.

Justices Parker Lee McDonald, Stephen Grimes and Major Harding supported the majority opinion: Chief Justice Rosemary Barkett and Justices Leander Shaw and Gerald Kogan dissented in a separate opinion written by Kogan.

Prison officials have to grant provisional credits equally even though inmates have no substantive rights to the reductions, according to the dissenters. "To allow the department to fabled spring was but a hole in the ground that their horses sipped from. George Bush, who can afford it, proposed to quintuple the federal tax on a six pack of beer to 81 cents from 16 cents (and raise taxes on wine and liquor as well). The notion was cheered by the Center for Science in the Public Interest, which complained that less than 1 percent of federal revenue comes from alcohol taxes. And Washington Post columnist Colman McCarthy, one of the most predictably left-wing voices in America, allowed that it was time the "alcohol drug" got sapped. The tax, he said, would be "a fraction of the economic losses due to alcohol abuse."

EDITORIALS Let's have two weeks of honest campaigning

Residents of the Sanford historic district will face their third election day in two months on Dec. 22. The Dist. 1 City Commission seat race was narrowed down to two finalists in Tuesday's election. Commission incumbent Lon Howell is facing candidate Bill Kirchner with less than two weeks left before the runoff election.

We hope the race will maintain a gentle-manly attitude, with the candidates running on what they can do for the city and its citizens, rather than focusing their attention on what is wrong with their opponent. Regardless of whether the campaigning will be heavy or light, we suggest keeping a close watch on each of the candidates and making decisions based on the facts.

Citizens should be concerned that the best person will ultimately be elected. The runoff will only be held in district 1. which has 3.340 registered eligible voters. During Tuesday's election, only 1.315 cast ballots. That amounts to approximately one third of the people in the district making a decision which will eventually affect all of them them.

The Sanford Herald will keep an eye out for last-minute unproven accusations, erroneous claims and counter-claims, political grandstanding, and other factors that might tend to improperly influence the decision of a voter.

We suggest citizens do the same,

Be aware of campaigning tactics, listen to the problems and needs each candidate envisions for the terms and how they suggest handling them and make a decision based on what is part for the district and the entire city.

Let's have two weeks of honest and truthful campaigning. The people of Sanford should not accept anything less.

Sanzo verdict fair

Many citizens were probably shocked at the light verdict in the Tillany Sanso murder case. Same was the 16-year-old Altamonte Borings girl who conspired to kill her father, the president of the Warlocks Motorcycle Club. Site was charged with first degree murder and pleaded no contest to reduced murder charges. Even under reduced charges. Sanso could have been sentenced to as many as 22 years in prison. Sanso, under a youthful offender act, received four years with credit for time already served, followed by two years probation.

Even strong law-and-order advocates should realize there were a number of mitigating factors in this case. The age of the defendant, her prior lack of criminal activity, the fact that the was not the tiggerman were factors in Judge Alan Dickey's decision. So was, as a prosecutor stated. "the complete lack of structure" in her homelife.

That doesn't excuse the crime, of course, but such factors are mitigating circumstances that a judge must pay attention to if he is to make a just decision:

Judge Dickey handles his courtroom in an impressive manner.

One day after sentencing Sanso. Judge Dickey ordered life imprisonment for a defendant who savagely killed a Sanford woman. In that case, there were no mitigating factors. In the Sanzo case; there is a possibility of rehabilitation.

Justice does not demand the same sentence in every case, even a murder case. If so, a computer could hand out sentences. A judge must weigh the human and legal factors before passing sentence.

imprisonment is called for. There are cases where leniency is called for. A judge is called upon to know what type of sentence is needed. There are definitely cases where life

There may be initial shock about the Sanso pentence but, in this case, Judge Dickey based his suling on firm psychological and particul grounds.

The women (3-6) of Heana Gallagher will be in Fort Landerdale to compete in the Broward Christmas Tournament. The Raiders' opponent and game time was not known at press time. The tournament will conclude Saturday night.

The men will be looking to wintheir first game against a junior college opponent since besting Brevard in the finals of the Raider-Tournament to early November.

The men have shown signs in the last couple of games of coming out of the doldrums that has seen the team drop nine of its last 10 games.

The resurgence has been keyed by the play of a pair of Seminole High School graduates off the bench. Sophomore forward Jeff Hall and freshman point guard J.J. Wiggins have been playing very well in their reserve roles.

Hall had a team high 19 points and also grabbed eight rebounds for the Raiders Tuesday night against Indian River, while Wiggins scored in double figures for the first time inhis career with 14 counters.

The women won their last start. against North Florida, last Saturday night and will look to carry the momentum from that win intotonight's game. The team has been led in both scoring and rebounding by sophomore forward Monique Hayes. Also playing key roles for the women are Lake Howell's Kerri Wilson, Roshanya Wilcox, Kerry Archer, Oviedo's Sylvia Dames and Deltona's Melissa Mendez.

The women will play a pair of games next week before breaking for the holidays.

LONGWOOD - That's 42.

Lyman High School, the two-time Class 4A girls' soccer state champion, extended its winning streak to 42 games with a 2-0 win Thuesday over Seminole Athletic Conference rival Lake Brantley

The Greyhounds, 5-0 overall and 4-0 in the SAC, with host Class 3A state power Bishop Moore this evening. Lake Brantley, which won the state championship three years ago, dropped to 4-1 overall and 2-1 in the SAC.

"This was a hig week," said second-year Lyman coach Gary Barnett. "I can't complain too much, but I'll be glad when tomorow's over. We're going to take a long weekend to rest."

Barnelt said that a week like this (with games against Lake Mary, Lake Brantley and Bishop Moore) will help the Greyhounds prepare to defend their state crown,

"When it comes to tournaments, you play much name after tough team," Barnett explained. "The conference schedule is handed to us, so we had hale. Brankley and Lake Mary already scheduled for the same week. That s a great test by itself. But I thought, why not go aliched and push the mental side of it?

"Bishop Moore is a different beast. They chance right at you. It's a different type of game and that backs us to adjust, not just physically, but mentally as well."

Lyman got on top of the Patriots early Hausday night, Laurie Elias scoring an unassisted goal pair 1,09 into the game, Danya Harris made the sourd 2.6 with an unassisted goal at 69:25.

Miami, Disney awarded NHL franchises

Associated Press

PALM BEACH - Two giants in the entertainment industry will bring NHL expansion teams to South Florida and Southern California. perhaps as early as next season.

The league unexpectedly awarded franchises Thursday to Walt Disney Co. and the head of Blockbuster Video. The unanimous decision by the NHL Board of Governors at its annual winter meeting expands the league to 26 teams.

"We're thrilled to announce that both of these companies known throughout the world for their marketing expertise, image and family values came and sought to join the NHL," league president Gil Stein said.

The newest members will begin play either next season or in 1994-95.

The South Florida team will play initially in Miami Arena. Blockbuster chief H. Wayne Huizenga, who last year won a baseball expansion franchise for South Florida, plans to build a new hockey arena but declined to speculate on a site.

"We're looking to build a state-of-the-art facility," he said.

The California club, Disney's first professional sports team, has begun negotiations to play in the new Analicim arena, which opens in June.

"I'd love to play there,' said Michael Elsner,

Disney's chairman and cluct executive officer

The fee for the new franchises will be $50million, same as for the Tampa Bay Eightning and Ottawa Senators, who joined the league this season. Half of Disney's fee will go to the Los-Angeles Kings, based in Inglewood, for Southern-California territorial rights.

The deals are contingent on satisfying SHL guidelines on such matters as a playing site and advance ticket sales.

"The league looks forward to expanding its reach in the U.S. with the addition of these two important franchise areas," said Bruce McNall, chairman of the Board of Governors and owner of See Hocky, Page 2B

"This is not a very easy thing to do - working on arrangements for one of my closest friends." Marlins vice president of communications Dean Jordan said.

Barger, 62, died Wednesday at baseball's winter meetings in Louisville, Ky., after an aneurysm in his abdomen ruptured.

As a show of respect, the Marlins' offices were closed Thursday. But half the staff still showed up for work.

Board of Governors meeting in Palm Beach for the surprise announcement that he would be awarded an expansion team in South Florida.

'We put all of our attention focusing on Carl, and Wednes-day night was a tough night." said Huizenga, his voice break-ing with emotion. "You try to forget about it for today, and try to get up for this occasion. I'm sure we'll go right back to thinking about Carl until after the funeral."

General manager Dave Dombrowski said Barger's infectious enthusiasm for baseball inspired Huizenga to pursue an expansion leam.

'Carl loved the game.' Dombrowski said. "He could talk about it forever."

Marlins officials have not yet discussed ways of honoring Barger's memory, Jordan said.

"I'm sure everyone has their idcas," he said. "There's no doubt in my mind we'll come up with some special and significant ways to ensure Carl Barger and his presence in South Florida and what he meant to the Marlins and baseball will never be forgotten."

A memorial service will be held Monday at Trinity Cathedral in Pittsburgh, where Barger lived for 33 years.

Why Fine Glassware Turns Cloudy

The cloudiness that sometimes appears on fine glassware after it is cleaned in the dishwasher is called etching. Good crystal, or soft leaded crystal, tends to be more susceptible to it than everyday glassware. Etching is the result of the action of hot water and detergent in the dishwasher. It tends to be more prevalent with soft water and is, unfortunately, permanent and irreversible. Therefore, one of the best ways to avoid etching is to forego the dishwasher in favor of washing fine glassware by hand. Where the dishwasher is used, The Soap and Detergent Association recommends the following precautions to minimize the pos-sibility of etching. Use a minimum of detergent, but not less than one tablespoon. Be sure the water temperature is not more than 140°F. Underload the dishwasher so everything is rinsed and drained thoroughly. Dry without heat. A rinsing agent or a detergent formulated for natural soft water may also help. Healthy Heliday Gift Ideas • a basket of fresh Florida citrus and

DEAR MARY: I am a single mom and my kids are 9 and 5 years old. Their dad was abusive as well as a drug user and I ended up having a nervous breakdown before I realized that leaving him was a life and death matter.

Hotel clerks need to be PR experts

DEAR ABBY: I am a front desk clerk at a resort hotel, but please don't say which, one because I am writing on behalf of hotel and motel desk clerks throughout the world. I would like the public to know that we are not maintenance men. We cannot repair television sets or break into their automobiles when they have locked their keys inside the car. We do not unplug toilets or change light bulbs, and we can't repair the telephone if it ian't working.

Also, we are not in "housekeeping," so we can't bring them extra washcloths, towels, pillow, blankets or tollet paper. We are not belimen ei-ther, so please don't ask us to carry luggage or run errands. Now I tell you what front desk clerks are paid to do: greet and register incoming guests, and make sure that outgoing guests see the cashier about paying their bill and turning in their key before departing. Thank you. FRONT DESK CLERK: DEAR FRONT DESK CLERK: I doubt that you can speak for all

I doubt that you can speak for all hotel and motel desk clerks throughout the world. In the name of good customer rela-tions, you should be prepared to handle all questions and com-plaints to the satisfaction of the guests so they will want to return to your establishment.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are getting a divorce. What is the proper thing to do with my wedding and engagement rings? How should I relate to his family when my ex-parents-in-law die? Do I att with the family? Do I stawawa? Do I stay away?

I need to know the proper thing to do. Or should I just follow my heart?

I NEED GUIDANCE DEAR MEEDS GUIDANCE: The fact that these questions have occurred to you, and you want to do the "right thing," says a great deal for your says a great deat for your sensitivity. You did not say how long you were married, but your ques-tions lead me to believe that you were married for a long time. By all means, follow your heart. If you had a good relationship with your in-laws, sit with the family should there be a death in the family family

The rings are yours to do with as you choose. (If they are your husband's family heiricoms, it would be gracious to return them — but you are not ob-ligated to.) After the divorce is final, do not wear your wedding rings, and consider having a jeweler react the stones into another piece of jewelry.

DEAR ABBY: In your column on Nov. 8, you said that the shortest poem you had ever read

"If called by a panther, "Don't anther." - Ogden

Naah May I submit another, also by Ogden Nash? It's slightly shorter "Ficas:

"Adam had 'em." PHIL MARROCH, HOUSTON DEAR PHIL: It was not until I published the Nov. 8 item that "If called by a panther, don'' anther" was part of a much larger poem by Ogden Nash...so your submission may very well be the shortest poem I have ever read. Thanks for sending it!

Rich with history Even after 100 years, the Upsala Presbyterian church is steadfast

By KELLEY INTOHELL Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - On Saturday, in conjunction with the St. Lucia Festival, the Upsala Community Presbyterian Church, 101 Up-sala Rd., will open it's historic doors to the public in honor of the building's 100th anniversa-

Doug Gramkow, a member of the church, will deliver a brief history of the Swedish Presbyterian Church at 6 p.m.

Then at 7 p.m., the combined adult and youth choirs of Upsala Community Presbyterian Church will persent the Contata "Christmas For All Time." It is a musical program which presents a brief look into three families at three moments in history through music and drama. Upsala Church was organized in 1891 and was called the Upsala Swedish Presbyterian Church because there were so many Swedish people con-nnected with the church at that time, according to Gramkow. At a meeting held in Eustis, April 16, 1891, permission was granted and the Presbyterian Church of New Upsala was officially entered on the roll of churches of the Presbytery. Two ruling elders and one deacon were chosen and ordained. In 1892, the congregation, using their building and carpentry skills, built a church.

On the corner of Upsala Road and S.R. 46A, a trim white wooden building, with a modest steeple overlooking the community was built. At the time the church was organised, there was a thriving village of about 200 people, consisting of a post office, school house, Lutheran church and much more. The winter of 1894-95 brought calamity to the ettlers of Upsala. A hard freese hit the citrus groves and disaster hit the area and because of the community was almost entirely dependent on its citrus crops, things began to change. Many families left their homes to move to other cities. A few held on to the Presbyterian church and continued the Sunday School even through few in number.

The church was dissolved in 1918 but reorganised Dec. 5, 1949. For sometime the church had lay leaders, but at a con-gregational meeting on Sept. 30, 1951, the Rev. Clarence C. White was accepted as pastor of the church. At a meeting of elders and trustees on on Oct. 21, 1951, a motion was made and passed to rename the church to Upsala Presbyterian Community Church.

One of the members, Olga Vihlen Hunter, has many fond memories of growing up in the Upsala community, according to Gramkow. She has written poems and other stories about events she remembers and stories passed down to her by her mother and other Swedish families.

One of the writings is as follows: "The Upsala school house was removed, the railroad station disappeared, the beautiful historical Lutheran church, a monument to all the Swedes and their decendants, was torn down and moved away. leaving only a cemetery as a reminder of the strong, won-derful people who once wrestled out of a wilderness a happy thriving community with homes, a school, churches, orange groves, and the Upsals Presbyterian Church, standing all these years as a monument to the younger generation of Swedes who wanted to feel American, be American and enjoy the freedom of America. I look back and remember these
