SANFORD - The mood at the Sanford City Commission work session immediately following the county meeting on lakefront development was jubilant Tuesday afternoon. Both Mayor Larry Dale and Commissioner Kerry Lyons had been on hand when the county voted 4 to 1 to approve participation in the development.

Pacitti: No one should be asking why

SANFORD - Joseph Pacitti kept repeating "It's the lake," as he stood on the walkway outside the Seminole County Commission Chambers on Tuesday.
 The 4-1 commission approval of a waterfront hotel/conference center on the shore of Lake Monroe in Sanford was sweet music to Pacitti's ears. He's the president of PRA Development and Management Corporation of Philadelphia, which will build the complex.

 "This is going to be unique, definitely unique," Pacitti said. "This is the best location for the project. No one should be asking 'why here?' I'm very enthused about the acceptance by the city of Sanford and the county. With Mayor (Larry) Dale's assistance and tenacity, we've come a long way."

Pacitti said he is negotiating with Doubletree Hotels and two other major corporations to come into the 12-story, 300-room waterfront hotel. "This is the real thing," he said.

 The $70 million complex on a 20-acre site that includes Fort Mellon Park will be a public/private partnership with 75 to 80 percent of the cost by the private companies. It includes a boardwalk, fishing pier, city park and fountain

Mayfair Country Club sues Sanford over back rent issue

By Mark Phillips
 HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - We're taking it to the courts. That was the final outcome of discussion at Tuesday afternoon's Sanford City Commission work session regarding financial difficulties between the city and the Mayfair Country Club.

At odds is the amount of rent money the city says the Mayfair owes for back years which has not been paid. The Mayfair says the lease specifies that money spent on making improvements should be deducted from the amount owed the city, and that actually, the city owes the Mayfair money because of the amount spent by the club.

A number of discussions have been held in the past several months between the parties involved including attorneys for both sides, the city manager, finance director, and management of the Mayfair. It has also been on the agenda for at least four previous commission work sessions and meetings.

At the May 11 work session, Charles Harrison, legal counsel for Seminole Club Inc., (Mayfair) said a law suit was filed against the city to protect his client. An extension on the default date was approved however, and the law suit was voluntarily withdrawn.

This Tuesday, proposals were discussed by the commissioners, with City Attorney Bill Colbert reporting that he had recently received

'Just remember, we didn't file this suit, you did. You have brought action against us, and we are willing to defend our point.'

Mayor Larry Dale

a check in the amount of $255,346 from Jack Daniels, lease holder for the Mayfair, which Colbert said was "paid under protest" but paid nonetheless in order to prevent the matter from reaching the stage of default.

City Manager Bill Simmons explained that the latest offer from the Mayfair to the city was that the club would not owe rent prior to the 1992-93 lease year and would not be entitled to any carryover credit for any lease prior to that year. The club would pay the city $21,273 as rent for periods of 1994 to 1996, but would not owe any rent for the 96/97 lease year.

It was also suggested that the lease be modified, to have the city receive only 2 percent of the revenue rather than 5 percent, as called for in the original lease agreement, with no deduction for improvements.

When Harrison was called to the table to be

This old house now a cottage of love and care

By Russ White
 HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - The final touches are being made. The little cottage at 1002 French Ave. is about to open its doors and its heart.

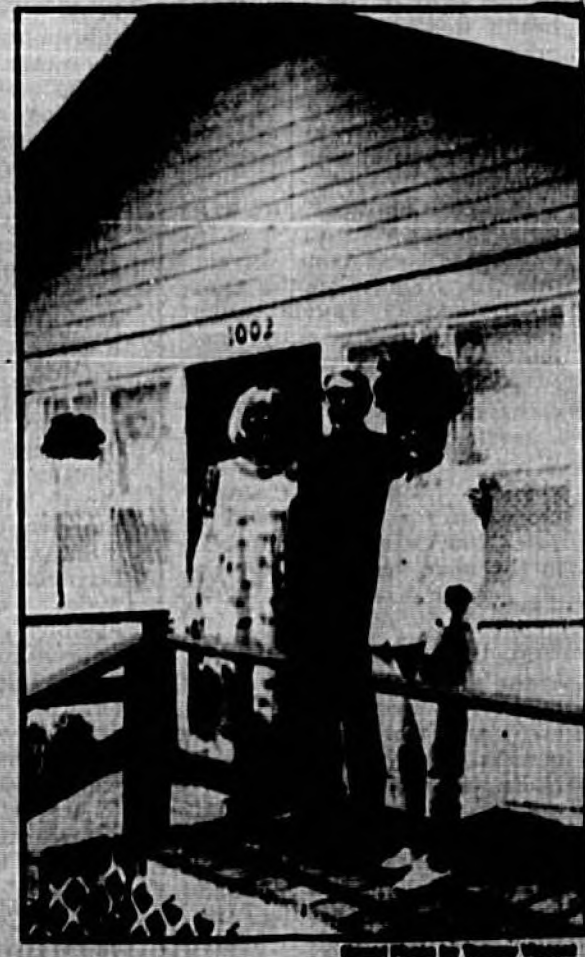

"This old ragged house has been transformed into a beautiful cottage," Andrea Krasiec said Friday. "We are ready to begin a ministry that already has been truly blessed."

Krasiec is the founder and director of the Sanford Crisis Pregnancy Center, which will on June 1 begin to minister to and serve women who are faced with an unplanned or crisis pregnancy. All services will be free, including pregnancy tests, maternity clothes, baby clothes and supplies.

The center's primary function, Krasiec says, is to educate and counsel clients on the alternatives to abortion, fetal development, pre/post natal care and abstinence until marriage. "The woman who comes to us has a choice to make that will effect the rest of her life," Krasiec said.

She said the center will provide resources for medical assistance, maternity residences, legal and adoption referrals and continued education support. Counseling for post abortion also will be available.

The Mission Statement for the center is:

Robbery suspect turns red and flees without $$

By David Frazier

CASSELBERRY - Red dye packs prevented an unknown white male from taking the money he had just stolen from a Casseberry bank Tuesday afternoon.

The unidentified suspect robbed the SouthTrust bank, located at the corner of Highway 17-92 and State Road 438, at gunpoint shortly after 1:30 p.m., according to Sgt. Greg Hepburn, police information officer for the Casseberry Police Department.

The man is described as being 6-foot and weighing around 190 pounds. Hepburn said that the man was dressed in long sleeved clothing. He had on a white shirt, blue jeans, two toned tennis shoes, a Marikore baseball cap and wrap-around sunglasses.

The weapon used in the commission of the crime was a handgun of some sort, but a precise description could not be ascertained.

Once the perpetrator exited the bank, he fled on foot. Hepburn speculated that the suspect could have got into an awaiting car but that is still unclear.

As the suspect ran around to the back of the bank, the dye packs within the money sacks went off. At that time, the suspect dropped the money and dropped the bags. Hepburn said that the money stolen was probably no more than $5,000.

Police only have the above description to go on. The red dye supposedly got onto the suspect as well. There are no other leads on the suspect at this time.

Welcome to the wheel world of Lake Mary Sheriff's office rodeo, bike patrol teaches bike safety

By Russ White
HERALD STAFF WRITER

6 Bikes are extremely popular in the community and we encourage everyone to wear helmets and to obey the safety rules.

-Sheriff's Investigator Dwayne Johnson

LAKE MARY - If the city of Lake Mary isn't biker's heaven, it's getting there. Lake Mary Cycles at 105 Waymont Court will open its own "drive-in" restaurant in a couple of months and the trail along Rinehart Road will be completed by the end of the year.

Recently, Lake Mary Cycles served as host for Lake Mary Law Enforcement Day, which included a bicycle rodeo for youngsters and an exhibition by the Seminole County Sheriff's Bicycle Patrol.

The youngsters were timed on serpentine, slalom, narrowing and avoidance. Each time was added and the lowest combined time won.

Christopher Johnson, Carey Jackson and Garret Felley took first through third in the 4-to-6 years old age group.

Derrick Neil, Alexis Jackson and Adam Whitney were the 6-to-7 year old winners.

Joe Bryan, Johnathan Gross and Tessa Jackson took the ribbons in the 8-to-10 age group.

"We enjoy being at events like this," said Sheriff's Officer Investigator Dwayne Johnson. "Bikes are extremely popular in the community and we encourage everyone to wear helmets and to obey the safety rules which means stopping at red lights and stop signs."

Johnson encourages the youngsters in the four to 10 age group that were at the rodeo to ride their bikes on the sidewalks of Lake Mary but always yield to pedestrians. Karen Whitney of Lake Mary Cycles said the north sidewalk along Lake Mary Boulevard was built wider for that purpose.

Having a bicycle that is in good working condition is important, also. The bikes at the rodeo went through an inspection before being ridden on Saturday. "Good bicycles will serve two or three family members," Whitney said.

In addition to the bike rodeo, the Sheriff's Office set up a booth to show off its Combat Auto Theft Decal Program and displayed a 1962 Chevrolet Bel Air with the original paint design that was on patrol cars that year. For more information on the CAT Program contact Investigator Dwayne Johnson at (407) 330-6631.

The tethered balloon (shown here as the black dot in the sky, with the office complex behind McDonald's in the foreground) was displayed at a height of 140 feet with a streamer attachment also depicting the 100 foot heights. The 140 foot tall tower conditional use request was considered by the Planning and Zoning Board Tuesday night. The City Commission review of the position is scheduled for June 18.

Kids Count: New study revealed

By Nick Pfeilfau
HERALD STAFF WRITER

A new book has been released to the public. The 1998 "Kids Count Data Book" a project of the Annie E. Casey Foundation, is a national and state-by-state effort to track the status of children in the United States.

Depending on which classification one reads, Florida statistics can be both encouraging and frightening.

Regarding child health insurance, statewide, figures show 18 percent of all youth under age 18 do not have health insurance; 15 percent are ages 0 to 5, 19 percent are age 6 to 17, 22 percent are under 18 and listed as "in poverty" and 29 percent are under 18 in "low income working families".

The most startling figure in a worse/better comparison is in Juvenile violent crime arrest rate per 100,000 youths ages 10 through 17. Florida ranks 49th worst in the entire nation, with a 68 percent increase in such crimes by the teens, from 1985 to 1995.

Another low national figure is the percent of families with children headed by a single parent. In the ten year 1985 to 1995 time period, the number in the state has increased by 20 percent, ranking it 44th out of the 50 states.

The largest "better" category in the survey says infant mortality rate, (deaths per 1,000 live births) has improved by 34 percent in the past ten years, placing Florida 25th in the nation. The rate of teen deaths by accident, homicide and suicide, (deaths per 100,000 teens ages 15 to 17, declined by 11 percent, putting the state into 20th position in the nation.

In high school dropout listings, Florida ranks 45th, (tied with Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana and Texas). The rate shows a 13 percent dropout rate for ages 16 to 19. The ranking and other states is almost equal to the number of teens who neither attend school or work.

Teenage females ages 15 to 17 giving birth continue to be at almost the same level during the 1985 to 1995 time period. For each of the years, Florida has ranked from 37th to 45th in the nation in the number of births. In 1995, the latest figures available, Florida showed 9,993 births from mothers in that age group.

Training course improves motorcycle skills

Special to the Herald

Motorcycle riders who are not properly licensed are not just putting themselves but also their motorcycles at increased risk, according to the National Association of State Motorcycle Safety Administrators (SMSA). As motorcycle enthusiasts have recognized Motorcycle Safety Month this month, SMSA warns the nation's 5.5 million riders of the dangers they may encounter if they are one of the 20 percent of the national motorcycle population who are not appropriately licensed.

"Although the increased chances of a crash for unlicensed riders remains a concern for those of us in the public safety arena, the motorcyclists themselves should be aware of the consequences to their motorcycle and pocketbook," said Karen Kadar, SMSA spokesperson. In addition to having their motorcycle towed and impounded, unlicensed riders will be ticketed, fined and have points assessed against their drivers license. They will be liable for storage charges, alternate transportation costs and increased insurance premiums.

The statistics for unlicensed riders are grim, according to the U.S. Department of Transportation data, with about 35 percent of fatal crash victims being unlicensed or improperly licensed. This group is over-represented in fatal crashes by more than 100 percent nationally and as much as 400 percent in some states, according to SMSA.

"These numbers are staggering but easily preventable through education and training," said Kadar. "With all 50 states requiring motorcycle riders to be licensed and most offering training courses that expedite that process, there is no excuse for operating a motorcycle illegally," she explained. The cost of the training course ranges from free to $250 and the average time requirement is 15 hours.

SMSA reports enforcement of licensing is becoming an increased priority in many states, with local and state police identifying, apprehending and prosecuting unlicensed and improperly licensed motorcycle riders. "Unlicensed riders who feel the risk of getting caught is non-existent will be shocked when they are pulled over and their bike strapped to a tow sling," said Kadar. "Even if they are willing to accept the increased risk, the potential damage to their bike resulting from being towed or impounded is reason enough to get licensed."

The National Association of State Motorcycle Safety Administrators is an educational organization created to promote state-sponsored motorcycle rider education programs. Created in 1984, SMSA membership includes 45 states, 11 corporations and 3 professional/non-profit organizations. The Association provides guidance in planning and implementing statewide safety programs.

* Unlicensed riders risk tickets, fines, towing charges, vehicle impoundment, storage charges, alternate transportation costs, increased insurance costs, and points against their license. Source: National Association of State Motorcycle Safety Administrators.

* Improved law enforcement training on motorcycle licensing as well as increased enforcement of motorcycle licensing laws have greatly increased the chances of being apprehended operating a motorcycle without a proper license or endorsement. Cool bikers have warm hearts 'Fun'd Run raises $$$ for tornado victims

By Kim Butler
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

The recent "Fun'd Run for the Seminole County Natural Disaster Relief Fund created $1,100 which has been deposited in the trust fund established at SunTrust Bank for present and future victims of natural disasters in Seminole County.

A local bar owner, Dave Rosier, and M4 Radio program co-owner, "Stormy" Harich, teamed up and began their efforts the morning after the tornado destroyed Seminole County resident's homes and lives. Both Rosier and Harich are accustomed to charity and serving the community. Rosier has been a warm-hearted, cool biker for 35 years and has been organizing benefits for the past 12 years. Harich's M4 Radio station strives to help new bands and original music get recognized in more than 200 countries.

The pair spent much of the w months after the storm setting up a fun run, to raise money for the storm victims. Hundreds of hours went into getting donations and seeing that the trust fund was set up.

Among the victims needing to rebuild were biker Rob Jasmun and his wife, Nancy, who experienced first hand the pitfalls of rebuilding with insurance money that falls short of upgraded replacement.

"Our main concern," stated Rosier, "is to see that our neighbors get back on their feet again. Once organizations like the Red Cross pull out, even the natural disaster victims that didn't fall through the cracks still need money."

The Jasmun's donated several hours helping with the run even though they are very busy trying to rebuild their home.

Other concerned citizens that supported this worthy cause were Sanford city officials Don Fischer, Vinnie Kaufman, Ira Barrow, and Tim Tobin; Janice Rosier, Dino Bonaventura, Charles Lee Bailes Jr., Jim Harlan, Doc Beribe, and Teresa Carlson. Also Carl Williams and Terry Hattaway and the Libertarian Party.

Businesses who donated included the Hard Rock Cafe, House of Blues, Hoods Tents & Events, Lightning Alley A.B.A.T.E., Scott Smith Harley-Davidson, Scooter's Motorcycle Shop, Wayne Densch Shenck Dist., Varney Independent Production, Crank's Cooking and the M4 Radio crew, including "Stammerin' Banzai" and McGuyver.

Bands who shared their time and talent included Bong Water Taffy, Double Cross, Little Laura's Love Band, Seven Sisters, Blue Zen, Yemray Karma, Doug Unplugged, Minus 10, Zani Fetish, Falcon and Precious Pearl.

Many bikers were out of town this week because of bike week at Myrtle Beach, or not available because of prior commitments, yet 150 plus showed up at Handle Bar & Grille in Longwood Sunday morning, May 17, paying their money to participate in the 40 mile run that ended at the Disabled American Veteran's post in Sanford.

When asked the motive behind the men, women, and children participants, the response was the same. Biker, "Bear" described: "I've been riding 40 years for 2 reasons - I love motorcycles and I love to help people." The black leather and tattoos are optional (unless you want the protection and like the art) and you don't particularly need a Harley to help your fellow man.

"We're just disappointed that more people (couldn't) participate (because of prior commitments)", stated Stormy. "At least we have the fund set up with money available now for Seminole county victims of natural disasters. Anyone can still donate."

Wildlife to benefit from new license plate

Special to the Herald

TALLAHASSEE - Defenders of Wildlife, the Florida Sierra Club the Florida Game & Fresh Water Fish Commission, and the Wildlife Foundation of Florida are celebrating the passage of the Conserve Wildlife specialty license plate which could raise millions of dollars for conservation programs that protect Florida's diverse wildlife. With Governor Chiles expected to sign the legislation, approval by the Florida Legislature was the last major hurdle in establishing the new plate.

Laurie Macdonald of Defenders of Wildlife, a national nonprofit conservation group spearheading the license plate campaign, said, "The significant cash infusion expected from the new tag will boost funding for a broad array of critical wildlife programs and it will help to generate new ones as well."

Representative Sharon Merchant (R-Palm Beach) guided the plate bill through the relevant committees on the House side and on to final approval by that body. In the Senate, the bill was shepherded by Senator Charlie Crist (R-St. Petersburg). As of last Thursday, the Conserve Wildlife plate bill sat poised for final approval by the full Senate, although the legislature was about to adjourn for the year. A final push from activists supporting the plate, Representative Merchant, and Senator Crist ultimately assured passage of the plate bill by a vote of 30-0 on Friday, May 1-- just hours before the session came to a close. Macdonald added, "We are truly grateful to Representative Merchant and Senator Crist for their leadership, and to the more than 10,000 Floridians who signed petitions pledging to purchase the Conserve Wildlife plate."

Revenues from the $15 fee for the optional Conserve Wildlife plate will increase funding for various wildlife research, habitat management, environmental education and law enforcement programs.

and a public beach. The 100,000 square foot conference center will cost $10 million, and will serve in numerous ways.

"Our high school seniors won't have to travel to Orlando to have their graduation exercises," Dale said. "They will come to the city and county's conference center. The county needs a center like this and the commission's approval shows we're on the right track."

The commissioners insisted Tuesday that no new taxes would be required from county residents - and that the revenues generated in the endeavor may mean a tax reduction. The board committed $400,000 annually in tourist tax revenue for the conference center. It also endorsed a recommendation by the city/county Community Redevelopment Agency to help fund the project's public amenities with some of the property tax revenue the hotel would generate.

There are going to be a series of meetings with city and county officials to determine ownership of the conference center, Dale said Tuesday that the plan is for managers of the hotel to operate the center.

The Sanford City Commission had voted, 5-0, to move forward with the complex plans and the county came in at, 4-1. The lone nay vote was from Commissioner Grant Maloy, who had a terse exchange with Dale. Maloy contends the complex ought to be more centrally located.

There's opposition, also, from members of the Society for the Preservation of Fort Mellon Park, who intend to submit petitions that would allow the voters to decide whether there would be a complex rather than the city commission.

"Nothing is going to be destroyed," Dale insisted. "We'll relocate a couple of ballfields, but there is still going to be a park and a lot more that we have at present."

"This will enhance Fort Mellon Park," County Commissioner Daryl McLain said.

"The Sanford Crisis Pregnancy Center exists to offer women alternatives to abortion by modeling the love of Jesus Christ through compassionate counseling and the resources to empower her to make life affirming decisions."

No more than a pipe dream at first, Krasciec found considerable support as she explored the possibilities of opening a crisis center in the city. Much of it came from her family and friends at Sanford Christian Church. "Yes, go for it. God will bless this effort," they told her.

The most unexpected boost came from Albert Fornace, who for more than 51 years was a distinguished physician and hospital official in Pennsylvania. He also happened to be a staunch pro-life activist. But after being widowed a second time, 77-year-old Fornace had a new mission of his own - to be ordained a Catholic priest.

He came to Sanford to finish his studies for the priesthood and live in the rectory at All Souls Church. Soon, he met Krasciec and the miracle on French Avenue occurred.

Fornace - now Father Al - purchased the 100-year old house at 1008 French Ave. for $44,000 and turned it over to the Sanford Crisis Pregnancy Center for a $1 a year lease. He has been to the residence frequently to work with the army of volunteers who have transformed the place.

Krasciec covered almost every inch of the area the last 10 months, speaking to pastors and frequently to full congregations. Dr. Joel Hunter, the pastor at Northland Community Church in Longwood, said the prayers and financial support from his congregation were offered "gladly and with confidence."

The Rev. Daryl O. Permenter, Sr., at First Baptist Church in Geneva said he realized how easy it is for Christians to oppose abortion and to oppose it. "However, it is very difficult to take a hands-on approach as the Sanford Crisis Pregnancy Center has. This is a practical way to be involved in a ministry that will have eternal value."

More than likely, she'll be glowing the same way June 1.

gin discussion on behalf of the Mayfair, he was admittedly angry. "We were led to believe we would be on the agenda by 4 o'clock," he said (it was shortly before 5 p.m.). "So I took the time to make a phone call and formally file for litigation against the city. We're taking this to a judge for action on a breach of contract."

"I'm glad we have reached that point now," said City Attorney Colbert. "At least now we can proceed with the discovery stage of the case and really dig into it from a legal standpoint."

"Just remember," Mayor Larry Dale told Harrison. "We didn't file this suit, you did. You have brought action against us, and we are willing to defend our point."

Commissioner Brady Leasard asked if it might be a jury trial. Colbert responded that there was a fair chance that at least part of the matter might go to a jury, "but we don't know at this point."

Colbert added that the litigation could possibly take as long as a year before it could go through the court. "Then," he added, "either side could appeal the decision, and that might take as much as one year longer."

During the regular commission meeting that followed the work session, it was unanimously agreed that the check for $255,346 would be placed into a separate account by the city, doing so under protest, to be held pending a decision by the court.

"In the meantime," Colbert added, "this is now in formal litigation and while we will be having some executive meetings (not open to the press or public), any time someone asks us about the case, our response will be that we cannot respond under advice from our attorney."

thought the presentation of the development was very impressive, as was the 4 to 1 vote for approval," he told the commission.

"I've been involved in helping develop similar hotel/conference center areas around the nation," he said, "and I don't know when I've seen one that has more potential than here in Sanford, especially in straight business experiences."

He explained that according to what was presented to the county, the complex would directly provide 700 jobs, with possibly an additional 500 in support personnel. "And the payroll is expected to be over $30 million," he added, "and I think that is very exciting."

He explained that within the next 90 days, the developer is expected to complete the feasibility study. "And there are already several major hotel corporations interested in Sanford," he said.

Regarding the conference center, he explained that while many conference centers have a tendency to lose money, it is compensated by the fact that it is available, which helps in the hotel occupancy and visitor influx. "And that increases the total financial picture, so it won't really be a money loser."

Commissioner Kerry Lyons said there was one question often asked in public meetings, especially by citizens who are in opposition of the development. "With that total payroll of over $30 million, and the number of jobs expected, that's quite a high salary range, isn't it?"

Fishkind responded that the figure does appear high. "But we didn't just pull them out of the air," he said. "The salary estimate was obtained from the official Wage Survey of Florida that the state provides."

Tuesday's game marked the beginning of the tournament that will feature five teams this year because of the closeness of the teams.

The final standings in the regular season were: Nobles Construction-White Sox (13-2), Blitz Clean-Red Sox (13-4), Moose Lodge-Pirates (12-4), Rotary Club-Athletics (11-4), Central Florida Grading-Expos (4-10), Knights of Columbus-Cardinals (3-10), Dean, Ringers, Morgan & Lawton PA-Marlins (3-12), and Kiwanis Club-Indians (1-14).

The rich keep getting richer in baseball

SANFORD - Did you watch the minions coming off the subway platform at Shea Stadium over the weekend?

Thousands of fans flocked to see the Mets and the end of baseball as we know it.

With the trade for Mike Piazza, the Mets put the final nail in the coffin of an old game that has finally gone too far.

Piazza demanded not just the biggest contract in the history of baseball, he turned that down already, but blew the entire structure of baseball as we knew it, completely out of whack.

Let's recap. First Piazza turned down a contract that would have made him the richest player in baseball history. The Los Angeles Dodgers were willing to give it to Piazza, a player who grew up with Tommy LaSorda as his Godfather and said he wanted to be a Dodger forever.

Instead, he played hardball with the Dodgers and Los Angeles was smart enough to get rid of him for value.

Los Angeles knows a lot about that. Remember Shea?

So the Dodgers got sluggers Gary Sheffield and Bobby Bonilla along with the best defensive catcher in the National League in Charles Johnson, and sent Piazza, a catcher who Dodger pitchers never liked in the first place, to Miami.

Without a salary cap in place, Miami knew it would only be a temporary stop for Piazza. The Dodgers are now owned by trillionaire Rupert Murdoch and can pay as much as they want.

The Florida Marlins are owned by a spiteful man named Wayne Huisenga who is also a trillionaire, but happens to own a small-market team.

Last year, the Marlins learned that being a good team is too expensive, especially in a town that has a lame stadium and a small fan base.

Just like Milwaukee, Kansas City, Detroit. Please see Jeff, Page 2B

Changes give Lake Mary football team a winning attitude

By Jeff Berlinicke
 ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

LAKE MARY - The Rams' season last season ended on a high note for the Lake Mary football team.

The Rams finished spring practice last week and talked about a new beginning.

Last season the Rams went 0-9 despite having the top passing attack in the county. A combination of late-game lapses, bad breaks and a million other things combined to give the Rams their only season without a win in school history.

Since then a lot has changed. First, coach Doug Peters resigned after a long stint as the head of the Rams. Then, a talented group of seniors including Tim Speyer, Cam Carter, Mike Stevenson, Lawrence Phillips, Robbie Randall, Jason Boehm and Tremaine Gaines graduated leaving the Lake Mary cupboard empty.

But things have changed since the Rams walked off the field after a crushing 7-6 overtime loss to Seminole in the final game of the 1997 season.

The Rams hired Greg Stanton, a one-time national junior college coach of the year to take over the program. Stanton's first goal was to instill a winning attitude that never existed last season. It showed during the Seminole County football jamboree last Friday when the Rams overcame a 12-0 deficit to lose 12-10 to Seminole in a game dominated by the Rams in the second half of the game.

"I think we took a big step the other night," Stanton said. "We haven't talked about last season except...

Sunniland takes Women's lead

From Staff Reports

SANFORD - Another week, another great night of softball.

For the third straight week all three games in the Sanford Recreation Department Women's Spring Slow Pitch Softball League have gone right down to the final out.

Tuesday night at Finchurst Park, W.D. Associates took advantage of a pair of errors to score the winning run in the bottom of the eighth inning and edged Curt's Alleycats, 4-3.

The Sharks used a monster rally to tie the game only to see Sunniland Corporation score the winning run in the bottom of the seventh inning and pull out a 12-11 triumph.

And the Eagles used a pair of five-run innings late in the game to outscore Vaughan Incorporated, 23-17.

With its win, Sunniland Corporation takes over the league lead with a 4-1 record, while the Sharks fall into a tie with the Eagles at 3-2. Trailing the top three are Vaughan Incorporated and W.D. Associates (both 2-3) and Curt's Alleycats (1-4).

Next Tuesday at Finchurst Park, Vaughan Incorporated plays W.D. Associates at 6:30 p.m.; the Sharks battle the Eagles at 7:30 p.m.; and Curt's Alleycats challenges Sunniland Corporation at 8:30 p.m.

Curt's Alleycats scored a single run in the first inning and two runs in the fourth inning, while W.D. Associates scored two runs in the third inning and one run in the fourth inning and that's how the game remained, tied at 3-3, until the bottom of the seventh inning when Angela Whitney got all the way to second on an error. Lisa Garrett then flew out, but the throw back to the infield was wild and Whitney raced home with the winning run.

cept for one time when we mentioned in spring practice. Last year was last year and we all know we don't want to go through that again."

Stanton said his team is looking ahead, not behind.

"We're in high spirits," he said. I don't care about the jamboree or intrasquad games, all I care about is being ready for Edgewater in the first game next September."

Despite the losses to graduation, Stanton said he sees some promise. Wide receiver John Dole was deemed the biggest surprise of the game despite being new to the varsity.

He can fly and he can catch the ball and that's a need for the Rams who lose receiver Spivey, quarterback Cory Cooper's favorite target last season.

Kyle Cocita was another standout. Cocita played for the Rams last season and has undergone shoulder surgery but is expected to be the anchor of the Lake Mary linebacking unit along with another newcomer, Mike Nunizata. Haven Perkins also stood out at linebacker this spring.

Justin Wright was probably the Rams' best overall player last year, supplying leadership to the defensive backfield. He's back and is expected to do double duty, continuing at safety while taking over for Phillips and Randall as the lead tailback.

Stanton said he had three goals entering spring practice. "I told them we need to put the pegs in the right places, teach them how to block and tackle and find some team leaders," he said. "We did all those things. Justin Wright, Kyle Cocita, John Dole and Cory Cooper all stepped up as leaders."

The Rams are off this morning and tee it up the last Friday in August at the Kickoff Classic.

the game by drawing a walk and came around to score on a pair of errors and a passed ball.

The lead went to 4-0 in the top of the second inning. Walker led off with a single and advanced to second on an error. Louwsma singled Walker to third and Walker scored and Louwsma went to second on an error.

Guy then singled and stole second and he and Louwsma both scored on an error.

The Moose Lodge-Pirates got on the board in the bottom of the second inning as Bradley Locke reached on an error and came around to score on an error.

The Moose Lodge-Pirates cut the deficit to 4-3 in the third inning as Cleveland walked with one out and advanced to second on a passed ball. Brooks then reached on an error with Cleveland moving over to third base and Nick Erickson lifted a sacrifice fly to left field, scoring Cleveland.

Brooks scored a batter later as Locke singled and the Nobles Construction-White Sox outfielder booted the ball for an error.

But that was as close as the Moose Lodge-Pirates would get as Walker, the winning pitcher, would only allow one hit and five base runners (two on walks, two on errors), only one passed second base, over the final 4-1/3 innings.

Walker got right of the final 13 outs on strike outs and finished with 10 punch-outs while giving up four hits.

The Nobles Construction-White Sox offense also got going, slowly putting the game out of reach.

Louwsma singled with two out in the fourth inning and scored on a single by Guy and an error.

In the fifth inning, Goff walked with one out, stole second and third base and scored on an error.

In the sixth inning, Raines, Walker and Green all walked to open the inning, with Raines scoring on a passed ball and Walker on a grounder by Louwsma.

The final run came plateward in the seventh inning Frost walked and scored on a double by Larson.

Doing the damage for the Nobles Construction-White Sox were Larson (2-for-4 with a double, one RBI), Louwsma (2-for-3, two runs scored, one RBI), Guy (2-for-3, one run scored), Walker (1-for-3, two runs scored), Goff (two runs scored) and Frost and Raines (one run scored each).

Providing the offense for the Moose Lodge-Pirates were Kenny Erickson (2-for-3, Locke (1-for-3, one run scored), Hicks (1-for-2), Cleveland and Brooks (one run scored each) and Nick Erickson (one RBI).

Tim Raines is a Sanford native and Seminole High School graduate now playing for the New York Yankees. His stats for the 1988 season is in the first column, personal-best season totals in the second column and career totals (including 1988 games) in the third column.

Raines was 2-for-4 with a double, one run scored and one RBI as he came back to haunt his former team, the Chicago White Sox, and help the Yankees rally for a 7-5 win Tuesday.

Montreal and a bunch of other teams that can't compete under the present structure.

So the Marlins had to dump Piazza's contract to one of the five or six teams that can actually afford him. Only seven players remain from last year's world championship Marlins even though ticket prices went up as the team advertised that fans should come see the world champs.

Now Piazza and his contract demands go to New York, a team that can actually afford him.

It's a case of the wealthy getting wealthier. The Mets don't even need a catcher; they have Todd Hundley, one of the best in the game.

Does anyone think Milwaukee or Montreal could have landed Piazza?

Of course not. That's what's wrong with the game. Take a look at the best teams in baseball right now.

The New York Yankees, Atlanta Braves, Boston Red Sox, Texas Rangers, Cleveland Indians. All of these teams are sitting near the top of the playoff races and, what do you know, they are all either big market teams or have a new city-funded stadium.

The rich get richer.

Famous eatery shares Steak Diane recipe

In a large fry pan heat 2 lbs. butter and 1 lbs. Worcestershire and sauté shallots and chives until just slightly translucent. Lay out steak slices and cook for 1 minute on each side. Add remaining butter, Worcestershire, and parsley when melted and hot. Remove steak and all but about 2 lbs. of sauce, shallots and chives. Add wine and simmer until reduced by half the volume using a whisk to stir the wine sauce in order to get all the flavor from the pan.

Serve: I serve this steak garnished with the remaining green chopped chives along with baked sweet potatoes, fresh sliced tomatoes in basil vinaigrette and dinner rolls. The side dishes for this meal are really up to your own taste. The selection I used was to add color and a variety of flavors to the main course that would accent the wonderfully subtle taste of the shallot wine sauce. This recipe served the four big meat and potato eaters at our table that night. Cost Breakdown: 1-1/2 lb. steak (full cut round) Publix's

$3.50/lb. - $5.00; 1 shallot, Publix's - $1.25; Chives - my garden; 4 large sweet potatoes, Save-A-Lot - $1.67; 1 tomato, Save-A-Lot - $0.54; 1 package rolls, Merita Bread Store - $0.50; all other ingredients - approx. $0.50 Total Cost - $9.68

May all your meals be festive occasions.

Tip of the week
Fresh herbs are always the best but sometimes not practical. In meals with very short cooking times, dry herbs never get a chance to release their flavor. When you have no choice but to use dry herbs in a quick cooking recipe, use a little extra. Place them in a small bowl, add a few drops of water, cover and cook for 1 minutes in your microwave on high. This activates the herbs before you add them to the pan.

There are probably as many varieties of this recipe as there are steak restaurants. This recipe is from the premiere steak house in New York City, The Cattleman. The proprietor, Larry Ellman, built a steak house in the true western style on East 46th Street in Manhattan and proceeded to serve over 1000 steaks a day in the 60's and 70's. His concept set the stage for all the steak restaurant chains we have today. In my opinion none have matched the original.

The only addition to the original recipe is the sauce which I added years ago. Because the cooking time of the meat is so short, it requires that you use only fresh herbs to get the full flavor.

The Cattleman's Steak Diane
1-1/2 to 2 lbs. steak (tenderloin, top sirloin, are best however you can use full cut round steak to save cost)
4 lbs. butter
1 shallot chopped 1/4 inch pieces
2 lbs. chives, white ends only, chopped 1/4 inch (save green tops and chop for garnish)

1 clove garlic minced fine
1 lbs. chopped parsley
2 lbs. Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup white Chardonnay wine
Steak: Trim off all extra fat from edge. With a very sharp knife, slice the meat into 1/4 inch slices at a slight angle across the grain of the meat. (Cutting this way helps make the meat more tender.) Use a meat mallet and pound the slices flat.

Playground talk turns serious when pushy teacher interferes

DEAR ABBY: I have a teacher who supervises the playground. A group of other students and I usually prefer to sit and talk during recess.

We were talking about the newspaper, and someone in the conversation, your name came up. This teacher overheard us, and said that our conversation was inappropriate. She said "Dear Abby" deals with adult issues, and that we're not allowed to talk about these things.

Abby, do you consider yourself as dealing with only adult problems, or problems concerning people of all ages? She also won't let us talk in private. What should we do about her? (Remember, she is a teacher.)

ADVICE

they moved out. The cleaning crew found her there - with no food or water - and took her around the neighborhood trying to find a home for her. When they came to the door of my husband's business and asked if he would take her, he agreed. We named this rabbit Abby.

Abby, these two hapless creatures were fortunate to have been rescued. I wonder how many other animals were "discarded" after the holiday was over. Thank you for reminding your readers that these animals are living creatures and need care. It seems to me that an animal will receive the care it needs, I hope they will buy a stuffed toy animal (as you suggested) instead.
KATHLEEN C. LEONARDI, WASHINGTON, MO.

DEAR ANNE: Under no circumstances should you be disappointed in this teacher. She probably means well, but she is mistaken. Although my column usually deal with adult issues, they are meant for children as well as adults, and are written in language that people of all ages can understand. In fact, I'm told that my column has been used in classrooms to teach students how to write letters to the editor.

DEAR ABBY: Just before Easter, you printed a warning about giving baby animals to children as Easter gifts. Perhaps this will relieve that anxiety.

Last June, we were driving through a park when we found an abandoned young white rabbit. We stopped and picked her up. Much later in May, we kept her. We named her Abby.

You would have my husband brought home a small white rabbit. He was a little bit of a nervous wreck when he got her. He had heard that

DEAR KATHLEEN: I hope so, too. People who abandon pets sometimes do it in the mistaken belief that the animals will quickly adjust to being on their own. In far too many cases, that's not true, and the animal dies of starvation, disease or is struck by an automobile. These poor, abandoned baby animals were fortunate to have been rescued. I hope they will buy a stuffed toy animal (as you suggested) instead.

Protein in urine is warning sign

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband's kidneys make too much protein. What causes this?
DEAR READER: The kidneys are actually filters. As blood passes through them, waste products are extracted and vital substances (such as protein) are spared. Therefore, the presence of protein in the urine is a serious sign that the kidneys are malfunctioning. There are many possible causes for this, including infection, heavy metal toxicity and renal damage.

DR. GOTT

expand the lung.
 Pneumothorax is often the result of lung diseases, such as asthma and emphysema, which alter pulmonary tissue and weaken it. Sometimes the cause is obscure.
 Recurring lung collapse may require pleurodesis, a surgical procedure that produces adhesions between the lung and the inner chest wall, literally sticking the lung to the ribs and preventing collapse. Your daughter should ask her physician about this simple operation.

Your husband should be under the care of a nephrologist. Such a specialist can diagnose the condition and offer treatment.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Kidney Disorders." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 65-year-old widow. I have discovered that I can easily pleasure myself to a level that I never achieved with my husband. I've read that the "golden years" aren't marked by sensuality. I remember the shame and embarrassment that my mother showed whenever I tried to talk to her about sexuality when I was growing up. Am I abnormal?

DEAR READER: It wasn't too long ago that women were not supposed to get an education, vote, hold an important job — or enjoy sex. Mores change, fortunately for the better in this instance. You are not abnormal. Rather, you are at last getting in touch with your dormant and powerful sexuality. Should you, at some later date, choose to re-establish a relation with a partner, your new perspective will surely add spice, enjoyment and strength to the sexual activity that you will enjoy together.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 28-year-old daughter keeps collapsing a lung. She has had more than a dozen hospitalizations for this condition and usually requires a chest tube to help expand the lung. She is otherwise healthy and does not suffer from asthma or lung disease. What can she do to prevent recurrences?

DEAR READER: Spontaneous pneumothorax, the collapse of a lung, is a common condition in young people. The lungs are normally encased in a thin but tough membrane. At times, this membrane can spring a leak. As the air pushes into the chest

WIN AT BRIDGE

The new partner in olden times

By Phillip Alder

The next stop on our American tour is — I know you've guessed it! — Cleveland. It is a city best known, I suppose, for lake-effect snow, the Browns (that were and soon will be again) and the Indians (this year's World Series winner?).
 Yesterday, I mentioned that Bob Hamman partnered Mike Lawrence when the Aces were first formed by Ira J. Corn, Jr. After a few years, he started to play with Bobby Wolf. They won nine world titles, but the partnership was dissolved last March. Now Hamman is paired with Paul Soloway (who had played for the Aces in the 1972 World Team Olympiad, replacing Billy Eisenberg, when he voluntarily left the team).

This deal, from the 1998 Vanderbilt final in Cleveland, was defended accurately by Soloway. (He won the event with partner Gerald Halice and teammates John Swanson and Richard Walsh.)

Against four spades, Halice led the heart six. (With three low cards in partner's suit, when you have not supported, it is best to lead the lowest, thus denying a doubleton. If you have supported, lead the highest to deny an honor in the suit.) After winning with the heart jack, Soloway switched accurately to the spade four.

After winning in hand, declarer led the club 10, Halice dropping the seven to signify an even number of cards in the suit. This told Soloway to duck this trick and win the club continuation. Now Soloway completed an excellent defense by returning the spade 10. The dummy was dead, and declarer had to lose two more heart tricks at the end: one down.
